

Class PN1993

Book .M44

Copyright No.

COPYRIGHT DEPOSIT.

Scanned from the collections of
The Library of Congress

Packard Campus for Audio Visual Conservation www.loc.gov/avconservation

Motion Picture and Television Reading Room www.loc.gov/rr/mopic

Recorded Sound Reference Center www.loc.gov/rr/record

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Guinea Pig Adventures In Preview Land

By TERRY RAMSAYE

Written in Hollywood

NEXT WEEK: THE BEST MONEY MAKING STARS

Vol. 124, No. 1 Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1879. Published Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $3.00 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. December 30, 1939

PN1993
.M44

What this Week Means for the Weeks to Come

1: Greta Garbo at Astor

"Queen Christina" starts a $2 top two-a-day run at the world's leading roadshow house. The notices are 100% praise. The advance sale at the theat is unprecedented. It is no exagger tion to say that this is

THE BIGGEST ATTRACTION IN SHOW BUSINES

2: Marion Davies—Bing Crosby

"Going Hollywood." People are commenting breathlessly on this great musical. Fast, luxurious and with the greatest musical score since "The Broadway Melody." Hit! Hit! Hit!

3: "Dancing Lady" (Joan Crawford, Clark Gable, Franchot Tone) continues its amazing business—getting career as the best musical yet released! Hit! Hit! Hit!

4: Laurel and Hardy in "Sons of the Desert" arrives. This is tops for comedy. It raises Laurel and Hardy to full feature length stature as guaranteed stars. This is a Hit! Hit! Hit!

5: Big plans completed for popular price engagements of "Dinner at Eight" and "Eskimo." Also campaigns started on "The CAT and the FIDDLE" (Ramon Novarro and Jeanette MacDonald); "IT HAPPENED ONE DAY" (Lionel Barrymore); "LAUGHING BOY" (Ramon Novarro and Lupe Velez); "THE MYSTERY OF THE DEAD POLICE" (Robert Montgomery); "RIP TIDE" (Norma Shearer); "TARZAN and HIS MATE" (Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan); "VIVA VILLA" (Wallace Beery, Fay Wray, Leo Carillo)!

THE WEEKS TO COME MEAN HITS! HITS! HITS! from

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

M.V.B 20/III/35

"CONVENTION CITY"

COMEDY  OF T

ROWDIEST FUN

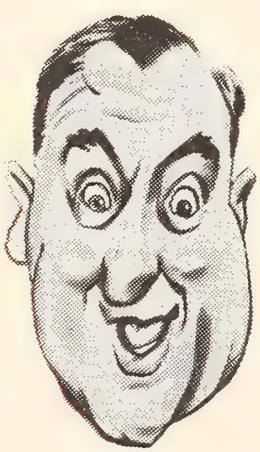
MERRY  RIOT"

MONEY ATTRACT

RALLY,  A WARNE

*Says "Variety"

Directed by Archie Mayo A Fir



IS "THE FASTEST

HE YEAR"*  "THE

IN TOWN"°  "A

"A CERTAIN

ION"*  AND, NATU-

R BROS. PICTURE

°Says "N. Y. Mirror"

National Picture Vitagraph, Inc., Distributors

The beautiful, ecstatic romance of a "7th Heaven"... in a brilliant setting of spectacular loveliness... enticing girls, captivating melodies, glorious dancing... and the Piccoli Marionettes... a show in themselves. A picture your patrons will always remember!

A Jesse L. Lasky Production

I AM SUZANNE

Lilian Harvey

Gene Raymond
Leslie Banks

Podrecca's Piccoli Marionettes

Directed by Rowland V. Lee

Your patrons always like
FOX MOVIETONE NEWS

FOX

SINCLAIR

DEC 29 1933 ©CIB 210853

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 114, No. 1 December 30, 1933

RADIO COMPETITION

RADIO competition with the screen, more especially by the presentation of motion picture personalities, is one of the most serious and least discussed problems confronting the production executives of Hollywood. The problem grows as sponsors of radio time realize the ready made appeal of screen famous people and bid for them in high figures.

Employment contracts made with players by at least one of the largest organizations provide protection against radio invasion, but no star contract has ever yet been devised which can control emotions and generally dollar pressure wins.

"No matter what the contract provides," observed the master of Hollywood's biggest payroll, "it is pretty hard to say to a player that he can not take a fifteen minute job on the air which will get him as much money perhaps as he earns in the studio for a week's work."

But the exhibitor concern over the problem increases and Hollywood is aware that something probably shall have to be done about it. Elimination of the radio by-product sale of personality values would be more likely than not to add to the screen's costs.

It is of interest to record the report that some time ago the National Broadcasting Company, hungering for the services of Miss Marie Dressler, made a Hollywood approach which was met by Mr. Irving Thalberg by putting a price of $20,000 on each fifteen minutes of the star's time. That appears to have concluded the negotiations in that case.

The much worn argument of the radio purveyors that the broadcast creates and enhances star values is not very convincingly supported by the mad quest of star values from other media of expression. The actual number of radio-made names of national importance is relatively small.

△ △ △

FREEDOM OF THE SCREEN?

THIS being so completely a commercial industry there can be no fair objection to the recent settlement out of court of a suit which attacked the right of the motion picture to use as dramatic material and hold up to public view certain aspects of a state penal system. In general abstract principle, however, it is regrettable that all such issues cannot be fought through the courts until the basic rights of the motion picture as a medium of expression shall be established.

Patience must prevail. The screen has been at the issue less than thirty years and it took five hundred years for the press to get anywhere. Meanwhile, looking back over the decisions that have been had in such cases, it seems that the judiciary of the land tends to the notion that a medium which charges, say, 25 cents a seat, in a theatre cannot possibly stand on equal footing in freedom of expression with another medium, the newspaper, which is put on the doorstep with the morning milk for a few cents a day.

Aside from the issues which have come to court the public hears nothing of this very large problem of the screen. But in the producing offices are records of a continuous flow of pressures and protests from all manner of special interests storming and threatening against screen expositions of their methods, if we do not want to use the word "rackets."

It is a commonplace that all villains of screen drama now must be plain, non-sectarian Americans, to avoid international complications and such fusses as Mexico, Japan and other touchy peoples have raised. But it is not so well known that there is a great list of interests, such as chain stores, cut-rate druggists and the like, who have brought heavy organized pressure to bear.

△ △ △

AMBITIOUS!

WASHINGTON dispatches announcing that Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell has written to General Hugh S. Johnson declining appointment by President Roosevelt to the motion picture code authority asserts that the distinguished Harvard scholar objected to the fact that his function was only advisory and without vote. This would appear to be a considerably emphatic declaration that Dr. Lowell and the Motion Picture Research Council, which he represents, would prefer to be having quite a hand in running the industry. All of which leads us to the observation that there are many, many more persons outside the world of the motion picture who are willing to tell it what to do than there are in it.

△ △ △

CANDOR still lives. Mr. James Cagney, between scenes on the Warner lot, observed the other day that there could be considerable difference between art and stardom. The best actors in America are playing bits in Hollywood today, remarks Mr. Cagney. This is not an indictment of the screen, but rather a phenomenon concerned with the nature of public tastes and mass emotions, the appeal of personality over performance.

△ △ △

HOLLYWOOD should be interested to know that "out in the sticks" exhibitors and their projectionists know quite enough about the technique of sound to block out of the tracks smut lines and wisecracks that they do not care to submit to their audiences. This is standard procedure on several circuits.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD — MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago Bureau, 407 South Dearborn Street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London Bureau, 1021 A Finchley Road, Golders Green, London, England, Bernard Charman, representative; Berlin Bureau, Berlin-Tempelhof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 28, Joachim K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Bureau, 19, Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autre, representative; Rome Bureau, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio Malpassuti, representative; Sydney Bureau, 102 Sussex Street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico, James Lockhart, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1933 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and The Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK - - - -

CHANGES ADVERTISING

When exhibitors construed "Garbo Returns," used in MGM ads on Miss Garbo's new "Queen Christina," as indicating a reissue, and complained, MGM eliminated all such reference in advertising on the film. . . .

APPEAL AGAINST CENSOR

American distributors are seeking from the Ontario, Canada, government an appeal board of seven to review censorship cuts. Contending they are entitled to such review, distributors cite heavy loss in shipping, customs charges on prints later condemned in Ontario. . . .

FOX STORY BOARD

A centralized story board of control has followed Winfield Sheehan's return to executive direction of Fox production on the Coast. Sidney R. Kent, president, announced the change prior to his departure for New York. The board: Mr. Sheehan, the immediate producer, another executive; in all cases the board's decision to be final. . . .

"REUNION" CLEARED

Through the efforts of Mort Spring, assistant to Arthur Loew, MGM foreign head, differences with the Austrian government over Metro's "Reunion in Vienna," have been satisfactorily settled, by adjustment of a misunderstanding. . . .

NEW VARIETY CLUB

Becoming number five on the list, Detroit has organized a Variety Club with J. E. Flynn, MGM, president; Ed Kirchner, M. J. Caplan, vice presidents; David Newman, treasurer; Carl Shalit, secretary. Headquarters: Book-Cadillac Hotel. Membership: 61. St. Louis Club membership, 90.

BREEN DOUBLING

Joe Breen, MPPDA representative on the Coast, is handling the duties of Dr. James Wingate, during the latter's absence in New York for censorship conferences. This in addition to Mr. Breen's regular work. . . .

STARS ON THE AIR

Means of adjusting exhibitor complaints anent radio broadcasting of screen stars as theatre competition, has been discussed at the Coast office of the MPPDA by publicity heads, with no result, other than agreement that it is a home office matter. . . .

KORDA HONORED

To Alexander Korda has gone the first Gold Medal of Merit, as an annual award for best British direction, by the Institute of Amateur Cinematographers, for his work on "The Private Life of Henry VIII," starring Charles Laughton, produced by London Films, released in U. S. by United Artists. The Duke of Sutherland, Institute president, presented the medal. . . .

HONORING HAL ROACH

In a measure a commemoration of Hal Roach's 20th anniversary as a comedy producer, MGM indicates thousands of exhibitors will play Roach product solidly during the celebration week of January 8.

STUDIO LEASING

Majestic is negotiating to lease the Sennett Coast studio, with decision on that and other deals to wait until after January 1. With eight of 12 still to go, Majestic will make one each month. . . .

ROXY TO CENTER

Giving the Roxy theatre on Seventh avenue, New York, exclusive title to the name, the RKO Roxy in Radio City last week officially became the RKO Center.

In This Issue

Guinea Pig Adventures in Preview Land — by Terry Ramsaye — Page 9
Paramount and Progress — by Martin Quigley — Page 11
Music publishers act to prevent copyright violations in motion pictures — Page 12
First complaints from the field are filed as Code Authority machinery is awaited — Page 13
DeCasseres on latest stage plays — Page 23

FEATURES

Edtiorial — Page 7
The Camera Reports — Page 15
J. C. Jenkins—His Colyum — Page 44
Asides and Interludes — Page 25
The Cutting Room — Page 19

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me — Page 45
Showmen's Reviews — Page 29
Managers' Round Table — Page 51
Technological — Page 40
Chicago — Page 49
Short Feature News — Page 49
The Release Chart — Page 61
Box Office Receipts — Page 41
Classified Advertising — Page 66

COPYRIGHT BUDGET

At an Astor Hotel meeting last week major distributors' sales heads approved the annual budget of the Copyright Protection Bureau. An MPPDA attorney presided. The bureau has six division managers in the field, with Jack Levin as operating chief. . . .

TWO EXHIBITOR MAYORS

H. E. Wilton, manager of the Strand, a Famous Players theatre in Toronto, who had served previously as an alderman, has been elected mayor of Toronto for 1934. In Ottawa, Paddy Nolan, owner of three theatres, is also mayor. . . .

THEATRE FINED

Last week the Peru theatre, Peru, Ill., paid a $5 fine and costs for the appearance of a children's band at the theatre for two days. Other theatres in the E. E. Alger circuit have dropped plans for the band's appearance. . . .

BACHELOR DINNER

Eight masters of ceremonies will officiate when Mervyn LeRoy, Warner director, goes trembling to his bachelor dinner at the Astor in New York this Thursday, prior to his marriage to Doris Warner, daughter of H. M., company president. The masters: Several Marxes, Eddie Cantor, Jack Pearl, Jack Benny, Georgie Jessel, Bert Lahr. . . .

COMPLAINT REFUSED

Judge John C. Knox in New York last week refused Edward Hemmer's amended complaint in his $250,000 suit against Mary Pickford, claiming to be her manager, advisor, foster-father. Extraneous matter led to the decision. The court allowed 20 days for a new complaint. . . .

VENICE EXHIBITION

Under way is the organization of the Second International Exhibition of Cinematograph Art of Venice (Italy), by the International Institute of Educational Cinematography, of which Dr. Luciano de Feo is president of the executive committee. A producer and distributor meeting will feature the exhibition. . . .

FILM SELLS REALTY

The motion picture played a vital part in the recent sale of two buildings of the Harmony Mills property at Cohoes, N. Y., through A. A. Abbott & Co., New York realtors, when films of the property demonstrated to an interested corporation its value for their purposes. . . .

Guinea Pig Adventures In Preview Land

By TERRY RAMSAYE

Written in Hollywood

The motion picture theatres of the Hollywood region, themselves ultimate consumers of the studios' wares, have been made an integral part of the machinery of production, with amazing, amusing and sometimes exciting incidental consequences.

The exhibitor of the big rest-of-the-country, who has heard so much of this and that about the bitter issue of double bills, will be perhaps amused to know that substantially every Hollywood production is born to the screen as the added feature of a double bill.

It is what might be loosely termed "the pre-view system" but which is at least three kinds of systems, legitimate and proper and all fringed with racket manifestations including some downright abuses and frauds.

The simon-pure, if you trust Simon, preview is simply a tryout showing of a motion picture added to some theatre's bill at the last show of the day, as it arrives at the tentative end of the studio's final assembly process. The staff laboring on the production attends, observes audience reactions and then proceeds variously to modify or approve the production or parts of it. Sometimes when problems loom up there are pre-previews for roughly cut versions, followed by a final preview of the completed production, after which the master print and matched negative go to New York for processes of national distribution.

That ought to be all there is to the story, but it is only the beginning.

Special Interests Want To Do Something, and How!

A whole array of special interests, personal and institutional, at once become factors of complication in this all important preview activity. They all want to do something about it—and how they do do it!

To the production staff, from the bit players to the star and director, supervisor and producer, the preview held maybe at some obscure house on the San Pedro waterfront, or by contrast flaunted boldly at Hollywood's most gaudy cinema, is vastly more important than, say, an opening at Radio City's Music Hall.

That this may be understood in all its fullness would require a study of the curious insularity, the shocking provincialism of the motion picture's production community, its patriotisms, its rivalries, its endless plots and chicaneries of studio politics, its hopes, ambitions and despairs—above all, its overwhelmingly dominant timidities, so ill concealed under the pink cellophane of Hollywood's bravado.

All these are factors that extend deep into the industry through their influence on the wares of the screen, and our current discussion of the preview brings up but one of the many many types of symptomatic phenomena. So much for the studio aspect of the preview. All these forces count in things that happen and do not happen on the big preview night.

Terry Ramsaye, editor of Motion Picture Herald and now rambling and exploring the motion picture areas of the United States, has come to a pause for a sojourn in Hollywood. And like the Chinese diplomat that he is, he begins his series of articles about the picture making and picture makers, by starting at the end, when the product is done, with a story of the previews.

He is now deep in the maze of the studios and week by week other articles will follow. Producer attitudes, he finds, are at wide variance with many of the accepted views of the exhibitor market for their wares. The conflict, no small part of it hardly conscious, is expressed in many reactions within the production machine. Subsequent articles will throw light on the curious processes of adjustment and readjustment continuously in progress. The eternal issue about who is running the motion picture industry is today as alive as ever. Hollywood is sure it is boss.

Maddest Film Public Within 20 Miles of Studio

Next in influence on the preview, this curious microcosm of the industry, is the fan mad public and its servant the exhibitor. The maddest of the motion picture publics in the world is made up of the population within a twenty mile circle drawn around Hollywood. Part of this is natural to the sort of Americans concentrated in this subtropic region by an array of ethnic, geographic and social forces, including how cold it gets in Des Moines in January, to say nothing of the annuity drawn by the old lady from Dubuque. They crochet antimacassars and collect autographs, real and rubber stamped.

When an exhibitor can announce to this public or any part of it that he is to have a preview, he is guaranteed S.R.O. business for that show and a line-up which advertises his house to all the surrounding region.

The process of preview tryouts has been so extensively applied and developed that the guinea pig test audiences have become positively professional, and proud indeed of their function. Is it not indeed flattery to be a member of the first audience in the world to see these masterpieces, all fresh with the dew of studio blossoming upon them, and at the same time to sit in the very same theatre right along with the star goddesses of Beverly Hills and such potentates as the Warners, the Mayers, the Thalbergs, the Goldwyns and the whosits!

The exhibitors of the region, upon whom the production community descends to make its guinea pig tests for about four hundred pictures a year, know all about this and use it. The manner of the using depends on the variety of preview.

$200,000 in Bonuses To Favored Houses

Returns from preview showings are naturally variable but it is the ordinary calculation that they add between $250 and $300 to the day's receipts for most theatres. This means that something like $200,000 a season is scattered in screen bonuses among the favored houses.

Previews fall into three general classifications:

THE SNEAK PREVIEW—a showing guarded with all possible secrecy from competing producers, from snooping reporters of one sector of the trade and fan press, and totally unannounced to the audience save from the screen just before the picture goes on. This secret preview is frequently held as far as two hundred miles away in some desert town, or as far as San Francisco north or San Diego south. The sneak preview is seldom a real secret, as will be presently set forth.

"AD INFINITUM, AD LIB, AD HOOEY"

THE PUBLIC PREVIEW—a showing of a completed picture, finished in the opinion of its producers, advertised to the public as a major studio preview but not identified as to company, title or stars, and to all and sundry in the industry, with the exhibitor getting the film free, of course, but reserving from two to four hundred seats for the studio staff and the press.

THE FAKE PREVIEW—which is not a preview at all but a questionable process of showmanship, a connivance between a Los Angeles exchange manager and an exhibitor to foist the first run of a weak picture, the presentation of some ancient obscure film, or the exploitation of a foreign production upon the preview-hungry yokels. It will be seen that even with the flood of production from the Hollywood studios there are not enough previews for Southern California's sunburned populace.

Sneak Preview Most Constructive Process

The sneak preview is at once the most important and constructive of the preview processes, because it represents a genuine laboratory effort to improve upon the production, or to fortify tottering convictions on experimental elements of the picture. It is out of these experiments that betterment can and often does come, for the whole of the art.

But both the competition and avid word mongers of the press are in eternal endeavor to discover and cover the secret or sneak previews. Quigley Publications, with Motion Picture Herald and Motion Picture Daily, may cover but do not review for their pages these showings in which the picture is to be considered still in the process of making. The policy of competing publications varies, from day to day, as does that of the several secret and semi-secret reviewing services sold to exhibitors. The fan press generally, and the "chatter writers" of the movie columns, go strongly after the secret previews.

The process of discovering these previews consists in a simple and direct but extensive web of espionage. Let us say that the makers of the unborn drama have elected to try it on the guinea pigs of Eggville up in Santa Rosa county. A reporter on the Eggville Gazette knows that he can have five dollars for a wired review sent to certain Hollywood offices on any picture previewed in his town.

The girl in the box office at the Eggville Bijou-Empress knows that she is good for a dollar, or maybe a favorable mention in the Gazette, if she keeps the reporter advised of any preview scheduled.

> " . . . By some magic, the sort of magic that one can fancy, all the seven hundred members of the Ivan Lebedeff Club, all ladies who had been initiated by a kiss on the hand, were in attendance [at a preview of Lebedeff's "Follow the Ladies"]. The applause was marvelous and when the preview cards . . . were delivered the vote was seven hundred for Mr. Lebedeff, unanimous."

Or it may not be the reporter at all. There's one sizable California town where the reports on the previews are all telephoned by the second assistant soda jerker at the drugstore across the street from the theatre. He pays for his tips in chocolate nut sundaes and his five dollars are net. He cannot write a line, but he has his opinion on pictures, and a few productions have had a national handicap imposed upon them by the fact that this young man was full of sodium bicarbonate the night of the sneak preview.

To be sure, the producers seek to guard against all this by the direct process of asking promises from the writers or publications involved in the espionage method, but some way something always slipped. Too many Hollywood promises are held to expire at sundown, which comes with a bang in this latitude. The double, triple and quadruple cross blooms like the poinsettia along the hedgerows here.

Indian Signal Fires And Theatre Sky Signs

The public preview gets a standard line of exploitation. It may be announced in newspaper advertisements, it is sure to have lobby and marquee announcements, but the most typical of all is the sky sign.

In the days of long ago the California Indians built signal fires on the hilltops, telegraphing to the tribesmen across the desert in flashes of flame or columns of smoke cut into dots and dashes by a waving buffalo hide. The exhibitor uses the same method. Atop every theatre in the preview zone is a great navy type searchlight.

As twilight falls the Hollywood and Los Angeles picture fans, the preview hunters, scan the horizon for the sweeping pencils of light that proclaim a showing of something hot from the studios.

A good busy preview night would make the uninformed observer suspect that the Japanese were about to make good on one of Mr. Arthur Brisbane's promised air raids from Tokyo, or that the Aurora Borealis had come south for the winter.

With their Fords roaring the preview hunters go hurtling through the streets and the suburbs to get in line at the preview box office. Sometimes when the studio grapevines are operating at full efficiency the box office line-up starts at 6 o'clock.

Within the theatre there is often a better drama in the reserved section than on the screen. The house has more than likely been planted with claques in behalf of the star, in behalf of the director, the second lead, the comedian, the art director, the chief electrician, the sound engineer and most any one who gets a credit line—to say nothing of bit players who want applause to help them get one.

The applause starts with the main title and waxes and wanes in decibels that scale exactly the organization strength of the player at that moment center stage.

The Bedeviled Reviewer Must Discount Claques

It is from these public previews that a preponderance of the reviews that reach the trade and the fan magazine and syndicate press public is written. The bedeviled reviewer has to discount the claques and discriminate between the reaction of the patrons and the plants of the reserved seat sections and claques as best he may. Gus McCarthy of Motion Picture Herald's reviewing staff in Hollywood resorts to a purchased seat in the balcony, for escape and perspective, usually fleeing the theatre and the sidewalk aftermath session by way of a fire exit.

With the showing over, the show just begins. As the studio contingent flows out of the lobby the congratulations begin. There are a few minutes then and there in the life of every picture when it is the world's greatest. All hands, that is to say all the under-hand at least, fall upon star and director and supervisor.

"Will make motion picture history." "I never saw a picture until tonight." Ad infinitum, ad lib, and ad hooey.

As this storm subsides either in a sidewalk conference, if blood pressure is high, or knotted into a limousine if prudence rules, the handful of executive workers involved begin to get at the facts, or seeming facts. If the picture limped, hell will begin to pop, maybe for a hundred speeding miles back to Hollywood. There will be rewrites, retakes, trims and cuts and re-recordings—and like as not another preview—a sneak preview.

The preview enthusiasm of the Los Angeles public was charmingly revealed not so long ago when word got about of a coming showing of "Broadway Through a Keyhole," a Twentieth Century picture, at The Uptown theatre, but the grapevine's date was a day ahead. A line of a thousand persons waited at the box office and the management was busy for hours convincing the crowd that there was no preview that night.

(Continued on following page, column 1)

Guinea Pig Adventures in Preview Land

(Continued from preceding page)

When RKO took "Little Women" to the Hollywood Ritz for preview, someway all of Los Angeles fandom had heard about it and favorably. There was a line-up of some fifteen hundred, and at the insistence of the audience the picture was run for a second late performance just to satisfy the preview customers.

An extreme case of preview manipulation is afforded in the amusing record of the showing of "Follow the Ladies" with Ivan Lebedeff at the Boulevard Theatre. By some magic, the sort of magic that one can fancy, all the seven hundred members of the Ivan Lebedeff Club, all ladies who had been initiated by a kiss on the hand, were in attendance. The applause was marvelous and when the preview cards —the forms upon which the fans are asked to state their reactions—were delivered the vote was seven hundred for Mr. Lebedeff, unanimous.

A favorite preview theatre for the pictures of the more intelligent and alleged "highbrow" appeal, is the Westwood Village, not too far from the University of Southern California, managed by Fred Rappaport. With a nice eye for the wealthy patrons of Bel Air, upper Santa Monica and Beverly Hills, Mr. Rappaport appears to be a highly successful booker of preview product of quality, with a five in a row last week. At Glendale, a suburb, the Alexander theatre, managed by Hal Neides, is a favorite for the previewing of the sentimental or hearts-and-flowers school.

When Winfield Sheehan set out to preview his now world famous "Cavalcade" he fled from the accustomed preview zone and tried the picture out in the erudite communities of Berkeley and Son José.

When the Universal brought the British made "Be Mine Tonight" to the Hollywood Ritz for preview, the audience gave an alarming manifestation. The opening title and the credits to foreign players swept the house with a wave of disappointment and not less than four hundred spectators stormed out. But the audience which remained gave the picture an ovation and in due season Universal presented the picture at the Film-Art under lease for a run of seventeen weeks. And since then the picture has come back for a repeat week.

The art and industry of the preview is as complex as the rest of the industry, and is a major manifestation in the design for living and doing in Hollywood. Mostly if the preview is a success Hollywood's triumph is complete. The distributors and exhibitors can do the working and worrying after that.

Paramount and Progress

By MARTIN QUIGLEY

Glancing backwards as we approach this year-end, what has happened in the case of Paramount Pictures is something that stands out in sharp and luminous relief as a development of consequence to the industry at large.

For many years the name of Paramount connoted something of vast importance in the world of motion pictures. The institution behind the name played a leading role in matters of production, distribution and exhibition. Upon the attraction value of its product many thousands of theatres throughout the world placed an enormous reliance. To the public it meant a great column in the temple of the motion picture.

△ △ △

Then, in the latter part of last year and through the commencement of this year, rumors of financial distress flew about the trade and lodged with the public. Eventually came the state of bankruptcy of the parent concern and certain of the subsidiary theatre enterprises. This shocking development was not and could not have been rightly interpreted as an isolated instance of distress with little or no consequences beyond the interests immediately affected. The predicament of Paramount cast its shadow throughout the length and breadth of the industry, reflecting apprehension and even gloom virtually throughout the business. One of the great pillars of the temple of the motion picture was cracking under the strain.

However, it developed that those responsible for the administration of the Paramount interests had planned carefully and well in anticipation of the inevitable readjustments that had to be provided for. The activities concerned with production and distribution were marshalled into subsidiary corporations in order to permit of uninterrupted operation and a continuity of management irrespective of what complexities the processes of the law would introduce.

△ △ △

The arrangements which were provided succeeded significantly in keeping the wheels of the distribution machine, both domestic and foreign, turning so that the many thousands of theatres which needed their customary supply of Paramount product could continue to be served. The studios, which on account of the difficulties and complexities inherent in the business of producing motion pictures faced an exceedingly critical day with the coming of the bankruptcy, were not only kept functioning but actually succeeded in turning out a number of significant attractions.

Theatre companies which went into bankruptcy or receivership were carefully administered to the end that the necessary readjustments were effected with the least possible hindrance to the distribution of the product and the regular flow of attractions to the screen. Largely in the hands of local men of experience and reputation were left the difficult problems of leasehold and mortgage rearrangements and this work has proceeded to a point at which most of these local and sectional enterprises have either been reorganized or are about to be.

△ △ △

And thus the name of Paramount has survived in the world of motion pictures.

Quite obviously, however, what has been done has neither been an accident nor has it been any easy accomplishment. Paramount Pictures during the past year faced a critical test. In the face of many obstacles it has made such progress as to reflect much credit upon the management as well as to afford no little satisfaction to the industry at large. The concern of the industry has been most pertinent. Had disaster overwhelmed the Paramount Pictures group of enterprises, reverberations from it would have raced into every quarter of the industry. In fact, it may be said that the rehabilitation of the industry at large has gone on hand in hand with the reorganization and reconstruction which have taken place in the Paramount Pictures group.

△ △ △

The Paramount personnel, in production and in distribution, have been under a severe strain, not only on account of the formidable tasks facing them but also because of impending uncertainties. All of this imposed additional burdens and, consequently, the achievements which have been attained well merit an added measure of recognition.

The progress which has been made by the Paramount Pictures group doubtlessly is and has every right to be considered as a source of both satisfaction and encouragement to the management and to the personnel generally. The record of the past several months may well be an inspiration to the whole organization to carry on and through to the goal of the complete reestablishment of Paramount on its enviable plane of former years.

MUSIC PUBLISHERS ACT TO END ROYALTY VIOLATIONS IN FILMS

Protective Association to Have Agent at Every Screening Before the Board of Review and the New York State Censors

Unauthorized use of copyrighted music in motion pictures by certain small independent producers, "unwittingly" or otherwise, is facing a concerted attack by the Music Publishers' Protective Association, a finish fight this time. In the final analysis, it was said this week by representatives of the publishers, the independent producers will benefit by savings in court costs defending copyright actions.

The means toward accomplishing the end is an arrangement just made by the Music Publishers' Protective group with the New York State Censorship Board and the National Board of Review, through which sources a check is obtainable on every motion picture publicly shown in New York, and eventually throughout the country.

All independent productions reviewed at National Board and at official censorship screenings, will be witnessed by an Association member, and producers found to be violating the law by using copyrighted music without paying royalties to the publishers, will be given official warning to obtain a license. In the event they do not acquiesce, they will be sued.

Thousands of dollars are lost annually to the publishers through the unlawful use of copyrighted music in certain independent productions.

In the past, the MPPA said, it has been found virtually impossible to make adequate check-ups on the so-called small independents who, in many instances, have used musical selections with a flagrant disregard for the proprieties of the copyright laws; who have not cooperated with the association in such matters as submission of cue sheets, and who, more often than not, have adopted a devil-may-care attitude in attempting to "get away with something," according to the publishers.

Losses in Lawsuits Also

Besides the losses in royalties, such activities are said to have cost the independents and the music publishers many thousands of dollars every year in law suits and prolonged legal battles.

To curb these losses, John G. Paine, chairman of the MPPA board, and Harry Fox, who handles motion picture relations for the association, have been working for several months on a regulatory plan.

In the September 30 issue of MOTION PICTURE HERALD the question of illegal usage of music by independent producers was discussed at length. At that time, Mr. Fox announced the intention of the music publishers to organize, if possible, the facilities of the state censorship boards to the best advantage of the organization in stamping out these practices.

Mr. Fox pointed out this week that under a law passed in 1909, which prohibits anyone from making a mechanical reproduction of a copyrighted musical score without a license, the music publishers, through their protective organization, have complete authority to ask official intervention. This they have done, with the result that after January 1, 1934, the National Board of Review in New York will cooperate, likewise the authorities of the censorship board, in reporting all violations.

Cites Violations in Shorts

According to Mr. Fox, certain independent producers of short subjects are the most flagrant violators of music copyrights, and some travel pictures, with musical backgrounds for the countries they represent, were called the greatest violators of all.

"This practice has been going on for three years," Mr. Fox said, "and the worst of it is that we have been able to do little or nothing about it. We seldom have any trouble with the major companies, but the small fellows—the men who jump in and out of a town, make one film and then are never heard from again—have given us a lot of trouble."

The chief difficulty which the association leaders have encountered during the past three years, Mr. Fox declared, has been the tracing of small company product in the field and it was primarily for this reason that censorship cooperation was asked.

Practically every film released for national showing comes before the New York State Censorship Board at some time or other, and for this reason it is believed that such "supervision" as the protective organization is instigating will not be necessary in any of the other states.

In a letter which Mr. Paine and Mr. Fox sent out to all independent companies, the fact was emphasized that since expiration of the music license agreement under which music was used in synchronism or timed relation with motion pictures, a vastly more rigid supervision of pictures and synchronized music scores is being made abroad and that the organization has been finding an enormous accumulation of complaints coming to its offices.

PUBLISHERS PLAN A "FINISH FIGHT"

Unlawful use by independent producers, in particular, of copyrighted music, and the attendant annual loss of thousands of dollars, both in revenue and as a result of prolonged legal battles, has led the Music Publishers' Protective Association to plan a "finish fight" on the practice. In the long run, the organization claims, the producers will be better off to avoid violation, since in all probability the cost of defending legal action by the association will be greater than the royalties assessed by the publishers.

Executives Charge Constant Breaking of License Law by Independent Producers, with Losses in Fees and Actions

"In the various foreign territories," the letter said, "there is a custom for motion picture producers to give trade showings of the pictures that they desire to exploit or perform in such foreign territories. In this country we have no such custom or practice in any centralized spot, and therefore we cannot be as cooperative in working out clearances as we otherwise could be and should be."

Mr. Fox explained that the National Board of Review had accepted the organization's proposals provided the independents themselves were notified and had no objections.

"This was purely a matter of form," he said. "Already we have the assurances of full cooperation of the censor and Board groups.

Protective Measure, Says Fox

"The important thing to be remembered by everyone concerned is that we are doing this primarily as a protective measure and not to create unpleasantness and dissensions between ourselves and the film industry. It is only fair play that our members should receive what belongs to them in the way of financial remuneration for their works, and it is our business to see that this is effected."

The music publishers recently estimated that a large majority of more than 200 independent features and short subjects in production on the Coast and in New York contained music for which no licenses had been issued.

Now, it appears, the small companies will have little or no choice in the matter. Music publishers' representatives will sit in on every independent production screened in New York State; a check will be made on every piece of music used; if licenses have not been issued, the producers will be notified that unless this is done immediately, lawsuits will be instigated.

At the present time and until the MPPA announces its new rates for music reproducing privileges, producers are required to pay flat taxes for the three types of music used: visual and vocal, $150; visual and instrumental, $100, and background, $50.

The new rates in all probability will be announced shortly after the opening of the new year, Mr. Fox said.

Trade Show Dates Changed

Dates on the national trade showings of the two 20th Century productions, "Gallant Lady" and "Moulin Rouge" have been changed to Jan. 3 and Jan. 9, respectively.

FIRST COMPLAINTS FILED IN FIELD AS CODE MACHINERY IS AWAITED

Dr. Lowell Formally Refuses Code Authority Post; Rosenblatt to Handle Compliance Matter Until Plans Are Set

BULLETIN

John C. Flinn of Paramount, president of the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers, was appointed secretary of the Code Authority Wednesday afternoon by the Secretaryship Committee. The choice was unanimous. Mr. Flinn will not resign the AMPA presidency but will take a leave of absence.

—

With the filing in the field of the first complaints and grievances under the motion picture code in the past week, branches of the industry were looking expectantly to the Code Authority to put into motion the vast intra-industry machinery to handle all matters of dispute, and to effect compliance with the code.

The Code Authority met last week in New York for the first time and will meet again January 4 to launch the setting up of local clearance and zoning and grievance boards.

Other significant developments included:

1. Formal refusal of Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell to serve on the Code Authority.

2. Announcement that Division Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt will handle all compliance matters until approval has been given to any plan worked out by the Code Authority dealing with such problems.

3. Announcement that forms for signatures approving the code would be ready for mailing to all exhibitors, distributors and producers this week.

4. Explanations of the code by many employers to their employees.

5. Additional exhibitor meetings to discuss the code.

Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell last Friday formally announced that he would not serve on the Code Authority, citing his objections to block booking. This practice, the Harvard University president-emeritus declared, compels exhibitors to accept large blocks of film from distributors virtually without choice.

Cites Lack of Vote

Block booking, as such, is not mentioned in the code, although exhibitor organizations conducted a bitter fight all through the summer for a prohibitive clause. Distributors opposed and offered the ten per cent cancellation privilege.

"This monopolistic practice receives a certain legal sanction in the code," Dr. Lowell said, "and hence the position on the Code Authority which I feel constrained to decline is virtually that of a powerless onlooker at conduct which I can neither change nor approve."

Dr. Lowell pointed out that he would have "a voice, but no vote."

General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA Administrator, attempted to persuade Dr. Lowell to reconsider and emphasized that the cancellation privilege would to an extent eliminate some of the socalled "evils" of block booking.

Remaining adamant, Dr. Lowell said:

"What is the use of a vote against a certain majority? But if governmental representatives are alert they can absolutely prevent abuse. That the practice of block booking is a monopoly illegal by law I do not mean to assert, but that the whole object of it is monopolistic I think one would hardly deny; and I am very much interested in your (Gen. Johnson's) statement that you had no legal power to prohibit it in the code, because it would seem to follow that, no matter how much the representatives of the government on the Code Authority should condemn it, there would be no legal power to stop it by any further amendment of the code."

Dr. Lowell further disclosed that in his correspondence with General Johnson he had told him that exhibitors had complained to him that their right, under the code, to cancel ten per cent of the product "is futile, because it is perfectly easy for the distributors to put in ten per cent of films which the exhibitors are certain to reject before reaching the objectionable ones."

From Washington came announcement that division administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt will handle directly all matters involving compliance until approval has been given to any plan worked out by the Code Authority.

It is the Recovery Administration's practice that compliance complaints go direct to Washington, where they may be referred either to the Code Authority or to such a body as is set up by it, or to the National Labor Board. Under plans worked out by General Johnson all compliance problems ultimately will come before Code Authorities, in line with the program of making all industries as self-governing as possible.

Committees of the Code Authority, appointed at its first session, were to begin functioning this week, when members of the six committees were to hold individual sessions and work out plans for rules of Code Authority, methods of financing, selection of a permanent secretary, obtaining of signatures for code approval and establishment of permanent headquarters.

It is now understood that parliamentary procedure will be the rule at all sessions of the Code Authority. The committee on rules, which met last week, announced Tuesday that this plan was the most acceptable. The committee is comprised of W. Ray Johnston, M. H. Aylesworth and Ed. Kuykendall.

All committees are expected to submit plans for approval of the Code Authority at its January 4 meeting.

Clearance, zoning and grievance boards probably will be set up throughout the country to become operative late in January. All applications will be subjected to a two-weeks investigation, in order that all boards will be "above reproach."

Mr. Rosenblatt said in Washington late last week that printed forms for signatures approving the code would be off the presses in about a week and mailed to all interests in 10 days. All approvals must reach Washington by January 10.

Salary Questionnaires Rushed

Further, it was indicated at NRA headquarters that nearing completion is the drafting of questionnaires for data for its investigation of salaries.

Employers and employees held several meetings in New York and other key cities to discuss the code. This was also true of exhibitor organizations. In New York Joseph Bernhard, managing director of Warner theatres, emphasized to zone managers the spirit and intent of the code. He said the company aimed to abide firmly by its provisions, with fair trade practices in every situation.

In Memphis, Loew's southern theatre managers began a two-day conference, and in New York several independent interests met to hear Louis Nizer, secretary of the Film Board of Trade, analyze the code.

The Independent Motion Picture Theatre Owners Association of Delaware and Eastern Shore of Maryland met in Harrington, Del., and signed.

The Associated Theatre Owners of Indiana adjourned their annual meeting in Indianapolis without taking action.

Nathan Yamins, a member of the Code Authority and president of the Independent Exhibitors of New England, announced that this organization will take action before January 10.

Allied of New Jersey has not acted as a unit, the matter being rather for individual exhibitors to decide, said Sidney Samuelson, president. The New Jersey unit is not holding another meeting prior to the January 10 deadline.

The first annual meeting of the Theatre

SECOND ARTICLE ON CODE NEXT WEEK

The second article in Motion Picture Herald's series translating the motion picture code from the involved legal phraseology into a clear working language, will appear in next week's issue. The second article will contain an analytical translation of the labor provisions of the code that are applicable to distribution and exhibition.

In subsequent issues the remainder of the code will be translated, including trade practices, contracts, clearance and zoning, all in distribution and exhibition. Production will be treated separately in a later issue.

In the first of the series, which appeared last week, subjects treated (all relating to distribution and exhibition) included:

(1) Preamble.—Being a translation of the general application of the code.

(2) Definitions of the technical terms used in the code.

(3) Administration of the code within the industry.

Forms for Signatures Approving Code Will Be Ready This Week; Employers Explain Code Clauses to Employees

LABOR ASKS CLAUSES BE PERMANENT

Owners of Oklahoma will be held in Oklahoma City January 3.

Nineteen names have been submitted to Mr. Rosenblatt by the Independent Theatre Owners of Kansas City for membership on the code zoning, clearance and grievance boards.

Offices of the Standing Committee of the Code Authority will be opened in Hollywood within the next six weeks, with Mr. Rosenblatt supervising. This committee is designed to handle studio and production problems exclusively. With a secretary in charge, the branches will function independently of the Authority members in New York.

According to the code, the Standing Committee is to be representative of employers, extras and the public. It is designed to effectuate the purposes and to interpret and supervise the terms of any provision made for extras, and to pass on complaints, subject to review by the administrator.

The second meeting of the Code Authority in New York will last two or three days.

Ask U. S. to Retain NRA Provisions

Embodying in permanent law the right of labor to collective bargaining, and other provisions of codes enacted under the NRA, will be demanded of Congress by the American Federation of Labor.

The proposed measure, it was said in an AFL resolution, would accomplish the following, if effected for federal licensing of companies doing an interstate business:

1. Prevent use of holding companies to hide profits, dodge taxation and evade regulation.

2. Establish rules of fair trade practice.

3. Enforce a uniform accounting system for each industry, adapted to the various peculiarities of each industry.

4. Provide for collecting information on employed men, man hours, payrolls and total volume of sales at six or three-month periods, thus aiding in national planning.

5. Give the Government notice of all increases in capital stock.

6. Continue the right of labor to bargain collectively, which is accorded under the NRA.

On the other hand, General Johnson and Senator Gerald Nye (Rep., N. D.), have been conferring on the procedure for setting up a new senatorial "grievance" board to hear all grievances of small businesses and advise accordingly with the NRA upon means of relief where it is established that the small business man is hampered by a code.

"Little NRA's" Urged by Johnson

In a telegram to all state governors, General Johnson urged them to set up "little" NRA's to obtain legal cooperation for the National Recovery Administration and for introducing NRA principles into industries which were essentially local.

Several weeks ago, a Tampa judge refused to recognize NRA rights in a case of price-cutting, because the case was not brought into court by a United States attorney and local laws did not obtain. The new move would avert such complications. However, the national codes would always take precedence over the local state "little" NRAs. General Johnson would insure that state laws back up the national code law.

Nine states, including New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Texas, Colorado, California, Wisconsin, Utah and Virginia, already have created state organizations.

Not all the big code problems of the motion picture industry and others will be brought in the future to General Johnson. To speed up action, the Administrator is said to be preparing to divide many of his administrative duties among three principal aids—Col. Robert W. Lea, assistant for industry, who participated in some of the film code activities; Edward F. McGrady, assistant for labor, and Alvin Brown, NRA executive.

Complaints Filed

Claiming that RKO, Warner and Paramount have canceled their contracts and refused service at the Market Square theatre on the complaint of unfair competition because he had a ten-cent admission price from 6:30 to 7:30 nightly, Sam Barck, Cleveland exhibitor, filed a protest last week under the code with the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America. Mr. Barck charges he is the victim of unfair competition and contends that he runs pictures last run in his zone, getting them more than 100 days after availability.

Other complaints and grievances being filed include a protest filed by the MPTO of Maryland against MGM and Fox for alleged serving of non-theatrical accounts in neighborhoods where theatres are located.

In Milwaukee last week the practice of offering prizes of baskets of groceries to persons who chance to be seated in "lucky seats" was ruled by Judge A. J. Hedding to contain an element of lottery and was deemed unfair competition. Charles Washicheck, manager of the Pearl theatre, was fined $25 for conducting a lottery.

In Kansas City the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees filed a complaint with the National Labor Board at Washington against the Dubinsky theatres, alleging a lockout of operators and violations of the blanket and industry codes involving hours and wages. Stage hands were pulled from theatres after a lockout of operators about a month ago, it was charged. Representatives of the IATSE went to St. Joseph, where the trouble appeared, to seek an amicable settlement.

Additional Copies of Herald Issue Containing Code Text Available

The issue of Motion Picture Herald carrying the text of the Code for the Industry is now an exhibitor handbook, reports directly from the field show.

A limited supply of copies of that issue, the Motion Picture Herald of December 2, is available. Single copies are 25 cents. New subscriptions will include a copy of that issue. Address

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

1790 Broadway New York City

British Themes Seen Advisable

The considerable amount of Hollywood product, destined for the English market, and yet wholly American in atmosphere and theme, is to an extent responsible for the recent advances made by English home product, in the opinion of James M. Beck, Jr., MPPDA representative in England, on his departure for his post last week, after a stay in New York.

American producers are losing an opportunity, he declared, in failing to give sufficient attention to the possibilities of the British atmosphere, which he believes will be equally acceptable in British and American market. The "intensely national" British feeling offers a waiting market for entertainment that takes it into account, Mr. Beck said.

"It occurs to me," he declared, "that American producers may be missing some good bets in not examining carefully enough the picture possibilities of British history and life. The elements of drama are there and properly presented, they can be as acceptable to American audiences as they would surely be to the important British market."

Six Million Attended Music Hall in First Year

Approximately 6,025,000 persons have paid admissions to the Radio City Music Hall in New York since S. L. Rothafel (Roxy) opened the theatre to the public a year ago Tuesday, December 27, it was announced this week. In the same period approximately 2,050,000 people have attended performances at what is now known as the RKO Center theatre, which rounded out its first year December 29.

Opens Portable Circuit

Ray Raeburn has organized a portable circuit in South Dakota, planning to cover seven towns, each once a week.

THE CAMERA REPORTS

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS. By the many bagsful were received by Marie Dressler on her sixty-second birthday anniversary. Here the MGM star is shown registering delight and gratitude over a portion of the congratulatory messages sent her by admirers of stations high and low, the world over.

MODEL SCRIPT. Jack Cohn, vice-president of Columbia, presenting to Mrs. Frances Taylor Patterson, of Columbia University, the working script of "Lady for a Day," written by Robert Riskin and used in producing this Columbia picture. It will serve as a model in the course in photoplay composition.

TERRY RAMSAYE IN HOLLYWOOD. Studio press representatives at a reception arranged at Levy's in honor of the editor of Motion Picture Herald upon his arrival for a stay of several weeks, after a motor trip from New York. Left to right: Perry Leiber, Carlisle Jones, Milt Howe, Barney Williams, Harry Brand, Russell Phelps, Johnny Miles, Cliff Lewis, Phil Gersdorf, Frank Pope, Bill Pine, Troy Orr, Mark Larkin, Ham Beall, Lindsley Parsons, Jack Lewis, Joe Breen, Victor Shapiro, Ray Hoadley, Mr. Ramsaye, Paul Snell, Don McElwain, Lon Young, Frank Perrett, Arch Reeve, Joe Sherman, Sam Cohn, Bill Thomas, Nate Dyches, Milt Watt. Others were Ed Selzer, Hubert Voight, Howard Strickling, Tom Baily, Johnny Johnston, Eddie Eckels, Doug Churchill.

TARZAN AND HIS MATE. Which is to say, Johnny Weissmuller and Lupe Velez, who were recently married. MGM players both, they are shown capering at the studio pool. "Tarzan and His Mate" is his latest picture, while hers is "Laughing Boy."

CELEBRATES 20TH YEAR. In the motion picture industry. Hal Roach with two of his guests — Louis B. Mayer, production chief of MGM, and Will Rogers, Fox star — at a dinner party given by the comedy producer to commemorate a career.

ON SALES TRIP. Norton V. Ritchey, executive of the Ritchey Export Corporation and of Monogram, who has gone to Europe to negotiate deals for the current Monogram output.

VACATIONING IN EAST. Claire Trevor on her arrival in New York the other day for a rest, following completion of the Fox production, "Every Girl for Herself," which was her fifth Fox picture since going to Hollywood last May.

COMEDIENNE RETURNS. Dorothy Dix, Wampas Baby Star, who has returned to the Educational roster following a brief absence, resuming her comedy career with two subjects.

GOOD FILM KNOWS NO BOUNDARY, AUSTRALIA'S REPLY TO BIAS CHARGE

Aussies Called World-Minded Though Three Weeks from U. S.; Attempt to Internationalize Pictures Called Mistake

by CLIFF HOLT
Sydney Correspondent

A short time ago I read in MOTION PICTURE HERALD Bernard Charman's intensely interesting article dealing with the apparent struggle of British producers in their attempt to invade the American market. His remarks dealt chiefly with the American exhibitor's supposed prejudice against films of British thought and background, whether they be of English or American origin, as in the case of "Cavalcade." At the same time I read Terry Ramsaye's reply to this article. Mr. Ramsaye's reply was that the contention that the American patron might be expected to be equally receptive of pictures with a British locale, as British audiences are of those with American atmosphere and color, did not take into consideration the very large differences in the world attitude of the two publics. The American "is not, and never will be the world-minded person that the Englishman is in his tight little isle," he went on. "It's the tightness that makes the Englishman so. Every time he leaves home for a few hours he is in foreign parts."

If the lamb may address the lion—if a contributor may presume to cross swords with his editor—I would say that Mr. Ramsaye's reply doesn't go nearly far enough. In fact, I don't think that it goes at all.

Accept American Pictures

Statistics will show that, proportionately, Australian audiences accept American pictures of essentially American atmosphere and color quite as much as, if not more than, audiences of Great Britain. But could it be said that our "tight little isle" makes us world-minded? Are we in foreign parts every time we leave home for a few hours?

There are six to seven million persons resident in Australia. It is safe to say that not one-half of one per cent of that population moves outside the Australian coast line from one year to another. Yet we are interested in the story of an American family, as in "Song of the Eagle" for example; we accept American humour, American habits, American fashions, as long as they are presented in the form of entertainment. Having grown accustomed to it, we no longer quibble at the American accent, which is as harsh to the people of British dominions as is the British accent to Americans. In short, we are apparently world-minded though we are separated by three weeks of travel by steamer to the United States, six weeks to Great Britain, and from four to eight weeks from the other powers.

During my close connection with the Australian industry over a number of years, I have made an earnest study of the failures and successes of each season, and I can honestly say that I have never found it necessary to excuse a picture solely because of its foreign background. Generally it all boiled down to the fact that the picture simply wasn't good enough. If a picture is the goods, it should overcome every obstacle. Yet I would have imagined that "Cavalcade" was one picture that must succeed anywhere and everywhere. To my mind there has never been an example of talking picture art that even approached its standard. Despite this, American small town audiences turned thumbs down on it. This being so, the continual effort expended in the achievement of internationalizing of pictures is a waste of time. The studios are aiming at a goal impossible of attainment. British producers should concentrate on production of entertainment, not bother too much about the making of pictures designed for world consumption, for who can say what form such pictures should take? Let pictures of better entertainment value go out and conquer the world by their quality, as, sooner or later, they inevitably must.

▽

Hoyt's Shows Profit

The improved condition of Australian industry and commerce is reflected in the public balance sheet just issued by Hoyts Theatres, Ltd. Against a loss of £11,039 in the previous year, a profit of £25,283 was returned for the twelve months ended June 10. Gross revenue, at £728,466, shows a decrease of £216,782 compared with that for 1931-32, but operating expenses have been whittled down. With £49,426 brought forward, there is available £74,709.

Payment to Picture Investments Pty., Ltd., in accordance with the agreement entered into with that company, requires £4,200, and the dividend on guaranteed "C" preference shares absorbs £750, leaving £69,759 to be carried forward. No dividend on ordinary shares is to be paid, the directors stating in their report that, in view of the company's liabilities and commitments, they are unable to recommend any disbursement among the holders of that class of the company's capital. The report reflects great credit on the whole company, and in particular Charles E. Munro, in whose hands has rested the difficult task of steering it through a crisis.

▽

For Australian Films Only

In the presence of Federal and N. S. W. political leaders, the Lord Mayor the other day opened the Civic theatre in Sydney as the first house set aside exclusively for the presentation of Australian pictures. It is far from a new theatre, having passed through many changing fortunes during its several years as the Haymarket.

In an introductory speech, Stuart F. Doyle, managing director of General Theatres Corporation and Cinesound Productions—whose picture, "The Squatter's Daughter," opened the show—said that £200,000 had been invested in the four principal Australian studios, and next year £190,000 would be spent in wages to players and technicians.

Those figures give a graphic idea as to how much the Australian producing industry has grown, since F. W. Thring revitalized it three years ago. And as long as the Australian public keeps patronizing Australian pictures as it is doing now, its expansion will continue. Backed by a prolific publicity campaign—and either aided or hindered by national partisanship or prejudice—"The Squatter's Daughter" is doing business that only the most outstanding product from overseas can command. Not that this is a great film. Not that it is even a film that would attract attention if set among the more polished productions from overseas. It is, however, refreshing in its treatment of a popular old story.

To director Ken G. Hall, and the artists and technical staff, who made "The Squatter's Daughter" under peculiarly difficult circumstances, I should like to record this tribute to a job well done.

QUALITY MORE VITAL THAN THE BACKGROUND

"Generally it all boiled down to the fact that the picture simply wasn't good enough," is the conclusion drawn by Cliff Holt, writing from Australia relative to the lack of appreciation of American pictures in England and its dominions, and vice versa. "I have never found it necessary to excuse a picture solely because of its foreign background," says Mr. Holt as a result of long study of successes and failures in the Australian market. Furthermore, Mr. Holt insists, Australian audiences accept pictures essentially American in atmosphere even more readily than audiences of Great Britain.

Federal Government Evacuates Field of Amusement Taxation, and Lower Import Tariff Is Next; Hoyt's Shows Profit

Distribution Arranged

Robert Mintz of Exploitation Pictures, Inc., has arranged distribution of "Enlighten Thy Daughter," first roadshow production, for three territories in the East and New England. "Drums O' Voodoo," all negro film, is being handled by Sack Amusement Enterprises, San Antonio, and M. C. Howard, Atlanta, in several southern states.

OLD BIOGRAPH STUDIO OPENS AFTER 6 YEARS

Home of Silents, Built in 1908 in New York's Bronx, Made Modern Plant; Sound Production Starts January 2

The old Biograph studio, one of the earliest of the motion picture's pioneer institutions, this week is reopening after a six-year period of silence and inactivity. The studio, located in New York's Bronx sector, was built in 1908 and for nearly 20 years thereafter contributed highly active service to the industry as the workshop of such luminaries of the earlier days and the present as Sarah Bernhardt, D. W. Griffith, Mabel Normand, Mary Pickford, Mack Sennett, Henry B. Walthall.

Under the roofs of this old home of silent pictures, the scenes of the efforts of some of the most noted performers and directors of the last decade were enacted—many of them never to be forgotten. Now, completely remodeled and with stages equipped with the finest sound recording systems and soundproofed for perfect protection, it returns to the industry as an important factor in the production of talking pictures.

Active from 1908 to 1927

The Biograph studios were closed in 1927 when the old First National company wound up its affairs in the East and merged with Warner Brothers, subsequently combining their activities in Hollywood. From 1927 until the present day the Biograph studio remained dark, while all around it, in Hollywood and in New York, the hustle and bustle created by the coming of sound raged.

After Mr. Griffith came such notables as Florence Lawrence, "The Biograph Girl"; Arthur Johnson, James Kirkwood, Lottie Pickford, Mary Pickford, Herbert Yost, Joe Graybill, Jeanie Macpherson, Frank Powell, Marion Leonard, Florence LaBadie and John Barrymore.

For several weeks past the studio has been the scene of concentrated activity. New stages have been built; heating and cooling plants of the most modern design have been installed; dressing rooms, carpentry and machinery shops and all the paraphernalia necessary to the efficient conduct of a motion picture studio have taken their places under the roofs of the institution. In addition a new administration building, directly adjoining the studio, has been built.

R. H. Hammer Remains

In charge of these preliminaries has been Robert H. Hammer, who is as much a part of the studio as its foundations. He started with the company in 1908 and was a former vice-president and general manager of the studio. Under Biograph's new regime Mr. Hammer will continue in an executive capacity.

On January 2, Chester Erskine and his production company move into the plant to commence work on the first sound picture ever to be produced at Biograph. The production is "Frankie and Johnnie," probably with Tallulah Bankhead and Helen Morgan in the starring roles.

Mr. Erskine probably will produce from 12 to 15 pictures within the next three years at the Biograph plant.

On Wednesday of this week a gala party marked the official reopening of the studio.

Among those present were:

R. W. Altschuler
Fred Ayer
Lee S. Buckingham
Walter Brown
Richard Brady
Pierre Boucheron
Ben Blake
J. J. Brown, Jr.
C. D. Burrows
Colvin Brown
W. C. Bentley
J. Baker
H. O. Bele
David Beberman
Harold Collins
C. Conklin
J. P. Case
J. W. Coffman
R. H. Cochrane
Jack Cosman
James Cron
R. Delson
Henry L. Davis
Ben Erdman
Arthur W. Eddy
Bernard F. Foster
T. C. Fry
Harry Frazee
H. B. Franklin
R. E. Fehse
Eddie Golden
Charles Goetz
Jack Goetz
Harry M. Goetz
Raymond Gallagher
Raymond Gallo
Wallace Guerber
Bert Glennon
L. Gray
H. Grey
M. Green
Philip A. Hunt
Julius Haber
E. O. Heyl
Earle W. Hammons
Helen E. Hughes
Joe Horne
George Halbert
H. A. Huebner
W. Ray Johnston
Sydney Jerome
H. G. Knox
J. Kapp
Red Kann
M. H. Lavenstein
C. L. Lootens
N. K. Loder
Maj. I. E. Lambert
H. Lott
Joseph Mayer
Harold Menken
Helen Morgan
F. Murphy
A. J. Miller
Duncan McGuire
Willard S. McKay
J. MacWilliams
Oscar Neu
H. G. Neu
Lee A. Ochs
Van Ness Philip
Ralph Poucher
R. F. Perez
Martin Quigley
Erno Rapee
W. H. Raybell
N. E. Raymond
J. Rothenberg
F. Rothenberg
J. J. Speiss
Bernard Schultz
Jess Smith
M. Simon
S. Siegel
H. Smith
J. Schneider
A. E. Satherley
M. J. Siegel
J. Schwartz
E. H. Seifert
Douglas Simon
Harry Thomas
Nick Tronolone
Fred Tiepel
A. Tabb
A-Mike Vogel
A. J. Van Beuren
A. F. Wiseburn
Arthur Williams
C. D. Wooster
Sidney Wilmer
William Wentz
Richard Wallace
J. Wexler
H. J. Yates, Sr.
H. J. Yates, Jr.
T. W. Yates

Music Occupies Two-Thirds Of National's Broadcasting

Music occupied more than two-thirds of the National Broadcasting Company's time on the air during 1933, according to an analysis of programs issued from the office of M. H. Aylesworth, NBC president. The company's broadcasts through its two coast-to-coast networks of 86 stations total 330,540 station-hours for the year.

The remaining third of the network time was taken up with literature, lectures, reports of outstanding events, women's and children's programs, dramas, novelty broadcasts, physical training and religion.

Note Holders May Get Loew Shares

Final disposition of the 660,900 shares of Loew's, Inc., common stock sold at auction last week in New York to satisfy claims of the holders of defaulted Film Securities Corporation notes, was the subject of considerable speculation in Wall Street this week. It was reported that there is great likelihood that the block will be distributed to the holders of the notes, most of whom are Wall Street banking institutions.

The stock taken over by the noteholders cannot be transferred to a third party without an order by the federal court, which on Wednesday approved the sale of the stock to a noteholders' protective committee.

It was revealed in reports filed late last week that 16 film affiliates, directly or indirectly controlled by Fox Film Corporation, are among the affiliated units of the Chase National Bank, holder of $4,000,000 of the defaulted Film Securities notes. These units are listed as follows:

Wesco Corporation—Holding theatres and real estate.
Fox Philadelphia Building, Inc.—Operates theatre and office building.
United American Investing Corporation—Holding company for foreign picture operations.
Fox Realty Corporation of California—Holds realty.
Fox Film Realty Corporation—Holds realty.
Movietone Music Corporation—Controls copyrights.
Red Star Music Company, Inc.—Inactive; controls copyrights.
Movietonews, Inc.—Produces news reels and short subjects.
De Luxe Laboratories, Inc.—Develops and prints motion picture film.
Wisconsin Amusement Enterprises Corporation—Operates motion picture theatres.
Fox Wisconsin Corporation—Operates motion picture theatres.
Fox Film Federal, Inc., U. S. A., Shanghai, China—Motion picture distributor.
Fox Film Export Company—Motion picture distributor.
Fox Eiga Kaisha, Inc.—Motion picture distributor.
Fox Film Corporation, Ltd.—Motion picture distributor.
Fox Film Corporation of Texas—Motion picture distributor.

Meanwhile a denial came last week from authoritative sources in Hollywood of a rumor placing Electrical Research Products, Inc., in control of Loew's. Erpi is said to hold some $3,000,000 of Loew stock.

Argument Resumed in Realty Associates Case

Resuming the argument on the status of the Realty Associates Corp., a bankrupt with a large creditor claim against Paramount Publix, Alfred T. Davison, counsel for the corporation took the stand before Federal Judge Marcus B. Campbell in Brooklyn Friday and told the court that money had been posted for a claim of the federal government against the bankrupt and that the payment would have no effect on the corporation's offer to creditors. Judge Marcus, earlier in the week had ruled that Realty Associates must deposit with the clerk of the court sufficient funds to cover a $849,000 consolidated tax lien held by the government.

THE CUTTING ROOM

Advance outlines of productions nearing completion as seen by Gus McCarthy of Motion Picture Herald's Hollywood Bureau

EASY TO LOVE

Warner

A sophisticated but subtle comedy romance farce along the lines of "Goodbye Again," "Easy To Love" is adapted from the stage play by Thompson Buchanan, for which the screen play was written by Manuel Seff, who worked on "Footlight Parade," and by Carl Erickson. It is the first directorial effort of William Keighley, who previously has been associated with the direction of "The Jewel Robbery," "Cabin in the Cotton," "The Match King" and several other Warner features.

The cast is composed entirely of wellknown players. All, and the four leads principally, Adolphe Menjou, Genevieve Tobin, Mary Astor and Edward Everett Horton, are particularly well adapted to their smart, gay romance-comedy roles. In support, Hugh Herbert, who rapidly is coming to the fore as a character comedian with the prestige of "Goodbye Again" and "Convention City" behind him, Hobart Cavanaugh and Robert Greig carry the straight contrasting fun-making roles. Minor parts here are taken care of by Patricia Ellis, Paul Kaye and Harold Waldridge.

Story is a rapid fire complicated situation affair with sparkling dialogue and hectic action providing the interpretative vein. Modern in idea, the main locale is a big city hotel. Menjou, married to Miss Tobin, arranges a rendezvouz with Astor, Horton's beloved. Wife and lover are wise to all that is going to happen, but unwilling to believe that it could be true. All naturally in hot water find the efforts of House Detective Herbert and Clerk Cavanaugh further tangling the situation with a line of nonsense.

In title, theme of story and cast names, comedy atmosphere and complicated situations there seems to be unusual opportunity for much topical showmanship. Hokum, romance, drama, comedy and action that the ordinary folk understand is the essence of the picture.

I LIKE IT THAT WAY

Universal

A romantic drama, this production deals with the subject of the double standard. It was directed by Harry Lachman, who recently completed "Paddy, the Next Best Thing." The story is by Harry Sauber, the screen play by Chandler Sprague, who did "The Nuisance," and Joseph Santley, with Gene Lewis, who worked on "Lady for a Day," contributing added dialogue.

The cast is of exceptional quality with Roger Prior, the singing star of "Moonlight and Pretzels," in the lead, supported principally by Gloria Stuart, now in "Roman Scandals," Shirley Grey, who was featured in "Too Much Harmony," Marian Marsh and Noel Madison. Other better known names are Onslow Stevens, Lucille Gleason, Merna Kennedy, Eddie Gribbon, Mickey McGuire and Gloria Shea.

Dramatic human interest is contrasted with early topical comedy, which is succeeded by the thrill, glamor and excitement of gambling-night club sequences, all of which establish the basis for the emotional finale.

Prior, a love 'em and leave 'em guy, figures its okay to follow the primrose path, but his sister (Miss Marsh) should stick to the straight and narrow, a condition she resents. He falls for Gloria Stuart, night club luminary, who travels under another more respectable identity, and the first dramatic situation arises as, in Prior's home, Miss Stuart, to save Miss Marsh, reveals herself as Madison's love-nest companion. Conflict established, Prior checks up Shirley Grey's tip and finds that his sister, rather than being a time signal phone operator, is working in a club with Stuart. Realizing the true state of affairs, Prior goes to her apartment, meets another man and, with suspense building forcefully, learns that Stevens is Stuart's blind brother, through whom he finds the way to the real Gloria.

Besides the lure of plot and power of cast names, the show offers unusual media for novel showmanship built around the high pressure salesmanship school opening, the night club sequence, a time signal gag and the dual brother-sister angle.

SLEEPERS EAST

Fox

Based on Frederick Novel's story by the same title which has been widely read, this looks to be a fast moving, interest-holding action drama in intriguing and exciting locales. The screen play is by Lester Cole, and Kenneth MacKenna is directing. A small but colorful cast merges old and new screen names with Wynne Gibson, Preston Foster, recently seen in "The Man Who Dared," Harvey Stephens, the school teacher in "Worst Woman in Paris," Roger Imhof and J. Carroll Naish, the menace of "The Mad Game," sharing the credits with Mona Barrie, Howard Lally and Suzanne Kaaren, screen newcomers.

Motivated by murder, political destinies depending upon the efficiency of legal and extra-legal forces, the entire cast is aboard an express train, where Naish attempts to prevent Stevens from bringing the key witness, Wynne Gibson, to the scene of the trial. As human interest is developed through romances between Miss Gibson and Foster and Mona Barrie and Stevens, the engineer, Imhoff, unaware of the drama on his train, combats the eccentricities of a wheezy locomotive to wind up a glorious record by bringing his train in on time. During an accident which halts the train, Foster is shot as he aids Miss Gibson to flee. She is caught, however, and taken east to the scene of the trial. Threatened by Naish with death, she is on the stand when Lally kills himself in confession.

Stirring, emotional realism is the picture's keynote, a quality vividly portrayed against the dramatic romantic background. Cast names are up to standard; circulation of the original story indicates potential audience-interest, and night club, train and courtroom atmosphere permits unusual exploitation possibilities.

ALL OF ME

Paramount

Again teaming the stars of "Design for Living," Fredric March and Miriam Hopkins, and supporting them with George Raft and the rapidly rising Helen Mack, Paramount has assembled an exceptionally strong name value cast for "All of Me," a dramatic study of the ways of love. Original story is by Rose Albert Porter; this screen play is by Sidney Buchman and Thomas Mitchell, with James Flood, remembered particularly for "Life Begins."

Modern in premise, the story is one that should have strong primary appeal to women with tense realism accentuating the human interest plot. While dialogue will be depended upon to carry the main interpretative motif, action and atmosphere develop both dramatic suspense and punch.

In story, Hopkins, wealthy girl, delays acceptance of March's marriage proposal while she studies the causes of marital unhappiness that they may be eliminated in her own life. In New York, slumming, the pair meet Raft and Miss Mack, lower class folk, sincerely in love. For lifting March's wallet, ex-con Raft is jailed and Miss Mack's mother has her imprisoned as incorrigible. Miriam Hopkins, attracted to Raft, tells him of his girl's misfortune. In a prison break, Raft kills a guard and later gets Helen away from the women's prison. Hidden in an apartment, police trail Miriam, who still befriends the unfortunates, and as the jail breaking pair are trapped, Raft and Helen take their own lives rather than face the odium of having their expected baby born in prison. Realizing the devotedness of the pair who had nothing to live for, Miriam knows the kind of love that will guide her and goes to March.

Power and depth of plot and tempo of the picture indicate that it's one of those unusual problem plays, dealing in elements that interest adults, elements which, when they catch the public in proper mood, ordinarily prove popular.

FOUR FRIGHTENED PEOPLE

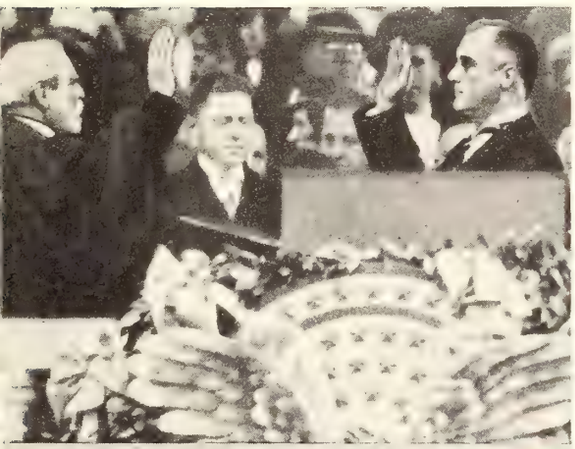
Paramount

This weird thriller, an adventure in the Malay jungles and in primitive human desires, which is being directed by Cecil B. DeMille, is adapted from E. Arnot Robertson's published novel from which the screen play was written by Bartlett Cormack and Lenore Coffee.

Five wellknown screen names, Claudette Colbert, Herbert Marshall, Mary Boland, William Gargan and Leo Carrillo, carry the principal roles with Japanese and Oriental characters supplying the native atmosphere. Typical of DeMille pictures, "Four Frightened People" is being produced on an unusual and spectacular scale and moves with surprise succeeding surprise. Always a point of exhibitor and patron interest, the DeMille technique is made more alluring by the treatment given Miss Colbert, which transforms her from a prim school teacher to an exotic, pulsating creature over whom Marshall and Gargan fight.

Colorful, mood-establishing realism motivating, the four leads flee a plague-infested steamer and are lost in the Malay jungle. The men consider the old-maidish Miss Colbert and the birth-control advocating Mary Boland are handicaps to chances for rescue. Guided by the half-caste Carillo, they encounter many strange adventures until Boland is captured by natives and Carrillo is killed. Pushing on, the prim Miss Colbert suddenly becomes desirable to both Marshall and Gargan. Marshall's love is real; Gargan's instincts are animal. Miss Colbert, assuming a native complex, wishes to remain in the jungle.

They are rescued, however, and the locale moves to U. S., where the characters assume their original occupations. The picture takes on a comedy and romantic atmosphere. It is revealed that the natives were glad to be rid of Miss Boland, who now lectures on the "Conquest of Sex in a Malay Village;" Gargan radio-broadcasts his adventures, and Marshall pirates Miss Colbert away from her classroom.



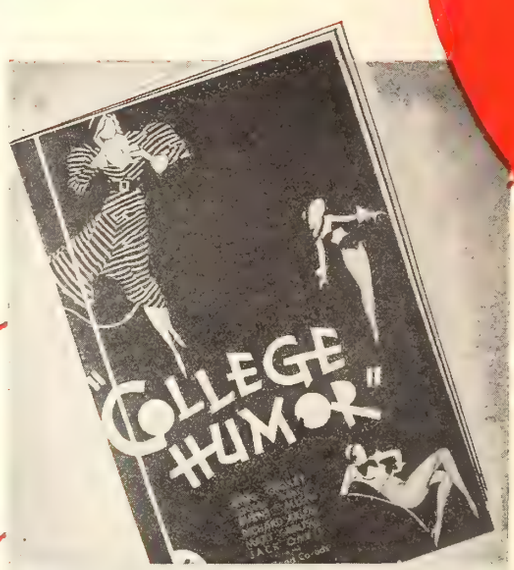
JAN. 6 — Paramount and exhibitors celebrate New Year with record-breaking business on "Farewell-to-Arms".

JAN. 25 — Baby Le Roy signs contract with Paramount.

FEB. 10 — Marx Brothers challenge Eli Culbertson to bridge tournament. "Sign of the Cross" reported to be breaking records throughout country.

MARCH 4 — Roosevelt inaugurated. Paramount Newsreel scores clean beat on pictures showing inauguration.

MARCH 9 — MAE WEST in "She Done Him Wrong" sets all time record run on Broadway at Paramount Theatre.



MARCH 23 — Design for Living, Noel Coward's sensational Broadway hit purchased by Paramount.

APRIL 7 — Paramount world-wide "Search for Beauty" contest starts in 8 English-speaking countries. Search for thirty perfect young men and women to be given opportunity in Hollywood.

MAY 17 — Bing Crosby signs new contract with Paramount.

JUNE 16 — Paramount's "College Humor" sets new highs in summer attendance in houses all over the country.

MOTION PICTURE HIGH LIGHTS OF 1933

JULY 19—"Song of Songs" opens at Criterion Theatre, New York, inaugurating new entertainment season.

AUG. 21—Lanny Ross, radio star of Maxwell House Hour, signs contract with Paramount.

SEPT. 6—Ethel Merman, stage and radio star, signs contract to appear with Bing Crosby in a Paramount musical picture, "We're Not Dressing".

OCT. 6—Paramount purchases big musical success, Earl Carroll's "Murder at the Vanities".

OCT. 12—Mae West smashes house records all over the country in "I'm No Angel".

NOV. 28—Claudette Colbert signs new contract with Paramount. Immediately cast for "Cleopatra" by Cecil B. DeMille.

DEC. 29—National release date "Design for Living". Women of country get new ideas on love.

1933 was a

PARAMOUNT YEAR, of course

it's the best show in town

GAINSBOROUGH PAYS 9 PER CENT DIVIDEND

Gaumont-British Auxiliary's Profit for Year Indicates the General Healthy Condition of Production in England

by BERNARD CHARMAN
London Correspondent

About the tail end of an unexciting week in London came the annual report of Gainsborough Pictures (1928), Ltd., a fully-controlled producing subsidiary of Gaumont-British Corporation. The company has its own studio, surprisingly tucked away in the heart of a densely populated district of North London, and contributes a useful group of pictures annually towards the GB lineup.

This year Gainsborough reports trading profit of £22,968, which, on a paid-up capital of just over £156,000, is fair business. On the strength of this, the directors propose paying a dividend of 9 per cent on the ordinary stock, indicating in some way the general healthy condition of British production.

The accounts come down as simply as this: Trading profit is £22,968, which, after such minor adjustments as deductions of interest, depreciation and so forth, leaves a balance of £14,914, and to this is added £1,793, brought forward from the previous year's accounts. The dividend will absorb £10,456, and £4,000 is proposed to be placed to general reserve, leaving a final balance to carry forward to the next account of £2,151.

Certain items in the balance sheet are worth noting. Plant and equipment generally is valued at £48,664; film rights and stories are entered at cost as £1,542, and film productions (less home bookings and foreign sales) are put at £74,792. Of note are the modest proportions of these figures. The amount of £1,542 for all film rights and stories shows up very small in comparison with what Hollywood is reported to pay for one story alone.

A slight adjustment in the company's structure has taken place in the year, through the resignation from the board of Simon Rowson and W. J. Gell, who withdrew from the GB corporation following the consolidation of interests recently announced. Gainsborough Films is controlled by Michael E. Balcon, presiding genius over the entire production activities of GB.

▽

Oppose Government Plan

A rumpus has been raised this week by the film producers' group of the Federation of British Industries. FBI takes exception to the fact that the postmaster general is setting up a film producing and distributing organization to work in the educational and non-entertainment field, thereby employing the taxpayer's money in a move to enter into competition with the private business firms operating this territory.

The curious situation of a Government department fostering a commercial undertaking came about this way: There existed till recently a Government-sponsored organization, known as the Empire Marketing Board, whose function was to spread propaganda in favor of Empire trade, and one of the activities of the board was a small film unit, producing films of a publicity type and maintaining a useful library of subjects of instructional worth. They use these films a lot in educational institutions.

What To Do?

A few months back the EMB ceased to exist, and the problem of what to do with its ready-made film unit was solved temporarily by appointing the postmaster general as its guardian. Meanwhile the British Film Institute—whose activities I have outlined on previous occasions—was making frantic appeals for control of the EMB library as a nucleus for its own proposed establishment. Postoffice authorities, however, are adamant.

"What we have, we hold," they say in effect.

But why was all so deadly serious? To reassure myself, I visited H. Bruce Woolfe, guiding hand of the Gaumont-British instructional and non-theatrical film interests. And did he give me an earful!

Mr. Woolfe explained in detail how insidious the postmaster's move actually was. He said the post office was already equipping its own studio, and, not content with producing propaganda films for its own purposes, was seeking out commercial orders from private interests anxious to have publicity films made.

This means, said Bruce Woolfe, that a Government department is interfering with private business concerns; prognosticated that it was the thin end of the wedge towards a Government Film Bureau.

"And you know what that means," he emphasized—"Italy, Russia, Germany!"

I shook at the knees.

There are questions to be asked in Parliament about it, I was told; and that the Film Institute (which the trade formerly sneered at but is now looking to with some respect) is all that stands between the trade and Government interference.

There's something in all this, but somehow I can't be just quite as deeply impressed as I should be.

▽

Who's Up-Stage Now?

More "scrapping" between the Cinematograph Exhibitors Association and the Kinematograph Renters Society around the proposed standard contract—the British trade "code" I wrote about in my last bulletin.

KRS is up on its dignity because of the attitude expressed towards the plan by the CEA in its official organ. It says there was no need for the association to get up-stage, as all discussions so far had been informal and inconclusive.

But it's the Society that's up-stage now.

▽

Simplified Tax Proposal

A prominent Manchester circuit operator, H. D. Moorhouse, has propounded a plan to simplify the Entertainments Tax position.

He suggests a flat rate of 10 per cent on all forms of amusement, says it would clarify matters and also save the exhibitor a pocketful in fiscal disbursements.

Moley Gets New Post

Al Moley, formerly an independent booking agent, is now general manager of the Springer and Cocalis circuit of New York.

Newspapers Open 'Clean-Up' Drive

Kansas City newspapers have launched a campaign to "clean up" advertising copy and art through their own censorship. Their move is reported to be a recognition of plans of the Advertising Council recently promulgated by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America.

Theatre managers in Kansas City have received certain specific instructions from the advertising managers of local newspapers. In spite of this they are said to feel that certain pictures offer only the sex angle for box-office appeal. The newspapers, however, have become highly critical of copy and in at least two instances managers were compelled to rewrite their ads following rejection.

Stage presentations also come within the purview of the newspaper censors. Where managers feel there will be some doubt they are submitting copy and art as early as a month in advance.

Fox Will Release Lloyd's Pictures

Coincident with his return to production with the beginning of filming on "Cat's-Paw," from Clarence Buddington Kelland's Saturday Evening Post serial, Harold Lloyd this week announced that he had entered into a releasing contract with Fox Film. The arrangements have just been concluded by William R. Fraser, general manager of the Lloyd Corporation, and Sidney R. Kent and John D. Clark of Fox. Mr. Lloyd formerly released exclusively through Paramount.

With the production of "Cat's-Paw," Mr. Lloyd returns to the Metropolitan Studio, his production home for eight years and where he produced many of his greatest successes.

Sam Taylor will return to Mr. Lloyd to direct the picture after six years. He directed several of the comedian's best known silent achievements.

Ohio MPTO Renames Wood

P. J. (Pete) Wood has been renamed as business manager of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Ohio.

The new board of directors has selected as a legislative committee the following: J. Real Neth, Columbus, chairman; W. A. Finney, Henry Bieberson, Sam E. Lind, Martin G. Smith and Mr. Wood. Another committee, composed of Mr. Wood, Mr. Finney and Max Stern has been chosen to redraft the constitution and bylaws.

Krumgold Rejoins MGM

Joseph Krumgold, formerly with MGM and Paramount, has rejoined MGM to aid in production in Europe.

'LOT OF POTENTIAL FILM ANGLES'

Says DeCasseres of Play, "I Was Waiting for You," and "Dr. Monica" He Calls 100 Per Cent Material If Done With LaRue, Raft, Cagney, With No Punches Pulled

By BENJAMIN DE CASSERES

I WAS WAITING FOR YOU

There are a lot of good potential picture angles in "I Was Waiting for You," a very Frenchy sex-comedy by Jacques Natanson adapted by Melville Baker.

There is in this slowly-paced, sophisticated libido mix-up, a fine example of the difference between the idea of adultery in a French play and of the same theme in an American play. In the former adultery is played naturally, as though it had always been, like taxes and goulash. In the latter it is always self-conscious—"Look, world, we're sinning—zowie!" I like the French technique.

This foursome in sex-cattery concerns highly-bred persons, who are not beyond employing a private detective who is disguised first as a cafe wall-flower and then as a bedroom waiter in a hotel at Orleans.

The detective in the picture version will jack up this play with melodramatic interest. It is rather tepid in the acting version. He should be a dick with swank.

Then, again, "I was Waiting for You" has a born part for Leslie Howard and Herbert Marshall. It also will carry two of the swankiest women you can name in Hollywood. I'll say Genevieve Tobin for one.

The story, which swings between Paris and Orleans, and which opens in a fashionable cafe-bar in Paris, is simple. He is a banker and she is his mistress. Now, his mistress has a liaison with a Leslie Howard fellow, who is also cheating his own sweetheart.

The two rather elderly persons who are being cheated put the dick on their tracks. Bedroom scene in Orleans. Caught!—but who cares?—that's the French touch.

All is finally forgiven, and the two rather elderly persons themselves have an affair, or rather renew an old one.

This is a picture for some highly sophisticated and Continental-minded director. Moonlight (no pretzels) and sweet sin. Played andante con tongue-in-cheek.

Picture value, 60 per cent.

DR. MONICA

"Dr. Monica," a play out of the Russian, featuring the glamorous and dynamic Nazimova (whose work in "The Good Earth" and "Mourning Becomes Electra" was up with the classic best), is a story of three women, what's buried in them, and how they have it out—of their mouths.

In the play there are only the three women. But if there is to be a picture done out of this play (and there are picture potentialities in it), it would be good b.o. to lug in three men from off-stage. Or, again, it might be pictured with the three women as is and the use of a telephone (ladies' matinees—no pants admitted).

Monica, the chief Amazon with complexes, is a frustrated mother. She will "undergo" anything for a baby. Her lover is a writer who drinks (true to form). I'd rather like to see this fellow in the pictures (combination of Cagney and Powell—eh?).

She's a pretty noble women any way you look at her, is this Dr. Monica, and she therefore gives me a pain in the right aorta.

The next female is a straight man-hater, an "architect."

For picture partner sic Jack LaRue on this second husky, and see what happens. Jack'll snap her out of it, I warrant ye. This girl, also, by the way, was jilted. But it wasn't by a Jack LaRue or a Jim Cagney. (Black her eye in the picture, boys.)

The last of this trio is also a woman that hasn't been beaten enough. She also lost her fellow, and so they all go into psychological obstetrics called "dialogue." Some of this dialogue stinks (no, dear proofreader, not smells, stinks!).

Take this script with these three Yearners and plant 'em opposite Jack LaRue, George Raft and Jim Cagney. And no pulling of punches! That'll be a picture quoted at 100 per cent. Otherwise

Picture value, 12 per cent.

PLAY RATINGS FOR PICTURES

Stage plays discussed by Benjamin DeCasseres, critic and essayist, in this issue are given the following ratings by him in the light of potential screen material:

"I Was Waiting for You"—60 per cent.
"Dr. Monica"—100 or 12 per cent.
"Thoroughbred"—50 per cent.
"Is Life Worth Living?"—50 per cent.
"It Pays to Sin"—zero.

THOROUGHBRED

Here's a real horse opera. Not a Hoot Gibson, either. It's all laid out on a Long Island estate, and it's horses, horses, horses—horses going east, and the east end of horses going west.

"Thoroughbred," by Doty Hobart, stars Florence Reed, formerly Madame Goddam, of Shanghai, and once Lady Macbeth (ouch!). It looks purty much as if Theodore Hammerstein, Denis Du For and Doty had this thing put on for the picture trade. And it will go into pictures without a doubt—even if Clark and McCullough have got to do it, with W. C. Fields playing the horse.

The central noise-maker is a woman who is all horsey. She raises children like horses. She has illegits, by butlers, stableboys and everybody except Gandhi. (Let the scenarists laugh that off when they come to tackle this script.)

The love-affairs of the children will make mediocre-cut-in-the-wood, vintage of 1913 picture stuff; but the Pub. always eat it up.

To make matters more exciting, there's the Futurity. The pure blood of her entry is questionable here also, just as her children are crossbred, socially speaking.

It's a nice stinking mess of putrified haggis, which will, somehow, get on the celluloids merely because the public enjoys a horse-race and children sired by a sweet old butler out of some granddamn.

Picture value (after being scoured with flitto-rinso), 50 per cent.

IS LIFE WORTH LIVING?

Lennox Robinson, of the Abbey theatre, Dublin—the little theatre that has made play but no picture history as yet—brought on his London hit, "Is Life Worth Living?" He describes it as "an exaggeration in three acts."

It is really a farce. As a play it is as thin as a sandwich at a publisher's tea and as unbelievable—even as a farce—as an absinthe party by Canon Chase.

Locale is in a small resort in Ireland. But the whole thing contains some going picture material for a crazy comedy if the locale is changed to, say, some seaside resort near Hollywood.

The main scenes in the play are in a sitting-room in the Seaview hotel. As there is a barroom off-stage, the picture possibilities loom, even if we have got to drink sitting down or lying on our backs a la Mulrooney.

A company of actors put up at the hotel. They are going to do Ibsen, Tolstoy, Strindberg and all the other classic Gloomy Guses.

Now, they take the town so completely that the inhabitants begin to imitate the heroes and heroines of Highbrow Drahma.

Things get so bad that the townsfolk and the hotel inmates fire the lace-curtain, camel's-hair gang of classicists out of town and import a circus to restore the normal life of the village (fine picture tag).

Mr. Robinson intended his play as a gentle satire on the Abbey Players. It is too gentle. This theme could be handled rip-roaringly in pictures by the old Tenth Avenue Gang of Mack Sennettarian scriveners.

Picture value, 50 per cent.

IT PAYS TO SIN

Louis Macloon, of Chicago, I believe, put on this play done out of the Hungarian and promptly done to death with a run of two nights.

"It Pays to Sin" isn't worth much as any kind of material. It's about a girl who is pregnant. A doctor engages her in order to study her case.

There's a scene in a night club, where there is an attempt to go Mae Westy—but not by a bosom-full.

Jane Starr, from the Coast, was in it. But the vehicle was too pole-catty even for the New York public.

Picture value, Double O.

FAMOUS THEATRES BUYS PUBLIX ASSETS

Price Is $1,800,000 in Purchase by Paramount Subsidiary; J. Frank Freeman Is President; Lynch Continues as Executive

The corporate entity known as Publix Enterprises, Inc., Paramount Publix theatre operating subsidiary, passed out of existence last week when its assets were acquired by Famous Theatres Corporation, a wholly owned subsidiary of the parent Paramount company, for $1,800,000. Publix had been in bankruptcy since last January, and its transfer to Famous Theatres had been expected for some time.

At the time of the sale of its assets Publix Enterprises comprised a circuit of some 214 theatres, many of them bankrupt and closed.

Referee Approves Sale

Approval of the sale was given Thursday in New York by Federal Referee Henry K. Davis when no other offers to purchase all or part of the bankrupt subsidiary's assets were received. A recent federal court appraisal of the properties involved placed their value slightly in excess of $2,000,000.

The terms of the sale involve the payment of a cash sum amounting to $240,000 on the total price. Of this amount, expenses for the administration of the Publix Enterprises' affairs during the 11 months of its bankruptcy will be paid. The remainder, amounting to $1,560,000, will be paid through an adjustment of monies owed to Paramount Publix and its subsidiaries by Publix Enterprises. These indebtednesses approximate $4,000,000, and are to be applied on the balance of the purchase price on the basis of 35 cents in the dollar, to be paid in five-year, five per cent notes of Famous Theatres, or by the exchange of one share of Famous' preferred stock for each $200 of claims.

Freeman Named President

Publix Enterprises' assets are so closely held by Paramount Publix, attorneys for the company's trustees declared recently, that about 98 per cent of the money involved in the Famous purchase price "will revert to the control of the Paramount Publix trustees."

J. Frank Freeman, former general manager for the S. A. Lynch Southern Enterprises, is president of the new Paramount subsidiary. Mr. Lynch, who was called in following the Publix Enterprises bankruptcy to direct reorganization of the properties, will continue as a director and executive officer of Famous Theatres, receiving 2,500 shares of the new corporation's total of 8,525 shares. In addition to this Mr. Lynch is to receive a $50,000 one-year 6 per cent note of Famous for his reorganization work.

Publix Enterprises originally was Southern Enterprises, and was acquired by Mr. Lynch from Paramount several years ago.

Eight Film Cases Up at Wilmington

Cases of a number of large motion picture companies and electrics, including Warner Bros. Pictures, The Stanley Company of America, A. T. & T., Erpi, Western Electric, General Talking Pictures, Duovac Radio, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing and Universal Sound Systems, were listed on the December calendar of the United States federal court at Wilmington, Del. Eight cases, seven on the trial list and one on the argument, are slated in equity.

The trial list follows:

Erpi, Western Electric, A. T. & T., represented by E. E. Berl against The Stanley Company of America, represented by William H. Foulk and Hugh M. Morris.

Nakken Patents Corporation, represented by Hugh M. Morris against Universal Sound System, Inc., represented by William T. Lynam, Jr.

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, represented by Hugh M. Morris against The Hammond Clock Company, represented by E. E. Berl.

Harry Koplar, represented Richards, Layton and Finger against Warner Bros. Pictures, Harry M. Warner et al., represented by Hugh M. Morris.

The Stanley Company of America, represented by Hugh M. Morris against A. T. & T., Erpi, Western Electric, represented by James R. Morford, C. L. Ward, Jr., and A. G. Logan.

Duovac Radio Corporation, represented by Hugh M. Morris against A. T. & T., Erpi, Western Electric, represented by Marvel, Morford, Ward and Logan.

General Talking Pictures, represented by Hugh M. Morris against A. T. & T., Erpi, Western Electric, represented by Marvel, Morford, Ward and Logan.

The argument case follows:

News Projection Corporation, represented by Ward & Gray against Trans-Lux Daylight Picture Screen Corporation, represented by John Biggs, Jr.

Davis To Conduct Band At President's Party

Meyer Davis, associate producer of the RKO Van Beuren musical comedies, has been selected to conduct his band at the New Year's Eve party being given by President Roosevelt at the White House Saturday.

Mr. Davis also had the honor of playing for ex-President and Mrs. Hoover at their New Year's Eve party last year. Twenty years ago Mr. Davis led his orchestra for President Wilson and later led for President Harding.

Educational Appoints Pfaff

Harold Pfaff, former Toronto manager for Canadian Educational Films, Ltd., has been named Canadian representative for Educational and will be associated with Empire Films, Ltd., now distributing for that company. Mr. Pfaff succeeds James Travis, former Educational manager in Canada.

Faber with National Screen

Robert Faber, formerly with Paramount, has joined National Screen Service in an editorial capacity.

TRAVELERS . . .

JACK COHN and his family are on a holiday cruise to Nassau, Jamaica and Panama.

JOHN D. CLARKE, general manager for Fox distribution, arrived in New York from Hollywood.

ARTHUR E. RUSICA, manager for Fox in Chile, arrived in New York from South America.

SAM AND BELLA SPEWACK, M-G-M writers, returned to Hollywood from New York.

ROBERT Z. LEONARD, director, returned to Hollywood from a New York vacation.

SARAH FEDAK, Hungarian actress, arrived in New York from Europe.

TIM MCCOY is spending the holidays in New York.

STACY WOODWARD is en route to the United States from New Zealand where he has completed the latest of the "Battle for Life" series.

HARRY C. ARTHUR returned to New York after an extensive survey of the west coast theatre situation.

WALTER WANGER, with P. J. WOLFSON AND ALLAN RIVKIN, arrived in New York from Hollywood.

JACK WHITE is spending the holidays on the Coast.

HARLEY L. CLARKE, NOEL COWARD AND FRANK LAWTON arrived in New York from Europe.

MONTE BRICE arrived in Hollywood from New York.

FIFI D'ORSAY is spending her honeymoon in New York.

A. W. SMITH, in charge of Eastern and Canadian sales for Warners, returned to New York from a tour of New England exchanges.

MAX MILDER, Warner's British chieftain, is in New York.

LESLIE HOWARD is en route to Hollywood to resume work for RKO Radio.

GEORGE BROWN, Columbia's publicity, advertising and exploitation director, is cruising in Caribbean waters.

JOE WEIL, recently appointed assistant to CARL LAEMMLE, SR., leaves for the Coast January 1 to take up his duties.

J. G. BACHMANN, president of Preferred Pictures, is in New York.

HOWARD DIETZ left New York for Hollywood.

WILLIAM D. SHAPIRO is in Boston.

JOSEF BERNE, director, is in New York.

WILLIAM WYLER left New York for Universal City.

GUY MORGAN, United Artists' Argentine chief, has returned to his headquarters after several weeks in New York.

FRANCIS EDWARD FARAGOH, writer; EDWARD H. GRIFFITH AND CHARLES (BUDDY) ROGERS are in New York.

BEN BERNIE is in Miami. WALTER WINCHELL is still in New York.

GEORGE O'BRIEN and his wife, MARGUERITE CHURCHILL are in New York for New Year's.

WALTER GOULD, general manager for United Artists in Mexico, arrived in New York from Puerto Rico.

KARL MCDONALD, Warner's Latin-American division manager, returned to New York from Jamaica.

S. N. BEHRMAN is in New York.

CHARLES R. ROGERS, producer, arrived in Hollywood from New York.

GEORGE BATCHELLER, Chesterfield president, is in New York for the holidays.

HASSARD SHORT, theatrical producer, sailed for Europe.

SAMUEL EFRUS left New York for the Coast to start 12 new features for Amity Pictures.

GEORGE WEEKS is in New York from the Coast.

SIDNEY R. KENT, SPYROS SKOURAS AND WALTER R. HUTCHINSON, managing director for Fox in England, returned to New York from Hollywood.

GENE RAYMOND arrived in New York from Hollywood en route to Europe.

LOU METZGER is planning a Florida vacation.

ASIDES & INTERLUDES

By JAMES CUNNINGHAM

FRANK BUCK, noted motion picture explorer, is now in the same class with the Greek god, Apollo, who is mythically accredited with slaying a monstrous python which arose from the mud left after the subsidence of the deluge which Deucalion survived, and which dwelt in the caves of Mount Parnassus, where Apollo slew him. Mr. Buck accidentally met his python in the dense Malayan jungle, some four weeks ago.

Although Mr. Buck cabled his friends in New York almost a month ago, that he was ready to sail from Malay, his return was delayed by an encounter with a 24-foot serpent that attacked him when he was making a final inspection of some traps set to catch jungle game for transportation to this country for exhibitor use in connection with "Wild Cargo," his new picture coming up.

The python seized Buck by the shoulder and started to entwine him in its powerful coils. By an almost superhuman effort Buck managed to free one arm, get out his revolver and shoot the head off the reptile. Buck was badly bruised and his shoulder lacerated.

Mr. Buck is bringing back to Amedee Van Beuren a young male Indian rhinoceros which he captured in Nepal, in northern India and last stronghold of the nearly extinct species. It is possibly the most valuable animal in captivity. Mr. Van Beuren had better start giving thought to the housing of his prospective three-toed, horned, powerful, herbivorous, thick-skinned perissodactyl.

▽

When Metro's "Blonde Bombshell" reached a neighborhood Buffalo theatre marquee, it read thusly:

JEAN HARLOW
BLONDE BOMBS HELL

▽

A theatre in a small town near Madison, Wisconsin, billed Paramount's western and Walt Disney's cartoon this way:

THUNDERING HERD - THE THREE LITTLE PIGS

And Joe Ryan, of the Publix Grand, at St. Cloud, Minnesota, tells us that a patron called his office to inquire whether "Mad Game" was about animals.

▽

The country of Fredonia, which is governed in "Duck Soup" by the "gentle" Marxmen, soon becomes a shambles, which is to be expected, but Mayor Harry Hickey, of Fredonia, New York, doesn't like the idea, and he so protested to the four brothers: "The name of Fredonia has been without a blot since 1817. I feel it my duty as mayor to question your intentions in using the name of our city."

Back cracked the Marxes: "Your Excellency: Our advice is that you change the name of your town. It is hurting our picture. Anyhow, what makes you think you are mayor of Fredonia? Do you wear a mustache, play the harp, speak with an Italian accent or chase girls like Harpo? Therefore, we must be mayor of Fredonia, not you. The old gray mayor ain't what he used to be."

▽

Universal fought vigorously over the eliminations made recently in "Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!" by Kansas censors. Among words of alleged double meaning ruled out by the scissor-wielders were "spinach" and "creamed carrots," both spoken in a courtroom scene. Slim Summerville, as an attorney, is questioning Zasu Pitts, his client and also his sweetheart. He asks her what "creamed carrots" means. She replies, "I love you." This and other sequences were cut. Maybe the censors in Kansas are prejudiced in favor of corn and alfalfa.

A NEW SLANT ON HOLLYWOOD?

Newspapers as a whole have a very definite opinion about Hollywood. It is not always too friendly, and frequently it ridicules the movie colony on the west coast. On such occasions, much effort is expended by the industry to correct the unfavorable impression. Why, then, does a major company send to the press of the country such publicity:

"Hollywood is variously described as 'squirrelly,' 'lively,' 'a small town' and 'a place full of big shots' by eight attractive girls selected in eight American cities by Charles R. Rogers to appear in the cast of Paramount's 'Eight Girls in a Boat.'"

The company's statement then quotes five of the girls as follows:

"'Hollywood is a nice place with plenty of men,' said Eleanor Lovegren, of Boston. 'But why do all of them pretend they are "big shots".'

"'No one in Hollywood seems to know the time of day,' said Mary Lou Fisher of Detroit. . . .

"Violet Foran, of Cleveland, admits she is somewhat disappointed. 'Before I came here I expected everybody to be squirrelly. They are—and that's why I'm disappointed.' . . .

"Louise Lynn, of Los Angeles, characterizes Hollywood as a 'noisy small town full of funny people.' . . ."

Mark Hellinger tells Hugh Wedlock's story about a vaudeville actor, out of work for three years, who finally secured a week's booking up-state. He was to get $250 for the week, and he very naturally worked his bloomin' head off. Strangely, he was a solid hit.

At the end of the week, however, the theatre manager decided to play a little joke on the actor. So, instead of giving him the $250, he handed him a check for two dollars and fifty cents.

"What's this," howled the actor. "I'm supposed to get $250 for the week, and you hand me $2.50. What's the big idea?"

The manager scowled heavily.

"Listen, you," he retorted, "I've given you what you're entitled to. Take it or leave it."

The hungry actor gulped.

"All right," he muttered, "I'll take it. But, believe me, it's a helluva cut."

▽

Katharine Hepburn will make a million or more for RKO, and so the social register will no longer list the lady among the blue bloods.

▽

Hollywood's biggest producers and actors are backing Hal Roach in a million-dollar horse racing project in California. The list already includes Darryl Zanuck, Joseph Schenck, John Cromwell, Oliver Hardy, Chico Marx, Ralph Farnum, Charles Brabin and Watterson Rothacker. Our correspondent in Hollywood tells us that the racing plant will be conducted on a non-profit basis for the dual purpose of encouraging the breeding of fine horses and to afford clean sport for lovers of racing. Just a bunch of altruists.

MOLLIE MERRICK tells us that Hollywood charts its sex appeal in a most amazing fashion, cutting it up into sections like a pie—rating each section at so much per cent—listing the names of all the beauties and non-beauties of filmdom in this huge collection, which is available to the casting directors. The chart lists the eyes of the star as only 15 per cent of the entire appeal.

The entire personality of the star, then, represents the whole pie. The hips, lips may range anywhere from zero to 50 per cent of the principal. The charting starts with an appraisal of the vocal characteristics, which are rated 25 per cent of the whole. The figure is next, rating 20 per cent. Then come the eyes, 15 per cent; posture, 15 per cent and tears at 5 per cent.

Jeannette MacDonald is listed as "too tall for weeping." To Marlene Dietrich's legs (when crossed) goes 40 per cent of her credit on the chart. Her next greatest asset is "the way she leans against a door or piece of furniture," which gets 25 per cent. This immediately explains our wonderment about the length of time which Marlene spends sliding through doors—leaning up against door-jambs with that far-away look in her eyes. She's registering sex appeal and we never knew it.

And, so, another Hollywood secret has penetrated the formidable censorship of the movie colony. It is astonishing how successfully the producers and stars have been keeping everything concerning themselves from the public.

▽

The Sacramento, Cal., Union learns that the railroad brotherhoods "object very strongly to the idea that railroad men are brutal and immoral"—as they are allegedly represented in First National's "Wild Boys of the Road." The editor of the Union suspects that the killing of a brakeman by the mob of boys in the picture may have been the cause of the San Jose lynching.

Commented the editor: "Eye witnesses of the San Jose lynching say that the scene in the picture is very similar to that which was translated to life in San Jose. Who can tell whether or not this particular picture might not have inflamed the mere boys who committed the San Jose tragedy."

Cattle-gorically speaking, we might call that "bull."

▽

Having sold the idea to the cigaret people, the boloney makers, and others, the Du Pont interests of Delaware are now ready to wrap coloratura sopranos in cellophane. All of which should interest motion picture people and broadcasters.

We are told that it has always been very difficult to get a really good reproduction of a coloratura soprano voice on the radio or on sound-film. It appears that some mysterious influence interferes with perfect recording.

Only recently came the idea to mute the voice, and Phil Boutelje, chief adviser of music for Paramount's theatres, who had been wondering about the strange things of microphonic reverberations to a coloratura soprano, thought of cellophane.

Mr. Boutelje made a hood of the transparent material and within it he placed a singer. She hit the highest notes and there wasn't a single vibration. He believes that the cellophane hood will do for the human voice what the "mute" does for the cornet.

▽

Detroit's police censor is just a wee bit inconsistent. He okayed "The Nude World" for showing at downtown theatres, but forbade it elsewhere in Detroit.

TO THE BREATHLESS

FLYING DO

RKO Radio PICTURES

MERIAN C. COOPER Executive Producer

IT'S WRITTEN IN THE SKIES!...

CLIMAX OF ALL MUSIC SHOWS!

OPENING
NEW YEAR'S EVE
FROM COAST TO COAST BRINGING 1934 IN ON WINGS OF SONG!
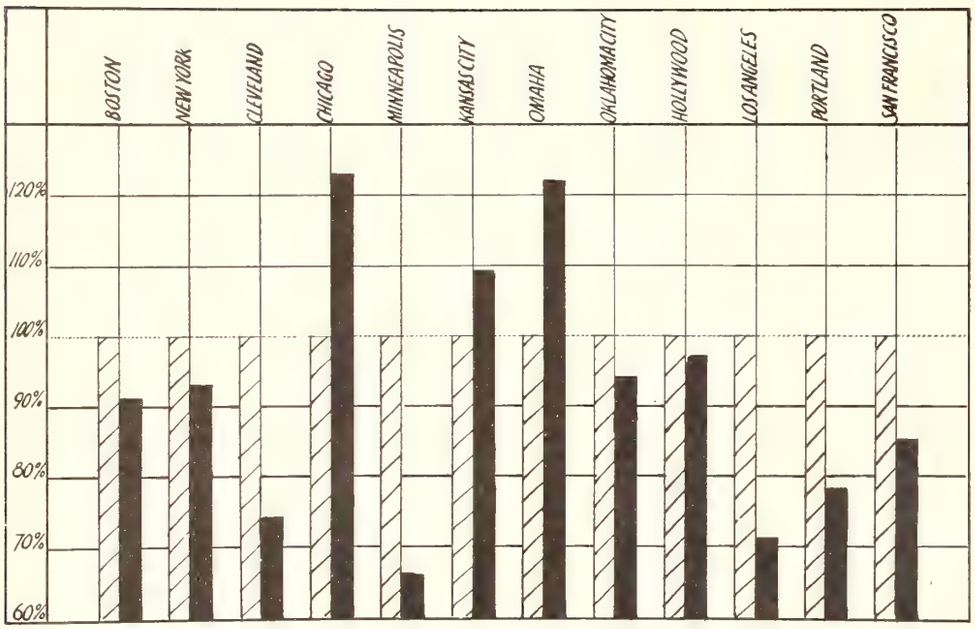
NOW IN SECOND WEEK
RADIO CITY

WN TO RIO

with



DOLORES DEL RIO

GENE RAYMOND • RAUL ROULIEN
GINGER ROGERS • FRED ASTAIRE
and 200 Beautiful Girls Picked from 10,000
Staged in Fabulous Beauty by Louis Brock
Stunningly Directed by Thornton Freeland

With the new song hits that are now filling the air..."Orchids in the Moonlight", "Flying Down to Rio", "Music Makes Me", and the TANTALIZING - HYPNOTIZING "CARIOCA"

Music by VINCENT YOUMANS
Lyrics by Edward Eliscu and Gus Kahn

ANOTHER SMASH HIT FROM RKO-RADIO

The chart, based on Motion Picture Herald's tabulation of box office grosses, compares the business done in each of twelve key cities during the three-weeks period from December 2 to December 16, 1933, with the receipts in the same cities for the corresponding period in 1932. The black bars indicate the business for the more recent period, while the shaded bars show the gross for the 1932 weeks. The figure for the period in 1932 is taken as 100 per cent in each city.

CLEANEST FILMS PAY BEST, SAYS COOPER

RKO Radio Aiming at Only "Class A" Product, Says Executive Producer; Calls Percentage Best Plan with Talent

Declaring that motion pictures which subordinate the socalled "sex angle" are the ones which in the long run show the greatest financial returns to the producer, Merian C. Cooper, RKO Radio's executive producer, announced last week in New York that RKO's 1934-35 schedule would be notable for its complete elimination of that type of product as well as "quickies."

Mr. Cooper pointed out that all the greatest pictures have shown a surprising lack of sex interest, and cited such films as "Birth of a Nation," "The Covered Wagon," "The Big Parade," "All Quiet on the Western Front." He added: "And no one can deny that those selfsame pictures returned enormous profits."

Only Class "A" Pictures

Speaking specifically about RKO's next season schedule, he declared it would be the company's aim to produce only Class "A" pictures.

"We have tried to get away from the 'quickie' type of production and we are doing it successfully to such a point, I believe, that there will be no room for such pictures on the 1934-35 schedule. At the same time I must give credit where due—Dave Selznick started the trend away from 'quickies' at RKO before I joined the company as executive producer. I am simply trying to carry out what he started in this respect." Mr. Selznick was executive producer at Radio prior to Mr. Cooper's assumption of that office.

Mr. Cooper also said that the new schedule would call for a minimum of 40 pictures, with a possible maximum of 52, depending entirely on the ability of the studio to obtain the services of a sufficient number of directors, featured players and adequate stories. Another feature of the company's policy will be a greatly increased number of percentage arrangements with stars, directors, producers and writers.

Sees Better Results

Regarding these percentage deals the Radio producer said it had long been his contention that in many instances studio employees were grossly overpaid, but that by the same token many were underpaid. In order to eliminate this condition, he said, the percentage arrangement is being advanced wherever possible and is finding more favor than ever before.

Mr. Cooper said that he personally would not supervise any of the pictures on the 1934-35 program and that his plans contemplated only executive direction over all production activities.

Quality pictures are obtainable only from three elements, he said, and of these the most important is a good story. The other two are production and talent ability. As to stories, Mr. Cooper said that despite varied criticisms of writers in Hollywood insofar as their ability to create original screen drama is concerned, it is his opinion that the writing caliber of the film capital is as high as in any literary center in the world.

SIGNED . . .

Chesterfield

Richard Thorpe directing Charles Starrett, Shirley Grey and Ruth Hall in "Murder on the Campus" from original story by Whitman Chambers. . . .

▽

Columbia

Leonard Praskins engaged to write screen vehicle for Grace Moore. . . . Arthur Kober borrowed from MGM to write adaptation for "Twentieth Century". . . . Lou Holtz signed for two short subjects. . . .

▽

Educational

Olive Borden, Winnie Law and Joan Castle cast in next Stoopnagle and Budd picture. . . . Addie McPhail engaged for "Springtime and Gypsies." . . .

▽

Fox

Lilian Harvey, Rudy Vallee and George White chosen for "Scandals.". . . Herbert Mundin elevated to stardom. . . . Henrietta Crosman, Irving Cummings and Hamilton MacFadden's contracts renewed. . . .

▽

Liberty

Dorothy Mackaill, Bill Boyd and June Collyer signed for "Cheaters," Phil Rosen directing. . . .

▽

MGM

Mrs. Patrick Campbell selected for "Rip Tide," starring Norma Shearer. . . . Fay Bainter in "It Happened One Day." William K. Howard will direct. . . . Gary Cooper and Marion Davies assigned to "Operator Thirteen."

▽

Monogram

Stephen Gross signed for "Beggars in Ermine," featuring Lionel Atwill and Betty Furness. . . . Barbara Sheldon engaged for "The Lucky Texan," with John Wayne. . . . Bill Cagney, John Halliday and Vivian Tobin cast for "Woman's Man." Edward Luddy will direct.

▽

Paramount

"The Trumpet Blows" to be directed by Stephen Roberts. . . . Sylvia Sidney and Fredric March assigned to "Good Dame" (B. P. Schulberg). . . . Cary Grant and Sylvia Sidney given leads in "Thirty Day Princess" (B. P. Schulberg). . . .

▽

RKO Radio

Bert Lahr to star in two more two-reel musical comedies. . . . Paul Kelly and Kay Johnson additions to "Transient Love.". . . Frank Morgan cast for "Success Story," J. Walter Ruben will direct. . . . James Durante engaged for "Strictly Dynamite. . . . Katharine Hepburn to star in "Joan of Arc.".

▽

United Artists

Nunnally Johnson assigned to adaptation of Ronald Colman's "Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back" (20th Century). . . . Fredric March in "The Affairs of Cellini" instead of "Les Miserables" (20th Century). . . .

▽

Universal

Gloria Stuart in "The Countess of Monte Cristo.". . . Roger Pryor joins "Interlude.". . . Lowell Sherman to direct "Zest.". . . June Knight's option renewed. . . .

▽

Warner-First National

Bebe Daniels will star in "Registered Nurse." . . . Dorothy Burgess succeeds Margaret Lindsay in "A Modern Hero.". . . Aline MacMahon given first starring role in "Fur Coats.".

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

Queen Christina

(MGM)

Drama

Greta Garbo, in a brilliant historical drama, in which romance, the romance of a queen for a foreign ambassador, is the motivating force, presents a sweeping opportunity for the exhibitor, which should be capitalized to the fullest extent.

Immediately it is obvious that this latest production of Miss Garbo, her first since September, 1932, should stir unusual patronage interest, merely by the fact of its impending exhibition. With the ready-made selling of a Broadway two-a-day run behind it, the exhibitor, when the general release arrives, should begin his pre-selling far in advance of his own playdates, promising a brilliant portrayal.

It is worth noting MGM's discontinuance of the use of the phrase "Garbo Returns" in its advertising on "Queen Christina," with the caution that similar catch lines be avoided. In support of Miss Garbo, whose name in itself should be sufficiently strong for any marquee, are John Gilbert, Ian Keith, Lewis Stone, C. Aubrey Smith, all good, strong names, and all handling their roles in the expected powerful fashion.

It is a production which should be found equally acceptable as entertainment by men and women, the men to be drawn by indication of the historical sweep and inherent drama, with Garbo the dominating queen; the women by the romance which makes the queen, hemmed by everlasting duty, a woman despite herself and her sense of loyalty to position, inheritance and her people. The selling should be along dignified, "quality" lines. The picture should have no wild ballyhoo, no circus exploitation, but a campaign promising strong entertainment, an unusual production, and done quietly, but emphatically.

In a sense a costume drama, the scene opens in the 17th Century, with Gustavus Adolphus, great Swedish king, dying on the field of battle in the Thirty Years War. His child comes to the throne, Queen Christina, under the guidance of Lewis Stone, Chancellor. The scene moves on to the young womanhood of the queen, set against a background of the wintry snow of Sweden. Ian Keith, Lord of the treasury, is in love with the queen, but she gives him scant attention. Her people demand that she marry Prince Charles, victorious general. She seeks peace.

Dressed as a young man, with Aubrey Smith, her faithful servant, she rides out for a day's freedom, accidentally meets Gilbert, Spanish ambassador, and they fall in love at a country inn. She promises she will meet him again in Stockholm, and she does when he comes to present his credentials to the queen. They are happy for a short time, until the jealous Keith sets the people against the ambassador and she is forced to give him his passport in order to save his life. In a brilliant scene, when she is expected, before the full court, to announce her marriage to the prince, she startles the assemblage by announcing her abdication in favor of the Prince, and leaves the throne to accompany Gilbert to Spain. But with a score to settle, Gilbert meets Keith across the frontier, and when she arrives on the boat which is to bear them to a new happiness for her, she finds him mortally wounded. He tells her of his castle on a cliff, overlooking the sea, and dies. With her face set to the wind, she leaves Sweden behind, bound for that castle.

With this combination of drama, history and the important romance, plus the manner of its execution and the name Greta Garbo, with her support, the exhibitor should concentrate his efforts on maximum results. The picture should not be considered to have sold itself without exhibitor effort, but with that effort, selling in dignified, emphatic style, it should be very much worthwhile. It deserves the best spot in any week.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by MGM. Directed by Rouben Mamoulian. Produced by Walter Wanger. Authors, Salka Viertel and Margaret P. Levino. Screen play by H. M. Harwood. Dialogue by S. N. Behrman. Musical score by Herbert Stothart. Art director, Alexander Toluboff. Photographed by William Daniels. Film editor, Blanche Sewell. Release date undetermined. Running time 103 minutes.

CAST

Christina	Greta Garbo
Antonio	John Gilbert
Magnus	Ian Keith
Oxenstierna	Lewis Stone
Ebba	Elizabeth Young
Aage	C. Aubrey Smith
Charles	Reginald Owen
French Ambassador	Georges Renevent
Archbishop	David Torrence
General	Gustav Von Seyffertitz
Innkeeper	Ferdinand Munier

Fugitive Lovers

(MGM)

Drama and Comedy

First of the transcontinental bus stories, "Fugitive Lovers" carries quite an assortment of showmanship selling angles. Novel in premise, motivated by exciting action and suspense running all the way through, the picture mixes old fashioned dramatic hokum seasoned with comedy with a unique romantic set-up and tops off the combination with a picturization of the famous Colorado blizzard-bus rescue episode that won its youthful hero a trip to the White House.

"Fugitive Lovers" has the production, entertainment and name values which make up the good program feature for the regular rank and file patronage. In spirit, the show is an adventure yarn, the adventure diverting into three channels, differing in idea but all preparing the ground for the thrill climax. Thus a wide field of entertainment is covered, permitting many different ways in which to sell the picture.

Here's the plot. To escape the attentions of gangster Legs, showgirl Letty boards a California-bound bus. But Legs tags right along. Atmospheric sequences identify the other passengers and spot Withington in a gagging tipsy role. Passing through Eaton, Pa., a jailbreak brings in the first nerve-tingling thrill and brings the escaping convict, Porter, into the picture. The two fugitives are mutually attracted, and as the alarm is spread, Legs senses that Porter is the wanted man. Comedy relief contrasting the drama, Legs makes a hero of himself by dropping out of the competition. With every law agency set to get its man, the bus resumes its trip, with Porter mysteriously missing. In Colorado, a blizzard raging, detective Daly is sticking close to Letty. Porter appears. Warned of the trap, he and Letty steal the bus. Stalled in the snow drifts, he sacrifices his chance for escape by effecting the rescue of a busload of frozen school children, an act of heroism that wins him a pardon.

Old fashioned action that generates human interest and centers audience sympathy on the boy and girl is the picture's keynote. There are a few rough edges here and there, none of which, however, detracts seriously from the show's fundamental values. There's good romance to sell, and with Robert Montgomery and Madge Evans, two pretty good names with which to sell that quality. Also there are thrill, adventure and the new idea of a speeding bus locale. With Ted Healy and his stooges, there is comedy to talk about. Lastly there's heroism and sacrifice to intrigue interest.

The fact that the big punch occurs during a howling blizzard, with an atmosphere of numbing frigidity, should be smartly handled, particularly if the picture is shown during the winter months when climatic conditions in many sections might make audiences uninterested in a picture that would make 'em feel colder.

Play the picture on its own entertainment merits, making exploitation contacts with bus lines where advisable and ballyhooing the show with strong lines that elucidate the title. —MCCARTHY, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Associate producer, Lucien Hubbard. Screen play by Albert Hackett, Frances Goodrich and George B. Seitz. From an original screen story by Ferdinand Reyher and Frank Wead. Recording director, Douglas Shearer. Art director Arnold Gillespie. Interior decoration by Edwin B. Willis. Photographed by Ted Tetzlaff, A.S.C. Film editor William S. Gray. Running time 78 minutes. Release date, Jan. 5, 1934.

CAST

Porter	Robert Montgomery
Letty	Madge Evans
Withington	Ted Healy
"Legs"	Nat Pendleton
Daly	C. Henry Gordon
Babe	Ruth Selwyn
Three Julians	Larry Fine, Moe Howard, Jerry Howard

Eight Girls in a Boat

(Paramount—Rogers)

Drama

Woman appeal is the outstanding showmanship asset of this picture. It deals with the subject of a young woman who loved intensely and unwisely, a theme that usually stirs sympathetic responses in feminine hearts. While action, natural to pictures of this type, is impressive and slowly tempoed, drama and pathos accentuating the girl's fear, it is contrasted against a background of youthful gayety. The story is located in an exclusive Swiss girls' school, a setting not only permitting some beautiful photographic effects, but also making it possible to introduce the girls selected in Paramount's nationwide contest to portray naturally the atmospheric school, social and athletic life motivating the picture.

When Christa discovers she is going to have a baby, she shields her secret from everyone save her lover, David. A young science student, he not only is not in a financial position to marry, even though he wants to, but marriage would mean shelving his career. The girl cannot pour out her heart to her father. In private school practically all her life, she hardly knows him. Neither can the boy obtain her father's permission to marry.

In school the situation preys upon Christa; she can think of nothing but her baby. Cruelly disciplined in being forced to swim and dive

Proclaiming~

"LEGAL HOLIDAY"

An independent picture, to be sold individually.

"LEGAL HOLIDAY"—remember the Title

We'll keep you posted weekly. Watch for Ads.

A Flash on a Smash
To Mr. and Mrs. Showman

Over the S. R. O. Network to America, Canada, England, Australia, South Africa and all Box Office Stations—

IN all my thirty-three years in the Picture Business--NEVER, at any time have I had anything to do--with the production or distribution of a picture that has had HALF the box office possibilities of "LEGAL HOLIDAY." It's THAT hot!--And YOU KNOW, I've handled some BIG ones!--For instance--Chaplin's "The Kid"--Mary Pickford's "Daddy Long Legs"--Norma Talmadge's "Smilin' Through"--Louis B. Mayer's "In Old Kentucky" and others too numerous to mention.

IN my opinion--"LEGAL HOLIDAY" is a BIGGER STORY--with INFINITELY GREATER EXPLOITATION POWER--than anything in the last five years! MORE preparation is going into the production of "LEGAL HOLIDAY"--the AGGRESSIVE co-operation and ENDORSEMENT of POWERFUL organizations whipping PUBLIC OPINION to a WHITE HEAT--are enough to ENTHUSE any Showman who knows what they mean.

THIS is ONE picture, Boys--that is conceived by a SHOWMAN for SHOWMEN--NO detail will be neglected--a BOX OFFICE SMASH to awaken the Industry--

BEST OF ALL--it is the kind that will BE SOLD TO YOUR AUDIENCE IN ADVANCE--your FIRST DAY'S BUSINESS will be ENORMOUS--and--it will make GOOD and keep 'em COMING! The STORY and CAST will take care of THAT--we HONESTLY believe we're making--and YOU'RE reading--BOX OFFICE HISTORY--right NOW!

REMEMBER the title, "LEGAL HOLIDAY"--it will be a real LEGAL HOLIDAY for you when you play it.

(Signed) J. D. Williams

DISTINGUISHED PICTURES CORPORATION
11 West 42nd Street, New York

J. D. WILLIAMS, Night Address
Edison Hotel, 47th St., West of B'way.

by Hanna, athletic instructor, she reveals her secret. The girls rally to her aid. All want to do everything possible to make her path easier. At first incensed toward David, they listen to his plea and when they know he is sacrificing his own ambitions to marry Christa they are sure her future will be happy.

In many ways, save that it skips the stark realistic melodrama, "Eight Girls in a Boat" is comparable to "Bondage."

Several different media may be adapted. In creating feminine curiosity, lines that suggest the human dramatic atmosphere of the picture should be thoughtfully selected inasmuch as story value rather than name power is the best interest creating asset. While the title is hardly expressive of the individual theme, it should be utilized to the limit in capitalizing the advance publicity surrounding the picture in connection with the nationwide talent search.

Because of the picture's personal nature, intimate yet not too daring, it might be a good idea to adapt a direct mail letter or postcard campaign among women patrons and use the telephone to supplement this and newspaper advertising.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Distributed by Paramount. A Charles R. Rogers production. Producer, Charles R. Rogers. Directed by Richard Wallace. Screen play by Casey Robinson. From the story by Helmut Brandis. Adaptation, Lewis Foster. Music by Arthur Rebner and Harold Lewis. Lyrics by Sam Coslow. Musical Adaptation Nathaniel Finston. Photographed by Gilbert Warrenton, A.S.C. Sound Earl Hayman. Art director David Garber. Running time, 78 minutes. Release date, Jan. 5, 1934.

CAST

Christa Storm	Dorothy Wilson
David Perrin	Douglas Montgomery
Hanna	Kay Johnson
"Pickles"	Barbara Barondess
Frau Kreuger	Ferike Boros
Storm	Walter Connolly
Paul Lang	James Bush
Smallman	Colin Campbell
Hortense	Peggy Montgomery
Elizabeth	Margaret Marquis
Bobby	Marjorie Cavalier
Mary	Virginia Hall

East of Fifth Avenue

(Columbia)

Drama

In this one-set picture all the action takes place within the confines of a boarding house somewhere "east of fifth avenue," in which love and hate, drama and comedy, gossip and secrecy have their vital share in shaping the lives of people, plain, ordinary people.

Though the film is not strong in cast names of selling caliber, the picture has for sale an interesting theme satisfactorily handled. Wallace Ford, Dorothy Tree and Mary Carlisle have the leading roles, though the honors for performance and characterization rest virtually with Walter Connolly and Louise Carter, as his wife. Walter Byron, in a subordinate role, may be familiar as a name.

Concentration on the theme and the complications which revolve about this focal point of several lives, should be the point of attack for the showman.

In the house are Ford, young fellow with a strong instinct for the ponies; Miss Carlisle, onetime sweetheart about to have a child, it is understood, with Ford the unwitting father; Connolly and Miss Carter, elderly couple, planning a golden anniversary party, treating Miss Carlisle as a daughter, hoping to return to a cottage in England; Byron, would-be poet, who talks and thinks in flowery terms, and sundry others. Bits of comedy by-play, often amusing, run through the development of the story, relieving the drama. Ford returns after a lengthy absence, stunning Miss Carlisle with a wife, Miss Tree, baby-talking blonde.

The elderly couple offer to take her with them to England, but she refuses to go, planning to stay and see it through. The happy-go-lucky Ford is in need of money to appease his wife, who meanwhile is leaning considerably in Byron's direction. Miss Carlisle gets him the money, borrowing it from the elderly couple while Connolly is out and Miss Carter asleep. Connolly finds the note, pockets it, and goes out. When Miss Carter wakens, she finds the money gone, collapses and dies of a heart attack. The devoted husband commits suicide to be with her. Their deaths are announced at the party when they fail to appear. Miss Tree has gone with Byron and the money her husband won, and Miss Carlisle and Ford conclude the film in the expected fashion.

The idea of a single setting in a boarding house, recounting the tragedy and comedy in lives of several persons, offers an opportunity for active selling with numerous catchlines clearly apparent from the nature of the story. It is adult material, and should be acceptable in any midweek spot.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Directed by Albert Rogell. Assistant director, Arthur Black. Story by Lew Levenson. Screen play by Jo Swerling. Photographed by Benjamin Kline. Sound engineer, Clifford McNally. Film editor, Richard Cahoon. Release date, October 20, 1933. Running time, 76 minutes.

CAST

Vic	Wallace Ford
Kitty	Dorothy Tree
Edna	Mary Carlisle
Lawton	Walter Connolly
Dr. Morgan	Willard Robertson
Baxter	Walter Byron
Mrs. Lawton	Louise Carter
Gardner	Lucien Littlefield
Mrs. Conway	Maude Eburne
Cronin	Harry Holman
Lizzie	Fern Emmett

Dassan

(First Division)

Travel Subject

There is considerable novelty and a chuckle or two in this subject, devoted entirely to the activities of the almost-human appearing yet amusing inhabitants of an island somewhere off the coast of Africa. It is entirely a private domain, occupied solely by penguins, millions of the creatures, living, loving, fighting, playing before the camera of Cherry Kearton. Mr. Kearton, naturalist and explorer, the producer of the subject, is also listed as the cameraman, and the narrator.

The film, as seen with "Throne of the Gods" in New York, was only 36 minutes in length. It is also available, however, in a running time of 51 minutes, making possible its employment as either a long short-subject or a short long-feature.

The subject opens as the ship approaches the island, the men landing on the long, flat sandy beach near which the penguins make their perpetual home. Interesting are the intimate views of the lives of the amusing creatures. A novel and clever method of description is employed when Mr. Kearton sits on a rock before a tremendous gathering of the penguins while one stands away from the group, appearing to be conversing with him. Mr. Kearton announces that he is taking notes of the penguin's story of the annual migration of the creatures, via the sea. On the screen are closeups in handwriting of the notes Mr. Kearton is supposed to be taking describing the animals "visited" by the migrating penguins, while following pictures show them in the haunts of other beasts. Strangely enough, no matter how far they may travel, the penguins never fail to find their way back to their own home island.

Amusing are the scenes of the penguins playing with barking sea lions in and out of the water, and obviously enjoying themselves hugely. The small animals are incredibly fast when swimming under water and are able to stay under for a considerable length of time. During the migration the small penguins reach the island of the king penguin, the comparison being an interesting one, in size and body striping. The use of "Penguin Island" parenthetically would be advisable at the same time making clear that it is not a screen adaptation of Anatole France's famous work. This should be an entertaining subject for children, schools consequently presenting a selling opportunity for the exhibitor.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced by Cherry Kearton. Distributed by First Division. Photography and narration by Cherry Kearton. Release date, December 22, 1933. Running time, 36 minutes.

Throne of the Gods

(First Division)

Travel Record

Dr. Dyhrenfurth noted explorer with a particular bent for climbing inaccessible mountain peaks the world over, conducts the audience of the screen through the preparatory trip and the actual ascent of one of the highest peaks of the Himalayas. Lowell Thomas, noted commentator, renders the accompanying narrative in able fashion.

The film was seen in New York as a companion piece on the same bill with First Division's "Dassan." The "Throne of the Gods," though shown in this instance in 55 minutes running time, is also available in 39 minutes as a lengthy short subject.

Preliminary to the actual scenes of the ascent, the picture depicts scenes here and there en route to the base of operations. Covered sketchily but in interesting travel fashion are Bombay, Calcutta, Delhi, the Ganges, the Suez Canal. Interesting is the material concerning the natives on the bleak steppes of Tibet, with intimate views of the famous Tibetan monks with their strange customs and wild ceremonial dances.

The expedition toils its tortuous way through the foothills before it reaches the point from which the actual climb is to begin. Three small groups of men begin the great effort, fighting their way to the summit, facing the obstacles of fierce winds, uncertain footing. A landslide takes its toll of one guide, and blocks the way. Slowly the group turns about, searches, and finds, another way up and begins again. Attainment of the summit brings the picture to a conclusion.

Featured are numerous high spots of interest, including the accident in which Dr. Dyhrenfurth's wife slips into a crevice, hangs dangerously at the end of a rope to which her husband clings, until she is drawn to safety. There is thrill and drama inherent in the pictures of the ascent, and some general interest of the travelogue variety in the preliminary shots.

Schools might well be drawn to give support to the film for its value as educational material, entertainingly presented.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced by Dr. Dyhrenfurth. Distributed by First Division. Narrator, Lowell Thomas. Release date, December 22, 1933. Running time, 55 minutes.

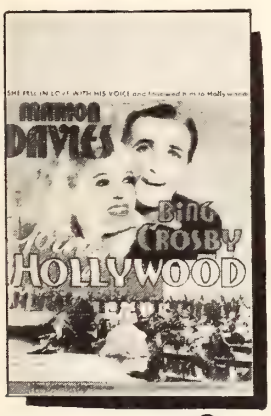
His Double Life

(Paramount)

Comedy-Drama

For the exhibitor selling this picture there is unquestioned capital to be made of the return of Lillian Gish to the screen. There must be innumerable patrons who will recall the great days of Miss Gish, and sufficient interest should easily be aroused in her appearance in a talking picture. In addition there is the facile, entirely attractive cleverness of Roland Young, currently appearing in a "hit" on the New York stage.

The film, adapted from Arnold Bennett's novel, "Buried Alive," and the stage adaptation of that narrative, "His Great Adventure," is the first to come from the new Eastern production venture of Eddie Dowling, and was directed by Arthur Hopkins of the stage and William DeMille. These facts, in some situations, may well make for valuable selling lines. The individual exhibitor will be the best judge of that.



Not to be taken too seriously at any stage, the story is one of affable entertainment. It is attractive, good humored and lively in a mild, amusing manner, never growing very exciting but extremely well done, especially by Mr. Young and Miss Gish. The combination of the two appears to be an extremely happy one, with both in the type of role at which they always have been so expert.

The film opens in a picture gallery in London, with enthusiastic patrons of the arts examuse this window Card – this herald!

"Going Hollywood" is doing "Dancing Lady" Business!!! Run these ads when you play it.

Play these songs, Record tie ups – Radio

"Going Hollywood" is typical of

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

ining the works and establishing the fact that the painter, Priam Farrel, has never been seen, is physically unknown, being a shy, diffident man whose greatest horror is publicty. Almost slipping into a marriage, Young and his valet open their old home in London. The night they arrive, the valet is taken ill, and before Young can correct the situation, the valet is taken for Farrel, he for the valet, and news of the death of the great artist is broadcast over the world. Young meanwhile has met Miss Gish, a patient, spinsterish woman with whom the valet had been corresponding with matrimonial intent. They get along decidedly well.

Young, in a delightfully amusing scene, attends the funeral of his valet, being buried in Westminster Abbey as Priam Farrel, and there is nothing Young can do about it, for no one will believe him. He is still Henry Leek, the valet. He and Miss Gish are married, settled and happy, until Young begins to paint again. His former dealers, who had never seen him, recognize his work, and when a lawsuit pertaining to the authenticity of the paintings, sold as Farrels, comes up, Young is forced to appear in court, in another amusing scene, and prove himself the great artist. Escaping from court, the two take ship for a country where perhaps he is not known.

It is highly enjoyable comedy drama, without pretentiousness, done well and with two excellent names heading the cast. The exhibitor may well promise amusing light entertainment, and should make the most of the reappearance of Miss Gish, supported by Roland Young. The situation, with Young retiring and shy, accidentally masquerading as his own valet, while the valet is buried in the Abbe as the great artist, should offer all sorts of opportunity for smart selling of an intriguing sort.—AARONSON, New York.

An Eddie Dowling Production. Distributed by Paramount. Directed by Arthur Hopkins and William De Mille. Supervised by Ben Jacksen. Based on Arnold Bennett's novel, "Buried Alive," and its stage adaptation, "His Great Adventure." Screen play by Arthur Hopkins and Clara Beranger. Photographed by Arthur Edeson. Recording engineer, Joseph Kane. Film editor, Arthur Ellis. Release date, January 12, 1934. Running time, 68 minutes.

CAST

Alice ..... Lillian Gish
Priam Farrel ..... Roland Young
Duncan Farrel ..... Montague Love
Oxford ..... Lumsden Hare
Mrs. Leek ..... Lucy Beaumont
Witt ..... Charles Richman
Leek Twins ..... Oliver Smith, Philip Tonge
Henry Leek ..... Roland Hogue
Lady Helen ..... Audrey Ridgewell

Enlighten Thy Daughter

(Exploitation)

Drama

In the nature of a treatise on the necessity of parents bringing to the attention of their daughters at a reasonably early age the "facts of life," "Enlighten Thy Daughter" was produced by Louis Weiss.

The theme, one crowded with potentialities of danger from the exhibition standpoint, is handled with a measure of restraint, avoiding many of the pitfalls with particular care.

Herbert Rawlinson heads the cast, and is the exhibitor's best name among the players. Wesley Barry, one time child star, is known perhaps, but his role is too unimportant to warrant any conspicuous billing.

In the exploitation of the title, which actually is, with its implications, the picture's chief selling point, care should be exercised that it is not made to imply anything off-color—there is nothing of the kind in the product. Let the title indicate exactly what the film is, a picturization of the dangers that lie in wait for the unwary young girl, unschooled in even an elementary knowledge of what she should know, and what she should avoid in her social contacts. It is suggested that a screening should enable the exhibitor to be in a better position to know what he may do with the film from the selling standpoint, and whether or not club and women's groups in his community might be contacted profitably for their support.

Beth Barton and Miriam Battista are the two schoolgirls about whom the story is woven. Home from school, Miss Battista finds her father, a reformer, about to lecture on children's morals, her mother about to attend a bridge. She goes to the home of her cousin, Miss Barton, whose father is the wise doctor of the narrative. When a wild school chum invites her out for the evening, she meets Edmund MacDonald, wealthy boy. She falls in love with him, and as the result of an accident, they spend the night together. The inevitable happens, and meanwhile MacDonald has met the cousin, asked her to marry him, and been accepted.

Miss Battista's mother asks Rawlinson, the doctor, to see the girl, and he discovers the truth. He urges MacDonald to do the right thing, the boy refuses, and the doctor forces the girl to tell her mother. She does, takes poison, and dies. The concluding scene finds five persons in a living room in various poses of mourning, when the young brother of Miss Barton, who had had an affectionate regard for Miss Battista, enters with the announcement that he has just killed MacDonald.

The picture can be sold for its theme, with care in selling the title, and may be brought favorably to the attention of clubs and similar organizations for the lesson value it may be said to contain. Somewhere in a midweek spot would be the best playing position.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced by Louis Weiss. Distributed by Exploitation Pictures. Directed by John Varley. From the story by Ivar Abramson. Adapted by Arthur Hoerl. Additional dialogue by Bob Lively and Betty Laidlaw. Photographed by William E. Miller and Nicholas J. Rogalli. Musical score by Lou Herscher. Film editor, Patricia Rooney. Release date, January 15, 1934. Running time, 80 minutes.

CAST

Dr. Richard Stevens ..... Herbert Rawlinson
Ruth Stevens ..... Beth Barton
David Stevens ..... Charles Eaton
Alice Stevens ..... Claire Whitney
Gerald Winthrop ..... Edmund MacDonald
Daniel Stevens ..... Russell Hicks
Ethel Stevens ..... Ara Gerald
Lillian Stevens ..... Miriam Battista
Stanley Jordan ..... Jack Arnold
Margie ..... Eunice Reed
Wes ..... Wesley Barry
Mrs. Crosby ..... Audrey Maple
Mrs. Grainger ..... Lillian Walker
Dr. Palmer ..... Robert Emmett Keane

The Sin of Nora Moran

(Majestic)

Drama

A method of treatment which makes for something of a "no beginning and no ending" complication, brings about almost automatically an exhibitor problem in the selling of this picture. It is throughout weighty drama of the more tragic sort, with the few spots of humor interjected doing very little in the matter of relieving the tenseness of the story.

The narrative flits from one set of situations to another and from one period of time to another, with great rapidity, making it difficult to comprehend any sure directional flow in the film. It is meant to be the recounting of the high-lighting episodes of a girl's life as she is being prepared for the electric chair for murder. Exploiting it from that angle, of the doomed girl's "re-living," is the most feasible attack for the exhibitor.

The cast has several familiar names, without any outstanding personalities. The best selling names are Zita Johann, Alan Dinehart, Paul Cavanagh, and perhaps John Miljan and Cora Sue Collins, the child, though both these have but minor roles. It is apparent, then, that selling the film must mean concentration on the dramatic aspects of the story, with catchlines built around the story's central theme and situations.

Early in the film is found the overlapping situation of Miss Johann in the death cell for the murder of a circus entertainer, and Dinehart, district attorney, confronted in his office by an angered woman, the wife of the governor, Cavanagh, and threatening exposure of the governor for certain letters, addressed to him, and apparently coming from some woman. Dinehart, attempting to soothe her, begins to recount the story of the girl, Miss Johann. The film from that point in impressionistic sequence, flashback and straight manner, conveys that story, flashing again and again to the death cell, with occasional pickup of Dinehart's voice, and coming several times, and at the conclusion, to Dinehart's office again.

Pieced together, the story is of Miss Johann, adopted by the Morans when an orphaned child. They die, she studies for stage dancing, goes to a circus, is annoyed by Miljan, a performer. Leaving the circus, she meets Cavanagh, then being groomed for governor, they fall in love and he establishes her in a home, no questions asked. Dinehart interferes, the girl lies to save Cavanagh's career, Miljan enters and in a fight Cavanagh kills him. She persuades him to leave, Miss Johann and Dinehart attempt to dispose of the body, but she is apprehended. She keeps the secret for love of Cavanagh, is convicted, and he is persuaded not to pardon her when she is sentenced to die. A letter which Dinehart reads to his sister tells of Cavanagh's last minute attempt to save her, too late. Cavanagh is seen committing suicide. A time lapse between the suicide of Cavanagh and his wife's knowledge of it, is left unexplained.

It is a difficult picture to sell, having comparatively little action and relieving humor, the story being weighty tragedy. The dramatic aspects of the story and the cast for what it may be worth are the best selling points. It is for adults, of course.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Majestic. Directed by Phil Goldstone. Story by Willis Maxwell Goodhue. Adaptation by Francis Hyland. Photographed by Ira Morgan. Recording engineer, Earl Crain. Film editor, Otis Garrett. Release date, December 13, 1933. Running time, 65 minutes.

CAST

Nora Moran ..... Zita Johann
John Grant ..... Alan Dinehart
Gov. Crawford ..... Paul Cavanagh
Paulino ..... John Miljan
Mrs. Crawford ..... Claire Dubrey
Mrs. Watts ..... Sarah Padden
Father Ryan ..... Henry B. Walthall
Nora as child ..... Cora Sue Collins
Mrs. Moran ..... Aggie Herring
Mr. Moran ..... Otis Harlan

Mickey's Minstrels

(Columbia-Darmour)

Fast-moving and Novel

Forced to raise $10 in payment for Stinky Davis' pup which their own trained dog sold, Mickey McGuire and his gang first put together a hand-organ and follow this with an ensemble appearance at an amateur show to raise the dough. With Billy Barty dressed as a monkey, and a phonograph in a radio cabinet providing the gag idea for the first episode, the gang's experiences provoke dozens of laughs. The situation is topped by a run in with regular organ grinder which results in the contraption being wrecked as only $5 is in the payoff fund. Entering amateur night contest, gang stages condensed minstrel show, after the cocky Stinky and the tough organ grinder get the old-fashioned hook, to win first prize. Short is fast moving and novel. It's okay for the regular youngsters and carries plenty of bouncing fun to amuse the adults. Should fit in well on any program and be particularly valuable in connection with feature films that lack juvenile appeal as a balancing medium.—MCCARTHY, Hollywood.

Giant Land

(United Artists)

Excellent

One of the latest, and a lively, amusing cartoon, this finds Mickey Mouse in the land of the beanstalk and the hungry giant. Extremely clever and amusing are the pictures of Mickey, caught in the giant's mouth, frantically dodging peas sliding off a knife, and the rush of water which nearly drowns him as the giant takes a drink. He escapes and cuts down the beanstalk, sending the giant to China. The youngsters should get a real kick out of it, and the adults will enjoy it equally.—Running time, 7 minutes.

LET'S FALL IN LOVE
A MUSICAL ROMANCE OF TWO HEARTS IN LOVE TIME
with EDMUND LOWE
Ann Sothern—Miriam Jordan
Gregory Ratoff
Story and screen play by Herbert Fields
Music and lyrics by Harold Arlen and Ted Koehler
Directed by David Burton
A COLUMBIA PICTURE
COLUMBIA PICTURES

GET THE KIDS, SAYS MIX

And Western Star, With Zane Grey, Sets Out to Corral Them With Own Rodeo and Film Unit

by AL FINESTONE
Kansas City Correspondent

Tom Mix, with a sublime faith in the popularity of westerns as entertainment, is striking out on his own in a venture that will take him over the country half of the year and keep him occupied with a film producing company the rest of the time.

The colorful screen cowboy reveals ambitious plans. For the last two and a half years he has been busy perfecting a road-show unit for outdoor exhibitions and theatres. Now he plans to include this in an extensive organization, which will call for eight or ten units traveling by motorized caravan, offering "wild west" entertainment at fairs, rodeos and in picture houses. If a circus is demanded, that, too, will be available, as Mr. Mix will have enough cowboys, Indians and specialty entertainers to provide a full-fledged circus. The nucleus is already intact; part of it is the "Tom Mix Round-up," now touring RKO theatres in the Middlewest. By fall Mix expects to have the entire enterprise perfected.

Zane Grey To Write the Stories

Figuring importantly in his plans as part of the organization will be production of features with the flavor of the hard-riding, rough-and-tumble, action-full westerns of the silents. The first was to be in work late this year, he said. Zane Grey will write the stories and Mix will star. The two will be partners in the producing company, making four or five feature westerns a year for independent release. They may establish their own state rights exchanges.

Mix's 60,000-acre ranch in Arizona will be utilized for exteriors and a Hollywood studio will be leased for interior scenes. Negotiations are well advanced, he said. Mr. Mix will supervise his own productions, but an assistant producer now with a large studio will be a member of the executive staff.

The veteran of the range chafes under inactivity and confesses to a scorn for indolence. He intends to keep busy the year 'round. In the spring he will go out with his cowboys, Indians and horses, and after exhibiting in theatres and at outdoor shows, will return to his ranch in the fall and turn out pictures for "the kids and grownup kids," as he terms his audience. The equipment and personnel thus will be constantly at work. His props are so built that they can be broken down, transported and assembled on tour.

Blames Loss of Taste

"You've got to bring the kids back to the theatre," he said. "In the days of the silents, the youngsters flocked to the picture shows because they presented the type of entertainment that appealed to them. And the kids brought father and mother.

"Now it's all changed. In the place of wholesome stories, decent romance and clean action, the screens are glutted with sex and sophistication that no parents want their children to see. The theatre has lost its hold by ignoring the tastes of its best customers. It is neglecting the coming crop of patrons."

Dialogue will be used sparingly in Mix's pictures—just enough to carry the story.

"I've had a hard fight trying to keep my roles clean," the star explained. "They've wanted me to rob banks, steal horses, hold up stage coaches, get drunk, cheat at cards, smoke and do other things I didn't think I should do."

Rejected Serial Contract

Mix said not long ago he was offered $50,000 for 17 days' work in a serial. He rejected the contract, he said, because he was afraid the producer would jeopardize his screen character.

"New York-bred directors and supervisors know New York and little else," he commented. "They haven't been around, haven't lived. That is why they wanted me to do things that never should be done by a hero in a western. That is the reason for some of the ludicrous situations in pictures, insisted upon by men who don't know what it's all about."

When he was making westerns for major companies, Mr. Mix said, budgets were set at approximately $200,000, but, he declared, so much was wasted on preparation and incidentals and "the Hollywood habit of calling in three or four writers to revamp the script," that by the time shooting began, the original sum usually had been whittled down to $50,000 for actual production, and a presentable picture had to be turned out for that amount.

Preliminary plans for the company include also a series of educational shorts on "wild west" subjects.

Erpi Wins Point In Theatre Suit

Charges of invalidity of Electrical Research Products' standard theatre license agreement because executed in pursuance of a conspiracy between American Telephone and Telegraph, Western Electric Company and Electrical Research Products to create a monopoly in the sound reproducing business have been held to be immaterial and unresponsive to a suit brought by Erpi to recover sums due under such contract.

Iowa District Judge Smyth so ruled in granting Erpi's motion to strike such charges from the defense in the case of Erpi against M. L. Dickson, operating the Temple Theatre, Mount Pleasant, Iowa.

RCA Victor Promotes Jones

Harry W. Jones has been appointed sound supervisor of all RCA Victor's film recording operations in New York. Mr. Jones was formerly sound engineering advisor to Photopone sound licensees in New York and Hollywood.

Upholds Theory In R C A Suit

The recent decision of the United States circuit court of appeals in the suit against Radio Engineering Laboratories for infringement of the DeForest "feed-back" patents is, in effect, an adherence to its position that this basic invention was made by Major Edwin H. Armstrong, rather than by Dr. Lee DeForest, according to an announcement from the Radio Corporation of America recently. In the earlier litigation in this circuit the DeForest Company was held to infringe a patent issued to Major Armstrong in 1914, which was owned by Westinghouse.

"The decision of this court seems in sharp conflict with the decisions of the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia and the Court of Appeals of the Third Circuit, each of which has held that DeForest is the originator of the feed-back invention," the statement declared. "Although the Supreme Court of the United States confirmed the decision of the Third Circuit, the majority of the judges of the Second Circuit are now of the opinion that in its affirmance the Supreme Court did not decide on matters of fact, but held its decision to matters of law peculiarly applicable to interference suits."

It is anticipated that the Supreme Court, if requested, will grant a petition for a writ of certiorari and thereby clarify the situation so that owners of the respective patent rights and the radio industry may know how to deal with conflicting decisions.

Majestic To Continue Its Own Production

Majestic Pictures definitely will continue the production of its own pictures, according to a statement issued last week by Herman Gluckman, president. In addition to this the company also will continue to distribute nationally through its own franchise holders.

Mr. Gluckman said that a successor to Phil Goldstone, who recently resigned as production chief of Majestic, will be named shortly after the New Year. Meanwhile, Mr. Goldstone, in Hollywood, announced his resignation from the Independent Motion Picture Producers' Association, declaring that henceforth he would confine his activities to the production of pictures for major company distribution.

United Newsreel Sets 20 One-Reelers for '34

United Newsreel announced this week it would release 20 one-reel pictures through state rights exchanges. Of this number, 13 will be entitled "Broadway Gossip" and the remaining seven, "American Explorers."

The exploration series will have as its various subjects such important American cities as Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, New Orleans, New York, Chicago and Los Angeles.

Reiner Joins MGM

Manny Reiner, formerly with Warner, has joined the advertising department of MGM, at the home office.

WE WANT CANTOR

WE WANT CANTOR

yes sir, (say thousands of successful showmen) when we book a Cantor picture we want a trailer with actual scenes of Cantor doing his stuff . . . voice, manner, personality . . .

and when we book a picture with any of those bright boys and girls with marquee names and marquee personalities we want actual scenes and actual dialog from the picture itself because . . .

that's what sells pictures and that's what you get in samplevue trailers from

NATIONAL SCREEN SERVICE

. . . they sell the show with showmanship

WHEN THOUSAND OF THE INDUSTRY MET

Breaking virtually every record for attendance at a motion picture industry gathering, more than 1,000 men and women, representative of every branch, crowded into the grand ballroom of the Astor hotel, New York, last Thursday, for the Christmas luncheon meeting of the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers.

With John C. Flinn, AMPA's president, in the chair, the proceedings were marked by speeches, music and other entertainment. Pleas for contributions to The Film Daily Relief Fund were made by Will H. Hays, Eddie Cantor, Louis Nizer, Cecil B. DeMille and Mr. Flinn.

Mr. Hays also voiced a note of optimism when he declared that the industry's employment had returned to its 1929 level with a total of 300,000 now working in various industry branches.

Referring specifically to the Film Daily's conduct of its Relief Fund, and at the same time paying a tribute to John W. Alicoate, publisher and editor of the paper, Mr. Hays declared that the Fund is so well established as to make it unnecessary to organize an industry relief fund in the East such as exists in Hollywood, which organization, he said, raised $150,000 last year.

It was pointed out that Film Daily's fund, established in 1927 to care for indigent members of the industry during the holiday season, had collected $4,300 last year and, through its efforts, not only had helped to relieve the financial condition of men and women in the industry who had known better times, but also, through its administration, had been successful in obtaining employment for several of these.

Music entertainment was provided by Tommy McLaughlin and Little Jack Little, radio stars, and Mario Chamlee of the Metropolitar Opera as well as Isham Jones and his band.

A group picture of the entire gathering, made by Drucker and Baltes, may be had for $1, either from the Film Daily Relief Fund, 1650 Broadway, New York, or Martin Starr, International Beauty Pageant, 729 Seventh Avenue, New York. Half of the proceeds from each picture sold is going toward the fund.

Mr. Flinn's Committee on Arrangements for the luncheon was composed of Marvin Kirsch, Film Daily; Bert Adler, Fanchon and Marco, and Paul Benjamin, National Screen Service.

AT THE AMPA'S BIG CHRISTMAS PARTY

14 Exchanges Sign Superior's Westerns

Fourteen exchanges have contracted for the sale of Superior Talking Pictures' Buffalo Bill, Jr., and Buddy Roosevelt western releases, according to an announcement from the company last week.

Among the exchanges which will distribute the series are: Arthur Greenblatt, Inc., New York City; Amity Exchange, Charlotte; F. F. Goodrow Attractions, New Orleans; Mayfair Pictures Corp., Atlanta; Square Deal Film Exchange, Oklahoma City; Adams Film Exchange, Dallas; Jerry Abrams Film Exchange, Chicago; Capital Film Exchange, Indianapolis; Century Film Corp., Boston; Monogram Pictures Corp. of Ohio, Cleveland; Monarch Pictures Corp., Pittsburgh; Masterpiece Film Attractions, Philadelphia; Trio Productions, Washington, D. C., and S. M. Berger & Co., New York City.

Among those seated at the speakers' table at the AMPA's party were:

E. W. Hammons
Geo. J. Schaefer
Ned Depinet
Ed Kuykendall
Martin Quigley
Maurice Kann
Jack Alicoate
P. S. Harrison
J. J. McCarthy
Maurice MacKenzie
Louis Nizer
A. S. Friend
Herman Robbins
Major Edward Bowes
Herbert Yates
Will H. Hays
Nellie Revell
Julius Tannen
Nathan Burkan
Robert Gillham
Ralph A. Kohn
Tony Canzoneri
C. B. DeMille
Boris Morros
Harry Hershfield
Arthur B. Graham
Eugene Zukor
C. C. Pettijohn
Robert Sisk
Sophie Tucker
Chas. E. McCarthy
Arthur Whyte
Rex Beach
Colvin Brown
Jack Cohn
Harold B. Franklin
W. Ray Johnston

Schwartz Again Heads Cleveland Exhibitors

Ernest Schwartz was re-elected to the presidency of the Cleveland Motion Picture Exhibitors' Association last week. Albert E. Ptak was re-elected vice-president, and John Kalafat was re-elected treasurer. They and G. W. Erdmann, secretary, were elected to fill the expired terms on the directorship of Meyer Fischer, Morris Berkowitz and M. B. Horwitz.

Warner Club Banquet Is Set for January 20

The fifth annual banquet and ball of the Warner Club will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, on Saturday evening, January 20. Arrangements for the affair are being handled by Al Schwalberg, president, and Harold Rodner, managing director of the club.

TECHNOLOGICAL

The BLUEBOOK School

By F. H. RICHARDSON

BLUEBOOK SCHOOL QUESTION NO. 204.—(A) Just what is meant by focal length as applies to a simple lens? (B) You are handling a complicated optical system. Surely you should understand lenses at least fairly well. So tell us just what is a 6.25-inch diameter, 6.50-inch focal length plano-convex lens and exactly why is it 6.50 focal length? (C) Tell us why a condenser lens used in ordinary projection work cannot be made to focus its light beam to a point. (D) Could the lens focus the beam to a point if it were properly corrected?

Answer to Question No. 198

Bluebook School Question No. 198 was: (A) What is the first element of the projector optical train, and what are its functions? (B) What is the second element of the projector optical train, and what are its functions? (C) What is meant in optics by the term "perpendicular," as when it is said an optical axis is perpendicular to the screen surface? (C) Explain why (a) a light ray passing through both surfaces of a lens perpendicular to it will not be bent or "refracted"; also (b) what, if any, light losses will be sustained by such a ray?

The following made good, approximately: C. Rau and S. Evans; D. Danielson; G. E. Doe; P. Gaeth, Jr.; J. Wentworth; K. Dowling; H. Edwards; W. Ostrum; W. Lemke; H. H. Menefee; L. Vanbuskirk and E. Kroll; R De Totto; C. Cummings and T. Kelley; T. Van Vaulkenburg; E. Rymer and B. L. Tanner; S. Carberry; D. L. Sinklow; G. Tinlin; R. S. Conrad, H. E. Daniels, R. K. Hart and L. Biello; S. Neilson; H. D. Schofield; D. N. Anderson and H. May; C. D. Carmody; G. Farmann; W. and S. F. Love; P. L. Lathrop; R. Suler and R. Wheeler; T. H. and J. N. Williams; D. Little and J. H. Rathburn; G. Bagby; O. L. Evans; G. S. Bowers; D. L. Howard; R. McDonald; M. Scully and P. L. Wheeler; B. Doe; R. H. Patterson and L. H. Danville; H. Schontz and T. R. Richards; D. C. Coates; L. Hutch and D. Goldberg; H. B. Roth and A. Sarno; G. Johnson and N. T. Kane; P. Jackson and B. Diglah; D. L. Mason and J. T. Ballinger; D. U. Granger; O. L. Daris and M. Simms; P. R. Dual; N. C. Nellinger and H. Pitchkey; N. Williams and R. S. Allen; P. H. Harrison and G. H. Henderson; L. Jones; L. D. Stellegos and G. Wayne; B. L. Stephens; S. Peterson and D. R. Bainbridge; P. Conforti and C. F. Davis; E. F. Griffin and C. Abrams; T. L. Edwards; K. Irwin; B. Ilers; T. L. Albert and R. Leroy; F. T. Darnella; H. C. Lake; D. R. Peters and D. Holler; H. C. Lake; M. J. Conroy.

The answer to Section A of our Chicago friend, G. E. Doe, has been selected as much the best. He says, "The question might be interpreted more than one way. I believe that literally the light source might truly be termed the first element of the train, though probably that is not what F. H. had in mind when the question was asked. In an optical train using a two-lens condenser, the collector lens would be the first truly optical element. Its function is to collect as much of the light as is possible and to deliver it to the converging lens, all except a small outer margin if the two lenses have equal diameter, or all if the converging lens has a greater diameter than the collector has, this latter for the reason that the collector sends forward, not a parallel, but a diverging beam (see Figure 40 in the Bluebook). If the light collector is a mirror, then it undoubtedly is the first optical element in the train. Its function may be to collect light and reflect it either back in a converging beam to the spot at the projector aperture, or in a parallel beam to a thin, wide diameter condenser, which in turn converges it to the spot.

"Or again, the first element might, broadly speaking, be considered as the condenser as a whole, the function of which is to collect the light and to converge it into a spot at the projector cooling plate and aperture."

Brother Doe is right. We have been accustomed to speaking of the condenser or mirror as the "first element," hence the manner in which the question was asked.

(B) There were in excess of 800 correct answers to this one, as follows: The projection lens is the second element. Its function is to receive light rays after they have passed through the film, and to focus them at the screen in an enlarged, magnified duplication of the photograph impressed upon the film.

(C) D. Danielson says, "In optics 'perpendicular' means at right angles to the axis; in other words, at right angles to."

(D) I was surprised at the number of correct answers to this one. However, on the whole I believe our friend T. Van Vaulkenburg perhaps has a bit the best of it. He says, "This question is explained somewhat differently by different optical authorities so far as has to do with the actual reason for bending. What seems most plausible is that one side of each ray (which is considered as having area of cross section) strikes the second medium first and is slowed down or speeded up, according to whether the said second medium be more or less dense than the first.

"Aside from that phase of the matter, a light ray passing through both surfaces of a lens perpendicular to them both, will not be refracted, for the reason that rays of light are refracted or 'bent' only when passing from one media to another at an angle. Since there will, in the case named be no angle, there also will be no refraction. Might add that the greater the angle of incidence upon the second media, up to the point of total reflection, the greater will be the refraction.

"As to (b), a ray passing through a lens would lose from reflection at both surfaces, and from absorption, in proportion to the quality of the glass from which the lens is made. Under the condition named the reflection loss would be less than it would be were the ray passing through the lens at an angle."

Court Holds Exhibitor Must Pay Sound Lease

Judgment amounting to $678.94 with interest and cost has been awarded to Electrical Research Products, Inc., in its action brought against the Landbar Amusement Co., and Arthur Landsman, as an individual and as operator of the Gem Theatre, New York City, to recover unpaid installments and liquidated damages claimed to be due under lease of sound equipment.

Erpi announced this week that in the case of Dunlap, et al vs. Stein, et al, decided by the U. S. District Court for the Southern district of Texas, it was held that the owner of a theatre has no lien on sound reproducing equipment leased by a third party to a tenant operator for a period of years. Erpi's cross bill seeking recovery against Stein for rentals for use of sound equipment in the theatre during litigation also was allowed.

THEATRE RECEIPTS

The total of theatre receipts for the calendar week ended December 23, 1933, from 112 houses in 19 major cities of the country, reached $969,177, a decrease of $143,355 from the total for the previous calendar week, ended December 16, when 118 theatres in 19 cities reported an aggregate gross of $1,112,532.

(Copyright, 1933: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Boston			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Boston	2,900	25c-50c	"If I Were Free" (Radio)	21,000	"Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men" (Radio)	21,000	High 11-18 "Ace of Aces"	22,000
							Low 3-11 "Topaze"	11,000
Fenway	1,800	30c-50c	"From Headquarters" (W.B.) and "Jimmy and Sally" (Fox)	8,500	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.) and "Lone Cowboy" (Para.)	10,000	High 1-14 "Island of Lost Souls" and "Billion Dollar Scandal"	15,000
							Low 7-29 "She Had to Say Yes" and "Arizona to Broadway"	6,000
Keith's	3,500	30c-50c	"Little Women" (Radio) (4th week)	23,000	"Little Women" (Radio) (3rd week)	26,000	High 12-2 "Little Women"	28,000
Loew's State	3,700	35c-50c	"Women in His Life" (MGM)	18,500	"Should Ladies Behave?" (MGM)	21,000	Low 3-11 "When Strangers Marry"	12,000
							High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	23,000
Metropolitan	4,350	30c-65c	"My Lips Betray" (Fox)	31,000	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.)	36,000	Low 3-11 "Men Must Fight"	11,000
							High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	44,500
Paramount	1,800	30c-50c	"From Headquarters" (W.B.) and "Jimmy and Sally" (Fox)	8,500	"Ever In My Heart" (W.B.) and "Lone Cowboy" (Para.)	10,000	Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	26,500
							High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "Deception"	17,000
							Low 8-12 "Mary Stevens, M.D." and "Flying Devils"	8,000
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"The Masquerader" (U. A.)	10,100	"Her Sweetheart, Christopher Bean" (MGM)	15,000	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady"	31,000
							Low 3-25 "Our Betters"	9,800
Century	3,000	25c	"The Mad Game" (Fox)	5,200	"Solitaire Man" (MGM) (3 days)	1,200	High 8-12 "Forgotten Men" and "Easy Millions"	8,000
					"Day of Reckoning" (MGM) (4 days)	2,300	Low 12-16 "Solitaire Man" and "Day of Reckoning"	3,500
Great Lakes	3,000	25c-40c	"Berkeley Square" (Fox)	5,800	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week)	7,600	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	27,200
							Low 4-15 "Rome Express"	5,400
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-40c	"My Lips Betray" (Fox)	6,100	"Walls of Gold" (Fox)	8,100	High 6-24 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	16,100
							Low 8-26 "Moonlight and Pretzels"	5,100
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"Myrt and Marge" (U.)	4,800	"The Invisible Man" (U.)	8,000	High 12-2 "Only Yesterday"	11,100
							Low 12-23 "Myrt and Marge"	4,800
Chicago
Chicago	4,000	35c-68c	"House on 56th Street" (W.B.)	27,000	"The Prizefighter and the Lady" (MGM)	28,000	High 9-2 "Goodbye Again"	75,000
							Low 4-29 "Central Airport"	22,000
McVicker's	2,284	30c-60c	"Should Ladies Behave?" (MGM)	12,000	"Only Yesterday" (U.) (2nd week)	11,000	High 10-14 "Too Much Harmony"	20,000
							Low 7-1 "The Woman I Stole"	5,000
Oriental	3,940	30c-60c	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.) (9 days)	16,000	"A Man's Castle" (Col.)	10,000	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel"	50,000
							Low 12-16 "A Man's Castle"	19,000
Palace	2,509	35c-75c	"Chance at Heaven" (Radio)	25,000	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week)	28,000	High 9-9 "Morning Glory"	37,000
							Low 5-27 "Below the Sea"	14,000
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"Little Women" (Radio)	15,000	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.)	7,500	High 10-14 "Penthouse"	16,000
State-Lake	2,776	20c-35c	"Flaming Gold" (Radio)	15,500			Low 3-4 "Luxury Liner"	6,200
							High 12-23 "Flaming Gold"	15,500
							Low 2-18 "Lucky Devils"	4,500
United Artists	1,700	30c-60c	"Christopher Bean" (MGM) (2nd week)	13,000	"Christopher Bean" (MGM) (1st week)	15,000	High 1-21 "The Kid From Spain"	27,600
							Low 3-18 "Perfect Understanding"	6,800
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	20c-40c	"Broadway Through a Keyhole" (U. A.)	4,000	"Chance at Heaven" (Radio)	2,750	High 11-11 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "Infernal Machine" and "Exposure"	1,800
Hippodrome	3,800	30c-44c	"My Lips Betray" (Fox)	3,500	"Hoopla" (Fox)	5,000	High 10-21 "East of Fifth Avenue"	30,000
							Low 6-10 "Circus Queen Murder"	2,900
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-75c	"If I Were Free" (Radio)	15,000	"A Man's Castle" (Col.)	17,000	High 12-2 "Little Women"	26,000
							Low 8-19 "No Marriage Ties"	4,200
State	3,400	30c-44c	"Women in His Life" (MGM) and "Should Ladies Behave?" (MGM)	5,500	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.)	11,500	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	26,000
							Low 6-24 "The Eagle and the Hawk"	5,000
Stillman	1,900	25c-35c	"The Chief" (MGM) and "Fury of the Jungle" (Col.)	2,700	"Cradle Song" (Para.) and "To the Last Man" (Para.)	3,800	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	9,000
							Low 11-18 "Stage Mother" and "Hell and High Water"	2,500
Warner's Lake	800	25c-35c	"Ace of Aces" (Radio) and "Midshipman Jack" (Radio)	1,500	"Olsen's Big Moment" (Fox)	1,900	High 10-28 "Footlight Parade"	10,000
							Low 12-23 "Ace of Aces" and "Midshipman Jack"	1,500
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-50c	"Disraeli" (W. B.) (25c-40c)	3,000	"The Invisible Man" (U.)	4,500	High 2-25 "Cavalcade"	10,000
							Low 4-8 "Smoke Lightning" and "Broadway Bad"	2,500
Denham	1,500	25c-40c	"Take a Chance" (Para.)	9,500	"The Way to Love" (Para.)	8,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	16,000
							Low 6-3 "Mussolini Speaks," "Night of Terror" and "Soldiers of the Storm"	1,950
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"Female" (F. N.)	6,000	"The World Changes" (F. N.)	3,000	High 8-12 "Tugboat Annie"	14,600
							Low 12-16 "The World Changes"	3,000
Orpheum	2,600	25c-40c	"Lady Killer" (W. B.)	13,000	"Only Yesterday" (U.)	11,000	High 3-4 "42nd Street"	18,500
							Low 6-10 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,750
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"Blood Money" (U. A.)	3,000	"Dancing Lady" (MGM) (3 days)	1,650	High 4-1 "The Kid From Spain"	7,000
					"Jimmy and Sally" (Fox) (4 days)	1,350	Low 7-8 "The Barbarian"	2,000
Detroit
Downtown	2,750	15c-40c	"Master of Men" (Col.) and "Fog" (Col.)	4,600	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week)	9,300	High 10-14 "No Marriage Ties"	16,500
							Low 6-10 "The Woman I Stole"	3,700
Fisher	2,700	15c-40c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.) (15c-50c)	5,200	"Tillie and Gus" (Para.)	5,700	High 1-28 "Silver Dollar"	15,400
							Low 3-18 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	3,100
Fox	5,100	15c-50c	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	12,400	"A Man's Castle" (Col.)	16,300	High 9-16 "Sing, Sinner, Sing"	32,300
							Low 5-15 "After the Ball" and "Afraid to Talk"	5,400
Michigan	4,000	25c-50c	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.)	14,100	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.)	15,300	High 1-21 "Tonight Is Ours"	23,700
							Low 7-1 "College Humor"	7,300
State	3,000	25c-50c	"Design for Living" (Para.)	9,100	"Disraeli" (W. B.)	5,100	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel" (5 days)	24,100
							Low 9-30 "To the Last Man"	4,400
United Artists	2,000	25c-50c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.)	11,300	"Havana Widows" (F. N.)	6,200	High 2-11 "The Kid From Spain"	17,400
							Low 3-25 "The Sign of the Cross"	4,100

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	50c-$1.65	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (3rd week)	10,046	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week)	11,460	High 9-9 "Dinner at Eight"	36,656
							Low 4-1 "King Kong"	14,600
[illegible] Hollywood	3,000	25c-40c	"From Headquarters" (W. B.) and "Disraeli" (W. B.)	9,000	"Havana Widows" (F. N.)	10,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	26,000
							Low 4-15 "Grand Slam"	8,975
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	25c-40c	"As Husbands Go" (Fox)	2,000	"Jimmy and Sally" (Fox)	2,000	High 2-18 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 12-23 "As Husbands Go"	2,000
Circle	2,800	25c-40c	"Female" (F. N.) (4 days) "Cradle Song" (Para.) (3 days)	3,000	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week)	3,000	High 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "The Sign of the Cross" (2nd run)	2,500
Lyric	2,000	25c-40c	"Myrt and Marge" (U.)	4,000	"Laughing at Life" (Mascot)	4,000	High 7-22 "College Humor"	9,500
							Low 11-11 "Saturday's Millions"	3,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"Blood Money" (U. A.)	4,000	"Women in His Life" (MGM)	3,500	High 8-12 "Tugboat Annie"	11,000
							Low 12-16 "Women in His Life"	3,500
Kansas City
Apollo	1,100	25c	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.) (2nd week)	900	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.) (1st week)	2,500
Mainstreet	3,049	25c-40c	"The World Changes" (F. N.)	4,100	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week-8 days)	6,000	High 10-28 "Ace of Aces"	21,000
							Low 5-20 "Sweepings"	4,000
Midland	4,000	25c	"Blood Money" (U. A.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	7,400	"The Prizefighter and the Lady" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	10,000	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	30,000
							Low 4-15 "Perfect Understanding"	4,900
Newman	1,800	25c-40c	"Lady Killer" (W. B.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	5,500	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.) (8 days and Sat. midnite show)	9,000	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	20,000
							Low 5-27 "Picture Snatcher"	2,800
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"Olsen's Big Moment" (Fox) and "Female" (F. N.)	2,400	"Only Yesterday" (U.) (2nd week)	3,500	High 2-11 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 7-1 "Lilly Turner"	1,600
Los Angeles
Criterion	1,610	25c-40c	"Elysia" (Foy) (4th week)	8,400	"Elysia" (Foy) (3rd week)	9,500	High 12-2 "Elysia"	12,000
Four Star	900	50c-75c	"Berkeley Square" (Fox) (3rd week-4 days)	2,816	"Berkeley Square" (Fox) (2nd week)	4,650	Low 7-29 "The Devil's Brother"	1,850
Loew's State	2,416	25c-40c	"The Prizefighter and the Lady" (MGM)	12,500	"My Lips Betray" (Fox)	8,589	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	28,300
							Low 3-11 "Dangerously Yours"	8,000
Los Angeles	3,000	15c-25c	"Only Yesterday" (U.)	5,000	"Fury of the Jungle" (Col.) and "He Couldn't Take It" (Monogram)	3,000	High 7-22 "Kiss of Araby" and "Samarang"	6,200
							Low 9-2 "Important Witness" and "Doubled and Redoubled"	2,200
Paramount	3,596	25c-40c	"Girl Without a Room" (Para.)	19,750	"Design for Living" (Para.) (2nd week)	15,500	High 1-7 "No Man of Her Own"	30,000
RKO	2,700	25c-40c	"If I Were Free" (Radio)	3,900	"A Man's Castle" (Col.) (2nd week)	3,700	Low 3-18 "King of the Jungle"	10,000
							High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	11,600
United Artists	2,100	25c-40c	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.) (4th week)	7,000	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.) (3rd week)	8,500	Low 9-30 "Brief Moment"	1,700
							High 10-21 "The Bowery"	21,000
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-40c	"From Headquarters" (W. B.) and "Disraeli" (W. B.)	8,000	"Havana Widows" (F. N.)	9,000	Low 1-28 "Hello, Everybody"	3,900
							High 3-25 "42nd Street"	19,000
							Low 12-23 "From Headquarters" and "Disraeli"	8,000
Minneapolis
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"Lady Killer" (W. B.)	1,500	"Meet the Baron" (MGM)	1,500	High 4-1 "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"	3,000
							Low 11-11 "I Loved a Woman"	1,000
Minnesota	4,000	25c-40c	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.)	7,500	"Dancing Lady" (MGM)	8,000
RKO Orpheum	2,900	20c-40c	"Little Women" (Radio)	7,000	"Havana Widows" (F. N.)	6,500	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	14,000
							Low 3-11 "Cynara"	3,000
State	2,300	25c-40c	"Cradle Song" (Para.)	5,500	"Berkeley Square" (Fox)	6,500	High 4-29 "Cavalcade"	8,000
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	3,500
World	400	25c-75c	"Elysia" (Foy) (2nd week)	2,000	"Bitter Sweet" (U. A.) (2nd week-3 days)	600	High 4-22 "Be Mine Tonight"	2,400
					"Elysia" (Foy) (1st week-4 days)	700	Low 11-25 "Vi Som Gar Koksvagen"	1,000
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-75c	"Havana Widows" (F. N.) and "Ever in My Heart" (W. B.) (25c-60c)	7,500	"Bombshell" (MGM)	10,000	High 12-2 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	13,500
							Low 12-23 "Havana Widows" and "Ever in My Heart"	7,500
Imperial	1,914	25c-50c	"Maedchen in Uniform" (British) (2nd week) (25c-60c)	1,500	"Maedchen in Uniform" (British) (1st week)	2,000	High 1-7 "Enlevez-Moi" and "Cain"	4,000
							Low 7-8 "Les Bleus d'Amour"	1,500
Loew's	3,115	25c-75c	"Worst Woman in Paris?" (Fox) (25c-65c)	8,500	"Bureau of Missing Persons" (F. N.)	10,500	High 1-21 "The Mask of Fu Manchu"	14,500
							Low 9-30 "Turn Back the Clock" and "Emergency Call"	7,500
Palace	2,600	25c-75c	"I Loved a Woman" (F. N.) and "Female" (F. N.) (25c-60c)	9,000	"Take a Chance" (Para.) and "White Woman" (Para.)	9,000	High 2-18 "The Sign of the Cross"	15,500
							Low 12-23 "I Loved a Woman" and "Female"	9,000
Princess	2,272	25c-65c	"Sing, Sinner, Sing" (Majestic) and "The Chief" (MGM) (25c-60c)	5,000	"The Mayor of Hell" (W. B.) and "Golden Harvest" (Para.)	5,000	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" and "Speed Demon"	12,000
							Low 12-23 "Sing, Sinner, Sing" and "The Chief"	5,000
New York
Cameo	549	25c-40c	"Volga Volga" (Kinematrade)	2,000	"Gow" (Salisbury) (2nd week-6 days)	2,500	High 1-28 "Maedchen in Uniform"	9,200
							Low 8-5 "King of Jazz"	1,064
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"Should Ladies Behave?" (MGM)	28,665	"Dancing Lady" (MGM) (2nd week)	37,293	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady" (8 days)	66,653
							Low 9-30 "Solitaire Man"	21,210
Hollywood	1,543	25c-85c	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.) (3rd week)	8,600	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.) (2nd week)	13,140	High 9-1 "Voltaire"	25,868
							Low 10-21 "Ever in My Heart"	8,296
Mayfair	2,300	35c-85c	"Criminal at Large" (Helber)	7,600	"King for a Night" (U.) (10 days)	11,400	High 1-7 "The Half Naked Truth"	24,750
							Low 6-3 "When Strangers Marry"	4,900
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	9,800	"Hoopla" (Fox)	10,300	High 2-4 "Animal Kingdom"	16,150
							Low 4-15 "Parole Girl"	4,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"His Double Life" (Para.)	19,200	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.) (2nd week)	19,800	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	83,450
							Low 2-4 "Hello, Everybody"	15,600
Rialto	2,200	40c-65c	"Hell and High Water" (Para.)	8,500	"Girl Without a Room" (Para.) (2nd week-3 days)	5,100	High 5-20 "Forgotten Men"	22,500
							Low 4-15 "Destination Unknown" and "The Fighting President"	5,800
Rivoli	2,200	35c-99c	"Advice to the Lovelorn" (U. A.) (2nd week-3 days)	3,900	"Advice to the Lovelorn" (U.A.) (1st week)	12,780	High 10-7 "The Bowery"	45,000
							Low 8-5 "The Rebel"	7,200
RKO Center	3,700	25c-55c	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week)	20,500	"Little Women" (U.) (1st week)	31,500	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	71,267
							Low 7-1 "Adorable" and "Supernatural"	7,592
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"Right to Romance" (Radio)	69,500	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	80,000	High 11-25 "Little Women"	109,000
Roxy	6,200	25c-55c	"Jimmy and Sally" (Fox)	18,200	"Charming Deceiver" (Majestic)	17,100	Low 6-17 "Ann Carver's Profession"	44,938
							High 11-25 "The Invisible Man"	42,000
Strand	3,000	25c-$1.10	"Sin of Nora Moran" (Majestic)	6,850	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.) (2nd week-6 days)	11,040	Low 1-28 "Air Hostess"	9,100
					"Sin of Nora Moran" (Majestic) (1 day)		High 10-14 "Footlight Parade"	55,190
							Low 12-23 "Sin of Nora Moran"	6,850

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"Jimmy and Sally" (Fox)	1,500	"The Prizefighter and the Lady" (MGM)	2,500	High 11-11 "Penthouse"	4,000
							Low 3-11 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,350
Criterion	1,700	10c-56c	"The Masquerader" (U. A.)	3,900	"Hoopla" (Fox)	4,400	High 11-18 "College Coach"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "Clear All Wires"	1,800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"My Lips Betray" (Fox) (4 days)	1,300	"Wild Boys of the Road" (F.N.) (3 days)	1,000	High 9-2 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	3,900
			"Berkeley Square" (Fox) (3 days)	700	"Horseplay" (U.) (4 days)	900	Low 3-18 "The Death Kiss" and "The Fourth Horseman"	1,100
Midwest	1,500	10c-56c	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.)	3,300	"Only Yesterday" (U.)	5,000	High 2-25 "State Fair"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Employees' Entrance"	1,400
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	25c-40c	"Professional Sweetheart" (Radio) (25c-50c)	6,750	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week)	4,500	High 11-18 "One Man's Journey"	10,750
							Low 11-25 "Double Harness" and "Bureau of Missing Persons"	4,750
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"As Husbands Go" (Fox) (25c-50c)	6,750	"Take a Chance" (Para.) and "The Mad Game" (Fox)	7,250	High 6-24 "I Loved You Wednesday"	16,500
							Low 4-29 "Sweepings"	5,000
Paramount	2,900	25c-50c	"Cradle Song" (Para.)	6,500	"Christopher Bean" (MGM)	6,750	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	13,250
							Low 6-10 "Reunion in Vienna"	5,800
World	2,500	25c-35c	"Should Ladies Behave?" (MGM) and "Jimmy and Sally" (Fox)	5,250	"The Prizefighter and the Lady" (MGM) and "Sing, Sinner, Sing" (Majestic)	5,850	High 6-3 "Peg O' My Heart" and "Perfect Understanding"	7,500
							Low 12-9 "Hoopla" and "Manhattan Tower"	4,500
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	40c-65c	"Blood Money" (U. A.) (5 days)	4,000	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U.A.) (4th week-2 days)	1,500	High 10-21 "The Bowery"	12,000
					"Advice to the Lovelorn" (U.A.) (6 days)	6,000	Low 9-30 "Bitter Sweet"	4,800
							High 1-14 "Red Dust"	4,000
							Low 5-27 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,500
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"King for a Night" (U.) (4 days)	1,200	"Meet the Baron" (MGM) (6 days)	1,800
Boyd	2,400	40c-65c	"Right to Romance" (Radio) (6 days)	8,000	"If I Were Free" (Radio) (6 days)	8,500	High 9-2 "Tugboat Annie"	21,000
							Low 12-23 "Right to Romance"	8,000
Earle	2,000	40c-65c	"The Chief" (MGM) (6 days)	11,000	"After Tonight" (Radio) (6 days)	13,000	High 1-7 "Breach of Promise"	29,000
							Low 10-21 "Saturday's Millions"	10,000
Fox	3,000	35c-75c	"I Was a Spy" (Fox) (6 days)	14,000	"As Husbands Go" (Fox) (6 days)	15,500	High 4-22 "Cavalcade"	29,000
							Low 8-5 "F. P. 1"	13,000
Karlton	1,000	30c-50c	"Disraeli" (W. B.) (6 days)	3,300	"Day of Reckoning" (MGM) (6 days)	2,700	High 4-8 "42nd Street"	7,700
							Low 8-12 "Ann Carver's Profession"	2,500
Keith's	2,000	25c-40c	"Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" (Monogram) (6 days)	5,000	"Jimmy and Sally" (Fox) (6 days)	5,800	High 1-7 "Self Defense"	11,500
							Low 11-18 "Worst Woman in Paris?"	4,500
Stanley	3,700	40c-65c	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.) (2nd week-4 days)	5,500	"Duck Soup" (Para.) (2nd week-2 days)	2,000	High 11-25 "I'm No Angel"	32,500
							Low 6-10 "The Silver Cord"	9,000
					"Sitting Pretty" (Para.) (1st week-4 days)	9,000
Stanton	1,700	30c-55c	"From Headquarters" (W. B.) (6 days)	6,300	"The Invisible Man" (U.) (2nd week-3 days)	3,000	High 6-3 "The Little Giant"	10,000
							Low 7-14 "I Love That Man"	4,500
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"Footlight Daughters" (MGM) (2nd week)	6,000	"Footlight Daughters" (MGM) (1st week)	6,000	High 1-21 "Frisco Jenny"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "What! No Beer?"	3,500
Music Box	3,000	25c-40c	"Little Women" (Radio) (3rd week)	4,000	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week)	10,000	High 12-9 "Little Women"	14,000
							Low 5-13 "No More Orchids"	1,600
Oriental	2,040	25c-35c	"Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men" (Radio) and "Ace of Aces" (Radio)	3,000	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.) and "Chance at Heaven" (Radio)	2,000	High 10-14 "Rafter Romance"	14,000
							Low 11-18 "College Coach"	1,600
Paramount	3,008	25c-40c	"My Lips Betray" (Fox) and "Tillie and Gus" (Para.)	4,000	"Take a Chance" (Para.) and "Hoopla" (Fox)	6,000	.....
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"Should Ladies Behave?" (MGM)	4,000	"Advice to the Lovelorn" (U.A.)	5,000	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Madame Butterfly"	1,600
San Francisco
Columbia	1,200	50c-$1.50	"Cradle Song" (Para.) (3rd week)	4,000	"Cradle Song" (Para.) (2nd week)	6,000	.....
Fox	4,600	10c-35c	"In the Money" (Far Western) and "What Price Decency?" (Far Western)	9,000	"Sixteen Fathoms Under" (Monogram) and "Bitter Sweet" (U. A.)	11,700	High 4-8 "Should a Woman Tell?" and "Speed Demon"	15,500
							Low 9-9 "Important Witness" and "Sensation Hunters"	7,000
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-40c	"Little Women" (Radio) (3rd week)	10,500	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week)	13,800	High 2-11 "The Mummy"	25,500
Orpheum	3,000	15c-40c	"Day of Reckoning" (MGM) and "Havana Widows" (F. N.)	4,000	"Take a Chance" (Para.) and "I Was a Spy" (Fox)	8,000	Low 10-21 "My Woman"	8,000
							.....
Paramount	2,670	15c-55c	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.)	7,000	"The World Changes" (F. N.)	11,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	40,000
							Low 12-23 "Sitting Pretty"	7,000
United Artists	1,200	25c-50c	"Thunder Over Mexico" (S.R.)	8,500	"Advice to the Lovelorn" (U.A.) (2nd week)	4,500	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain"	16,000
							Low 8-26 "The Wrecker"	4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-90c	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	14,000	"Female" (W. B.)	16,000	High 11-25 "Hoopla"	26,000
							Low 5-27 "Story of Temple Drake"	10,000
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-50c	"Little Women" (Radio) (3rd week)	3,500	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week)	6,000	High 12-9 "Little Women"	8,500
							Low 8-19 "The Rebel"	2,500
Fifth Avenue	2,750	25c-55c	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.)	5,750	"Christopher Bean" (MGM)	6,500	High 8-5 "Tugboat Annie"	19,250
							Low 3-18 "From Hell to Heaven" and "Secret of Madame Blanche"	5,000
Liberty	2,000	10c-25c	"East of Fifth Avenue" (Col.) and "Thrill Hunter" (Col.)	3,500	"S.O.S. Iceberg" (U.) and "Fighting Parson" (Allied)	3,750	High 7-29 "What Price Innocence?"	5,500
							Low 6-24 "Uptown New York"	3,000
Music Box	950	25c-50c	"If I Were Free" (Radio)	3,250	"Only Yesterday" (U.) (2nd week)	4,000	High 11-11 "Footlight Parade"	8,000
							Low 12-23 "If I Were Free"	3,250
Orpheum	2,500	25c-50c	"Day of Reckoning" (MGM) and "White Woman" (Para.)	5,500	"Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men" (Radio) and "The Mad Game" (Fox)	5,000	.....
Paramount	3,050	25c-50c	"As Husbands Go" (Fox) (6 days)	4,500	"Jimmy and Sally" (Fox) (25c-55c)	6,500	High 1-7 "A Farewell to Arms"	9,500
							Low 9-23 "F. P. 1" and "Aniakchak"	4,000
Roxy	2,275	25c-50c	"Chance at Heaven" (Radio) (5 days)	3,500	"The Good Companions" (Fox) (4 days)	2,250	High 10-28 "Ladies Must Love"	14,000
					"Myrt and Marge" (U.) and "Broken Dreams" (Monogram) (3 days)	2,500	Low 12-9 "A Man's Castle"	4,000

J. C. Jenkins--His Colyum

Neligh, Nebraska

DEAR HERALD:

In A-Mike Vogel's "Round Table" department of the HERALD we note that our old college chum, Fred Hines of the Strand theatre at Whitewater, Wisconsin, takes a wallop at us in this fashion. "There is hardly a week goes by that my good old friend, Jenkins, does not ride sex pictures in his colyum. Jaysee seems to forget the fact that they are the ones that get the money." Yep, Freddie, we do, and every time we eat limburger cheese we put a clothes-pin on our nose.

Fred also says he is opposed to the use of the "circus ballyhoo" in exploiting pictures, but he goes on to say, "From every exchange I select the matrices that show the most girls with the fewest clothes."

Excuse us, Fred, if we snicker a little at that statement. Somehow it tickled our funny bone. When we were having a delightful visit with you last summer you will recall that you told us that in your county there were sixty roadhouses and that thirty of them claimed that they would have to close. Might we inquire why? Could it be that the lack of public patronage was responsible?

Good luck Fred, old boy, we are for you 100 per cent and we thank you for the many courtesies shown us last summer, but be careful and don't get any matrices showing girls without any clothes at all. Dignified advertising, together with good product, is what has built the automobile industry to what it is today.

▽

A farmer out here in our county shipped a 580 pound hog to the Chicago market, and after the commission firm had deducted the freight, commission, yardage, feed, water, et cetera, they remitted him a check for thirty-eight cents, being the balance due him. This transaction would hardly be sufficient inducement for that farmer to jump out of bed and run a mile through the snow barefooted to join the NRA parade. Some people there are who claim that the farmers get all the breaks. That's true, and that's why they are all broke. Pork chops are still five cents apiece, and eight pork chops would pay for that farmer's 580-pound hog and have two cents left to buy liver. At the rate that farmer got for his 580-pound hog it would take 10,000 hogs to pay some producer's salary for one month, and that's too much hog.

▽

We note in a fan magazine short reviews of 55 pictures rated from "Excellent" to "Marvelous and Superb." We are glad to note that they are making all good ones nowadays.

▽

From away down in Del Rio, Texas, comes a letter from P. J. Poag, manager for the R. & R. theatres in that town. Del Rio is located on the banks of the Rio Grande and it's just across the river from old Mexico where the boys go to get lickered up and sing "Sweet Adeline." P. J. used to be a Nebraskan. He operated theatres at Gordon, Merriman, Hay Springs and Ainsworth, and he played the "rag operas" that went up and down the line between Omaha, Neligh and the Black Hills. We knew him in those days but we had lost all track of him until we received his letter. He tells us that fishing is fine down there but we can't imagine what kind of fish they have down there on those cactus plains. He says he is madder than H because we never come to see him. Well, that's his own fault for not letting us know where he was. A lotta boys have lost out for that same reason.

▽

A speaker on the radio the other night said that jazz music and crooning was the highest type entertainment of today. Oh yeah. That guy ought to go down to the Zoo at least three times a week and feed his relatives cocoanuts.

J. C. JENKINS
The Herald's Vagabond Colyumnist

GET 'EM THERE Quickly and Safely by
RAILWAY EXPRESS

Films and theatre equipment of all kinds are best transported by Railway Express. This service offers you — whether you are the shipper or the receiver — many features that are not found in any other method of shipping.

Though Railway Express moves at passenger train speed, there is no limit to the size of the shipment. Any object that can be carried in an express car can be shipped by Railway Express. Rates include $50 liability on all packages, and additional liability costs but a little. Absolute safety and careful handling during transit are assured by the experienced employees of the Railway Express, and our system of giving and taking a receipt guarantees delivery. Railway Express Lot shipment plan offers exceptional savings in shipping costs.

Railway Express covers the entire United States, operating over 213,000 miles of railways, using 9,000 trucks and employing an army of more than 50,000 skilled people. The reputation of Railway Express for safe shipment of all kinds of merchandise is unsurpassed anywhere in the world.

Your local Railway Express agent will gladly give you complete information and rates.

SERVING THE NATION
FOR 94 YEARS

RAILWAY EXPRESS AGENCY

NATION-WIDE SERVICE

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

In this, the exhibitor's own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me
MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

Allied

OFFICER 13: Monte Blue, Lila Lee—Used "The Man from Monterey," another feature, and a cartoon and done good business both days. Running time, 67 minutes. Played Dec. 8-9.—Louis Peretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

Columbia

KING OF THE WILD HORSES: William Janney, Dorothy Appleby—A very good western. They talked to us about color, but we did not see any. Just a good out of the ordinary western.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: Warren William, May Robson—Splendid production. A class "A" picture built for mass entertainment and it succeeds remarkably. Not the biggest box office hit of the decade, but a better than average grosser. Played Oct. 1-2-3.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: May Robson, Warren William—We've had lots of bigger grosses on many, many pictures, but I personally, and all those who came to see this one, were unanimous in high praise for "Lady For A Day" as the leading piece of real entertainment this year. Also in expressing my own opinion, and I don't often do that in reports, it is the best piece of direction on a good story, perfectly cast, that the talking screen has seen. Every one in the picture did the best work of his or her career. Running time, ten reels. Played Nov. 26.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

MAN'S CASTLE, A: Loretta Young, Spencer Tracy—Played this one right off the bat, first showing in this state. It is a great picture for any town, anywhere, anytime. Running time, 78 minutes. Played November 30.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

MAN'S CASTLE, A: Loretta Young, Spencer Tracy—An excellent picture that did not do any business. Cold weather may have affected it. Those that saw it liked it.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

MASTER OF MEN: Jack Holt, Fay Wray—Good little picture for Saturday crowd Played Dec. 12-13.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

MY WOMAN: Helen Twelvetrees—A program picture that seemed to please pretty well. Running time, 73 minutes. Played Dec. 8-9.—Hobart H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D.—Small town patronage.

POLICE CAR 17: Tim McCoy—Entertaining little program picture, of which there are many just like it from the best producer of good, consistent program pictures in the business. Shake hands with Columbia. They are fair, square and they make good pictures. Nuff sed. Played November 10-11.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

THAT'S MY BOY: Richard Cromwell—A very good football picture, but no draw at the box office. Print only in fair condition. Played Dec. 13.—Marion F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

THRILL HUNTER, THE: Buck Jones—Good action and plenty of comedy, but a disappointment to the real dyed-in-the-wool Western fans, of which there are still plenty, as strange as that may seem to some Hollywood producers. They want Western stars in Western pictures, and as such this one simply is not in the running. Played October 13-14.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

UNKNOWN VALLEY: Buck Jones—Pleased our audience so well that they forgot that it wasn't a real "cowboy" picture. Some requested its return. Running time, 69 minutes. Played Dec. 8-9—Mrs. George Thomsen, Garden Theatre, Arthur, Ill. Small town patronage.

First National

BUREAU OF MISSING PERSONS: Bette Davis, Lewis Stone—A very good picture cleverly handled. Kind of trying on Lewis Stone. However, I believe he was on his feet only once during the entire show. Pat O'Brien is responsible for this picture being a show. Played Dec. 5-6-7.—Claud Thorp, Gem Theatre, Ryan, Okla. General patronage.

CABIN IN THE COTTON: Richard Barthelmess—An excellent picture. Drew people that hadn't been in the habit of coming. Played Dec. 9-10.—Marion F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

ELMER THE GREAT: Joe E. Brown—A very good comedy-drama. Joe E. Brown very good in this one. Was disappointed at the box office. Only did ordinary business.—Marion F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

GOODBYE AGAIN: Joan Blondell, Warren William—Too much talk. Did a nose dive with us. Played December 6.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

GOODBYE AGAIN: Warren William, Joan Blondell—This picture has good stars, but is silly. If you play it double feature it. Running time, 66 minutes. Played Dec. 13-14.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

I LOVED A WOMAN: Edward G. Robinson—If the Spanish war veterans knew what this picture was about they would boost it to the sky. Let them know about it and feel assured that this picture will back up any promises you can make.—T. A. Woolson, Liberty Theatre, Washougal, Wash. Small town patronage.

I LOVED A WOMAN: Kay Francis, Edward G. Robinson—One of the best pictures I ever seen. Acting perfect. Story great. Satisfaction to all we got to see it. Business terrible but if any of the pictures are specials this one certainly is in that class for entertainment. Played Dec. 14.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD: Frankie Darro—A deeply appealing picture that drew the best Family Night house we have had in a long time. Worthy of extra advertising and it will make good your promises. While it is good juvenile entertainment, go after the adults. It will make them think long after they leave the theatre. Running time, 75 minutes. Played December 12—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Rural patronage.

WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD: Frankie Darro, Dorothy Coonan—A very good picture, possibly the truest and most appealing picture ever made pertaining to the lives of young boys. Pleased all. Played Dec. 8-9.—Claud Thorp, Gem Theatre, Ryan, Okla. General patronage.

Fox

ARIZONA TO BROADWAY: Joan Bennett, James Dunn—Good entertainment. Good comedy relief by Sammy Cohen. Played December 9.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

ARIZONA TO BROADWAY: James Dunn, Joan Bennett—This picture was well liked by those who saw it. Poor business. Broke my Saturday's record. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Nov. 25—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

ARIZONA TO BROADWAY: James Dunn, Joan Bennett—The actors worked hard to make an entertainment out of this, but it was a failure. Very poor satisfaction. Good talent wasted. Just a picture. Played Dec. 7-8.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

BERKELEY SQUARE: Leslie Howard, Heather Angel—Entire English cast. Some you can't understand. A very peculiar picture. Mr. Howard is exceptionally good. If one goes to the show to see good acting, this may please. Personally I enjoyed it for a change. Comments from patrons going out, "Nuttiest thing I ever saw." Several left before it was over. Don't play over one day. Played Dec. 14-15.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

BEST OF ENEMIES: Charles Rogers, Marian Nixon—Good show. Audience very well pleased. Beer from start to finish. They finally swim in it. Business extra good. Played Dec. 7.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

BEST OF ENEMIES: Charles Rogers, Marian Nixon—Just another picture. Did not draw for me. It will do with another picture. Running time, 71 minutes. Played Dec. 11-12.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

CHARLIE CHAN'S GREATEST CASE: Warner Oland—Played to better than ordinary Friday-Saturday business. Will entertain both children and grown-ups. Not the best Chan picture, but nevertheless good. Title excellent and should do good subsequent run business. Played November 3-4.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

DOCTOR BULL: Will Rogers, Marion Nixon—Just hang Will Rogers' name into the marquee—good business and well pleased customers are the results. Not up to "State Fair," but good enough to please all who attend. Running time, 75 minutes Played December 11-12. —J. W. Gunter, Royal Theatre, Blackshear, Ga. Small town patronage.

DOCTOR BULL: Will Rogers, Vera Allen, Marian Nixon—This is a far shot from "State Fair" as far as business is concerned. Where "State Fair" built up the succeeding days, this did not, but Rogers has a following and the picture is good with a new actress to us, Vera Allen, who was outstanding as the widow that Rogers was strong for. She is plenty good in this role. We got a bad break in weather, icy roads and storm, that may account for some of the lost business.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

DOCTOR BULL: Will Rogers—Excellent Will Rogers production, and should do very good business wherever Will Rogers is popular. Supporting cast good with exception of Andy Devine, who is excess baggage throughout the picture. Played October 29-30-31.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

DOCTOR BULL: Will Rogers—This picture went over big with me. Everybody pleased and asking when the next Rogers film was coming. A good picture to big business. Running time, 76 minutes. Played Nov. 22.—A. H. Edward, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

HELLO SISTER: James Dunn, Boots Mallory—Poorest picture I have ever shown A few more like it will lose both Fox and the unfortunate exhibitor all their friends. A picture that should never have been made. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Oct. 15-16-17.—Mrs. George Thomsen, Garden Theatre, Arthur, Ill. Small town patronage.

IT'S GREAT TO BE ALIVE: Edna May Oliver—Good musical comedy, with a singing star who has a decided foreign accent, but a pleasing voice however. Has some good comedy angles too which help to put it over. Fair business. Running time, 68 minutes. Played December 4-5.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

LIFE IN THE RAW: George O'Brien—My audience likes westerns. This is better than the average. Running time, 62 minutes. Played Nov. 17-18.—Mrs. George Thomsen, Garden Theatre, Arthur, Ill. Small town patronage.

MAN WHO DARED, THE: Preston Foster, Zita Johann—Lowest gross since July. However, the few who saw the picture were pleased. Preston Foster drew favorable comment. Running time, 71 minutes. Played December 6-7.—J. W. Gunter, Royal Theatre, Blackshear, Ga. Small town patronage.

MY WEAKNESS: Lilian Harvey, Lew Ayres—My patrons enjoyed this breezy comedy very much. Lilian Harvey is charming. Her English accent is not so pronounced as some of our own American stars, who have acquired theirs. Average business Running time, 70 minutes. Played December 15-16.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texas. Rural patronage.

MY WEAKNESS: Lilian Harvey—America's Weakness! A glamorous new star. The cutest thing in pictures in a rapturous, spicy romance set to lively music. fascinating! Played Dec. 10-11.—Horn & Morgan, Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Neb. Small town patronage.

PADDY THE NEXT BEST THING: Janet Gaynor, Warner Baxter—Fine for any theatre, large town or small. If your town is strong for Gaynor, you should clean up, as this is absolutely her best picture since "Seventh Heaven" and "Daddy Long Legs." It makes "Adorable" look like a sick calf. Played October 15-16-17.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage

PILGRIMAGE: Henrietta Crosman—More than ordinary entertainment. Here is a picture that combines hearty laughs with intense moments of emotion and suspense. It is not a special the title will go against anything other than mediocre business, nevertheless it is a picture you can get behind and recommend, for it will please the majority of patrons. Played October 4-5.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General.

PLEASURE CRUISE: Genevieve Tobin, Charles Ruggles—Pleased some. A good deal of criticism. The people do not want smutty pictures. They like some in spite of the smut; they do not like any because of it. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Nov. 1.—Mrs. George Thomsen, Garden Theatre, Arthur, Ill. Small town patronage.

POWER AND THE GLORY, THE: Spencer Tracy, Colleen Moore—66 2-3 of our patronage said "wonderful," another 25%, "swell," with only a minority stating their objections to this new type of story telling, narratage. Yet, the film hit our lowest "low" in four months, with extra advertising used in an effort to bring them in. It is decidedly not a picture that will do any other than ordinary business in the hinterlands. Played November 19-20-21.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General Patronage.

POWER AND THE GLORY, THE: Spencer Tracy, Colleen Moore—This is a splendid production; powerful, human! Showed it on a holiday and the attendance was encouraging. Pleased in general. Running time, 76 minutes. Played Nov. 30.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

SHANGHAI MADNESS: Spencer Tracy, Fay Wray—A splendid program picture. One of the best we have had lately. All that seen it mentioned it as a good show, and that is rarely done on the crop of pictures we are playing nowadays. Played Dec 12-13.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

WORST WOMAN IN PARIS?: Benita Hume, Adolphe Menjou—Nothing was said against this picture. Ran it the night before a holiday and that kills any picture. Menjou is no drawing card for me. I think he is an accomplished actor, but that does not draw the crowd. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Nov. 29.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

M-G-M

ANOTHER LANGUAGE: Robert Montgomery, Helen Hayes—This is one picture in which the producer neglected to insert the usual amount of booze drinking and cigaret smoking. Great show. Business good. Played Nov. 12-13.—E. H Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

BEAUTY FOR SALE: Otto Kruger, Madge Evans—This is a very good program picture. Gave good satisfaction here.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenvile, Mich. Town and country patronage.

BOMBSHELL: Jean Harlow, Lee Tracy—For some reason or other the attendance was extremely disappointing. I did a good business when I played Harlow and Gable in "Hold Your Man"—that't it; now I have it; Lee Tracy is the mouse. Harlow and Gable a wow! Harlow and Tracy a flop! I considered "Bombshell" a very nice picture; I liked it a lot. I heard no adverse criticisms from the several who saw it. I am itching to tell you my receipts but if I did you would be positive that I get my film for nothing. I am sorry, Harlow, but I am honor bound to tell what the picture did for me, so my only advice to you is, get yourself another partner if you want my town to turn out in full. Played Dec. 9.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

CHIEF, THE: Ed Wynn—A lot of nonsense unworthy of a figure of Ed Wynn's reputation and ability. Metro should be ashamed to put out a bum picture like this, and play it up as big and outstanding. Running time, 66 minutes. Played Dec. 5-6.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

CHIEF, THE: Ed Wynn—Will get by as a Saturday picture. Played Dec. 9.—D. E Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

DANCING LADY: Joan Crawford—This one makes up for lots of Metro's late clucks. It sure is one mighty sweet production. Crawford right back to her good oldtime form. Gable, Tone, Healy and all finely cast. Director Robert Z. Leonard did one swell job. Story of the usual formula for musical type, but acting superb. Music great with wondrous scenes throughout. A year ago this would have broken b. o. records. As it is, it's a honey and should go over big everywhere. Running time, 93 minutes. Played December 10-11.—Joe Hewitt, Lincoln Theatre, Robinson, Ill. General patronage.

DANCING LADY: Joan Crawford, Clark Gable—Very good. The best that this pair have done, and Gable is cast right in this one. He is not the great lover and that is a break for him. Very spectacular in the last reel are the dance scenes.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

DAY OF RECKONING: Richard Dix, Madge Evans—Why Metro borrowed Dix for this picture is beyond me. Just another waste of film and exhibitor's playing time. Played December 10.—Joe Hewitt, Lincoln Theatre, Robinson, Ill. General patronage.

HELL BELOW: Robert Montgomery—Once again Metro comes through with a real action picture, the kind people like. Excellent scenes from the United States Navy, and a picture that will build. Kids and men will eat it up and so will most of the ladies.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Mining country patronage.

LOOKING FORWARD: Lionel Barrymore—Great show, wonderful acting. Barrymore at his best. English dialogue does not record well. Business poor. Played Sept. 16-17.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

MADE ON BROADWAY: Robert Montgomery, Sally Eilers—This is real good entertainment and appeals to all classes of patrons if they like Montgomery and Sally Eilers. This is O. K. You can't go wrong. Average business. Running time, 68 minutes. Played December 6-7.—Wm. A Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

MEN MUST FIGHT: Phillips Holmes, Diana Wynyard—A splendid story and a great cast but a little too melodramatic to suit the best part of the audience. However it is good entertainment and interesting. Fair business only. Running time, 70 minutes. Played December 4-5.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

MIDNIGHT MARY: Loretta Young, Ricardo Cortez—Very entertaining picture. Not for children—too much drinking and smoking. Business very good. Played Dec. 9—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

NIGHT FLIGHT: Lionel Barrymore, John Barrymore, Clark Gable—Wonderful picture that did not draw at the box office after the first show. It died and was one of our worst flops. Some called it the best they have seen, but the majority knocked the picture as they went out. Too many big stars and the people expected too much of them. Flying pictures will not draw. I called it great. Played Dec. 10-11.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

PENTHOUSE: Warner Baxter, Myrna Loy—This one pleased all patrons. I also think it is a fine show. Business somewhat below average but this is due to the holiday season being near at hand. Very little of the Christmas funds finds its way into the theatre. If I get pictures of the caliber of "Penthouse" I can find no fault. Had I played this picture at another time of the year, my business would have been above average. Patrons were loud with their praise. Played Dec 13.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

SITTING PRETTY: Jack Oakie, Ginger Rogers—A fine musical show. The prettiest music all told in any musical to date. Everyone liked it.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

SOLITAIRE MAN: Herbert Marshall, Elizabeth Allen—A very good picture as a program picture. Good story and a great cast. Good entertainment, and gave satisfaction to all we got in to see it. No drawing power, but will please if you can get them in.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

STAGE MOTHER: Alice Brady, Maureen O'Sullivan—I must say a kind word for this picture because it drew about the average business and the patrons made pleasing remarks about it. In these trying times, we must be satisfied with such results and give credit to the picture. Played Dec. 6.—A. H. Edward, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa Small town and rural patronage.

STRANGER'S RETURN, THE: Lionel Barrymore—Good show for any theatre. Would like to know if tobacco companies furnish cigart gratis for stars to advertise their brand of cigart. Drew above average. Played Oct. 9-10.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

STRANGER'S RETURN, THE: Lionel Barrymore—This is a worthwhile production. It pleased all who saw it. Did not break any records but was well received. Average business. Played Nov. 20.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

STRANGER'S RETURN, THE: Lionel Barrymore—Once again Barrymore comes through with a great picture. It is a story of a wheat farmer, and there is wonderful acting on the part of the entire cast. I would class this one as a super-special. My audience in North Dakota ate it up.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Mining country patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery—A box office natural. Spread yourself on this one. Plaster the town well ahead then sit back and watch them roll in and you'll make money, even at the high rental figure. Almost record business with it. Running time, 87 minutes. Played December 1-2.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

TURN BACK THE CLOCK: Lee Tracy—What a flop!—and then another flop! I was thrilled when I read that Lee was lost, because that would stop my losses. I like him but then again how can I like anybody who ruins my box office? Answer that one! Played Dec 2.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

TURN BACK THE CLOCK: Lee Tracy—Clever comedy. Tracy at his best. Played Dec. 6-7.—Horn & Morgan, Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Neb. Small town patronage.

WHEN LADIES MEET: Robert Montgomery, Alice Brady—One of the best for better class patronage. Business good. Played Oct. 28-29.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

Paramount

COLLEGE HUMOR: Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie—A picture which pleased all classes. We were not able to seat the people. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Dec. 1-2—Mrs. George Thomsen, Garden Theatre, Arthur, Ill. Small town patronage.

COLLEGE HUMOR: Bing Crosby—Played a little old to to only fair business, due to heavy rain opening night. Can only rate it a little above the average program class insofar as this town is concerned, although an entertaining little picture. Played October 20-21.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST: Richard Arlen, Chester Morris—A splendid small town picture that we booked especially for Thanksgiving, and we were glad of it. A well told, down to earth story that cannot help but please. Mr. Charles E. Rogers has proven himself a producer of pictures that have that little something called "entertainment" and that is what pictures and theatres are for. Running time, seven reels. Played Nov. 29.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

HELL AND HIGH WATER: Richard Arlen, Judith Allen—We played this on Saturday night and they liked it Good comedy and action.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

HELL AND HIGH WATER: Richard Arlen, Judith Allen—A weak sister from any angle not worth running. Paramount slipped on this one and that's bad. Did not do business and didn't deserve it so that's even.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

I LOVE THAT MAN: Edmund Lowe, Nancy Carroll—Lowe was clever and Nancy wasn't so hard to take. Played Dec. 8-9.—Horn & Morgan, Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Neb. Small town patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West—Crude and low comedy with Mae West 100 per cent for acting and character work. A picture that did not build up or gain by word of mouth advertising. Do all your business on the first day. Not fit for young folks. One of this kind in a year is plenty. Running time, 88 minutes. Played Dec. 10-12.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West, Cary Grant—Personally liked it better than "She Done Him Wrong." Some did not like it as well. A good many said they had heard so much about Mae West they came out of curiosity. They are now speculating how long Mae will last. Some say two more pictures, others three. This should make you some money if you do not have to give it all to Paramount. Played Dec. 10-11—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West—Mae asks us all to "Come up and see me some time" and they do. This will do business everywhere, and anywhere. We need to comment on the merits or demerits. Mae West is not in the business with those things in mind. Some like her, some don't, but they come to see on both counts. So why worry as long as the Westian vogue is on? Running time, nine reels. Played Dec. 5-7.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

MAMA LOVES PAPA: Charles Ruggles—A good comedy-drama that should have filled the house, but did not. Pleased those who saw it. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Nov. 26-27-28.—Mrs. George Thomsen, Garden Theatre, Arthur, Ill. Small town patronage.

MAN OF THE FOREST: Randolph Scott, Verna Hillie—Above the average western. Good recording, well cast. Customers well pleased and played to good business. Running time, 60 minutes. Played December 8-9.—J. W. Gunter, Royal Theatre, Blackshear, Ga. Small town patronage.

SONG OF SONGS: Marlene Dietrich—Art for art's sake should be kept in the Little Theatre and not fostered on the movie-going public. Fair business, many adverse comments, but very few walkouts. Not a special. Did not hold up second and third days. Played November 5-6-7.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

TAKE A CHANCE: James Dunn—A musical that starts nowhere and ends the same place. Low, vulgar and suggestive with entertainment value 100 per cent minus. Running time, 88 minutes. Played Dec. 8-9—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert—Rate this as the best program picture from Paramount this season. Step on the gas and watch them come in and go out thoroughly satisfied. Will rate extra advertising. Played November 15-16.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

TO THE LAST MAN: Randolph Scott—An excellent western melodrama. Sound extra good. Brought in a few extra customers. Played Nov. 22-23.—Marion F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

UNDER THE TONTO RIM: Stuart Erwin—Zane Grey pictures bring the people. I had them standing outside waiting for the second show. Running time, 59 minutes. Played Nov. 24-25.—Mrs. George Thomsen, Garden Theatre, Arthur, Ill. Small town patronage.

RKO

ANN VICKERS: Irene Dunne, Walter Huston—A very good picture for any angle. Dunne has the best role since "Cimarron." There are two rather gruesome scenes in the prison, a hangman's noose, but these are short and bring out the point that was necessary to the story. Huston also was very good in his role as always. A lot better than some that RKO turned out last year.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind General patronage.

ANN VICKERS: Irene Dunne—A mighty fine show, but somehow did very little at the box office. Running time, 72 minutes.—Robert Schwall, State Theatre, Ipswich, S. D. Small town patronage.

ANN VICKERS: Irene Dunne—This is a wonderful show for an adult audience. Irene Dunne a great actress and rises to great heights in this one. This is a sexy picture of prison reform and will build patronage. Play it at least three nights and watch receipts jump.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D Mining country patronage.

BLIND ADVENTURE: Robert Armstrong, Helen Mack—Clever mystery in a London fog that is amusing. Running time, 63 minutes. Played Nov. 28-29.—Hobart H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

BLIND ADVENTURE: Robert Armstrong, Helen Mack—Blind is right; the producer who made it was blind; the exhibitor who bought it was blind and those who saw it must have been blind because they did not know what it was all about. Running time, 62 minutes. Played Dec. 8.—A. H. Edward, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

CHANCE AT HEAVEN: Joel McCrea, Marian Nixon—You have heard of and often longed for one of those nice little program pictures that the masses like and one where you can stand at the door as the crowd passes out and wait for compliments. Well, here it is. An interesting and entertaining story of a small town gas station operator and his love affairs with the small town girl and the city girl. Play this one and boost it.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Mining country patronage.

DELUGE, THE: Peggy Shannon—A very realistic presentation of tidal waves, storms and thrills done through expert photography that out-does "King Kong" by a wide margin. However, the story is disappointing and the ending unhappy. Average business. Running time, 60 minutes. Played December 13-14—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Rural patronage.

DELUGE, THE: Peggy Shannon, Lois Wilson—Drew fair business and sustained the interest. My criticism is that the climax comes during the first few reels and might seem slow to some after that. Running time, 67 minutes. Played Nov. 24-25.—Hobart H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

DIPLOMANIACS: Wheeler and Woolsey—Played this one rather late, as we heard many adverse reports. This picture is okay and a typical Wheeler and Woolsey feature. What we can't understand is why exhibitors write their reports on good pictures like this and base their reports on box office. We find lots of pictures we boost to the skies are not half as good as those we are afraid of, on account of some exhibitors not reporting according to the picture's merits instead of the box office.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Mining country patronage.

DOUBLE HARNESS: Ann Harding, William Powell—Lots of adverse criticism and no business. Running time, 74 minutes. Played Nov. 12-13-14.—Hobart H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

HEADLINE SHOOTER: William Gargan, Frances Dee—Good Saturday picture. Plenty of action. Played December 2.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

HEADLINE SHOOTER: William Gargan, Frances Dee—A very fine action picture for family night.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

MELODY CRUISE: Phil Harris, Charles Ruggles—A great picture that was was wasted. Sent in answer to emergency telegram. People were disappointed because they did not know it was to be shown. Should be repeated. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Nov. 22.—Mrs. George Thomsen, Garden Theatre, Arthur, Ill. Small town patronage.

MIDSHIPMAN JACK: Bruce Cabot, Betty Furness—Did not see this picture, but comment and business was fair. Running time, 71 minutes. Played Nov. 17-18.—Hobart H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

MORNING GLORY: Katharine Hepburn, Adolphe Menjou—Any picture with Katharine Hepburn in it is always a flop here and if I use her name in the advertising I can't get enough people in to cover the power bill. Nothing in it to interest the average theatregoer. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Nov. 26-27—Hobart H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

NO MARRIAGE TIES: Richard Dix—Bad—worse—worst—and then some! Played Nov. 27.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore—This is truly one of Radio's best. A swell picture if you can get them in to see it. Running time, 72 minutes—Robert Schwall, State Theatre, Ipswich, S. D. Small town patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore—Splendid picture for any situation. Barrymore finally gets a picture that gives him opportunities. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Nov. 19-20-21.—Hobart H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore—Had more favorable comments on this picture than many for months. It's just the type of story for the ordinary run of folks. Not a super-special, but a picture that will please any day in the week. By all means play it.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Mining country patronage.

RAFTER ROMANCE: Ginger Rogers—Just before the holidays we must expect poor business. I had an empty house except for a dog or two that strayed into the theatre unknowingly. It seemed I was the only one who saw the picture but I will say that I often saw poorer pictures than this one. It interested me, so that is "what the picture did for me." Running time, 75 minutes. Played Dec. 9.—A. H. Dedwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

RIGHT TO ROMANCE, THE: Ann Harding—This one went over big with the women. Couldn't help but marvel at the elaborate settings. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Dec. 16-17.—Robert Schwall, State Theatre, Ipswich, S. D. Small town patronage.

SWEEPINGS: Lionel Barrymore—A good picture. Pleased all who saw it. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Oct. 23-24-25.—Mrs. George Thomsen, Garden Theatre, Arthur, Ill. Small town patronage.

State Rights

FANTEGUTTEN: Norwegian Cast—This picture obtained from Elliott Film Company, Mineapolis, Minnesota. Here is the first all song and dance strictly Norwegian feature we have ever played. All Norwegian dialogue. Norwegians will come for miles around and talk about it for months. What we would like to know is where we can get more like it.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Mining country patronage.

ROLL OF REPORTERS CONTINUES TO GROW

From Wisconsin, Oklahoma and Michigan come new reporters to "What the Picture Did for Me" this week. Read the picture comment in this issue from E. H. Malone, Community theatre, Hammond, Wis., Claud Thorp of the Gem at Ryan, Okla., and H. C. Monroe of the Hollywood, at Buchanan, Mich.

By the way, Monroe sets something of a new record. Remember last week we commented on the fact that M. P. Foster of the Granada at Monte Vista, Colorado, celebrated his initiation into the circle of commentators of the department by sending in reports on 20 pictures? Well, Monroe goes him one better, or should we say four better. Twenty-four reports from Monroe.

United Artists

BITTER SWEET: Anna Neagle—As sour as could possibly be shown on an American screen where real folks who enjoy down-to-earth entertainment must be entertained. Liberty gave it four stars. If that means anything to your potential audience, don't advertise the fact to them as we did. Liberty's four star pictures will mean nothing in your advertising in future if you do. Played November 1-2.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

BITTER SWEET: Fernand Graavey—Good acting and probably a sweet love story, but when nearly fifty per cent of your crowd walk out you can't really enjoy it. Too foreign for any small town. This picture gave more dissatisfaction here than any picture I have ever had. Running time, 93 minutes. Played Dec. 11-12.—Hobart H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

BROADWAY THRU A KEYHOLE: Constance Cummings, Russ Columbo—Some of the musical numbers and the chorus are as good as anything we have seen but it does have its dull moments. Business below average but all who saw it were satisfied but not enthusiastic. Running time, 88 minutes. Played December 10-11.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Rural patronage.

MASQUERADER, THE: Ronald Colman—One of the best pictures of the year. Colman's voice does not record good—very hard to understand. Business fair. Played Dec. 2-3.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

MASQUERADER, THE: Ronald Colman — The money I made with "The Kid From Spain" I lost in the showing of "The Masquerader." I felt it coming to me and I was prepared to stand the shock of a great loss, but I found I could not battle the overwhelming onslaught of the stay-aways, and so down I went in a mangled heap beneath the outraged ticket booth. When the debris was finally cleaned away, they tell me I was found limp and ragged, bruised financially almost beyond recognition. Even my credit would not recognize me and in a cowardly manner ran away. My dear friends, wipe away the tears, and if it is not too late, keep away from this big, black wolf. Playing a dual part was great in the good old days of King Baggot and Bill Hart. This is one of the pictures that make the wise men exclaim, "The picture industry is still in its infancy!" Played Dec. 5.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

Universal

HER FIRST MATE: Slim Summerville, Zazu Pitts—This team seems to have some following, but not enough to gross more than ordinary business Picture only fair. Played Nov. 18-19.—Marion F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

HER FIRST MATE: Slim Summerville, Zazu Pitts—This combination will pull business as long as patrons remember the first one or two comedy hits from this comedy team, but not for long if Universal continues to dish out hackneyed stuff such as this. It got the laughs from a large Bargain Night audience, but primarily because of the team's previous efforts and the fact that the patrons considered Summerville-Pitts conducive to laughing. Should gross an excellent figure wherever shown. Played October 11-12.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

HORSEPLAY: Slim Summerville, Andy Devine—They always like Summerville. Did well in spite of a free high school play. Full of comedy. Cynthia Ann, the horse, showed plenty of good horse sense. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Dec. 13-14—Mrs. George Thomsen, Garden Theatre, Arthur, Ill.— Small town patronage.

HORSEPLAY: Slim Summerville, Leila Hyams—This is a good big comedy. Slapstick and lots of it. Very funny, well produced and it certainly pleased the natives here on a Saturday crowd.—Bert Silver. Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

INVISIBLE MAN, THE: Claude Rains, Gloria Stuart—A very fascinating picture. Well done and gets business. Get behind it and you can put it over.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

KING FOR A NIGHT: Chester Morris, Helen Twelvetrees—Pleased. A minister said, "One of the best pictures ever brought to this town." Running time, 78 minutes. Played Dec 6-7.—Mrs George Thomsen, Garden Theatre, Arthur, Ill. Small town patronage.

LADIES MUST LOVE: June Knight—Very ordinary musical entertainment that missed considerably being a hit picture. June Knight only fair, balance of cast nothing to rave over. The show has no pulling power at the box office.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

LOVE, HONOR AND OH, BABY!: Slim Summer-

ville, Zasu Pitts—This pair in their comedies are getting to be just a plain pain in the neck. Pitts has the same dumb action that she always has, and it is wearing out with the audience. Universal has a yen for this kind of pictures. They wore out the Cohens and Kellys with the same type stories and Summerville and Pitts team are on the way out as far as draw comes.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

MOONLIGHT AND PRETZELS: Leo Carrillo, Mary Brian—A fair picture, but no special. Sound only fair. Business a little better than average. Played Nov. 25-26.—Marion F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

ONLY YESTERDAY: Margaret Sullavan, John Boles—They advertise this one as "Bigger than Back Street," and it is. They boosted Miss Sullavan highly, and she deserved it. John Stahl directed "Back Street" perfectly. He did the same with this one. A perfect picture of its type, a credit to all concerned, and to the theatre that plays it. If the season of 1933-34 can find a few more to match "Lady For a Day" and "Only Yesterday" a record of advancement will be recorded that is truly worthwhile. Played Dec. 3-5.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

RUSTLER'S ROUNDUP: Tom Mix—The best western picture that we have had in weeks. Sound very good. Played Dec. 6-7.—Marion F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

RUSTLER'S ROUNDUP: Tom Mix—Farewell party to Tom Mix who was always my rent payer. Did well with this last picture of his and the western fans are sorry to see him leave pictures. Good luck to Tom! Running time, 60 minutes. Played Dec. 1.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

SATURDAY'S MILLIONS: Robert Young, Leila Hyams—Very good football story, that should be just as entertaining to those who do not care for the game as those who do. Did not do average business for some unknown reason, of which the exhibitor today has had many, try as we may to find the exact remedy for business inconsistency. Played November 17-18.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

S. O. S. ICEBERG: Rod LaRocque, Gibson Gowland—Universal spent some money on this one evidently. There is some magnificent shots of the Arctic. A fair story, not much romance, but it has some thrilling shots of icebergs exploding into the sea. I do not think that it will be a top grosser on pictures but it is highly educational in showing the immense ice barrens of Greenland. It is different and it is my opinion that if you can get them in they will like it.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

Warner

FORTY-SECOND STREET: Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler—A very good musical production. Sound excellent. Business better than average, but not near as big as expected. Played Nov. 29-30.—Marion F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

GOLD DIGGERS OF 1933: Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler—Wonderful production, but after all the larger towns around you have played it, and you have to play it 50-50, all we had left was prestige.—T. S. Woolson, Liberty Theatre, Washougal, Wash. Small town patronage.

GOLD DIGGERS OF 1933: Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler, Joan Blondell, James Cagney—The prize flop of the season insofar as money-making is concerned. It did a good business at the box office considering the number of runs in larger cities before we run it, but our books at the conclusion of the run showed minus. Played October 8-9-10.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

GOLD DIGGERS OF 1933: Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell—Just so long as Warner Brothers furnish us with pictures like this one, we will never join the picketers asking for cheaper film rental. I would rather pay $50 for a picture like this, than I would $2.50 for others that some companies make us play and that do about ten per cent as much business. I am still old fashioned enough to think that if I can spend two dollars to make five dollars, I would rather do that than spend one dollar to make 25 cents. It's just the way you look at it. Warners have a real picture here and are entitled to a fair share of the spoils. Don't cut off your nose to spite your face. Lay the dough on the line and cash in. You can't miss.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Mining country patronage.

MAN FROM MONTEREY, THE: John Wayne—Fair western picture. Better than average. Used "Officer 13," another feature, and a cartoon and done good business both days. Running time, 57 minutes. Played Dec. 8-9.—Louis Peretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

MAYOR OF HELL, THE: James Cagney—Did not register at the box office for some unknown reason, but not the fault of the picture. It is a fine picture and right in Cagney's language. Played October 18-19.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

SILK EXPRESS: Neil Hamilton—Fast moving picture, but not strong enough for single picture. Double this one. Running time, 61 minutes. Played Dec. 4-5.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

Shorts

Columbia

ROAMIN' THROUGH THE ROSES: Art Jarrett—A very pleasant musical short. Producer just a bit wrong on the young lady selected, but it made very nice contrasting short with "Lady For a Day." A bad short would soon have been forgotten with that picture. Running time, two reels.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

SCRAPPY CARTOONS: Haven't had a bad one yet. Just as good as lots of others that cost you more, probably.—Hobart H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

Educational

BLUE BLACKBIRDS: Moran and Mack—Good comedy anytime when you need a two-reel short. A good many laughs. Running time, two reels.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

FARMERS' FATAL FOLLY: Moran and Mack—This pair will get laughs from everyone, particularly the kids. Would rate as first class comedy.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

MGM

BALI: FitzPatrick Traveltalks—Not so good. My patrons do not like traveltalks. Running time, ten minutes.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

DIRTY WORK: Laurel and Hardy—The best Laurel and Hardy to date. Had our house in an uproar all the time. A few more like this will put this pair on top again.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

GIRL GRIEF: Charley Chase—Good comedy.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

NOW WE'LL TELL ONE: Charley Chase—A pretty fair comedy that contains some good gags. Not the best, but good, nevertheless. Running time, 19 minutes.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

RHAPSODY IN BREW: Colortone Musical Revues—A slapstick comedy with no color. Sold as a Colortone Revue. Okay for what it is.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

SNEAK EASILY: Pitts and Todd—Below average comedy.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

WILD POSES: Our Gang—Poorest Our Gang in a long time. Outside of Spanky, the gang had very little to do. Several grownups in this one could hardly be called an Our Gang Comedy.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

THEIR FIRST MISTAKE: Laurel and Hardy—Best comedy by this team in a long time.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

Paramount

BUNDLE OF BLUES, A: Headliners—Excellent musical, and my audience certainly likes musicals. Running time, ten minutes.—Hobart H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

CAPTAIN HENRY'S RADIO SHOW: Headliners—Just a dandy single reel of entertainment. Exceptionally good. Running time, one reel.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

CAPTAIN HENRY'S RADIO SHOW: Headliners—Enjoyed immensely by radio fans. Only fair entertainment.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

CAPTAIN HENRY'S RADIO SHOW: Headliners—Perhaps the entertainers are not all movie actors as some exhibitor recently complained, but the music and singing is all so fine that you never think of that. Some people watched it three times and enjoyed it. Running time, 11 minutes.—Hobart H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

PARAMOUNT PICTORIALS: All Pictorials are mighty good to our way of thinking, and by "our," I mean our audience. But number one of the new series is extraordinarily fine one-reel production value. An interesting style show, gorgeous bit of color work on Rock Gardens, then three Negro jazz bands and a reel that makes them talk. Running time, one reel.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

SAILORS, BEWARE: Walter Catlett, Eugene Pallette—A great two-reel comedy. Slapstick and real comedy. Give it prefered booking.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

SAILORS, BEWARE: Walter Catlett, Eugene Pallette—Good comedy of slapstick sort, with hilarious ending that will keep them laughing for several seconds after "The End."—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

SCREEN SOUVENIRS (No. 6): These are a welcome short on any bill. The adult audience like them for the memories they stir up, and the youngsters for the comedy. Running time, ten minutes. Neighborhood patronage.

RKO

MURDER AT THE BRIDGE TABLE: Ely Culbertson—Seemed to be fairly well liked by the general patronage. Bridge fans noticable by their absence. Running time, 21 minutes.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

ON THE PAN: Soglow's "The King" Cartoons—These cartoons, so far, not so hot.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

QUIET PLEASE: Edgar Kennedy. Florence Lake—Good comedy. Running time, two reels.—A. N. Niles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

United Artists

BABES IN THE WOOD: Silly Symphonies—These, as we all know, are the topnotch in short subject value. They make any show a good one and a good show one to talk about. Running time, one reel.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

MAD DOCTOR, THE: Mickey Mouse—A very good Mickey Mouse cartoon. Running time, eight minutes.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

PUPPY LOVE: Mickey Mouse—Another good Mickey Mouse comedy that appeals to both young and old alike. Running time, seven minutes.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

SANTA'S WORKSHOP: Silly Symphonies—One of the best Silly Symphonies Walt ever made all-color. Running time, eight minutes.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

SILLY SYMPHONIES: These one-reelers in color are marvelous and are an aid to any program.—Hobart H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

Universal

ALL AT SEA: Mentone No. 2—Fair musical built around entertainment by passengers at sea angle.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

I KNOW EVERYBODY AND EVERYBODY'S RACKET: Walter Winchell—Excellent change from routine stuff.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS (No. 32): This is interesting which my patrons enjoyed. Running time, ten minutes.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

Warner Vitaphone

BOSKO'S MECHANICAL MAN: Looney Tunes—Good and funny.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

BOSKO, THE MUSKETEER: Looney Tunes—Just a cartoon and not up to Bosko's average.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

BOSKO'S NIGHT MARE: Looney Tune — An unusually good cartoon. Not a dull moment in it. Running time, 1 reel.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Mining country patronage.

BOSKO, THE SPEED KING: Looney Tunes—Average cartoon. Running time, one reel.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Emerson, Ark. Mining country patronage.

WAY OF ALL FRESHMEN: Broadway Brevities—This is a good musical and dancing short. The boy and girl tap dancing act is a wow. They are the best I have seen. Running time, 19 minutes.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

PARADES OF YESTERDAY: Pepper Pot—This is a very interesting one-reeler, showing many of the famous parades in history. The entire reel is made of newsreel shots of many years ago. However, it should take very well. Running time, 10 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SEASONED GREETINGS: Lita Grey Chaplin—Every one liked it. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

SHUFFLE OFF TO BUFFALO: Merry Melodies—This is another of the good cartoons Vitaphone has made this season. Some excellent caricatures of Eddie Cantor and Ed Wynn. Very good entertainment and pleased all. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of December 23

CAPITOL
Santa's Workshop.....United Artists

CRITERION
The Cure.....RKO Radio
King Neptune.....United Artists

HOLLYWOOD
Movie Memories.....Vitaphone
Kissing Time.....Vitaphone
Easy Aces.....Vitaphone
Heart of Paris.....Vitaphone

MAYFAIR
Freak Fish.....General
Not the Marrying Kind....Universal
Organloguing the Hits....Master Art

PARAMOUNT
The Old Bugler.....Paramount
Around the Calendar.....Paramount

RKO MUSIC HALL
The Night Before Christmas.United Artists
Strange As It Seems—No. 35.Universal
Grin and Bear It.....RKO Radio
Who Said the Weaker Sex?.Columbia

RIALTO
Where's That Tiger?.....Paramount
The Old Bugler.....Paramount
Around the Calendar.....Paramount

RIVOLI
London Medley.....Fox
Three Little Pigs (Spanish).United Artists

ROXY
Lullaby Land.....United Artists
Jack and the Beanstalk....Principal

STRAND
The Little Girl With Big Ideas.Vitaphone
Buddy's Beer Garden.....Vitaphone
The Tune Detective.....Vitaphone

Integrity Film Has Feature On Life of St. Anthony

Integrity Film, headed by Davide Calcagni and Commander G. Clemente, have obtained the American and Canadian distributing rights to "The Miracle Man of the Centuries," a religious sound motion picture based upon the life of St. Anthony of Padua. General release date has not yet been set. It will be distributed directly to Catholic institutions and theatres after it has been roadshown in key cities.

The story was written by Rev. Father P. Vittorino Facchinetti and was produced by S. A. C. R. A. S. and reportedly under the supervision of the Vatican. The production was directed by Count Giulio Antamoro. Mr. Davide Calcagni, who is president and general manager of the distributing company, has been cameraman for Fox, Metro, Herbert Brenon and other producers.

U. A. Promotes Salesman

Sam Kramer, former United Artists salesman in Cincinnati, has replaced Edward Benson, resigned, as branch manager. Edward Goldstein, formerly with First National in New York, is in Mr. Kramer's former position. Charles Stern, manager of district number one, comprising the New York, Boston and New Haven territory, has moved his headquarters from Boston to 630 Ninth avenue, New York.

THE WEEK ON WABASH AVENUE

CHICAGO

Plenty of "parties" last week—Christmas parties. Most of the Balaban & Katz theatres had special programs for children as did many neighborhood houses. On film row at the Warner club room a gay party was held for the grownups and children of members of the Warner Club.

▽

Herman Gluckman and William Shapiro of Majestic Pictures held a sales meeting here on their way to the East. Those attending included Andy Dietz, St. Louis branch manager, A. L. Zacherl and Carl Michil of Minneapolis, Dave Brill, who is here from the home office, and Percy Barr, local manager.

▽

Louis Marks is reported to have acquired two theatres—the Tivoli in Gary, Ind. and the Granada at Racine, Wis.

▽

And speaking of Christmas parties, the local United Artists has been swamped with requests for prints of Disney subjects, many of these being shown to unfortunate children in such places as the Hospital for Dependent Crippled Children, Billings Memorial hospital and other institutions.

▽

Lou Metzger had a chance to greet a number of friends on his way East last week.

▽

Harry Rathner of Principal Pictures home office was in town for a conference with Henri Ellman.

▽

Ben Cooney opened the Roxy theatre in Des Plaines on Christmas Day.

▽

Sam Halper of the Halsted-Van Buren Theatre Corporation is sojourning in Miami, Fla., with his family.

▽

Harry Elwell of the Theatre Printing Company has added a line of new style theatre programs done in four colors to augment his regular sizes for the new year.

▽

More than 2,500 books took up considerable space in the lobby of the Adelphi theatre after Ludwig Sussman staged a matinee in which donation of a book served in lieu of the regular admission price. After being renovated the books are distributed to various libraries.

▽

An exploitation idea in connection with the serial "Wolf Dog" has been evolved by Ben Judell's office. It consists of a dog parade at which prizes are awarded for the most unusual dogs, for the funniest, scrawniest, handsomest or what have you.

▽

F. J. Shad started the projectors grinding at the American theatre, Indiana Harbor, Christmas Day.

HOLQUIST

Second Celebrity Cartoon Is Named

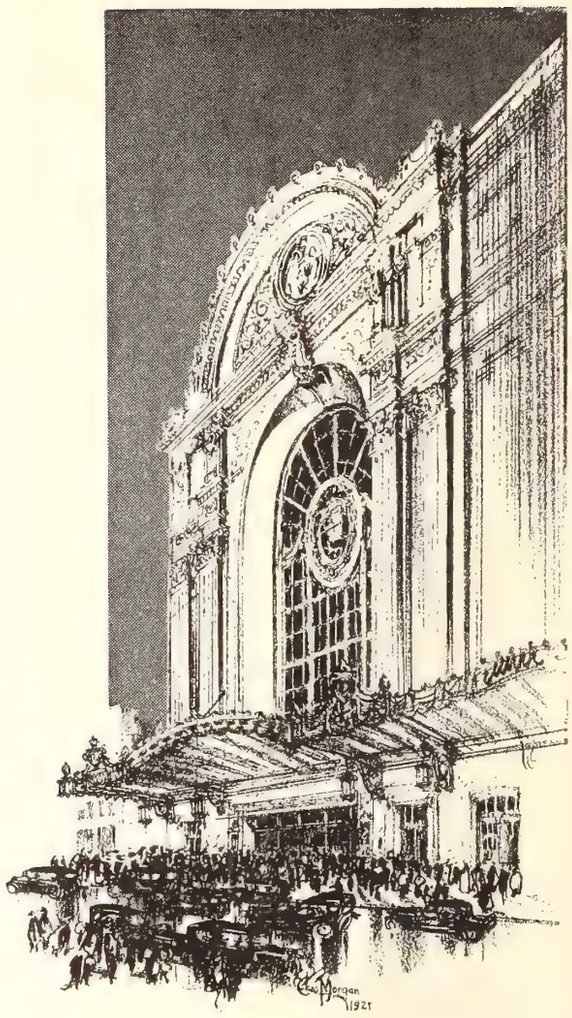
Celebrity Productions, Inc., this week decided that the second cartoon in its new ComiColor series will be an adaptation of the famous fairy tale, "The Little Red Hen."

The first of the series, already released, is "Jack and the Beanstalk," which is being given runs at the Roxy theatre, New York, and in all RKO and Warner theatres in the Greater New York and Northern New Jersey territory. P. A. Powers, Celebrity president, is in New York after Coast conference with Ub Iwerks on the series.

Jack Levin Heads Charity

Jack Levin, director of operations of the Copyright Protection Bureau, was installed as chairman of the board of trustees of the Simon Cohen Memorial Foundation, a Masonic organization, at the Astor Hotel, New York, last week.

Pollard at Radio City



Bud Pollard Productions has leased office space in the RKO Building at Radio City, New York.

High Speed ... Low Rates

▶ 23½ hours L. A. to N. Y.—overnight to many important points makes Air Express the country's fastest shipping service. Direct connections to 85 principal cities over the country's leading air routes are supplemented by fast, coordinated rail service to 23,000 other Railway Express Agency points. Low rates include pick-up and delivery in leading cities and duplicate receipts give a positive check on both shipment and delivery of all shipments. Call your Railway Express Agent for full details on rates and time schedules.

AIR EXPRESS
VIA RAILWAY EXPRESS AGENCY

AIR EXPRESS
Division · Railway Express Agency, Inc.

PROTECT your Property

¶ Protection at its best in any business is represented by good management. Economic surveys have repeatedly revealed that the principal cause of business failure is bad management. Few businesses are so influenced by the factors of management as the motion picture theatre. This is due to the nature of the goods the motion picture theatre sells. The average store is extremely simple in comparison. That store, moreover, is merchandising products that are more or less essential to daily life. The motion picture theatre, on the other hand, is selling mental and emotional stimulation, consumed on the premises—rendered attractive and consumable only by the mechanisms of the theatre itself.

¶ These mechanisms are represented in the equipment of the theatre. And in the environment of the theatre as well. Their planning, their supervision call for constantly alert, shrewd management.

¶ But management cannot be shrewd unless it is informed. Direct personal experience supplies much information. Yet few of those charged with the responsibility of theatre operation can afford to ignore the experience of others. And in the motion picture industry, as in other fields, specialists have been developed, whose position in relation to the average theatre owner and manager is akin to that of the surgeon in relation to the general medical practitioner.

¶ In addition to reporting the experience of the average theatre operator, BETTER THEATRES selects specialists in the various functions of the motion picture theatre, to think about and to write about its problems. Thus there is no reason why theatre management, in any situation, need be otherwise than expertly informed. Here is a world-wide publication edited as a timely guide to those who operate motion picture theatres. It completes the service of Quigley Publications to the Motion Picture Industry.

Better Theatres

A Quigley Publication

1790 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

THE BIG DRIVE IS ON

Spurred on by the encouragement of the industry's leaders and inspired by their own enthusiasm, a legion of managers sweeps forcefully into the early dawn of 1934 in a spirited race for merited honors—the Quigley Awards. In the history of motion picture exploitation, never has any project caught on so quickly, not yet has any like project received such wide and immediate endorsement.

At last the importance of adequate exploitation is brought out of the morass of indifference and indecision, and the showman responsible for the modeling of this tower of theatre strength from the indefinite clay of unformed ideas is to receive his long delayed recognition.

Which is as it should be. For without doubt, the successful future of the motion picture theatre depends now, more than ever, upon the efforts of skilled and patient showmanship. Today, the leaders of the industry stand eye to eye in proclaiming their belief in the necessity of ingenious, hard hitting exploitation as an integral part of profitable theatre operation.

The opinions from different quarters so admirably expressed in last week's issue and on succeeding pages of this, make a mighty voice that must reach the ears of all those in this business indifferent to, or ignorant of the dollars and cents value of box-office exploitation.

With the first day of the New Year, the Quigley Awards will be placed formally in competition. The representative committee of high calibre judges assures the close attention of the entire industry as hundreds of showmen everywhere gird themselves for the Big Drive. Undoubtedly by their efforts, will the high place of exploitation be sold more strongly to sceptical purseholders, and by the same token gain for the above showman his long deferred reward.

▽ ▽ ▽

LET US RESOLVE

And now the time for the easily broken resolutions is upon us, and so perhaps it behooves us all to make some, but of a firmer consistency that will stand a bit of handling.

In hoping for a better break in 1934, let the manager resolve to give as much in return as possible. To watch his expenditures, to spend wisely, to make sure of the dollar value of every ad and of every stunt. To strive for a perfect picture on the screen, to insure cleanliness, comfort and safety. To keep everlastingly at it for a healthier everyday gross.

And let the exhibitor resolve to treat his manager(s) with every deserved consideration, to allow a day off a week and vacations, to raise salaries wherever possible. To spend a little extra on needed equipment and furnishings, to spend more on advertising and exploitation. To appreciate showmanship and the showman responsible for it, and finally, to realize that the job of managing requires at least as much skill and experience as that of any other technical worker in the motion picture industry.

With few expectations that the above will be adopted as a universal theatre credo, we present it in keeping with the season of the year in the hopes that some few of these "seeds" will fall on less than barren ground.

▽ ▽ ▽

BONUS FOR THE MANAGER?

For some months past, the Warner Theatre organization, under the sponsorship of Mr. Joseph Bernhard, has been experimenting in different spots with a system by which every manager in the Warner fold will have the opportunity of adding to his salary in the form of a bonus based upon an increase in individual theatre receipts. Upon questioning, Mr. Bernhard stated that though the idea was still in the formative stage, nevertheless a permanent arrangement would be put into effect within the next few months.

In other words, the manager's sales ability is to be tested, and he is to be recompensed in the same practical manner as is any other good salesman.

This is a natural step in the progress of the theatre management and should the Warner idea work out to the satisfaction of all concerned, we believe it only a matter of time until the procedure is adopted to any extent by other exhibitors. However, there are easily discernible obstacles in the goal of the above mentioned "satisfaction," which of course can be avoided by skillful steering.

The advantages of bonus or percentage payments for managers have been considered by various theatre heads. It should be encouraged and brought to pass; no other means has ever been discovered to so profitably inspire and stimulate sales ability, and many an exhibitor straining his vision in the search for future profits, could do far worse than declare his manager(s) "in" on a percentage.

We would like to see the Warner Theatre plan go over, for if it does, the manager's job will take on a new significance and skilled showmanship more than ever will be at a premium.

A. Mike Vogel

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS!

"Is this Family Night, Eddie?"

Ace Campaign For "Roman Scandals"

To the many other accomplishments of Eddie Cantor, add that of ticket seller, which function he undertook at the opening on Saturday, Dec. 23, of the New York Rivoli, of his latest picture, "Roman Scandals." The announcement of this unusual personal appearance was made well in advance and of course collected an enormous crowd.

Hal Horne's United Artists crew worked overtime to insure coverage of every possible sales angle. Prominent among these was a street bally in the form of a Roman chariot drawn by two white horses, the charioteer costumed in a golden helmet, purple and red cape, accompanied on the ride by a girl also dressed in Roman costume, wearing a large blond wig similar to those used in the picture. (See photo.)

A special front was installed containing a large sized scene-in-action display of a chariot, with Cantor and a flock of girls against a moving background operated by rotating cylinders, which gives the chariot the illusion of moving at a swift pace.

Thousands of large cardboard arrows with copy reading, "All roads lead to 'Roman Scandals,'" with picture and date, were sniped all over the city, each pointing in the direction of the theatre. Tabloid newspapers were distributed through department stores, Postal Telegraph offices and handed out in the street bally.

A Cinema Shop tieup was made with Macy's, in which a double window was devoted to costumes against a background of sheet music and records from the song hits of the picture. The Masury Paint Co. installed large window displays in over 200 windows of their retail branches, and Cantor's radio sponsors provided window material for over 5,000 windows in every part of the city.

For ten days in advance, announcements were broadcast twice daily over the prominent networks, and a further tieup was put on with Lux, wherein 1,000-line ads were planted in newspapers in 40 cities to coincide with local showings.

In the above, no mention has been made of the many publicity breaks in all New York papers, planted by Lynn Farnol and Karl Krug. However, this angle was fully covered. The exploitation was handled by Monroe Greenthal, under the supervision of Hal Horne, aided by Manager Jack Wright and Publicity Director Jim McFarlane of the Rivoli Theatre.

Rivoli Chariot Bally

Click Exploitation On "Nora" at Strand

In cooperation with the New York Strand publicity department, Bert Ennis, Majestic Picture ad chief, put on a nice advance for the opening of "The Sin of Nora Moran" at that theatre.

Post cards were mailed to every local member of the Society for the Abolition of Capital Punishment, and these were signed by the secretary, who indorsed the picture and urged every member to see it, and it is reported that many did. Prison wardens, correction officials, and other leaders in this field were informed of the engagement, and endorsements secured from them.

A street stunt that attracted continued attention consisted of a man and girl handcuffed to each other, working the prominent streets of the city and department stores. When inquiries were made by curious onlookers, small folders containing teaser copy, with the title and theatre at the bottom, were handed out by another girl who followed the couple (see photo).

A newspaper tieup was made with a prominent fur shop specializing in star models, by which a full page ad was carried in the Sunday papers showing Zita Johann, the star of the picture, wearing the various fur styles. The copy of course included mention of the picture, theatre and date.

Handcuff Street Stunt

Store Plugs "Short" Date A Month in Advance

The biggest exploitation campaign ever accorded a single feature in Milwaukee, was the tieup between one of the leading department stores there and the Alhambra Theatre, according to Fred S. Meyer, M. P. T. O. A. official, and operator of that house. For a month in advance, the theatre advertising the toy department of the store with a trailer and in return the store daily advertised "Merry Old Soul" as coming to the theatre in all newspaper ads. In addition, 100,000 cards plugging the picture were put out without expense to the Alhambra.

Mickey and Minnie Mouse were featured heavily in conjunction with the various store sales, being mentioned frequently. The campaign was put over by Stan Meyer.

Judges Committee For Quigley Awards Selected; Jan. 1 Marks Opening Date of Campaign Drive

Managers Praise Herald Project

As heartening as the reaction from the various producer home office executives, are the enthusiastic comments from the field on the Quigley Awards. Undoubtedly, in the opinions of Round Tablers and other showmen in every part of the country, the project now being carried out, to present plaques, monthly and yearly during 1934, for the most meritorious exploitation campaigns put on by theatre managers, is a splendid stimulant for the coming product.

However, the success of the idea depends to a great extent on the cooperation given by interested showmen, and from early reactions there seems to be no reason why everything expected should not materialize.

EVERY CAMPAIGN TO RECEIVE SAME BREAK

Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the fact that the smallest town campaign will receive the same consideration that will be given those from the largest cities. As far as the judges are concerned, skilled exploitation from managers in neighborhood and subsequent run houses is just as worthy as any other.

Campaigns will be weighed carefully in regard to how much was obtained for the amount spent, and thus the small budget will receive the same break as the unlimited bankroll. The fact that prize winners in the recent Round Table World's Fair contest included campaigns from every small town is proof of the above facts. No one should hesitate to enter. The field is wide open.

As before stated, all product is eligible for the awards. Productions from the independents as well as those from the major studios are not only welcomed, but solicited. Everyone has an equal chance.

The rules have been run in the two previous issues. They are simple and few. Participants are requested to study them and for the information of the few who do not have those copies of the HERALD, we outline the requirements, and necessary information.

A Quigley Plaque will be presented each month during 1934, starting Jan. 1, for the theatre campaign selected by the judges as possessing the highest merit of all those submitted to the Managers' Round Table Club, on pictures played during that month.

The Quigley Grand Award will be given for the best campaign of the entire year. Campaigns may be forwarded after the last day of the month, including those on pictures played the last days of one month and the first days of the next.

Manager's name and theatre must appear on all material, and concrete evidence of all ideas must accompany campaign. Every theatre manager of a theatre in the world is eligible, including non-members of the Club.

And now, friends, the best of good fortune, and as Joe Feldman, of Pittsburgh, says, the winning campaigns "better be good."

JUDGES

MORT BLUMENSTOCK, Advertising
CLAYTON E. BOND, Exhibition
H. D. BUCKLEY, Exhibition
JOHN CLARK, Distribution
HOWARD DEITZ, Advertising
NED E. DEPINET, Distribution
OSCAR A. DOOB, Advertising
E. M. FAY, Exhibition
S. CHARLES EINFELD, Advertising
BERT ENNIS, Advertising
FELIX F. FEIST, Distribution
W. R. FERGUSON, Exploitation
JOHN C. FLINN, Exploitation
EDWARD FINNEY, Advertising
ROBERT M. GILLHAM, Advertising
JAMES R. GRAINGER, Distribution
BEN H. GRIMM, Advertising
PAUL GULICK, Publicity
HAL HORNE, Advertising
W. RAY JOHNSTON, Distribution
IRVING LESSER, Exhibition
JULES LEVY, Distribution
AL LICHTMAN, Distribution
CHAS. E. McCARTHY, Advertising
S. BARRET McCORMICK, Advertising
DAN MICHALOVE, Exhibition
GEO. J. SCHAEFER, Distribution
ROBERT F. SISK, Advertising
A. W. SMITH, JR., Distribution
HERSCHEL STUART, Exhibition
GORDON S. WHITE, Advertising
G. S. YORKE, Advertising

Industry Heads Accept Places

Almost without exception, we are pleased to report, have those leaders in the various branches requested to act upon the judges' committee for the Martin Quigley Awards, enthusiastically agreed to serve.

Their names and designations, set down in the next column, are proudly presented to the membership, for there is no doubt but that this list represents a more than adequate selection of motion picture executives willing to lend their efforts to choosing those exploitation campaigns for which will be presented the Quigley Awards.

DIFFERENT BRANCHES CONTRIBUTE JUDGES

And we might state that the acceptances of these gentlemen mean that they will take an active part in the judging for they all are convinced of the necessity of encouraging theatremen to give every ounce of practical result-showing exploitation to the product of the coming year.

The committee, at this writing, is very representative. Distribution, advertising and theatre executives share places, as follows:

Five vice-presidents and general managers of film companies.

Five chain theatre heads and independent exhibitors.

Five sales and distribution managers of film companies.

Nine directors of advertising and publicity of film companies.

Four advertising and publicity managers of film companies.

Two exploitation directors of film companies.

Two directors of advertising and publicity of theatre chains.

The companies represented in this list, arranged alphabetically, are as follows:

Educational Films, Fay's Theatres, Providence, R. I.; Fox Films, Loew's, Majestic Pictures, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures, Monogram Pictures, Paramount Pictures, RKO Distributing Corp., RKO Radio Pictures, Roxy Theatre Corp., New York; Theatre Management Corp., New York; United Artists, Universal Film Exchanges, Universal Pictures, Warner Bros. Theatres, and Warner Bros. Pictures.

Thus independent producer and exhibitor heads share places on the committee with major producers and chain circuit executives. A proper balance has been sought, and this, we believe, we have obtained.

ENDORSEMENTS OF QUIGLEY AWARDS

BILLINGS BOOTH

Manager, Jefferson
Springfield, Mass.

Among the most commendable ideas brought forth in the history of the exhibitor's branch of the motion picture industry is the announcement of the Martin Quigley Awards.

What manager wouldn't cherish one of those awards and proudly display his plaque? Another achievement for the Managers' Round Table Club.

FRANK BOUCHER

City Manager, Warner Bros.
Hagerstown, Md.

I think it is an excellent idea, one that should meet with the instant approval of every manager. It should make them strive for bigger and better campaigns. It should stimulate a new interest in the proper handling of pictures. The Motion Picture Herald and the Managers' Round Table Club are to be congratulated on starting such an idea.

H. D. BUCKLEY

Vice-President
United Artists Corporation

I will be very happy to serve as a Judge in connection with presenting the Quigley Awards for meritorious theatre exploitation.

SAM ROBERT CHERNOW

Manager, Yorktown
New York City

It's a swell idea! Every theatre manager should do his darndest to help put over the Martin Quigley Awards, for it is to his benefit to have the idea go over with a bang. I, for one, will do everything that I can to cooperate.

MITCHELL CONERY

Manager, Kingston
Kingston, Pa.

Unquestionably every real showman will want to try to win one of the Quigley Awards. With only twelve plaques being issued yearly, it will indeed be an achievement for any man to possess one of these awards of merit. Best wishes for the continued success of the Round Table.

S. CHARLES EINFELD

Advertising and Publicity Director
Warner Bros. Theatres

We believe your idea to present a Quigley Award for stand-out exploitation campaigns is highly commendable and is certainly in the spirit in which this industry should carry on in these times.

It should stimulate the men on the firing line to give their utmost at a time when every ounce of energy and imagination is required to bring people into theatres.

Warner Brothers, of course will exert every effort to promote the cause of exploitation, believing it to be vital to the welfare of our industry in these exciting days of national recovery.

JOE FELDMAN

Advertising Director
Warner Theatres, Pittsburgh

If the Quigley Awards teach us the sense of careful analysis and scientific examination of the problem of reaching and attracting those who want to go to the theatre, the awards will have done for the advertising profession in the theatre what the Academy Awards have done for production.

If the awards can raise the standards of good taste in theatre advertising, it will benefit not only the box office, but will immediately slap an effective gag on the blue lips of the blue noses.

You may be sure I am keenly interested in watching the results of your experiment and will urge managers in the theatres here not only to try for the awards themselves, but to carefully analyze the winning campaigns. They'd better be good!

JOHN C. FLINN

Director of Exploitation
Paramount Pictures

I will be very glad to act on your committee of judges, and appreciate very much the opportunity to serve.

ROBERT M. GILLHAM

Advertising and Publicity Director
Paramount Pictures Distributing Corp.

I will be delighted to act as one of a committee of judges for the Quigley Awards.

You may quote me as saying I believe the Quigley Awards are a splendid idea and that I believe proper recognition has not been given the excellent work being done by the theatre managers and advertising men in the smaller theatres around the country. These men often work with limited appropriations and do marvelous jobs on little or nothing.

JAMES R. GRAINGER

General Manager of Distribution
Universal Film Exchanges, Inc.

I want to congratulate you on the idea of presenting silver plaques for the most meritorious theatre exploitation campaigns. Nothing is more universally needed in the motion picture business today than practical, far-reaching showmanship. The Quigley Awards will place emphasis on this and so do inestimable good.

I gladly accept the kind invitation of the Managers' Round Table Club to serve on the committee of judges for the awards.

LEW PRESTON

Manager, Academy of Music
New York City

The more I think of your idea, the better I like it and I will certainly do my part in attempting to gain the highest honors. Since we have the Academy awards for motion pictures, there is no reason why the managers should not be recognized for their presentation of the attractions in the theatre. I know they will get behind your move and cooperate with you 100 per cent.

I can truthfully say, without any hesitation, that the plan will inspire the men so much so that they will not leave a stone unturned in order to achieve the recognition which will mean much coming from your medium which is read by practically every manager in the field.

POUR IN FROM ALL OVER INDUSTRY

SID S. HOLLAND

City Manager
Elkhart Amusement Co., Ind.

Your sponsorship of the award of the Martin Quigley plaques for 1934 exploitation as announced in the issue of the Herald of Dec. 16, is just another indication of the splendid cooperation emanating from the offices of the Round Table Club. This latest effort should certainly be appreciated by the boys in the field. It is the first really significant and direct recognition of the efforts of the exhibitor by the Motion Picture Industry.

I know I express the sentiment of every member of the organization in lauding this project and will personally bend every effort to encourage the continuance of the Quigley Awards.

W. R. JOHNSTON

President
Monogram Pictures Corp.

I shall be happy to cooperate with you in connection with your letter of December 13th

HARRY M. KALMINE

Zone Manager
Warner Theatres, Pittsburgh

I think the plan for Quigley Publications to offer an award every month for the best advertising-exploitation campaign put on by the theatre is an exemplary one. Just as the Academy Awards in production have gone a long way toward raising the standards of production and acting and have stimulated more intensive research, so should this monthly award to the best theatre campaign raise the standard of theatre advertising and exploitation.

JULES LEVY

General Sales Manager
RKO Distributing Corp.

Am pleased to accept membership on the Committee of Judges to decide the Quigley Award for the best theatre exploitation campaign.

Am glad to participate because I have felt right along that too much cannot be done toward advocating and urging theatre owners and managers to carry on more aggressively than before intelligent, unusual exploitation campaigns on the worthwhile pictures. I feel certain that added effort in this direction is bound to result in greater box office returns.

ROBERT F. SISK

Advertising and Publicity Director
RKO Distributing Corp.

I will be glad to serve as a judge for the Managers' Round Table Club—since it will be a pleasure to go over whatever exploitation stuff is submitted.

BEN H. GRIMM

Director of Advertising
Universal Pictures Corp.

Shall be glad to act on your committee of judges in the matter of making Quigley Awards for the most meritorious theatre exploitation campaigns.

Your plan should result in keen competition among showmen. Undoubtedly this will reflect in better box-office receipts throughout the country, and on that score alone is an extremely worthwhile project for any trade paper.

AL LICHTMAN

Vice President—General Manager
United Artists Corporation

I feel that your plan to award prizes for the most meritorious theatre exploitation campaigns will be a grand incentive for stimulating business.

I shall be very happy to serve on your Committee of Judges.

CHARLES E. McCARTHY

Advertising and Publicity Director
Fox Film Corporation

Thanks very much for your invitation to serve on the Committee of Judges for the Quigley exploitation awards.

I should be very glad to accept and I think you and your paper are to be congratulated upon your enterprise in promoting proper exploitation of pictures.

S. BARRET McCORMICK

Advertising Director
RKO Radio Pictures, Inc.

Your plan of awarding, through the Managers' Round Table Club each month, the Quigley plaque for the most meritorious theatre advertising and exploitation is a very progressive and commendable move on the part of Motion Picture Herald. I am sure this will result in increased interest in their campaigns by advertising and theatre managers throughout the country and will help bring to the attention of the entire motion picture industry the work of the many splendid creative minds that are in it.

I thank you for the compliment of asking me to act as one of the judges and it will be a great pleasure to serve.

With the compliments of the season and very best wishes for the continued success of the Managers' Round Table Club and all its members.

DAN MICHALOVE

Assistant, S. R. Kent
Fox Film Corporation

It will be my pleasure to be able to serve on the Committee of Judges which you are forming for the Motion Picture Herald through the Managers' Round Table Club that will present the Quigley Awards each month.

Managers who exploit pictures are those who create and develop business.. Managers' Round Table Club has done a great deal to impress upon theatre operators the benefits obtainable from exploitation and the Quigley Awards should stimulate more interest in what the Motion Picture Herald is doing through its columns to help the theatre manager create business.

RICHARD L. MOSS

Manager, RKO Hillstreet
Los Angeles, Cal.

I believe the Martin Quigley plaques for outstanding exploitation work should prove a boon in the furtherance of the quality of this type of theatre advertising.

Congratulations for being the first to inaugurate an award of this type, and I am sure that the industry in general will benefit from the improvement in the standard of exploitation.

These plaques should offer greater inducement and encouragement to the men in the field, and I for one will try to win one of them. The Managers' Round Table Club, the Motion Picture Herald, and Mr. Quigley have added another accomplishment to the already long list for this publication.

MANAGERS HAVE HIGH TIME AT ROUND TABLE CHRISTMAS PARTY

Voted by everyone present as the best "get-together" yet held, the Managers' Round Table Christmas gathering on Thursday, Dec. 21, at the Brass Rail Restaurant, came to a reluctant close in the early hours of the following morn as over 300 members and their friends sang "Auld Lang Syne" to the accompaniment of Joe Gershenson's Academy of Music orchestra.

From the time that the shindig started in the beautiful Continental Grill of the Brass Rail to the moment of closing, there was something going on to thrill and entertain the large attendance. As the managers entered they were greeted by club chairman A-Mike Vogel, given Christmas presents by Secretary Gert Merriam, and directed to their tables by committeemen Bill Brown, Marlboro Theatre, Brooklyn; Joe Salmon, Riverside Theatre, New York, and Lew Preston, Academy of Music.

As the boys were seated, waiters were ready with plenty of hot meat and soothing brew to keep the crowd occupied until the entertainment started. And what entertainment! Seemed like one of those all-star benefit shows, all under the supervision of Lew Preston, who not only acted as master of ceremonies but supplied most of the talent. Great boy, Lew.

The headliner, of course, was Eddie Cantor, in person, who came up to take a bow, but remained to entertain the gathering, doing over 25 minutes to a highly delighted audience, and winding up with a song. Did he go over? Thanks, Eddie.

After the U. A. star, came a flock of stage and radio names, every one a bell-ringer and a show-stopper. Who were they? Peek at the box in the next column. They should go over as well in every date. After a solid hour of entertainment, intermission was announced while a lucky number contest was put on for a beautiful negligee, donated by Bernard Waldman, of Modern Merchandising Bureau. It was won by Charley Steinman, of the Terminal Theatre, Brooklyn, who promised to take it right home. Okay, Charley.

Paul Binstock, Republic Theatre, Brooklyn, then took the floor and discussed the idea of a Club dinner dance, to be held some time in February, and it was voted to make tentative arrangements for the gathering, to which wives and sweethearts would be invited. Other Club matters were gone over, and then the second half of the show was put on until the wee hours of the morning.

The Club is also indebted to Al Hirshfield, Economy Novelty Co., for a flock of souvenirs; Morris Lieberman, for his snappy silk banner, and to the home offices that sent along a lot of gifts for the members. And last but not least, Lew Preston and his orchestra, that furnished the music.

Bill Levey, Riverhead, L. I., and Charley Bassin, Mattapan, Mass., intended to be present, but wired their last moment regrets.

Large delegations from the Randforce, Skouras, Loew, Warner, RKO, S and S and other metropolitan circuits were on hand, as well as members from New Jersey and Long Island. Here they are, alphabetically arranged:

Rubin Abrams
Saul Abrams
Nat Allentuck
Murray Alper
Mac Alster
Sam Alster
Murray Alster
E. D. Ardvany
H. Artz
Mauray Ashmann
M. J. Baranco
S. Backalish
J. Baker
H. Barend
Fred Bartholdi
Bob Bartholdi
Irving Berman
Joe Bernhardt
Theodore Bert
Herb Berg
Al Bernstein
Paul Binstock
Sid Blumenstock
Billings Booth
Mort Bratter
William Brown
M. Bundt
E. J. Burke
B. Cable
Charlie Carroll
Victor Cassman
J. Castorino
Bob Clark
George Cooper
Max Cooper
E. S. C. Coppock
E. Crawford
Jules Curley
M. Cwerling
George Davis
W. J. Daly
M. Decker
A. DeSimone
Ed Edelson
M. Epstein
Ira Escha
Gerald Evans
B. Falk
J. Feldman
Jules Field
L. Fishkin
B. Flaherty
Ben Friedman
R. Fuchs
Harold Funk
Marry Gabriel
R. Gelder
C. Godfrey
L. Goldfarb
S. Goldstein
Walter Goldstein
B. Goodman
E. W. Gould
Mort Green
B. Greenbaum
Hyman Greenberg
G. Greiger
Jack Griffiths
L. Haeck
R. Halperin
Paul Hamilton
Ted Hammer
B. Handler
Arthur Hass
Joe Herman
Charles Hill
William Hill
Al Hirshfield
Ted Hodes
Bert Hoffman
E. Hoffman
Joe Hoffman
L. Hornzeich
Walter Jacobs
Seymour Jonas
Dave Julian
Ed Kane
B. Kaplan
A. Kagan
A. Katz
Wesley Kent
J. B. Kimmis
Morris Kinzler
Stanley Kolbert
G. Krieger
S. Kulick
J. La Barbara
Irv. Landis
Sidney Larschan
Charles Larschan
L. Lehane
Irv. Leopold
S. P. Levine
B. Levinson

(Continued on next page)

AND HERE ARE THOSE ACTS

Valaida Snow, Berry Bros., Buddy Ralph, Roy Benson, Beth Chalis, Eddie Miller, Hal Young, William O'Neill, Jesse ("Lazy Bone") Crier, Three Long Brothers; Rich, Kaye & Eva; Charles Chaze, Mel Klee, Jack Arthur, Ben Alley, Roy Smeck, Michael the Accordion; Ronnie, Van & Chapman; Gene Austin, Roy Sax, Lester Allen; Mario & Lazaren; The Sunshine; The Interfering Waiters, Apple & Teller, and many others.

MANAGERS "UNLAX" AT THE HAPPY ROUND TABLE CHRISTMAS GET-TOGETHER

Laby and Rose Promote Paper Picture Section

Although George Laby has been at the Victory, Holyoke, Mass. for the short period of three months, in this time he has managed with the aid of Walter Rose of the Strand Theatre there, to sell the local paper on a regular theatre section. Previously, the ads were placed in the run of the paper and cuts or publicity stories were unknown. George and Walter first succeeded in getting a regular box listing the theatres and attractions, after which further progress was made, until now the theatres receive the break they are entitled to in the local newspapers.

Laby's Attractive Display

Laby sends along some attractive photos on his recent displays, one on "Shanghai Madness" (see photo) being good enough to attract plenty of patron attention. The steps are covered with metallic paper, available at little cost at the local paper mill, and illuminated from below. The top step has a plate glass surface, also indirectly illuminated and a section of white glass behind the dates makes them stand out more clearly. A small baby spot from a corner of the lobby further heightens the effect.

Another neat idea is a Mae West lobby flash, made up to resemble a bedroom with actual curtains, windows, rugs, etc. A cut-out figure of Mae draped with an actual dress and jewelry, was placed on a real chaise lounge and upon the entire display a rotocolor spot was played changing the color combination six times a minute.

George gives credit for these art ideas to his house artist, Felix D'Alessio, new to the theatre, but with sufficient talent to carry him far. Laby further reports that he is doing all kinds of business on "Footlight Parade" and promises to send in his campaign on this attraction.

THESE, TOO, WERE AT THE PARTY

Morris Lieberman
Tommy Lorenzo
Hank Lowry
L. McGary
E. McGraw
M. McMann
Monty MacLevy
C. Maloney
Nick Mann
J. Mancosi
Howard Marcovie
Nick Massaro
J. Meyer
C. S. Michelson
B. Milstein
Harry Milstein
R. Monteith
Russ Moon
Nat Mutnick
Sam Mutterpearl
R. Neville
Ed Olmstead
Ben Ostrow
Earle V. Patton
A. Perlmutter
J. Pincus
Lew Preston
Jules Reisman
Ben Reisner
J. Reisner
M. Reisner
Joe Rinzler
Sam Rinzler
Dave Rosen
Dan Ruffine
Joseph Salmon
Bert Sanford
Z. Savage
Louis Schnitzer
Harry Schwartz
A. Scott
Sayre Seeley
A. Senft
I. Shapiro
B. Shitzer
M. Silvers
Charles Silver
Leo Silverstein
B. Snider
L. Somers
Perry Spencer
C. Steinman
A. Stayton
L. Steinmetz
Geo. Stoves
A. Strandt
R. Sullivan
S. Tarfolski
E. Tarney
H. Trauman
Al Unger
Bob Ungerfeld
Eric Van Dyck
L. Varnelle
H. A. Visel
Bernard Waldman
J. Ward
S. Ward
R. Weiser
L. Wertler
Sid Zimmerman

Laurence Packs Streets With Auto Giveaways

A Round Tabler who reports great success with automobile giveaways is Manager H. L. Laurence, Capitol, Paris, Tenn., who has recently completed three contests along this line, which on the days of the drawing have attracted as high as 5,000 people to the theatre, the accompanying photo showing part of the crowd at one drawing unable to gain attendance and who awaited the results

Laurence's usual procedure is to secure the cooperation of about 20 merchants in various lines of business and states that dividing the entire cost between them and the theatre, the individual cost comes to about $70 for each participant. In exchange for this cooperation the merchants distribute coupons with each sale, and on the day of the prize draw, the winning coupon is selected of course from the stubs deposited either at the theatre or at the stores.

Laurence's Crowd for Giveaway

This member is now working on what he claims will be his biggest giveaway, a house and lot with a house completely furnished, which will be organized along the same lines. The theatre "out" in all these contests of course is that the winner must be at the theatre, inside or out, and must have a paid admission ticket or stub of that date in order to be eligible for the prize. Laurence states that the most interesting side light on the benefits of these giveaways for the cooperating merchants is that they are responsible for many unpaid accounts as coupons are given for each 25 cents sale and also for amounts paid on old accounts.

PICTURE WAS TAKEN IN TWO SHOTS TO INSURE CLOSE-UPS. VAS YOU DERE?

LENSES AND OTHER THINGS

Last in the Series for Managers On Projection Suggestions That Will Improve Vision and Sound

by F. H. RICHARDSON

This concludes the series of three articles on projection by Mr. F. H. Richardson, who has been kind enough in his talks to point out in non-technical language the essentials of good screen vision and sound for the information of the membership.

We are sure that all Round Tablers appreciate this series, and will adopt the suggestions offered in seeking to correct any projection faults. A perfect picture should be every manager's ambition, and these tips will help to obtain this desire.

Having finally either determined there is nothing wrong with our screen, or having put it in order if there was, we will next have the projectionist go over some things very carefully. Of course, it is always possible the difference in illumination may be due to difference in power of light source. It is also very possible that the projectionist of the other theatre may be utilizing much more of the available light that is our own man. That is a matter to be determined by certain facts.

First, are we using a less or an equal amperage? If the answer be less, then of course that automatically answers our question in part at least, though it is no proof that light is not being wasted. If our amperage is essentially equal to that of the other theatre, then if our screen surface is equal to that of the other theatre in reflective power and (I almost overlooked this) the two pictures of the same dimensions, then certainly there is either a failure of our projectionist to get the most in light producing power from the current, or light is being wasted somewhere, and that last is a pretty hard nut to crack.

Check These Points

First, we will see to it that all lenses are in good condition and scrupulously clean. Dirty lenses waste plenty of light. Next, remembering that a spot on the cooling plate of unnecessary diameter is a terrible waster of light, we will have the projectionist reduce its diameter by degrees, watching carefully for the point where discoloration appears on the screen. This will of course be done after the show, with white light —no film. Having determined the smallest spot diameter possible without injury to screen illumination, we should question the projectionist regarding the distance light source to collector lens or reflecting mirror and insist that he determine the practicability of reducing it. Unnecessary distance light source to collector lens or reflecting mirror wastes much light, though insofar as concerns the mirror the distance is pretty well a fixed quantity.

The next and last point of possible heavy waste, coupled with unevenness of screen illumination is at the projection lens. We will therefore have our projectionist ascertain whether or not the light beam is all entering the lens. This he may easily do in any one of several ways which he should understand how to apply.

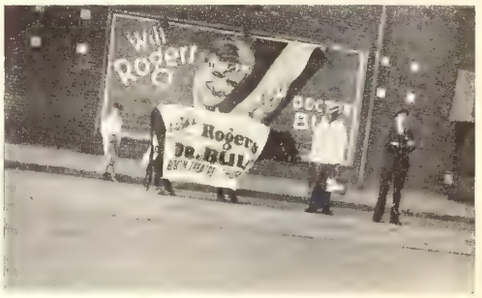
Having the light source to collector lens or mirror and diameter of spot at minimum and the light beam all entering the projection lens and all lenses clean, we may feel certain we are using all of the available light. There still remains the fact that because of possible wrong carbon set or wrong kind or size of carbons we may not be getting the light we should and would get were the fault or faults corrected.

Karp's Comely Chorines

Girls on Marquee Top Karp's Campaign

A campaign studded with many good selling slants was whipped across by Harry Karp, managing director Rex Theatre, Oshkosh, Wis., on the first engagement in that state on "The Road to Ruin," previously issued as a silent and now remade as a talking version.

Enlargements of an endorsement letter by the leading juvenile judge of Wisconsin were blown up to three-sheet size, each display covered with stills and tie-up copy and placed in some of the best locations in town. Thousands of heralds were distributed house to house under the supervision of supervisors to make sure complete coverage.



A feature of the lobby display was the planting of a number of girls on the marquee (see photo), each holding a cut of letter of the title. This was put on in advance of the special midnight show, and of course helped to swell the throngs in front of the theatre.

A sound truck bally covered all parts of the city and neighboring towns, and as the theatre has unlimited phone service, the cashiers, starting early in the morning, phoned to all subscribers in the phone book until just before the midnight showing.

The above were the ideas that brought the best returns and together with the added billing and extra newspaper ads served to round out the campaign, which, according to Karp, resulted in a splendid engagement.

"This Is A Bull," Says Stan Barr

Though the "this is no bull" stunt has been used on and off in various campaigns, Manager Stanley G. Barr, Beacon Theatre, Hopewell, Va., managed to dig up a new angle on this old standby by using an actual bull for a street gag on "Doctor Bull" (see photo.). Realizing the possible dangers of leading the animal through the streets,

Barr's "Bull" Bally

Stanley wisely hired the bull's regular attendant to ensure his docile participation in the stunt.

Of course the bally attracted all the attention, and more, that Barr desired, as he reports it was the first time that most of the folks had occasion to regard this species of beast outside of a protected enclosure. Stanley rates a hand for endeavoring to inject a different crowd appeal into this venerable chestnut, but to others who wish to use the gag, we might suggest that every possible precaution be taken to eliminate any of the possibly dangerous aspects.

Kuehn Puts Over Click "Footlight" Drive

Placing the life size cutout girl figures at the head of every aisle under the spot where the ushers usually stand was one of Rudy Kuehn's neat ideas on the advance of "Footlight Parade," these displays also being placed in other strategic spots on stair landings and mezzanine. The entire advance was moved to the outside on the opening day and other flashes were planted in empty windows and a banner hung over the street.

Other good outside stuff consisted of bumper cards on all busses of the local lines, which were promoted gratis, and an effective float (see photo) carrying a loud speaker which broadcast the song hits, covered the city and the adjacent territory.

These were just a few of the more striking ideas that Rudy put over among the many others which made up a well rounded campaign in which he was ably assisted by Tom Edwards and Roy Reed of his staff.

Rudy's Footlight Float

EXPLOITATION IN GERMANY

Member Reports on Advertising Activities of German Showmen As Observed on Recent Journey

by WARREN A. SLEE

Despite the fact that Germany is not as movie-mad as America, the showmen of the various towns are on their toes continually to take advantage of every opportunity to put it over. And though a bit different from ours, yet their methods are quite effective.

Warren A. Slee

In Hamelin-town (where the Pied-Piper got his start) I saw as an attractive front on Edw. G. Robinson in "The Little Giant" which was unique for the head was enlarged and body of midget size with stills and litho paper splattered around in generous way.

Wending my way through the little town of Hildesheim, one of the oldest in Germany, much to my surprise, found a house that was indeed up to date on selling the picture from the front as well as through the medium of a radio store in the vicinity. The front was finished in a very flashy manner using a maroon background with a splash effect in orange that gave a dazzling effect around the display frames and was sure a great eye-catcher. In this brilliant front were planted stills of Garbo and Gable in "Susan Lennox."

Pictures Well Bally'd

In Hanover, the provincial capital, the town was alive with showmanship on pictures both American and German that made one sit up and take notice. Ballyhoos of distinct and novel nature as well as theatre fronts that teemed with selling copy, plus throwaways handed out at every important street corner in the downtown district.

However, it was in Hamburg that I had the first opportunity to observe the activities of both chain operators and private exhibitors who were surely up and at them with every live means of advertising and exploitation. The UFA chain was particularly impressive, their outstanding theatre being the new UFA Palast, a beautiful modernistic building with a seating capacity of about 4200. Through the kindness of Herr Rudolf Schmidt, Kino-Direcktor, I was escorted through this marvelous house and found many things that were distinctly different from our ace houses, such as the front lobby being used as a promenade with the ticket booths situated in the center of this huge oblong entrance. Displays in the modern trend were profuse.

While buying tickets or looking at the displays, patrons were entertained by a string ensemble, situated in the promenade above that serves as both foyer and beer garden, and which is gained by ascending the huge staircase at either end of the lobby. Before entering the theatre proper, patrons are requested to check hats and coats (ladies too) so that the show may be viewed in complete comfort.

The sound and projection were perfect and the photography marvelous. Although the show is not put on as smoothly as our ace houses, it was interesting to note their methods. After the "break" patrons were ushered out by the check room and through runways on either side of the house outside the auditorium to the exits in the rear of the theatre, thereby allowing waiting patrons to walk right into a clear house.

UFA Palast, Berlin

The advertising and exploitation used by this ace house is the same as that used by the music halls and opera houses, the lithography being confined to the State controlled street kiosks. However, the lobbies were filled with attractive water color art work and a huge banner was flown from an adjacent building announcing the premiere of Willy Fritch in "A Season in Cairo."

Brown's Lobby Sells Background of Picture

Bill Brown, hustling manager of the Marboro Theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y., whose stuff appeared regularly in these columns before his unfortunate accident last summer, is now well enough to again resume activities and sends along a report on his "Too Much Harmony" campaign, in which he effected a back stage dressing room lobby display (see photo).

Bill's "Harmonious" Lobby

The house electrician hooked up the regulation lights around a mirror in the center of the foyer, the mirror being covered with silver paper so that the title and stars could be lettered upon it. Bill then made a tieup with a nearby cosmetic shop which supplied the necessary makeup material as used by professional performers. Screens were placed around the exhibit to convey the proper atmosphere, to which stills were also attached to further sell the picture. The actual cost to the theatre Brown reports was less than one dollar.

As a Thanksgiving plug, this Round Tabler promoted a local market for six live turkeys which were given away at the theatre, the ganders being planted in a nearby window with theatre poster copy a week in advance.

Welcome back, Bill, and the above indicates that your accident has not slowed you up. Come again soon, and in the meantime, stay out of taxicabs.

Many Workable Stunts In Freuler Press Book

Helen Harrison, talented publicity director of Freuler Films, is responsible for a meaty press book, "Marriage on Approval," containing a number of workable exploitation ideas and merchandising tie-ups that should do much in putting over this production.

The publishers of the book from which the story was taken had prepared a special movie edition, each copy of which contains a band plugging the picture. In addition, a counter easel has also been prepared on which a copy of the book is exhibited with a still from the picture, and arrangements have been made for book stores to use these displays in tie-ups with local showings of the picture.

A number of other sound stunts are also suggested which together with the tie-ups made with a number of prominent film magazines make up a well rounded campaign.

Snappy Showmanship From 1500 Town

For a town of 1,500 and a theatre with only 200 seats, Manager Boyd F. Scott, Palace, Crane, Texas, puts out a lot of inexpensive but snappy exploitation that would do credit to a much larger spot. He sends along some samples of his recent activities that brought good returns.

On "Solitaire Man," Boyd had a man on the street, dressed in black with eyes masked handing out small cards reading "They are looking for me. I am the Solitaire Man." By the time he had completed a circuit of the main street, usually a curious crowd was at his heels, the tip-off on the teaser being explained when the procession came to a halt at the theatre where advertising on the picture was displayed.

Scott put out football score cards through the season, distributing them at the local park, the cards containing copy on his current attractions. He worked a neat prescription herald stunt on "Doctor Bull," and from time to time, he pulls pie eating and apple bobbing contests which are much in favor locally.

Being a new member, Boyd starts off very well and no doubt we will hear more from him on his theatre doings in the near future, at least so we hope.

Spot News from Columbia

All the wise men of Hollywood are agog over BORZAGE'S latest masterpiece for Columbia, based on the world famous novel by Ferenc Molnar. They have tabbed this as one of the top-notchers of the New Year.

Yesterday's headlines brought to vivid life by modern casts of today. "MARCH OF THE YEARS" is short—but big enough to "make" any show.

"LET'S FALL IN LOVE," Columbia's new entertainment code for movie fans brought to life with song and love by Edmund Lowe, Ann Sothern, Miriam Jordan and Gregory Ratoff.

When over ten million newspaper readers daily go wild over Riplev's "MINUTE MYSTERIES" there are sixty million waiting to follow suit. Here's their opportunity and yours—in these thrilling short reel mysteryettes.

Film Heads Plan Benefits To Aid Duarte Sanitarium

A series of dinners in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles early next year, and a benefit performance at the New Amsterdam theatre in New York, January 28, are planned by prominent film people interested in wiping out by March 1 the $140,000 deficit of the Los Angeles Tubercular Sanitarium at Duarte, Cal., near Los Angeles.

The organization, non-sectarian and taking patients regardless of their station or position, has approximately 130 patients from New York. The New Amsterdam theatre benefit is being sponsored by Will Hays, H. M. Warner, Adolph Zukor, Max Steuer, Major LaGuardia, George Jessel, Eddie Cantor, Jack Pearl and Daniel Frohman. The Milk and Egg League of New York is the direct sponsor. Harry Charnas is in charge of the entire affair.

Denies Move to Kill Allegations

Federal Judge Marcus B. Campbell in Brooklyn last week denied a motion of Robert P. Levis, attorney for New York Investors, Inc., now in equity receivership, to have certain allegations stricken from the petition of Archibald Palmer to have the concern declared bankrupt. The allegations are to the effect that the corporation is insolvent. A trial to determine the corporation's solvency has been set for January 3.

Ohio Valley Exhibitors Elects Willis Vance

The Ohio Valley Independent Exhibitors' League, recently organized in Cincinnati to replace the Greater Cincinnati Motion Picture Exhibitors' Association and the Allied unit, last week elected its first officers.

Willis Vance was elected president; Frank W. Huss, Jr., vice-president; Harold Bernstein, secretary, and Charles Fine, sergeant-at-arms. Trustees are, besides the abovementioned, H. O. Krent, Henry Levy, William Gerves, Leo Stephany and Sam Turk.

Universal Production Is Now Half Completed

Universal has completed half of its current production schedule, it was indicated by James R. Grainger, in charge of distribution, during a stopover at Chicago late last week, en route to the Coast studio. He will confer with Junior and Senior Laemmle on product when he arrives, completing a tour of Universal exchanges.

Miss Tucker in Majestic Film

Sophie Tucker will return to Hollywood January 20 to start work on a feature for Majestic Pictures. Jack Yellin, song writer, is on the Coast preparing dialogue and music for the film. Bert Ennis has appointed Martin Mooney to the exploitation staff at the home office.

Warner Takes Cleveland House

Warner Brothers this week will assume control and operation of the Hippodrome, Cleveland, opening with Paul Muni in "The World Changes." The policy is expected to be straight pictures, on a weekly change basis. The acquisition gives Warner control of two Cleveland first runs.

Van Osten's Death Took Champion of Exhibitors' Rights

California theatre circles lost a colorful and valuable figure in the passing of Thomas D. Van Osten, secretary of the California Theatre Association, whose death was recorded in a recent issue.

Advance man, band master, theatre manager, trade journalist and publisher, and organizer of theatre owners' associations, he became so closely identified with the industry that he was a veritable encyclopaedia of information.

Born in Tioga, Pa., in the early years of the civil war, Mr. Van Osten from his early youth had worked around theatres, bands, carnivals, circuses. While having only a grammar school education he was at one time advance man to the Rev. T. DeWitt Talmadge and also to Robert G. Ingersoll, with whom the famous cleric debated. He became interested in music, was treasurer of Sousa's band and for several years managed and directed bands in Savannah, Ga.

Some twelve years ago Van Osten organized the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Northern California which later merged with the Allied Amusement Industries. Two years ago this association became more localized in San Francisco and became the present California Theatre Association. Mr. Van Osten served all three organizations in three capacities, first as secretary, second as legislative representative in Sacramento, and third as the publisher and editor of the Pacific Coast Exhibitor-Bulletin. This association, which is comprised of all the major exhibitor groups in San Francisco, had in Mr. Van Osten's publication its principal organ of expression. The publication suspended after some eleven years.

Year after year Van Osten attended sessions of the California state legislature in the interest of the theatre industry. Eighteen months ago some 22 anti-theatre-industry bills were introduced, and all of them were either nullified or killed outright through his efforts. Perhaps his greatest service was his organizing of the vigorous and dramatic campaign which defeated daylight saving in California. It was Van Osten who for several years gathered together all the heavy ammunition used in the publicity campaign against daylight saving.

Four Start in Astoria

William Rowland and Monte Brice will make four features at the Eastern Service Studios, Astoria, Long Island, in conjunction with Lee Shubert, stage producer. The four pictures will be based on Shubert productions and will be released through United Artists. The first goes into production this week.

Distributors Dissolve Firm

Jack Lyons and Basil Brady, independent distributors at Buffalo, have dissolved their partnership. Mr. Lyons will continue to operate Buffalo Film Exchange. Mr. Brady has taken over a number of Pathe reissues.

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features which are finished or are in work, but to which release dates have not been assigned, are listed in "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the distributors. Where they vary, the change is probably due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1933, unless otherwise specified.

ALLIED PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Fighting Parson, The	Hoot Gibson-Marceline Day	May 22	70	June 3
One Year Later	Mary Brian-Russell Hopton	Aug. 25	69	Aug. 12
Picture Brides	Dorothy Mackaill-Regis Toomey	Nov. 1	68	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Bungalow Court
Davy Jones' Locker
Midnight Alarm
Open for Inspection
Silk Trimmed
Slightly Used

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
By Appointment Only	Lew Cody-Aileen Pringle	July 7	67	Dec. 2
Dance, Girl, Dance	Alan Dinehart-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 1	70	Nov. 11
I Have Lived	Alan Dinehart-Anita Page	June 15	69	Sept. 16
In the Money	"Skeets" Gallagher - Lois Wilson - Warren Hymer	Nov. 7	62
Man of Sentiment, A	Marian Marsh - Owen Moore - Wm. Bakewell	Sept. 15	74
Notorious But Nice	Marian Marsh-Betty Compson	Aug. 5	72	Nov. 11
Rainbow Over Broadway	Joan Marsh-Frank Albertson	Dec. 1	70

Coming Feature Attractions

Murder on the Campus	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey
Swan Song	John Mack Brown - Claire Windsor-Anita Louise - Kenneth Thomson

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Above the Clouds	R. Cromwell-R. Armstrong-D. Wilson	Oct. 20	67
Before Midnight	June Collyer-Ralph Bellamy	Nov. 18	63
Brief Moment	Carole Lombard-Gene Raymond-Donald Cook	Sept. 8	69	Oct. 7
East of Fifth Ave.	Wallace Ford-Walter Connolly-Dorothy Tree	Oct. 20	76
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)
Fighting Code, The	Buck Jones-Diane Sinclair	Dec. 30	65
Fog	Mary Brian - Donald Cook - Reginald Denny	Nov. 22	69
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)
Fury of the Jungle	Donald Cook-Peggy Shannon	Oct. 20	68
Hold the Press	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey	Oct. 25	60
King of the Wild Horses	Wm. Janney-Dorothy Appleby	Nov. 10	66
Lady for a Day	Warren William-Guy Kibbee-May Robson-Glenda Farrell	Sept. 13	102	July 15
Man's Castle, A	Loretta Young-Spencer Tracy	Nov. 4	75
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 14.)
Master of Men	Jack Holt-Fay Wray	Oct. 28	68	Dec. 9
My Woman	Helen Twelvetrees - Wallace Ford - Victor Jory	Oct. 5	73	Oct. 21
Police Car 17	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 30	58	Nov. 18
Shadows of Sing Sing	Bruce Cabot - Mary Brian	Dec. 3	65
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)
Straightaway	Tim McCoy-Sue Carol	Dec. 22
Thrill Hunter, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Sept. 30	58	Nov. 25
Wrecker, The	Jack Holt-Genevieve Tobin	July 10	72	Aug. 12

Coming Feature Attractions

Fighting Ranger, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier
It Happened One Night	Clark Gable-Claudette Colbert
Lady Is Willing, The	Leslie Howard-Binnie Barnes
Let's Fall in Love	Ann Sothern - Edmund Lowe
Line-Up, The	William Gargan-Marian Nixon
Man Trailer, The	Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker
Murder at Rexford Arms	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey
Ninth Guest	Donald Cook-Genevieve Tobin
No Greater Glory	Frankie Darro - Jackie Searl - George Breakston
Once to Every Woman	Fay Wray - Walter Connolly - Ralph Bellamy
Party's Over, The
Speed Wings	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp
Twentieth Century	John Barrymore
Whirlpool	Jack Holt

FIRST DIVISION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Drive, The		May 20	89	Jan. 28
Dassan		Dec. 22
Eat 'Em Alive		Nov. 3
He, King of Virtue	Fernandel-Collette Darfeuil	Dec. 26
Throne of God		Dec. 22
Road to Ruin	Helen Foster-Paul Page

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bureau of Missing Persons	Bette Davis - Lewis Stone - Glenda Farrell	Sept. 16	74	Sept. 2
Convention City	Joan Blondell-Dick Powell - A. Menjou - Mary Astor	Dec. 30	69	Dec. 9
Female	Ruth Chatterton	Nov. 11	60	Oct. 21
Goodbye Again	W. William - Joan Blondell	Sept. 9	66	June 17
Havana Widows	Joan Blondell-Glenda Farrell-Lyle Talbot	Nov. 18	62	Dec. 2
I Loved a Woman	Edward G. Robinson-Kay Francis - Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 23	90	Sept. 16
She Had to Say Yes	Loretta Young - Lyle Talbot	July 15	62	June 17
Son of a Sailor	Joe E. Brown - Johnny Mack Brown	Dec. 23	73	Dec. 9
Wild Boys of the Road	All Star	Oct. 7	68	Sept. 30
World Changes, The	Paul Muni	Nov. 25	93	Nov. 4

Coming Feature Attractions

Bedside	Warren William	Jan. 27,'34
Big Shakedown, The	Bette Davis - Chas. Farrell - Ricardo Cortez	Jan. 6,'34	64
Dark Hazard	Edward G. Robinson	Feb. 3,'34		Nov. 25
Fashions of 1934	William Powell-Bette Davis	Feb. 17,'34
Fur Coats	Aline MacMahon
Heat Lightning	Aline MacMahon-Glenda Farrell-Ann Dvorak - Lyle Talbot
Journal of a Crime	Ruth Chatterton
Mandalay	Kay Francis-Ricardo Cortez	Feb. 10,'34
Massacre	R. Barthelmess-Ann Dvorak	Jan. 20,'34
Modern Hero, A	Richard Barthelmess
Registered Nurse	Bebe Daniels-Lyle Talbot
Very Honorable Guy, A	Joe E. Brown
Wonder Bar	Al Jolson-Dick Powell-Ricardo Cortez-Dolores Del Rio-Kay Francis

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
As Husbands Go	Warner Baxter-Helen Vinson	Dec. 29	78	Nov. 18
Berkeley Square	Leslie Howard-Heather Angel	Nov. 3	90	July 22
Charlie Chan's Greatest Case	Warner Oland-Heather Angel	Sept. 15	71	Oct. 14
Devil's In Love, The	Victor Jory-Loretta Young	July 21	71	Aug. 5
Doctor Bull	Will Rogers - Louise Dresser - Marian Nixon-Ralph Morgan	Sept. 22	77	Oct. 14
F. P. I.	Conrad Veidt-Jill Esmond-Leslie Fenton	July 28	90	May 20
Good Companions, The	Jessie Matthews - Edmund Gwenn	Sept. 8	96	Apr. 29
Hoopla	Clara Bow-Preston Foster	Nov. 30	78	Dec. 9
I Was a Spy	Herbert Marshall - Madeleine Carroll - Conrad Veidt	Dec. 15	75	Sept. 23
Jimmy and Sally	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Nov. 24	68	Dec. 23
Last Trail, The	George O'Brien-Claire Trevor	Aug. 25	60
Life in the Raw	George O'Brien-Claire Trevor	July 7	62	Nov. 4
Mad Game, The	Spencer Tracy - Claire Trevor - Ralph Morgan	Oct. 27	65	Oct. 28
Man Who Dared, The	Preston Foster-Zita Johann	July 14	75	July 15
Mr. Skitch	Will Rogers-Zasu Pitts	Dec. 22	70	Dec. 16
My Lips Betray	Lilian Harvey-John Boles	Nov. 10	79	Nov. 11
My Weakness	Lilian Harvey-Lew Ayres	Sept. 29	74	Sept. 30
Olsen's Big Moment	El Brendel	Nov. 17	66	Oct. 28
Paddy, the Next Best Thing	Janet Gaynor-Warner Baxter	Sept. 1	76	Sept. 2
Pilgrimage	Henrietta Crosman - Marian Nixon - Norman Foster	Aug. 18	90	July 22
Power and the Glory, The	Spencer Tracy-Colleen Moore	Oct. 6	76	Aug. 26
Shanghai Madness	Spencer Tracy-Fay Wray	Aug. 4	68	Sept. 2
Smoky	Victor Jory-Irene Bentley	Dec. 8	69	Dec. 9
Walls of Gold	Sally Eilers-Norman Foster	Oct. 13	70	Oct. 14
Worst Woman in Paris?	Benita Hume-Adolphe Menjou	Oct. 20	78	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Bottoms Up	Pat Paterson - Spencer Tracy - John Boles
Carolina	Janet Gaynor-Lionel Barrymore-Robert Young-Henrietta Crosman	Feb. 2,'34
Coming Out Party	Frances Dee-Gene Raymond
David Harum	Will Rogers-Louise Dresser
Disillusion	Victor Jory - John Boles - Rosemary Ames	Feb. 23,'34
Ever Since Eve	George O'Brien-Mary Brian	Feb. 9,'34
Every Girl for Herself	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Feb. 16,'34
Fox Follies	(All Star Musical)
Frontier Marshal	George O'Brien-Irene Bentley	Jan. 19,'34	66
I Am Suzanne!	Lilian Harvey-Gene Raymond	Jan. 5,'34
Only Girl, The	Lilian Harvey-Charles Boyer		95	Aug. 12
Orient Express	Heather Angel-Norman Foster	Jan. 12,'34
"Scandals"	Rudy Vallee-George White-Jack Haley-Alice Faye
Sleepers East	Wynne Gibson-Preston Foster	Jan. 26,'34
Three Against Death	Marion Burns-Kane Richmond

FREULER FILM ASSOCIATES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Easy Millions	Skeets Gallagher-Dorothy Burgess-Merna Kennedy	June 30	68
Marriage on Approval	Donald Dillaway-Barbara Kent-Phyllis Barry	Nov. 17	80
War of the Range	Tom Tyler	Sept. 22	60

Coming Feature Attractions

Black Cat, The Bulldog Edition
East of Sudan
Green Paradise
Love After Thirty	Aileen Pringle - Theodore Von Eltz
My Wandering Boy
Red Man's Country
Silent Army, The
Sister of the Follies

GAUMONT-BRITISH

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baroud (See "Love In Morocco")
Britannia of Billingsgate	Violet Loraine-Gordon Harker		79½	Oct. 7
Channel Crossing	Constance Cummings - Matheson Lang
Falling for You	J. Hulbert-Cicely Courtneidge		88	Sept. 30
Fire Raisers, The	Leslie Banks
Ghost Train, The	Jack Hulbert	Dec. 1	68	Feb. 25
Ghoul, The	Boris Karloff		85	Oct. 28
It's a Boy	Edward Everett Horton - Leslie Henson		80	Sept. 30
Just Smith	Tom Walls
King of the Ritz	Stanley Lupino - Gina Malo		88
Love in Morocco	Rex Ingram	Dec. 1	67	Oct. 15,'32
(Reviewed under the title "Baroud")
Love on Wheels	Jack Hulbert-Gordon Harker		91
Lucky Number, The	Clifford Mollison - Joan Wyndham		72½	Sept. 9
Man from Toronto, The	Jessie Matthews - Ian Hunter - Fred Kerr		77

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Marry Me	Renate Muller-Harry Green		85	Apr. 22
Night and Day	Jack Hulbert-Winifred Shotter	Dec. 1	77	June 10
Orders Is Orders	Charlotte Greenwood - James Gleason		88½	Aug. 19
Prince of Wales, The
Sleeping Car	Ivor Novello-Madeleine Carroll		83	July 8
There Goes the Bride	Jessie Matthews	Dec. 1	79	Mar. 11
Waltz Time	Evelyn Laye	Oct. 1	81	Aug. 12
Woman in Command, The	Cicely Courtneidge - Edward Everett Horton		80

LIBERTY PICTURES

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheaters	"Bill" Boyd-Dorothy Mackaill-June Collyer
Mad Honeymoon, The
Quitter, The
School for Girls
Take the Stand
Two Heads on a Pillow
When Strangers Meet	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge
Without Children

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Charming Deceiver, The (Reviewed under the title, "Heads We Go")	Constance Cummings	Dec. 8	87	Sept. 16
Curtain at Eight	Dorothy Mackaill - C. Aubrey Smith-Paul Cavanagh	Oct. 1	74
Morning After, The (Reviewed under the title, "I Spy")	Ben Lyon-Sally Eilers	Jan. 1,'34	63	Oct. 28
Sin of Nora Moran, The	Zita Johann-John Miljan	Dec. 13	65
Sing, Sinner, Sing	Paul Lukas-Leila Hyams	Aug. 1	73	Aug. 19
You Made Me Love You	Thelma Todd-Stanley Lupino	Nov. 24	74	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Divorce Bed, The	Edward Arnold-John Miljan	Jan. 15,'34

MAYFAIR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dance Hall Hostess	Helen Chandler-Jason Robards-Edward Nugent	July 1	73	Sept. 2
Her Forgotten Past	Monte Blue - Barbara Kent - Henry B. Walthall	Sept. 1	68
Riot Squad	Madge Bellamy-Pat O'Malley	June 15	70	Aug. 5
Secret Sinners	Sue Carol-Nick Stuart	Oct. 20	70
What's Your Racket?	Regis Toomey-Noel Francis	Dec. 1	62

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Another Language	Helen Hayes-Robt. Montgomery	July 28	79	Aug. 5
Beauty for Sale	Otto Kruger-Madge Evans	Sept. 1	87	Sept. 9
Bombshell	Jean Harlow-Lee Tracy	Oct. 13	98	Oct. 7
Broadway to Hollywood	Alice Brady - Frank Morgan - Madge Evans-Eddie Quillan-Jackie Cooper-Russell Hardie-Fay Templeton - Jimmy Durante	Sept. 15	89	Sept. 9
Chief, The	Ed Wynn-D. Mackaill	Nov. 3	66	Dec. 9
Dancing Lady	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable	Nov. 24	94	Nov. 25
Day of Reckoning	Richard Dix-Madge Evans	Oct. 27	70	Nov. 11
Going Hollywood	Marion Davies-Bing Crosby	Dec. 22	79	Dec. 16
Her Sweetheart (Reviewed under the title, "Christopher Bean")	Marie Dressler-L. Barrymore	Nov. 17	87	Nov. 18
Hold Your Man	Jean Harlow-Clark Gable	July 7	89	July 8
Meet the Baron	Jack Pearl - Jimmy Durante - Zasu Pitts	Oct. 20	65	Nov. 4
Night Flight	H. Hayes - J. Barrymore - L. Barrymore - C. Gable - Robt. Montgomery	Oct. 6	91	Aug. 19
Penthouse	Warner Baxter-Myrna Loy-Mae Clarke-Phillips Holmes-Chas. Butterworth	Sept. 8	91	Sept. 9
Prizefighter and the Lady, The	Max Baer-Myrna Loy-Dempsey-Carnera-Walter Huston	Nov. 10	102	Oct. 28
Should Ladies Behave? (Reviewed under the title, "The Vinegar Tree")	Alice Brady-Lionel Barrymore-Conway Tearle	Dec. 1	78	Nov. 11
Solitaire Man	Herbert Marshall - Elizabeth Allan - Lionel Atwill	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 16
Sons of the Desert	Laurel and Hardy	Dec. 29	68
Stage Mother	A. Brady - Russell Hardie - M. O'Sullivan - F. Tone	Sept. 29	87	Sept. 16
Storm at Daybreak	Nils Asther-Kay Francis	July 14	82	July 1
Stranger's Return, The	Lionel Barrymore - Franchot Tone-Miriam Hopkins	July 21	89	July 15
Tugboat Annie	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Robt. Young-M. O'Sullivan	Aug. 4	88	Aug. 12
Turn Back the Clock	Lee Tracy-Mae Clarke	Aug. 25	80	Sept. 2
Women in His Life, The	Otto Kruger-Isabel Jewell-Ben Lyon	Dec. 8	76

Coming Feature Attractions

Cat and the Fiddle, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)	Jeanette MacDonald-Ramon Novarro	Jan. 19,'34
Dinner at Eight	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore - Jean Harlow - Madge Evans - Karen Morley - Edmund Lowe - Lee Tracy - Jean Hersholt	Jan. 12,'34	113	June 10
Eskimo	Native Cast		117	Nov. 18
Fugitive Lovers	Robt. Montgomery-Madge Evans	Jan. 5,'34
Hollywood Party, The	(All Star Musical)
It Happened One Day	Lionel Barrymore-Fay Bainter
Laughing Boy	Ramon Novarro-Lupe Velez
Men in White	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy
Mystery of the Dead Police	Robt. Montgomery - Elizabeth Allan
Old Hannibal	May Robson-Jean Parker
Queen Christina	Greta Garbo - John Gilbert
Rip Tide	Norma Shearer - Robert Montgomery-Herbert Marshall
Tarzan and His Mate	J. Weissmuller-M. O'Sullivan
Viva Villa	Wallace Beery-Fay Wray

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Avenger, The	Ralph Forbes-Adrienne Ames	Aug. 10	79	Oct. 7
Broken Dreams	Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper	Oct. 20	68	Nov. 4
Devil's Mate	Preston Foster-Peggy Shannon	Aug. 20	68	Aug. 12
Fighting Texans	Rex Bell	June 15	58	July 29
Fugitive, The	Rex Bell-Cecilia Parker	July 15	56
Galloping Romeo	Bob Steele-Doris Hill	Aug. 5	54
He Couldn't Take It	Ray Walker-Virginia Cherrill	Dec. 15	63
Rainbow Ranch	Rex Bell	July 25	55
Rangers' Code	Bob Steele	Aug. 15	56
Riders of Destiny	John Wayne-Cecilia Parker	Oct. 10	58
Sagebrush Trail	John Wayne	Dec. 15	58	Dec. 23
Sensation Hunters	Arline Judge-Preston Foster	Aug. 30	70
Sixteen Fathoms Deep (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 2.)	Sally O'Neil-Creighton Chaney	Jan. 1,'34	57
Skyway	K. Crawford-Ray Walker	Aug. 15	65
Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, The	Mary Carlisle-Buster Crabbe	Oct. 1	76	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Ape, The
Beggars in Ermine	Lionel Atwill
Blue Steel	John Wayne
Jane Eyre
Lucky Texan, The	John Wayne
Manhattan Love Song
Mystery Liner	Noah Beery - Astrid Allwyn - Cornelius Keith
West of the Divide	John Wayne-Virginia B. Faire
Woman's Man	John Halliday-Marguerite de la Motte-Wallace Ford	Jan. 10,'34

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alice in Wonderland	Charlotte Henry - R. Arlen - J. Oakie-Chas. Ruggles	Dec. 22	75	Dec. 16
Big Executive	Ricardo Cortez-Elizabeth Young	Aug. 18	72	Aug. 5
Cradle Song	Dorothea Wieck-Kent Taylor	Nov. 17	77	Nov. 4
Disgraced	Helen Twelvetrees-Bruce Cabot	July 7	65	June 24
Duck Soup	Four Marx Bros.	Nov. 17	80	Nov. 11
Girl Without a Room	M. Churchill-Chas. Farrell-C. Ruggles	Dec. 8	75	Dec. 9
Golden Harvest	Richard Arlen-Chester Morris-Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 22	70	Sept. 23
Design for Living	Miriam Hopkins-Fredric March-Gary Cooper	Dec. 29	88	Nov. 25
Hell and High Water	Richard Arlen-Judith Allen	Oct. 27	70	Oct. 21
Her Bodyguard	Wynne Gibson-Edmund Lowe	July 21	70	July 8
I'm No Angel	Mae West-Cary Grant	Oct. 6	87	Oct. 7
Lone Cowboy	Jackie Cooper	Dec. 1	68	Nov. 25
Mama Loves Papa	Charles Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lilyan Tashman	July 14	72	July 15
Man of the Forest	Randolph Scott-Verna Hillie	July 14	62½
Midnight Club	Clive Brook-George Raft-Helen Vinson-Alison Skipworth	July 28	70	July 29
One Sunday Afternoon	Gary Cooper-Fay Wray	Sept. 1	85	Aug. 26
Sitting Pretty	Jack Haley-Jack Oakie-Ginger Rogers	Nov. 24	80	Dec. 2
Song of Songs	Marlene Dietrich-Brian Aherne	Aug. 11	92	July 1
Take a Chance	James Dunn - June Knight - "Buddy" Rogers - Lillian Roth	Oct. 27	82	Nov. 4
This Day and Age	Charles Bickford-Judith Allen	Aug. 25	82	July 29
Three-Cornered Moon	C. Colbert-Richard Arlen-Lyda Roberti-Mary Boland	Aug. 4	72	Aug. 12
Thundering Herd, The	Randolph Scott-Judith Allen	Nov. 24	58½
Tillie and Gus	Alison Skipworth-W. C. Fields	Oct. 13	57½	Nov. 18
To the Last Man	Randolph Scott-Esther Ralston	Sept. 15	70	Sept. 16
Too Much Harmony	Bing Crosby-Jack Oakie-Lilyan Tashman	Sept. 29	75	Sept. 9
Torch Singer	Claudette Colbert - Ricardo Cortez - David Manners	Sept. 8	72	Sept. 2
Way to Love, The	Maurice Chevalier-Ann Dvorak	Oct. 20	84	Sept. 30
White Woman	Carole Lombard-Chas. Laughton-Chas. Bickford	Nov. 3	73	Oct. 28

Coming Feature Attractions

All of Me	Fredric March-Miriam Hopkins-George Raft	Jan. 26,'34
Baby in the Ice-Box	Richard Arlen-Sally Eilers
Bolero	George Raft-Carole Lombard	Feb. 16,'34
Catherine the Great	Marlene Dietrich-John Lodge	Feb. 23,'34
Death Takes a Holiday	Fredric March-Evelyn Venable	Mar. 2,'34
Eight Girls in a Boat	Kay Johnson - Dorothy Wilson - Doug. Montgomery	Jan. 5,'34	78
Four Frightened People	C. Colbert - H. Marshall - Wm. Gargan - M. Boland	Jan. 19,'34
Good Dame	Sylvia Sidney-Fredric March
His Double Life	Roland Young-Lillian Gish	Jan. 12,'34	68
Last Round-Up, The	Randolph Scott-Barbara Adams	Jan. 26,'34
Man Who Broke His Heart, The	Preston Foster-Carole Lombard
Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen	Dorothea Wieck-Baby Le Roy	Jan. 12,'34	68	Dec. 23
No More Women	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Feb. 16,'34
Search for Beauty	Buster Crabbe-Ida Lupino	Feb. 2,'34
Six of a Kind	C. Ruggles - M. Boland - W. C. Fields - A. Skipworth - Burns and Allen	Feb. 9,'34

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Jaws of Justice	Kazan-Teddy and Richard Terry	Dec. 4	58
Russia Today		Nov. 8	42	Oct. 28
Tarzan the Fearless	Buster Crabbe	Aug. 11	61	Aug. 19
Thunder Over Mexico	Native Cast	Nov. 15	70	May 20

Coming Feature Attractions

Desperate Trails	Kazan
Ferocious Pal, The	Kazan
King of the North	Kazan
Lone Avenger, The	Kazan
Teeth of Steel	Kazan

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ace of Aces	Richard Dix - Elizabeth Allan - Ralph Bellamy	Oct. 20	74	Sept. 30
After Tonight	Constance Bennett - Gilbert Roland	Nov. 10	71	Oct. 28
Aggie Appleby	Wynne Gibson-Charles Farrell	Nov. 3	73	Oct. 28
Ann Vickers	Irene Dunne - Walter Huston - Conrad Nagel	Oct. 13	72	Sept. 30
Bed of Roses	Constance Bennett-Joel McCrea	July 14	67	July 8
Before Dawn	Stuart Erwin-Dorothy Wilson	Aug. 4	62	Oct. 21
Blind Adventure	Robt. Armstrong-Helen Mack	Aug. 18	60	Aug. 12
Chance at Heaven	Joel McCrea - Ginger Rogers - Marian Nixon	Oct. 27	70	Oct. 14
Deluge, The	Peggy Shannon - Lois Wilson - Sidney Blackmer-Matt Moore	Sept. 15	68	Aug. 19
Double Harness	Ann Harding-William Powell	July 21	74	July 8
Flaming Gold	Bill Boyd - Mae Clarke - Pat O'Brien	Sept. 29	53
Flying Devils	Arline Judge-Bruce Cabot-Ralph Bellamy-Eric Linden	July 14	62	Sept. 2
Flying Down to Rio	Dolores Del Rio - Gene Ray - mond - Raul Roulien	Dec. 29	80	Dec. 16
Goodbye Love	Charles Ruggles	Nov. 10	66
Headline Shooter	Wm. Gargan - Frances Dee - R. Bellamy-W. Ford-G. Ratoff	July 28	65	July 29
If I Were Free!	Irene Dunne-Nils Asther-Clive Brook	Dec. 1	66	Dec. 23

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Little Women	K. Hepburn - Jean Bennett - Frances Dee - Paul Lukas	Nov. 24	107	Nov. 11
Midshipman Jack	Bruce Cabot-Betty Furness	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 16
Morning Glory	K. Hepburn-D. Fairbanks, Jr.	Aug. 18	70	July 29
No Marriage Ties	Richard Dix-Doris Kenyon	Aug. 11	73	Aug. 12
One Man's Journey	Lionel Barrymore-Joel McCrea-Dorothy Jordan	Sept. 8	72	Sept. 9
Rafter Romance	Ginger Rogers-Norman Foster	Sept. 1	70	Aug. 5
Right to Romance, The	Ann Harding-Nils Asther	Nov. 17	70	Nov. 25
Son of Kong	Robert Armstrong-Helen Mack	Dec. 22	69½

Coming Feature Attractions

Girl Meets Boy — Joel McCrea
Hips, Hips, Hooray! — Wheeler and Woolsey
Long Lost Father — John Barrymore-Helen Chandler
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)
Lost Patrol, The — McLaglen-Karloff
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)
Man of Two Worlds — Francis Lederer-Elissa Landi
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)
Meanest Gal in Town, The — Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - El Brendel - James Gleason - "Skeets" Gallagher
Rodney — Walter Huston-Frances Dee
So You Won't Sing, Eh? — Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - William Gargan
Success Story — Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.-Colleen Moore - Genevieve Tobin
Transient Love — Irene Dunne-Ralph Bellamy
Trigger — Katharine Hepburn
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)
Wild Birds — Jean Parker-Tom Brown
World Outside, The — Ann Harding

SHOWMEN'S PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Race, The	Boots Mallory-John Darrow	Dec. 1	71
His Private Secretary	Evalyn Knapp - John Wayne	June 10	60	June 10
Moth, The	Sally O'Neil-Paul Page	Jan. 1,'34	63
Police Call	Merna Kennedy-Nick Stuart	July 24	60	Sept. 9
Public Stenographer	Lola Lane-Wm. Collier, Jr.	Nov. 1	62
Ship of Wanted Men	Dorothy Sebastian-Leon Waycoff	Sept. 24	63	Sept. 16

Coming Feature Attractions

Golden Head
St. Louis Woman
Souls in Pawn
Special Duty
Unlimited
Within the Rock

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Carnival Lady	Boots Mallory-Allen Vincent	Hollywood
Criminal at Large	Emlyn Williams-Cathleen Nesbitt	Helber Prods.	Jan. 15,'34	65
Cougar, the King Killer	Edwin C. Hill - Jay Bruce	Master Art	Nov. 1	60
Farewell to Love	Jan Kiepura-Heather Angel	Madison Picts.	Nov. 24	66	Dec. 2
Film Parade		J. S. Blackton		55
Flaming Signal, The	Marceline Day	Invincible		64
Get That Venus	Ernest Truex - Jean Arthur	Regent Picts.
Gow		Film Exchange	Nov. 29	65	Dec. 9
Hell's Holiday	(War Film)	Superb Picts.		77	July 22
Her Secret	Sari Maritza - Wm. Collier, Jr.	Ideal		73
Her Splendid Folly	Lilian Bond - T. Von Eltz	Progressive	Oct. 7	59	Nov. 4
Important Witness, The	Noel Francis-Donald Dillaway	Tower	July 15	64	Oct. 21
Mam'zelle Nitouche	Janie Marese-Raimu	Protex	Nov. 18	90	Dec. 2
Mr. Broadway	All Star	B'way-Hollywood		59	Sept. 23
Over the Seven Seas		Vanderbilt		70	June 3
Passion of Joan of Arc, The	Maria Falconnetti	Capital	Sept. 7	57	Sept. 16
Reform Girl	Noel Francis-Donald Dillaway	Tower	July 15	64	Oct. 21
Savage Gold		Harold Auten	July 24	67	July 29
Secrets of Hollywood	Mae Busch - June Walters	Lester F. Scott		58	Sept. 16
Shepherd of the Seven Hills, The		Faith Pictures	Aug. 7	60	Aug. 19
Sleepless Nights	Polly Walker - Stanley Lupino	Remington	July 21	65	July 29
This Is America		Frederick Ullman, Jr.	July 19	70	July 29
Through the Centuries		Beacon Films	Dec. 1	70	Dec. 16
Truth About Africa, The		Wm. Alexander		47	Apr. 22
Volga Volga	H. A. Shilletom	Kinematrade	Dec. 14	76
Wandering Jew, The	Jacob Ben-Ami	JAFA	Oct. 20	90	Oct. 28
Wine, Women and Song	Lilyan Tashman-Lew Cody	I. E. Chadwick		70	Dec. 23

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Advice to the Lovelorn	Lee Tracy-Sally Blane	Dec. 1	63	Dec. 9
Bitter Sweet	Anna Neagle-Fernand Gravey	Sept. 22	93	Aug. 19
Blood Money	George Bancroft-Frances Dee-Chick Chandler-Judith Anderson	Nov. 17	65	Nov. 18
Bowery, The	Wallace Beery - George Raft - Jackie Cooper - Fay Wray	Oct. 13	90	Oct. 7
Broadway Thru a Keyhole	Constance Cummings - Russ Columbo - Paul Kelly	Oct. 27	85	Oct. 21
Emperor Jones	Paul Robeson-Dudley Digges	Sept. 29	80	Sept. 23
Masquerader, The	Ronald Colman-Elissa Landi	Sept. 1	75	Feb. 25
Private Life of Henry VIII, The	Charles Laughton	Nov. 3	97	Sept. 23
Roman Scandals	Eddie Cantor - Gloria Stuart - David Manners-Ruth Etting	Dec. 29	85	Dec. 9

Coming Feature Attractions

Affairs of Cellini, The — Fredric March
Born to Be Bad — Loretta Young-Cary Grant — Feb. 23,'34
Catherine the Great (T.) — Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.- Elizabeth Bergner — Mar. 16,'34
Gallant Lady — Ann Harding-Clive Brook — Jan. 5,'34 — 86 — Dec. 9
House of Rothschild, The — George Arliss
Looking for Trouble — Spencer Tracy - Jack Oakie - Constance Cummings — Feb. 9,'34
Moulin Rouge — Constance Bennett - Franchot Tone - T. Carminati — Jan. 19,'34 — 71 — Dec. 23
Nana — Anna Sten-Lionel Atwill-Phillips Holmes — Feb. 16,'34
Palooka — Jimmy Durante - Stuart Erwin - Lupe Velez — Jan. 26,'34
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 2.)
Queen, The — Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey
Sorrell and Son — H. B. Warner — Mar. 2,'34 — 99

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bombay Mail	Edmund Lowe-Onslow Stevens-Shirley Grey	Jan. 1,'34
By Candlelight	Elissa Landi-Paul Lukas	Dec. 18	70	Dec. 23
Counsellor-at-Law	John Barrymore-Bebe Daniels	Dec. 25	78	Nov. 25
Don't Bet on Love	Lew Ayres-Ginger Rogers	July 13	62	July 29
Fiddlin' Buckaroo	Ken Maynard-Gloria Shea	July 20	62
Gun Justice	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Dec. 11	65
Her First Mate	Summerville-Pitts	Aug. 10	70	July 22
Horseplay	Slim Summerville-Andy Devine-Leila Hyams	Nov. 27	70
Invisible Man, The	Claude Rains - Gloria Stuart - Wm. Harrigan	Nov. 13	70	Nov. 4
King for a Night	Chester Morris - Helen Twelvetrees - Alice White	Oct. 30	78	Dec. 2
Ladies Must Love	June Knight - Neil Hamilton - Mary Carlisle-George E. Stone	Sept. 25	70	Sept. 9
Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!	Summerville-Pitts	Oct. 16	63	Nov. 11
Moonlight and Pretzels	Mary Brian-Leo Carrillo	Aug. 3	84	Sept. 2
Myrt and Marge	Myrtle Dale - Donna Damerell - Ted Healy	Dec. 4	68	Sept. 9
Only Yesterday	John Boles-Margaret Sullavan-Benita Hume-Billie Burke	Nov. 6	105	Nov. 25
S. O. S. Iceberg	Rod La Rocque-Gibson Gowland	Oct. 23	70	Sept. 23
Saturday's Millions	Robert Young-Leila Hyams	Oct. 9	72	Sept. 23
Secret of the Blue Room, The	Lionel Atwill-Paul Lukas-Gloria Stuart-Onslow Stevens	July 20	65½	Sept. 23
Strawberry Roan	Ken Maynard-Ruth Hall	Oct. 26	60	Sept. 30
Trail Drive, The	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Sept. 4	60

Coming Feature Attractions

Beloved — John Boles-Gloria Stuart — Jan. 22,'34 — Dec. 23
Cross Country Cruise — Lew Ayres - Alice White - June Knight — Jan. 15,'34
I Like It That Way — Gloria Stuart-Roger Pryor — Feb. 12,'34
Madame Spy — Fay Wray-Nils Asther — Jan. 8,'34 — 70
Midnight — O. P. Heggie-Sidney Fox — Jan. 29,'34
Poor Rich, The — Edna May Oliver-Edward Everett Horton — Feb. 26,'34
Song for You, A — Marian Nixon-Jan Kiepura
Special Investigator — Wynne Gibson-Onslow Stevens-Alan Dinehart — Mar. 5,'34
Two Clucks — Summerville-Pitts — Mar. 12,'34
Wheels of Destiny — Ken Maynard — Feb. 19,'34

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baby Face	Barbara Stanwyck	July 1	74	Apr. 1
Captured!	Leslie Howard-Doug. Fairbanks, Jr. - Paul Lukas	Aug. 19	72	June 24
College Coach	Dick Powell-Pat O'Brien-Ann Dvorak - Lyle Talbot	Nov. 4	75	Nov. 18
Disraeli (Reissue)	George Arliss	Dec. 16	88	Dec. 14,'29
Ever in My Heart	Barbara Stanwyck	Oct. 28	68	Oct. 21
Footlight Parade	James Cagney - Joan Blondell - Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Guy Kibbee	Oct. 21	101	Oct. 7
From Headquarters	Geo. Brent-M. Lindsay	Dec. 2	63	Dec. 2
Gold Diggers of 1933	Warren William-Joan Blondell-Aline MacMahon-Ruby Keeler-Dick Powell	Sept. 2	98	May 27
House on 56th Street, The	Kay Francis - Ricardo Cortez - Gene Raymond	Dec. 23	68	Dec. 9
Kennel Murder Case	William Powell-Mary Astor	Oct. 28	73	Nov. 4
Lady Killer	James Cagney	Dec. 9	73	Dec. 2
Man from Monterey, The	John Wayne-Ruth Hall	July 15	57	Aug. 26
Mary Stevens, M.D.	Kay Francis	July 22	72	Aug. 12
Narrow Corner, The	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.	July 8	71	July 22
Voltaire	George Arliss-Doris Kenyon	Aug. 5	70	June 24

Coming Feature Attractions

As the Earth Turns — Jean Muir-Donald Woods
Dragon Murder Case, The — William Powell
Easy to Love — Adolphe Menjou - Mary Astor - Genevieve Tobin — Jan. 13,'34
Gambling Lady — Barbara Stanwyck
Harold Teen — Hal LeRoy - Rochelle Hudson - Patricia Ellis
Heir Chaser, The — James Cagney - Bette Davis
Hi, Nellie! — Paul Muni — Jan. 20,'34
I've Got Your Number — Joan Blondell-Pat O'Brien — Feb. 24,'34
Merry Wives of Reno — Ann Dvorak - Glenda Farrell - Margaret Lindsay-Lyle Talbot
Radio Romance — Dick Powell - Pat O'Brien - Ginger Rogers
Upper World — Warren William - Mary Astor - Ginger Rogers

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Attraction, The	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	July 22	89	July 29
Counsel's Opinion	Henry Kendall	London Film		71	Apr. 22
Digging Deep	Henry Kendall-Wendy Barrie	British Lion
Don Quixote	Feodor Chaliapin-George Robey	British-United Artists			July 8
Girl from Maxim's, The	Frances Day	London Film			Oct. 14
Golden Goal, The	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	June 17	85	July 8
Hawleys of High Street, The	Leslie Fuller	British Int'l.		68	July 8
I Lived with You	Ivor Novello - Ursula Jeans	Gaumont-British			Aug. 12
Just My Luck	Ralph Lynn	British and Dominions		80	May 20
Keep It Quiet	Frank Pettingell - Bertha Belmore	British Lion
Maid of the Mountains, The	Harry Welchman - Nancy Brown	British Int'l.		80	Apr. 22
Men of Tomorrow	Maurice Braddell	Paramount-London Film		80	Apr. 15
Money for Speed	John Loder - Ida Lupino - Cyril McLaglen	British-United Artists		67	July 15
Never Trust a Woman	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	Oct.	90
On the Air	Davy Burnaby-Reginald Purdell-Betty Astell	British Lion
Prince of Arcadia	Carl Brisson	Gaumont-British		80	Oct. 28
Private Wives	Claude Allister-Betty Astell	British Lion
Radio Parade		British Int'l.		70	May 13
Song You Gave Me, The	Bebe Daniels-Victor Varconi	British Int'l.		84	Oct. 21
This Week of Grace	Gracie Fields	Radio		92	Oct. 28
Wedding Rehearsal	Roland Young	London Film

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1933 unless otherwise stated]

AUDIO PRODUCTIONS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Butterfly		10
Other Christmas Tree, The		10
Seed Dispersal		10
MUSICAL MOODS
1—Dance of the Hours, Hans Lange		9
2—Ave Maria, Dion Kennedy		7
3—Waters of Minnetonka, Gus Haenschen		6
4—Hula Moon, Native Hawaiian Troupe		7
5—Waltz in A Flat Major, Hans Lange		4

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
KAZY KAT KARTOONS
Antique Antics		1 rl.
Curio Shop, The		1 rl.
House Cleaning		1 rl.
Krazy Spooks	Oct. 13	1 rl.
Out of the Ether	Sept. 5	7½
Stage Krazy	Nov. 13	1 rl.
Whack's Museum	Sept. 29	1 rl.
LAMB'S GAMBOLS
Hear 'Em and Weep		2 rls.
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
1—In Morocco	Sept. 29	1 rl.
2—In the Orient	Oct. 25
3—In South America	Dec. 14	1 rl.
MARCH OF THE YEARS
No. 1—"Boss" Tweed	Sept. 22	9½
No. 2—	Oct. 6	1 rl.
No. 3—Famous Crippon Case	Oct. 20	1 rl.
No. 4—Commander Perry Opens Japan	Oct. 24	1 rl.
MICKEY McGUIRE COMEDIES
1—Mickey's Touchdown	Oct. 14	18
2—Mickey's Tent Show	Oct. 27	18
3—Mickey's Covered Wagon	Nov. 30	18
4—Mickey's Minstrels
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
False Alarm		1 rl.
Hollywood Babes	Nov. 10
Movie Struck	Sept. 8	7½
Sandman Tales	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Scrappy's Art Gallery
World's Affair, The	June 5	1 rl.
MINUTE MYSTERIES
No. 1—Death Attends a Party	Oct. 6	9
No. 2—Fast Fangs	Oct. 13	1 rl.
No. 3—The Clown Dies	Dec. 14
No. 4—When the Lights Went Out		1 rl.
MUSICALS
No. 1 — Roamin' Through the Roses, Art Jarrett	Nov. 16	2 rls.
No. 2—Um-Pa, Jack Osterman	Nov. 24	2 rls.
GEO. SIDNEY AND CHAS. MURRAY
Radio-dough (Tent.)		2 rls.
SMITH AND DALE
Hold Your Temper		2 rls.
Hot Daze	Oct. 20	2 rls.
SUNRISE COMEDIES
Brother, Could You Spare a Million?, Ken Murray	Sept. 13	17
Entertainer, The, Will Mahoney	Oct. 4	20
Say It Isn't So, Richey Craig, Jr.	June 29	19
WORLD OF SPORT
Flying Gloves	Aug. 18	1 rl.
Hook and Line	July 28	1 rl.
In the Good Old Winter Time	June 17	1 rl.
We Want a Touchdown	Oct. 23	1 rl.
What the Scotch Started	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Who Said the Weaker Sex?	Sept. 8	9

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES
An Old Gypsy Custom	Jan. 5,'34	2 rls.
Big Squeal, The	July 9	18
Dora's Dunking Doughnuts	Sept. 1	20
Frozen Assets	Nov. 17
His Weak Moment	Oct. 13
Loose Relations	June 11	20
Super Snooper, The	Feb. 23,'34	2 rls.
AS A DOG THINKS
Walking the Dog	Sept. 29
You and I and the Gatepost	Aug. 25
BABY BURLESKS
Kid 'N Africa	Oct. 6
Polly Tix in Washington	June 4
War Babies	Sept. 18
BATTLE FOR LIFE
Beneath Our Feet	June 25	9
BRAY'S NATURGRAPHS
Giants of the North	June 4	7
Wild Life at Home	June 18	1 rl.
BROADWAY GOSSIP
No. 6	June 18
CORONET COMEDIES
Git Along Little Wifie	Nov. 3
Good Bad Man, The	Dec. 8
DO YOU REMEMBER?
Old-Fashioned Newsreel, An	July 2
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Merrily Yours	Oct. 6
Pardon My Pups	Jan. 26,'34
What's To Do	Nov. 24
HODGE-PODGE
Any Way to Get There	July 16	9
Capers in Clay	July 30
Sawdust Sidelights	June 4	10
MERMAID COMEDIES (Harry Langdon)
Hooks and Jabs	Aug. 25
Leave It to Dad	Oct. 20
Pop's Pal	Dec. 29
Stage Hand, The	Sept. 8
Tied for Life	July 2	18
Trimmed in Furs	Jan. 12,'34	2 rls.
MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
Blue Blackbirds	Aug. 18
Farmers' Fatal Folly	Sept. 15	18
Freeze-Out, The	Dec. 22
Hot Hoofs	June 18
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Million Dollar Melody	Oct. 27
Poppin' the Cork	Dec. 15
ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
Across the Sea	Oct. 20	11
Canyon of Romance	Dec. 8
Enchanted Trail	Sept. 22
SONG HIT STORIES
Last Dogie, The	Nov. 17
Manhattan Lullaby, Helen Morgan	Nov. 24
Slow Poke, Stepin Fetchit	Sept. 22	1 rl.
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Expectant Father, The	Feb. 9,'34
Mr. Adam	Nov. 17
TERRY-TOONS
Banker's Daughter, The	June 25	6
Beanstalk Jack	Oct. 20	6
Fanny in the Lion's Den	July 23	6
Fanny's Wedding Day	Sept. 22
Grand Uproar	Aug. 25
Gypsy Fiddler, A	Oct. 6	6
Holland Days	Jan. 12,'34	6
Hypnotic Eyes	Aug.
In Venice	Dec. 15	6
King Zilch	June 11	6
Last Straw, The	Feb. 23,'34	6
Little Boy Blue	Nov. 30	6
Oil Can Mystery, The	July 9	6
Owl and the Pussycat, The	Mar. 9,'34	1 rl.
Pick-necking	Sept. 8
Rip Van Winkle	Feb. 9,'34
Robinson Crusoe	Nov. 17	6
Sunny South, The	Dec. 29	6
Three Bears, The	Jan. 26,'34	6
Village Blacksmith, The	Nov. 3	6
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Aces Wild	July 9	10
Divorce Sweets	Nov. 30
Honesty Pays, But Not Much	June 4
Mouse Trapper, The	Sept. 11
Static	Sept. 29	2 rls.
TORCHY COMEDIES (Ray Cooke)
Torchy's Loud Spooker	June 25	20
Trying Out Torchy	July 23	18
TREASURE CHEST
Day Dreams	Dec. 8
Shorts	Nov. 10
Song of Vienna	Nov. 3
What Does 1934 Hold?	Dec. 15
Your Life Is in Your Hands	Sept. 22

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Following the Horses!	Sept. 1	9
Motor Mania!	Sept. 29	9
Conquest of the Air!	Nov. 30	9
Scouring the Seven Seas!	Oct. 20	9
Answering the Riot Call!	Dec. 22	9
Filming the Fashions	Nov. 10	9
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
Mississippi Showboats
Boardwalks of New York
Pagodas of Peiping	Aug. 18
Shades of Cairo	Aug. 25
The Desert Patrol	Sept. 1	10
Outposts of France	Sept. 15
Glimpses of Greece	Sept. 29
Playground of Pan	Oct. 13
Elephant Trails	Oct. 27
The Island of Malta	Nov. 3	10
A Day in Tokyo	Nov. 10	9
Byways in Bangkok	Nov. 24
Around the Acropolis	Nov. 30
Gem of the Sea	Dec. 15	9
Rural England	Dec. 22
London Medley	Dec. 29
Flemish Folk	Jan. 5,'34
Tunisian Travels	Jan. 19,'34
Sentinels of the Sea	Jan. 26,'34
Roaming the Netherlands	Feb. 9,'34
Cradle of Storms	Feb. 16,'34
In Java Sea	Feb. 23,'34
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
Where Is My Wandering Boy?	Aug. 18
For the Man She Loved	Sept. 8
Slander's Tongue	Sept. 22
Twin Dukes and a Duchess	Oct. 6
The Great Train Robbery	Oct. 27
A Moment of Madness	Nov. 4
Helen of the Chorus	Dec. 10
The Extravagant Wife	Jan. 5,'34
The Girl from the Country	Jan. 19,'34
Emma's Dilemma	Feb. 2,'34
The Heart of Valeska
Love's Old Sweet Song	Feb. 16,'34
SPECIAL SUBJECT
Aniakchak	Aug. 18	28

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
EDWIN C. HILL SERIES
1. Human Side of the News		10
2. Human Side of the News		10
MELODY MAKERS
Sammy Fain — With Eton Boys, N. Brokenshire and Evelyn Hoey		7
Cliff Friend—With Peggy Healy, Jack Fulton and Pickens Sisters		9
Benny Davis — With Roy Atwell, Charles Carlisle, Martha Ray and Jackie Green		8
Gus Edwards—With Ralph Kirbery, Four Minute Men and John S. Young		9
Stephen Foster—With John Hundley, Nancy McCord and Kelvin Keech		10
Fields and McHugh—With Jack Osterman and Pickens Sisters		9
Carrie Jacobs Bond—With Edwin C. Hill, Ralph Kirbery and Lew White
ORGANLOGUES
Songs of the Hills, Radio Rubes		6
Sally, Singin' Sam-Don Wallace		7
Night of Romance, Donald Novis-Ann Leaf-John Young		7
Tongue Twisters, Irving Kaufman-Lew White		7
Ship of Dreams, Ralph Kirbery-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		7
Melody on Parade, Irving Kaufman-Lew White		7
Home Again, Nick Lucas-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8
Tintypes, Irving Kaufman-Lew White		6
Oriental Phantasy, Charles Carlile-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8
Organ Festival, Lew White-Ann Leaf-Dick Liebert-Jesse Crawford		9
Melody Tour, Sylvia Froos-Dick Liebert-John S. Young		8
Organlogue-ing the Hits, Nick Lucas-Lew White-Herbert Rawlinson		8
Songs of Nations, Carlile-Rawlinson-White
Songs of the Range, Art Dickinson-Lew White
PET SUPERSTITIONS
1. Spilled Salt, Phyllis Barry-Geo. Lewis-J. Carrol Naish		10

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR SERIES
Crook's Tour	Sept. 23	19
Twin Screws	Dec. 30	2 rls.
Yeast Is West	Nov. 11
CHARLEY CHASE
Arabian Tights	June 3	20
Cracked Iceman	Jan. 27,'34	19
Luncheon at Twelve	Dec. 9	21
Midsummer Mush	Oct. 21	21
Sherman Said It	Sept. 2	17
COLORTONE MUSICAL REVUES
Hello, Pop!	July 1	17
Nertsery Rhymes	Aug. 26	20
Keg O' My Heart	Nov. 11	2 rls.
Rhapsody in Brew	Sept. 30	20
Symphony in Suds	Jan. 6,'34	2 rls.
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
British Guiana	Dec. 23	9
Day in Venice	Oct. 28	9
Dutch Guiana, Land of Djuka	Sept. 2	10
Italy, Land of Inspiration	Nov. 25	1 rl.
New Zealand		9
Papua and Kalabahai	June 10	9
Scotland the Bonnie	Sept. 30	9
FLIP, THE FROG
Bulloney		8
Chinaman's Chance		8
Paleface		8
Soda Squirt		7
Techno-cracked		8
GOOFY MOVIES
A Whole Show in One Reel	Sept. 9	9
LAUREL & HARDY
Busy Bodies	Oct. 7	20
Dirty Work	Nov. 25	20
MGM MUSICAL REVUES
Beer and Pretzels	Aug. 26	20
Plane Nuts	Oct. 14	20
Roast Beef and Movies	Dec. 2	2 rls.
ODDITIES
Bear Hunting	Dec. 16	1 rl.
Fine Feathers	Nov. 18	9
Handlebars	Aug. 26	10
Happy Warriors	Oct. 21	9
Menu	Aug. 26	11
OUR GANG
Bedtime Worries	Sept. 9	21
Wild Poses		19
SPECIAL
Inflation		11
TAXI BOYS
Rummy, The	June 10	18
Thundering Taxis	June 24	16
TODD-KELLY
Air Fright	Dec. 23	2 rls.
Backs to Nature	Nov. 14	20
Beauty and the Bus	Sept. 16	18
WILLIE WHOPPER
Play Ball	Sept. 16	7
Spite Flight	Oct. 14	8
Stratos-Fear	Nov. 11	8

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
HEADLINERS
Bundle of Blues, A, Duke Ellington	Sept. 1	10
Captain Henry's Radio Show, Lanny Ross-Annette Hanshaw-Don Voorhees	Aug. 11	11
Little Broadcast, The, Donald Novis - Arthur Tracy - Mills Bros. - Vincent Lopez-Roy Atwill	Oct. 27	11
Radio Roundup, A, Molasses 'n' January - Mary Small - The Poet Prince-Vaughn De Leath-Three X Sisters	Nov. 24
Rumba Rhythm, Vincent Lopez	Sept. 29	6
Station T.O.T.	Jan. 19,'34	1 rl.
Where's That Tiger?, Borrah Minnevitch	Dec. 22
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE
No. 11	June 2	10
No. 12	June 30	10
No. 13	July 28	10
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE—NEW SERIES
No. 1	Aug. 18	11
No. 2	Sept. 8	11
No. 3	Oct. 13	11
No. 4	Nov. 10	11
No. 5	Dec. 8	11
No. 6	Jan. 5,'34	11
ONE REEL ACTS
Detective Tom Howard of the Suicide Squad, Tom Howard	June 9	11
Jazz a La Cuba, Don Aspiazu	July 7	10
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL
No. 12—Treasure Hunt — Wings of Summer—Putting One Over with Lillian Roth	June 16	10
No. 13—Tableaux in Wax —Bird Sanctuary — Song Makers of America	July 14	10
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL—NEW SERIES
No. 1—Just a Little Dressing—The Rock Garden—Irving Mills	Aug. 11	10
No. 2—On the Trail of the Salmon—Trotting Out the Champion—Johnny Green	Sept. 8	10
No. 3—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews — September Morn—Harry Armstrong	Oct. 6	10
No. 4—Let's Go Crabbing — Manhattan Nocturne — Irvin S. Cobb	Nov. 3	10
No. 5 — The Old Mill — Jack Frost, Master Decorator — Song Makers of the Nation	Dec. 1	10
No. 6—	Dec. 29	10
No. 7—	Jan. 26,'34	10
POPEYE THE SAILOR
Blow Me Down	Oct. 27	7
I Eats My Spinach	Nov. 17	7
I Yam What I Yam	Sept. 20	7
Seasin's Greetinks	Dec. 8	7
Wild Elephinks	Dec. 29	7
SCREEN SONGS
"Boilesk", Watson Sisters	June 9	7
Boo, Boo, Theme Song	Oct. 13	7
Down by the Old Mill Stream, Funny Boners	July 21	7
I Like Mountain Music, Eton Boys	Nov. 10	7
Keeps Rainin' All the Time, Gertrude Neisen	Jan. 12,'34	7
Sing, Babies, Sing, Baby Rose Marie	Dec. 15
Sing, Sisters, Sing, Three X Sisters	June 3	7
Stoopnocracy, Stoopnagle and Budd	Aug. 18	7
When Yuba Plays the Rumba on the Tuba, Mills Bros.	Sept. 16	7
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 12	June 9	10
No. 13	July 7	10
SCREEN SOUVENIRS—NEW SERIES
No. 1	Aug. 25	10
No. 2	Sept. 22	10
No. 3	Oct. 20	10
No. 4	Nov. 17	10
No. 5	Dec. 15	10
No. 6	Jan. 12,'34	10
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS
No. 1 — What Makes a Champion	Aug. 4	11
No. 2—Sporting Melodies	Aug. 25	10
No. 3—Water Lure	Sept. 22	10
No. 4—The March of the Champions	Oct. 20	11
No. 5—Kennel Kings	Nov. 24	10
No. 6—Around the Calendar	Dec. 22	1 rl.
No. 7—Jumping Giants	Jan. 26,'34	1 rl.
SPORTS EYE VIEW
Balance	June 23	10
Over the Jumps	July 21	10
Straight Shooters	July 21	11
TALKARTOONS
Betty Boop's Big Boss	June 2	7
Betty Boop's Hallowe'en Party	Nov. 3	7

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
I Heard ... Don Redmond	Sept. 1	7
Morning, Noon and Night ... Rubinoff	Oct. 6	7
Mother Goose Land	June 23	7
Old Man of the Mountains ... Cab Calloway	Aug. 4	7
Parade of Wooden Soldiers	Dec. 1	1 rl.
Popeye, the Sailor	July 7	7
She Wronged Him Right ...	Jan. 5,'34	1 rl.
TWO-REEL COMEDIES
Barber, The ... W. C. Fields	July 28	21
Big Fibber, The ... Sennett Star	July 14	20
Cold Turkey ... Joseph Cawthorne	Dec. 1	2 rls.
Daddy Knows Best ... Walter Catlett	June 16	22
Ducky Dear ... Sidney Toler	Sept. 1	19
Husband's Reunion ... Sennett Star	July 7	19
Just an Echo ... Bing Crosby	Jan. 19,'34	2 rls.
Knockout Kisses ... Sennett Star	June 23	19
Marriage Humor ... Harry Langdon	Aug. 18	19
Meet the Champ ... Eugene Pallette-Walter Catlett	Aug. 4	21
Old Bugler, The ... Chic Sale	Jan. 5,'34	2 rls.
On Ice ... Harry Langdon	Oct. 6	21
One Awful Night ... Pallette-Catlett	Oct. 20	21
Please ... Bing Crosby	Dec. 15	2 rls.
Roaming Romeo, A ... Harry Langdon	Dec. 29	2 rls.
Sailors, Beware ... Catlett-Pallette	Sept. 15	18
See You Tonight ... Sennett Star	June 2	21
Three Little Swigs ... Leon Errol	Nov. 10	20

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Among the Maoris	Aug. 1	7
Circle of Life of the Ant
Lion, The	Feb. 4,'34	7
City of Contrasts	Nov. 22	19
Cuba	Sept. 27	21
Enough Rope	July 1	9
Farmer's Friend, The	Oct. 4	7
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 7,'34	7
Great Raccoon Hunt, The	Sept. 1	20
Her Majesty, the Queen Bee	Dec. 1	6
High Spots of New York	June 1	11
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4,'34	7
Kick-Off, The	Oct. 11	27
Newslaughs—No. 1	Dec. 20	9
Queen of the Underworld	Dec. 6	7
Wonders of the Tropics	Dec. 13	32

RKO-RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BLONDE and RED HEAD SERIES
Flirting in the Park	Aug. 18	20
Walking Back Home	Dec. 8	19
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Re-Issues)
The Count	Nov. 17
The Cure	Aug. 19	20
The Fireman	Aug. 28	21
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Fits in a Fiddle	Oct. 20	14½
Gay Nighties, The	June 23	20
Iceman's Ball, The	Aug. 13	20
Kicking the Crown Around	Aug. 4	19
Odor in the Court		2 rls.
Snug in a Jug	Nov. 2	20
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Cubby's Picnic	Oct. 6	7
World Flight		7
GRIBBON-KENNEDY COMEDIES
How Comedies Are Born	Sept. 8	19
Shakespeare with Tin Ears	June 30	18½
Suits to Nuts	Dec. 1	19
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 4—She Outdone Him	July 21
No. 5—Preferred List	Oct. 6	20
No. 6—Air Tonic	Dec. 22	21
MASQUERS COMEDIES
Abroad in Old Kentucky	Sept. 9	20
Stolen by Gypsies, or Beer and Bicycles	July 14	21
MICKEY McGUIRE SERIES
Mickey's Big Broadcast
Mickey's Disguise	July 28
MR. AVERAGE MAN COMEDIES (EDGAR KENNEDY)
Good Housewrecking	June 16	20
Grin and Bear It	Dec. 29	20½
Quiet Please	Aug. 11	20½
What Fur?	Nov. 3	21
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
California Weather	Dec. 15	20½
Harvest Moon Girl
Knee Deep in Music	Sept. 22	21½
MY BRIDGE EXPERIENCES (Ely Culbertson)
Forced Response, A	Sept. 15	17
Murder at the Bridge Table	Sept. 1	21
Society Cheaters	Sept. 29
What Not to Do In Bridge	Oct. 13	15
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks	Oct. 27	21
Three Knaves and a Queen	Nov. 10
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEW
Released once a month

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
SOGLOW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
Fatal Note, The	Sept. 29	7
Marching Along	Oct. 27	27
On the Pan	Nov. 24	7
Pals		1 rl.
SPECIALS
So This Is Harris	Jan. 19,'34	28

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
TOM AND JERRY SERIES
Phantom Rocket	July 21	1 rl.
Puzzled Pals		7
AMKINO
A Day in Moscow		26
Killing to Live		17
Kino Displays		10
BEVERLY HILLS PICTURES
Coocoo Capers
Flame of the Pacific		23
Terrors of the Amazon		29
CAESAR FILMS
Veneziana		1 rl.
FIRST DIVISION
Delhi	Nov. 15	10
My Side of the Story ... David L. Hutton	Sept. 22	10
Strange Case of Tom Mooney	July 21	23
IDEAL
Canal Gypsies		9
Evolution		28
Goofy Games		8
Mystic East, The		10
Next War, The		26
We're on Our Way		9
INDUSTRIAL
The Silent Enemy		30
INVISIBLE
Snowman		10
RESOLUTE
Itchy Scratchy		3 rls.
MARY WARNER
Berlin: Its Sports and Recreation		8
Berlin: Rhythm of a Metropolis		8
Glimpses of Germany		8
Green Heart of Germany, The		20
Springtime on the Rhine		7
The Mosel		8
Trier, Oldest City in Germany		6
Vintagers' Festival in the Palatinate		10
Winter in the Bavarian Alps		1 rl.
Young Germany Goes Skiing		1 rl.
P. A. POWERS
Jack and the Beanstalk		6

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
9. The Mad Doctor	Jan. 20	6
10. Mickey's Pal Pluto	Feb. 10	7
11. The Mellerdrammer	Mar. 3	6
12. Ye Olden Days	Mar. 24	7
13. The Mail Pilot	June 5	7
14. Mickey's Mechanical Man	June 9	6
15. Mickey's Gala Premiere	June 30	7
16. Puppy Love	Aug. 14
17. Steeple Chase	Sept. 1	7
18. The Pet Store	Sept. 22
(NEW SERIES)
1. Giant Land	Nov. 15	7
2. Mickey Shanghaied
3. Playful Pluto
SILLY SYMPHONIES
6. Babes in the Wood	Dec. 2,'32	8
7. Santa's Workshop	Dec. 30,'32	7
8. Birds in the Spring	Dec. 30,'32	7
9. Father Noah's Ark	Jan. 27	8
10. Three Little Pigs	May 26	8
11. Old King Cole	July 27	8
12. Lullaby Land	Aug. 18	7
13. Pied Piper	Oct. 6	7
(NEW SERIES)
1. The Night Before Christmas	Dec. 15	8

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 1	Aug. 28	8
No. 2	Oct. 1	10
No. 3	Dec. 25	1 rl.
OSWALD CARTOONS
Candy House, The	Jan. 15,'34	1 rl.
Chicken Reel	Jan. 1,'34	1 rl.
Confidence	July 31	7
County Fair	Jan. 29,'34	1 rl.
Five and Dime	Sept. 18	8
Ham and Eggs	June 19	6
In the Zoo	Nov. 6	7
Merry Old Soul	Nov. 27	8
Parking Space	Dec. 18	1 rl.
POOCH CARTOONS
Hot and Cold	Aug. 14	1 rl.
King Klunk	Sept. 4	9
Nature's Workshop	June 5	8
Pin Feathers	July 3	9
She Done Him Right	Oct. 9	7
RADIO STAR REELS
The Old Timers ... Louis Sobol—No. 3		21
Peeping Tom ... Louis Sobol—No. 4	Sept. 20	17
Boswell Sisters, The ... Nick Kenny—No. 4	Dec. 6	2 rls.
SPECIALS
World's Greatest Thrills	Aug. 18	19
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS SERIES
No. 31—Novelty	Aug. 7	9
No. 32—Novelty	Sept. 4	1 rl.
No. 33—Novelty	Oct. 9	9
No. 34—Novelty	Nov. 20	1 rl.
No. 35—Novelty	Dec. 18	1 rl.
No. 36—Novelty	Jan. 22,'34	1 rl.
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES (1932-33 SEASON)
All at Sea (Mentone No. 2)	Sept. 20	21
Big Benefit, The (Mentone No. 3)	Oct. 18	21
Big Casino, The (Mentone No. 4)	Nov. 29	21
Gleason's New Deal ... James Gleason	July 12	20
His First Case ... Vince Barnett	June 14	20
Meeting Mazie ... Sterling Holloway	Dec. 20	20
Mountain Music ... Louise Fazenda	Jan. 3,'34	2 rls.
Not the Marrying Kind ... Sterling Holloway	Nov. 22	20
On the Air and Off (Mentone No. 1)	Sept. 6	19
Open Sesame ... Henry Armetta	Oct. 25	20
Out of Gas ... Louise Fazenda	Nov. 8	21
Palsie Walsie ... Henry Armetta	Jan. 31,'34	2 rls.
Pie for Two ... James Gleason	Dec. 13	2 rls.
Stung Again ... Louise Fazenda	Oct. 18	18
Supper at Six (Mentone No. 5)	Dec. 27	2 rls.
Trifle Backward, A ... Vince Barnett	Jan. 17,'34	2 rls.
Vaudeville on Parade (Mentone No. 6)	Jan. 24,'34	2 rls.
Warren Doane Brevity	Aug. 9	19
Where's Elmer? ... Vince Barnett		2 rls.

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 11—How've You Bean? ... Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	June 24
No. 12—An Idle Roomer ... Jack Haley		20
No. 13—Nothing But the Tooth ... Jack Haley	Aug. 19	19
BIG V COMEDIES (New Series)
No. 1—Salt Water Daffy ... Jack Haley	Sept. 16	21
No. 2—Close Relations ... Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Sept. 30	20
No. 3—Gobs of Fun ... George Givot-Charles Judels	Oct. 21	21
No. 4—Turkey in the Raw ... Gus Shy	Nov. 4	21
No. 5—In the Dough ... Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Nov. 25	22
No. 6—Here Comes Flossie ... Ben Blue	Dec. 9	18
No. 7—Tomalio ... Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Dec. 30	21
No. 8 — How D'Ya Like That? ... George Givot-Charles Judels	Jan. 13,'34	18
No. 9—Nervous Hands ... Ben Blue	Feb. 3,'34	21
No. 10—Pugs and Kisses	Feb. 17,'34	21
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 8—Sky Symphony ... Stoopnagle and Budd	June 3
No. 11—That Goes Double ... Russ Columbo	July 29
No. 18—World's Champ ... Jack Dempsey	July 11
No. 22—The Double-Crossing of Columbus ... Charles Judels	July 15	19
No. 23—Pie a la Mode	June 19
No. 24—Crashing the Gate ... Ruth Etting-Roy Atwell	July 1
No. 25—20,000 Cheers for the Chain Gang ... Jerry Bergen-The Rollickers-Picken Sisters	Aug. 12	19
No. 26—The "No" Man ... Hugh O'Connell-Anne Greenway	Aug. 26	19
BROADWAY BREVITIES (New Series)
No. 1—Use Your Imagination ... Hal LeRoy-Mitzi Mayfair	Sept. 2	18
No. 2—Rufus Jones for President ... Ethel Waters	Sept. 9	20
No. 3—Seasoned Greetings ... Lita Grey Chaplin	Sept. 23	20
No. 4—Paul Revere, Jr. ... Gus Shy-Janet Reade	Oct. 7	21
No. 5—Operator's Opera ... Donald Novis-Dawn O'Day-Eton Boys	Oct. 14	21
No. 6—'Tis Spring ... Patricia Ellis-Allen Jenkins	Oct. 28	19
No. 7—Yeast Is Yeast ... Tom Patricola	Nov. 11	20
No. 8—The Wild West ... Janet Reade-Olive Borden	Nov. 18	23
No. 9—Girl Trouble ... Mitchell and Durante	Dec. 2	23
No. 10 — Manhattan Clock-tale ... Norma Terris-Four Eton Boys	Dec. 16	29
No. 11—Plane Crazy ... Dorothy Lee-Arthur and Morton Havel	Dec. 23	20
No. 12—Kissing Time ... Jane Froman-Georges Metaxa	Jan. 6,'34	22
No. 13—A Little Girl with Big Ideas ... Molly Picon	Jan. 20,'34	29
No. 14 — Not Tonight, Josephine ... Frank McHugh-Kitty Kelly	Jan. 27,'34	21
No. 15—Private Lessons ... Hal LeRoy-Dawn O'Day	Jan. 10,'34	21
No. 16—Come to Dinner	Feb. 24,'34	10
HOW TO BREAK 90 BOBBY JONES
No. 1—The Grip	May 15	9
No. 2—Position and Back Swing	June 10
No. 3—Hip Action	June 24
No. 4—Down Swing	July 8
No. 5—Impact	July 15
No. 6—Fine Points	Aug. 5	10
LOONEY TUNES
No. 8—Bosko's Knight Mare
No. 9—Bosko the Sheep-Herder		8
No. 10—Beau Bosko		7
No. 11—Bosko's Mechanical Man
No. 12—Bosko the Musketeer		7
No. 13—Bosko's Picture Show
LOONEY TUNES (New Series)
No. 1—Buddy's Day Out		7
No. 2—Buddy's Beer Garden		7
MELODY MASTERS
No. 10—The Alma Martyr ... Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians		9
No. 11—The Name Is Familiar ... Leon Belasco and Band
No. 12—The Audition ... Hannah Williams-Phil Emerton's Band		20
No. 13—A Castilian Garden ... Señor Del Pozo's Marimba Orchestra		9
MELODY MASTERS (New Series)
No. 1—Hot from Petrograd ... Dave Apollon and Orchestra		10
No. 2—Barber Shop Blues ... Claude Hopkins and Band		9
No. 3—Rubinoff and Band		10
No. 4—Eddie Duchin and Band		10
No. 5—Borrah Minnevitch and His Harmonica Rascals		10
No. 6—Jack Denny and Band		10
No. 7—Mills Blue Rhythm Band		10
MERRY MELODIES
No. 1—You're Too Careless with Your Kisses		8
No. 2—I Wish I Had Wings		7
No. 3—A Great Big Bunch of You		7
No. 4—Three's a Crowd		7
No. 5—Shanty Where Santa Claus Lives		7
No. 6—One Stop Ahead of My Shadow		7
No. 7—Young and Healthy		7
No. 8—The Organ Grinder		7
No. 9—Wake Up the Gypsy In Me		7
No. 10—I Like Mountain Music		7
No. 11—Shuffle Off to Buffalo		7
No. 12—The Dish Ran Away with the Spoon		7
No. 13—We're in the Money		7
MERRY MELODIES (New Series)
No. 1—I've Got to Sing a Torch Song		7
PEPPER POT
No. 21—Inklings
No. 22—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 6
No. 23—Around the World in 8 Minutes
No. 24—Fishermen's Holiday
No. 25—Stuck, Stuck, Stucco
No. 26—Seeing Samoa
PEPPER POT (New Series)
No. 1—Walter Donaldson		10
No. 2.—Admission 5c		10
No. 3—Rock-A-Bye-Bye, with Dr Rockwell		11
No. 4—Laughs in the Law		8
No. 5—Notre Dame Glee Club		8
No. 6—Harry Warren		10
No. 7—Easy Aces		10
No. 8—Little Miss Mischief		10
No. 9—Movie Memories		9
No. 10—The Tune Detective ... Sigmund Spaeth		9
No. 11—Mississippi Suits		9
No. 12—The Wrong Wrong Trail ... Block and Sully		10
No. 13—Song Hits, with Roy Turk		11
SPORT THRILLS SERIES TED HUSING
No. 1—
No. 2—
No. 3—
No. 4—Old Time Sport Thrills
No. 5—
No. 6—
WORLD AVENTURES E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Dancing Around the World		1 rl.
No. 2—Transportations of the World		1 rl.
No. 3—An Oriental Cocktail		10
No. 4—Curious Customs of the World		1 rl.
No. 5—From Bethlehem to Jerusalem		10
No. 6—High Spots of the Far East		10
No. 7—Main Streets		10
No. 8—Beauty Spots of the World		1 rl.
No. 9—Workers of the World		1 rl.
No. 10—Wonder Spots of the World		1 rl.
No. 11—Costumes of the World		1 rl.
No. 12—Strange Ceremonies		10
No. 13—Top of the World		10
MUSICAL WORLD JOURNEYS E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Exploring the Pacific		1 rl.
No. 2—Samoan Memories		1 rl.
No. 3—Heart of Paris		1 rl.
No. 4—Italy, the Old and the New		1 rl.
No. 5—Cannibal Islands		1 rl.
No. 6—Spanish America		1 rl.

SERIALS

(EACH SERIAL 12 EPISODES OF 2 RLS.)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MASCOT
Fighting with Kit Carson ... Johnny Mack Brown-Noah Beery	July 6	20 (each)
Mystery Squadron, The ... Bob Steele	Dec. 23
Three Musketeers, The ... John Wayne-Ruth Hall	Apr. 7
Wolf Dog, The ... Rin Tin Tin, Jr.-Frankie Darro-Boots Mallory	Sept. 30
PRINCIPAL
Tarzan, the Feerless ... Buster Crabbe	Aug. 11	20 (each)
UNIVERSAL
Gordon of Ghost City ... Buck Jones-Madge Bellamy	Aug. 14	20 (each)
Perils of Pauline ... Evalyn Knapp-Robert Allen	Nov. 6	20 (each)
Phantom of the Air ... Tom Tyler-Gloria Shea	May 22
Pirate Treasure ... Richard Talmadge-Lucille Lund	Jan. 29,'34	20 (each)

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA Chairs, Sound Equipment, Moving Picture Machines, Screens, Spotlights, Stereopticons, etc. Projection Machines Repaired. Send for catalogue H. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

NEW YEAR, BUT OLD PRICES — GREATEST sale ever. Standard brands — Simplex, Peerless, Strong, Brenkert, Forest, Hertner, Operadio, sacrifice prices. Lists mailed. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT. Approved home-study training. Free Catalog. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, New York.

POSITIONS WANTED

PROJECTIONIST. BEST REFERENCES INCLUDing Western Electric. Write, 143 DIDAMA, Syracuse, New York.

PROJECTIONIST—10 YEARS' EXPERIENCE. Prefer theatre where reliability and good work are appreciated. Will go anywhere. BOX 356, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

WANTED TO BUY

GOLD STANDARD CASH PRICES FOR ANY theatre equipment. Trades made. POSTOFFICE BOX 2042 DeSoto Station, Memphis, Tenn.

WANT USED THEATRE CHAIRS, ALL KINDS. Also parts, accessories, etc. Send sample prepaid. Advise quantity and price, etc. GENERAL SEATING COMPANY, 2035 Charleston Street, Chicago.

LEDGER SYSTEMS

KNOW EVERY WEEK HOW YOU'RE DOING. Use Bryson Theatre Record Ledger practical, simple. Special now $2.00. Prepaid if cash with order. Guaranteed satisfactory. GEORGE FOSDICK, 4417 Stevens, Minneapolis, Minn.

NEW EQUIPMENT

BUY RCA PHOTOPHONE OUTRIGHT—LIBERAL trades for old equipment on brand new Wide Range RCA soundheads, entirely complete, originally $1,200.00; now $295.00. Wire for details. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

SACRIFICING NEW SUPERIOR TYPE X PROjectors with rear shutters, adapted to sound. COXSACKIE MANUFACTURING CORP., Coxsackie, N. Y.

TECHNICAL BOOKS

"RICHARDSON'S HAND BOOKS OF PROJECtion" in three volumes. Universally accredited as the best and most practical. Aaron Nadell's "Projection Sound Pictures." Complete information on sound equipment. Both text books complete for $12.80. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, 1790 Broadway, New York.

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

SCOTT MOORE, ASTORIA 8-0073, RECENTLY Guthrie McClintic's "Criminal at Large."

THEATRE PROGRAMS

THE BETTER CLASS AT THE LOWEST PRICES, all cuts furnished by us. Delivery same day copy received. THEATRE PRINTING CO., 720 So. Dearborn St., Chicago.

EQUIPMENT EXCHANGE

GOODBYE 1933—PREPARE FOR PROSPERITY—look around—we'll take old equipment for cash or trade. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

ALL TYPES OF PROJECTION, SOUND AND theatre equipment for sale, cheap. Let us know your wants and we will serve you. BOX 124A, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

BAD SOUND JUST TOO BAD—TRADE YOUR old worn soundheads, amplifiers, speakers, for new Wide Fidelity devices, from $49.50 up, sold on trial. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

MANUFACTURERS' OVERSTOCK REFLECTOR arcs—brand new low intensity, hylow types. BOX 357, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

PEERLESS LAMPS $90.00 EACH; ROTH SINGLE phase generator cheap; Strong rectifier $85.00. THEATRE SOUND SERVICE, Rochester, N. Y.

"DELIGHTED, WORTH THOUSANDS DOLLARS, best on market," says Woolley, Saybrook, Illinois. You can have Wide Fidelity, too. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

A PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR TO ALL OUR friends. Let us show you how to save money for the year 1934. Bargain prices to all on guaranteed equipment and supplies. CROWN, 311 W. 44th St., New York.

REPAIR SERVICE

$10 PER UNIT WILL REBUILD COMPLETELY your ticket register. One year unconditional guarantee. Factory mechanics. AUTOMATIC TICKET REGISTER CO., 831 South Wabash Ave., Chicago.

REPRESENTATIVES WANTED

WANTED REPRESENTATIVES IN EVERY KEY film center to roadshow a religious sound motion picture appealing to Catholics. Prefer men who understand non-theatrical field and can handle entire bookings and exploitation. Must be able to finance themselves and post bond for territory. INTEGRITY FILM CORPORATION, 220 West 42nd St., New York.

STATE RIGHT EXCHANGES

NEW FOREIGN PRODUCTION WITH WONDERful exploitation tie-ups now available for territorial distributors, great picture for non-theatrical bookings such as churches, etc. Will sell both theatrical and non-theatrical rights for cash and percentage. Everything ready for release. Reserve territory at once. BOX 347, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

Greeted With

APPLAUSE

EASTMAN Background Negative is winning wide acclaim among the many producers and cameramen who have already discovered its possibilities. Its remarkably fine grain meets the prime requirement of background shots that are to be projected and rephotographed. Other qualities . . . particularly a surprising degree of speed . . . give it a potential versatility that may well lead to finer photography in other directions. Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N. Y. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN

Background Negative

DESIGN FOR LIVING FOUR FRIGHTENED PEOPLE BOLERO

EIGHT GIRLS IN A BOAT MISS FANE'S BABY IS STOLEN

HIS DOUBLE LIFE CATHERINE THE GREAT THE SEARCH FOR BEAUTY

MURDER AT THE VANITIES DEATH TAKES A HOLIDAY ALL OF ME

IT AIN'T NO SIN BABY IN THE ICE-BOX LADIES SHOULD LISTEN

MELODY IN SPRING WE'RE NOT DRESSING GOOD DAME

NO MORE WOMEN THE LAST ROUND-UP

HONOR BRIGHT DOUBLE DOOR

GREEN GOLD CLEOPATRA

THE GREAT MAGOO TRUMPET BLOWS

COME ON MARINES YOU'RE TELLING ME

30 DAY PRINCESS LITTLE MISS MARKER

OFTEN A BRIDEGROOM SHOE THE WILD MARE SIX OF A KIND

FACES AND FIGURES OF 1934 WOMAN OF THE EARTH

MAN WHO BROKE HIS HEART IT'S A PLEASURE TO LOSE

PARAMOUNT

Wishes you a Happy New Year

Paramount Pictures

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

HOLLYWOOD LOOKS TO NEW BUSINESS ORDER

Terry Ramsaye, in Hollywood, finds the preponderance of executive control of box-office material sounding a new slogan, "Curtailment," calling for fewer pictures, longer runs

THE TEN BIGGEST MONEY MAKING STARS

Herald poll of 12,000 exhibitors reveals showmen's own evaluation of leading box-office stars of the past motion picture year; 163 players are nominated; feminine and men stars share eight first places

DECODING THE CODE LABOR PROVISIONS

Second article in literal translation of the motion picture code into the working language of the industry treats of clauses on relations of employer and employee as they affect distribution and exhibition

Vol. 114, No. 2 Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office, at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1879. Published Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $3.00 a year. Single copies, 15 cents

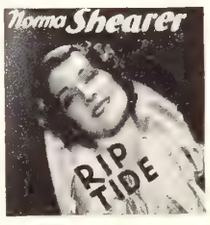
January 6, 1934

You clicked with



× Ditto with

You Know you can count on and

both Astor theatre attractions You can sit back with

× However, the main purpose of this page is to say "Ready, set and soon to go on not to mention "Tarzan and His Mate", and "Viva Villa"; all productions typical of

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

ride the crest of america's whirlwind comeback with

WARNER BROS.

the

,000 YEARS
SING SING
NG'S VACATION
UREAU OF MISSING PERSONS
HE WORLD CHANGES
ENNEL MURDER CASE
ORTY SECOND STREET
ON OF A SAILOR · I LOVED A WOMAN
AVANA WIDOWS · THE LITTLE GIANT ADY KILLER
OUSE ON
TH STREET

PICTURE
SNATCHER
SILVER DOLLAR
CONVENTION CITY
GOLD DIGGERS
OF 1933

VOLTAIRE
THE WORKING MAN
MARY STEVENS, M. D.
I'M A FUGITIVE FROM A CHAIN GANG
ELMER THE GREAT
GOODBYE AGAIN
FOOTLIGHT
THE MAYOR PARADE OF HELL
KAY FRANCIS
MARG. LINDSAY
MENJOU · RUBY KEELER · BETTE DAVIS
DICK POWELL · MacMAHON
O'BRIEN · AL JOLSON
TALBOT

MUNI
STANWYCK
BARTHELMESS
CAGNEY
ROBINSON
JOE E. BROWN
BLONDELL
WM. POWELL
DVORAK
DON. WOODS
JEAN MUIR · HALLeROY
GLENDA FARRELL

COMPANY

Yesterday—Today—Tomorrow

FOLLOW THE LEADERS... turn over

WARNER BROS. paved the way!

WARNER BROS. hold the way!

Let's go 1934!

W I T H

The screen's blazing firebrand in the greatest show of his career! Liberty Magazines most popular story for 1933

PAUL MUNI

in

"HI, NELLIE"°

(Two little words that mean B. O.)

with GLENDA FARRELL
NED SPARKS
Direc. by Mervyn LeRoy

Savage Blood Runs Wild Again! . . . .

BARTHELMESS

in

"MASSACRE"°

ANN DVORAK
CLAIRE DODD
DUDLEY DIGGES
The greatest INDIAN story of all times!
Direc. by Allan Crosland

Screen's First Fashion Extravaganza — Myriad Wonders in Clothes, Girls, Music . . . .

"FASHIONS OF 1934"°

Starring William Powell
Bette Davis, Frank McHugh, Veree Teasdale
Hugh Herbert — directed by Dieterle — Numbers staged and directed by Berkeley

°A Warner Bros. Picture °A First National Picture Vitagraph, Inc., Distributors

1934 Greets the Rising Star Who Takes Her Place Among the Screen's Greatest! . . .

KAY FRANCIS

in

"MANDALAY"

RICARDO CORTEZ
LYLE TALBOT
WARNER OLAND
Direc. by Michael Curtiz

The star and author of "Little Caesar" link their genius in a greater triumph! . . . . .

ROBINSON

in

W. R. Burnett's great book-of-the-month

"DARK HAZARD"

GENEVIEVE TOBIN
GLENDA FARRELL
Directed by Al Green

The picture that will top the best of 1934's best — from the novel . . . . .

"AS THE EARTH TURNS"

JEAN MUIR
DONALD WOODS
Directed by Al Green

Towering above any other picture ever made! The one and only . . . . . .

WONDER BAR"

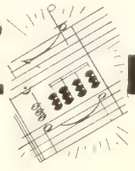
Introducing among others AL JOLSON, KAY FRANCIS, DOLORES DEL RIO, RICARDO CORTEZ, DICK POWELL, HAL LeROY, GUY KIBBEE 600 beautiful girls—5 sensational spectacles—6 song hits—Directed by Lloyd Bacon — Numbers staged, directed by Busby Berkeley

NOW IN PREPARATION

ANTHONY ADVERSE

NAPOLEON: His Life and Loves

DU BARRY



CLASSMATES

HAROLD TEEN

LILIAN HARVEY, dream of beauty miracle of dancing grace, in a romance as tenderly appealing as "7th Heaven." Spiced with sparkling spectacle, cuddlesome cuties, blazing splendor, striking effects, unique surprise and laughter in the Piccoli Marionettes. Brightened with gay, bewitching melodies. Everything for everybody

A Jesse L. Lasky Production

I AM SUZANNE!

Lilian Harvey

Gene Raymond

Leslie Banks

Story and screen play by
Edwin Justus Mayer and Rowland V. Lee

Podrecca's Piccoli Marionettes
Directed by Rowland V. Lee

Your patrons always like
FOX MOVIETONE NEWS

FOX

JAN 5 1934

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 114, No. 2 — January 6, 1934

LUCK AND WAHOO

"AND there is no final assurance that even a good picture will be a success," observed Mr. Darryl Zanuck, in a discourse on the plans and aims of Twentieth Century Pictures the other day. "The most we can do is to improve the probabilities."

Which brings us to a moment's consideration of that fourth dimension of the show business which is luck and pertains to that factor in the fate of men and their works which Hollywood calls "the breaks." This concerns the uncontrolled, and apparently uncontrollable, whimsies and minutiae which are so important in chains of consequence.

There's the interesting case of Mr. Zanuck, himself, for example. At the moment, for an assortment of reasons as complicated as the screen-politics map of Hollywood, including certainly his own special abilities, he is currently perhaps the most discussed of production executives in the film makers' capital. And now it amuses a writer who emerged from the buffalo grass on the Kansas prairies, to record on this page that the spectacular Mr. Zanuck was born at Wahoo, yes Wahoo, in the sandhills of Nebraska. There positively is a town called Wahoo. Also, while we can not say what relation the fact establishes with Motion Picture Herald, the young man's first connection with the art and industry of the motion picture is said to have been as an usher in a theatre operated by our own itinerant correspondent Mr. J. C. Jenkins, of Neligh, also Nebraska. Parenthetically, just because so few in the motion picture business in Hollywood or elsewhere know it, we record that this blue-eyed, pale tinted, polo playing picture maker is of Swiss parentage. Along came the World War service over seas, and on the "Stars and Stripes," with that staff which included such personalities as Mr. Harold Ross, editorial father of the New Yorker, and Mr. Alexander Woollcott, one of the pet commentators of the metropolis. After that "the breaks" for Mr. Zanuck found for him a laborer's job on the Los Angeles water front, alias San Pedro. ——How this California waterfront does exude literature!—— It exuded some more when Mr. Zanuck, muscle weary, took escape by pen and essayed the short story. That took him into the magazines and in time to the story department on the Warner lot. The motion picture world knows most of the rest. One thing led to another like a run in a stocking, and here he is among the mighty of Hollywood, wagering millions on the turns of public taste.

Concerning the element of "the breaks" it is interesting to record that Mr. Zanuck agrees with the writer's oft-recorded assertion that many of the industry's woes have grown out of the precautions it has taken, and mechanisms it has created, "to support its failures rather than exploit its successes."

"Profits on the hits have had to be so big, because they have had to cover the bad ones—about ten weak pictures to every hit."

This is a glimpse of a new Hollywood policy in the making—an endeavor to better "the breaks," to ordain better luck . . . and the motion picture never knows where it is coming from . . . sometimes it's Broadway, sometimes Wahoo!

△ △ △

THE SECRETARYSHIP

THERE has been a deal of bungling and misadventure in the affairs of the Code, but anyway in one appointment at least, the naming of Mr. John C. Flinn as executive secretary of the Code Authority, there is in the whole of the motion picture industry an attitude of approbation.

Intimately known from Broadway to Hollywood, and way-stations between, these many years, Mr. Flinn carries an honored repute. From the old New York Herald to Famous-Players-Lasky to P. D. C., to Pathe and back to Paramount, press agent, advertiser, distribution executive, producer—all these labors have especially fitted him for a post which so concerns all the industry.

△ △ △

SALESMANSHIP

SPEAKING of salesmanship, which we so frequently are, a Yankee story related by Mr. Stuart Webb of Pathe comes to mind as reminiscent of some of the tactics applied in our own agile industry. It seems that one of those bland and super-competent salesmen, so infernally competent that he was again unemployed, discovered that a certain eastern cannery was considerably overstocked with a pale white variety of salmon, which neither the trade nor consumer would accept. The slick salesman made a deal and took to the road. In a week he had the stock cleaned out. The management called him in for congratulations, reward and a question. "How did you do it?" He was evasive, reluctant, careful. At last he confided that with a rubber stamp he had added to each label: "Guaranteed not to turn red in the can."

△ △ △

WE nominate for a Carnegie medal Mr. Maxwell Arnow, casting director for Warner Brothers' studio, who had the temerity to give the Associated Press a Christmas week story naming his selection of the "ten brainiest women in the movies." Mr. Arnow was leaving for a vacation, and remarked that he "meets the stars on a business basis only." Nevertheless he will be likely to get quite a party when he gets back.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD — MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago Bureau, 407 South Dearborn Street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London Bureau, 1021 A Finchley Road, Golders Green, London, England, Bernard Charman, representative; Berlin Bureau, Berlin-Tempelhof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 28, Joachim K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Bureau, 19, Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autre, representative; Rome Bureau, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio Malpassuti, representative; Sydney Bureau, 102 Sussex Street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico, James Lockhart, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1933 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and The Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK - - - -

CUTS RESTORED

Via cable from Europe, President Joseph M. Schenck of United Artists ordered restoration of salary cuts to more than 600 employees, effective January 1, in anticipation of better 1934 business. Possible is similar action by other companies. Christmas bonuses went to Columbia employees. . . .

ELIGIBLE SCRIBES

Checking the eligibility lists of Hollywood correspondents, studio publicity heads, meeting at the MPPDA Coast offices, eliminated 24 foreign writers, leaving 31 entitled to credential cards for the January 1 quarter. . . .

IATSE IN WASHINGTON

To be near NRA headquarters in the event labor problems arise, the IATSE has opened Washington offices at the Hotel Hamilton, with Louis Krouse, executive assistant to President William C. Elliott, in charge. . . .

MPTO AFFILIATES

At their initial meeting in Columbus last week, newly elected trustees of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Ohio voted to affiliate with the MPTOA. . . .

REOPENS HOUSES

Improved conditions in the territory have led M. A. Lightman, Memphis exhibitor, former MPTOA president, to reopen two houses and add one, bringing the Malco total to 35. . . .

VETERAN PASSES

In Seattle General Hospital last week died W. W. Armstrong, veteran in northwestern theatrical circles. Associated with numerous film exchanges, Mr. Armstrong had been a Seattle resident for 17 years. . . .

UNIVERSAL DEAL

Understood in negotiation is a deal whereby Universal would nationally release features produced in the East by William Rowland and Monte Brice with the financial assistance of Lee Shubert. . . .

OFFICERS SHIFTED

An official shift, effective in March, will find Dudley Nichols succeeding Joe Manciekwicz as secretary, and Ernest Pascal succeeding Ralph Block, present acting president, as treasurer, of the Hollywood Writers' Guild. . . .

STUDIO EXPANDS

Studio expansion, in the form of four new stages and a planing mill to be constructed this month at a cost of $1,500,000 is planned by Warner. . . .

APPEALS SENTENCE

Request that he be relieved of serving sentence of two to two and one-half years in prison for soliciting a bribe from a Gadsden, Ala., projectionist, will be made by Elmer D. Jordon, former state senator, at an Alabama appeals court hearing January 18. . . .

FOX INCREASE

Fox has increased its program of Spanish features this season from four to nine. First is "Masquerade," featuring Raul Roulien and Conchita Montenegro, and written by Paul Perez and William Kernell. . . .

ENNIS RESIGNS

Bert Ennis last week terminated a short tenure as Majestic advertising and publicity director. As yet no successor has been designated. . . .

ROGERS SIGNS

Five more feature pictures, at a remuneration of $125,000 each, are called for under the new contract signed with Fox by Will Rogers. . . .

In This Issue

Production leaders are looking to new business order with fewer pictures and longer runs, says Terry Ramsaye, writing from Hollywood — Page 9

Exhibitors name Ten Biggest Money Making Stars of 1932-33 — Page 13

De-Coding the Code — Second article in Herald series treats of provisions affecting relations of employer and employee in distribution and exhibition — Page 55

The Year 1933 passes in review — Page 43

Film shares $131,335,125 higher in market value than a year ago — Page 34

FEATURES

Editorial — Page 7
The Camera Reports — Page 19
J. C. Jenkins—His Colyum — Page 62
Asides and Interludes — Page 21

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me — Page 52
Showmen's Reviews — Page 26
Managers' Round Table — Page 63
Technological — Page 72
Short Features on Broadway — Page 54
The Release Chart — Page 73
Box Office Receipts — Page 38
Classified Advertising — Page 78

MORALIST RESIGNS

As a result of friction developed within the ranks of Boston's Watch and Ward Society, after activity resulting in the suspension of the license of the Howard theatre last summer, John C. L. Dowling, president and director, has resigned. . . .

RODENT BUSINESS

United Artists, releasing the Disney Mickey Mouse and Silly Symphonies cartoons, claims a canvass of 70 manufacturers of goods using the Disney figures, reveals 10,000 people returned to work as a result of the demand for such articles. . . .

WARNER ABROAD

Pushing production at its English studio, near London, Warner has signed Hoot Gibson to make "The Cowboy of London," western, there. Laura LaPlante and Reginald Denny will co-star in one, star singly in two others, all under Irving Asher, London studio head. . . .

ERPI DECISION

In the case of Ford et al vs. Electrical Research Products, the Alabama supreme court last week decided sound equipment leased by a third party to the tenant operator of a theatre cannot be attached by the landlord in suit to recover rental owed by the tenant. Court agreed with Erpi the agreement was one of lease and license. . . .

HAS OWN COMPANY

After 12 years as United Artists general manager in Continental Europe, Guy Croswell Smith has formed Les Productions Cinematographique Internationales, 116 Champs-Elysees, Paris, to distribute American and other foreign films in France and elsewhere on the continent. . . .

FOX FOREIGN HEADS

Fox foreign managers gathered in New York last week for conferences on the year's product. With Clayton P. Sheehan, general foreign manager, presiding, present were: Walter Hutchinson, Great Britain; Carlo Bavetta, France, Belgium, Switzerland; Harry Gell, southern central Europe; Arthur Ruscica, Chile; F. H. Harley, Brazil; Victor Schochet, Argentina; Delbert Goodman, Far East. . . .

ITALIAN AWARDS

Last week in Hollywood the Marquis de la Rosa, Italian consul in Los Angeles, presented to King Vidor and Frances Marion, respectively director and author of MGM's "The Champ," medals known as the Viareggio prizes, awarded by the Italian Art Commission for the best film exhibited in Italy during the year. . . .

HOLLYWOOD IS LOOKING TO NEW BUSINESS ORDER WITH FEWER PICTURES

by TERRY RAMSAYE

If Hollywood knows what it is talking about, the end of the "movie" era is at hand and ahead is a reconstituted motion picture show business.

Hollywood, in the words of its masters, sees coming fewer pictures, fewer theatres, longer runs.

Hollywood now has a new word-slogan, "curtailment," an exciting sequel to "exclusive," "decentralization" and kindred labels.

Hollywood believes sincerely that it is the motion picture industry, that production is the be-all and end-all of the business of the screen.

EXPECTS TO DEMAND MORE OF GROSSES

Hollywood expects to demand an increasingly larger share of the box office grosses, and as completely as may be a mastery over all of distribution and exhibition as mechanical tools and services in the delivery of the product to the public.

Hollywood sees and forecasts, as a part of this development, the demise and failure of the super-cinemas with their vast overheads, the closing of many of the smallest theatres in the provinces, and the reduction of playing time in many locations to one, two and three nights a week.

Some of Hollywood is outspoken, some are cautious, apparently reluctant to be convinced of the passing of the old order forecast by their contemporaries.

None of Hollywood admit to a clear cut idea of how the moves at hand will be made, by whom first or where.

After all, the determinant is economic pressure, dollar influence which even insular, provincially isolated Hollywood must yield to in time.

To speak with cold candor, as I prefer, what Hollywood is now deciding about its labors of tomorrow is its answer to the fact that the cow of the status quo of yesterday is dry, stockholders, bankers, credit reserves can give no more.

Hungry bellies make inspiration. Today the purr of the projector is more important than the stuttering of the ticker.

Less than a dozen men apparently rule Hollywood as a production center. About six men approximately do in fact, and one man tells the six, with varying degrees of authority.

New York is a place to talk to on the telephone and the rest of the United States —and the world—is just the land where the customers live.

A sharp reduction in the picture output, expressed in various tentative figures, is advocated by such production executives as Louis B. Mayer of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, who has come all the way along from a 1907 nickelodeon in Haverhill, Mass., to dominion over a complex pattern of Hollywood picture and related interests, Samuel Goldwyn, who came into the industry with Jesse Lasky with the birth of the feature film in 1912-13, and Benjamin B. Kahane, executive head of RKO production and long educated in the whimsies of the show buying American public in the Keith Albee Orpheum organization prior to the fusion of that vaudeville empire with the screen, and to name another among the many, another who is considerably independent and external to what may be called the "Hollywood Machine" or Mayerland, there is Phil Goldstone, one time exchangeman and more recently of special power and local fame for his financing of some seventy-five or eighty percent of independent production. There are many others, certainly a preponderance of the executive control of box office material, who share, with varying degrees of candor, in this conviction that prosperity and success for the screen demands reduced production output.

WHAT LEADERS SAY OF CURTAILMENT

LOUIS B. MAYER—"No longer do people just 'go to the movies'."

EMANUEL COHEN—"Any movement toward the reduction of output should come from the selling machines and the theatres, first."

SIDNEY R. KENT—Disagrees with the idea and points to the great array of theatres which must be served.

JOHN CONSIDINE — "Television can be the answer for the small locations."

SAMUEL GOLDWYN — "Maybe fifty pictures a year are enough."

DARRYL ZANUCK—"The program production of the big companies means that it has to strive for the occasional hit . . . to make enough money to take care of the losses . . . on ten mediocre flops."

SHOULD COME FROM THEATRES, SAYS COHEN

There are to be sure others who, while admitting the production and marketing conditions which encourage the idea, are not yet ready to declare conviction that it should be an adopted policy. "Any movement toward the reduction of output should come, it seems to me," remarked Emanuel Cohen, the production chief of Paramount," from the selling machine and the theatres, first. They ought to know. The delivery of the product and the immediate relations with the public are their responsibility and function."

Mr. Cohen, it is to be remembered, was for many years engaged in the production of newsreels and related short material, an activity very closely integrated with the "program" school of production, prior to his coming to Hollywood to operate Paramount studios. This may or may not have a bearing on his attitudes and concepts. He has, however, been in Hollywood for only a year, and, as he remarked to me some weeks ago in New York, "Hollywood may get me yet."

Also, it is to be gathered that another imposing executive, deeply impressed with "program" experience in picture merchandising, Sidney R. Kent of Fox Pictures Corporation, while recently in Hollywood had some considerable discussions in executive pow-wows around the studios concerning this projected, or considered, reduction of product. The impression that Mr. Kent seems to have left in Hollywood is that he does not at all agree and points with emphasis of responsibility to a great array of theatres which he insists must be served.

In this connection it is to be observed that Mr. Kent is an executive importantly entrusted by banking interests and stockholders toward the rescue, redemption and preservation of values in a motion picture enterprise built on the status quo and involving tremendous investment. Going businesses want to keep going, and not to be made over.

LEADERS SEE REDUCED OUTPUT AS KEY

The Hollywood or studio point of view, the willingness with which it considers a radical change of production pace, is made the more understandable as one looks sharply at the mechanism. Despite all the publicity shouting about the great production plant of Hollywood the physical properties are in no instance sufficiently of importance to weigh much in balance of any big issue. When the executives, the directors, writers and players are gone, the studio is merely another shell and an array of idle desks and sets

The merchandise of the screen is a shadow and the real assets of production organization are minds and states of mind that make the shadows. Like the shadows, they can flit about and pause where they may. Further, certain charming intricacies of technique by which many important stars and players are being held under contract by agents, rather than directly by producing corporations, a strange kind of escrow, give the political alignment aspects of the production map, what might, to use a very delicate term, be called extraordinary elasticity. In other words the hand is, or may be, quicker than the eye. The checkerboard can be readjusted any morning by noon, if, when and as the dominant players decide to play.

PLAN IS SURE TO BE GIVEN APPLICATION

Come what may, while Hollywood is now merely talking discreetly in its inner councils about reduced production and the dictation of new exhibition policies, and prices, it may be set down as a certainty that in some degree the plan in varying forms will be given application in the field.

Some aspects of the production reduction plan and its coupled program of intensive exploitation, are far from new. If one cares to wander back into the pages of motion picture history it is to be recalled that W. W. Hodkinson had such a concept as early as 1910 or 1911 in his days with General Film, and that it gave rise in time to Paramount, then the distributor for Lasky, Famous Players, Bosworth and sundry other feature product, a product which very swiftly brought the rapid junking of the nickelodeon and the rise of the screen theatre. Very much more recently, last year in fact, Felix Feist of MGM, and Al Lichtman of United Artists, sales managers both, sent up trial balloons in speech and trade press, on what is to be recalled at the moment as "the exclusive run." Tentatively and in certain spots it was tried, and was in those spots a dollar success, even if it did prove in terms of industry politics far from a triumph. The exhibitor storm of protest gave the exclusive run movement pause, but the forces back of the idea are still at work.

HOLLYWOOD CREDO

"Hollywood . . . sees coming fewer pictures, fewer theatres, longer runs."

"Hollywood believes sincerely that it is the motion picture industry."

"Hollywood expects to demand an increasingly larger share of the box office grosses."

"Hollywood sees . . . the demise and failure of the super-cinemas . . . the closing of many of the smallest theatres . . . and the reduction of playing time in many locations. . . "

PUBLIC UTILITY FEELING IS MORE THAN IMPLIED

This brings to consideration one somewhat delicately interesting aspect of the production-exhibition picture. It is to be admitted, even by the hardest and sternest of executives, that there is, and even more strongly just now in a Code-colored world, a more than implied feeling in many important quarters that the motion picture is, despite all contradictions, in some degree a public utility. It follows that pressures against restrictions of "the right to buy" by the old established concerns which are looked upon as constituting the industry would be viewed as violators of an implied franchise for public service. It is obvious that if they seek to limit the availability of their wares much more closely than now there will be complaint a-plenty that they are taking something away from somebody. But on the other hand if a newly constituted organization, or branch or component of an organization, announced the making of an allegedly new line of product for a special market and offered it de novo to that special market the same line of objection would be less likely to be raised, or to prevail.

The trend, probably never to be carried to one hundred percent materialization, would inevitably be toward such a structure as the speaking stage had in the days of its amusement dominance, when the theatres of the land booked from a small number of Broadway production organizations, including conspicuously Klaw & Erlanger, the Shuberts, Charles Frohman and various minor and intermittent producers, variously as they were enfranchised or permitted to invade the precincts of the majors. The local "exhibitor" of the speaking stage in those roadshow days was a house manager.

To many, despite the fact they have seen the career of the screen rise from the beginning to this now more than promised consequence of sound—"curtailment" . . . in sum of effect the threatened abandonment of the masses and the field of lowest priced entertainment by the motion picture is likely to appear sensationally abrupt.

But it is to be remembered that the motion picture was brought into a world and period which could give it no competition on price, no equivalent in availability, no competition in its approach to the great common denominators of taste and understanding.

Mr. Mayer, sitting at the head of the big luncheon table in the executive bungalow on the Metro lot, made comment on the change of the motion picture retail market. He began when some sharp traders in Haverhill sold him "The Gem," nicknamed "The Germ" now nearly twenty-seven years ago.

The little nickelodeon was on the wrong side of the street and it was dirty and had an amazingly bad repute. He saved it with paint, fumigation and a new policy launched with Pathe's first version of "The Passion Play."

PEOPLE NO LONGER JUST "GO TO THE MOVIES"

"The buying habits of the motion picture public have changed and whether we like it or not we know that no longer do people just 'go to the movies.' They go out seeking attractions now, and only attractions."

"Then I assume," I suggested to Mr. Mayer, "that you consider the day of the house which did business on location-and-policy is done."

"Give me the attraction, the show they want, in the house around the corner in the side street," replied Mr. Mayer. "They will come and get it."

Across the luncheon table, listening with obvious interest, sat John Considine, of the name brought to show world fame by his father's association in the Sullivan & Considine circuit. This young Mr. Considine brings a bit of scholastic color to the motion picture, being a Rhodes scholar in sequel to The University of California and postgraduate work at Yale, and now an MGM production executive.

"I'm inclined to think," I observed to him, "that there is perhaps more of the old established movie habit left than perhaps our current discussion has indicated, and that somehow that is going to continue to be served."

"Television is going to take care of that—it can be the answer for the small locations, with inexpensive program service," Mr. Considine urged. He was insistent that television distribution for motion picture entertainment is not so far away. Whereupon we were off into a debate about lumens and frequencies and abstruse technicalities. Mr. Considine has been to East Pittsburgh to see what the laboratories have to offer and he feels assurance, and anticipation of early achievement of commercial practicality in television, in which I can not share.

PART APPLICATION OF PLAN CERTAIN

The ardent, vociferous, outstanding, not to say exclaiming exponent of this Hollywood doctrine of "curtailment" is the exuberant Samuel Goldwyn, who is hammer-and-tongs, hell-bent and whooping, in pursuit of an enunciation of his policies.

GOLDWYN AGREES WITH SOME OF CONTEMPORARIES

No day's low descending sun sinks into the Pacific that Mr. Goldwyn does not toss off, with a subtle consciousness, a perfect gleaming samgoldwynism. His for this day was: "I am determined that we shall have a return from the box office commiserate with the production investment."

Words have made Will Rogers, words and only a few of them in telling spots.

"Less than a dozen men apparently rule Hollywood as a production center. About six men approximately do in fact, and one man tells the six, with varying degrees of authority. . . ."

Mr. Goldwyn has many words, but in the telling spot he can deliver a goldwynism that is far too good to be accidental.

Not so long ago in a Hollywood executive conference concerning a plan for concerted action on some passing matter, he arose to announce his utter disagreement and exclaimed: "You can include me out of it." And they jolly well had to.

If you venture to twit him about it, Mr. Goldwyn professes a violent annoyance at such quotations. "It is not dignified." But he can not spoil his technique by agreeing to it. "Half the people out here think I'm crazy anyway," he says in a not too meek sort of way.

Anyway between the weiner schnitzel and the coffee, served just abaft the concert grand piano in the Goldwyn suite, I gathered that for once, on the subject of "curtailment" Mr. Goldwyn agreed with some of his contemporaries and friends in Hollywood. "Agreed" is probably the undiplomatic term. Like as not he invented "curtailment" or holds a patent claim on it.

One has to be cautious about such matters in the Goldwyn office. Mr. Goldwyn and I started amiably disagreeing about the rental figure for a Maxine Elliott picture at the Rialto on Broadway many and many a year ago and his last shot in the two decades of our argument is that under my editorship Motion Picture Herald does not in its reviews denounce poor pictures vigorously enough. It is here parenthetically recorded that I have never personally reviewed any of Mr. Goldwyn's excellent productions.

"When the executives, the directors, writers and players are gone, the studio is merely another shell and an array of idle desks and sets. . . ."

A perfectly terrific time was had while simultaneously I tried to tell Mr. Goldwyn about Motion Picture Herald's policy of reviewing a picture so that the reviewer's opinions and reactions were subordinated to the function of telling the exhibitor-reader enough about the picture as merchandise so he could make up his own mind about it, while Mr. Goldwyn was telling me about Anna Sten.

Now this Anna Sten in "Nana"—that is again something, or it had better be something. Mr. Goldwyn discovered her in the rotogravure section of the New York Times in a still from a Soviet production of "The Yellow Ticket" and has spent a year of time and an alleged $410,000 teaching her English, which is to say Hollywood—accepted America, and sorting out directors and stories. Taking the customary discount for cash and making it even $205,000, that is still a lot of money. Come to think of it even $102,500 would also be a lot of money.

THINKS HE SHOULD HAVE 50 PER CENT OF THE GROSS

Mr. Goldwyn, now engaged in the delivery of "Roman Scandals," thinks that he ought to have fifty percent of the gross take at the box office on the ground that he takes the risks of production and asks the exhibitor to pay for no failures.

And speaking of "Roman Scandals" reminds me that when he gets to New York in a few days Mr. Goldwyn is going to have a pretty kettle of fish on his hands about what to do about the large storm of exhibitor protest about Eddie Cantor competing with himself on the screen by his radio performances. The answer is not yet, and if I had to make it I'd say just to "include me out of it."

50 PICTURES A YEAR ENOUGH: GOLDWYN

Anyway—and how that Sam Goldwyn does invade one's space—he wants to see nothing offered to the exhibitor and his public but hits—presumably Goldwyn hits.

"Maybe fifty pictures a year are enough," cries Mr. Goldwyn in heat. He is sure there are too many seats, too many theatres, and that the customers do not need them.

In his Hollywood office he operates a complete motion picture company, including even a check list and card index on every theatre contract, even to the most remote foreign parts. For instance the diligent Abe Lehr produced the figures, comparatively compiled, on what an obscure little show in a Scotch village—a Scotch sample especially produced for me no doubt—has done with every Goldwyn picture—and what the opposition did against each. All the contracts seem to be approved in Hollywood.

To Mr. Goldwyn the "curtailment" policy demands longer runs, less of them, fewer theatres, higher prices. He talks of guarantees of exhibition profits to the theatre that are distinctly reminiscent of remarks that the late Lewis J. Selznick made so successfully in the promotion of Clara Kimball Young against program picture competition about 1917.

A turn to the right and down the patio

"The merchandise of the screen is a shadow and the real assets of production organization are minds and states of mind that make the shadows. Like the shadows, they can flit and pause where they may. . . ."

between the rose-bowered stucco walls brings one to the office of Darryl Zanuck, of Twentieth Century Pictures.

And here again, perhaps not entirely to your surprise or mine, one finds another exponent of the "curtailment" notion. Mr. Zanuck says that he is now off on a newly crystalized policy for the next season of making only so many pictures as he can reasonably assure himself are most likely to be hits. It may be twelve, and "I hope it may be less."

SAYS OCCASIONAL HIT MUST PAY FOR LOSSES

"The program production of the big companies means that it has to strive for the occasional hit, the hit that will make enough money to take care of the losses or lack of profits on ten mediocre flops."

All this to be sure does not represent the final complete opinion of Hollywood on "curtailment" and picture retailing. More is to be heard, and said, soon. Meanwhile, in a cloud no bigger than a man's hand appears at least two sixteen millimeter film projects, Hollywood nurtured, which just might have a bearing on exhibition in lesser centers. Of which more presently.

Alexander Korda, In a Letter to Quigley, Sees English Prejudice "Rather Imaginary"

Mr. Alexander Korda, eminent British director, whose "The Private Life of Henry VIII," produced for London Film, and released in the United States by United Artists, earned him the Gold Medal of Merit of the British Institute of Amateur Cinematographers for the best directorial work of the year, believes that the prejudice of some English producers and papers against the American market is imaginary and not based upon true facts.

A recent letter addressed to Mr. Martin Quigley, editor-in-chief and publisher of MOTION PICTURE HERALD, amplifying that belief, follows:

About 18 months ago you wrote an article in the Motion Picture Herald dealing with British pictures and their relation to the American market. I took the liberty of answering your letter and you were kind enough to publish my remarks in your paper.

I agreed with you 100 per cent that the prejudice which some English producers and papers felt against the American market was rather imaginary and not based upon true facts. I entirely agreed with you that any British picture or pictures made outside of America had only to be good to capture the attention of the American public.

I was surmising at the time I wrote the last letter but the reception which our film, "The Private Life of Henry VIII," received from the American public and press must do away with this delusion of prejudice forever. We are very grateful for the wonderful reception which this picture received, and I take this opportunity of expressing our gratitude and thanks to the motion picture critics of America and we hope that in the future we may receive the same reception with similarly good pictures.

It gives the greatest possible encouragement to the producers over here to note how a British picture can be made a success over there. In the future we have to realize that if some of our pictures do not meet with the same success the fault lies not in the prejudice of the American public and press but in the pictures themselves.

Large Loew Block Acquired by ATT

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company last week announced that it will acquire 230,000 shares of the block of 660,900 shares of Loew's, Inc., stock, split up ten days ago and purchased at auction by a committee representing holders of $18,300,000 of defaulted Film Securities Corp. notes on which the Loew stock was posted as collateral.

A. T. & T. was the largest of these note holders, with a total of $8,000,000. All such holders now are turning their notes in to apply on the purchase price for the stock. They are to receive a number of Loew shares in proportion to the amount of Film Securities notes turned in by each. Chase National Bank, with $4,000,000 of defaulted notes, will receive approximately 115,000 shares; Dillon, Read and Hayden Stone & Co., each with about $2,000,000, will receive approximately 57,500 shares each, and the remaining $2,300,000 of notes is held by 13 other banks and corporations, among whom the balance of Loew stock, amounting to some 200,000 shares, will be distributed.

Cohns' Mother Dead

Mrs. Bella Cohn, mother of Harry and Jack Cohn of Columbia, died suddenly Saturday night at her home, 416 Fort Washington avenue, New York. She was 69 years of age. The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at the West End Funeral Chapel and burial was at the Mt. Carmel Cemetery, Cypress Hills.

Broadway Reel Theatre Is Closed

The Embassy theatre, newsreel house on Broadway, New York, in the Times Square district, ceased operation on January 1. Inability to obtain suitable adjustment in rental upon the expiration of a lease was given as the reason for closing, in a statement from Truman Talley, vice-president and general manager of Movietonews, Inc.

The Newsreel theatre may be reopened in some other location, Mr. Talley indicated, if a situation adaptable to the exhibition of short subject programs is available.

The first of its kind, the Embassy, according to Mr. Talley, averaged well over 20,000 admissions each week, in some instances running as high as 30,000. "The terms under which the owners of the theatre wished to continue the lease were considered excessive and the only alternative was to close until such time as more satisfactory arrangements can be made," Mr. Talley's statement said.

RKO Bond Payment Allowed

Payment of interest due January 1 on outstanding Radio-Keith-Orpheum bonds was authorized Tuesday by Federal Judge Bondy in New York. The authorization was granted on petition of William J. Donovan, attorney representing the Irving Trust Company, receivers for RKO. Interest is $100,512, at the rate of six per cent on $1,825,208 in bonds outstanding on original $6,000,000 issue.

Doris Warner Wed To Mervyn LeRoy

(Pictures in Pictorial Section)

Doris Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Warner, was married Tuesday night to Mervyn Le Roy, director, at the Waldorf Astoria, New York, in the presence of 200 guests, including a party from Hollywood headed by Jack L. Warner, uncle of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi S. A. Fineberg of Sinai Temple, Mt. Vernon.

The couple sailed Wednesday on a world cruise. They will reside in Hollywood.

Guests at the wedding included:

Irving Asher, Ralph Adler, Mr. and Mrs. Jules Brulatour, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bernhard, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burger, Hope Burger, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bareford, Herbert Copelan, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Charnas, Milton Charnas, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Cantor, Louis D'Arclay, Chester Erskine, Mr. and Mrs. S. Charles Einfeld, Rabbi and Mrs. Solomon A. Fineberg, Herbert Frank, Mrs. Sam Feld, Mrs. Leo Forbstein, Mr. and Mrs. Stanleigh Friedman, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Greenbaum, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Goldstein, Mrs. Kate Goldman, Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Goetz;

Mr. Robert Goldstein, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Goldstein, Leonard Goldstein, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Goetz, Walter Goetz, Edna Goetz, Lou Golder, Gwen Heller, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Halper, Irene Heller, Mr. and Mrs. Halberstadt, Mr. and Mrs. Will H. Hays, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Holahan, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hyman, Mr. and Mrs. Isidore J. Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. A. Jacobs, Lester and Lou Krieger, Celia Krieger, Morris Levison, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Levy, Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Levy, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Levy, Mr. and Mrs. Moe Levy;

Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Lesser, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Laskin, Mr. and Mrs. Al Lichtman, Mack Levy, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Morris, Al Manheimer, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Muni, Dr. and Mrs. Waldo Mork, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Moses, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Metzger, Albert Manheimer, Courtland Mark, Max Milder, Mr. and Mrs. Sam E. Morris, Mrs. Elsa Mark, Mr. and Mrs. Max Michel, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nisenson, Fritzi Nisenson, Ruth Nathan, Mr. and Mrs. George O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pearl, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Robbins, Mrs. Sadie Rosenthal, Joseph Rosenthal;

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rapf, Mr. and Mrs. Moe Rosenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Rutkin, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Rosenberg, Ruth Rosenthal, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rodner, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Siegel, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Schlesinger, Mrs. Ad Schulberg, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stebbins, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Schneider, Louis Shurr, Buddy Schulberg, Carl Siegel, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Starr, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sax, Mr. and Mrs. Moe Silver;

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schwartz, Mr. and Mrs. Gradwell Sears, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Smith, Jr.; Philip Simon, Mr. and Mrs. Perce Teeple, Lucy, Ethel and Abel Cary Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ungerleider, Dr. and Mrs. Jonas J. Unger, Betty Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Warner, Major and Mrs. Albert Warner, Mrs. Benjamin Wolf, Shirley Warner, Jack L. Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Wolf, Ann Weiss, Elaine Whitelaw, Ruth Wilk, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Weil, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Wilk, Minna Wallis, and Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Zukor.

Dowling Back in Theatre

Eddie Dowling, actor-manager and motion picture producer, returned to the legitimate theatre this week when his production, "Big Hearted Herbert," opened at the Biltmore theatre in New York.

EXHIBITORS PICK 10 BIGGEST MONEY MAKING PLAYERS

Final Rankings in Canvass of 12,000 Exhibitors Show Six Women and Four Men As Box Office Leaders of Past Year

[Survey standings appear on next two pages]

Exhibitors of America have spoken their final word on the identities of the "Ten Biggest Money Making Stars of 1932-33," in response to MOTION PICTURE HERALD'S nationwide questionnaire, an annual project in which the retailers of the entertainment which is the motion picture voice their decisions as to which players have contributed most black ink to the ledger pages of the counting room.

It is not the exhibitor's personal opinion that is expressed. It is, rather, the box office speaking through the exhibitor. The question asked was this: "Please list the 10 players whose pictures drew the greatest number of patrons to your theatre from September 1, 1932, to September 1, 1933." Hence the replies—and 12,000 exhibitors were polled—represent box office, not the private likings of the theatre owner.

A double honor is paid Marie Dressler in that vote. The serio-comedy star took the lead in the early returns and maintained her hold upon first place throughout. And the triumph of her appeal to the entertainment-seeking millions was registered for the second successive year, with a slightly larger percentage margin over the runner-up than last season. Will Rogers was winner of second place this year; Janet Gaynor, runner-up a season earlier, carried third in the current survey.

The following received the ten largest number of citations, in the order in which they are listed:

1. Marie Dressler
2. Will Rogers
3. Janet Gaynor
4. Eddie Cantor
5. Wallace Beery
6. Jean Harlow
7. Clark Gable
8. Mae West
9. Norma Shearer
10. Joan Crawford

Those players, therefore, constitute "The Ten Biggest Money Making Stars of 1932-33," for the full year from September to September, in the estimation of the exhibitors themselves and from their careful perusal of the box office totals. That vote is a composite reflection of theatre receipts regardless of geography or any other factor.

Ranked by Number of Citations

The final ratings are founded upon the number of times a player was mentioned, regardless of that player's relative specified position among the ten nominations. The reason for this is that while opportunity was given the exhibitor in the questionnaire to name the players in the order of their box office strength, some exhibitors replied that the sequence they indicated was only approximately based upon actual box office criteria individually, and a few definitely commented that their selections were not recorded in any order of relative importance of players.

Another factor taken into consideration was that the box office evaluations necessarily were based upon product, the exhibitors naming the stars of the 1932-33 pictures which had brought the box office the cheeriest news. An element figuring in such computation is the recognized fact that the extent to which a film's draw can be accredited wholly and completely to any single player in the cast might vary between communities and beween pictures. In another form of statement, then, the survey names the ten players who appeared most prominently in the casts of the 1932-33 pictures which drew the greatest attendance to the theatres responding.

However, while not all the exhibitors made their nominations in the exact order which the box office would direct, there unquestionably was considerable observance of that plan of reporting. This prompts a secondary method of rating the players, under a scoring system. Most important of changes in final ratings under this second and unofficial plan of analysis is one that places the Four Marx Brothers in tenth place. Under this scoring system 10 points were credited to a player each time he or she was named in first position, 9 points for second place, 8 points for third ranking, and so on down to one point for tenth place.

While the numerical list, that is, the one first mentioned and based upon the number of times a player was mentioned, constitutes the official system, a following out of the second method of ranking showed no changes in the three first places. However, under the pointage plan the remainder of the first ten were these, in order: Wallace Beery, fourth; Mae West, fifth; Eddie Cantor, sixth; Jean Harlow, seventh; Norma Shearer, eighth; Clark Gable, ninth, and Four Marx Brothers, tenth.

Men Ranked Higher This Year

Interesting comment of another nature is disclosed in the pointage analysis. For example, in the cases of Miss Dressler and Will Rogers, ultimate winners of first and second places respectively, it was found that the large preponderance of votes cast named them for one or another of the three first positions. In the 1932 survey Miss Dressler's citations for first ranking were almost as many as for all the other nine positions combined.

While among the first ten in the official system, women players outnumbered the men by six to four in the current survey as against an even sharing of the positions a year ago, actually the male players improved their ranking this time. It is more than a coincidence that the first eight places alternated consistently between feminine players and the men, and that a feminine player won first and a male player second place.

Another development of interest is that in a rough classification of types of product represented by the ten leading players, the results are precisely the same as last year, with five of the "biggest money makers" appearing for the most part in COMEDY-DRAMA, three in the more serious DRAMA type of picture, and two in COMEDY.

Through the list of 163 players variously named by the responding exhibitors runs the story that the public wants its comedy and drama worked in together into its film diet.

The Winners

1. Marie Dressler
2. Will Rogers
3. Janet Gaynor
4. Eddie Cantor
5. Wallace Beery
6. Jean Harlow
7. Clark Gable
8. Mae West
9. Norma Shearer
10. Joan Crawford

[Complete rankings on next two pages]

TEAMS COMMENDED BY EXHIBITORS

Janet Gaynor-Warner Baxter
Jean Harlow-Clark Gable
Sally Eilers-James Dunn
Zasu Pitts-Slim Summerville
Robert Montgomery-Helen Hayes
Clark Gable-Joan Crawford
Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery
Marie Dressler-Polly Moran
Bert Wheeler-Robert Woolsey
Jaynet Gaynor-Charles Farrell
Marx Bros.
George Sidney-Charles Murray.
Ruby Keeler-Dick Powell
Stan Laurel-Oliver Hardy
Charles Ruggles-Mary Boland
Jeanette MacDonald-Maurice Chevalier

Marie Dressler Repeats in First Place; 163 Players Are Cited; Will Rogers Takes Second and Janet Gaynor Is Given Third

The Ten Biggest

MARIE DRESSLER

WILL ROGERS

JANET GAYNOR

Leaders by Sexes

Feminine

Marie Dressler	74.4%
Janet Gaynor	61.4%
Jean Harlow	40.6%
Mae West	36.3%
Norma Shearer	33.3%
Joan Crawford	27.8%

Male

Will Rogers	66.6%
Eddie Cantor	60.1%
Wallace Beery	44.8%
Clark Gable	36.5%

Leaders by Points

Following is the list of 10 leading players as rated according to a scoring system based on specifications of the exhibitors as to their relative position on the questionnaire; i.e., in first, second and third place, etc., throughout the 10 positions. For each listing in first place, 10 points were awarded the candidate; for second place, nine points; for third place, eight points, and so on.

The ranking by pointage is as follows, the number referring to the points scored:

Marie Dressler	4,062
Will Rogers	3,238
Janet Gaynor	2,589
Wallace Beery	1,766
Mae West	1,573
Eddie Cantor	1,451
Jean Harlow	1,335
Norma Shearer	1,260
Clark Gable	1,175
Four Marx Brothers	957

Numerical Ranking

Following is a complete compilation of the returns in the inquiry to determine "The Ten Biggest Money Making Stars of 1932-33," the ranking here being according to the number of times a player was mentioned in any position in the returned questionnaires. The percentages refer to the number of citations with respect to the total vote cast by the participating exhibitors:

CLARK GABLE

MAE WEST

Marie Dressler	74.4%
Will Rogers	66.6%
Janet Gaynor	61.4%
Eddie Cantor	60.1%
Wallace Beery	44.8%
Jean Harlow	40.6%
Clark Gable	36.5%
Mae West	36.3%
Norma Shearer	33.3%
Joan Crawford	27.8%
Joe E. Brown	27.2%
Lionel Barrymore	24.9%
Four Marx Brothers	23.5%
Bing Crosby	23.3%
Bert Wheeler and Robt. Woolsey	19.7%
Edward G. Robinson	19.1%
Slim Summerville	18.8%
Zasu Pitts	18.4%
Maurice Chevalier	18.3%
Fredric March	16.6%
Robert Montgomery	16.6%
Helen Hayes	15.2%
Warner Baxter	13.9%
George Arliss	13.7%
James Cagney	12.2%
Lee Tracy	12.0%
Sally Eilers	10.6%
George O'Brien	9.0%
Ann Harding	8.9%
Marlene Dietrich	8.4%
Greta Garbo	7.9%
Richard Barthelmess	7.8%
John Barrymore	7.6%
Buck Jones	7.5%
Paul Muni	7.5%
James Dunn	7.2%
Marion Davies	7.0%
Ruby Keeler	6.5%
Spencer Tracy	6.2%
Tom Mix	6.1%
Clara Bow	5.9%
Kay Francis	5.9%
Claudette Colbert	5.7%
Joan Blondell	5.6%
Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy	5.1%
Barbara Stanwyck	5.0%
Walter Huston	4.7%

Money Makers of 1932-33

EDDIE CANTOR

WALLACE BEERY

JEAN HARLOW

NORMA SHEARER

JOAN CRAWFORD

Constance Bennett	4.5%
Gary Cooper	4.5%
Irene Dunne	4.3%
Richard Dix	4.0%
Jack Holt	4.0%
George Raft	4.0%
Charles Farrell	3.6%
Charles Ruggles	3.4%
Ruth Chatterton	3.4%
Ronald Colman	3.2%
Sylvia Sidney	2.9%
Katharine Hepburn	2.8%
Ken Maynard	2.8%
Randolph Scott	2.8%
Jack Oakie	2.6%
Loretta Young	2.5%
Ramon Novarro	2.3%
Dick Powell	2.3%
Harold Lloyd	2.1%
Marian Nixon	2.0%
Leslie Howard	1.8%
Tom Keene	1.8%
Mitzi Green	1.7%
Warren William	1.7%
Edmund Lowe	1.5%
Johnny Weissmuller	1.5%
Lew Ayres	1.4%
Jackie Cooper	1.4%
Buster Crabbe	1.4%
Elissa Landi	1.4%
John Boles	1.2%
Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.	1.2%
Al Jolson	1.2%
Boris Karloff	1.2%
William Powell	1.2%
Fay Wray	1.2%
Joan Bennett	1.0%
Dolores Del Rio	1.0%
Polly Moran	1.0%
Kate Smith	1.0%

AND WHAT OF THESE MONEY MAKERS?

Various exhibitors, with a turn to the whimsical as well as an eye to the box office, proposed the following as entries in the Money Makers listing:

Mickey Mouse — Three Little Pigs
Bring 'Em Back Alive — King Kong

The following players received less than one per cent of the total vote cast:

Ralph Bellamy
El Brendel
Stuart Erwin
Charles Laughton
Joel McCrea
Mary Pickford
Charles Murray and George Sidney
Richard Arlen
Robert Armstrong
Buster Keaton
Ben Lyon
Mickey Mouse
Edna May Oliver
May Robson
Roscoe Ates
George Bancroft
Bill Boyd
Bebe Daniels
James Durante
W. C. Fields
Cary Grant
Miriam Hopkins
Jan Kiepura
Myrna Loy
Tom Tyler
Rex Bell
George Brent
Clive Brook
Charles Chaplin
Lilian Harvey
Edw. Everett Horton
Guy Kibbee
Victor McLaglen
Dickie Moore
Frank Morgan
Jean Parker
Chic Sale
Gloria Stuart
Lionel Atwill
Clyde Beatty
Mary Boland
Alice Brady
Bruce Cabot
Mae Clarke
Ginger Rogers
John Wayne
Nancy Carroll
Hoot Gibson
Tim McCoy
Bob Steele
Bill Cody
Betty Compson
Jackie Coogan
Ricardo Cortez
Richard Cromwell
Frances Dee
Reginald Denny
Madge Evans
Glenda Farrell
William Gargan
Wynne Gibson
John Gilbert
William Haines
Phillips Holmes
Arline Judge
Evalyn Knapp
Eric Linden
Carole Lombard
Paul Lukas
Jeanette MacDonald
Sari Maritza
Chester Morris
Greta Nissen
Warner Oland
Chas. (Buddy) Rogers
Peggy Shannon
Alison Skipworth
Charles Starrett
Lewis Stone
Gloria Stuart
Lyle Talbot
Richard Talmadge
Regis Toomey
Helen Twelvetrees
Lupe Velez
Robert Young

JOHNSON HITS LOWELL'S ACTION IN REFUSING CODE AUTHORITY POST

Administrator in Letter Says Lack of Vote Not Important; Sees 10% Cancellation as a Concession to Exhibitors

Bitter castigation of "distinguished men" who stand aside and conjecture the results of codes on "purely academic considerations" was last week voiced by Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson in a letter to Professor A. Lawrence Lowell, President Roosevelt's appointee to the film code authority, in response to his refusal to serve.

Culminating a correspondence in which Dr. Lowell had given as his reasons for refusing the appointment the inclusion in the code of block booking provisions and the lack of voting power by government representatives, Mr. Johnson told Dr. Lowell it was not a question whether the provisions would work, but a test.

Further, he declared, "this law is not intended to put the responsibility for industrial management on government" and it is not important that the government representatives on code authorities have no vote.

Mr. Johnson in his letter bluntly made it clear that he has little patience with theories postulated on as yet untried factors as well as "kibitzers" who refuse to take an active part in the Administration's recovery effort.

The Administrator also made it clear that he recognizes the ten per cent cancellation provision to be a concession to the exhibitors not obtainable by force.

General Johnson's letter follows:

"Dear Mr. Lowell:

"Replying to yours of December 18.

"You say that your refusal is based first on your statement that the block-booking clause is monopolistic.

"All that my remarks on the limits of my authority to stop block booking and blind buying meant was that I cannot repeal the copyright laws on which these practices are based, and which, under our Constitution, were intended to create a monopoly for writers and authors.

"But we did get a voluntary concession of a 10 per cent cancellation clause. This whole procedure is experimental. I was able to negotiate this concession which I had no power to impose. I could not get more because I was unable to negotiate more. The question as to whether it will do the trick or not will not be answered by conjecture but by test—all I asked of you was that you conduct the test. I thought you were the best man to do it because you are well known to have a poignant interest in the result.

"You object also because the government representative has no vote. It is not important that the government representative has no vote. He would have in every case a veto. This law is not intended to put the responsibility for industrial management on government but to give government an absolute veto on what industry does. I would not have it otherwise and neither, I think (on more mature reflection), would you.

"I am sorry you feel as you do but I wish that you and other distinguished men of science and letters would get down into the sawdust with me and govern this thing in the day-to-day tussle of actual experience instead of standing aside and conjecturing results on purely academic consideration."

With all important matters held up by the holidays, little of interest has transpired in Washington during the past week with respect to the motion picture code.

Mrs. Bagley "Refuses"

The only event of importance was the announcement by Mrs. Fred P. Bagley, president of the Massachusetts Council of Women and Children in Industry, that she had "refused" appointment on the film code authority. At Administration headquarters it was said Mrs. Bagley had never been offered the position and that she was merely one of some 30 or more persons whose names had been suggested as government representatives.

With the meeting in New York this week of the Code Authority, it is expected that the work of enforcing the code will get actively under way. The Authority is ready to proceed with the appointment of the 64 boards which must be set up throughout the country. Later, it is anticipated, the Authority will be asked to work out some method of enforcing compliance with the code, but in the meantime all complaints of non-compliance will go to Washington for consideration by Division Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt, who will refer them either to the National Labor Board or such other agency as seems to him best fitted to deal with each particular problem.

Postponement of the January 11 deadline for code signing for two weeks was expected to be announced.

The second meeting in New York of the Code Authority, scheduled for January 4, was preceded this week by meetings of committees on financing, clearance, zoning and grievance boards, to discuss plans for presentation to the main body on Thursday. No definite action was taken, however, and John C. Flinn, who last week was named executive secretary of the Code Authority, announced the Thursday meeting would be presided over by Sidney R. Kent. Mr. Rosenblatt will attend all Code Authority meetings.

Flinn Continues as AMPA Head

Mr. Flinn announced late last week he would continue his post as president of the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers, but gave no indication as to who might be selected to fill his position at Paramount-Publix.

It was announced in Washington that existing film zoning boards will be used for the purposes of the industry's code, instead of mapping out new territories in which local grievance and zoning boards are to function.

Aside from the preliminary meetings of the committees mentioned members of the Authority were concerned with the naming of alternates for future meetings. On Tuesday it was announced headquarters are to be established in the RKO Building in Radio City. The headquarters committee, composed of Charles L. O'Reilly, H. M. Warner and R. H. Cochrane, were expected to report favorably Thursday.

Alternates Are Named

The naming of alternates for Code Authority meetings must have the approval of General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA Administrator, it is understood. W. C. Michel acted as alternate for Sidney R. Kent at the last meeting, and J. Robert Rubin for Nicholas M. Schenck. R. H. Cochrane this week named Jack Cohn as his alternate and Edward Golden is expected to be named for W. Ray Johnston.

Assessments for the support of the Code Authority and subordinate organizations, paid by producers, distributors and exhibitors, will constitute business expenses and as such will be deductible from gross in the preparation of income tax returns, it was learned this week in Washington.

The matter of free automobile parking space for theatre patrons in relation to the code ban on premiums, is expected to receive early attention. The question probably will be handled by local grievance and zoning boards.

Verbal Agreement on Coast

Throughout the country, exhibitor and other organizations were still discussing the code to determine upon definite courses of action. The Allied unit in Baltimore announced that regardless of the national organization's attitude toward the code it is now operating 100 per cent under it.

Small actors and extras in Hollywood were charging violations of the code. Specific charges were not made public, but the Hollywood Picture Players Association will file complaints against Warner, Paramount, Columbia, MGM and the Central Casting Agency with Charles W. Grubb, code compliance director. Sound men in Hollywood vote Thursday and Friday on collective bargaining representation.

Pat Casey's office in Hollywood effected a verbal agreement with second assistant directors and script clerks, with a maximum 54-hour week and a minimum scale of $44.50 with overtime of time and one-half on Sundays and holidays for script clerks. The scales for second assistant directors were not made known.

Nominations for zoning grievance and clearance boards for the Kansas Western Missouri territory have been submitted to Mr. Rosenblatt by the Kansas-Missouri Theatre Association.

In New Orleans, Ed Kuykendall, president of the MPTOA, is investigating, at the request of the NRA, the first film buying complaint. The complaint was made in a letter to President Roosevelt from Al Yoeman, manager of the Temple theatre, Meridian, Miss., charging that RKO had taken product from him and sold it to the Saenger circuit.

DE-CODING THE CODE LABOR PROVISIONS

The second article in The Herald's series on a literal translation of the Motion Picture Code into the working language of the industry appears in this issue, starting on page 55.

This article treats of the labor provisions of the Code as they affect relations of employer and employee in distribution and exhibition.

Incorporates to Protect Territory

Gibraltar Enterprises, Inc., this week filed incorporation papers in Denver for the purpose of protecting the territory of its members against invasion either by theatre circuits or individual operators.

Charles R. Gilmour, the new organization's president, stated Tuesday that in the future if anyone enters any of the "protected" cities where the company has theatres, Gibraltar immediately will start to build or remodel buildings which will give the newcomer "stiff competition." Approximately $250,000 has been deposited in a Denver bank for this purpose, Mr. Gilmour declared.

Under the corporate setup, 13 theatres with a seating capacity of 9,746 in eight cities are included. The company does not plan to enter any but these eight cities except on an exclusive basis. Each group is organized in its own state, with Mr. Gilmour a vicepresident and director of each corporation.

Officers, beside Mr. Gilmour, are: E. J. Schulte, vicepresident, owner of Casper, Wyo., theatres; Nathan Salmon, treasurer, owner of Santa Fe, N. M., theatres; Everett Cole, treasurer, owner in Alamosa and Del Norte, Col.; W. H. Ostenberg, chairman of the board, owner in Scotts Bluff, Neb.; and Thomas F. Murphy and Edward W. Ward, owners in Raton, N. M., and Silver City, N. M., respectively. All are on the board of directors.

Mr. Gilmour was formerly manager of the Warner-Denver exchange. Headquarters are to be maintained in Denver, where all booking and buying will be done.

Civil Works Administration Studies Amusement Proposal

The possibilities of going into the amusement business are being studied by officials of the Civil Works Administration at Washington. Little theatres, concerts and similar entertainment for the working man have been suggested to Harry L. Hopkins, head of the administration, by Eva LeGallienne and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Apparently picked up bodily from the Soviet Russian program, the proposal would feed the overalled working man with entertainment in the way of "deep" stuff—"Parsifal" and "Mourning Becomes Electra."

Motion pictures have not been mentioned as part of the program.

Group Protests Printing Salaries, Theatre Receipts

The Theatre Owners Association of North and South Carolina, in session at the Hotel Charlotte, Charlotte, N. C., recently, passed a resolution going on record as severely criticizing and condemning the publication of the salaries of high-priced stars and of motion picture box office figures. It calls such action detrimental to the industry.

The resolution requested that producers, studio heads, publicity men and trade publications immediately discontinue the publication of such figures. Charles W. Picquet, of Pinehurst, N. C., is president of the organization. The resolution was passed unanimously.

Dr. Lowell Declines

By MARTIN QUIGLEY

Certain undesirable consequences have followed in the wake of the refusal of Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell to accept the President's invitation to serve as a government representative on the motion picture industry Code Authority.

Because of Dr. Lowell's distinction as an educator and as a citizen his interest in and contact with the industry would have been welcomed had he seen his way clear to accept the President's invitation. The selection of Dr. Lowell, however, was a puzzling one, due to the fact that he professed little or no familiarity with motion pictures and the affairs of the industry. The correctness of this profession is attested in the announced reasons for his refusal to serve.

△ △ △

Dr. Lowell's interest in the motion picture question, presumably, would have had to do with those phases of it which affect the public welfare. His objective, it is supposed, would have been to exert an influence for the betterment of the moral character of pictures.

He has predicated his refusal to serve largely on the grounds that the continuance of the practice of block-booking would have rendered futile any efforts which he might have put forth. In assuming this attitude, Dr. Lowell adds weight to our initial conclusion relative to his selection for the Code Authority which was that he did not know enough about the subject matter to be of any definite use to the public or to the industry.

△ △ △

Dr. Lowell would have block-booking eliminated so that the exhibitor would be called upon to assume full responsibility for the character of the pictures shown. In other words, he would transfer full responsibility for the character of the product from a handful of the principal producing executives to the many thousands of exhibitors located in cities and towns throughout the land. He would drop the principle of eliminating the evil at the source and resort to an effort to have the necessary regulation effected at the many thousands of individual outlets to the public.

Had Dr. Lowell, at any point, given his customary thought and study to the question we are sure he would have reached a different conclusion.

△ △ △

It is, of course, a fact that the practice of block-booking involves certain arresting problems. In the industry there is one school of thought entirely against it and another which is entirely for it. But in no correct sense is it a question which should have commanded the attention which it has received from Dr. Lowell because, obviously, his principal concern is the maintenance of right moral values in motion pictures and, again obviously, the one place where this can and should be done is at the source. Any other scheme multiplies the difficulties and minimizes the chances of good results.

It would be very desirable to have the exhibitor completely responsible for what he shows on his screen. In fact, there should not be at any time any interference with the exhibitor's right to conduct his theatre, in all respects, just as he sees fit, being held accountable only to his public and his public's laws. But the one certain and effective way of regulating the character of the product is to regulate it at the source which, of course, is in the studio.

△ △ △

Dispatches from Boston report that Mrs. Frederick H. Bagley, head of the motion picture committee of the Massachusetts Civic League, has also declined appointment to the Code Authority and for the same reason advanced by Dr. Lowell.

These declinations are unfortunate because they reflect adversely on the industry in that they have resulted in certain unfavorable publicity which only serves to confuse the public mind in that the refusals to serve are predicated on a misunderstanding of the objective to be reached and the best means with which it may be reached. A little more real knowledge of the situation would have been helpful to the public interest and would have saved the industry a criticism which is not in order.

Thomas Is Elected To Presidency of Independent Group

Harry Thomas, of First Division Pictures, was unanimously elected president of the Federation of the Motion Picture Industry, Inc., national organization of independent producers and distributors, at an executive session of the board of directors at the Hotel Astor in New York late last week.

W. Ray Johnston, president of Monogram, was elected vice president for distributors; I. E. Chadwick, vice president for producers; Jack Bellman, vice president for exchanges; Irving Mandel, vice president for exchanges; Charles Glett, treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors were: Mr. Thomas, Mr. Johnston, Mr. Glett, Bob Savini, Mr. Chadwick, Nat Levine, Irving Mandel, Jack Bellman, Pat Powers, David J. Mountan, Trem Carr, Armand Cohen, Claude Ezell, Harry Asher, Herman Glucksman, Larry Darmour, Bob Withers.

The executives committee includes: Mr. Thomas, Mr. Johnston, Mr. Bellman, Mr. Glucksman, Mr. Glott, Mr. Savini, Mr. Powers.

On the membership committee are: Eddie Golden, chairman; Mr. Savini, Mr. Bellman, Mr. Mountan, Mr. Chadwick, Mr. Mandel, Mr. Ezell, Mr. Withers, Mr. Cohen, Mr. Asher.

Mr. Thomas, Mr. Johnston, Mr. Glucksman, Mr. Glett, Mr. Powers and Mr. Levine make up the finance committee.

Mr. Thomas also named a committee on standards, which will endeavor to see that a high ethical standard is maintained in production and advertising among independent producers and distributors.

An office location will be selected this week at 723 Seventh avenue. Alec Moss was named permanent executive secretary. A permanent financing plan was adopted on Wednesday, calling for a producer assessment of $5 per negative reel release, and on distributors of $2.50 per positive reel release.

$5,055,665 Year's Radio City Gross

The two Radio City theatres in New York, the RKO Music Hall and the RKO Center, formerly called the RKO Roxy, grossed a total of $5,055,665 for their initial 12-months' period of operation. With an attendance of 6,025,000 in the year, the Music Hall outstripped its smaller sister by almost three to one in that respect. The RKO Center, in that period, had an aggregate gross of $1,084,959.

The Center, never veering from its opening policy of films only, grossed $693,287 of its year's total during the first 21 weeks of operation, to May 25. On May 26, the house switched from pictures and stage presentations to films only, the theatre becoming part of the RKO metropolitan circuit, playing features day and date with neighborhood de luxe houses.

Wingate Sees Move To Better Moral Tone

A new consciousness of the desirability of improving the moral tone of motion pictures is apparent in Hollywood, according to Dr. James Wingate, studio relations counsel for the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, who said last week that no new regulations or enforcement provisions are regarded as necessary.

"The cooperation of producers is definitely better now than it was a year ago," Dr. Wingate said. "There is a better realization of what is wanted in picture improvement and there is a greater willingness to maintain it. This has been aided by the box office success of pictures like "Little Women," which have demonstrated so clearly that a clean picture can be a commercial success."

Dent Theatres Plan Wins Approval

The approval of corporate and financial plans under which all capital stocks of all subsidiaries of Dent Theatres, Inc., a Paramount Publix subsidiary, are to be sold to a new corporation as yet unorganized, was given last week by Referee Henry K. Davis in New York after the arrival from Dallas of Karl Hoblitzelle.

Mr. Davis approved the basic plan in October, at which time it was announced that the 54 Texas and New Mexico theatres comprising the circuit would be operated by Mr. Hoblitzelle for Paramount. Mr. Hoblitzelle is to pay the Paramount trustees $50,000 for all Class A stock of the operating corporation to be organized. All Class B stock is to be held by Paramount, which also receives two income debenture issues of $700,000 and $800,000 each of the new corporation.

The new corporation, although not yet organized, may be set up at once as a result of Mr. Davis' order. The referee also approved the Paramount trustees' plan for readjustment of the bond issue of the St. Francis Theatre Bldg., San Francisco, now in bankruptcy. Under the plan the building will be leased for 99 years.

Adolph Zukor, Paramount Publix president, on Tuesday denied reports that Emanuel Cohen was resigning as production chief, saying that Mr. Cohen had been advised by his physician to take a short rest.

Famous Theatres Corporation, newly created subsidiary which took over the assets of Publix Enterprises, has concluded a deal with William Jenkins and Arthur Lucas for the operation of the theatres now operated by various subsidiaries in Atlanta.

The name of Theatre Management Company, stock of which is held by Paramount trustees, was changed to Paramount Theatres Service Corporation, at a stockholders' meeting Tuesday.

Einfeld Honored

S. Charles Einfeld, Warner Brothers' advertising and publicity director, has been invited by Henry L. Doherty, national chairman of the Birthday Ball for President Roosevelt, to join the Stage and Screen Division publicity committee for the ball Jan. 30. Sam E. Morris, Warner vice president, has accepted a general committee post.

Board of Review Selects "Topaze" As Best of Year

"Topaze," John Barrymore's RKO Radio vehicle, was chosen as the best American picture of the year, in the annual selections by the Committee on Exceptional Photoplays of the National Board of Review. The period covered was from Dec. 20, 1932, to Dec. 21, 1933. American and foreign films were considered separately.

Other American pictures chosen were "Berkeley Square," "Cavalcade," "Little Women," "Mama Loves Papa," "The Pied Piper" (cartoon), "She Done Him Wrong," "State Fair," "Three Cornered Moon" and "Zoo in Budapest."

Foreign pictures selected were "The Private Life of Henry VIII," "Hertha's Erwachen," "Ivan," "M," "Morgenrot," "Niemandsland," Quatorze Juillet," "The Rome Express" and "Le Sang d'un Poete."

Former Pathe Men Head Liquor Firm

Numerous former Pathe executives, headed by Joseph P. Kennedy, are now operating a liquor importing and distributing company known as Somerset Importers, Ltd., with offices at 230 Park avenue, New York. Reports indicate that Mr. Kennedy is a controlling figure in the organization.

E. J. O'Leary, former Pathe general sales manager, is president of the company. Thomas Delehanty, former foreign manager, is treasurer, and P. J. Scollard, former executive vice-president of Pathe, is president of Interstate Distributing Corporation, an allied firm holding New England territorial sales rights. Ed Ballantyne, formerly in charge of Pathe exchange operations, and John MacAloon, former Pathe assistant general sales manager, are associated with Mr. Scollard.

Realty Men Indicted

The Brooklyn grand jury this week indicted 12 men either directly connected or affiliated with New York Investors, Inc., and its subsidiary, Realty Associates, Inc., on charges of misuse of mails and concealment of assets. An investigation has been underway for some weeks.

Cut Erpi's British Rates

Electrical Research Products, Inc., this week reduced its weekly service charges throughout Great Britain by approximately $1.30. This reduction brings the former highest service charge of $24.52 per week down to $23.22, and the lowest rate of $10.31, to $9.06.

Emanuel on Coast Trip

Jay Emanuel, publisher of the Jay Emanuel Publications, leaves Philadelphia for a combined business and pleasure trip to Hollywood on January 12 with Mrs. Emanuel.

THE CAMERA REPORTS

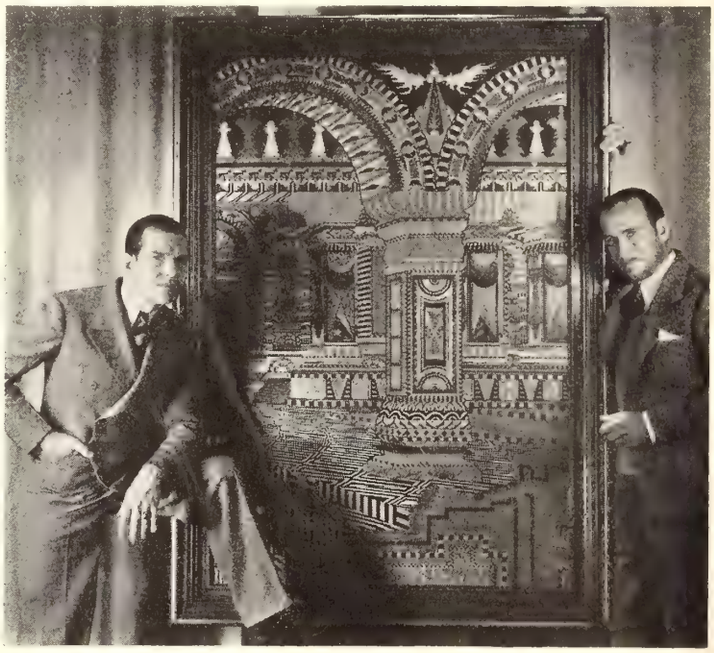
AN HISTORICAL NAME RETURNS. With the opening of the new Biograph studio in New York. Above, at left, are some officials and others of prominence at the baptismal rites, while above, at right, is pictured one of the two stages. In the left-hand picture, reading from left to right, are: Herbert J. Yates, president of Consolidated Film Industries; Robert H. Hammer, vice-president of Biograph; E. A. Nicholas, vice-president of RCA Victor, which company installed the sound system; Helen Morgan, screen and stage star; Chester Erskine, producer; and Harry M. Goetz, president of Biograph.

SIGNED. Genevieve Tobin, who has been signed to a long-term contract by Warner Brothers, following completion of two new pictures.

PHOTO-GRAFT. Doubling the charm of Kathryn Sergava, Warner Brothers importation to be seen soon in Al Jolson's "Wonder Bar."

PORT O' CALL. Leslie Howard, en route from England to Hollywood, via New York, as he dropped in on Ned E. Depinet, distribution chief, and Phil Reisman, export manager, at the RKO Radio home office. Howard's next RKO Radio picture will be "Of Human Bondage."

IN MUSICAL. Alice Faye, who will be opposite Rudy Vallee in the Fox production of George White's "Scandals." She has sung with the Vallee orchestra.



WILD GAL. No Jo in "Little Women" is Katharine Hepburn here. But quite in the mood of her next RKO Radio picture, a mountain story called "Trigger."

DAUGHTER OF H. M. WARNER WEDS. Miss Doris Warner (at right), who became the bride of Mervyn Le Roy (at left), Warner-First National director, in a colorful ceremony performed Tuesday evening at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York. The rites were filmed with sound, and 200 guests attended the reception that followed. Jack L. Warner, the bride's uncle, was best man. A gay prelude was the "bachelor party" at the Hotel Astor (above), with Mr. Le Roy toasted—and "roasted"—by 200 friends.

BOOK CHAPLIN FILM FOR TOKYO. Earl W. Kramer, general manager for United Artists in Japan, and representatives of the Nippon Gekijo, largest theatre in the Japanese capital, following signing of contract calling for a three-week run of "City Lights," beginning January 14, at a record rental.

ACTOR STARS IN ART. Lynton Wright Brent, Educational player (left), with his painting, "Orient," which has been widely exhibited, and on the occasion represented here, was hung at the Roosevelt Hotel in Hollywood. The admiring friend at the right is Andy Clyde, Educational comedy star.

ASIDES & INTERLUDES

By JAMES CUNNINGHAM

PRAYER, you can take it from Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, answers all questions. However the box-office problems of New York's Capitol theatre and Philadelphia's Stanley when the evangelist turned stage headliner were another matter.

Be that as it may, Sister Aimee, admitting a "wonderful reception" during her brief experience on the motion picture stage, doesn't know whether she will try again. That, she says, is a moot question to be answered by prayer. We disagree with Sister Aimee; that's a question for exhibitors to answer.

Nevertheless Aimee insists that she'd have to pray about it before taking another vaudeville contract. "The Lord would send me an answer," she said.

Interviewed at Kansas City by our operative in charge of the corn and mule country, Alfred Finestone, during a barnstorming tour of the Middlewest, in which she expounded the Four-Square gospel, the second coming of the Lord and the story of her life the flame-haired fundamentalist said she was grateful for the opportunity given her to preach her message to theatre audiences. From the footlights and the glare of the spotlight, she reached, she said, a great many people who hadn't been to church in years.

Since that experience, Sister Aimee "confided" (for publication), she has received letters from more than 700 persons who were converted in New York and Philadelphia by her entreaties to accept the Four-Square gospel. as exemplified by Sister Aimee and her Angelus Temple at Los Angeles.

"It might not have been a profitable venture from a theatre man's standpoint," she continued. "But it certainly was from ours. We made hundreds of converts" (and hundreds of dollars). "The people everywhere were wonderful to us. I'd go out on the stage trembling like a leaf and be met by kindness." Imagine, Sister Aimee suffering from stage fright!

▽

Paramount struck a brand new note of mystery the other day when it sent to the press a special publicity statement, which said:

"Cecil B. DeMille 'discovered' Sally Rand several years ago."

Details of the discovery were not given."

▽

A typical Hollywood studio location map shows that almost every type of world's scenery exists in southern California. Without traveling much farther north than Santa Barbara, nor further south than the borderline at Mexico, Hollywood producers can find southern California locations which resemble Ireland, Alaska, the Holy Land, Russia, the Black Forest of Germany, rural England, French Riviera, Italian villas, Holland, India, Flanders, "Wild West," Austrian Tyrol, Japanese village, South Seas, Spanish Main, English coast, Japan (cherry blossoms), Italian coast, Arabian desert, Alps, Malay coast, South America, Dead Sea, the Sahara.

▽

The alleged dissemination of Nazi propaganda in this country brings to the minds of oldtimers the campaign started in Germany some twenty years ago last week, to flood the United States with motion pictures advertising Berlin as a good place to visit. Every week a motion picture cameraman appeared at Berlin's old Hotel Adlon and photographed the afternoon beer-and-knackwurst parties, later visiting the night cafes and dancing places. Many a stein has been lifted since then.

LALLAPALOOZAS FROM THE MAIL

Miss Juliet Lowell has placed between covers some of the weirdest and most hilarious "nut" mail that has ever made letter carriers round-shouldered. One of the classical bits of correspondence was that exchanged between a bright young author and a publishing house, as follows:

"How long should a novel be?"

(Answer)

"There is no statutory requirement, but 85,000 words is a good average length for a short popular novel."

(Wired reply to the Editor:)

"THANK GOD I'M FINISHED."

MANY of the motion picture successes emanating from the Burbank studios of the Brothers Warner are the work of young Mervyn LeRoy. On Tuesday evening, at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, Dr. S. A. Fineberg clamped the chains of matrimony on Mr. LeRoy and Doris Warner, daughter of Harry M. Warner, thereby removing any doubt about the future motion picture allegiance of the director.

In answer to an official invitation to attend a "Hell of a Big Blinger," we sauntered down to the Hotel Astor a few nights before the nuptials, and, lo and behold, there was Mervyn, imprisoned in an iron cage with some 200 of his motion picture friends about him enjoying his last good gasp of bachelordom.

Mervyn could take it—he had to.

Someone at the bachelor dinner discovered a label in the beefsteak hats: "Made in Germany." Within two seconds every one of the 200 hats and paper aprons were in shreds on the floor.

▽

Mike Vogel, conductor of MOTION PICTURE HERALD'S "Managers' Round Table Club," went to the studio party on the reopening of the old Biograph plant in the Bronx, the other day. Neatly clad in a long, dark ulster and black felt fedora hat, he was the epitome of sartorial perfection. As he made his exit through the stage entrance, a small boy—one of scores of admiring fans who had gathered to watch the celebrities—shouted loudly: "Hey, guys! Here comes Rubinoff!" Was Mike sore!

▽

The Royal Family of King George of England are exploiteers de luxe for Mickey Mouse.

Sammy Cohen, of Hal Horne's New York staff of United Artists, sent to the King a photograph of the Mouse reading a copy of the British Everyman's Magazine, which carried on its front cover a full-page picture of His Majesty on the occasion of his birthday. Sammy subtly conveyed the idea that the drawing of Mickey would make a very interesting memento for the King's tiny granddaughter, Elizabeth.

Replied Buckingham Palace: "The Private Secretary has received the King's command to thank United Artists for their kind congratulations on the occasion of His Majesty's birthday."

THE movie colony in Hollywood welcomed the other day Alice Leone Moats, a debutante of our times, whose first job will be to put ease into social dramas. Miss Moats is a contributor and associate editor of Vogue and the author of a sprightly book on etiquette, entitled "No Nice Girl Swears."

Remembering the title of her book, the reporters popped a question:

"Miss Moats, shouldn't a heroine ever swear?"

"Women," she replied, "never have mastered the art of swearing. As Mark Twain remarked, 'they get the words but they miss the tune.'"

The young lady believes that it won't do to get the movies too correct. "What I hope to do," she reported, "is to inject notes of common sense here and there into the behavior of movie characters." Hollywood's stars will no longer be seen pricking their fingers with their fish forks.

Miss Moats was called to the Fox studio at Movietone City by Jesse Lasky. The idea was to have her be the official chaperone for a group of co-eds who were to be taken to the coast for "Debutante Party." She refused to be the chaperone.

"I have some pride," she said, "and I will not be a chaperone. I do not approve of the girls who come to Hollywood and go home with diamond necklaces. But I most certainly do not intend to go home with a feather boa."

▽

There was brought to our attention during the week a rather questionable piece of motion picture theatre advertising, in which large display lines convey the impression that the theatre will be opened free to everyone in the town, for two days, as a Christmas gift to the populace from the management operating the New Weller theatre, at Zanesville, Ohio. And, in considerably smaller type buried inconspicuously in the ad appears the line: "A nominal service charge—10c—is all that is asked."

The top part of the copy brought "Greetings" to the public, and said: "In token of our appreciation of the splendid welcome you gave this new theatre fourteen weeks ago, and of your generous patronage ever since, we are giving this unusual Christmas gift to Zanesville—a free show for everyone—FREE TO EVERYONE, ALL SEATS, ALL TIMES."

▽

Terry Ramsaye writes from Hollywood, where he now is making a critical study of the production capital, that the motion picture colony just cannot assimilate the idea of legal liquor, with the bootleggers in those parts still supplying both imported and domestice bottlings to the old customers. But the abundance of the supply, plus this and that, cut the usual traffic to Tia Juana and Agua Caliente to a new low during the holiday season, he reported. "All that the Mexican hot spots can offer exclusively now are legalized gambling and open betting on the horses," added Editor Ramsaye.

▽

From newspaperman John Chapman we learn about Bob Sylvester's observations anent the tranquil peace and dignity which late night brings to the office buildings of Radio City. Then, reports Bob, the lobby of one of the large buildings, perhaps the others, too, is almost deserted.

The marble floors shine ebony-like, broken in patterns by the glint of golden metal strips. Two uniformed employees are still on duty. They stand toe-to-toe, shoulder-to-shoulder. and pitch pennies against the lines of the inlaid floors in the heart of this great $250,000,000 development. At least, says Bob, they seem to be pitching pennies. Maybe it's $10 goldpieces.

BEN BERNIE
The "Old Maestro" himself. Radio's most popular Master of Ceremonies transfers that magnetic personality to the screen.

CARL BRISSON
England's reigning musical comedy favorite who recently made a hit in "The DuBarry".

KITTY CARLISLE
Broadway's newest singing star. Now scoring a tremendous personal success in "Champagne,Sec", in New York.

EDDIE CRAVEN
A nephew of Frank Craven, famous actor and comedian, Eddie has set all New York laughing at his antics in "Sailor Beware".

DOROTHY DELL
Internationally famous in 1930 as "Miss Universe", Miss Dell became a featured star in Florenz Ziegfeld's 1931 Follies.

FRANCES DRAKE
Sensational newcomer to American screen from English stage successes and pictures. Soon to be seen in "Bolero".

BARBARA FRITCHIE
A debutante and Junior Leaguer whose distinctive personality and beauty won her a contract for screen appearances..

JACK HALEY
Star of the stage successes, "Good News," and "Take A Chance"; Haley recently made a hit on the screen in "Sitting Pretty".

Paramount ANSWERS

34

RING IN THE NEW

IDA LUPINO

Daughter of Stanley Lupino, famous English comedian and dancer, she has scored a great success in English pictures.

ETHEL MERMAN

The girl who set New York aflame with her torch-singing in "Girl Crazy", George White's "Scandals" and "Take A Chance".

JOE MORRISON

Sweet singer of songs with George Olsen and his Music, Morrison became famous overnight when he introduced "The Last Round-Up" to radio listeners.

SALLY RAND

The girl who made Chicago famous! Miss Rand in her Fan Dance was one of the outstanding attractions of the World's Fair.

LANNY ROSS

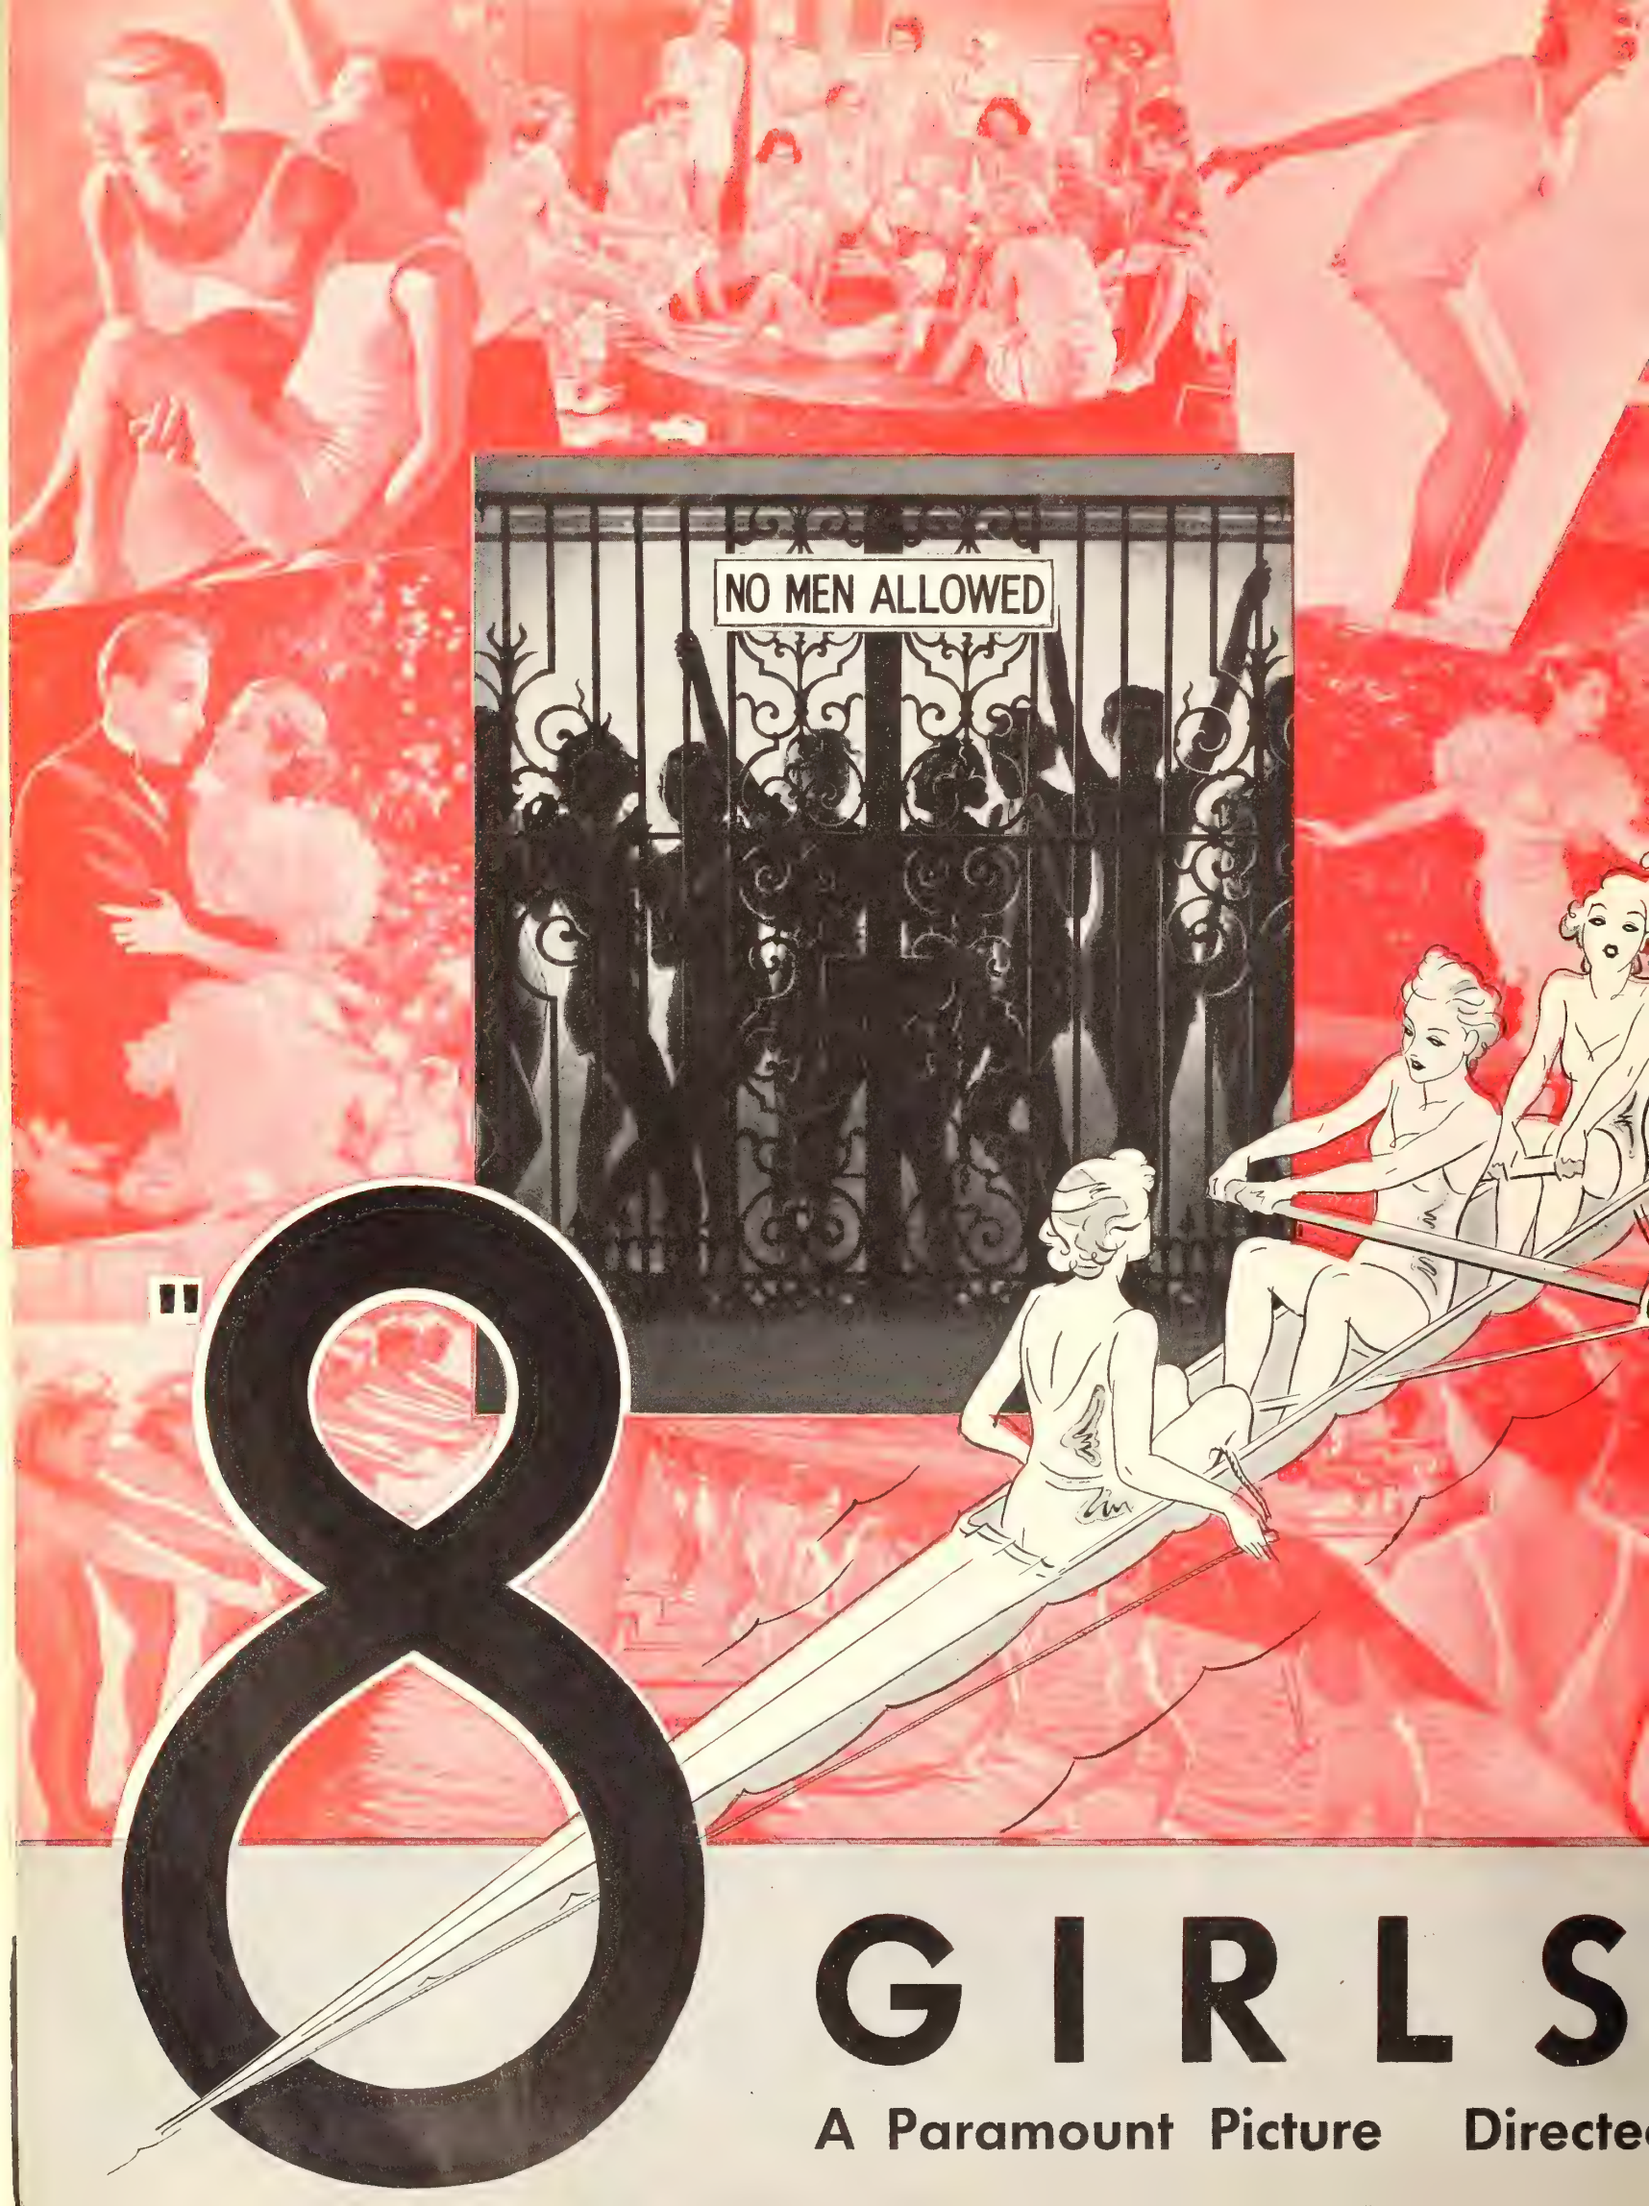
One of Radio's great voices. Singing star of the Maxwell House "Show Boat" Hour.

EVELYN VENABLE

Starred on the stage as Walter Hampden's leading woman, her performance in "Cradle Song" gives great promise for the future.

JOHN LODGE

Leading man for Marlene Dietrich in her forthcoming production based on the life of "Catherine the Great."



DOROTHY WILSON

Whose performance in Charles R. Rogers' "Eight Girls In A Boat", is exciting comment all over the country.

Paramount Pictures

THE OLD CRY FOR NEW FACES!

8 GIRLS

A Paramount Picture Directe

IN A BOAT"

by Richard Wallace A Charles R. Rogers Production.

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

Son of Kong

(RKO Radio)

Adventure Tale

There is considerable showmanship potentiality in this "Son of Kong," if for no other reason than the fact that it is a sequel to the sensational "King Kong" of last season. For selling purposes the exhibitor must know, however, that "Son of Kong" is not the motion picture its father was, so to speak, by a considerable amount of sensationalism.

Three of the cast of the original are to be found in this picture, Robert Armstrong, the young promoter who found Kong; Frank Reicher, his friend and captain of the ship in which they went to the island, and Victor Wong, Chinese cook and loyal servant of Armstrong. The others, new to the ways of Kong, are capable, though there is comparatively little marquee value attaching to their names. Helen Mack is the girl in the case, John Marston, the unscrupulous captain who draws them again to the island.

The new mechanical Kong is virtually a miniature of his illustrious cinematic parent, and occasionally is made to look absurd, by an occasional scratching of the head and rolling of the eyes, thereby imparting a laugh to the adventure story. He is aided and abetted, in several pre-historic wrestling bouts, by a few papier-mache monsters. The closing sequences of the film are crowded with fantastic action on the island, climaxed by an earthquake and the death of the small Kong, but the early portions of the film move slowly, taking too much footage getting to the island and the son of Kong.

Armstrong, pursued in New York by avid process servers bringing tidings of suits for damage wrought by King Kong during his physical tirade against the big city, escapes to the ship of his friend Reicher, and they sail, with Wong, for trade in the South Seas. Unsuccessful, in a tropical port they chance upon Miss Mack and her father, Clarence Wilson, operating a half-hearted show. A drunken argument between Wilson and Marston ends in Wilson's death and the burning of the show. Armstrong befriends Miss Mack, and when he meets Marston, who has a tale of treasure on the Kong Island, they sail, Miss Mack later appearing as a stowaway.

When the crew mutinies in sight of the island, Miss Mack, Armstrong, Reicher, Marston and Wong are put ashore. It is only then that they unexpectedly come across the son of Kong. Armstrong and the girl save it from quicksand, and then things, in the highly fantastic manner of the tale, begin to happen. On several occasions, the little Kong saves them, and at the conclusion, as Armstrong finds the treasure, an earthquake tears the island to pieces. The unscrupulous Marston is killed, the others escape in a rowboat, and as the island sinks, the son of Kong, with Armstrong held aloft in his huge paw, goes with it. Armstrong is saved, and the group is rescued by a passing steamer, he and Miss Mack deciding to share their portion of the treasure.

The exhibitor should sell the film along somewhat the same lines as "King Kong," though care should be exercised not to promise too much of the sensational. The film is apt to be found more entertaining by children than by adults, so there should be a special effort directed toward the youngsters.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by RKO Radio. Executive producer, Merian C. Cooper. Directed by Ernest B. Schoedsack. Story by Ruth Rose. Chief technician, Wiliis O'Brien. Technical staff, E. B. Gibson, Marcel Delgado, Carroll Shephird, Fred Reese, W. G. White. Release date, December 22, 1933. Running time, 70 minutes.

CAST

Robert Denham.....Robert Armstrong
Hilda.....Helen Mack
Englehorn.....Frank Reicher
Helstrom.....John Marston
Chinese cook.....Victor Wong
Mickey.....Lee Kohlmar
Red.....Ed Brady
Peterson.....Clarence Wilson
Mrs. Hudson.....Katharine Ward
Girl reporter.....Gertrude Short
Servant girl.....Gertrude Sutton
Chinese trader.....James B. Leong
Native chief.....Noble Johnson
Witch king.....Steve Clemento
Process server.....Frank O'Connor

The Last Round-Up

(Paramount)

Western

All the elements required to make a western movie from start to finish are embodied in this offering with plenty for the exhibitor to use in exploitation, particularly the title, which in the past six months has become a household word in every hamlet, town and city, through its continual broadcasting over the air. Again you have the author, Zane Grey, whose tale of the early west is adroitly transferred to the screen from his novel "The Border Legion." The return of Monte Blue also can lend well to exploitation possibilities without disappointing the fans, as he does an attractive piece of work as the leader of the gang, known as "The Border Legion."

Though Blue does not head the cast, his work overshadows that of Randolph Scott and Barbara Fritchie, who come first and second to his in the casting roster. Others following are well-known for their portrayal of western characters, including Fred Kohler, Fuzzy Knight, Richard Carle, Barton MacLane, Charles Middleton and others.

Built on the tried and sure-fire formula, there are villains, a hero and a girl, all concerned in such action as cattle rustling, stage coach holdups, real he-men fights, marksmanship, fast riding and hair raising chases, with plenty of suspense, timed and executed in a manner that should hold the interest of lovers of westerns until the final fadeout.

Randolph Scott is the hero who by circumstances is forced to join up with Monte Blue, leader of the gang of outlaws. Fuzzy Knight is Blue's right hand man with Fred Kohler his villainous pardner. Scott falls in love with Barbara Fritchie, an old acquaintance of Blue, under extremely menacing circumstances, but in the end wins with some very tough fighting and surviving many dangerous raids staged by the "Legion." The climax comes when the outlaw band is trapped in Virginia City and practically annihilated, only four of the principal characters surviving. This battle is engaged in by some five hundred hard shooting westerners, which gives the offering a somewhat spectacular size and does not kid the audience, as many westerns do, in firing a lot of shots and killing nobody. To the contrary, there is a mark for every bullet and a reason for every piece of action.

The exhibitor should give unstinted emphasis to exploiting Zane Grey's widely read novel and the better known song title of "The Last Round-up," promising a western of magnitude, thrilling with action, romance and the return of Monte Blue.—MCCARTHY, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Directed by Henry Hathaway. Based on the story, "The Border Legion," by Zane Grey. Screen play, Jack Cunningham. Words and music of "The Last Round-Up" by Billy Hill. Photographed by Archie Stout. Sound, Earl Sitar. Art directors, Hans Dreier and Earl Hedrick. Running time, 65 minutes. Release date, January 26, 1934.

CAST

Jim Cleve.....Randolph Scott
Joan Randall.....Barbara Fritchie
Jack Kells.....Monte Blue
Sam Gulden.....Fred Kohler
Bunko McGee.....Fuzzy Knight
Judge Savin.....Richard Carle
Charley Benson.....Barton MacLane
Sheriff.....Charles B. Middleton
Shrimp.....Frank Rice
Rush.....Dick Rush
Old Man Tracy.....“Buck” Connor
Scarface.....Bob Miles
First Miner.....Sam Allen
Second Miner.....Ben Corbett
Bartender.....Jack M. Holmes
First Outlaw.....Jim Corey Second Outlaw.....James Mason

The Poor Rich

(Universal)

Comedy

Where fast moving and novel hokum comedy is appreciated, this picture has the necessary story, cast and production values for a satisfying laugh show. Definitely in the family type classification, its entertainment offering much to amuse adults and youngsters of both sexes, it is chock full of giggles and guffaws.

For straight-away showmanship purposes, the names in the cast seem to be more important than either title or story content. All the principals and practically every one of the supports have always been identified with comedy, a fact that should be stressed to the utmost. While comedy is the outstanding feature, the romantic angle is unusually treated and through it is woven in the light dramatic suspense, the punchy excitement of the anti-climax which develops into a whirlwind of laughter and the human interest finish.

The financially strapped Albert and Harriet anxiously await the advent of Lord and Lady Featherstone and their daughter Gwen, whom Harriet hopes to marry to Albert in order that the Spottiswood fortune might be restored. The nobles, however, are in the same fix and have the same idea about the Spottiswoods. As they bluff and deceive each other, comedy is high and happy. Complicated by Abdul's attempts to take Harriet for a bit of blackmail, both parties find out that the other has been four-flushing. Then the whole outfit, inspired by Andy, go into the fried-chicken business and there is much happiness all-around.

That's the outline, but the material with which it is draped provides the real laughs. There are the antics of Edward Everett Horton and Edna May Oliver as well as the Featherstone family as they mutually prepare to stick each other; the situation in which Leila Hyams finds herself as a kitchen maid; the fun that follows Andy Devine's stealing of the prize goose and Arbuthnot's frantic efforts to recover his prop-

AMOS 'N' ANDY

WITH THEIR OWN VOICES
IN ANIMATED CARTOONS

"Undisconnected wid de Fresh Air Taxicab Co. of America, Incorpulated," Andrew H. Brown, President, Andrew H. Brown, Director, Andrew H. Brown, Author, Andrew H. Brown, Cameraman and Amos Jones, Property Man, announce the first super-supreme-colossal-de luxe production of "The Great Animater Pitcher Co. of America, Incorpulated" Entitled

"THE RASSLIN' MATCH"

FIRST OF THE LONG ANTICIPATED SERIES BRINGING TO THE SCREEN FOR THE FIRST TIME "AMOS AND ANDY," THEIR FRIENDS, ASSOCIATES AND FELLOW LODGE BRETHREN, JUST AS THEIR MILLIONS OF RADIO FANS IMAGINE THEM!

RADIO'S GREATEST STARS! RECORD-BREAKERS IN PERSONAL APPEARANCES! NOW A GREAT ELECTRIC-LIGHT ATTRACTION FOR YOU IN ANIMATED CARTOONS!

PRODUCED BY THE

VAN BEUREN CORPORATION

THRILL TO SOMETHING NEW

Its songs are filling the air... "Orchids in the Moonlight", "Music Makes Me," "Flying Down to Rio"...and THAT TANTALIZING, HYPNOTIZING "CARIOCA" that is driving America Melody Mad!

FLYING DOWN TO RIO

TWO WEEKS AT RADIO CITY

to Top Money and hold-out crowds during New York's biggest snow storm and coldest weather in ten years!

NOW PLAYING IN A HUNDRED KEY-SPOTS THRUOUT THE COUNTRY... BACKED BY ANOTHER GREAT NATIONAL NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN!

ON EARTH AND IN THE SKY!

N TO RIO

...Your fondest dreams of musical romance come true! . . . Spectacle, set to rhythm, fills the earth with beauty, laughter, song and dance . . . and sweeps to eye-staggering sensation . . as the Flying Armada of Beauty soars on wings of giant planes down heaven's twinkling pathway! . . . Nothing like it has ever been done! . . .

with

DOLORES DEL RIO

GENE RAYMOND • RAUL ROULIEN
GINGER ROGERS • FRED ASTAIRE
and 200 Beautiful Girls Picked from 10,000

Music by VINCENT YOUMANS
Lyrics by Edward Eliscu and Gus Kahn

Staged in Fabulous Beauty by Louis Brock
Stunningly Directed by Thornton Freeland

NRA MEMBER U.S. WE DO OUR PART

RKO Radio PICTURES

MERIAN C. COOPER.
Executive Producer

erty; the near murder and the nutty sleuthing of a batty detective.

The whole thing is all in fun—there isn't a serious moment in it—which is a tip-off as to how "The Poor Rich" should be called to patron attention. Accentuate the comedy, make the best possible use of the cast names by stressing their adaptability to their roles and get over the idea that here's the kind of picture that will amuse youngsters as well as oldsters. —McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Universal. Produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr. Associate producer, Dale Van Every. Original screenplay by Ebba Havez and Dale Van Every. Story by Ebba Havez. Photographed by Johnny Mescall. Film editor, Robert Carlisle. Art director, Charles D. Hall. Editorial supervision by Maurice Pivar. Sound supervision by Gilbert Kurland. Running time, 65 minutes. Release date, Feb. 26, 1934.

CAST

Albert ..... Edward Everett Horton
Harriet ..... Edna May Oliver
Andy ..... Andy Devine
Grace ..... Leila Hyams
Tom ..... Grant Mitchell
Gwendolyn ..... Thelma Todd
Lady Featherstone ..... Una O'Connor
Lord Featherstone ..... E. E. Clive
Abdul ..... John Miljan
Arbuthnot ..... Sidney Bracey
Station Agent ..... Jack Clifford
Tony ..... Henry Armetta
Motor Cop ..... Ward Bond

Criminal At Large

(Helber Productions)

Mystery

Two predominant factors, one a good selling point, the other something of a problem, are presented the exhibitor in bringing this murder mystery film to his patronage. In the first instance, the origin of the picture is one of the prolific Edgar Wallace's yarns of dark doings in dark places, the novel, "The Frightened Lady." The other point is the fact that the film is an all-English imported production, naturally with definitely English-accented speech on the part of all members of the cast. That being true, the exhibitor would perhaps be better off to concentrate on the story itself and its mystery implications, than on the production origin of the film.

For the same reason, there are no cast names familiar to the American film audience, with the possible exception of Gordon Harker, who from time to time has played in American pictures, and whose name should be known. His role, however, is somewhat a minor one, in which he contributes the comparatively small amount of comedy to offset the natural drama of the story.

The setting is highly conventional, that of an ancient family seat, somewhere near London, the home of the Lebanons. It contains all the archaic furnishings and appearance common to such houses in such motion pictures. The group are the mother, Lady Lebanon, who rules the household with a distinctly iron hand, her son, of the "silly Englishman" type, the girl who lives in the house and is expected to marry the son, for whom she has little love. A Doctor Amersham seems to have the run of the house, and two tough looking, un-servant-like footmen, Americans, wander about.

When the chauffeur is found strangled on an interior gallery of the house, Scotland Yard takes a hand, including the inspector, Sergeant Ferraby, played by Cyril Raymond, who befriends the girl, and Sergeant Totty, played by Gordon Harker, in highly amusing fashion.

It is established that Lady Lebanon is an intensely family-proud woman, and the two footmen are her conspirators in some fashion, that the girl is terribly frightened of something and that she remains only through the financial assistance of Lady Lebanon to her family. Dr. Amersham seems to have some connection with the Lady. When the doctor is found, also strangled, on the lawn, the police go to work in earnest, on the ground. Lady Lebanon refuses to open one room to the inspector.

Slowly but surely, the inspector and his men ferret deeper and deeper into the mystery of the strange household, until, in a manner entirely unexpected, the truth comes out. The son, alone with the inspector late at night, after the girl had been saved from near strangulation, suddenly displays a gun, talks wildly, and reveals that he is the "criminal at large," insane. The unopened room is padded, he says, and the footmen are his bodyguard. His fanatical mother's only thought was perpetuating the line of Lebanons. The son, wild, kills himself to end the film.

Without telling the conclusion, of course, the exhibitor, with that knowledge of the plot, should be able to concoct something in the nature of intriguing catch lines in his selling, which should bring patronage. Combining that with the Edgar Wallace origin, and not stressing the cast and the English production of the film, is the best mode of selling.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced in England by Gainsborough. Distributed by Helber Productions. Directed by T. Hayes Hunter. Adapted from the novel, "The Frightened Lady." Story and stage play by Edgar Wallace. Release date, January 15, 1934. Running time, 65 minutes.

CAST

Lord Lebanon ..... Emlyn Williams
Lady Lebanon ..... Cathleen Nesbitt
Chief Inspector Tanner ..... Norman McKinnel
Sergeant Totty ..... Gordon Harker
Sergeant Ferraby ..... Cyril Raymond
Aisla Crane ..... Belle Chrystall
Dr. Amersham ..... D. A. Clarke-Smith
Gilder ..... Percy Parsons
Brooks ..... Finlay Currie
Kelver ..... Julian Royce
Studd ..... Eric Roland

A Man's Castle

(Columbia)

Drama

Down-to-earth drama, expertly handled, and combined with much lively comedy, plus a strong cast, both in performance and drawing potentialities, offer a real opportunity for the exhibitor in the village and the largest metropolitan center, and all the way in between, in "A Man's Castle."

Around the premise that where a man hangs his hat, where his loved ones are, is his home and his castle, be it a literal castle or a shack without a real stove, the showman should be able to build intriguing advertising. Such devices as mailing pieces addressed to the homes of the patrons, or the simulation of a broken-down shack erected in the lobby, might prove of real selling value.

The cast is good, the names are strong, including Spencer Tracy, Loretta Young, Marjorie Rambeau, Arthur Hohl and Walter Connolly, and each fully merits major billing. The fact that the entire action of the drama has its place in a typical squatter colony of the type which depression and unemployment brought about, brings timeliness to the selling. In addition, the dramatic suspense imparted by the continuous fear of Miss Young that her man, Tracy, might at any moment take to the freights, and leave her, symbolized by her fear of the train whistle in the night, should be an excellent source of selling material, especially as directed to the women.

Throughout, the smart, crackling dialogue, particularly as handled by Tracy, is a source of enjoyment. Tracy, in full dress, befriends Miss Young, penniless and contemplating suicide. When she learns that his full dress is merely his equipment for a walking sign, the shirt bosom an electric signboard, it makes no difference to her. He takes her to his shack in the squatter colony of unemployed and there, under the stars, they live together. Connolly, widower, is a benign influence, Miss Rambeau is a perpetual inebriate and Hohl a vicious inhabitant, with criminal tendency and a bright eye on Miss Young.

With Tracy squeezing a small living where he may, the two are happy, Tracy always the tough lad with a bark much worse than his bite, she in perpetual fear he will be attacked by an incurable case of wanderlust. When she is about to have a baby, Tracy marries her, via Connolly. Fearful of being tied down, he arranges with Hohl to rob a safe at the factory where Connolly is night watchman, in order to leave Miss Young enough money when he leaves. Connolly catches them at it, Hohl escapes, Tracy is wounded. When Hohl rings the burglar alarm to trap Tracy, Connolly permits him to escape. Back at the colony, Miss Rambeau saves Miss Young from Hohl, puts him out of harm's way, and herself as well. Tracy and Miss Young hop a freight together, she no longer fearful of train whistles, or her man's departure.

It is strong, well turned drama, attention-holding, and surely entertainment. The walking sign activity of Tracy, in his working moments, presents a grand opportunity for street exploitation, which should attract considerable attention. The film is worth an exhibitor's best efforts.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Directed by Frank Borzage. From the play by Lawrence Hazard. Screen play by Jo Swerling. Assistant director, Lew Borzage. Photographed by Joseph August. Sound engineer, Wilbur Brown. Film editor, Viola Lawrence. Release date, November 4, 1933. Running time, 75 minutes.

CAST

Bill ..... Spencer Tracy
Trina ..... Loretta Young
Fay La Rue ..... Glenda Farrell
Ira ..... Walter Connolly
Bragg ..... Arthur Hohl
Flossie ..... Marjorie Rambeau
Crippled Boy ..... Dickie Moore

Volga Volga

(Kinematrade)

Drama

There is considerable evidence, from the technical standpoint, that this film was produced some years ago, during the silent era, even if the sound were not in the form of a dubbed musical score and accompanying dialogue to make the assumption a certainty. A Russian story, it is understood the production did not come from Russia, but was made elsewhere in Europe, by Unicinea.

What the average exhibitor might be able to do with the film in the way of merchandising is problematical, production values being weak.

The accompanying dialogue, which offers a combination of a free translation of the lip movements which pass for dialogue and an explanation of the action, is in English, and was prepared by Alexander Bakshy. In addition, a screen foreword builds a background against which the action is carried on, and sets the situation in respect to locale and time.

Sometime in the 17th century, the audience is told, there lived a Cossack Robin Hood, who stormed up and down the Caspian and Black Seas, and ranged the Volga river, taking terrible toll of the landed gentry and merchants, all subjects of the intolerant Czar. His band was made up of Cossack serfs. His pillaging was for the benefit of the poorer classes, the downtrodden peasantry of the region.

The chieftain, Stemka Razin, pillaged a Persian city, and a henchman does the forbidden, brings a woman aboard the ship. Stemka falls in love with her, takes her for himself and the feeling is reciprocated by the girl. The lieutenant, in revenge, breaks open the water casks, the crew is dying of thirst, when rain comes and they are momentarily saved. But another chance comes, and the same miscreant betrays Stemka to the officers of the Czar, for the freedom which is promised for betrayal. When the men demand permission to bring women aboard, since the chief has done so, Stemka kills the girl he loves and heaves her body over the side. The Czar's ships surround Stemka's, and a fierce fight results in the capture of the Robin Hood.

There is blood and thunder aplenty, and considerable drama, all done in a manner reminiscent of the screen technique of yesterday.—Aaronson, New York.

Distributed by Kinematrade. Produced by Unicinea. Directed by W. Tourzhanski. Dialogue by Alexander Bakshy. Narrative by Barry Mahool. Running time, 76 minutes. Release date, December 14, 1933.

CAST

Stenka Razin ..... H. A. Shlettom
Zanib ..... Lillian Hall-Davis
Ivan ..... Maurice DeFast
Filka ..... George Seroff
Kolka ..... Stark Stettenberg

Madame Spy

(Universal)

Drama

Blue print woman spy stuff that follows the standard specifications, "Madame Spy" is localed in Austria and Russia in 1915. Atmospheric war shots color the picture and romance that develops intrigue motivates the action. All the technique of spy activity—secret codes, methods of obtaining, concealing and passing on information—are demonstrated, accompanied by the usual thread of suspense. While there is a certain thrill to the picture, it is one that probably will excite the youngsters more than the grown-ups.

Maria, Russian spy, working as an Austrian Red Cross Nurse, weds Captain Franck, ace Austrian intelligence officer. In Austria, Schultz and Weber uncovering an enemy spy nest find that trail leads to Maria. She is smart enough to elude the trap. Of all this Franck is unaware. As Weber is killed, Schultz tracks Maria to an unexpected meeting with her brother Karl, who warns her to flee. Karl is killed and Schultz falls victim to one of Maria's co-workers. In Russia, Franck, anxious to erase the blemish from his record, again meets his wife, who sacrifices love of country to love of mate and makes it possible for him to get out of the country. Then comes a conquering invasion and husband and wife are together again, all the bitterness forgotten.

As a straight commercial, "Madame Spy" affords the entertainment value of an intrigue story. Practically everything that happens will be anticipated. Romance is formula. Contrasting comedy is minimum, yet action and situations occasionally become exciting and thrilling.

Capitalize also on the drawing power of Fay Wray and Nils Asther.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Universal. Produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr. Associate producer Edmund Grainger. Based on the German play "Unter False Flagge" by Max Kimmich. Screen play, continuity and dialogue by William Hurlbut. Photographed by Edward Snyder. Film editor David Berg. Art director Charles D. Hall. Editorial supervision Maurice Pivar. Sound supervision by Gilbert Kurland. Running time, 70 minutes. Release date, Jan. 8, 1934.

CAST

Maria ..... Fay Wray
Capt. Franck ..... Nils Asther
Schultz ..... Edward Arnold
Weber ..... John Miljan
Seefeldt ..... David Torrence
Karl ..... Douglas Walton
Pahlke ..... Oscar Apfel
Peter ..... Vince Barnett
Sulkin ..... Robert Ellis
Lulu ..... Mabel Marden
Petroskie ..... Alden Chase
Baum ..... Rollo Lloyd

Sorrell and Son

(United Artists)

Emotional Drama

As my earlier cable suggested, this is genuine entertainment. On its powerful emotional appeal, the picture is one that should find a ready acceptance by all audiences who understand the English language. From the point of view of production values it can be said right out that if anything militates against this well-made film in the American market it will only be its foreign origin; for in all other respects it ranks as gripping stuff.

Around two thousand persons gave it a rousing reception at its London preview, paying tribute to the outstandingly good acting that comes from its principals, from H. B. Warner down.

The picture tells the story of Stephen Sorrell, deserted by his wife and left workless, with a young son to care for.

There are many moving sequences to the film, beautifully handled by Director Jack Raymond, who has introduced a finely-judged restraint. Nothing could be more sincerely portrayed than the final moments, when the boy has to make the awful decision that death is all he has to offer his father. It should be emphasized that H. B. Warner stages a definite comeback, his portrayal being even more memorable than the one he gave in the silent version. Hugh Williams, whom Fox has lately snapped up, does a real job as the son, and among the women to add to the picture's value are Margaret Grahame, Winifred Shotter and Ruby Miller, the last-named in a rich study of an amorous innkeeper.

The discriminating showman should have ample opportunity to make the maximum appeal to his feminine customers, by reminding them of Warwick Deeping's novel and the silent film, and by stressing the emotional nature of the subject. The story should suggest its own catchlines.—Charman, London.

A British & Dominions production. Story by Warwick Deeping. Directed by Jack Raymond. Screen play by Lydia Hayward. Photography by Cyril Bristow. Special photographic effects, by Lloyd Knechtel. Assistant direction, by James G. Kelly. Art direction by Wilfred Arnold. Sound recording by J. S. Dennis. Editing by Michael Hankinson. Gowns, Geene Glenny. Musical director, Roy Robertson. Dance music by Lew Stone and Band. Director of productions, Herbert Wilcox. Running time, 99 minutes.

CAST

Stephen Sorrell ..... H. B. Warner
Mrs. Stephen Sorrell ..... Margaret Grahame
"Kit" Sorrell ..... Peter Penrose, Hugh Williams
Mrs. Palfrey ..... Ruby Miller
Mr. Roland ..... Evelyn Roberts
Sir Richard Orange ..... Donald Calthrop
Mr. Porteous ..... Arthur Chesney
Buck ..... Wally Patch

The Sunny South

(Educational)

Good Cartoon

An amusing and lively cartoon in the Terry-Toon series, in which the animated pickaninies and their colored mammy are happy picking cotton until the dog catcher comes in pursuit. She escapes with one in her arms, Simon Legree after her. There is an amusing animated take-off on Eliza crossing the ice, which ends in the elimination of Legree and the safety of the mammy. A good number.—Running time, 6 minutes.

Three Knaves and a Queen

(RKO Radio)

Interesting

Ely Culbertson, famous bridge expert, in another of his series, "My Bridge Experiences," should hold the attention of all bridge fans—or fiends—and their number is legion. At a garden party he explains the fundamentals, with some amusing byplay among his audience. A girl, pursued by three suitors, hears that the bridge table may test the character of men, and arranges that Mr. Culbertson should play with them so that she may decide. None of them meets the requirements, but the game brings out an interesting hand and the manner of its playing. Special billing should bring results at the box office.—Running time, 20 minutes.

Heart of Paris

(Vitaphone)

Interesting

E. M. Newman, in this number of the World Adventures travel series, takes his audience to Paris, up and down its main streets, into the cafes, and around the town generally. Pictorially effective, and interesting, are the night shots, while unexpected beauty occupies the screen with scenes at Versailles at night, the camera picking out the detail of the playing fountain and fireworks brilliantly splashing the dark sky. An interesting subject of its type.—Running time, 10 minutes.

Organ Festival

(Master Art)

Appealing

There is general appeal in this subject of the Organlogue series from Master Art Products, with the appearance of four of the most noted theatre and radio organists in the country, Jesse Crawford, Ann Leaf, Dick Liebert and Lew White. Each renders a popular selection, with appropriate screen background framing the words of the number. The organists are familiar and the subject fairly entertaining.—Running time, 8 minutes.

Pugs and Kisses

(Vitaphone)

Good Comedy

There is good comedy, and numerous laughs in this comedy, featuring Charles Judels and several others. The would-be "champeen" fighter who can't keep away from the fair sex, is hoaxed by his manager into running into the fictitious "husband" of a charming "widow." The manager pretends he has been shot, and when the champ learns he has been kidded, he fakes suicide and turns the tables. The dialogue and situation are amusing, the comedy is entertaining.—Running time, 21 minutes.

Outposts of France

(Fox)

Good

Indo-China, far Eastern colonial possession of France, with its primitive native existence, its beautiful scenery, its archaeological mysteries, is the subject of this number of the Magic Carpet Movietone series, characterized by splendid photography. Seen are palaces of the still extant hereditary kings of the five provinces, the young girls as court dancers, posturing with bodily grace and little movement; the annual regatta of tribal canoes. Of uncommonly great pictorial value, with a new use for the series, of dialogue, rendered by Ed Thorgensen, the subject is worthy of attention.—Running time, 9 minutes.

Plane Crazy

(Vitaphone)

Fair

Arthur and Morton Havel, two supposed aviators operating a plane at so much per ride at an air field notice the glory which comes to a round-the-world flier and decide to share. They hide away at a farm, turn up at the field some days later and claim they have circled the earth. A stowaway is Dorothy Lee. At a dinner, they recount their adventures, the mention of each country affording an opportunity for a few musical numbers, with voice and chorus. The musical phases of the subject are far superior to what is meant to be the comedy dialogue and action of the two alleged aviators. Only a fair subject.—Running time, 22 minutes.

Strange As It Seems, No. 34

(Universal)

Varied

In this of the John Hix novelty series are shown the Australian Koala bears, a hand ax wood carver, electric eels, a slingshot William Tell, the Bay of Fundy tide, Japanese cultivation of pearls, self-torture by Nigerian sun-worshippers, and an armless boy's piano playing with his toes. Novel but mildly so.—Running time, 9 minutes.

Tomalio

(Vitaphone)

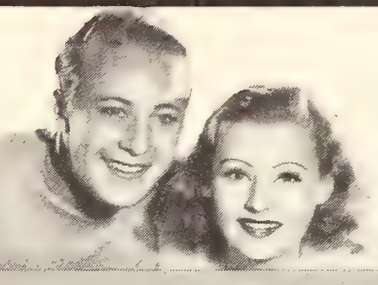
Weak

One of the series of comedies starring the late Fatty Arbuckle in the group made just prior to his death, and not particularly laugh-provoking comedy. Arbuckle and his straight man have a difficult time persuading a mule to take them into a Mexican town where they drop into difficulties with a general whose chief delight is killing people with his ever-ready firing squad. Fatty, of course, saves the girl, who is desired by the general. The efforts at comedy appear rather labored throughout.—Running time, 21 minutes.

OUT OF '33 WITH A BANG . .

FOX has the money pictures coming . . . and going strong!

Hire extra ushers . . . arrange for extra shows . . . when these three crowd-pullers reach your house. One a current key-city clean-up . . . another starting in a great big way . . . a third you'll be setting in for extra playing time. It's pleasant dreams for showmen when they date in hits like these!



WILL ROGERS
in
Mr. Skitch
with
ZASU PITTS
ROCHELLE HUDSON
FLORENCE DESMOND
HARRY GREEN
EUGENE PALLETTE
Based on Anne Cameron's story "Green Dice"
Directed by James Cruze

NOW PILING UP outstanding grosses in the: State Theatre, Los Angeles; Stuart Theatre, Lincoln; Alabama Theatre, Birmingham; Roxy Theatre, New York; Apollo Theatre, Indianapolis; Fox Theatre, Detroit; Warfield Theatre, San Francisco; Orpheum Theatre, Denver . . . everywhere. The verdict: Rogers' best in years!

Your patrons always like
FOX MOVIETONE NEWS

INTO '34 WITH TWO SMASHES!

STARTING OFF at a terrific pace in pre-release run at the Four-Star Theatre, Los Angeles. Smash business building daily, hourly . . . with unparalleled word-of-mouth and newspaper raves. Management anticipates sensational four-week run.

I Am Suzanne!

with

LILIAN HARVEY

GENE RAYMOND
LESLIE BANKS

Podrecca's Piccoli Marionettes. Story and screen play by Edwin Justus Mayer and Rowland V. Lee. Directed by Rowland V. Lee.

JESSE L. LASKY Production

JANET GAYNOR
LIONEL BARRYMORE

in Carolina

with

ROBERT YOUNG
RICHARD CROMWELL
HENRIETTA CROSMAN
MONA BARRIE
STEPIN FETCHIT

From "The House of Connelly" by Paul Green

Directed by Henry King

COMING UP. A cast ablaze with talent . . . a story alive with love, drama, music, laughter . . . a wisp of a girl who bursts into sleepy Carolina, upsets tradition, awakens romance, stirs up excitement everywhere. Look for "State Fair" grosses . . . or better!

FOX

FILM SHARES $131,335,125 HIGHER IN MARKET VALUE THAN YEAR AGO

Corresponding Gains Made by Motion Picture Companies' Bonds and Stocks on Curb Exchange, Year's Survey Reveals

By THE ANALYST

(Charts on opposite page)

Motion picture company shares on the New York Stock Exchange entered 1934 with a market value $131,335,125 higher than they were when the year 1933 began. Corresponding gains were chalked up by film company bonds and their stocks on the curb exchange.

The rise, which on the stock exchange ranged from one to more than 26 points, reflected the general conviction that the turn for the better already has been made. The outlook for the industry, as with all business, was called the best in four years.

Widespread re-employment and the consequent bulge in the public's purchasing power had their effect on the nation's box-offices. With the National Recovery Act and other Government recovery policies getting in full stride, prospects were enhanced for better earnings by companies.

Motion picture stocks kept pace with the leading industrials, rails, oils and other groups on the stock exchange, working their way vigorously out of the slump of last March, the time of the nationwide banking suspension.

A late summer reaction ensued in conjunction with other sections of the list, but as the end of the year approached the undertone was very steady, suggesting quiet support and a general disinclination to sell holdings.

Company Stock Improvements

Aided by the most favorable earnings reports in the industry, Columbia Pictures voting trust certificates were features of trading on the stock exchange and closed the year 14¾ points higher at 24. The stock rose in market value from $1,341,250 at the end of 1932, to $3,480,000 at the close of 1933.

Warner Brothers common was another big gainer in market value, which at the end of 1933 totaled about $20,475,000, as against $6,825,000 on Dec. 31, 1932. Eastman Kodak and Loew's, Inc., had big market value appreciations.

Paramount Publix common stock was removed from the listing following the appointment of receivers for the company early in the year. In the autumn, Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Paramount's bankers, announced the prospect of an early reorganization and reported favorable operating results.

Complete reorganization put Fox Film Corporation back in its old status as a strictly producing and distributing organization and caused the removal of the old Class "A" stock and the listing of new shares.

On Monday the Dow Jones Wall Street Journal stated that the motion picture industry's prospects for the new year appeared better than they have for a number of years and that while the difficulties are not entirely solved, the results of extensive reductions in expenses, theatre rentals, production costs and general overhead, coupled with a moderate improvement in theatre attendance, are now beginning to show in income accounts and should make possible profitable results in 1934 for a majority of the larger companies.

The advance in foreign exchanges, which makes the dollar income from European and South American business much larger, is one "extremely important factor that will step up earnings considerably in the first quarter of the new year," the Journal said. "Increase in the nation's payrolls next year, due to the various government expenditures, plus an industrial upturn, should prove of great benefit also."

The publication added that while the majority of companies reported losses for the first half of 1933, practically all of them operated in the black with the beginning of the autumn season in their production divisions, and the final quarter of the year probably produced profits in theatre divisions for nearly all important companies.

Film and Theatre Rentals

The Journal said that among the large companies film costs in recent years ran from $300,000 to $1,000,000 a film, while theatre rentals were based on a 1929 level of real estate values. When public income finally felt the effects of the depression the gross box office receipts were not sufficient to show profits based on the old scale of costs. To meet this situation "the amusement companies had to reduce overhead all along the line," said the article, adding: "Part of this could be accomplished quickly, but to scale down studio costs required considerable time, while to obtain reduction on rentals of theatres under lease required an extended period of negotiation and could not be done until the unfavorable results of operation on the old rental level were plain to all."

"Inventories, for example, are now running around $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 annually against inventories of more than $25,000,000 annually in 1929 and in previous years," the Journal stated.

Dealing specifically with individual companies, the financial paper said:

"Warner is now operating with an inventory of around $9,000,000 against a high of $29,000,000; Loew's is operating on about $19,000,000 against a high of $27,000,000; Fox at $10,000,000 inventories against $21,000,000 and Paramount at $16,000,000 or less, against $24,000,000.

Calls Loew's Showing Best

"During the year the best showing was made by Loew's, Inc., which reported a net income of $4,034,290, equal to $2.15 a share on 1,465,205 shares of common stock for the fiscal year ended August 31, 1933, against $7,961,314 or $4.80 a share in the preceding year. Loew's current earnings are at a higher rate than a year ago and cash position is now the best in the company's history.

"Warner Bros., in spite of a funded debt totaling over $92,000,000, larger than any amusement company except Paramount, has nevertheless been able to keep current finances on an even keel and has steadily reduced its obligations during the last few years.

Fox Situation Cleared Up

"Fox Film Co. cleared up its financial situation during the year by a recapitalization plan in which common stock was scaled down one-for-five and the $30,000,000 bonds held by banking interests were in effect converted into common stock. The company now has 2,508,910 shares of capital stock and in recent months has been operating in the black.

"Paramount-Publix Corp., the largest unit in the industry, went into bankruptcy about a year ago due to a series of complications arising mainly out of the stock guarantees given in connection with the acquisition of properties which drained the company of its cash. Although the parent company has been in bankruptcy, operating subsidiaries are still carrying on the business normally and in spite of the manifest difficulties of operating under these conditions the company has turned out its normal program of successful films. Cash is being built up and foreign business is profitable as well as domestic film business.

"Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corp. is also in bankruptcy but is apparently further from a solution of its problems than Paramount. Its Radio City properties are running profitably but earnings from this source are not likely to be large enough to make any important difference in the company's affairs. Recent improvement in quality of film productions is a favorable factor."

FINANCIAL YEAR IN RETROSPECT

Industry enters new year with outlook considered best in four years

Market value of motion picture shares $131,335,125 higher than on January 1, 1933.

Film stocks kept pace with leading industrials in working their way out of slump of last March.

Prospects enhanced for better earnings.

Steady undertone at end of year suggests quiet support and disinclination to sell holdings.

Undertone Very Steady After Summer Reaction, Indicating Quiet Support and General Disinclination to Sell Holdings

MOTION PICTURE STOCKS IN 1933

by THE ANALYST

High and Low in Stock and Bond Trading for Five Years

(All Quotations in 1933 Are as of December 30)

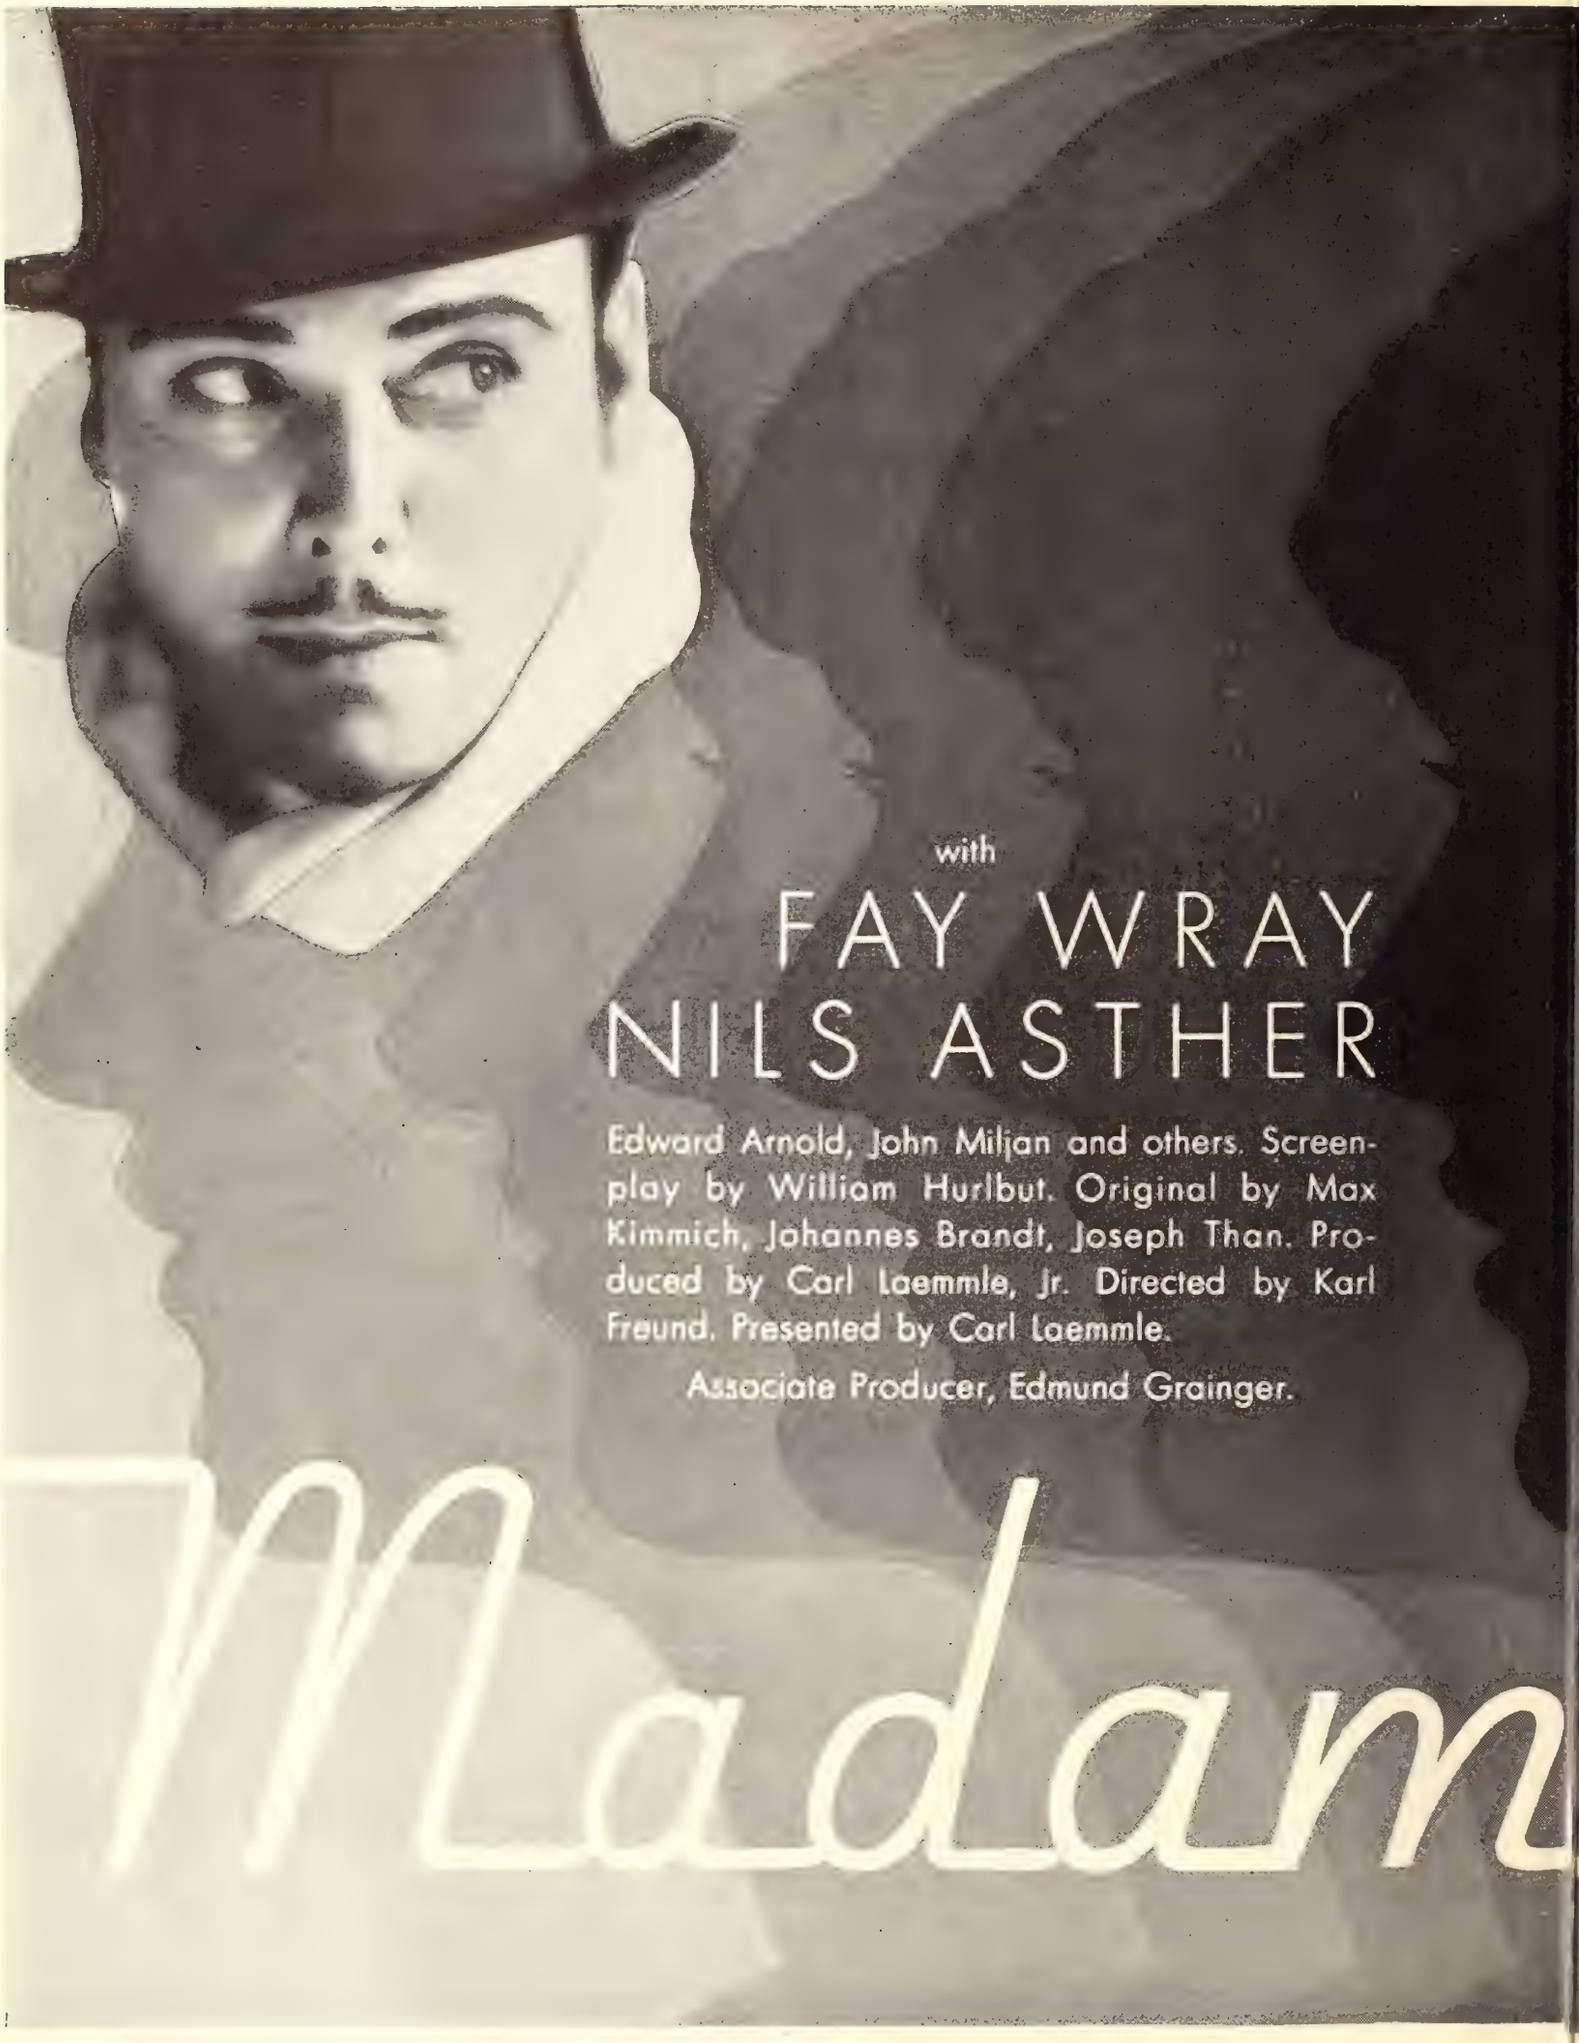
NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

Stock & Dividends	1933 Sales	1933 High	1933 Date	1933 Low	1933 Date	1933 Last	1933 Net Change	1932 High	1932 Low	1931 High	1931 Low	1930 High	1930 Low	1929 High	1929 Low
Columbia Pictures, vtc	177,500	28	Nov. 23	6⅝	Mar. 27	24	+14¾	14⅞	4¼	not listed		54¾	14	not listed
Consolidated Film	112,200	5¾	May 29	1¾	Jan. 4	2½	+ 1	5⅜	1	15	3¾	27⅜	7⅞	25⅜	10
Consolidated Film pfd.	391,600	14¾	May 29	5⅞	Mar. 21	10⅜	+ 4¼	11¾	2¾	18⅞	7¾	28¼	12½	30¾	15½
Eastman Kodak (3)	638,519	89¾	July 14	46	Apr. 4	81	+26¼	87⅞	35¼	185¾	77	255¼	142⅞	264¾	150
Eastman Kodak pfd. (6)	2,390	130	Mar. 20	110	May 2	124⅛	+ 5⅛	125	104¾	135	103	not listed		not listed
Fox Film A	542,900	4⅞	June 6	¾	Mar. 29	removed		5⅞	1	38⅜	2½	37⅜	16⅛	105⅜	19⅞
Fox Film A new	82,900	19	Sept. 14	12	Oct. 21	13¾	not listed '32	not listed		not listed		not listed		not listed
Keith-Albee-Orpheum pfd.	4,150	25	May 31	8	Jan. 26	15	— 5	30	7	101½	10	not listed		not listed
Loew's, Inc. (1)	1,488,200	36½	Sept. 18	8½	Mar. 22	28¾	+ 9½	37¾	13¼	63½	23⅞	95¾	41¾	84½	32
Loew's, Inc., pfd. (6½)	22,400	78⅛	July 19	35	Apr. 4	72	+14	80	39	98	56	112⅝	85⅝	110¾	80
M-G-M pfd. (1.89)	11,400	22	Sept. 1	13½	Mar. 1	20	+ 2⅛	22¼	14	27	15	26¾	23	27	21½
Orpheum Circuit pfd.	1,140	7	June 9	1⅜	Jan. 30	6	+ ¼	15	3¼	75	4⅜	99⅞	60	95¾	50⅛
Pathe Exchange	404,100	2½	July 10	¼	Jan. 4	1⅝	+ 1⅛	1¼	¼	2⅞	¼	9	1½	14⅞	2½
Pathe Exchange A	325,600	14¼	Dec. 3	1¼	Jan. 25	11	+ 9¼	5¾	1¼	8⅜	1⅛	19⅝	2⅞	30	4½
Radio-Keith-Orpheum	532,100	5¾	June 8	1	Mar. 31	2¼	+ 1¼	7¾	1½	4	2¾	not listed		not listed
Universal Pictures pfd.	2,840	35	June 13	10	Apr. 24	18	+ 7	50	10¾	57½	24	50	14⅜	46⅞	12
Warner Bros.	3,822,625	9⅛	Sept. 15	1	Feb. 25	5¼	+ 3½	4½	½	20⅜	2⅛	80¼	9¾	64½	30
Warner Bros. pfd.	11,300	24½	Oct. 6	4¼	Feb. 7	15½	+ 8⅞	20	4	40½	8½	70¼	31	59¼	25¼

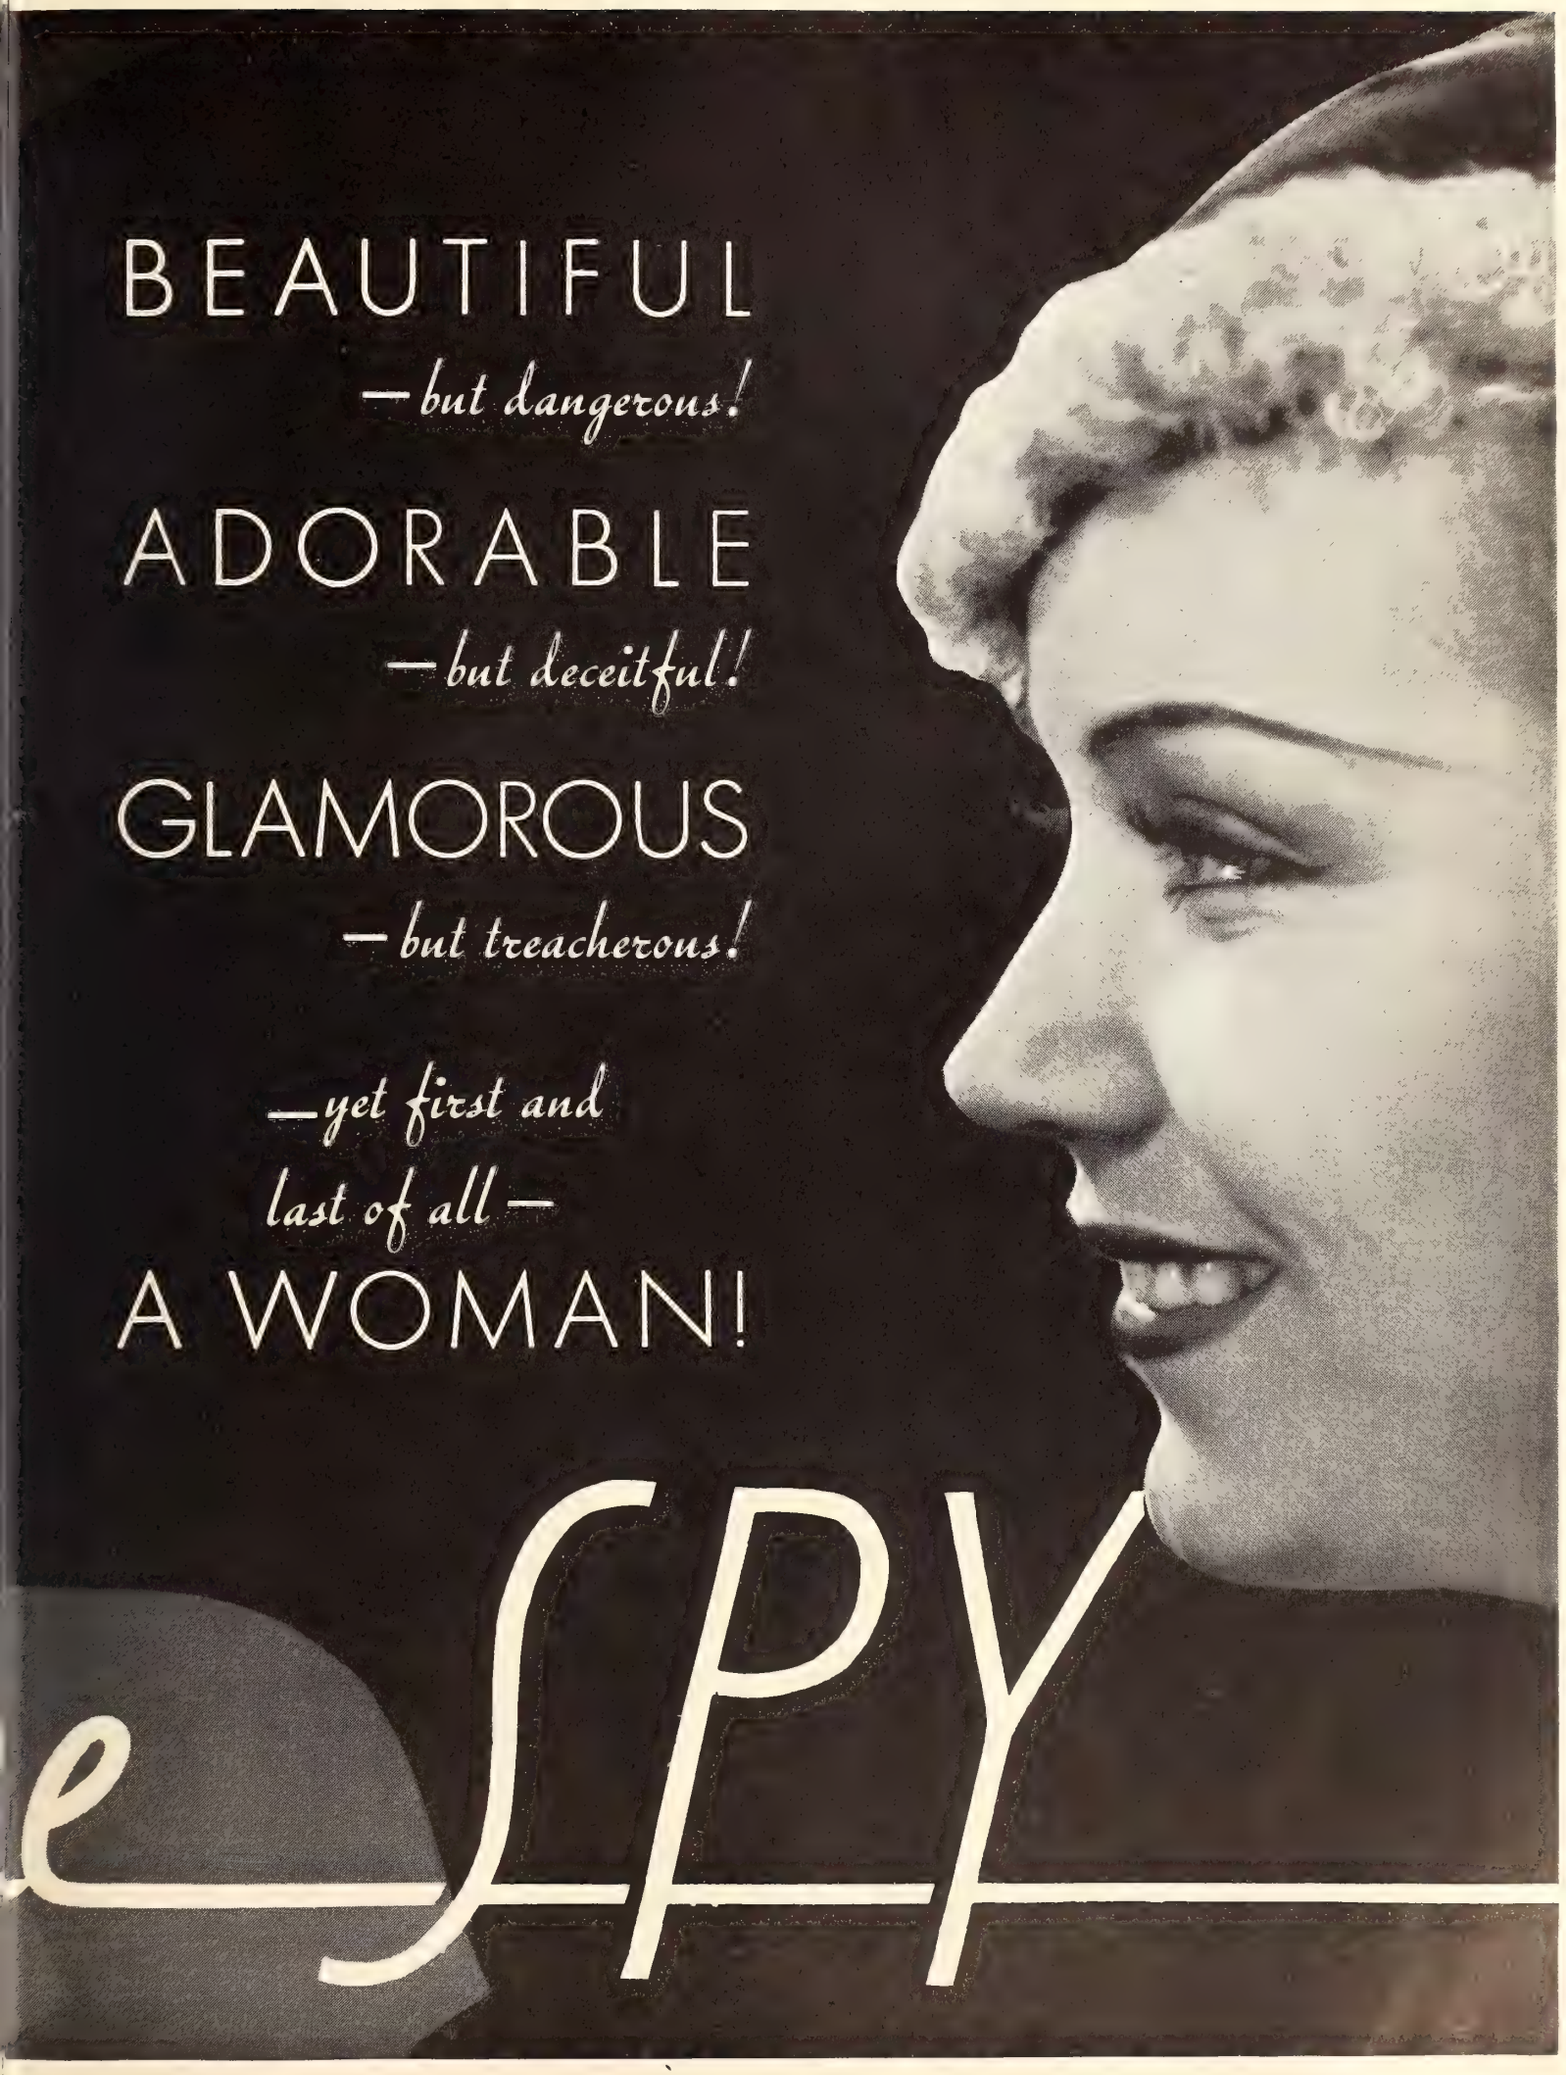
Note: Paramount and General Theatres Equipment were removed from listing.

CURB EXCHANGE

Stock & Dividends	1933 Sales	1933 High	1933 Date	1933 Low	1933 Date	1933 Last	1933 Net Change	1932 High	1932 Low	1931 High	1931 Low	1930 High	1930 Low	1929 High	1929 Low
Columbia Pictures com.	7,200	27¼	Nov. 24	8¼	Feb. 27	27¼	+17⅜	15	4½	23	3⅛	55⅞	15⅛	38¼	12
Educational Pictures pfd.	50	3	Nov. 27	2	Dec. 14	2	—20	22	8	42	13⅝	30	12	97½	11
General Thea. Equip. pfd.	77,200	⅞	June 7	⅛	Mar. 15	3/16	+ 1/16	1⅜	⅛	31¼	⅜	37¼	22¾	not listed
National Screen Service (1)	2,000	13	Sept. 19	5¼	Apr. 5	12½	+ 2	18	10½	24	15¼	32¾	12½	35¼	6
Sentry Safety Control	25,600	⅝	June 6	⅛	Jan. 6	⅛	— 1/16	1	⅛	3½	½	9¾	¾	28¾	3⅛
Technicolor	293,400	14	Oct. 10	2⅝	Feb. 15	9	+ 6⅛	5¼	⅝	15¼	1⅜	86½	5½	not listed
Trans-Lux DPS	89,800	3¾	June 6	1⅜	Mar. 22	2⅜	+ ⅝	3¼	¾	13¼	1⅜	13½	4⅛	24	3
Universal Pictures	600	4	May 13	1	Feb. 16	1	— 1¾	6	1	7⅛	4	not listed		not listed



BONDS ON STOCK EXCHANGE



Bond & Maturity	1933 Sales	1933 High	1933 Date	1933 Low	1933 Date	1933 Last	1933 Net Change	1932 High	1932 Low	1931 High	1931 Low	1930 High	1930 Low	1929 High	1929 Low
General Thea. Equip. 6s '40	$1,212,000	9¼	July 19	1	Mar. 30	3	+ 1¼	7¾	1	74	2	100¼	50⅛	not listed
General Thea. Equip. 6s '40 ctfs.	192,000	7¾	July 18	1	Jan. 19	3	+ 1⅞	6	1	not listed		not listed		not listed
Keith 6s '46	1,128,000	61	July 19	29½	Jan. 27	52½	+22¼	63	24	78½	35	91	74	97	74½
Loew's 6s '41	924,000	89	Aug. 24	48	Mar. 23	85¾	+ 5	90	64	99¾	70	130	100	124	96
Paramount-Bway 5½s '51	372,000	40	Aug. 7	25	Mar. 17	30	— 7	82	34	105	65	103¾	99	103	97
Paramount-Bway 5½s '51 ctfs.	72,000	38	Aug. 2	27½	Nov. 24	30	not listed '32	not listed		not listed		not listed		not listed
Par-Fam-Lasky 6s '47 ctfs.	468,000	34½	Aug. 2	10½	June 5	30	+15½	60⅝	12½	97	40	103¼	89	100¾	91½
Pathe Exchange 7s '37 ww	240,000	87	July 19	47½	Jan. 26	85	+17	80½	49	96	50¾	80	36	84	29⅛
Radio-Keith-Orph. 6s '41	12,000	30	July 13	8½	Feb. 4	15	— ½	19	14½	not listed		not listed		not listed
Warner Bros. 6s '39	6,552,000	48	Sept. 18	12	Jan. 30	43½	+25½	40	9¼	74¼	25	113½	60	not listed

△ △ △

Comparison of Valuations of Stock Issues, 1932-1933

Stock	Approx. Shares Outstanding	Close 1932	Valuation	Close 1933	Valuation	Net Change	Net Change
Columbia Pictures vtc	145,000	9¼	$1,341,250	24	$3,480,000	+14¾	+ $2,138,750
Consolidated Film	530,000	1½	795,000	2½	1,325,000	+ 1	+ 530,000
Consolidated Film pfd.	400,000	6⅛	2,450,000	10⅜	4,150,000	+ 4¼	+ 1,700,000
Eastman Kodak	2,500,000	54¾	136,875,000	81	202,500,000	+26¼	+ 65,625,000
Eastman Kodak pfd.	60,000	119	7,140,000	124⅛	7,447,500	+ 5⅛	+ 307,500
Fox Film A	2,500,000	1⅞	4,687,500	removed		....	.....
Fox Film A new	2,400,000	not listed		13¾	33,000,000	....	.....
Keith-Albee-Orpheum pfd.	60,000	20	1,200,000	15	900,000	— 5	— 300,000
Loew's, Inc.	1,500,000	19¼	28,875,000	28¾	43,125,000	+ 9½	+ 14,250,000
Loew's, Inc., pfd.	150,000	58	8,700,000	72	10,800,000	+14	+ 2,100,000
Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pfd.	600,000	17⅞	10,725,000	20	12,000,000	+ 2⅛	+ 1,285,000
Orpheum Circuit pfd.	63,000	5¾	362,250	6	378,000	+ ¼	+ 15,750
Pathe Exchange	1,000,000	½	500,000	1⅝	1,625,000	+ 1⅛	+ 125,000
Pathe Exchange A	250,000	1¾	437,500	11	2,750,000	+ 9¼	+ 312,500
Radio-Keith-Orpheum	2,500,000	3⅜	8,437,500	2¼	5,625,000	— 1⅛	— 2,812,500
Universal Pictures pfd.	20,000	11	220,000	18	360,000	+ 7	+ 140,000
Warner Bros.	3,900,000	1¾	6,825,000	5¼	20,475,000	+ 3½	+ 13,650,000
Warner Bros. pfd.	103,000	6⅛	630,875	15½	1,596,500	+ 9⅜	+ 965,625
TOTAL VALUATIONS			$220,201,875		$351,537,000		+$131,335,125

with
FAY WRAY
NILS ASTHER
Edward Arnold, John Miljan and others. Screen-play by William Hurlbut. Original by Max Kimmich, Johannes Brandt, Joseph Than. Pro-duced by Carl Laemmle, Jr. Directed by Karl Freund. Presented by Carl Laemmle.
Associate Producer, Edmund Grainger.
Madam

BEAUTIFUL
—but dangerous!
ADORABLE
—but deceitful!
GLAMOROUS
—but treacherous!
—yet first and last of all—
A WOMAN!
SPY

THEATRE RECEIPTS

Theatre receipts from 114 houses in 19 major cities of the country for the calendar week ended December 30, 1933, reached a total of $1,295,039, an increase of $325,862 over the total for the preceding calendar week, ended December 23, when 112 theatres in 19 cities reported an aggregate gross of $969,177.

(Copyright, 1933: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres		Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Boston		Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Boston 2,900	25c-50c	"Son of Kong" (Radio).....	22,000	"If I Were Free" (Radio).....	21,000	High 12-30 "Son of Kong".....	22,000
						Low 3-11 "Topaze"	11,000
Fenway 1,800	30c-50c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.).... and "Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	11,500	"From Headquarters" (W.B.) and "Jimmy and Sally" (Fox)	8,500	High 1-14 "Island of Lost Souls" and "Billion Dollar Scandal"	15,000
						Low 7-29 "She Had to Say Yes" and "Arizona to Broadway"	6,000
Keith's 3,500	30c-50c	"Counsellor at Law" (U.).....	21,000	"Little Women" (Radio)..... (4th week)	23,000	High 12-2 "Little Women".....	28,000
Loew's State 3,700	35c-50c	"Going Hollywood" (MGM).....	20,500	"Women in His Life" (MGM)....	18,500	Low 3-11 "When Strangers Marry"....	12,000
						High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	23,000
Metropolitan 4,350	30c-65c	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.)..	33,000	"My Lips Betray" (Fox).....	31,000	Low 3-11 "Men Must Fight".....	11,000
						High 11-4 "I'm No Angel".....	44,500
Paramount 1,800	30c-50c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.).... and "Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	12,000	"From Headquarters" (W.B.) and "Jimmy and Sally" (Fox)	8,500	Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle".....	26,500
						High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "Deception"	17,000
						Low 8-12 "Mary Stevens, M.D." and "Flying Devils"	8,000
Buffalo
Buffalo 3,500	30c-55c	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.)	14,700	"The Masquerader" (U. A.).....	10,100	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady".....	31,000
						Low 3-25 "Our Betters".....	9,800
Century 3,000	25c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)....	7,500	"The Mad Game" (Fox).....	5,200	High 8-12 "Forgotten Men" and "Easy Millions"	8,000
						Low 12-16 "Solitaire Man" and "Day of Reckoning"	3,500
Great Lakes 3,000	25c-40c	"The Prizefighter and the Lady".. (MGM)	6,900	"Berkeley Square" (Fox).....	5,800	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel".....	27,200
						Low 4-15 "Rome Express"	5,400
Hippodrome 2,100	25c-40c	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.).....	9,100	"My Lips Betray" (Fox)	6,100	High 6-24 "Gold Diggers of 1933".....	16,100
						Low 8-26 "Moonlight and Pretzels"....	5,100
Hollywood 300	25c-40c	"Disraeli" (W. B.).....	1,000	.....		High 1-7 "Goona Goona".....	2,600
						Low 11-25 "Night and Day".....	400
Lafayette 3,300	25c	"Counsellor at Law" (U.).....	15,200	"Myrt and Marge" (U.).....	4,800	High 12-30 "Counsellor at Law".....	15,200
						Low 12-23 "Myrt and Marge".....	4,800
Chicago
Chicago 4,000	35c-68c	"Duck Soup" (Para.).....	30,000	"House on 56th Street" (W.B.)..	27,000	High 9-2 "Goodbye Again".....	75,000
						Low 4-29 "Central Airport".....	22,000
McVicker's 2,284	30c-60c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.).... (25c-50c)	12,000	"Should Ladies Behave?" (MGM)	12,000	High 10-14 "Too Much Harmony".....	20,000
						Low 7-1 "The Woman I Stole".....	5,000
Oriental 3,940	30c-60c	"Design for Living" (Para.).....	18,000	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.)..... (9 days)	16,000	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel".....	50,000
						Low 12-16 "A Man's Castle"	10,000
Palace 2,509	35c-75c	"My Lips Betray" (Fox).....	20,000	"Chance at Heaven" (Radio).....	25,000	High 9-9 "Morning Glory".....	37,000
						Low 5-27 "Below the Sea".....	14,000
Roosevelt 1,591	25c-50c	"Little Women" (Radio)..... (2nd week)	9,000	"Little Women" (Radio)..... (1st week)	15,000	High 10-14 "Penthouse"	16,000
						Low 3-4 "Luxury Liner"	6,200
State-Lake 2,776	20c-35c	"Walls of Gold" (Fox).....	14,000	"Flaming Gold" (Radio).....	15,500	High 12-23 "Flaming Gold"	15,500
						Low 2-18 "Lucky Devils".....	4,500
United Artists .. 1,700	30c-60c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.).....	25,500	"Christopher Bean" (MGM)..... (2nd week)	13,000	High 1-21 "The Kid From Spain".....	27,000
						Low 3-18 "Perfect Understanding".....	6,800
Cleveland
Allen 3,300	20c-40c	"Broadway Through a Keyhole".. (U. A.) (2nd week)	2,500	"Broadway Through a Keyhole".. (U. A.) (1st week)	4,000	High 11-11 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	12,000
						Low 3-4 "Infernal Machine" and "Exposure"	1,800
Hippodrome 3,800	30c-44c	"Lady Killer" (W. B.).....	5,000	"My Lips Betray" (Fox)	3,500	High 10-21 "East of Fifth Avenue"....	30,000
						Low 6-10 "Circus Queen Murder".....	2,900
RKO Palace 3,100	30c-75c	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox).....	16,500	"If I Were Free" (Radio).....	15,000	High 12-2 "Little Women".....	26,000
						Low 8-19 "No Marriage Ties".....	4,200
State 3,400	30c-44c	"Going Hollywood" (MGM)	7,500	"Women in His Life" (MGM) and "Should Ladies Behave?" (MGM)	5,500	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie".....	26,000
						Low 6-24 "The Eagle and the Hawk"	5,000
Stillman 1,900	25c-35c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.).....	4,000	"The Chief" (MGM) and "Fury of the Jungle" (Col.)	2,700	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel".....	9,000
						Low 11-18 "Stage Mother" and "Hell and High Water"	2,500
Warner's Lake .. 800	25c-35c	"Jimmy and Sally" (Fox).....	1,500	"Ace of Aces" (Radio) and..... "Midshipman Jack" (Radio)	1,500	High 10-28 "Footlight Parade".....	10,000
						Low 12-30 "Jimmy and Sally".....	1,500
Denver
Aladdin 1,500	25c-40c	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.).....	3,500	"Disraeli" (W. B.)	3,000	High 2-25 "Cavalcade"	10,000
						Low 4-8 "Smoke Lightning" and "Broadway Bad"	2,500
Denham 1,500	25c-40c	"Tillie and Gus" (Para.)..... (4 days)	2,500	"Take a Chance" (Para.).....	9,500	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel".....	16,000
		"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.).... (3 days)	5,500			Low 6-3 "Mussolini Speaks," "Night of Terror" and "Soldiers of the Storm"	1,950
Denver 2,500	25c-50c	"A Man's Castle" (Col.).....	7,000	"Female" (F. N.).....	6,000	High 8-12 "Tugboat Annie".....	14,600
						Low 12-16 "The World Changes".....	3,000
Orpheum 2,600	25c-40c	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox).....	16,000	"Lady Killer" (W. B.)	13,000	High 3-4 "42nd Street"	18,500
						Low 6-10 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,750
Paramount 2,000	25c-40c	"Horseplay" (U.) ..... (3 days)	900	"Blood Money" (U. A.).....	3,000	High 4-1 "The Kid From Spain".....	7,000
		"Smoky" (Fox) ..... (4 days)	1,600			Low 7-8 "The Barbarian"	2,000
Detroit
Downtown 2,750	15c-40c	"Son of Kong" (Radio) and..... "Horseplay" (U.)	4,300	"The Mad Game" (Fox) and..... "Rafter Romance" (Radio)	4,600	High 10-14 "No Marriage Ties".....	16,500
						Low 6-10 "The Woman I Stole".....	3,700
Fisher 2,700	15c-50c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)....	6,100	"Women in His Life" (MGM)....	5,200	High 1-28 "Silver Dollar".....	15,400
						Low 3-18 "Secret of Madame Blanche"..	3,100
Fox 5,100	15c-50c	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox).....	18,400	"My Lips Betray" (Fox).....	12,400	High 9-16 "Sing, Sinner, Sing".....	32,300
						Low 5-15 "After the Ball" and "Afraid to Talk"	5,400
Michigan 4,000	25c-50c	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.)..	15,600	"Lady Killer" (W. B.).....	14,100	High 1-21 "Tonight Is Ours".....	23,700
						Low 7-1 "College Humor"	7,300
State 3,000	25c-50c	"Design for Living" (Para.).....	8,300	"Take a Chance" (Para.) and.....	9,100	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel" (5 days)....	24,100
				"Hell and High Water" (Para.)		Low 9-30 "To the Last Man".....	4,400
United Artists .. 2,000	25c-50c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.).....	9,100	"Lone Cowboy" (Para.) and..... "King for a Night" (U.)	11,300	High 2-11 "The Kid From Spain".....	17,400
						Low 3-25 "The Sign of the Cross".....	4,100

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	50c-$1.65	"Little Women" (Radio) (5 days)	15,466	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (3rd week)	10,046	High 9-9 "Dinner at Eight"	36,656
							Low 4-1 "King Kong"	14,600
W. B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-40c	"Lady Killer" (W. B.)	11,000	"From Headquarters" (W. B.) and "Disraeli" (W. B.)	9,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	26,000
							Low 4-15 "Grand Slam"	8,975
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	25c-40c	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	4,500	"As Husbands Go" (Fox)	2,000	High 2-18 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 12-23 "As Husbands Go"	2,000
Circle	2,800	25c-40c	"Design for Living" (Para.)	3,500	"Female" (F. N.) (4 days) "Cradle Song" (Para.) (3 days)	3,000	High 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "The Sign of the Cross" (2nd run)	2,500
Indiana	3,100	20c-40c	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	4,000			High 3-25 "Parachute Jumper"	15,000
							Low 6-10 "Below the Sea"	3,500
Lyric	2,000	25c-40c	"Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" (Monogram) (20c-40c)	4,500	"Myrt and Marge" (U.)	4,000	High 7-22 "College Humor"	9,500
							Low 11-11 "Saturday's Millions"	3,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"Going Hollywood" (MGM)	4,500	"Blood Money" (U. A.)	4,000	High 8-12 "Tugboat Annie"	11,000
							Low 12-16 "Women in His Life"	3,500
Kansas City
Apollo	1,100	25c	"S. O. S. Iceberg" (U.)	900	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.) (2nd week)	900
Mainstreet	3,049	25c-40c	"Havana Widows" (F. N.) (25c-60c)	18,000	"The World Changes" (F. N.)	4,100	High 10-28 "Ace of Aces"	21,000
							Low 5-20 "Sweepings"	4,000
Midland	4,000	25c	"Going Hollywood" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	14,000	"Blood Money" (U. A.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	7,400	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	30,000
							Low 4-15 "Perfect Understanding"	4,900
Newman	1,800	25c-40c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	5,000	"Lady Killer" (W. B.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	5,500	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	20,000
							Low 5-27 "Picture Snatcher"	2,800
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"Jimmy and Sally" (Fox) and "Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	2,500	"Olsen's Big Moment" (Fox) and "Female" (F. N.)	2,400	High 2-11 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 7-1 "Lilly Turner"	1,600
Los Angeles
Criterion	1,610	25c-40c	"Elysia" (Foy) (5th week)	3,942	"Elysia" (Foy) (4th week)	8,400	High 12-2 "Elysia"	12,000
							Low 7-29 "The Devil's Brother"	1,850
Filmarte	800	40c-50c	"Waltz Time" (Gaumont-British)	2,700			High 11-25 "Emperor Jones"	3,950
							Low 9-9 "The Rebel"	1,800
Four Star	900	50c-75c	"I Am Suzanne" (Fox) (5 days)	3,500	"Berkeley Square" (Fox) (3rd week-4 days)	2,816
Loew's State	2,416	25c-40c	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	13,500	"The Prizefighter and the Lady" (MGM)	12,300	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	28,300
							Low 3-11 "Dangerously Yours"	8,000
Los Angeles	3,000	15c-25c	"In the Money" (Chesterfield) and "Fog" (Col.)	4,200	"Only Yesterday" (U.)	5,000	High 7-22 "Kiss of Araby" and "Samarang"	6,200
							Low 9-2 "Important Witness" and "Doubled and Redoubled"	2,200
Paramount	3,596	25c-40c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)	23,785	"Girl Without a Room" (Para.)	19,750	High 1-7 "No Man of Her Own"	30,000
							Low 3-18 "King of the Jungle"	10,000
RKO	2,700	25c-40c	"Son of Kong" (Radio)	4,900	"If I Were Free" (Radio)	3,900	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	11,600
							Low 9-30 "Brief Moment"	1,700
United Artists	2,100	25c-40c	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.) (5th week-4 days)	4,850	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.) (4th week)	7,000	High 10-21 "The Bowery"	21,000
							Low 1-28 "Hello, Everybody"	3,900
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-40c	"Lady Killer" (W. B.)	12,000	"From Headquarters" (W. B.) and "Disraeli" (W. B.)	8,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	19,000
							Low 12-23 "From Headquarters" and "Disraeli"	8,000
Minneapolis
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"Take a Chance" (Para.)	1,600	"Lady Killer" (W. B.)	1,500	High 4-1 "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"	3,000
							Low 11-11 "I Loved a Woman"	1,000
Minnesota	4,000	25c-40c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)	9,500	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.)	7,500
RKO Orpheum	2,900	20c-40c	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	6,500	"Little Women" (Radio)	7,000	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	14,000
							Low 3-11 "Cynara"	3,000
State	2,300	25c-40c	"Broadway Through a Keyhole" (U. A.)	6,500	"Cradle Song" (Para.)	5,500	High 4-29 "Cavalcade"	8,000
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	3,500
World	400	25c-75c	"Elysia" (Foy) (3rd week)	1,800	"Elysia" (Foy) (2nd week)	2,000	High 4-22 "Be Mine Tonight"	2,400
							Low 11-25 "Vi Som Gar Koksvagen"	1,000
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-75c	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	10,000	"Havana Widows" (F. N.) and "Ever in My Heart" (W. B.) (25c-60c)	7,500	High 12-2 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	13,500
							Low 12-23 "Havana Widows" and "Ever in My Heart"	7,500
Loew's	3,115	25c-75c	"My Lips Betray" (Fox)	11,500	"Worst Woman in Paris?" (Fox) (25c-65c)	8,500	High 1-21 "The Mask of Fu Manchu"	14,500
							Low 9-30 "Turn Back the Clock" and "Emergency Call"	7,500
Palace	2,600	25c-75c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.) and "Sitting Pretty" (Para.)	11,000	"I Loved a Woman" (F. N.) and "Female" (F. N.) (25c-60c)	9,000	High 2-18 "The Sign of the Cross"	15,500
							Low 12-23 "I Loved a Woman" and "Female"	9,000
Princess	2,272	25c-65c	"Red-Headed Woman" (MGM) and "Broken Dreams" (Monogram)	6,500	"Sing, Sinner, Sing" (Majestic) and "The Chief" (MGM) (25c-60c)	5,000	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" and "Speed Demon"	12,000
							Low 12-23 "Sing, Sinner, Sing" and "The Chief"	5,000
New York
Cameo	549	25c-40c	"Throne of the Gods" (First Div.) and "Dassan" (First Div.)	3,000	"Volga Volga" (Kinematrade)	2,000	High 1-28 "Maedchen in Uniform"	9,200
							Low 8-5 "King of Jazz"	1,064
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"Going Hollywood" (MGM)	45,242	"Should Ladies Behave?" (MGM)	28,665	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady" (8 days)	66,653
							Low 9-30 "Solitaire Man"	21,210
Hollywood	1,543	25c-85c	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.)	8,973	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.) (3rd week)	8,600	High 9-1 "Voltaire"	25,868
							Low 10-21 "Ever in My Heart"	8,296
Mayfair	2,300	35c-85c	"Criminal at Large" (Helber) (2nd week)	6,100	"Criminal at Large" (Helber) (1st week)	7,600	High 1-7 "The Half Naked Truth"	24,750
							Low 6-3 "When Strangers Marry"	4,900
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	10,450	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	9,800	High 2-4 "Animal Kingdom"	16,150
							Low 4-15 "Parole Girl"	4,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)	53,500	"His Double Life" (Para.)	19,200	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	83,450
							Low 2-4 "Hello, Everybody"	15,600
Rialto	2,200	40c-65c	"Chance at Heaven" (Radio)	8,500	"Hell and High Water" (Para.)	8,500	High 5-20 "Forgotten Men"	22,500
							Low 4-15 "Destination Unknown" and "The Fighting President"	5,800
Rivoli	2,200	35c-99c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.)	48,000	"Advice to the Lovelorn" (U. A.) (2nd week-3 days)	3,900	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	48,000
							Low 8-5 "The Rebel"	7,200
RKO Center	3,700	25c-55c	"Little Women" (Radio) (3rd week)	22,500	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week)	20,500	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	71,267
							Low 7-1 "Adorable" and "Supernatural"	7,592
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio)	95,000	"Right to Romance" (Radio)	69,500	High 11-25 "Little Women"	109,000
							Low 6-17 "Ann Carver's Profession"	44,938
Roxy	6,200	25c-55c	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	28,500	"Jimmy and Sally" (Fox)	18,200	High 11-25 "The Invisible Man"	42,000
							Low 1-28 "Air Hostess"	9,100
Strand	3,000	25c-$1.10	"Convention City" (F. N.)	14,231	"Sin of Nora Moran" (Majestic)	6,850	High 10-14 "Footlight Parade"	55,000
							Low 12-23 "Sin of Nora Moran"	6,850

Names NOW HERE

A resolution it will be a pleasure to keep: to make more money in 1934 with short subjects by playing and exploiting more

Educational Pictures

START NOW WITH THESE

SPICE IN THE BIGG

Among short

TWO REELS

STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
ERNEST TRUEX
in his great comedy of the nudist camps
"MR. ADAM"
"A honey for haw-haws."
—Film Daily

•

ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES
"AN OLD GYPSY CUSTOM"
Springtime and the Gypsies are too much for Andy.
Produced by E. H. Allen

•

CORONET COMEDIES
STOOPNAGLE and BUDD
famous radio comics, as a couple of nut "scientists", who create a "Stoopnstein" that's even nuttier, in
"THE INVENTORS"
An Al Christie Production

•

TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
"DIVORCE SWEETS"
Peak and Bon, detectives, almost get their co-respondent, and how they get the laughs!

MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
"THE FREEZE OUT"
From frozen Alaska to Hades with the "Two Black Crows" in the fastest and funniest short subject they have ever made.
Produced by Al Christie

•

FROLICS OF YOUTH
"PARDON MY PUPS"
with Junior Coghlan and Shirley Temple
"Altogether delightful"
Rob Wagner's Script

•

MERMAID COMEDIES
"TRIMMED IN FURS"
The moose cows fly and the laughs come fast and furious in this hoke comedy.
An E. H. Allen Production

•

MUSICAL COMEDIES
"POPPIN' THE CORK" with MILTON BERLE
An elaborate featurette* of timely comedy and music, with two new song hits, "Here's Looking at You" and "Poppin' the Cork"
*3 reels
A Jack White Production

of 1934
EST PRODUCTIONS
eatures

ONE REEL

SONG HIT STORIES

"THE LAST DOGIE"
featuring James Melton popular radio tenor, singing beloved cowboy laments.

"MANHATTAN LULLABY"
featuring Helen Morgan singing the new "Stork Song."
Skibo Shorts

•

THE TREASURE CHEST

"DAY DREAMS"
Beautiful fantasy, with music by Henry King's orchestra.

"AIR MANIACS"
featuring Vince Barnett
The clown of clowns adds fun to the wildest, craziest, daredevil stunt flying ever photographed.

"WHAT DOES 1934 HOLD"
What the stars foretell for the New Year, interpreted by the famous astrologer
WYNN
The timeliest of short subjects Right Now
Skibo Shorts

BABY BURLESKS
Coming...a satire on college football that's a touchdown for laughs.
Tentatively titled
"AFTER THE BALL"
Produced by Jack Hays

•

ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
"CANYON OF ROMANCE"
The inspiring beauty of Bryce Canyon, in all the wonders of its natural colors.
A Brown-Nagel Production

•

TERRY-TOONS
There's a whimsical quality, and a steady flow of laughter, in these three new Terry-Toons:
"LITTLE BOY BLUE"
A new line on an old tale
"IN VENICE"
Jumping gondolas! Is this one a scream!
"THE SUNNY SOUTH"
Simon Legree a la cartoon.
Two more ready:
"HOLLAND DAYS"
"THE THREE BEARS"

Lillian Roth

Taylor Holmes

Olive Borden

Moran and Mack

Junior Coghlan

Ernest Truex

Bob Hope

Buster Keaton

Shirley Temple

LATE NEWS FLASH!
Coming
BUSTER KEATON in a
STAR COMEDY SPECIAL

Educational Pictures
"THE SPICE OF THE PROGRAM"

Distributed in U.S.A. by
FOX FILM CORPORATION

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)	3,500	"Jimmy and Sally" (Fox)	1,500	High 11-11 "Penthouse"	4,000
							Low 3-11 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,350
Criterion	1,700	10c-56c	"Dancing Lady" (MGM)	8,000	"The Masquerader" (U. A.)	3,900	High 11-18 "College Coach"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "Clear All Wires"	1,800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"Havana Widows" (F. N.) (4 days)	1,200	"My Lips Betray" (Fox) (4 days)	1,300	High 9-2 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	3,900
			"Myrt and Marge" (U.) (3 days)	900	"Berkeley Square" (Fox) (3 days)	700	Low 3-18 "The Death Kiss" and "The Fourth Horseman"	1,100
Midwest	1,500	10c-56c	"The Invisible Man" (U.)	4,300	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.)	3,300	High 2-25 "State Fair"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Employees' Entrance"	1,400
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	25c-40c	"The World Changes" (F.N.) and "Havana Widows" (F. N.)	3,500	"Professional Sweetheart" (Radio) (25c-50c)	6,750	High 11-18 "One Man's Journey"	10,750
							Low 12-30 "The World Changes" and "Havana Widows"	3,500
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	6,500	"As Husbands Go" (Fox) (25c-50c)	6,750	High 6-24 "I Loved You Wednesday"	16,500
							Low 4-29 "Sweepings"	5,000
Paramount	2,900	25c-50c	"Mr. Skitch' (Fox)	6,750	"Cradle Song" (Para.)	6,500	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	13,250
							Low 6-10 "Reunion in Vienna"	5,800
World	2,500	25c-35c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.) and "Horseplay" (U.)	5,500	"Should Ladies Behave?" (MGM) and "Jimmy and Sally" (Fox)	5,250	High 6-3 "Peg O' My Heart" and "Perfect Understanding"	7,500
							Low 12-9 "Hoopla" and "Manhattan Tower"	4,500
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	40c-65c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (6 days)	18,000	"Blood Money" (U. A.) (5 days)	4,000	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	18,000
							Low 9-30 "Bitter Sweet"	4,800
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (9 days)	7,000	"King for a Night" (U.) (4 days)	1,200	High 12-30 "I'm No Angel" (9 days)	7,000
							Low 5-27 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,500
Boyd	2,400	40c-65c	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.) (6 days)	10,000	"Right to Romance" (Radio) (6 days)	8,000	High 9-2 "Tugboat Annie"	21,000
							Low 12-23 "Right to Romance"	8,000
Earle	2,000	40c-65c	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.) (6 days)	26,000	"The Chief" (MGM) (6 days)	11,000	High 1-7 "Breach of Promise"	29,000
							Low 10-21 "Saturday's Millions"	10,000
Fox	3,000	35c-75c	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox) (6 days)	24,000	"I Was a Spy" (Fox) (6 days)	14,000	High 4-22 "Cavalcade"	29,000
							Low 8-5 "F. P. 1"	13,000
Karlton	1,000	30c-50c	"Cradle Song" (Para.) (6 days)	3,500	"Disraeli" (W. B.) (6 days)	3,300	High 4-8 "42nd Street"	7,700
							Low 8-12 "Ann Carver's Profession"	2,500
Keith's	2,000	25c-40c	"Jimmy and Sally" (Fox) (6 days)	8,000	"Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" (Monogram) (6 days)	5,000	High 1-7 "Self Defense"	11,500
							Low 11-18 "Worst Woman in Paris?"	4,500
Stanley	3,700	40c-65c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.) (5 days)	8,000	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.) (2nd week-4 days)	5,500	High 11-25 "I'm No Angel"	32,500
							Low 6-10 "The Silver Cord"	9,000
Stanton	1,700	30c-55c	"Women in His Life" (MGM) (6 days)	8,000	"From Headquarters" (W. B.) (6 days)	6,300	High 6-3 "The Little Giant"	10,000
							Low 7-14 "I Love That Man"	4,500
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"Going Hollywood" (MGM)	5,000	"Footlight Daughters" (MGM) (2nd week)	6,000	High 1-21 "Frisco Jenny"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "What! No Beer?"	3,500
Music Box	3,000	25c-40c	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	3,000	"Little Women" (Radio) (3rd week)	4,000	High 12-9 "Little Women"	14,000
							Low 5-13 "No More Orchids"	1,600
Oriental	2,040	25c-35c	"Little Women" (Radio)	3,000	"Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men" (Radio) and "Ace of Aces" (Radio)	3,000	High 10-14 "Rafter Romance"	14,000
							Low 11-18 "College Coach"	1,600
Paramount	3,008	25c-40c	"Alice in Wonderland' (Para.) and "Olsen's Big Moment" (Fox) (8 days)	10,000	"My Lips Betray" (Fox) and "Tillie and Gus" (Para.)	4,000	.....
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.)	5,800	"Should Ladies Behave?" (MGM)	4,000	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Madame Butterfly"	1,600
San Francisco
Fox	4,600	10c-35c	"Fog" (Col.) and "Puss in Boots" (Ind.)	9,000	"In the Money" (Far Western) and "What Price Decency?" (Far Western)	9,000	High 4-8 "Should a Woman Tell?" and "Speed Demon"	15,500
							Low 9-9 "Important Witness" and "Sensation Hunters"	7,000
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-40c	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	15,500	"Little Women" (Radio) (3rd week)	10,500	High 2-11 "The Mummy"	25,500
							Low 10-21 "My Woman"	8,000
Orpheum	3,000	15c-40c	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.) and "The Thundering Herd" (Para.)	6,000	"Day of Reckoning" (MGM) and "Havana Widows" (F. N.)	4,000	.....
Paramount	2,670	15c-55c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.) (5 days)	7,000	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.)	7,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	40,000
							Low 12-23 "Sitting Pretty"	7,000
Strand	1,400	15c-35c	"Thunder Over Mexico" (Principal)	2,000	.....		.....
United Artists	1,200	25c-50c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.)	17,000	"Thunder Over Mexico" (Principal)	8,500	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	17,000
							Low 8-26 "The Wrecker"	4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-90c	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	14,000	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	14,000	High 11-25 "Hoopla"	26,000
							Low 5-27 "Story of Temple Drake"	10,000
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-50c	"Little Women" (Radio) (4th week)	4,500	"Little Women" (Radio) (3rd week)	3,500	High 12-9 "Little Women"	8,500
							Low 8-19 "The Rebel"	2,500
Fifth Avenue	2,750	25c-55c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)	7,000	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.)	5,750	High 8-5 "Tugboat Annie"	19,250
							Low 3-18 "From Hell to Heaven" and "Secret of Madame Blanche"	5,000
Liberty	2,000	10c-25c	"Before Midnight" (Col.) and "Strawberry Roan" (U.)	4,250	"East of Fifth Avenue" (Col.) and "Thrill Hunter" (Col.)	3,500	High 7-29 "What Price Innocence?"	5,500
							Low 6-24 "Uptown New York"	3,000
Music Box	950	25c-50c	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	4,000	"If I Were Free" (Radio)	3,250	High 11-11 "Footlight Parade"	8,000
							Low 12-23 "If I Were Free"	3,250
Orpheum	2,500	25c-50c	"Lone Cowboy" (Para.) and "The Big Brain" (Radio)	6,000	"Day of Reckoning" (MGM) and "White Woman" (Para.)	5,500	.....
Paramount	3,050	25c-50c	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.) (6 days)	5,500	"As Husbands Go" (Fox) (6 days)	4,500	High 1-7 "A Farewell to Arms"	9,500
							Low 9-23 "F. P. 1" and "Aniakchak"	4,000
Roxy	2,275	25c-50c	"Right to Romance" (Radio)	5,000	"Chance at Heaven" (Radio) (5 days)	3,500	High 10-28 "Ladies Must Love"	14,000
							Low 12-9 "A Man's Castle"	4,000

THE NEWS OF 1933 PASSES IN REVIEW

As the year 1933 passes into the limbo, a glance backward over the twelve-month, via the headlines from the news, is gripped by three outstanding developments, in a sense all the culmination of four years of economic stress, and partially the reflection, within this industry, of the New Deal and the Blue Eagle's attempt to combat depression. First, the receiverships which told sharply the story of over-expansion. Second, and corollary, nationwide theatre decentralization, and third, the spread of the Eagle's wings over the motion picture, the Code, finally completed as the year drew to a close. A brighter sky appeared to dawn on the horizon, reflecting an upturn in theatre grosses, as stronger product issued from the studios in the new season. The story of the motion picture in 1933, in high spots, is unfolded chronologically:

JANUARY

January 3
Major distributors agree to original proposal of inaugurating national appeal board for three-year term in place of one-year trial favored by some distributors earlier.
Increasing interest of Rockefeller family in industry, through Chase bank holdings, involving Fox and Loew's, in addition to RKO-Radio City association, stirs speculation.

January 4
Radio City Music Hall grosses $106,400 in first week.
Lester Cowan, executive secretary of Academy, in New York, to advance campaign for adoption of standard 13½-inch reel with four-inch hub, to carry maximum of 1,700 feet of film.
M-G-M plans production of 30 films in Paris and Rome, Arthur M. Loew says.
M-G-M and Fox announce a new uniform contract to go into effect Feb. 1, with ratification of national appeal board.

January 6
Operation of Radio City Music Hall turned over to cabinet of seven headed by Harold B. Franklin.
Sam Katz, reported ready to enter 7th Ave. Roxy operation, said to have dropped plan because of uncertainty of film supply for house.
Wilmington court authorizes General Theatres Equipment to bring suits involving $3,500,000 against William Fox and others.

January 7
John Hertz, Chicago financier, a power in Paramount Publix for year, resigns chairmanship of finance committee and withdraws from Paramount. Move ascribed to conflict in authority between Hertz and Zukor, with Paramount bankers seen supporting Zukor.

January 9
Universal to hold negative costs to $100,000, Carl Laemmle, Jr., announces.

January 10
Paramount Publix directors elect George Schaefer, Sam Dembow, Jr., and Walter B. Cokell to membership on board and appoint all three to executive committee.

January 12
M. A. Lightman, M.P.T.O.A. president, advised Universal will make new standard contract available "within month."
New York state supreme court holds owner of dramatic and silent picture rights to play owns talking picture rights as well. Believed to be first ruling of its kind.

January 13
Paramount will offer ney standard contract March 1.
Dr. A. H. Giannini, chairman of Bank of America, reports Wall St. "optimistic now."

January 14
Joseph M. Schenck will end activity as producer, retaining presidency of United Artists.
RKO to put new standard contract into effect March 1.

January 16
Federal reinstatement of war-time admission taxes of 10 per cent on scales from 10 cents up seen probable in Washington.
Will H. Hays says shorter American work week will aid films.

January 17
Victoria Amusement Co. starts anti-trust suit against major distributors, Warners and subsidiaries in Camden, N. J., federal court.

January 19
Final drafts of new industry program including establishment of national appeals board as supreme court of industry for internal disputes sent to exhibitor units for study.
Balaban & Katz stockholders fail to reelect Sam Katz to directorate.

January 20
Discussions of physical distribution merger among majors seen halted for time.
Receivers for Fox New England circuit seek to have Harry Arthur continues as operator.

January 23
Fox and Paramount change national release from Sunday to Friday dates.

January 24
Bancamerica-Blair Corp. linked with RKO receivership. Alfred West, receivership petitioner, is associated with banking company.
Skouras-Fox theatre operating contract runs until February, 1937.
Harry Arthur returns to 7th Avenue Roxy in advisory capacity. Howard S. Cullman continues as receiver.

January 25
Educational-World Wide selling and physical distribution to be handled by Fox under five-year deal.
Publix completes decentralization of entire circuit, resulting in turning over 90 per cent of operating authority and duties to men in field.
Ancillary receiverships for RKO sought in Baltimore and Newark.

January 26
Fox Theatres start partial decentralization move, relinquishing operation of midwest units. May drop Fox Midwesco, Wisconsin unit, in entirety.
Lewis J. Selznick dies in Hollywood after lengthy illness.
James C. Ritter, Detroit, exhibitor, elected president of Allied States, succeeding W. A. Steffes. Abram F. Myers continues as chairman of board, general counsel.
Survey reveals 5,895 theatres closed in U. S. on Jan. 1.

January 27
Paramount Publix consents to equity receivership action. Adolph Zukor and Charles D. Hilles named receivers. Paramount directors call move "protective" in interests of company's bondholders and creditors. Publix Enterprises, theatre subsidiary, files petition in bankruptcy.

January 28
RKO consents to Alfred West petition for receivership.
Orpheum files petition in bankruptcy.
Publix Enterprises, bankrupt, revealed as holding company for numerous circuit subsidiaries in all parts of country.

January 30
Paramount Publix and RKO executives see "re-birth" of companies on healthier basis, with receiverships undertaking reorganization of unprofitable theatre holdings.

January 31
Sam Katz and John Zanft to Hollywood on production.
Irving Trust Co., RKO receiver and Orpheum Circuit trustee in bankruptcy, begins study of companies' financial structure.

FEBRUARY

February 1
Irving Trust, trustee in bankruptcy for Publix Enterprises, begins study of complex organization of theatre holding company.
Fox inaugurates new standard contract.
RKO files receivership schedules showing total assets with an estimated book value of $104,000,000 and liabilities of $19,500,000.

February 2
George Topliff named by Irving Trust Co. to direct administrative work of Publix Enterprises bankruptcy.
Universal studying final drafts of standard contract with view to putting it in effect before March 1.

February 3
First Choice Pictures completes organization. To operate on franchise plan with J. D. Williams, Earl Hudson and other former First National executives at head.
David O. Selznick resigns as Radio production head.
Adolph Zukor and Charles D. Hilles to continue as equity receivers for Paramount Publix for 30 days.

February 4
No merger for Warners, Jack L. Warner says at Kansas City, en route to Hollywood. Company plans 60 features for 1934.
Merian C. Cooper named to succeed David O. Selznick as Radio production head.
Ancillary reciver for Paramount Publix named in Columbus, O.

—

[Chronicle prepared by Motion Picture Daily.]

February 6
Publix to retain only skeleton executive staff in New York.
Hollywood producers ask stars to agree to salary cuts before exercising options.
Three-cornered rivalry involving Si Fabian, William Small and A. C. Blumenthal under way for acquisition of Fox New England circuit after $350,000 interest default on bonds.

February 7
New tax bills before state legislatures aggregate 300 to 400 millions. Industry disturbed.

February 9
Important banking and administrative interests form RKO stockholders' protective committee.
Columbia reports 13 weeks profit of $220,027.
Canadian film revenue shows 30 per cent decline, according to Col. John A. Cooper of Motion Picture Distributors of Canada.

February 10
Universal Chain Theatres Corp. consents to friendly receivership in Baltimore.
Monogram plans to increase number of quality pictures, with 24 features and eight westerns proposed for 1933-34.
Warners form 41 theatre units, incorporated in Pennsylvania. Home office denies decentralization move.

February 11
M-G-M denies Irving Thalberg's place to be filled by another. Thalberg on leave due to illness.
Elmer C. Rhoden heads administration of Fox Midwest Circuit. Skouras retains operating control.

February 13
David O. Selznick signed by M-G-M to speed production with no effect on status of Irving Thallberg.
Contracts of Paramount players and executives to be switched from Paramount Publix, bankrupt, to Paramount Prod., Inc., is report.
Screen writers may work on royalty basis. Plan being tried by Jesse Lasky at Fox.
Fox New England Theatres placed in equity receivership.

February 14
Paramount Publix opposes ancillary receivership for Paramount Distributing Corp. in Ohio.

February 15
Major distributors, influenced by economy programs, favoring small, regional sales meetings in place of large national confabs; $50,000 saving seen possible for several companies.
Michigan banks close throughout state. Theatres remain open.
Nine additional state legislatures take up bills affecting films, bringing total to 41 states.

February 17
Connecticut court authorizes foreclosure on Fox New England houses in that state.

February 18
First report of RKO receives reveals company to be in liquid condition with assets exceeding liabilities. Irving Trust continued as RKO receivers.
Samuel Goldwyn denies reports of Sam Katz association with United Artists.

February 20
Resignation of Edwin Loeb as studio arbitrator under producer's pact designed to end star and talent "raids," seen as indication of pact's failure.
Ohio court gets petition for RKO Distributing Corp. receivership.

February 21
Skuoras Brothers begin decentralization of Fox Theatres; national circuit to be operated from five cities.
Ned E. Depinet says Radio plans production of 50 next season.

February 23
Charles Rosenzweig resigns as Columbia general sales manager; Abe Montague to fill post.

February 25
New York federal court dismisses long-pending monopoly suit against Paramount filed by Edward Quittner, Middletown, N. Y., exhibitor, who asked triple damages in excess of $5,000,000. Appeal expected.
Motion Picture Division of Department of Commerce estimates 61,924 theatres in world; 36,955 wired; 19,042 in U. S.

February 28
Fox West Coast circuit of 50 houses file voluntary

Nothing but the BEST goes into the making of THIS picture—

Proclaiming—

"LEGAL

The Exploitation Special

We'll keep you posted. Watch for Ads.

"Roosevelt Dollars"

The best money in the world for production.

Eastman Stock

The Standard of quality.

Consolidated Laboratory Prints

The Concern whose quality and service have won pre-eminence.

Western Electric Sound

This Company's latest Wide Range recording delivers the FULL emotional quality of dramatic dialogue—the vital link between studio and audience.

"HOLIDAY"

of the Year 1934 A. D.

DISTINGUISHED PICTURES CORPORATION

11 West 42nd Street, New York

J. D. WILLIAMS, Night Address
Edison Hotel, 47th St., West of B'way.

RECEIVERSHIPS CULMINATE EXPANSION

petition in bankruptcy in Los Angeles. Charles Skouras and John Treanor made co-receivers.
Publix-B. & K. and Great States circuits fight receivership action filed in Chicago.

MARCH

March 1
Fox West Coast plans immediate disposal of all unprofitable houses involved in bankruptcy.

March 2
Distribution executives report no unusual falling off of sales as result of theatre bankruptcies and receiverships.
Pacific Northwest Theatres reorganized with assets sold to creditors for $450,000.

March 3
Industry goes on cash basis as bank holiday situation becomes acute.
Federal court at Chicago denies petition for receiver for Publix-B. & K. and Great States.

March 4
First report of Paramount receivers shows company in liquid position with assets of over $150,000,000 and liabilities of about $48,000,000.
Charles E. Richardson resigns as Fox treasurer and drops association with Chase Bank. Richard A. Rowland elected director of company and member of executive committee.

March 6
Distributors granting broad credit as bank situation throughout country continues serious, threatening to close theatres.
Allied withholds action on the recommendation of new standard contract to its members.
Fox West Coast begins turning back unprofitable houses involved in bankruptcy.

March 7
Distributors' credit and collection system reported functioning successfully in face of national bank holiday.
Production officials meet in Hollywood to consider bank emergency effects, with studio shutdown expected to develop.

March 8
Production executives say studios will shut down only as "last resort."
Al Lichtman says United Artists will have 18 or 20 pictures on next season's schedule.
Allied recommends new standard contract to members in confidential bulletins.

March 11
Studio locals of IATSE refuse to accept pay cut; ask for I.O.U.'s.

March 13
M-G-M and Fox withhold new picture releases. Currency situation because of bank closings throughout country seen as reason.

March 14
Ten major distributors assure exhibitors of normal product supply during bank emergency.
Industry executives see film aid in return of beer with its accompanying employment aid.

March 15
Major companies continue pay cut program by exempting all salaries up to $50 weekly. Graduated scale of cuts from 25 per cent up to 50 per cent adopted for those over $50.
Paramount Publix files voluntary petition in bankruptcy.
All studios but Fox reopen following one day shutdown.

March 16
Federal court at Boston rules unauthorized picture holdovers are violations of copyright laws.

March 18
Adolph Zukor and Charles D. Hilles, co-receivers for Paramount Publix, continued as conservators under company's bankruptcy until April 3 when trustees will be elected.

March 21
Hollywood expects 85 per cent of studio workers to accept pay cut.

March 23
Major circuits agree with vaudeville acts on 25 per cent salary cut until Sept. 1.

March 25
Company heads discuss plans for ending salary cuts; said to hinge on return of film receipts to pre-bank holiday levels.
B. B. Kahane and Merian C. Cooper, president and production head of Radio, announce 52 features in $9,000,000 to $11,000,000 production budget for 1933-'34.

March 27
Studio union leaders gather in New York for discussions of wage cut actions.

March 28
Mergers of physical distribution and reductions of stars' salaries needed to help industry out of financial plight, Will H. Hays says in annual report to MPPDA members.

March 29
Leo Spitz, executive advisor in Paramount Publix affairs for past year, resigns unexpectedly.
Paramount plans production of 62 features for new season.

March 30
First runs in 20 key cities gross $34,565,000 in 24 weeks of country's "worst depression."

APRIL

April 1
Fox Film stockholder withdraws petition for company receivership following completion of Sidney Kent's plan for financial reorganization.

April 4
Columbia ends 25-50 per cent salary cuts after four weeks. Other companies expected to follow suit soon.
Producing Artists, Inc., headed by Sam Katz, is organized.

April 5
All major companies will end salary cuts by end of eight weeks period.

April 6
M-G-M obtains temporary injunction restraining State of New Mexico from enforcing its newly enacted law requiring distributors to offer pictures for sale to highest bidder.

April 8
Screen Writers' Guild organized at Hollywood to oppose further salary cuts.

April 11
House of Representatives balks move for hasty action on Sirovich bill for investigation of industry.

April 12
United Artists, Samuel Goldwyn Prod. and Hal Roach Studios ordered by Academy to rescind pay cuts for entire bank emergency period.

April 13
M-G-M, RKO and Columbia also ordered to rescind all salary cuts for full period.

April 15
Major company heads propose basic economy plans to reduce industry overhead.

April 15
Darryl Zanuck resigns as production chief at Warners following dispute with company as to effective date of rescinding salary cuts for studio employes.
Coast conference of major executives ends with note of confidence in future. All companies but Universal decided on ending salary cuts. Plan for production dictator and United Booking Office to control star salaries abandoned.

April 17
Major companies agree in Hollywood to pool process patents and stories and cooperate further on loans of talent and studio properties to effect economies. Artists' Service Bureau to be organized, with Jason Joy in charge, to be "clearing house" for talent.

April 18
Paramount Publix creditors elect Charles D. Hilles, Louis J. Horowitz and Eugene W. Leake trustees in bankruptcy of company.

April 20
Darryl Zanuck associates with Joseph M. Schenck in new producing company which will release through United Artists.
Monogram to spend $1,250,000 on new season production, boosting budget 30 per cent, Trem Carr says.

April 22
Academy of Motion Picture Arts & Sciences nears open break with major studios following Conrad Nagel's resignation from presidency.

April 24
Bondholders sue to remove Paramount Publix trustees in bankruptcy and elect new ones.

April 25
Monogram to double budget, W. Ray Johnston tells convention.
Gloria Swanson and D. W. Griffith relinquish financial interests in United Artists.

April 26
Will H. Hays' influence extended to enforce production code of ethics.
Columbia plans 32 to 36 features for new season.

April 27
Producing Artists, new Sam Katz organization, reported dickering for Shubert theatres.

April 29
Academy plans reorganization with producer representation limited to those not empowered to make contracts with talent.

MAY

May 2
Richard A. Rowland resigns vice-presidency of Fox.

May 3
Paramount's operating costs to be paid out of distribution of revenue only.

May 6
Film leaders conjecture on possible scope of President Roosevelt's plans for rehabilitation of industry under trade association agreements.

May 8
Flood of bills introduced in 47 state legislatures affecting film industry seen subsiding with minimum of adverse legislation having been enacted.
Reduction of 50 per cent on express rates for return shipments of films from exhibitor to exchange is obtained by MPTOA from Railway Express Agency.

May 9
Bankruptcy examination of Paramount Publix officers begins with Ralph Kohn, former treasurer, testifying theatre losses hastened company's difficulties.

May 10
Bankruptcy examination of officers of Publix Enterprises on with Sam Dembow, Jr., former president, tracing origin of company to former Southern Enterprises.

May 11
Victoria Amusement Co.'s anti-trust suit against 28 producing, distributing and exhibiting companies opens in Camden, N. J., federal court with Albert Warner on stand.
Addition of six westerns to Universal's new season schedule makes total of 42 productions planned.

May 13
Sirovich bill for investigation of industry defeated by two-to-one vote in House.

May 16
Paramount Publix trustees in bankruptcy file action to have company's $13,200,000 credit transaction of March, 1932, set aside as preferential to 12 participating bank creditors.
Congressman Patman of Texas asks Department of Justice investigation of industry.

May 18
Federal licensing of industry to replace operation of anti-trust laws under President Roosevelt's industrial control plans.

May 20
Charles E. Richardson elected Paramount Publix trustee in bankruptcy, succeeding Louis J. Horowitz.
Columbia approves uniform contract. United Artists and Warner remain only major companies which have not approved.

May 23
Negotiations between major studios and "Big Four" labor unions for new basic studio agreement end in deadlock.

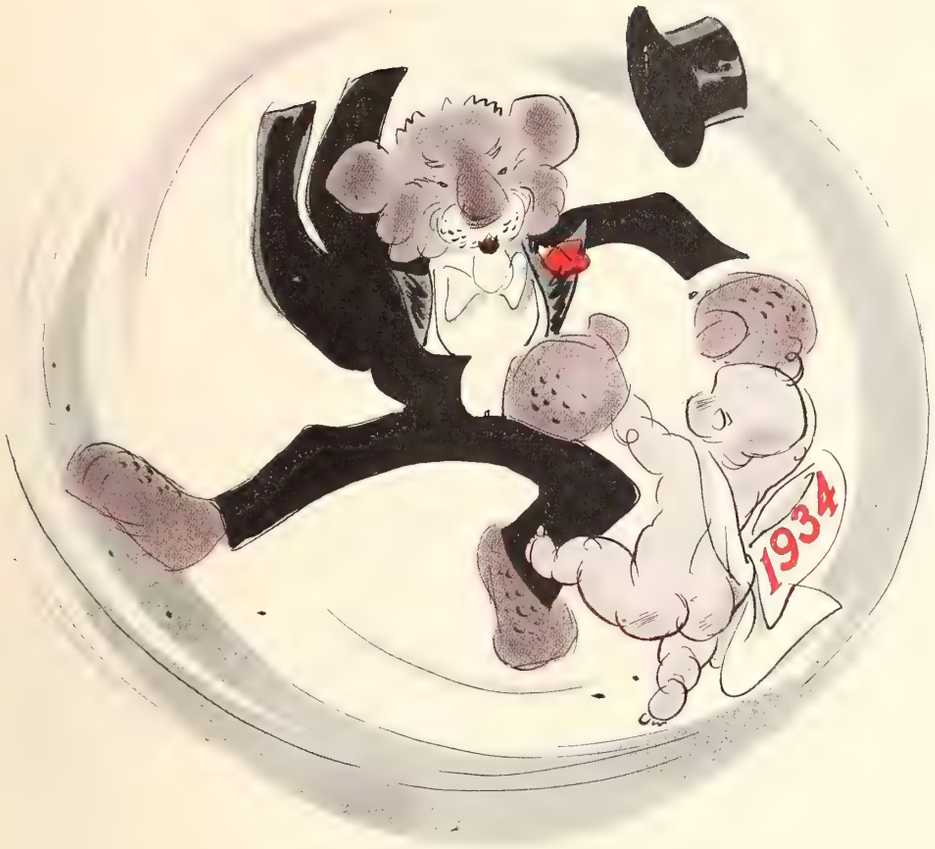
May 24
Ed Kuykendall succeeds M. A. Lightman as MPTOA president.

May 26
George J. Schaefer made general manager of Paramount Publix and subsidiaries.
Columbia reports nine-month net profit of $546,778 for period which includes emergency bank holidays.

May 29
Paramount seen aiming at retention of large national circuit control in appointing S. A. Lynch to head its theatre reorganization.

May 31
Film industry draws plans for participating of all its trade organizations in drafting a code under Federal industrial control.
Martin Beck resigns post in charge of RKO vaudeville. Is succeeded by Phil Reisman.

JUNE



June 1
N. L. Nathanson elected president of Famous Players Canadian Corp., succeeding Adolph Zukor, who is named to chairmanship of board.

June 2
Annual loss of $10,000,000 suffered by distributors through infringement of copyright law by illegal showing of films.

June 4
Warner financial statement reporting loss of $3,442,325 for 26 weeks ending Feb. 25, 1933, compares with net loss of $5,267,699 for similar period year before.

June 6
Court ruling increases A. H. Blank's circuit's holding in Omaha territory.

(Continued on page 48)

The first hit of the New Year is M·G·M's "Fugitive Lovers" Scream it right away and start promotion!

watch for announcement of $200 prize awards for the best "Fugitive Lovers" theatre campaigns Robt. Montgomery, Madge Evans, Ted Healy in the cast Here's a show you'll go nuts about Typical of the week after week hits from

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

DECENTRALIZATION NATURAL RESULT

June 7
MPTOA heads conferring on organization's participation in drawing up industry code.

June 8
Will Hays calls for general meeting of all branches of industry to discuss preliminary code plans.
Cash status of Paramount reported satisfactory in report drawn up by bondholders' protective committee.

June 9
George W. Trendle starts deal to regain control of Publix houses in Detroit.
Allied States to take part in MPPDA meeting to discuss code.

June 10
Decline of double features increases short subject production for 1933-1934 by 50 per cent.

June 12
United Artists plans to release from 35 to 40 in 1933-34.

June 14
MPTOA completes first draft of proposed industry code.
Federal Court voids New Mexico law controlling film sales.

June 15
Production and distribution codes to be drawn up in New York.
Will H. Hays continues moves for three-way industry code. Affiliated circuits gather in conference for the first time.

June 17
President Roosevelt signs Industrial Recovery Act.
Fox to offer one new share for six of old and reduce Class A and B stock under new finance plan.

June 19
Code draft near completion.

June 20
Battle looms on coast over agents' code.

June 21
First draft of distribution and exhibition codes made public.

June 22
Industry prepares to tackle production code.
E. R. Tinker quits Fox for post with Fox West Coast.

June 23
Independents ask ban on producer-exhibitor affiliations in code.

June 24
Independents list 38 practices judged "unfair in drawing up tentative code draft.

June 26
Majors to concentrate on names instead of titles in 1933-34 sales activities as annual conventions get under way.
M-G-M to release 46 during 1933-34.
Fifty-two on Radio's schedule for new season.

June 27
Paramount will release 65 during 1933-34.

June 29
Announcements by major companies reveal musicals are set for big come-back.
Universal to release 36 during 1933-1934.

June 30
Fox production to reach new high, with 54 announced for new season.
Policy of exclusive sales dropped by M-G-M and United Artists after year's trial.

JULY

July 1
Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences asks code rule on talent loans and steps to cut down unemployment.

July 5
Gross in keys $49,699,734 in 39 weeks ending June 23-24.

July 6
Exhibitor sentiment against dual billing increasing throughout country, "Motion Picture Herald" survey shows.
Paramount production on profitable basis now, testifies Ralph A. Kohn, treasurer, at creditors' meeting.

July 7
Will Hays sounding out studios on code preparatory to general meeting on matter.

July 8
Producers vote to go along with reorganization of Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

July 10
List of musicals planned by majors grows to 25.
Will Hays invites more independents to talk over code.

July 12
Frank C. Walker, vice-president of Comerford Theatres, named executive secretary of the Recovery Council by President Roosevelt.

July 13
Representatives of independent distributing organizations lay plans for agreements on working hours and basic wage scale.

July 17
Text of new exhibition code released by MPTOA. Thirty cents per hour set as minimum, with lowest theatre wage $10.80 weekly.

July 18
James R. Grainger goes to Universal as general sales manager, succeeding L. J. Schlaifer.
Paramount cash total up $3,520,620 in eight months, trustees report.

July 19
George W. Trendle gets Publix in Detroit.

July 20
J. R. McDonough named general manager of RKO.

July 21
Universal budget up $1,000,000 for new season.
Preliminary code drawn up by Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.
Warners report loss reduced to $1,579,448 during 13 weeks ending May 27.

July 24
Stockholders complete Fox refinancing plan with approval of new issue to care for $38,000,000 debt.

July 25
All IATSE unions order general tieup of studios.

July 26
Colvin W. Brown, vice-president and general manager of Quigley Publishing Co., named assistant to Frank C. Walker, executive secretary of Recovery Council.
Sol A. Rosenblatt, New York lawyer, named by General Hugh S. Johnson to hear all amusement codes.
Studio strike fails to hold up production.

July 27
Warners raise pay under blanket code.

July 28
IATSE making national move to influence code, questioning 700 locals on hours and wages.
Film leaders invited to talk code at conference sponsored by Federation of Motion Picture Industry in New York.

July 29
Motion Picture Laboratory Association sets 40-hour week and $15 wage minimum under blanket code.

AUGUST

August 1
Distributors resume code talks at MPPDA office. Deputy Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt in New York for code talks with industry leaders.

August 2
Distribution code form is put into shape, ready for co-ordination with exhibitors.
Theatres here ask for NIRA concessions. Independents set final code draft at meeting of Federation of the Motion Picture Industry in New York.

August 3
Sol A. Rosenblatt calls parley on code. Asks film leaders to meet in New York and calls for a single draft. MPTOA to cooperate on code, says Ed Kuykendall.

August 4
Trade groups center moves on one code and take up choice of men to meet Rosenblatt.
Arbitration wins victory in U. S. court when Harry Mueller, Anderson, Ind., exhibitor, wins point in suit against major distributors.

August 5
Independents, majors settle most of code; disagree only on dual billing opposition.
Loew 40-week net equals $2,583,527.

August 7
Single code for hearing is NRA plan; MPPDA draft believed intended as basis.

August 9
Immediate code action is demanded by Rosenblatt; S. R. Kent, C. L. O'Reilly chosen to coordinate all present drafts.

August 10
Conferees agree on 12 code terms.
Irving Thalberg reported agreed on new pact with M-G-M.

August 11
Three code coordinating units speed agreements; open buying, clearance terms settled for exhibition. Code drafts reach joint conferences, headed by Kent and O'Reilly.

August 14
Formal draft of production code is begun by drafting committee for preliminary presentation to Washington.

August 15
Distribution-exhibition code coordination begun.

August 16
Ralph Kohn made vice-president of Paramount Publix to handle all theatres; seen replacing Sam Dembow, Jr., who may get upstate New York group.

August 17
Code to stop star raiding, says Joseph M. Schenck as he returns to coast from New York code conferences.
Irving Thallberg states studio status is unimpaired and he and Louis B. Mayer will divide authority as in past.

August 18
Code ultimatum is given. Unfinished business goes to Washington, coordinators say.
Pat Casey arrives from coast to meet with M. H. Warner, N. M. Schenck, S. R. Kent and R. H. Cochrane regarding studio labor.

August 21
Code nears completion; controversy on big issues. Exhibition committee disbands; controversial points end at an impasse.

August 22
NRA demands code draft immediately. Frame clauses at late session in New York to comply with Deputy Administrator Rosenblatt's order.
Harry Arthur withdraws from management deal of Fox New England for own theatre interests.
Coast strike taken up by labor board.

August 23
Code incomplete. Adminstrator to get two drafts joined by one preamble. Writers form one code for NRA hearings.
Fox clear as S. R. Kent is renamed president; personnel under new financing named.

August 24
Two codes go to NRA; coordination planned. Producers and distributors deliver one, theatres form another. Sept. 12 set for public hearing.
Laboratories' Code is filed with NRA.
Studio strike is ended by NRA Labor Board.
Audio Erpi unit, formed to produce. W. A. Bach, president. No distribution set.

August 25
Open market buys are major code aim. Ed Kuykendall seeking unity for MPTOA-Allied. Rosenblatt seeks to merge codes.

August 29
Coordination of two code drafts under way by Sol. A. Rosenblatt.
Milton Feld and David Chatkin form Monarch Theatres. Harry Katz affiliated and company operating five theatres in middle west.

August 30
Theatre supply men draw and submit own code, calling for 40-hour week.

SEPTEMBER

September 2
Final laboratories' code results in 15 per cent increase in employment and 12 per cent increase in wages.

September 5
MPTOA, ITOA and Allied States plan individual meetings in Washington Sept. 10 to consider tentative code draft.

September 6
W. Ray Johnson, president of Monogram, predicts loss of $28,000,000 through elimination of 225 features if double featuring is banned by code.

September 8
Paramount Publix paid bonuses of $2,250,000 to five ranking executives during 1929, Ralph A. Kohn, former treasurer, testifies at bankruptcy hearing.

September 11
Allied attempts last-minute organizing of independent exhibitors to present code views.

September 12
Hearings on code open in Washington.

September 13
No "open shop" to prevail under code, first day of public hearings reveals. All groups have spokesmen championing their views.

September 14
Code labor committees adjourn for "closed door" discussions. MPTOA outlines 12 major points sought in code. Allied stresses inclusion in code of "right to buy" clause.
Paramount expected to retain large national circuit of 500 to 600 houses.

(Continued on page 50)

Will Rogers confesses he ruined Hal Roach's party by his singing!

Did you see this piece in the papers? It was syndicated nationwide Hal Roach's party was the opening for his 20th Anniversary celebration Jan-8th to 15th Thousands of exhibitors will play

Will Rogers Confesses He Ruined Hal Roach Party by His Singing

Lavish in His Praise of Producer Who Celebrated 20 Years in Pictures

By WILL ROGERS.

Get the press sheet at -

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

MOTION PICTURE EVOLVES A CODE

September 15
Industry accord on code predicted as public hearings end. Sidney R. Kent asks "safeguards" for large companies who will bear "brunt" of code cost.

September 16
Code labor negotiations in difficulty as labor representatives remain adamant. Reports indicate 44-hour week for theatre labor.
Details of Paramount 1931 financing and bonus payments told by Ralph A. Kohn under examination in bankruptcy proceedings.

September 18
Leaders adjourn code sessions unexpectedly to return to New York.

September 19
Exhibition section of code making rapid progress. Deputy Rosenblatt confers at White House.

September 21
Reports hold White House is directly interested in new provisions for inclusion in code.

September 23
Code conferences resumed in Washington with right to buy, double featuring, block booking and score charges scheduled for immediate discussion.
Sime Silverman, publisher of Variety, dies at Los Angeles.

September 26
Salary cuts of Paramount executives during 1932 revealed by Ralph A. Kohn.

September 29
Deputy Rosenblatt denies code contemplates star salary reduction provisions.
Columbia reports net profit for year of $740,240. Fox profit for first quarter following financial reorganization, $74.716.

September 30
Distributors demand "right to sell" to whom they they please, answering "right to buy" arguments.

OCTOBER

October 2
Code conferences delay new contract form.
Thity-hour-week is sought in A. F. of L. Report.

October 3
Production in the east reviving.

October 4
Cutting down of "nuisance" taxes planned at next session of Congress.
Code reported complete and Code Authority set.
NRA rejects supply code as not representative of entire industry.

October 5
Right to buy, score charges, duals out of code. No reference to major points, including block booking, stuns exhibitors. Code authority vested with unlimited powers.

October 6
Split develops in code parley, with independents opposing majors.
Reorganization of Publix units approved by referee.

October 10
Fight on Paramount receivership comes to an end.

October 11
Salary-fixing idea dropped from code, declared to be "85 per cent O.K."
Eddie Cantor denies newly organized Actors' Guild plans to affiliate with Actors' Equity.

October 12
Harold B. Franklin resigns as RKO theatre head.
Dissatisfaction over code threatens delay. MPTOA now set against signing code in present form.

October 13
Code authority reduced to 10 film men and three government representatives.

October 14
Penalties up to $10,000 are proposed to check payment of huge salaries. Administrator Johnson hits high salaries, calling them "grotesque."
Paramount Detroit houses go to George Trendle as a manager.

October 17
Dr. Alfred N. Goldsmith elected head of SMPE.

October 18
Code nears completion as third draft is written.
New company to take over control of Poli circuit.

October 19
J. R. McDonough named to posts in RKO subsidiaries left open by H. B. Franklin's resignation.
Key cities show steady gains since low in June.
New York censors banned 10 films in entirety and cut 317 in year ending June 30.

October 20
Code delayed for more conferences with dissatisfied independents.
Martin Quigley urges advertising code of ethics be given meaning in talk to AMPA.

October 23
Await formal choice of code authority. Rosenblatt pushes effort to complete code.

October 25
Consumers' Advisory Board passes code.
Fox profit for half year ending Sept. 30 goes up to $330,777.

October 28
Major L. N. Thompson placed in charge of RKO theatres. N. J. Blumberg named general manager.

NOVEMBER

November 1
Hugh S. Johnson in session with Allied on code objections.

November 2
Hugh S. Johnson turns code over to Co. W. R. Lea.
Figure $5,000,000 cut in RKO loss, Irving Trust, as receiver, reports to court, for eight months ending Aug. 31.

November 3
MPPDA signs code, but Association of M. P. Producers in Hollywood holds back because of objections on Article V.
Loew reports net profit of $4,034,289 for year ending Aug. 31, a decrease of $3,927,025.

November 4
Independents expected to accept code.

November 6
Code details to White House. Administrator Johnson clears Deputy Rosenblatt of charges against his handling of the code.

November 8
Further halt in code as Col. Lea seeks data.

November 9
Year passing with but one adverse law.
Academy's future in balance as Lester Cowan and Major Nathan Levinson resign.

November 10
Code shelved until Administrator Johnson returns from western trip.
L. J. Schlaifer rejoins United Artists after two years.
Allied ousts Lester F. Martin of Iowa. Nathan Yamins denies New England unit is signed.
John Hertz tells of Paramount finance deals at meeting of creditors of Paramount Publix before Referee Henry K. Davis.

November 13
Warners report net loss for year of $6,291,748.

November 16
Hitlerite censorship results in disappearance from American newsreels of German clips.

November 17
MPTOA code analysis sees all but three of organization's 37 original proposals included in final draft.
Emil E. Shauer, vice president of Paramount International, dies suddenly.
Independent Motion Picture Exhibitors' Association of Ohio organized.
Harley L. Clarke, former head of General Theatres Equipment, tells Senate stock investigation committee of $38,285,000 "mark up" of stock of theatre equipment companies acsuired by G. T. E. in 1929.

November 18
Administrator Johnson is "not satisfied yet" with code.
Recognition of Russia believed not to open great film field.
Creditors' claims against Fox West Coast, bankrupt, aggregate $3,000,000.

November 21
Report IATSE curbing local unions. Move said to be backed by A. F. of L. to end theatre violence.

November 22
Administrator Johnson announces code is now in form he wants.

November 23
Deputy NRA Administrator says at Milwaukee code is creating 25,000 new jobs.

November 24
William Fox, testifying before Senate committee, says he appealed to President Hoover and Louis B. Mayer to help him retain control of his company.
Columbia net for quarter ending in September $241,778.

November 25
Kuykendall predicts union peace as result of code.
Col. Robert W. Lea chosen to head new Code Authority organization committee.

November 27
S. Z. Poli and Louis Sagal definitely set to resume operation of Fox New England.

November 28
President Roosevelt signs code; names Marie Dressler, Eddie Cantor and Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell to code authority as government appointees.

November 29
Code Authority includes: H. M. Warner, Nicholas M. Schenck, Sidney R. Kent, George J. Schaefer, Merlin H. Aylesworth, R. H. Cochrane, W. Ray Johnston, Ed Kuykendall, Charles L. O'Reilly and Nathan Yamins, in addition to Presidential appointees.
F. J. Wilstach, MPPDA advertising and publicity representative, dies.

DECEMBER

December 1
Final code made public at Washington shows only insignificant changes made in third draft.

December 2
First meeting of Code Authority expected at early date to organize and name 32 local grievance, clearance and zoning boards.

December 5
Industry leaders voice objection to Executive Order at MPPDA meeting.

December 6
Industry self-control imperiled under code, asserts Martin Quigley.

December 7
Code becomes law at 12:01 A. M. Last-minute attempt of producers to win delay meets with failure.

December 8
Industry leaders discuss code at White House. Deputy Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt denounces criticism of code before it has been given a trial.

December 9
Executive Order expected to stand pending trial following conference between industry leaders and President.

December 11
Self-regulation of industry assured. Industry leaders announce acceptance of code after White House conference. Executive Order stands with interpretations.
Paramount equity receivership cost estimated at $296,053.

December 12
Warners retain control of Warner Brothers with re-election of all directors at annual election.

December 13
Rosenblatt begins naming personnel of code boards.

December 14
Names sought to help choice of personnel of code boards.
Better tone of film advertising credited to new advertising advisory council headed by J. J. McCarthy.

December 15
Federal film cartel viewed as possibility.
Merian C. Cooper plans 40 to 52 for Radio's next year.
M-G-M reports net profit of $1,326,827 for year ended Aug. 31, as compared with $2,965,974 for preceding year.

December 16
Loew's stock sale held up by U. S. District Court as government moves to get anti-trust angles.

December 19
Rotating head sought for Code Authority as against permanent chairman.
Cost of Paramount Publix receivership assailed by attorney for creditors.
Court allows sale of Loew's stock to go on.

December 20
Rosenblatt made head of new NRA division to deal with amusement codes.
Film delivery men form national organization as National Film Carriers, Inc.

December 21
Winfield Sheehan again in command of Fox studio.

December 22
Court approves sale of 214 Publix Enterprises houses to Famous Theatres Corp.
Employment at 1929 level, Will H. Hays tells AMPA.

December 23
Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell announces resignation from Cody Authority.

December 26
Harold Lloyd closes deal for release of his future pictures by Fox.

December 27
New film advertising copy praised for cleaner tone. Code compliance up to Rosenblatt at the start. Will handle code matters until Code Authority functions.

December 28
Hollywood to have office under Code Authority. John Flinn named secretary, with office in New York.

December 30
Harry Thomas succeeds P. S. Harrison as president of Federation of Motion Picture industry.

LET'S FALL IN LOVE

A Musical Romance of Two Hearts in Love Time

with EDMUND LOWE

Ann Sothern — Miriam Jordan

Gregory Ratoff

Story and screen play by Herbert Fields

Music and lyrics by Harold Arlen and Ted Koehler

Directed by David Burton

A COLUMBIA PICTURE

COLUMBIA PICTURES

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

IN this, the exhibitor's own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me
MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

Chesterfield

DANCE, GIRL, DANCE: Evalyn Knapp—Some more back stage stuff. Talk, talk, talk and no sense to it. You're headed for the rocks if you play it. Sound recording not so good. More pictures with back stage stuff and you can all close up. Oh, for the good old days of silent movies! They'll be back if the public says so. Running time, seven reels. Played Dec. 23.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y.

IN THE MONEY: Lois Wilson, Warren Hymer—Play this one and you'll be "out." Let some one else play it. You fellows must think I'm hard to please, if you like this one. Running time, seven reels. Played Dec. 19.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y. General patronage.

Columbia

END OF THE TRAIL, THE: Tim McCoy—Poorest western to ever flicker in my house.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

HOLD THE PRESS: Tim McCoy, Shirley Grey—Once a cowboy, always a cowboy. You can't make anything else out of them. The name McCoy attracted western fans, but the title scared them away. The title attracted the other class of patronage, but McCoy was a cowboy to them. Consequently we lost out all around. McCoy was mighty poor in this. There's action. If you have to run it, put it on Saturday. Played December 19-20.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

KING OF THE WILD HORSES: William Janney, Dorothy Appleby, Rex, the Wonder Horse—One of the best outdoor pictures I ever run. Should please anyone. Played December 16.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

KING OF THE WILD HORSES: Rex the Wonder Horse—Columbia has turned out another honey for a western. It will please any class of people and especially those who love horse flesh—and who doesn't? There isn't a dull moment in the seven reels and Rex certainly lives up to advance notices. Running time, seven reels. Played Dec. 21.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: May Robson, Warren William, Glenda Farrell—They don't make any better pictures than this one. 100% in every way. Pleased them all. Story great. Acting extra good. A wonderful star and great cast. More like this and perhaps we can stay in business after the public finds it out. Played Dec. 24-25.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: Warren William, Guy Kibbee—Regular program picture that's very good. Ned Sparks and Guy Kibbe pleased me most in this one. Don't expect too much, is my advice to all patrons and exhibitors. It is true many a show is oversold by too much publicity. Don't oversell any picture to your patrons. Running time, 95 minutes. Played Dec. 27-28-29.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y. General patronage.

MAN'S CASTLE, A: Spencer Tracy, Loretta Young—Not a special, but is a good picture, one you can run on your best days, and your patrons will go out pleased, but will not rave about it. For this reason, it's not an outstanding picture. Played December 17-18.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

THRILL HUNTER, THE: Buck Jones—Very good stunt picture. The only thing wrong with this one is, in one scene Jones cannot handle a plane, so he crashes. In a scene later on, although it does not show him in another air scene until this, he handles a plane like an expert. Even the kids noticed it, but they all liked it, so why worry? Good for the Saturday crowd. Running time, 57 minutes. Played Dec. 15-16.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

WHAT PRICE INNOCENCE: Willard Mack, Jean Parker—A wonderful picture, and should be played in every theatre, school and church in the land. A story that will do the rising generation good. Wonderful acting by the stars.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theater, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

First National

BUREAU OF MISSING PERSONS: Bette Davis, Lewis Stone—This is a very good picture that is full of action and fast moving. It is a comedy with the background in the Bureau of Missing Persons. This is the type of entertainment that will please the average theatre-goer, but a few will not like it. The acting is good and in the supporting cast are Glenda Farrell, Pat O'Brien and Allen Jenkins. Played one day to good business. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Dec. 15.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

FEMALE: Another Ruth Chatterton picture. Different from the last, but not box-office. Short and mildly entertaining. In my opinion Chatterton not convincing as a big show business woman.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

GOODBYE AGAIN: Warren William—Just a fair story. No drawing power. Entertainment value was pretty good. Not so good and not so bad.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

HAVANA WIDOWS: Joan Blondell, Lyle Talbott—I certainly overlooked my hand on this, which proved to be the most entertaining picture we have played in a long time. It seems that my patrons were wiser than I, for not only was our theatre crowded but they went away enthusiastic in praise of the production. Take a tip and give this extra advertising. It will more than make good all you promise. Played Dec. 19.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Small town patronage.

Fox

ARIZONA TO BROADWAY: Joan Bennett and James Dunn—Nice little picture but did not draw. Those who saw it enjoyed it. Running time, 67 minutes. Played Dec. 20-21.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

AS HUSBANDS GO: Warner Baxter—Very nice picture with a bum title for box-office draw. Pleased those who came to see it. Why, oh why, do they have studio janitors pick the titles? Played Dec. 25.—Joe Hewitt, Lincoln Theatre, Robinson, Ill. General patronage.

BERKELEY SQUARE: Leslie Howard, Heather Angel—Jesse Lasky still knows how to make pictures, but he has lost the box office touch. This picture will do about the same business that his first one, "Zoo in Budapest," did for you. Played Dec. 17-18-19.—R. B. Hipple, Bijou Theatre, Pierre, S. D. General patronage.

DOCTOR BULL: Will Rogers—This sort of picture will always assure us of a good box office dividend. Rogers seems to get more and more popular.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

LIFE IN THE RAW: George O'Brien—A western. What Saturday night fans want. Run a western in the middle of the week and what happens, fellows? Give us westerns! Francis Ford of the old "101" bison days played in this one. Running time, seven reels. Played Dec. 16.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y. General patronage.

MAD GAME, THE: Spencer Tracy, Claire Trevor—Whoever put this one in "B" classification was mad. In fact, anyone who has anything to do with it is mad. This is an excellent picture to use General Johnson's elimination clause on.—R. B. Hipple, Bijou Theatre, Pierre, S. D. General patronage.

POWER AND THE GLORY, THE: Spencer Tracy, Colleen Moore—Notwithstanding all the unfavorable comment the reviewers gave this, my patrans found it good entertainment, chiefly due to the excellent performance of Spencer Tracy. Average business.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. General patronage.

WARRIOR'S HUSBAND: Elissa Landi—Nothing to this one. Just a waste of film and good stars. Lost money. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Dec. 18-19.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

Gaumont British

WALTZ TIME: Evelyn Laye, Fritz Schultz—Good picture, but did not get the money. Played Dec. 20-21-22.—E. W. Gould, Costello Theatre, New York, N. Y. Family patronage.

MGM

BEAUTY FOR SALE: Madge Evans—Very good picture, but it has a bad title. My patrons were afraid they were going to get bit until they saw it, then they all came out and told us that they certainly enjoyed it. The acting of Madge Evans and Una Merkel is very good. Get them in and they will like it. Running time, 87 minutes. Played Dec. 13-14.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Stand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

BOMBSHELL: Jean Harlow, Lee Tracy—Here is a picture that's hard to report on. Generally it did not go over. All players excellent in their parts. Too many talking at the same time was a bad feature. Would not run it on the best days. And only one day if possible. Not a Saturday picture. Have asked several how they liked it, since running. Have not found one that liked it. Just time wasted. This and "Night Flight" prove stars must have the story, with good direction. Played December 21-22.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

BOMBSHELL: Jean Harlow, Lee Tracy—Very good. Personally I did not think so much of it, but the patrons liked it and business was good, so why kick? Played Dec. 18-19.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

BOMBSHELL: Jean Harlow, Lee Tracy—A good fast one that is interesting and your patrons will like. Will draw a few extra on account of people thinking this will be the last picture Tracy will appear in.—H. G. Stettmund, Jr., H. & S. Theatre, Chandler, Okla. Small town patronage.

BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD: Frank Morgai, Jackie Cooper, Alice Brady—Here is one sweet picture with good acting and just enough music to make it go over. Color scene is beautiful. Also carries a plot and story which is more than most shows have this day and age. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Dec. 23-24.—W. T. Biggs, Adair Theatre, Adair, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD: Alice Brady, Frank Morgan—You can guarantee this one and not be afraid to stand behind it. A little draggy to start out with, but it more than makes up for it along toward the last. Running time, 89 minutes. Played Dec. 17.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

MEET THE BARON: Jack Pearl, Jimmy Durante—We played this one to packed houses on Christmas Day. Most of the patrons thought it silly. Had very few to say that they liked it. This picture lacks a lot of being up to MGM standard. Take our advice and play it on the weakest night if you play at all. Jack Pearl may be good on the radio but he doesn't mean a thing to pictures. Less of him, the better. Running time, seven reels. Played Dec. 25-26.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

NIGHT FLIGHT: Helen Hayes, Clark Gable, John Barrymore, Lionel Barrymore—The absurdity of casting the screen's leading artists in minor and insignificant roles made this a disappointment. Just imagine Clark Gable without a line of dialogue and Lionel Barrymore suffering from fleas or worse. This takes the prize for bad taste. Attendance below average. Played Dec. 17-18.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Small town patronage.

PENTHOUSE: Warner Baxter and Myrna Loy—A gangster type movie. That's enough. Why can't movie producers stop making them? Exhibitors never seem to protest these type of movies. Can't see why all producers can't stand by F. D. Roosevelt to do away with screen gangster type stories and give us clean entertainment. Running time, ten reels. Played Dec. 16.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y. General patronage.

PENTHOUSE: Warner Baxter, Myrna Loy—Warner Baxter has always been good here at the box-office. However, the warm weather this fall made any of the stars a poor draw, in a coal mining town. But MGM did a fine piece of work when they put out this picture. It should be good in any situation. Running time, ten reels. Played Dec. 10.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

SMILING THROUGH: Norma Shearer, Leslie Howard—Not a special! Everyone spoke well of this one that saw it. Good cast. It shows up the results of war. Soldiers disabled. What price glory! Has everything that makes a movie entertaining. Played this rather late. Good print at that. Play it and boost it. Running time, ten reels. Played Dec. 20-21-22.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery—Good story, good acting. Pleased and drew above the average. It is a pleasure to run a show like this one. Your patrons leave the theatre with a smile. Running time, 85 minutes.—W. T. Biggs, Adair Theatre, Adair, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

TURN BACK THE CLOCK: Lee Tracy—Lee Tracy good in this but certainly meant nothing in the box-office. Metro's paper on this too old fashioned and people get the idea entire picture is dated back. Picture has possibilities if you can find the key to sell it. I didn't.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

WHEN LADIES MEET: Alice Brady, Ann Harding, Myrna Loy, Robert Montgomery—A splendid picture. Great story and an all star cast. Gave great satisfaction to the people we got to see it. Did not draw but gave good satisfaction to them that seen it. Played Dec. 21-22.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

Monogram

AVENGER, THE: Ralph Forbes, Adrienne Ames—This is a very good picture except for the fact that it is a little slow. It is a straight drama with quite a bit of action in it. The story deals with a "frame up" on an innocent man and his revenge when he is set free. Nothing big about this, but will make a good program picture for one day's showing. Played one day (Saturday) to a good business. Running time, 79 minutes. Played Dec. 16.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

BLACK BEAUTY: Esther Ralston, Alex Kirland—This is a fine old story put over good. Pleased all from six to sixty years old. A clean picture and entertaining.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

SPHINX, THE: Lionel Atwell, Sheila Terry—This is a good entertaining picture. Crook story but not gruesome. Some good comedy. All liked it. Played on a double bill with Will Rogers in "Down to Earth." Return engagement. Saturday show and a good one, they all said. Played Dec. 23.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

Paramount

COLLEGE HUMOR: Bing Crosby—A good picture from almost any angle but not outstanding at the box-office. Played Dec. 17-19.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country.

GOLDEN HARVEST: Richard Arlen, Genevieve Tobin—This is a timely and prophetic picture and pleased our patrons. Average business.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Small town patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST: Richard Arlen—A picture of the wheat belt and present day era of farm strikes. Made an effort to sell to farmers and it meant extra business. Ideal small town picture.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

HER BODYGUARD: Wynne Gibson, Edmund Lowe—Went back and got a pickup which proved to be a clever show and pleased. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Dec. 16-17.—W. T. Biggs, Adair Theatre, Adair, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West—Yes, they came in from everywhere to get another look at Mae. Some expected to see what they didn't see, others were satisfied. Good entertainment. Play it and boost it. Running time, nine reels. Played Dec. 13-14.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain, Fort Plain, N. Y. General patronage.

SONG OF SONGS: Marlene Dietrich—Why this is supposed to be a great picture is beyond me. The only interesting thing in it was the statue of her royal highness, which was good. The boys didn't mind looking at that.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

SUNSET PASS: Randolph Scott—As good as they make westerns. Enough story to make it a good picture for anybody, even the one that runs it. Played Dec. 25-26.—L. E. Laughlin, Chaise Theatre, Senecaville, Ohio. General patronage.

THIS DAY AND AGE: Charles Bickford—A fine picture, but they forgot to put women in it and a picture without women don't do.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

THREE-CORNERED MOON: Claudette Colbert, Richard Arlen—Sold this as a family comedy. Difficult to sell and would rate it just as an average picture. All people do well in their parts but there is lots of dialogue, very little action, and can't say that it is any better than average.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

TO THE LAST MAN: Esther Ralston—A good western, not just a western, but a good one.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie—This is a very good comedy with plenty of good music, pretty girls and a story that should please everyone. There are two good dance numbers in this. Black Moonlight seemed to be the best and drew considerable comment. The other was the "Bucking the Wind" and that also was very good. With Bing Crosby as the star, business should be good. Played two days to big business. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Dec. 18-19.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

RKO

ANN VICKERS: Irene Dunne—Another supposed big box-office draw, but the draw was from the b.o. instead of to it. Irene Dunne good as usual but story uninteresting. A few women liked it but men either walked out or fell asleep. Played Dec. 21.—Joe Hewitt, Lincoln Theatre, Robinson, Ill. General patronage.

BIG BRAIN: George Stone, Fay Wray, Phillip Holmes—A very good program picture. Story interesting and acting fine. Gave satisfaction. Played Dec. 16th.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

CROSS FIRE: Tom Keene—An extra good western that will cause them to tell one another what a good picture it was as they leave the theatre.—H. G. Stettmund, Jr., H. & S. Theatre, Chandler, Okla. Small town patronage.

MIDSHIPMAN JACK: Bruce Cabot, Betty Furness—Very good. Went big. Played Dec. 16-17-18-19.—E. W. Gould, Costello Theatre, New York, N. Y. Family patronage.

PROFESSIONAL SWEETHEART: Ginger Rogers, Norman Foster, Frank McHugh—A mighty good entertainment. A good burlesque on the radio advertising racket. Well acted and very funny. The stars and all the cast extra good. Pleased them all. Played Dec. 21-22.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

RAFTER ROMANCE: Ginger Rogers—Good picture and well liked by all. Good comedy, good story and good at the box office. Played Dec. 22-23.—L. E. Laughlin, Chaise Theatre, Senecaville, Ohio. General patronage.

United Artists

BOWERY, THE: Wallace Beery, Jackie Cooper, George Raft—A great picture. The stars wonderful. Direction fine. We did not do the business the picture deserved to do. This generation (out in the sticks) never heard of the Bowery, don't know where it is located. All we got liked it and said so. "Personally I never have seen a picture that I got the kick out of that I did in this one. I say it is 100% entertainment. Played Dec. 17-18.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

KID FROM SPAIN, THE: Eddie Cantor—A good musical and the only relief from Cantor's never ending blah blah is when the bull steals the picture. Picture did business and was well sold but personally was not over-enthusiastic. — E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

MR. ROBINSON CRUSOE: Douglas Fairbanks—Did average business on Friday and Saturday. No more, no less.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

Universal

INVISIBLE MAN: Claude Rains—A picture from Universal that will do a grand business anywhere. I played it too early and ran into a severe cold snap. It has novelty and mystery and gets away from the Frankenstein type. Plan on bringing it back. Step on it and don't play it as a horror picture. Different than anything I have ever played.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

KING FOR A NIGHT: Alice White, Chester Morris—Somebody should tell the producers this is the amusement business, and that horror is not amusing. It isn't amusing to watch the kind of business this picture will do either. Played Dec. 6-7.—R. B. Hipple, Bijou Theatre, Pierre, S. D. General patronage.

KING OF THE ARENA: Ken Maynard—Fair western. Wonderful riding by Maynard. Played Dec. 20-21-22.—E. W. Gould, Costello Theatre, New York, N. Y. Family patronage.

LOVE, HONOR AND OH! BABY!: Zasu Pitts, Slim Summerville—It had to come sooner or later. From now on this pair hit the Friday and Saturday booking, with each picture getting weaker and weaker. This team's admirers will have to catch them on Friday and Saturday bookings.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

MOONLIGHT AND PRETZELS: Leo Carrillo. Mary Brian—I hope you enjoy Carrillo and his gags as well as I did. A musical that is a little draggy in spots and still has a world of entertainment sandwiched in. I added extra effort and did "Kid from Spain" business.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

ONLY YESTERDAY: John Boles, Margaret Sullavan—Just fair. Only two seductions and one bastard child in this one. The women will get a good cry out of it.—H. G. Stettmund, Jr., H. & S. Theatre, Chandler, Okla. Small town patronage.

S. O. S. ICEBERG: Rod La Rocque, Gibson Gowland—Very good, especially as an educational picture. Schools very helpful. Played Dec. 16-17-18-19.—E. W. Gould, Costello Theatre, New York, N. Y. Family patronage.

Warner

CAPTURED: Leslie Howard, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—A man's picture. A war picture but no trench or air action. Plot takes place in a German prison camp. Plenty of wholesale killing in spots and the only woman in the picture is in about two minutes. A Friday-Saturday booking and not extra business. Leslie Howard very good. Paul Lukas well cast.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town patronage.

GOLD DIGGERS OF 1933: Joan Blondell, Dick Powell—A fine production. Drew only fair patronage. Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

HARD TO HANDLE: James Cagney—We played this a little old—but it's good and if I could just

THREE MORE WRITE IN THIS ISSUE

From localities as far removed from each other as Pierre, South Dakota, and Schoharie, N. Y., come this week's new reporters to "What the Picture Did for Me."

Read the reports from the following in this issue:

R. B. Hipple, Bijou theatre, Pierre, S. D.; L. E. Laughlin, Chaise theatre, Senecaville, Ohio; and E. M. Scribner, Firemen's Hall, Schoharie, N. Y.

sell the picture to my patrons as well as he sold himself, I'd soon be on Easy Street. Running time, eight minutes. Played Dec. 15th.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

I LOVED A WOMAN: Edward G. Robinson, Kay Francis—A very good cast in this one also. A good picture for big cities but it did not do average business for me. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Dec. 22-23.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

MAYOR OF HELL, THE: James Cagney—This sort of picture is perhaps very good stuff for some towns. It flopped here. No fault of the picture.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—Sure, we want Joe E. Brown in more pictures. Everybody likes Joe. They know when Joe comes to town there's just going to be a good show. Clean entertainment is what your public wants and Joe E. Brown delivers the goods and always makes a hit at the box-office. Play it. Running time, eight reels. Played Dec. 24-25-26.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y.

Short Features

Columbia

BEACH PARTY: Mickey Mouse—One of the best cartoons of this year. Although it is a reissue, got more laughs than the average two-reel comedy.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

BROTHER, CAN YOU SPARE A MILLION?: Ken Murray—This two reels is just a waste of film. Comedies such as this one should not be released.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. Town and city patronage.

ROAMING THROUGH THE ROSES: Art Jarrett—A musical novelty. Good print and a good short. Something a little different, well worth being part of your bill. Play it. Running time, 18 minutes.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y. General patronage.

WHACK'S MUSEUM: Krazy Kat Kartoons—Plenty good. Mae West has a few words and is so hot she melts down the boy friend and sets fire to the rest of the joint. Running time, one reel.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

MGM

ASLEEP IN THE FEET: Zasu Pitts and Thelma Todd—Two working girls trying to get along. Not as funny as you would expect. Running time 18 minutes.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y. General patronage.

BACKS TO NATURE: Thelma Todd, Patsy Kelly—Extra good. Plenty of action and laughs. If this team keeps up as they have started out, I'm for them strong.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

BEER AND PRETZELS: Colortone Musical Revues—Part of it okay. As a whole not so good. Too many talking at the same time in places. This is the first Musical Revue. If this is a sample of what their musical revues are to be, it's too bad. Just slapstick comedy. One song, one dance.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

HOLLYWOOD PREMIER: Colortone Musical Revue—Another colortone revue which is good. They please for me. Running time, 18 minutes.—W. T. Biggs, Adair Theatre, Adair, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

NATURE IN THE RAW: Charley Chase—Chase is back again in this comedy, but he should sing a little at least. Running time, 17 minutes.—W. T. Biggs, Adair Theatre, Adair, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

SPITE FLIGHT: Willie Whopper—Very ordinary cartoon.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

TECHNO-CRACKED: Flip the Frog—A fairly good cartoon. The robot man came near ruining Flip, but he came out okay in the end. Running time, one reel.—E. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

TWICE TWO: Laurel and Hardy—Laurel and Hardy can make comedies and this proves to be one. Running time, 17 minutes.—W. T. Biggs, Adair Theatre, Adair, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

Paramount

BLOW ME DOWN: Popeye the Sailor—Will pass. Years ago remember those "Mutt and Jeff" cartoons? Why not make some of them. Think it over, Paramount. What a team, "Mutt and Jeff"! Get busy. Running time, seven minutes.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y. General patronage.

HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE (No. 3): An out of the ordinary Hollywood. Shows Jack Pearl, Marie Dressler and others. Excellent reel.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

MARRIAGE HUMOR: Harry Langdon—Good comedy, lots of laughs.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

MEET THE CHAMP: Walter Catlett, Eugene Pallette—Good slapstick and hokum.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

OLD MAN OF THE MOUNTAINS: Betty Boop—Good cartoon showing Cab Calloway and his boys at beginning. Excellent music and song interpretations.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

RKO

CENTURY OF PROGRESS: Pathe News Special Very interesting and pleasing. Running time, twenty minutes.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. Town and city patronage.

SUITS TO NUTS: Harry Sweet and Harry Gribbon—These fellows are always good. Here you see them in the court room. Then the trouble starts at the hotel. Let's have more of these comedies featuring them. Play it. Running time, 18 minutes.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y. General patronage.

WALKING BACK HOME: Blond and Red Head Series—A very good comedy taken around gas stations. Two girls break into society—then out. Play it. Running time, 18 minutes.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y. General patronage.

United Artists

BIRDS IN THE SPRING: Silly Symphonies—Very good. Play it. Everyone enjoyed this one. Something different. Running time, eight minutes.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y. General patronage.

MICKEY'S GOOD DEED: Mickey Mouse—Christmas cartoon. Kids like Mickey. That's why they come. One Mickey Mouse cartoon on your Saturday's program brings the kiddies out to the matinee. Running time, eight minutes.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y. General patronage.

SANTA'S WORKSHOP: Silly Symphonies—These cartoons are good but an exhibitor can feed his public up on them by booking too many. Once a week is plenty. Running time, eight minutes.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y. General patronage.

THREE LITTLE PIGS: Walt Disney—The wow short of all times. More talked about than the biggest features in the last few years. Ran a special matinee for kids. Had them sitting two in a seat and some had to stand. Great stuff!—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

Universal

GLEASON'S NEW DEAL: Jim Gleason—A good two-reel comedy. Funny.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

GOOFYTONE NEWS: About the only thing goofy about this is, I think I must have been goofy when I contracted for this series. If anything, they are silly, not funny. Lay them on the shelf and thank yourself. Running time, nine minutes.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

Warner Vitaphone

ALMA MARTYR, THE: Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians—A nice band number in spots. Nothing to rave about. One of the patrons said: "I wish he had played one good number." The little lady who dances saves the show. Running time, one reel.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

EXPLORING THE PACIFIC: Musical World Journeys—This is a very interesting one-reeler, showing the customs and some scenes in the islands of the Pacific. The last scene showing a Hawaiian dance will please any type of audience. Running time, nine minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

HOT FROM PETROGRAD: Dave Apollon and Band—A very good Melody Master. Running time, ten minutes.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

HOT FROM PETROGRAD: Melody Masters—Russian music and well done. Some liked it and some did not. An average filler.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

HOT FROM PETROGRAD: Melody Masters—Extra good.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

I'VE GOT TO SING A TORCH SONG: Merry Melodies—A very good cartoon. Anyone should enjoy seeing this cartoon. Running time, eight minutes.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

Serials

Universal

PERILS OF PAULINE: Evalyn Knapp—The first three chapters were good but it is now getting a bit draggy. Have finished five chapters and will I be glad when number twelve finishes up? I'll say I won't. Running time, 18 minutes.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of December 30

CRITERION
- The Cure ..... RKO Radio
- King Neptune ..... United Artists

MAYFAIR
- Hollywood Babies ..... Columbia
- Mickey's Tent Show ..... Columbia
- Zeus ..... Astor

PARAMOUNT
- A Roman Romeo ..... Paramount
- Wild Elephinks ..... Paramount

RKO MUSIC HALL
- The Night Before Christmas . United Artists
- Strange As It Seems—No. 35 . Universal
- Grin and Bear It ..... RKO Radio
- Who Said the Weaker Sex? . Columbia

RIVOLI
- London Medley ..... Fox
- Three Little Pigs (Spanish) . United Artists

STRAND
- Jack Denny and Band ..... Vitaphone
- Not Tonight, Josephine .... Vitaphone
- Sitting on a Backyard Fence . Vitaphone

DE-CODING THE FILM CODE

by JAMES P. CUNNINGHAM

1. PREAMBLE—LABOR AND EMPLOYEES IN DISTRIBUTION AND EXHIBITION

In this second of MOTION PICTURE HERALD'S series translating the entire motion picture code from its complex legal phraseology into a clear and comprehensive working language for the industry, the subjects treated are: (1) The application of the compulsory labor provisions to distribution and exhibition in the field and at home offices, and (2) The relation of the provisions for fair competition and trade practices to distribution and exhibition executives and managers, who are employees.

Distribution and exhibition are being treated together in this series; code provisions affecting production will be discussed later.

The effective date of the code was December 7th, and any company or person, firm or corporation in distribution or exhibition which has not placed into effect all of the compulsory labor clauses which are applicable to the particular branch in which it is engaged, stands in violation of the code, and, if the violation is proven to be wilful, the violator is liable to a fine of $500 per day for each day of such violation.

While the labor provisions of the motion picture code in their application both to distribution and exhibition contain many specific requirements with which the employer must abide, the basic provisions are as follows:

(a) The compliance by all employers in distribution and exhibition with the maximum hours of labor, minimum rates of pay and other conditions of employment which are enumerated in the code for the various classes of labor and employees.

Requirements for maximum working hours are not applicable to the so-called executive classes of employees, which includes managerial, executive, advisory or persons with duties of sole responsibility, or to "white collar" groups receiving $35 per week or more. "White collar" workers or executives receiving less than $35 per week are bound under the provisions of the maximum working hours stipulated in the code.

(b) The right of any and all employees to organize and bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing, without any interference whatsoever from any company, employer or company union.

(c) That no employee, or person seeking employment, be compelled by any employer to join any company union, or to refrain from joining, organizing or assisting any labor organization of his own choosing, as a requirement for employment in such company.

(d) That labor classes shall have a vote on the governing Code Authority when any question affecting such class is to be considered by the Code Authority. Such vote shall be by a single representative selected by such class of employees involved in the question.

(e) The creation of arbitration procedure for adjusting disputes between exhibitor employers and employees.

The term "labor" as used in and for the labor provisions of the motion picture code refers to those classes of employees who are NOT of the managerial, executive, advisory or other so-called "white collar" groups receiving $35 per week or more.

With regards the minimum wage scales and the maximum working hours provided for in the motion picture code, employers in the industry must bear in mind the purpose of the National Industrial Recovery Act, which is intended to encourage recovery by reducing and relieving unemployment, and therefore, employers shall not interpret the code's clauses for minimum wages and maximum hours to mean that they shall reduce wages allowed, nor to increase working hours to conform with maximum working hours allowed.

In distribution, no person under sixteen years of age shall be employed; minimum wages shall be $14 to $15 per week depending on the city; and maximum hours shall be forty weekly. However, branch managers of exchanges, or home office executives, or any others engaged in managerial, or executive capacity, or who are in a position of sole responsibility, or other "white collar" classes receiving $35 or more weekly, are NOT affected by maximum hour requirements. Nor are employees on emergency or maintenance work affected.

In exhibition, various wage scales are stipulated, according to the class of labor, and the maximum working week is set at forty hours, but the maximum working hours do NOT affect theatre managers or home office executives or any others engaged in managerial, executive or advisory capacities or other "white collar" classes receiving $35 or more weekly.

Among those whose wages and maximum working hours are specifically established in the code's compulsory exhibition labor provisions are:

ATTENDANTS IN THEATRES
BILLPOSTERS
CARPENTERS
CLEANERS
DOORMEN
ELECTRICAL WORKERS
ELECTRICIANS
ENGINEERS
FIREMEN
MATRONS
OFFICE HELP (LOW-PAID CLASSES)
OILERS PAINTERS
PORTERS
PROJECTIONISTS
THEATRICAL STAGE EMPLOYEES
THEATRICAL WARDROBE ATTENDANTS
TICKET SELLERS
TICKET TAKERS
USHERS
WATCHMEN

Also, other skilled theatre attendants or theatre mechanics or theatre artisans, except musicians, who shall have their minimum wages and maximum working hours established as heretofore by "prevailing labor agreements, understandings or practices."

The parts of the code's labor provisions which are applicable to exhibition also contain some rather stringent rules and regulations governing the hours, wages and conditions of employment for stage players, both principals and choruses of traveling or permanent show units, and who perform at motion picture theatres in any kind of act, stage show, vaudeville, presentation show, or the like.

The motion picture code, like all others written under the NRA, is an employers' document, in which the employers and the industry are pledged to create fair competition and establish maximum hours of labor and minimum wages, and to which provisions the employers and the industry are legally bound, and all of the so-called "burdens" of the labor and trade practice provisions are placed on the shoulders of the employers, and labor as a class has no responsibilities.

However, the type of executive employee belonging to the managerial, executive, advisory classifications, have a very definite responsibility under the code. They probably are not affected themselves by the wage or hour requirements, but such executives' responsibilities in connection with fair competition clauses appear to be legally clear.

The employee manager of a motion picture theatre must abide by the fair competition and trade practice provisions in all of his relations with an exchange and with another theatre. And the exchange manager must do likewise in his relations with the theatre.

The skilled and unskilled workers in the so-called labor classes have no such responsibilities.

There can be no doubt as to the responsibilities of the exchange manager or distribution executive, or theatre manager or theatre executive, because the code itself defines a distributor as including, without limitation, all persons, partnerships, associations and corporations who shall engage or contract to engage in the distribution of motion pictures. The code then defines an exhibitor as including, without limitation, all persons, partnerships, associations and corporations who shall engage or contract to engage in the ownership or operation of theatres for the exhibition of motion pictures.

If the exchange manager or distribution executive, or if the theatre manager or exhibition executive, does not abide by the fair competition and trade practice provisions, and such person is found to have wilfully violated such provisions, he would be liable to a fine of $500 per day for each day's violation. He would probably be made a co-defendant with the employing distribution or exhibition company, but he could be made a defendant individually.

TWO GROUPS OF EMPLOYEES IN CODE

The code, then, draws a fine line between two groups of employees:

(1) The so-called executive class of manager, executive, advisory or other white collar worker receiving $35 per week or more, and whose hours and wages are not regulated by the code, but who must conform with the fair competition and trade practice provisions of the code; and

(2) The skilled or unskilled labor classes, engaged principally in exhibition, whose wages and hours are stipulated in the code, and who have no responsibilities under the code.

Although the employees of the managerial-executive-advisory groups are bound to the fair competition and trade practice provisions, they do not actually sign the acceptance blank. Nor do employees of the unskilled or skilled, union or non-union labor class. In some cases, large unions in the theatre field have signed the code as associations, but the NRA does not ask any employee or any employee group to sign the code, it being, basically, an employers' document.

Pledged To "Attempt" To Arbitrate Disputes

Those distribution labor provisions, which apply primarily to employees receiving less than $35 weekly, must be adhered to by each exchange in the field, not only by branches of the major national distributors, but to all independent or state right exchanges as well, and, also, to all distributors' home offices and to all other firms, company, persons, or corporations engaged in the distribution of motion pictures.

The labor provisions for exhibition, too, are applicable not only to actual theatre operations in the field, but also to home offices of circuit and independent theatre companies and to any person, firm, company or corporation directly engaged in the ownership or operation of motion picture theatres.

Because the labor provisions of the code are virtually all requirements to be met by the employers, obviously there can be no opportunity for violation of the code by labor or employees who, as previously stated, have no responsibility or commitment under the code. However, there is one clause in which a specific requirement is made of labor, and that pledges both employers and employees in exhibition to attempt to arbitrate disputes. The word "attempt," however, makes the clause all too general to be certain in its effectiveness.

The labor provisions of the code specifically outline the procedure for the arbitration of disputes with labor in exhibition, but it does not provide for arbitration of disputes between employees and employers in distribution, and this because there are no indeterminate hours and wage scales in the distribution part of the code, as there are in the exhibition section. In distribution, hours and wages for those below the $35 a week class are definitely established, and either a distributor conforms with the schedule or he is violating the code.

When an exhibitor violates the labor provisions of the exhibition code with lower wages and more hours than are specified, or when he violates any other condition of employment specifically mentioned in the code, the labor class so offended may file a complaint either with the Code Authority, or with the NRA's local labor board, or with the NRA labor board at Washington. In any case, the complaint will probably be referred eventually to the NRA local labor board nearest the scene of the dispute, and such local labor board will try to adjust the argument by arbitration.

Until arbitration of the question is concluded, both labor and the exhibitor agree not to strike or effect a lockout.

The code specifically limits the arbitration of disputes to hours and wages. In cases of other violations by exhibitors of conditions of employment, the NRA labor board will seek to adjust the cause of the complaint.

Where the exhibitor has abided by the labor provisions of the code, and a dispute with theatre labor arises, the matter is then outside the jurisdiction of the code and would be a personal conflict between the exhibitor and the labor class.

The labor provisions of the code are not applicable to persons or companies, employees or labor engaged in the fields of non-theatrical or 16 mm. motion pictures, or in television, where such non-theatrical, 16 mm. or television companies are not operating in competition to a regular motion picture theatre.

A CONCENTRATED TRANSLATION

The translation of the motion picture code by MOTION PICTURE HERALD from the legal phraseology into a working language, is being done in such a manner that all related subjects, regardless of their position in the official draft, will be treated together.

To effect a practicable concentration of all related subjects, all angles in the code pertaining to such subjects (for example: administration, labor, trade practices, contracts, and the like), will be treated together.

2. DEFINITIONS OF LABOR, TERMS, DISTRIBUTION, EXHIBITION

On page 24 of the December 23rd issue of Motion Picture Herald, in the first article on the code translation, appeared definitions of all technical terms which are used in the various distribution and exhibition sections of the code. Following are the definitions of the technical terms which are specifically mentioned in the labor provisions of the code, and with which all those interested should be familiar:

1. "MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY" shall be deemed to include, without limitation, the production, distribution, or exhibition of motion pictures and all activities normally related thereto, except as specifically excepted from the operation of the code, as in the cases of non-competitive non-theatrical and 16 mm. films, television, and the like.

2. "DISTRIBUTOR" shall be deemed to include, without limitation, all persons, partnerships, exchanges of national distributors and state rights-ers, associations and corporations and companies which shall engage, or contract to engage in the distribution of motion pictures.

3. "EXHIBITOR" shall include, without limitation, all persons, partnerships, theatres and theatre circuits, associations, companies and corporations engaged in the ownership or operation of motion picture theatres.

4. "EMPLOYEE" as used in the code shall be deemed to refer to and include every person employed by any distributor or exchange, exhibitor or theatre. However, in making the working hour provisions applicable to distribution and exhibition, the code specifically says that the maximum hours of labor which are provided shall not apply to the so-called executive class, which includes exchange managers and home office executives, theatre and circuit executives, or any other person engaged in any executive or advisory capacity, or any other capacity of distinction or sole responsibility ("white collar" workers) making $35 or more per week. A $36-a-week clerk then probably is of the so-called "executive" class for purposes of the code's labor provisions.

5. "LABOR" applies virtually to all skilled and unskilled union or non-union workers in theatres, or to distribution employees making less than $35 per week.

6. "ADMINISTRATOR" as used in the code shall be deemed to mean the National Recovery Administrator (General Hugh S. Johnson).

7. "EFFECTIVE DATE," from and after which all must abide by the labor and other provisions of the code, was December 7th.

8. "POPULATION," for the purposes stipulated in the code as the basis for determining certain wage scales and working hours for theatre employees, shall be determined by reference to the 1930 federal census.

3. EMPLOYEES, LABOR AND THE TRADE PRACTICES

Those classes of skilled or unskilled, unionized or unorganized labor—principally engaged in exhibition—to which the code's maximum hours and minimum wage scales are applicable, and which do not belong to any of the managerial-executive-advisory classes of employees, have absolutely no responsibilities under any of the clauses or provisions of fair competition and trade practices in the code.

However, the executive type of employees of the managerial-executive-advisory classes engaged, both in distribution and exhibition, and principally involving exchange managers and distribution executives, and theatre managers and circuit executives, are bound under the clauses of fair competition and trade practices in the code. And, if they are personally held to be in wilful violation of any such clauses of fair competition and trade practices, they are liable to a fine of $500 per day for each day of the violation.

The exchange manager, in his relations with a theatre owner, must abide by all of the fair competition and trade practice clauses to which his employer is bound. Likewise, a theatre manager, in his relations with the exchange, and with competitive theatres, must abide by all of the fair competition and trade practice clauses to which his employer is bound.

LABOR VIOLATIONS TO NRA BOARDS

All of the trade practice clauses and provisions for fair competition between distributors and exhibitors, and among distributors themselves, and among competing exhibitors, will be discussed in the third article in this series translating the motion picture code from the legal phraseology into a working language of the industry.

Some of the clauses in the trade practice and fair competition sections of the code specifically mention exchange or theatre employees in connection with their conduct with one another.

Obviously, when a distributor employer or an exhibitor employer violates the provisions of trade practices or fair competition, and such employer's manager or executive employee has no control over the violation by the employer, the manager or executive employee is in no wise involved, and, therefore, he is not liable to any penalties which may be levied if the violation is found to be wilful.

To illustrate the exchange manager's responsibilities: No salesmen or exchange manager shall wilfully require an exhibitor to take more short subjects when negotiating a feature contract than are required by the provisions of the code. Too, the exchange manager may be held liable if he is personally and wilfully responsible for violating that provision which compels each distributor to abide by the regulations promulgated by the Code Authority for the prevention of fire in the exchange. These two cases are but typical of a score of other clauses which involve the distributor and his manager in the field.

In exhibition, besides conducting his relations with the exchange according to the trade practice provisions of the code, and conducting his relations with competing exhibitors according to fair competition clauses of the code, the theatre manager may be held liable, for instance, if he personally and wilfully violates any ban which may be placed on rebates locally. This, likewise, is typical of a score of other clauses which involve the theatre manager.

Exchange managers and distribution executives in the field, representing both major and independent or state right distributors, and theatre managers and circuit executives in the field, are urged to study the trade practice provisions and the provisions of fair competition which, as previously mentioned, will be translated in the next and third article of this series.

4. THE CODE AUTHORITY AND LABOR

Because the Code Authority is intended as the general administrative agency of the code to effect compliance of the industry with the code, and to interpret the motion picture code law, relations between distributors and exhibitors with their employees may come under the scrutiny of the Code Authority.

Its judicial duties are like those of a supreme court of appeals for all code matters, and, therefore, labor or exhibitors may appeal to the Code Authority from any decision made by a labor arbitration board in any dispute between the labor classes and exhibitors.

The Code Authority shall turn over to the NRA Labor Board, or to the NRA Compliance Board, any violations by employers of the labor provisions, and the NRA boards may effect adjustment on their own, or call for arbitration, or prosecute the violators when such violators refuse to cease and desist violating the labor provisions.

The Code Authority, not having any "police" powers, must place labor violations in the hands of the NRA boards for adjustment or prosecution.

However, the Code Authority may decide on important questions concerning the relations between labor and employers, and, for this purpose, the code decrees that, as and when any question directly or indirectly affecting any class of employees is to be considered by the Code Authority, one representative of such employee class, selected by the Administrator from nominations made by such class in such manner as may be prescribed by the Administrator, shall sit with and become for such purposes a member of the Code Authority with a right to vote. The membership on the Code Authority of such representative of such class of employees shall terminate automatically upon the settlement of the question by the Code Authority.

The Code Authority may suggest changes in any part of the code, including labor provisions, and, after a hearing, the Administrator may recommend that these changes be made, and, if approved by the President, such changes may be so ordered.

Basically, labor and all other employees involved in the code may come in contact with the Code Authority in view of the broad, general basic purposes of the Code Authority, which are to administer the code and its provisions, effect compliance of all branches, investigate violations and alleged violations of any nature, and, after notice and hearing, prescribe additional rules governing the conduct of distributors and exhibitors with their employees.

The full significance of the Code Authority, its relation to the code and to the industry, and its purposes, personnel, procedure, jurisdiction, duties and other information pertaining to it, were discussed in MOTION PICTURE HERALD, on December 23, pages 24 to 26.

5. LABOR AND EMPLOYEES, GENERAL PROVISIONS

While the many and various requirements for labor are outlined in the code in great detail, the basic relations between employers and employees are told in three short paragraphs in section one, "Article III—General Provisions," as follows:

(1) Employers shall comply with the maximum hours of labor, minimum rates of pay, and other conditions of employment, approved or prescribed by the President in the code.

(2) All employees shall have the right to organize and bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing, and they shall be free

Contents of Second Article

DISTRIBUTION AND EXHIBITION—LABOR AND EMPLOYEES

(1) PREAMBLE—Being a Translation of the General Application of the Labor and Employee Provisions to Distribution and Exhibition.
(2) DEFINITIONS of the Technical Terms Used in the Labor and Employee Provisions of the Distribution and Exhibition Sections of the Code.
(3) RELATION OF LABOR AND EMPLOYEES IN DISTRIBUTION AND EXHIBITION TO THE PROVISIONS OF FAIR COMPETITION.
(4) THE CODE AUTHORITY and Its Relation to Labor and Employees in Distribution and Exhibition.
(5) GENERAL PROVISIONS Pertaining to Labor and Employees in Distribution and Exhibition.
(6) WAGE SCALES AND WORKING HOURS FOR DISTRIBUTION AND EXHIBITION.

A—DISTRIBUTION
(1) General. (2) Hours of Employment. (3) Minimum Wage Scales. (4) Administration.

B—EXHIBITION
Theatre Employees Other Than Actors
(1) General. (2) Hours of Employment. (3) Minimum Wage Scales. (4) Administration.

C—ARBITRATION FOR EXHIBITION LABOR
(1) Purposes. (2) Personnel of Boards. (3) General.

D—LABOR PROVISIONS FOR THEATRE ACTORS
Actor Employees in Vaudeville and Presentation Motion Picture Theatres
(1) General. (2) Hours of Employment. (3) Minimum Wage Scales. (4) Auditions. (5) Rehearsals. (6) Transportation of Chorus. (7) Wardrobe. (8) Administration.

Trade practices, contractual relations, clearance and zoning and general and miscellaneous provisions of the code which are applicable to distribution and exhibition will appear in the third translation article in a subsequent issue.

The application of the code to production will be discussed in later issues.

DISTRIBUTORS AND MINIMUM WAGE

from any interference whatsoever, or any restraint, or coercion of employers of labor, or employers' agents, in the designation of such representatives, and shall be free from any interference, restraint or coercion of employers, or employers' agents in other concerted activities for the purpose of collective bargaining, or for purposes of other mutual aid or protection.

(3) No employee, and no one seeking employment, shall be required as a condition of employment, to join any company union or to refrain from joining, organizing, or assisting any labor organization of their own choosing.

The labor provisions of the code do not apply to persons or firms engaged in non-theatrical or 16mm. motion pictures or to those engaged in television, where these businesses are not in direct competition with motion picture theatres; and, where they are in direct competition with regular motion picture theatres, then, the labor provisions are applicable to such non-theatrical, 16mm. or television companies.

6-A. LABOR PROVISIONS FOR DISTRIBUTION

(1) GENERAL

The maximum hours of employment and minimum wages stipulated in the distribution part of the code does not apply to the so-called executive employees at exchanges or distribution companies who are engaged in a managerial or executive capacity, or in any other capacity of sole responsibility, or in any capacity of distinction who receive $35 per week, or more. A clerk in a home office or in an exchange making $35 per week, or more, is considered to be in this "executive" class for purposes of the code.

Nor do the maximum hours of employment and minimum wages stipulated in the distribution part of the code apply to any outside salesmen, nor to employees on emergency, maintenance, repair, or service work. Nor do they apply to professional persons employed in their profession, such as traveling auditors who inspect the books of exchanges regularly on home office assignment.

All other workers are subject to the maximum hours of employment and minimum wage scales prescribed in the code, as outlined in sections two and three below.

No person under 16 years of age shall be employed in any exchange or distribution company, except where the state law provides a higher minimum age, which higher minimum age shall prevail.

(2) HOURS OF EMPLOYMENT

No employee in any exchange or engaged in any distribution company shall work more than forty (40) hours in any one week, except those classes of employees mentioned in the paragraphs above.

(3) MINIMUM WAGE SCALE

No employee shall be paid:

(a) Less than fifteen dollars ($15) per week in any exchange or distribution company located in any city over 500,000 population or in the immediate trade area of such city. Distribution companies or exchanges located in the following cities must abide by this provision of a $15 minimum wage:

Baltimore	Milwaukee
Boston	New York
Buffalo	Philadelphia
Chicago	Pittsburgh
Cleveland	St. Louis
Detroit	San Francisco
Los Angeles	Washington

(b) Less than fourteen dollars and fifty cents ($14.50) per week in any exchange or distribution company located in any city between 250,000 and 500,000 population or in the immediate trade area of such city. Distribution companies and exchanges located in the following cities must abide by this provision of a $14.50 minimum wage:

Atlanta	Kansas City (Mo.)
Birmingham	Louisville
Cincinnati	Memphis
Columbus	Minneapolis
Dallas	New Orleans
Denver	Portland (Ore.)
Indianapolis	Seattle

(c) Less than fourteen dollars ($14) per week in any exchange or distribution company located in any city or place up to 250,000 population or in the immediate trade area of such city. Distribution companies and exchanges located in the following cities must abide by this provision of a $14 minimum wage:

Albany	New Haven
Butte	Oklahoma City
Charleston	Omaha
Charlotte	Portland (Me.)
Des Moines	Salt Lake
Jacksonville	San Antonio
Little Rock	Sioux Falls
Tampa

The cities selected for the classifications above are based on actual records of cities and places where distribution companies and exchanges are known to be located, as compiled by Motion Picture Almanac.

As specifically provided for in the code, populations were based on the federal census of 1930. Information on other cities and places may be had in the official 1930 federal census.

Some of the cities and places in the listings above only have film "shipping centers," but the employees of these sub-branches, are to be given the same minimum wages, too.

Although not specifically mentioned in the code, the Administration is vigorously opposed to the lowering of wages to conform to the minimum allowed under the code.

(4) ADMINISTRATION

The code does not provide for the arbitration of disputes between employees and employers in distribution, and this because there are no indeterminate hours and wage scales in the distribution part of the labor provisions. In distribution, hours and wages for those engaged in capacities below the $35 a week class, are definitely established, and either a distributor or exchange conforms with the schedule of hours and wages, or he is in violation of the code.

However, the code does give all classes of employees in all branches of the industry the right to bring a question for settlement before the Code Authority, and such class of employees, including any class in distribution, may have a representative on the Code Authority, such representative to have a right to vote on the question. Upon determining the question, the representative of the employees' class shall withdraw from membership on the Code Authority, his membership lasting only during settlement of the question.

Violations by distributors or exchanges of the wage and working hour stipulations may be investigated by the Code Authority and referred to the NRA compliance board or the NRA labor board.

Distribution employees of the executive or managerial classes will come in contact with the Code Authority, the Local Grievance Board, Local Clearance and Zoning Board and Local Contract Arbitration Board when any disputes arise either among distributors or among exchanges, and/or with theatres and exhibitors, such disputes pertaining to the provisions in the code for fair competition and trade practices.

Distribution executives and exchange managers should familiarize themselves with the workings of the Code Authority and the local Grievance, Clearance and Zoning and Contract Arbitration Boards. Beginning on page 24 of the December 23rd issue of Motion Picture Herald, in the first article of this series of code translation, appeared an analysis of each of these boards, including their purposes, personnel, procedure, jurisdiction and duties.

6-B. LABOR PROVISIONS FOR EXHIBITION

THEATRE EMPLOYEES OTHER THAN ACTORS

(1) GENERAL

The maximum hours of employment stipulated for the various classes of theatre labor do not apply to the so-called executive employees at theatres, or theatre offices, who are engaged in a managerial or advisory capacity, or to any other of the "white collar" classes receiving $35 per week or more, or to employees engaged in the performance of emergency duties. The code's provisions for a 40-hour week do apply to executives or "white collar" employees who receive less than $35 per week.

All other employees are subject to the specific schedules of hours and wages which are stipulated in the code, and which are outlined in subsequent paragraphs below. "Labor" classes whose wages and hours are specifically regulated by the code include:

Attendants in Theatres	Oilers
Billposters	Painters
Carpenters	Porters
Cleaners	Projectionists
Doormen	Theatrical Stage Employees
Electrical Workers	Theatrical Wardrobe Attendants
Electricians	Ticket Sellers
Engineers	Ticket Takers
Firemen	Ushers
Matrons	Watchmen
Office Help (Certain low paid classes)

Also other skilled theatre mechanics or thea-

LABOR PROVISIONS FOR EXHIBITION

tre artisans, except musicians, who are not provided for in the code in this respect.

By reason of the professional character of their employment, the minimum wage and maximum hours of employment for musicians shall be established as heretofore by prevailing labor agreements, understandings or practices.

No person under 16 years of age shall be employed in any theatre (except as an actor), provided, however, that where a state law provides a higher minimum age, no person below the higher minimum age specified by that state law shall be employed in that state.

The code specifically requires all employees and employers in exhibition to attempt to arbitrate all disputes. But, the word "attempt" makes the clause somewhat uncertain, except in the arbitration of disputes between the skilled labor classes, such as projectionists, stage hands, electricians, and the like, and the arbitration of schedules of hours and wages with these skilled classes is specifically provided for in the code, and is detailed in subsequent paragraphs below.

(2) HOURS OF EMPLOYMENT

No employee in any theatre or theatre company shall work more than forty (40) hours in any one week, except those classes of employees mentioned in the executive or managerial groups making $35 per week, or more.

(3) MINIMUM WAGE SCALE

Although not specifically mentioned in the code, the Administration is vigorously opposed to the lowering of wages to conform to the minimum allowed under the code.

In cities and places having a population of less than 15,000, all employees regularly employed in theatres as attendants, cleaners, doormen, matrons, office help, porters, ticket sellers, ticket takers, ushers and watchmen, shall receive as their minimum weekly wage not less than a twenty per cent (20%) increase over the wage which was being paid to them as of August 1, 1933, provided, however, that this 20 per cent increase over August 1 wages does not require for these employees a wage in excess of twenty-five (25) cents an hour.

This clause means, then, that all attendants, cleaners, doormen, matrons, office help, porters, ticket sellers ticket takers, ushers and watchmen employed in theatres in places and cities of less than 15,000 shall not be paid less than $10 per week for the specified week except where a 20% increase over the weekly wage as paid on August 1, 1933, amounts to less than $10 per week.

In cities and places having a population of more than 15,000 and less than 500,000, all employees regularly employed in theatres as attendants, cleaners, doormen, matrons, office help, porters, ticket sellers, ticket takers and watchmen (ushers are excluded in this group) shall receive not less than 30 cents per hour, which equals a minimum weekly wage of $12 for the maximum of forty hours per week they are permitted to work.

In cities and places having a population of more than 500,000, all employees regularly employed as attendants, cleaners, doormen, matrons, office help, porters, ticket sellers, ticket takers and watchmen (ushers are also excluded in this group) shall receive not less than 35 cents per hour, which equals a minimum weekly wage of $14 for the maximum of forty hours per week they are permitted to work.

With respect to employees regularly employed as ushers, in cities and places having a population of more than 15,000, such ushers shall receive not less than 25 cents an hour, which equals a minimum weekly wage of $10 for the specified 40-hour week.

All billposters, carpenters, electrical workers, electricians, engineers, firemen, oilers, painters, projectionists, theatrical stage employees, theatrical wardrobe attendants, or other skilled mechanics and artisans who are directly and regularly employed in any theatre, shall receive not less than the minimum wage and work no longer than the maximum number of hours per week which were in force as of August 23, 1933 as the minimum wage and maximum working hours of organizations of any similar employees affiliated with unions of the American Federation of Labor. Such scales of wages and hours of the American Federation of Labor unions upon which the code's requirements are to be based are for the same kind of employees even though such employees are not members of such A.F.L. union, or members of a union not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. And, the scales and wages upon which the code's requirements are to be based must be in accordance with the American Federation's union scales and hours which exist for a particular class of theatre or theatres in a particular location in a particular community.

Even though the code says that the maximum working hours of the American Federation's unions must be used as the compulsory number of maximum hours under the code, it does not mean that the maximum hours may exceed forty per week. The forty-hour maximum holds for all labor in exhibition, regardless. If the "prevailing scale of hours" is, however determined to be less than forty, then in such cases the maximum would be less than forty hours. In other words, where the "prevailing scale of hours" is thirty-six hours per week, then the maximum would be thirty-six hours per week.

With respect to the various classes of theatre labor mentioned in this section, the code specifically states that the wage scales shall apply to those who are "regularly" employed by theatres. It would appear, then, that the specified wage scales are not applicable to casual workers serving as temporary substitutes for a few days, and to those working only occasionally, or not regularly.

In the event that no prevailing scale of wages and maximum number of hours existed on August 23, 1933, in a community or location with respect to any of the skilled labor classes, such as carpenters, electrical workers, projectionists, and the like, then such dispute shall be determined by arbitration. Or, if any dispute should arise as to what was the minimum scale of wages or maximum hours on August 23, 1933 with respect to any of the skilled theatre workers, then such dispute shall also be determined by arbitration. The procedure for arbitrating these disputes between skilled theatre workers and exhibitors is provided for in the code, and is discussed in subsequent paragraphs below.

Meanwhile, pending the determination of such dispute, the scale of wages being paid by the theatre or theatres, and the maximum number of hours then in force—if not more than 40 hours, which is the maximum—shall not be changed so as to decrease wages or increase hours.

And, pending the determination of any such disputes, the skilled theatre employees are pledged by the code not to strike, and the exhibitors are pledged not to lock out such employees.

Nor, in any event shall the duties of skilled employees, such as carpenters, electricians, projectionists, and the like, directly and regularly employed by the exhibitors as of August 23, 1933, be increased so as to decrease the number of such employees employed in any theatre or theatres in any community, except by mutual consent.

All employees not specifically mentioned in the code shall be paid not less than forty cents per hour, or $16 weekly as a minimum wage. This applies to any and all employees in theatres receiving less than $35 per week, and who are NOT mentioned in the following classifications:

ATTENDANTS IN THEATRES	PORTERS
BILLPOSTERS	PROJECTIONISTS
CARPENTERS	OILERS
CLEANERS	PAINTERS
DOORMEN	THEATRICAL STAGE EMPLOYEES
ELECTRICAL WORKERS	THEATRICAL WARDROBE ATTENDANTS
ELECTRICIANS	TICKET SELLERS
ENGINEERS	TICKET TAKERS
FIREMEN	USHERS
MATRONS	WATCHMEN
OFFICE HELP (Certain low-paid classes)

(4) ADMINISTRATION

When an exhibitor violates any of the labor provisions of the code, by paying less wages, or effecting a longer working week than forty hours, or when he violates any other condition of employment specifically mentioned in the code, the labor class so offended may file a complaint either with the Code Authority, or with the NRA's local labor board, or with the NRA labor board at Washington. In any case, the complaint will probably be referred eventually to the NRA local labor board nearest the locality of the dispute, and such local labor board will try to adjust the argument by arbitration.

The code specifically provides that settling of

CODE AUTHORITY AND THE NRA

The motion picture industry's Code Authority is the administrative and interpretative governing board of the code in the industry, and, in addition, is charged with effecting compliance of all those in the industry with the code's provisions.

It has no police powers, but shall report wilful code violations to the NRA Compliance Boards, and these Compliance Boards will then attempt to end the violations, and, in case they are unsuccessful in this connection, the Compliance Boards have the power to bring the matter to the courts for settlement.

PROVISIONS FOR LABOR ARBITRATION

disputes between the skilled labor classes and exhibitors, over wages and hours, shall be attempted immediately by direct arbitration between both parties. And, it also provides for arbitration when both parties fail to arrive at what was the prevailing scale of wages and hours as of August 23, 1933, or for arbitration when no such prevailing scale exists. Details of the construction of these local labor boards follows:

6-C ARBITRATION FOR EXHIBITION LABOR

A. PURPOSES

1. To establish a prevailing scale of wages and maximum number of hours, where no scales or number of hours are specified, for skilled labor directly and regularly employed by exhibitors, including: projectionists, billposters, carpenters, electrical workers, engineers, firemen, oilers, painters, theatrical stage employees, theatrical wardrobe attendants and the like.

2. To settle disputes between exhibitors and any one or all of the classes of skilled labor mentioned in the foregoing paragraph, regarding a minimum scale of wages and maximum number of hours of labor.

B. PERSONNEL OF BOARDS

In questions arising with an organization of any so-called skilled mechanics or artisans as mentioned above and which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, then the personnel of such local Labor Arbitration Board is to consist of a representative appointed by the national president of such affiliated union, together with a representative appointed by the exhibitors, and in case of a deadlock, both are mutually to appoint a third person, or if they cannot mutually agree on a third person, then the Administrator shall designate such third person.

In questions arising with unorganized skilled employees, or with an organization of such skilled employees which is not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, then the board shall consist of a representative of such unorganized employees, or, as the case may be, a representative appointed by the president of such unaffiliated union organization or both, together with a representative appointed by the national president of a similar organization affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, provided, however, that members of such AFL affiliated union are regularly employed in said community by other exhibitors. Also, the exhibitor, or exhibitors shall appoint a representative, and if the various parties cannot agree they shall mutually designate an impartial person to determine the issue, or, if they cannot agree to the designation of an impartial person, such person shall be appointed by the Administrator.

C. GENERAL

With respect to all other disputes arising between employees and employers in exhibition, the parties pledge themselves in the code to attempt to arbitrate all such disputes, for which purpose a general arbitration system is provided elsewhere in the code. Such general arbitration procedure was explained in the first translation article in MOTION PICTURE HERALD on December 23, page 38.

Labor Arbitration Boards will have no headquarters, being appointed locally by employees and exhibitors as the necessity arises, and only to arbitrate such dispute for which they were appointed.

Meanwhile, pending the determination of any such dispute, the rate of wages then paid by the exhibitor and the maximum number of hours in force at that time shall not be changed so as to decrease wages or increase hours.

Pending the determination of the dispute by the arbitrators, the employees shall agree not to strike and the employers shall agree not to lockout such employees.

The Administrator, after notice and hearing, may revise or modify any determination of any dispute over wages and hours between skilled theatre labor and exhibitors.

6-D LABOR PROVISIONS FOR THEATRE ACTORS

ACTOR EMPLOYEES IN VAUDEVILLE AND PRESENTATION THEATRES

(1) GENERAL

Presentation and vaudeville and stage shows at any vaudeville or motion picture theatre shall include both permanent and traveling companies of artists, but are not intended to include: amateur shows, "rep" shows, "tab" shows, "tent" shows, "wagon" shows, "truck" shows, "medicine" shows, "showboats," or burlesque.

A "traveling" company, as used in the code, means a company or unit or group of artists which move from theatre to theatre in one town, or theatre to theatre from one town to another, irrespective of locality.

Persons under sixteen years of age may be employed as actors or principals or chorus persons on the stage of a motion picture theatre, provided, however, a state law does not specify a higher minimum age, and where a state law does require a higher minimum age, such minimum shall be employed in that state, and provided further, however, where a role is to be filled or appearance made by a child, an exhibitor or independent talent contractor complies with the provisions of state laws appertaining to such appearances of children under 16 years of age.

An independent contractor as specified in the code means a vaudeville or presentation booker or artist's manager who is not employed by the theatre.

If in any city or place where by custom Sunday performances by living actors are not given, no performer or chorus person engaged to work in such city or place shall be required to perform or give performances on Sunday.

It shall be an unfair trade practice for any exhibitor or independent contractor to engage any chorus person under any agreement which would reduce the net salary below the minimum wage provided for in the code, through the payment of any fee or commission to any agency (whether such fee is paid by the exhibitor or independent contractor or by the chorus), or by any other form of deduction.

Wherever any unit, traveling company or artist is required to give more than the regular number of performances established in the theatre in which they appear, said unit, traveling company or artist, and all artists and chorus persons shall be paid for said extra performances pro rata.

(2) HOURS OF EMPLOYMENT

A—PRINCIPALS

Owing to the peculiar nature of the stage presentation and vaudeville business and the unique conditions prevailing therein, the necessary policy and variations in the operation of such theatres, the changing nature of the entertainment, and the fact that such entertainment is of a character requiring the services of artists of unique and distinctive ability who cannot be replaced, it is recognized in the code that it is impossible to fix the maximum hours per week of artists appearing in such theatres.

B—CHORUS

No singing or dancing chorus person shall be required to work more than forty (40) hours in any week, and there shall be one day out of every seven during which the chorus shall be released from work with pay. Working time shall include the entire time of a performance or presentation in which the chorus appears in one or more numbers as an integral part of the presentation, and all rehearsal time excluding dressing and undressing time.

No chorus person shall be required to report at a theatre before 9 o'clock in the morning.

On the day a chorus person is released with pay, such chorus person shall not be required to rehearse or report to the theatre or perform any service. This provision for a free day shall not apply to traveling companies.

Wherever on August 23, 1933, any theatre employed chorus persons for a number of hours

HIGHLIGHTS OF FIRST ARTICLE

Some of the highlights of the first article on the translation of the motion picture code from the complex legal phraseology into a working language of the industry, and which appeared in MOTION PICTURE HERALD on December 23, follow:

Violation of any code clause is a violation of the law and is liable to a fine of $500 for each day of violation, each day's offense being a separate violation.

"Policing" and prosecution powers are in the hands of the NRA.

The fact that a person or firm signed the President's blanket re-employment code of last year does not remove the necessity for signing the new film code, which supersedes the Presidential reemployment code.

Acceptance blanks were to be signed on or before January 11 to entitle a person or firm to protection against unfair competition under the code's provisions.

The code is binding on all in the industry, whether they sign or not.

The signature of one distributor or one circuit is sufficient for all branch exchanges of such distributor, or all theatres of such circuit.

The code basically is intended to promote fair competition in the industry and to eliminate unfair competition, and to provide minimum wages and maximum working hours.

ACTORS' PAY, AUDITIONS, REHEARSALS

per week of labor less than the maximum hours stipulated in the code, and listed above, said lesser number of hours shall be deemed to be, the maximum hours of labor with respect to such theatres in this section of the code.

(3) MINIMUM WAGE SCALES

A—PRINCIPALS

(1) For performers with more than two years' theatrical experience, there shall be a minimum wage of forty dollars ($40.00) weekly net.

(2) For performers with less than two years' theatrical experience, there shall be a minimum wage of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) weekly net.

(3) The minimum wage of performers employed on a per day basis shall be seven dollars and fifty cents ($7.50) per day net.

B—CHORUS

(1) There shall be a minimum wage of thirty dollars ($30.00) per week in any de luxe theatre.

(2) There shall be a minimum wage of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) per week in other than de luxe theatres.

(3) There shall be a minimum wage of thirty-five dollars ($35.00) per week in traveling companies.

Wherever on August 23, 1933, any theatre paid a rate to chorus persons in excess of the minimum wages, stipulated in the code, and listed above, said higher wage shall be deemed to be the minimum scale of wages with respect to such theatres in this section of the code.

After the first two weeks of consecutive employment, if a lay-off is necessary, the exhibitor or independent contractor shall pay each chorus person not less than three dollars ($3.00) per day for each day of lay-off. In connection with a traveling unit, after the first two weeks of consecutive employment, if a lay-off is caused on account of traveling, the exhibitor or independent contractor shall be allowed two days' traveling without pay for each four weeks of employment, west of the Rockies, and one day's traveling without pay for each four weeks of employment east of the Rockies.

(4) AUDITIONS

A—PRINCIPALS

It shall be an unfair trade practice for any exhibitor or independent contractor under the guise of public audition to break in, try out, or to require a performer to render service for less than the minimum salary established by the code. This shall not prohibit, however, the appearance or participation of any performer in benefit performances which have been approved by the performer or by any bona fide organization of the performer's own choosing.

B—CHORUS

It shall be an unfair trade practice for any manager or independent contractor, under the guise of a public audition, break-in, or try-out, to require the chorus to render services for less than the minimum salary established by the code. This shall not prohibit, however, the appearance of the chorus or participation in benefit performances which have been approved by the chorus or any bona fide organization of the chorus' own choosing.

GOVERNMENT WILL SUPPLY CODE COPIES

Printed copies of the motion picture code may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., and from the following district offices of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce:

ATLANTA: 504 Post Office Building.
BIRMINGHAM: 257 Federal Building.
BOSTON: 1801 Custom House.
BUFFALO: Chamber of Commerce Building.
CHARLESTON: Chamber of Commerce Building.
CHICAGO: Suite 1706, 201 North Wells Street.
CLEVELAND: Chamber of Commerce Building.
DALLAS: Chamber of Commerce Building.
DETROIT: 2213 First National Bank Building.
HOUSTON: Chamber of Commerce Building.
INDIANAPOLIS: Chamber of Commerce Building.
JACKSONVILLE: Chamber of Commerce Building.
KANSAS CITY: 1028 Baltimore Ave.
LOS ANGELES: 1163 South Broadway.
LOUISVILLE: 408 Federal Building.
MEMPHIS: 229 Federal Building.
MINNEAPOLIS: 213 Federal Building.
NEW ORLEANS: 225-A Custom House.
NEW YORK: 734 Custom House.
NORFOLK: 406 East Plume Street.
PHILADELPHIA: 933 Commercial Trust Building.
PITTSBURGH: Chamber of Commerce Building.
PORTLAND, ORE.: 215 New Post Office Building.
ST. LOUIS: 506 Olive Street.
SAN FRANCISCO: 310 Custom House.
SEATTLE: 809 Federal Building.

(5) REHEARSALS

A—PRINCIPALS

Rehearsal period for principals shall be limited to four weeks, and they shall be guaranteed two consecutive weeks' compensation for employment for said four weeks of rehearsals, which shall immediately follow the rehearsal period. In the event that any rehearsal over four weeks is required, there shall be compensation for an additional consecutive week's playing time guaranteed for each week's rehearsal. This shall not apply, however, to principals owning their own acts.

B—CHORUS

No exhibitor or independent contractor shall require for an engagement of only one week any chorus person to rehearse in excess of five (5) days, nor for an engagement of two or more weeks to rehearse in excess of two (2) weeks. Any such engagement shall follow immediately such respective rehearsal periods. The chorus shall not be required to rehearse for more than forty (40) hours a week and rehearsal shall be considered to be continuous from the time the chorus is called on the first day of rehearsal until the opening day. For each additional week of rehearsal there shall be compensation for an additional week's consecutive employment.

Wherever a theatre augments the chorus by employing additional chorus persons, such additional chorus persons shall not rehearse more than five (5) days.

(6) TRANSPORTATION OF CHORUS

Transportation of the chorus when required to travel, including transportation from point of organization and back, including sleepers, shall be paid by the employer whether exhibitor or independent contractor.

If individual notice of contract termination is given, the chorus shall only be paid in cash the amount of the cost of transportation and sleeper of the chorus and baggage back to the point of origin whether the chorus returns immediately or not.

(7) WARDROBE

A—PRINCIPALS

The exhibitor or independent contractor shall furnish to every artist in a presentation unit or traveling company (not including what is commonly known as a vaudeville act) and receiving less than fifty dollars ($50.00) per week, without charge, all hats, costumes, wigs, shoes, tights, and stockings, and other necessary stage wardrobe, excepting street clothes.

B—CHORUS

The exhibitor or independent contractor shall furnish the chorus, without charge, with all hats, costumes, wigs, shoes, tights, and stockings and other necessary stage wardrobe.

(8) ADMINISTRATION

Arbitration of all disputes between principal players and chorus players with exhibitors or with independent contractors of talent shall be in accordance with the general arbitration provisions of the code, and which were outlined in the first translation article in MOTION PICTURE HERALD, on December 23rd, page 38.

The Code Authority may receive complaints either from exhibitors or players with respect to violations or alleged violations by an independent contractor of any of the foregoing sections pertaining to talent in theatres, and, after notice and hearing, and with the approval of the Administrator, may prescribe rules and regulations governing the future relations between exhibitors and independent contractors found guilty of any such violations, or between players and contractors.

J. C. Jenkins--His Colyum

Neligh, Nebraska

DEAR HERALD:

Not long ago we received a letter from a guy who expressed his regrets to learn of our sickness, and a hope for our speedy recovery. He closed his letter with this: "Why is it that you are allowed so much valuable space in the HERALD with that colyum of yours when it is a waste of raw material which nobody reads?"

Did we not know that he is a good friend of ours, and quite a kidder, we might have taken him seriously, since he was grazing around pretty close to the facts. But listen brother, did you know that—

Full many a flower doth bloom unseen
To shed its fragrance on the desert air,
Yet in that vast expanse 'twould seem
That millions more could bloom out there.

We would not say in idle jest
That those flowers were wasted, not at all,
For this we know, that He knows best
Who notes the sparrows when they fall.

There now, you have positive proof of the Darwin theory, how do you like that?

▽

The Best Gift

Somewhere around seventy years ago we started hanging up our stockings at Christmas time, and they have been reasonably well filled ever since, but the best gift that Santa ever brought us is the friendship of thousands of exhibitors and friends from here, there and everywhere. And if that friendship has been merited, then our joy is complete.

▽

A few evenings ago we saw "What Price Innocence," a picture that teaches a lesson that every girl should heed. It lays the blame for the delinquency of the daughter upon the shoulders of the mother who failed to warn her against the too common error, and who wanted her daughter to "have a good time." She had it, but at what a price. This picture should be shown upon every screen in the land for the lesson it teaches, if for nothing else.

▽

That old story is going around again about the little boy who asked his father if cofferdam was swearing, and his father said, "Why, certainly not, son, but why do you ask?" And the little boy said, "Well, I heard ma tell the hired girl last night that she hoped she'd cofferdam head off."

▽

The Government has gone into the corn business. They are paying the farmers 45 cents for their corn sealed up in the cribs, and if they don't raise the price of pork and beef the stock feeders will be broke before they can catch their breath, for 45 cent corn and 3 cent pork don't match up so good. Anyhow, the Government will have alotta corn.

▽

There is only one way to do away with the bootlegger. Keep the revenue off of legalized liquor and the retail price down so low that he can't operate. This can be done, but it won't be. Politics will see to that. Politics is the bane of this country.

▽

—or Owen Moore?

There, it has finally happened, just what we wanted to happen. They have published a picture of Terry Ramsaye, editor of MOTION PICTURE HERALD, in the issue of Dec. 16th. When we first saw it we thought it was a picture of Owen Moore. We hope it isn't out of order to say that he is a very handsome, intelligent looking gentleman, but his bushy hair stands straight up like all seven of 'em do on our gourd.

He writes the HERALD from Nashville, Tennessee and says that he was made a Colonel by the head waiter in the hotel when he handed him a tip of two bits, but that he might have been made a General had he have given him fifty cents. The next thing we know the whole HERALD staff will be "Colonels" and there won't be any buck privates to do the fighting, and then where will we be?

▽

We heard a story on the radio today of a school teacher who told her pupils that they must write a verse to rhyme with some girl's name, and Johnnie chose the name of "Nellie," so he wrote:

"I once knew a girl named Nellie
Who fell in the water up to her feet."

And the teacher stopped him and said, "Why, Johnnie, that doesn't rhyme with Nellie." And Johnnie said, "Well teacher, I know it don't, but the water wasn't deep enough."

▽

On Tone of Titles

We are glad to note that the producers are insisting upon a higher moral tone and a more artistic style of advertising for their pictures, as reported in this magazine by Mr. James P. Cunningham. The matter of clean and dignified advertising has been advocated by this journal ever since its birth, and the next important step, after cleaning the advertising and pictures themselves, is the titles.

"The Royal Bed," "Merrily We Go to Hell," "Illicit" and "Her Wedding Night" are hardly titles that will appeal to the better element of any community, and in a great many cases are not representative of the picture itself. The titles are selected for their supposed "punch," but the "punch" should be put in the picture and not in the title. That is, if we know anything about it. Some will say we don't. It's open for argument, and you've got the floor.

▽

Glen Miller of the Rialto theatre at Brighton, Colorado, writes and says, "Merry Christmas to you, old dear. If you really need pants let me know and I will send you some." Thanks, old timer, but we have five or six pair and we can cut one pair up into patches and patch the others and that ought to take us through until grass comes.

▽

We have received letters from exhibitors in England and Australia and now comes one from Belfast, Ireland. Miss Elizabeth A. McKibbin of the West End Picture House, 108 Shankill Road, Belfast, writes and says she hopes we will soon be hopping around in April Shower. She says if we will come to Ireland she will introduce us to all her exhibitor friends and will assure us a good time. Could anything be nicer than that? Thanks, Miss McKibbin, your letter is most highly appreciated, and we will tell the exhibitors, as you requested, that their reports on pictures in "What the Picture Did for Me" have been a great help to you in selecting the good ones and banning of the bad ones. We hope, Miss McKibbin, that you will have plenty of shamrock on St. Patrick's Day and that your pigs will take first prize at the Donnybrook Fair. Our guess is that if there is an Irishman in all Ireland who wouldn't be proud to call you his "Colleen" he ought to be shot at sunrise. Hurrah for Old Ireland.

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS
The HERALD's Vagabond Colyumnist

Corona Four

The greatest value ever offered in a practical portable typewriter. Four rows of keys—types both capitals and small letters. Beautiful, complete, formerly $60, now only $45.

L. C. SMITH & CORONA TYPEWRITERS, Inc.
Syracuse, N. Y.
Branches and Dealers in Principal Cities

McNary New Boston Censor

Mayor-elect Frederick W. Mansfield of Boston has indicated he will appoint Herbert L. McNary as city censor when he assumes office. He will become Boston's third censor since the office was created, succeeding Stanton White, nephew of the outgoing mayor, James M. Curley, and was successor to John F. Casey.

Spanish Deal Effected

Arnocinema Export, foreign distributors, this week announced the completion of negotiations whereby the company has acquired the exclusive foreign rights to the United Newsreel Corp. "Broadway Gossip" and "American Explorer" series for distribution in Spanish speaking countries. Both series are to be re-synchronized in the native tongue.

Fox House Is Sold

M. S. Heath, Salem, Mo., has bought the former Fox theatre in Liberty, Mo., and will reopen it after alterations. The deal was effected through Albert Goldman, Chicago.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

RE-FORMING THE HABIT

"Farmers are spending."

This is the cheering message from Kansas exhibitors who report increased patronage due to the millions of dollars the government has already pumped into that section of the wheat country, where Al Finestone, Motion Picture Herald correspondent in Kansas City states, "The farmers are spending the money as fast as they receive it."

Ditto the same glad tidings from the Cotton States, the Tennessee power project, and from many other sections where the impetus of government loans is again speeding the long unused machinery of spending.

How much the distribution of these funds will benefit individual theatres depends upon the efforts of exhibitors and their managers. For there is this much for anxious showmen to keep in mind. Now that these government funds are accelerating the circulation of long absent payrolls, the habit of show-going will have to be re-formed by many former regular theatre patrons heretofore unable to attend the movies through lack of ready cash.

How quickly and permanently this will come about depends not entirely upon the quality of entertainment, but also upon the skilled and patient showmanship that must play a major part in again establishing a profitable path to the box-office.

▽ ▽ ▽

THE INDUSTRY'S BENEFIT

The responses from the field disclose a very significant reaction to the announcement of the Quigley Awards. While appreciation is voiced of our determination to obtain recognition for talented showmanship, most interesting are the opinions of managers indicating that this project must benefit the industry as a whole through the expected improvement of exploitation methods.

We quote briefly from some of their statements:

"The awards should raise the standard of theatre advertising and exploitation....the plan should result in keen competition among showmen to create better exploitation....will help to bring the attention of the entire industry to the work of the splendid theatre minds....should make managers strive for better campaigns....should stimulate new interest in the proper handling of pictures....etc....etc....etc."

That able showmen are quick to realize the necessity, now more than ever, of the highest advertising and exploitation standards in the conduct of theatre operation, is more than comforting. And that their thoughts are first for the betterment of showbusiness is something we refer to the studious observance of other branches of the industry.

FRONT LINE DEFENSES

Before us we have a number of accounts of varied activities from managers in the field. One tells of the successful campaign put on by Steve Boisclair for Sunday showings at his Liberty Theatre, Herkimer, N. Y. Another encloses a front page newspaper story from Salem, Mass., in which Phil Bloomberg is praised for his toy matinees at the Paramount Theatre in conjunction with the Rotary Club. To a third is attached press stories of free matinees at the Fox Strand, Topeka, Kan., in cooperation with a leading newspaper for children of the unemployed; and a fourth details the special Saturday morning children shows arranged by Manager George A. Jones, Loew's Parkway, Wilmington, Del., sponsored by his local Federation of Women's Clubs.

We also have before us a recent copy of Red Kann's Motion Picture Daily, which carries a news story chronicling the efforts of professional reformers made jobless by repeal, to attach themselves to new meal tickets by organizing "endowed" attacks upon the motion picture industry.

Although we have no intentions of disregarding the possible consequences of this not unexpected menace, nevertheless the invaluable good will and prestige being built up in the above described campaigns and by hundreds of other showmen engaged in similar civic activities, makes a strong line of front line defense against the raids of hungry "blue noses."

▽ ▽ ▽

MANAGERS' GET TOGETHER

The complete success of the latest Managers' Round Table Club party is evident proof that managers need little urging to come together in good fellow and enjoy themselves hugely. Indeed, it is a grand and glorious feeling to be able to throw off the harness of theatre worries and routine for an evening of festivities with brothers of the guild; to free oneself, if only for a few hours, from the pressure of the daily grind.

We are pleased to know that managers in and around Washington, D. C., are planning a Round Table "get-together" in January; that Boston and Philadelphia members expect to do likewise in the near future.

Frequent gatherings of this nature should be encouraged by managers in every section of the country. They supply a definite need. Interested members are requested to communicate with Club headquarters. We stand ready to offer every assistance.

A. Mike Vogel

First Week of Drive for Quigley Awards Finds Enthusiasm Growing As Managers Plan Their Campaigns

Theatremen in Every Section of Country Express Approval of Herald Project to Honor Managers for Creation of Highest Merit Theatre Exploitation Campaigns

Every Manager Everywhere is Invited to Compete for Monthly and Yearly Awards; All Product Eligible for Consideration By Judges Selected from Many Branches

by A-MIKE VOGEL

Having studied and absorbed the preliminary announcements, the rules and the splendid comments from all quarters on the Quigley Awards, managers everywhere are now buckling down to the serious business of turning out January exploitation campaigns for consideration by the judges. And it is expected, from early reports, that many entries will reach Committee Headquarters in time for the final selection of the first month's winners.

As has been stated, the judges will be changed monthly, and upon each committee every effort will be made to have representation from the distribution, advertising and exhibition branches of the industry. By so doing, it is felt that every campaign will be judged on its actual theatre merits, and the opinions of the judges from the distribution departments will be of extreme importance in valuing entries insofar as local conditions are concerned.

The Committee for the January award has not yet been chosen, but it is expected their names will be announced in the next issue, at which time we will also publish a photo of the imposing yearly award.

Additional comment from managers and other industry leaders is carried on the following page. In keeping with the statements run in previous issues, they represent a true cross-section of thought as to the worth of the Quigley Awards in stimulating exploitation for 1934.

Some of these statements bring up interesting points of discussion. For instance, Round Tabler Louis W. Orlove believes there should be more than one award each month.

For the information of participants, this angle was discussed but was not acted upon favorably, as it was decided that one single award would more truly represent the purpose of the plan, and that to present a number of plaques each month would defeat this purpose.

The question of honorable mentions has also been brought up by various members—in fact, as far back as last summer when Round Tablers Frank Boucher and Frank LaFalce discussed with your Chairman a plan by which exceptional exploitation would be recognized in some such manner.

However, no further action has been taken on this angle as yet, and perhaps it will again be studied, depending of course on the quality of the campaigns received for the Quigley Awards.

Other questions of interest will be publicized in the course of the competition and it will be the purpose of the judges to settle each point to the entire satisfaction of all concerned.

In the meantime, we again call the attention of all readers to the rules and general information that have been run in the last issues, and these are referred to those managers who are not yet familiar with the Award Drive and its regulations.

Every manager is invited to enter this interesting competition, and to take advantage of the opportunity to gain world-wide recognition through the Quigley Awards.

We are informed that a number of campaigns will reach Quigley Headquarters within the next few days.

Members, will yours be among them?

ADDITIONAL JUDGES . . .

LEO BRECHER, Exhibition
GEORGE BROWN, Advertising
P. D. COCHRANE, Distribution
LOU GOLDBERG, Exploitation
EDWARD GOLDEN, Distribution
ARTHUR L. MAYER, Exhibition
SI SEADLER, Advertising
SPYROS SKOURAS, Exhibition

Upon their acceptance, the names of other judges will be added to the Committee, and published in subsequent issues.

SOME FURTHER ENDORSEMENTS OF AWARDS FROM DIFFERENT BRANCHES

A. W. SMITH, JR.
General Sales Manager
Warner Bros. Pictures

I think the establishing of the Quigley Awards for the best exploitation campaigns of the month is an excellent idea and should give an added stimulus to the men in the field. And now, with so many millions of people steadily joining the ranks of the re-employed, smart showmanship should bring added dollars to the theatres.

I shall be very happy to act on the Committee of Judges for the Quigley Awards.

PAUL GULICK
Director of Publicity
Universal Pictures Corp.

Will be very glad to serve on the committee of judges for the Round Table Club. Showmanship is the basis of this business and clever instances of it can certainly be used by every manager when the occasion arises.

DON NICHOLS
Manager, Broadway
Charlotte, N. C.

I want to congratulate the Motion Picture Herald, Martin Quigley and everyone who had a part in making the Martin Quigley plaques possible. It is the greatest announcement for the boys that I have seen in years, in fact nothing like it has ever to my knowledge been attempted before.

These plaques will be something for the boys to really shoot at and the winners will have something to cherish for the rest of their lives.

IRVING LESSER
Managing Director
Roxy Theatres Corporation, N. Y.

You tender to me an undeserved honor in asking that I act as a judge for your monthly Quigley Awards and I hasten my acceptance.

Motion Picture Herald always has rendered to the motion picture industry an invaluable service, particularly to the managers throughout the country, and it always will continue to, I know.

JOE S. SALMON
Manager, Riverside
New York City

The idea of the Motion Picture Herald to award plaques for outstanding exploitations of individual theatres is a most excellent one and will be applauded by all showmen. Theatre managers are human and when their ability and efforts are appreciated, they are inspired toward greater efforts. There is no doubt but that showmen appreciate this opportunity.

GORDON S. WHITE
Advertising and Publicity Director
Educational Films Corporation

I think the presenting of the Quigley Awards for the best theatre exploitation campaigns is a good step for you to take to encourage good work in the exploitation field, and to concentrate attention on such good work. Anything I can do to cooperate with you in carrying out this plan I will be glad to do.

WILLIAM H. RAYNOR
Managing Director
Brooklyn Paramount Theatre

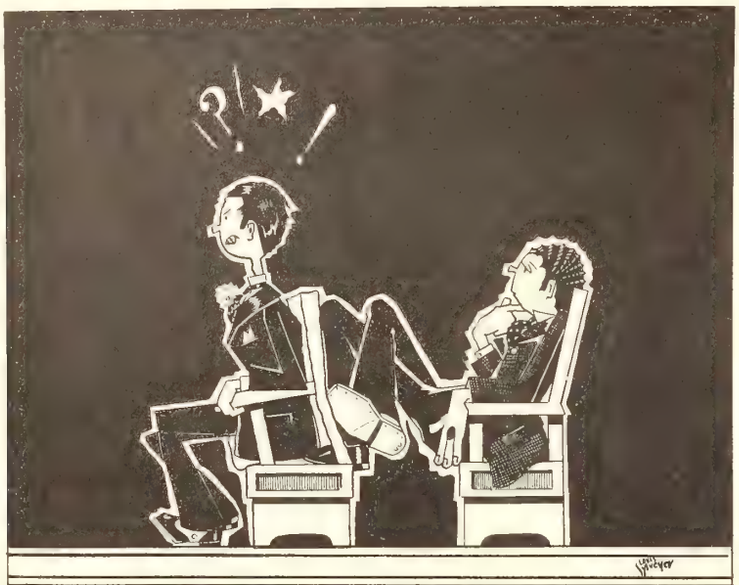
Will be very glad to sit in on your Board for judging various exploitation campaign stunts for the Quigley Awards. But will not judge any eye-wash campaigns—they must have box-office results.

The idea is splendid and the Motion Picture Herald is to be congratulated for sponsoring it.

LEON J. BAMBERGER
RKO Distributing Corp.
New York City

I am heartily in favor of anything that may encourage theatre managers and publicity men to demonstrate their ability as showmen. Therefore, it is indeed a pleasure to add my endorsement and congratulations to the many already received by the Quigley Publications since the announcement of the Quigley Awards.

These awards will be something worth working for, and I do believe that the judges will have their hands full as a result of the keen competition for them. There is no question but that this activity will result in the far more intelligent selling of various features to the public, with increased box office receipts as a result.



LOUIS W. ORLOVE
Manager, Uptown Theatre
Milwaukee, Wis.

Certainly was very happy to receive your letter. Yes, I think the Quigley Awards announced in the December 16 issue are great. I believe that there will be a number of the boys who will find out now that they have something to work for. I personally believe that there should be more than one award per month, and I am also of the opinion that you will find that the mail in the future will be doubled, I am for it 100%.

LOUIS B. METZGER
Managing Director, Spreckels
San Diego, Cal.

There is no doubt but that the Quigley Awards will bring proper recognition to the talented, but heretofore neglected, showman. The plan is worthy of the heartiest cooperation of every manager, and I am confident that they will realize it to be decidedly to their interest to give the Managers' Round Table Club their utmost support.

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS!

ONE WAY TO HAVE YOUR EVENING SPOILED

Louis Sylvester, the artist who turned this one out, must have been in similar position himself to be able to transfer to paper the feelings of the gentleman in the fore, as capably as he has.

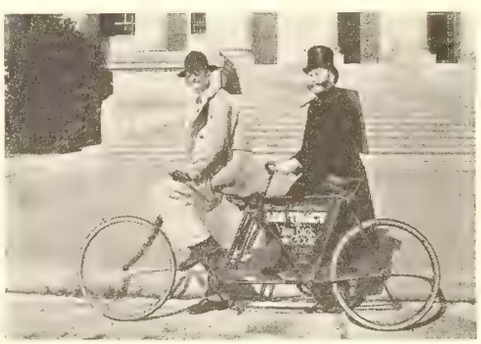
Wright Plugs Coming Attractions in Big Ads

From out in Walla Walla, Wash., comes a number of attractive newspaper ads created by Manager J. E. Wright, Liberty Theatre, who states that these displays of various sizes are pointed to revive movie interest for the winter season, and that results so far indicate that his efforts are bearing fruit.

As the Liberty is part of the Mercy Circuit, the under line "Mercy's Movie Season" is being carried in many of the ads with further institutional copy tying in the drive to the coming pictures. Although these displays range from three columns to full page, Wright has wisely refrained from cluttering the ads with too much copy, using his white space effectively.

All in all, they are a well conceived group indicative of the showmanship being used in that section of the country, which incidentally we covered out of Seattle some years ago. Glad to have heard from you again, "J. E.," and trust you will keep us informed more regularly of your theatre activities from out there in apple land.

Salmon Puts Out Sock Programs



Though situated in a highly congested district, at the corner of 96th St. and Broadway, in New York, Manager Joe Salmon, Riverside Theatre, keeps right on the job turning out a lot of snappy ideas that are helping to turn much of his transient trade into regular patrons.

For this, Joe depends to a certain extent upon his regular weekly program, eight by eleven in size and printed on coated stock, the feature of which is the front page, which is usually given over to some unusual ad slant. For instance, a recent idea was the word "Sale" in five-inch letters with copy on the bottom stating, "See inside cover and back pages for values," and the rest of the pages devoted to plugging the program for the coming week.

Salmon followed this with another smart slant by reproducing on his front page a cut of a letter from a patron praising the show, the sound, the service and the prices. With this, Joe ran copy to the effect that it was one of the many letters he received from satisfied customers, and also stated that criticisms were as welcome as compliments.

In addition to his unusual program, this Round Tabler distributes many inexpensive novelties, among the most recent of which is a cardboard six-inch ruler given out at all schools near by with the tie-in copy, "Make it a rule to attend the Riverside," the reverse side of which carries the theatre name and attractions. The same idea was also carried out on small blotters which were also placed in stores, apartment houses, hotels and post offices, within the theatre drawing area.

This smart showman's continued advertising efforts might be cited as an example of what can be done to put over a neighborhood theatre in a competitive situation.

The above clever street gag on "Turn Back the Clock" is from Manager Harold J. Murphy, Liberty Theatre, Olympia, Wash. It was arranged by Jack Bailey of the house staff, and brought forth many a chuckle as it was ridden around town.

Round Tablers Win Five Drive Prizes

Manager Hank Lowry, Liberty Theatre, Elizabeth, N. J., a long time member of the Club is announced as the winner of the first prize in the 14-week Recovery Drive waged from Sept. 1 to Dec. 9, by the Skouras Theatres in New York, New Jersey, and on Long Island.

Seven manager prizes in all were awarded, and besides Lowry, these theatremen finished in the order named. Second prize, Ken Henry, Park Plaza, New York; third, Hugh Finnegan, Rockland, Nyack, N. Y.; fourth, Harold Janecky, Jamaica, Jamaica, L. I.; fifth, Walter Melvin, Valentine, New York; sixth, Leo Ardavany, Apollo, Jersey City, N. J., and seventh prize to John Heinz, Roosevelt, Flushing, L. I.

A special zone manager's award was made to William White, New York and Bronx head, that division finishing first among the others, which included New Jersey, and the two Long Island zones.

We are pleased to note that five of the seven winning managers are members of the Club, and frequent contributors to the pages. Details of some of their winning campaigns will be published in subsequent issues.

Congratulations to you all, gentlemen.

Zimbalist Stepping In St. Louis Territory

Although Al Zimbalist, zone ad director Warner St. Louis Theatres, has been going great guns since his advent into the new territory, he finds time to sit down and shoot along the details of a big Mickey Mouse promotion put over with a local paper to inaugurate the "Mouse" comic strip in its columns.

Well in advance, the paper started a front page teaser ad campaign winding up with a full page advertising the arrival of Mickey himself, in the person of an actor hired by the paper and dressed in character. The "star" was elaborately greeted on his arrival and taken around to all the division local theatres, the car and all the other expenses also paid for by the paper, and daily stories carried which mentioned each theatre and the time that Mickey would appear.

In addition, the paper furnished thousands of colored autographed photos of Mickey which were distributed at all houses, and also came across with talking trailers which were shown over the circuit.

Al reports that in cooperation with the different managers, he is putting over a flock of money-getting stunts, one of the latest being a promotion in which over $3,000 in jewelry is now being given away, further details of which will be chronicled upon receipt.

He also sends along a bundle of samples of different campaigns from various showmen in his district which indicate those Missouri managers are hitting a fast exploitation pace.

We know that the exploitation activities of your division are many and varied, Al, so let's have some more of your good campaigns which we will be glad to run for the information of the membership.

"Convention City" Gags Lick Blizzard

As the picture opened a few days before Christmas, Charlie Einfeld's Warner exploitation crew tied a holiday angle to "Convention City," at the New York Strand, with what they labelled a Santa Claus convention in the lobby, by bringing together a group of Kris Kringles recruited from the city department stores and the Volunteers of America. And although the gift-bringers had no direct tieup with the attraction, they succeeded in stopping crowds to see what was going on, thus bringing attention to the picture in a novel manner.

An outside stunt that got plenty of notice was a tieup with Postal Telegraph, in which the world's largest telegram, a giant facsimile or a regular postal blank was made up in banner form and posted on the front of the Warner Theatre nearby, with Christmas greetings from the various stars in the picture and further copy mentioning the attraction, theatre and date. In addition, the telegraph company printed regular size blanks with the same copy and these were inserted in every telegram delivered in the New York area during the run.

A further telegraph hookin was in the form of a special display card with an actual scene from the picture, showing Adolphe Menjou and Ruth Donnelly at a Postal telegraph desk. These cards with the theatre credits were inserted in the backs of telegram blank holders, in branch offices and hotels around town.

Einfeld's "Convention" Gag

A snappy street gag was a parade of bannered Atlantic City boardwalk rolling chairs up and down Broadway. Passersby were invited to ride free of charge and many availed themselves of the invitation. The accompanying photo shows one of the chairs with a couple of the Santa Clauses.

For a week in advance, all Strand Theatre personnel wore silk badges duplicating the form of those usually worn at conventions and imprinted paper carnival hats were distributed to all patrons.

The lobby was designed to represent a hotel during a convention. Underneath the marquee was a lighted set piece, representing a train with the stars looking out of its windows. In the mornings, before the box office opened, the front of it was covered with another set piece in the form of a revolving door with two of the characters illustrating a comedy bit from the picture.

Despite the unexpected blizzard that hit the city during the early part of the run, the many angles that were covered were strong enough to attract plenty of business, the Warnerites rolling up another high exploitation score to vie with their work on previous attractions.

Goldstein Clicks On "Henry VIII"

The campaign on "The Private Life of Henry VIII" put over by Manager Louis Goldstein, Parkway Theatre, Madison, Wis., went over so well that it was reported to have been held over for additional time.

Among the effective slants that Louis arranged was an especially prepared menu cover used by all restaurants, with a lot of clever copy that sold the picture's high comedy, the front page of the cover given over to theatre advertising.

Tire covers were used by all taxis and a herald distribution covered the entire city in a house to house campaign. Tieups were also made with leading baking companies whereby passes were wrapped in cake and bread packages in return for which the theatre received numerous window displays and free newspaper ads.

As Madison is a college town, special efforts were made to interest the students who of course were familiar with the history of Henry VIII and no doubt this emphasis helped to bring in the turn-away business the theatre enjoyed.

Marble Game Sells Theatre Tickets

The deluge of various marble and pin games which have been absorbing a lot of nickels that otherwise might go for theatre tickets was given a lot of thought by Manager Ted Schlosser, Vernon Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ky., and agreeing with that old political adage, "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em," Ted got aboard the band wagon by placing one of the machines in a prominent store, recently paying winners off in theatre tickets.

Figuring a score that can be rolled up on the average of once in every five efforts, Schlosser gives a free ticket to those making that number of points, and as the regular theatre admission is 25 cents, the five nickels required to win a prize equal the amount that otherwise would be paid admission.

Ted, of course, hopes that the local craze will soon die down so that he may continue to sell tickets in the conventional manner, but while it lasts he is contenting himself with disposing of numbers of extra admissions through this method.

SWEET PRETZELS

Flynn Stubblefield's street float on "Moonlight and Pretzels" at the Strand, Louisville (Ky.) got plenty of attention by reason of the flock of pretty gals who distributed baby pretzels and displayed the cutout of the giant pretzel atop the float. Campaign was detailed recently.

Garbo's "Christina" Sets New Fashions

In keeping with the importance of the event, the opening of the new M-G-M Greta Garbo picture "Queen Christina" at the Astor, New York, was signalized with a number of highly effective exploitation and advertising angles stressing the high points of the picture.

The sign above the theatre said to be the largest illuminated theatrical sign on Broadway, carried the single word "Garbo" in flashing electric bulbs over a massive likeness of the Swedish star. The sign is probably the simplest and one of the most effective used by M-G-M for an Astor presentation. The lobby design, done in modernistic style combined the historical appeal of the story with the modern treatment accorded it and was highly praised by the "first nighters."

Fashion tieups with "Queen Christina" were sought by New York's leading department stores and fashion houses. The result was an exclusive Cinema Fashion tieup with Macy's, publicizing the type of gowns worn by Greta Garbo in the film. The store gave a special window display to the fashions used in the picture and also devoted page after page of costly advertising space in the New York daily papers to reproductions of special Garbo silhouette styles. This represented one of the most unusual fashion tieup worked out in New York on a new screen production.

Macy's "Garbo" Window

The newspaper advertising campaign was accorded unusual treatment, being inaugurated with a number of distinctive teasers, with the word "Garbo" and the opening date. From this, the rest of the announcements were made in larger ads, climaxed with check art displays and regular theatre copy.

Other exploitation angles of merit were also used, and the press book stunts conceived by Bill Ferguson, were called upon to round out a drive that sold the attraction in strict accordance with its high standard of presentation.

Ace "Canned Goods" Mat.

In cooperation with his American Legion Good Fellow Committee, Manager Frank Goldquist, Web Theatre, Savanna, Ill., put on a Christmas canned goods matinee that brought an attendance of more than 500 children and filled many baskets with food. Frank reports that his hard-to-crack local paper came across with some nice front page stories, giving the theatre a fine break for the job, praising Frank for his efforts.

CRITICS DISPLACE BALLYHOO

Says Round Tabler Vic Gauntlett Who Stresses Newspapers, Radio, Billboards in His Ad Campaigns

And yet another blow at bally—at least certain forms—is released by that well seasoned publicity expert, Vic Gauntlett, ad head for the Evergreen State Amusement Corporation, of Seattle, Wash. Vic has been around plenty, has seen and done a lot in the cause of exploitation. His interesting observations are contained in the following:

DEAR MIKE:

Many years ago I wrote a series of articles for the Motion Picture News on "Exploitation." The gist of these articles was that you cannot sell a lemon as a peach. So, naturally, I am in accord with the opinion of Charles Bassin on exploitation and ballyhoo as published in your issue of Nov. 25.

For many, many years I have been handling publicity, exploitation and advertising for motion picture theatres in the northwest. During that period I have used every means of exploitation that was ever conceived in the show business from the sidewalks to the skies, and I must admit, although I have spent during that time hundreds of thousands of dollars of theatre money, that I could count on the fingers of my two hands all the exploitation stunts that clicked and really got money into the box offices.

This is a day and age in the motion picture business where we are not showing to amusement seekers, but we are showing week in and week out in the theatres throughout the nation, to amusement critics.

How many times have theatre managers and their aides viewed a picture and become all "hopped" up over it, and this artificial "hop" caused them to get over-enthusiastic and spend many hundreds of dollars over the budget to try and sell the public, who was already informed by national publications, that the picture was not as hot as the manager thought it was.

Either foolish exploitation must be discontinued or the national periodicals carrying news and reviews on pictures run out of business. The public today knows more about screen attractions than half the managers who run them in the theatres.

There is one thing that theatre managers lose sight of. They consistently refuse to place themselves in the position of the public which has not yet seen the picture. Also, they lose sight of the fact that the only pulling power they have in their favor is star value and title value plus, with one or two exceptions, the value of the reader interest when the attraction is taken from a well known and widely read book, such as "Little Women."

I have often used the argument that only 25 per cent of the average theatre going public see the picture as the manager and his staff see it at a preview—by this I mean, at a preview you see the picture from the beginning to the end, while 75 per cent of the audience enters a theatre in the middle of the picture. They see the finish, sit through a lot of shorts, possibly a stage show or vaudeville and then after a half hour, an hour or maybe longer they go back and pick up the threads of the story as the picture is again flashed on the screen. I daresay if the manager would see the picture at the first showing as three-fourths of his audience sees it, he would be less hopped up and would then realize why the comments are sometimes bad from his patrons, when he thought the picture was really a knockout.

I do not mean by this that effort should not be made to impress the public that you have a great picture, that is if you know you have one, but your enthusiasm can be transferred to the public by larger newspaper advertising, by larger billboard posting and by more radio plugs much better than by spending a lot of money in foolish exploitation.

Thanks, Vic, and there will be more on the subject in our next.

ED BEFORE THE BAR

Above graphically explains Ed Hart's lobby tieup on "Moonlight and Pretzels" on the Plainfield (N. J.) date. Lots of the folks, even the ladies, took advantage of the offer to go before the bar and imbibe the brew. Flasher attachment behind the moon helped attract attention.

ABOUT THE FORM ON THE FOLLOWING PAGE

In Nov. 18 issue, we ran Joe Kinsky's advertising budget form, with an article from that Round Tabler about its uses. We quote further from his article, in regard to the attendance form on next page which Joe developed to check his business and expenses. The chart is actual size:

"We have learned to operate by budget control, and feel that every manager should have some like means of weekly, monthly and yearly expense and income comparison. To meet this need I have developed this chart, a complete breakdown of hourly, daily and weekly business, and expenses in all departments. Note that it carries space for comparative figures for the same week the previous year."

Parade of Stars Features Hunt's Dressler Date

Medford, Ore., with a population of 12,000, with three first and two second run houses, presents a situation that requires plenty of showmanship, and against competition of two outstanding attractions, Geo. A. Hunt, of the Hunt Theatres, working with Eino Hemmila, put over a campaign on "Christopher Bean" that clicked.

As November was designated as "Marie Dressler Month," and as Hunt was putting on the Pacific Coast premiere on this picture, a Hollywood opening was a feature of the campaign. Fireworks were shot from the roof of the theatre, lobby lighting was secured gratis from the local power company, the high school bands played in front of the theatre, and local celebrities were introduced over the lobby microphone as whistles of the various industrial plants were turned loose to signify the opening.

The celebration culminated in a "parade of the stars," in which pupils of a local dancing school impersonated in costume the various studio names. Eino states that to his knowledge this is the first time the parade idea has been used in this manner, and that it made a very favorable box-office impression on the crowds that lined the streets for blocks near the theatre.

We remember Medford from the old days, Eino. It sure is grand country, and good show country, too. Regards to George.

1936

buyers marvel users sigh

competitors

gasp

ENGINEERING SKILL CANONIZED IT

JOE KINSKY'S "BREAKDOWN" ATTENDANCE FORM

WEEKLY REPORT

	ATTENDANCE ADULT AND CHILDREN	AMOUNT OF ADMISSIONS	TOTAL OPERATIVE INCOME	TOTAL SHORTS AND FEATURE RENT	PAYROLL UNION AND NON-UNION	ADVERTISING	OTHER EXPENSES	HEAT POWER LIGHT-WATER	HOME OFFICE EXPENSES	SOUND EXPENSE AND FEES	REPAIRS	FIXED EXP. RENT-TAXES INSURANCE	DEPRECIATION	TOTAL OPERATING EXPENSE	NET OPERATING PROFIT-LOSS	ACCUMULATIVE TO DATE ... WEEKS-33	ACCUMULATIVE TO DATE ... WEEKS-32
CAPITOL
PRINCESS TOTALS PERCENT

CAPITOL

HOURLY	SUNDAY CHILD ATTEND.	SUNDAY ADULT ATTEND.	SUNDAY GROSS RECEIPTS	MONDAY CHILD ATTEND	MONDAY ADULT ATTEND	MONDAY GROSS RECEIPTS	TUESDAY CHILD ATTEND.	TUESDAY ADULT ATTEND.	TUESDAY GROSS RECEIPTS	WEDNESDAY CHILD ATTEND.	WEDNESDAY ADULT ATTEND	WEDNESDAY GROSS RECEIPTS	THURSDAY CHILD ATTEND.	THURSDAY ADULT ATTEND.	THURSDAY GROSS RECEIPTS	FRIDAY CHILD ATTEND.	FRIDAY ADULT ATTEND	FRIDAY GROSS RECEIPTS	SATURDAY CHILD ATTEND	SATURDAY ADULT ATTEND	SATURDAY GROSS RECEIPTS
1-2
2-3
3-4
4-5
5-6
TOTAL BAL.
TOTAL MAIN
TOTAL MAT.
6-7
7-8
8-9
9-10
TOTAL BAL.
TOTAL MAIN
TOTAL EVE.
TOTAL DAY

WEEKLY PASSES
FREE
10¢
TOTAL

PRINCESS

HOURLY	SUNDAY CHILD ATTEND.	SUNDAY ADULT ATTEND	SUNDAY GROSS RECEIPTS	MONDAY CHILD ATTEND	MONDAY ADULT ATTEND.	MONDAY GROSS RECEIPTS	TUESDAY CHILD ATTEND	TUESDAY ADULT ATTEND.	TUESDAY GROSS RECEIPTS	WEDNESDAY CHILD ATTEND.	WEDNESDAY ADULT ATTEND.	WEDNESDAY GROSS RECEIPTS	THURSDAY CHILD ATTEND.	THURSDAY ADULT ATTEND	THURSDAY GROSS RECEIPTS	FRIDAY ADULT ATTEND.	FRIDAY CHILD ATTEND	FRIDAY GROSS RECEIPTS	SATURDAY CHILD ATTEND.	SATURDAY ADULT ATTEND	SATURDAY GROSS RECEIPTS
1-2
2-3
3-4
4-5
5-6
TOTAL BAL.
TOTAL MAIN
TOTAL MAT.
6-7
7-8
8-9
9-10
TOTAL BAL.
TOTAL MAIN
TOTAL EVE.
TOTAL DAY

WEEKLY PASES
FREE
10¢
TOTAL

QUICK SERVICE IDEAS THAT WORKED

CHARLIE DUTKIN, Parkside, Camden, N. J., in addition to his theatre duties, finds time to act as "Uncle Charlie" on a weekly broadcast in which he sponsors a theatre kiddie radio club with talent selected from the membership. It's a smart idea that helps to keep the theatre in the limelight, at the same time providing a lot of handy material for his amateur shows. . . .

HERMAN STARR, Cove Theatre, Glen Cove, L. I., is putting out a very distinctive eight-page program, published weekly, that does a neat job in selling the theatre. Recently, Herman put over a Hallowe'en ball at the theatre in which a popular girl was crowned queen of the harvest, and many prizes given for unique costumes. . . .

BILL LEVEY, Capitol, Riverhead, L. I., took active part in the recent celebration of a county anniversary by acting on the motion picture arrangements committee and also furnishing a striking bannered theatre float in an elaborate street parade. The souvenir program acknowledged this member's assistance and also of the help given by the president of the Prudential Circuit, of which the Capitol is a unit. . . .

A. C. STOCK, New Iroquois, Petrolia, Ont., Canada, forwards a monthly cardboard program, distributed to his patrons and also to his merchants. The card contains the days and dates of the month under which are included the titles and stars showing on the different days. . . .

MESA THEATRE, Grand Junction, Colo., puts out an interesting regular sized four-page weekly newspaper with a lot of good stories and art work on coming attractions. The front page of one issue was given over to publicity on a School Teachers' convention, held locally, for which event Universal's "S.O.S. Iceberg" was the feature. . . .

HERMAN KAHN, Highland Park, N. J., evidently spends lots of time in supervising the comfort of his patrons, for he has been receiving a number of unsolicited messages of appreciation on his theatre and attractions. . . .

GEORGE A. MILLER, Hamilton, Hamilton, N. Y., also goes for a snappy four-page weekly program with a load of interesting dope on what's what at his theatre. George put out a lot of the flashy tabs on his recent showing of "Deluge" with a flock of newsboys distributing the special edition on the streets and from house to house. . . .

POSTER ART WORK FOR THE THEATRE!

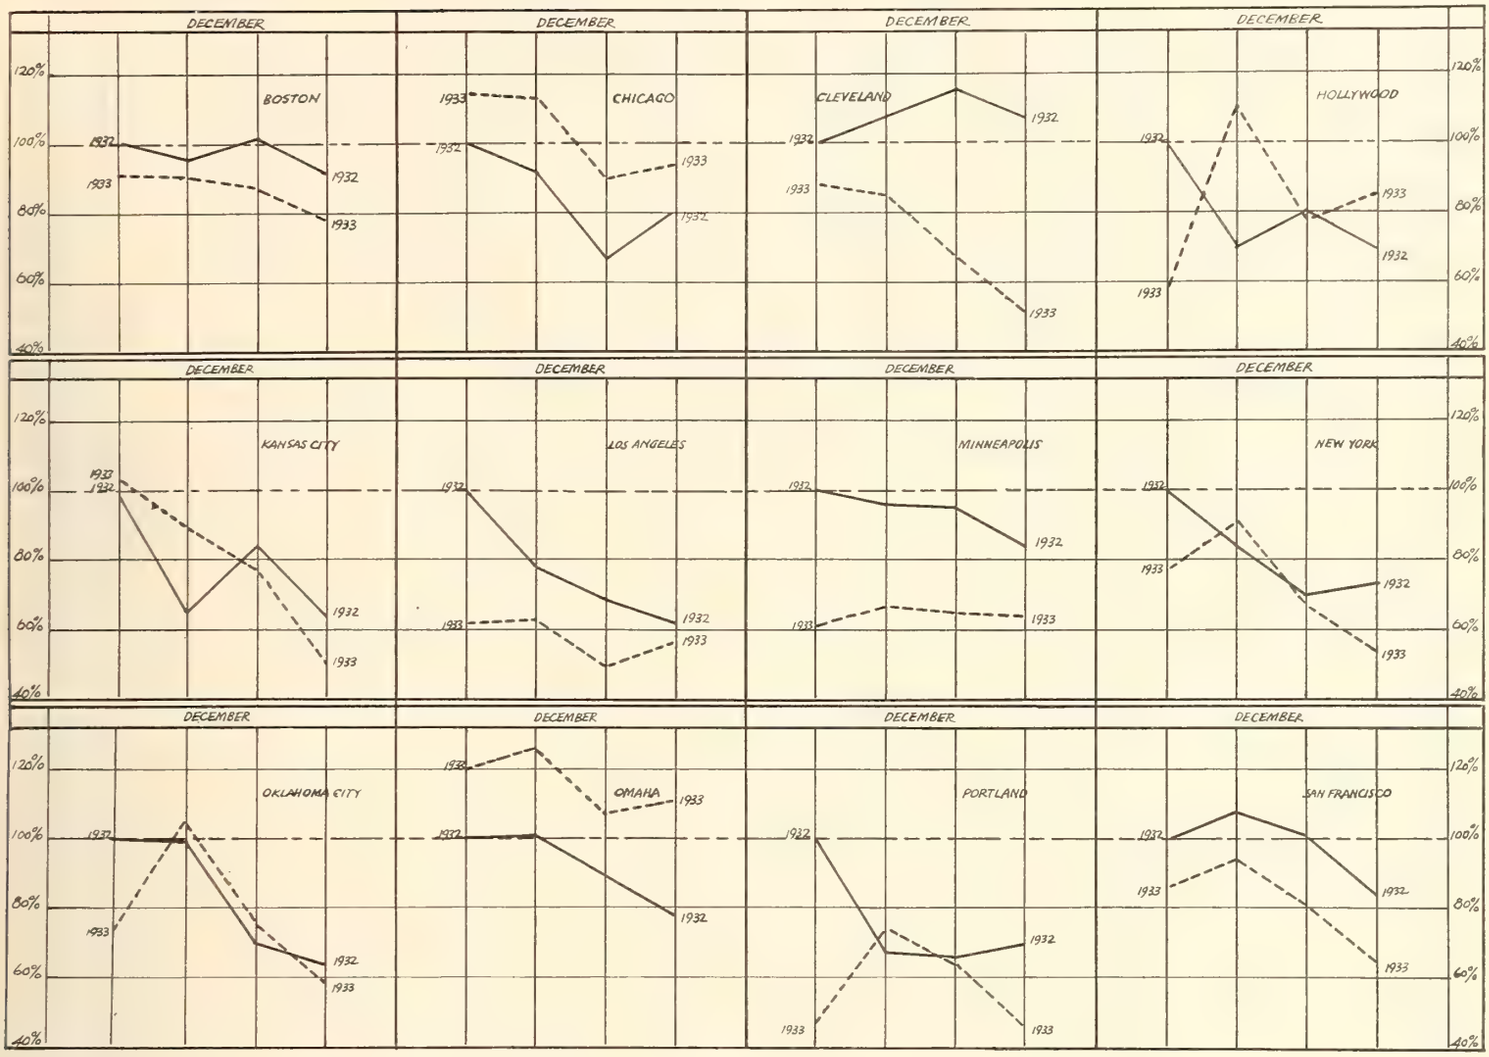
Here's another from the pen of Don Andorfer, Strand Theatre, Whitewater, Wis. The head was reddish-purple with a reflected light of light green; the name was light blue; the title orange and the background in black. Sounds mighty good to us.

DONALD EDWIN ANDOVER, well known poster artist, Strand Theatre, Whitewater, Wisc., who is responsible for the poster on this page, adds further to his fame by being commissioned to do a pencil portrait of his Dietrich poster for a leading London printer. The British merchant saw Don's work in a trade paper, and requested the original, but as it already had been purchased by the American Lead Pencil Co., Don is now making up another. Great work, boy, and here's hoping for more of the same soon. . . .

B. C. TALLY, Carolina Theatre, Lumberton, N. C., put over a nice co-op page on "Take a Chance," in which each merchant used a picture mat to make his ad punchier, and also gave away a number of free tickets with sales above a certain amount which Tally reports brought in a flock of extra admissions. . . .

LEO YOUNG, Isis Theatre, Lynchburg, Va., sends in some nice flashes on his lobby on "Flaming Gold" and "Deluge." Leo specializes in crowd-stopping fronts, and his displays on the above are in keeping with his usual good work . . .

LOUIS LAMM, Capitol, Elyria, Ohio, put over some neat stuff on "Bureau of Missing Persons" by adding a different twist to the newspaper classified tieup gag with an offer of free tickets to the first one discovering a missing name from one of the ads on the want page. Beside a two-column free ad, Lamm also promoted a swell newspaper story by his police chief describing how a local missing person was found. . . .



SAUL L. (GOLDIE) GOLDSTEIN, Ideal Theatre, Roxbury, Mass., is getting out some snappy four-page newsette size programs, well set up and nicely edited. Beside the picture stories, Saul writes a column under the title of "Goldie's Gossip," containing a lot of good selling dope. Not being in reaching distance of a local paper, Goldie puts out his own heralds on colored stock distributed through stores and from house to house. . . .

CHARLES CURRAN, M. & P. Circuit exploiteer, promoted a baliopticon slide outfit on "Bureau of Missing Persons" at the Paramount and Fenway Theatres, Boston. The slides containing picture copy were flashed from the theatre on to the walls of a hotel across the street. Neat idea for a crowd stopper and could be used to advantage in other spots. . . .

LOU GOLDBERG, Columbia exploitation chief, has arranged for the director of dramatics at the New Jersey State Boys' Home to use scenario material in condensed form for the dramatic activities of the institution. The boys, 8 to 16, put on a show each week. . . .

DALTON BURGETT, Capitol, Chautauqua, N. Y., put on a gag with his police department and newspaper that returned a lot of unusual publicity on "Bureau of Missing Persons." He had a pocketbook dropped on the street with a couple of phony letters tying into the picture and a kidnap gal angle. The paper went for a long story on it, winding up by mentioning the picture and theatre and giving Burgett credit for arranging the stunt. . . .

CHARLIE BASSIN, Oriental, Mattapan, Mass., gets out a form each year, allowing patrons to reserve certain seats on certain days, his program changing twice a week. As his entire orchestra is reserved for every show, this stunt helps to build up permanent patronage. Charley, as you know, is the lad who wrote that very interesting article on "What's Wrong With Ballyhoo," in the Nov. 25 issue, and by the way, have you read it?

The chart, based on Motion Picture Herald's tabulation of box office grosses, compares the business done during the first four weeks of December, 1933, with the corresponding period of 1932 in each of twelve key cities. In each city, the gross for the week ending December 2, 1932, is taken as 100 per cent. The twelve cities are Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Hollywood, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, New York, Oklahoma City, Omaha, Portland (Ore.) and San Francisco.

Lesser Forms New Company

Sol Lesser, president and general manager of Principal Pictures Corporation, this week announced formation of a new company to be known as Principal Non-Theatrical Corporation. The business of the new company will be to produce and distribute sound pictures of feature length and short subjects in 16 mm. width.

Alfred Cohen has been appointed general manager of the new company, which is incorporated in New York, with headquarters in the RKO Building in Radio City. Mr. Lesser will be in charge of the western affiliations in Hollywood, in addition to duties as temporary president.

Keaton Signed by Educational For "Star" Comedy Series

E. W. Hammons, president of Educational, announced this week the signing of Buster Keaton for Educational's "Star Comedy" series.

E. H. Allen, production manager at Educational studios in Los Angeles, where Keaton comedies will be made, plans to place the first one in production about the first of February.

Fox Studio Expansion To Include Three New Buildings

Fox Film is accepting bids for the erection immediately of three new buildings at the Coast studio, in a program of expansion. Specifications call for a new assembly mill, sound stage, a projection room and re-recording channel building. The total cost of the improvements, including equipment to be installed, will be approximately $200,000.

Skouras Unit Bankrupt

Central New York State Theatres Corp., a subsidiary of Skouras Theatre Corporation, last week filed a schedule in bankruptcy, listing liabilities of $174,270, and assets of $9,293.

Frank Davis Promoted

Frank Davis, junior producer at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, has been promoted to the post of general assistant to Walter Wanger.

Schlesinger To Make 12

Leon Schlesinger announced last week that he will make 12 "Merry Melodies" in Cinecolor, delivering one each month during the next year for Warner release.

Fox West Coast Gains Permission for Pooling

Referee Samuel W. McNabb at Los Angeles has authorized Fox West Coast to pool certain of its houses with those of United Artists in a single operating unit. The order also permits Fox to effect compromises with creditors, taking approximately $12,000,000 from listed claims of $39,000,000, and to issue loan certificates to the total of $208,500 against the properties.

The first report and accounting of the trustees covering the period to last July 29, have been filed, along with the final receiver report. The receivers have turned over to the trustees the balance of $97,001 standing at the end of their tenure, April 8. The trustees' report shows a favorable balance of $137,140, after disbursements of $1,805,002. Loans are to conserve equities in various theatres.

Referee McNabb decided this week that trustees commissions and attorney fees will be proportional to what the estate may bring at auction or the valuation of properties, when that is ascertained. The decision followed a trustees' request for $100,000. Mr. McNabb offered each trustee $6,000 on account, which was refused. The case was postponed to February 13.

TECHNOLOGICAL

The BLUEBOOK School

By F. H. RICHARDSON

BLUEBOOK SCHOOL QUESTION NO. 205.—(A) What determines the focal length ot a simple lens? (B) Were you to cut off a section of three glass balls, one 4, one 8, and one 6 inches in diameter, and polish the flat sides, what would you have? (C) Will a lens focus any object having area to a pin point? (D) Just why does increase in diameter of a projection lens tend to decrease its depth of focus? (I doubt any of you can get through on that last one, but will watch with interest. Possibly some of you can dig up the answer.)

Answer to Question No. 199

Bluebook School Question No. 199 was: (A) An error. Asked previously. (B) Name possible sources of light loss in each element of the projector optical train. (C) Explain why line FA, Figure 25, page 125 of Bluebook, will not be refracted at all and why it will lose a minimum of light through reflection.

We have satisfactory answers from D. Danielson; S. Evans and C. Rau; T. Van Vaulkenburg; G. E. Doe, P. Gaeth, Jr.; L. Vanbuskirk and E. Kroll; H. H. Menefee; J. Wentworth; H. Edwards; R. De Totto; D. Danielson and H. Pilson; P. and F. H. Dalbey; G. R. Kelley; J. Lansing and R. D. Oberleigh; L. N. Traxler; G. Thompson; L. Hutch and D. Goldberg; H. B. and D. Coates; K. Greiner; B. Hoskins; Nic Granby; R. and K. Wells; O. L. Davis and F. Sims; D. Breaston and D. Haber; E. L. Richardson; T. H. Morton and F. G. Klar; W. B. Banning; K. L. Hess; M. F. Fallon; P. Felt; M. Spencer and D. T. Arlen; H. Grant; J. Williams and O. Allbright; D. Kurts and D. Howard; D. L. Monehan and L. B. Bryant; E. Kanley; D. Lally and F. Ferguson; L. Jones and B. L. Banning; D. L. Sinklow; K. L. Knight and M. Henderson; P. Danielson and L. Jacobs; S. N. Tailor; J. H. Rathburn and D. Little; F. and J. L. Hanson; H. R. Baldwin; J. Hendershot; L. G. Gergeson; W. A. Sampson and H. K. Doliver; U. L. Danielson; L. D. Rubin; H. Franks; L. Thomas and D. D. Davis; F. B. Tomlinson; D. U. Granger and H. D. Mitchel; B. J. Lyons and G. R. Squires; F. Harlor and G. Harrison; A. L. Dodson; D. H. and L. B. Palmer; R. Geddings and L. Grant; C. L. Cyrus and B. Olmsby; T. M. Vinson; K. Ormie; L. M. Richards; R. Schuley and M. R. Davidson; F. F. Franks; M. Henderson; D. Singleton and T. Dodge; L. Thomas and D. D. Davis; M. U. Sampson; G. Lathrope and M. L. Tomlinson; J. B. Buckley; T. T. Golley; H. D. Tyler; R. L. Mitchel; A. Wythe and W. T. Granger; F. L. Benton; T. Malleby; T. L. Kenny; B. L. Johnson; E. Conners and R. Dorfel.

Three queries came this week asking if it was necessary to be a member of a union to join the "Bluebook School." One small town manager wanted to know whether or not managers are admitted. I don't care what you belong to (barring gangs) or don't belong to, whether you are a projectionist or a manager, provided you send in legible answers, with your name, address and question number at top of first page thereof. You really should, however, be a subscriber to the HERALD, so that you will get it regularly each week and be able to cut out the answers and file them in a scrap book.

(B) Dale Danielson answers thusly: "Beginning with light source for the sake of completeness: Possible loss from an improperly formed crater or from a crater not in proper relation to the collector in the matter of angle. Damp or poor carbons. Carbon of wrong diameter. Mazda lamp having blackened globe or sagged filament.

"Condenser, dirty lenses. Pitted collector lens surface. (c) Poor or discolored glass. Wrong distance light source to collector lens. Too-thick lenses. Improper spacing of collector and converging lenses. Wrong type of condenser for the work.

"Mirror. Not right diameter. Too far from light source. Surface dirty. Reflection surface in poor condition.

"Rotating shutter. Blades unnecessarily wide. Too many blades.

"Spot. Spot too large.

"Projection lens. Lens surfaces not clean. Outer surfaces scratched or otherwise injured. Too small free diameter to admit entire light beam.

"Port glass. Not clean.

"Any obstruction to light or optical train not in perfect alignment."

To which brother Danielson adds points concerning the screen, but I hardly think that could be included in the optical system, though of that I am not so sure. Possibly if I bar that I should also have left the light source aperture and shutter out as well.

(C) On the whole, after careful examination I am forced to the conclusion that Danielson has answered Section C the best of any one. He says, "I am able to offer several reasons why a light ray represented by line FA will not be refracted. First of all, the law of refraction tells us light is refracted when it passes obliquely from one medium to another having different optical density. 'Oblique' is described as a slanting line, neither horizontal nor perpindicular to the surface in question. The reason for refraction of a light ray is that there is a change in the velocity of light when passing from one transparent medium to another of different density, which takes place at the surface where the change in density occurs. With this in mind, we are able to understand that when a light wave motion strikes the second medium obliquely one side will come into contact before the other, and therefore its action is retarded, while the other side retains its normal speed until it also enters the second medium.

"This action is the cause of refraction. Once inside the second medium the action will be in a straight line, provided the medium be homogeneous throughout.

"In the ray represented by line FA, all portions are incident upon the second medium at both sides of the lens at the same instant of time, under which condition there will of course be no refraction."

Photo League Announces Registration for Class

The Film and Photo League of New York this week announced the opening of registration for a class in elementary photography. This class, like the Harry Alan Potamkin Film School, is said to be a practical workshop planned to train those who have no experience in this direction. Nominal fees are to be charged. Classes begin January 5 at 116 Lexington Avenue, New York.

Honor Photographer

Ernest B. Bachrach, head of the still department of Radio on the Coast, has been awarded a diploma for "achievement of exceptional graphic studies," by the Royal Photographic Society.

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features which are finished or are in work, but to which release dates have not been assigned, are listed in "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the distributors. Where they vary, the change is probably due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1933, unless otherwise specified.

ALLIED PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Fighting Parson, The	Hoot Gibson-Marceline Day	May 22	70	June 3
One Year Later	Mary Brian-Russell Hopton	Aug. 25	69	Aug. 12
Picture Brides	Dorothy Mackaill-Regis Toomey	Nov. 1	68	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Bungalow Court
Davy Jones' Locker
Midnight Alarm
Open for Inspection
Silk Trimmed
Slightly Used

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
By Appointment Only	Lew Cody-Aileen Pringle	July 7	67	Dec. 2
Dance, Girl, Dance	Alan Dinehart-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 1	70	Nov. 11
I Have Lived	Alan Dinehart-Anita Page	June 15	69	Sept. 16
In the Money	"Skeets" Gallagher - Lois Wilson - Warren Hymer	Nov. 7	62
Man of Sentiment, A	Marian Marsh - Owen Moore - Wm. Bakewell	Sept. 15	74
Murder on the Campus	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	Dec. 27	73
Notorious But Nice	Marian Marsh-Betty Compson	Aug. 5	72	Nov. 11
Rainbow Over Broadway	Joan Marsh-Frank Albertson	Dec. 1	70

Coming Feature Attractions

Cross Streets — John Mack Brown - Claire Windsor-Anita Louise - Kenneth Thomson

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Above the Clouds	R. Cromwell-R. Armstrong-D. Wilson	Oct. 20	67
Before Midnight	June Collyer-Ralph Bellamy	Nov. 18	63
Brief Moment	Carole Lombard-Gene Raymond-Donald Cook	Sept. 8	69	Oct. 7
East of Fifth Ave.	Wallace Ford-Walter Connolly-Dorothy Tree	Oct. 20	76	Dec. 30
Fighting Code, The	Buck Jones-Diane Sinclair	Dec. 30	65
Fog	Mary Brian - Donald Cook - Reginald Denny	Nov. 22	69
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)
Fury of the Jungle	Donald Cook-Peggy Shannon	Oct. 20	68
Hold the Press	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey	Oct. 25	60
King of the Wild Horses	Wm. Janney-Dorothy Appleby	Nov. 10	66
Lady for a Day	Warren William-Guy Kibbee-May Robson-Glenda Farrell	Sept. 13	102	July 15
Man's Castle, A	Loretta Young-Spencer Tracy	Nov. 4	75
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 14.)
Master of Men	Jack Holt-Fay Wray	Oct. 28	68	Dec. 9
My Woman	Helen Twelvetrees - Wallace Ford - Victor Jory	Oct. 5	73	Oct. 21
Police Car 17	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 30	58	Nov. 18
Shadows of Sing Sing	Bruce Cabot - Mary Brian	Dec. 3	65
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)
Straightaway	Tim McCoy-Sue Carol	Dec. 22
Thrill Hunter, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Sept. 30	58	Nov. 25
Wrecker, The	Jack Holt-Genevieve Tobin	July 10	72	Aug. 12

Coming Feature Attractions

Fighting Ranger, The — Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier
It Happened One Night — Clark Gable-Claudette Colbert
Lady Is Willing, The — Leslie Howard-Binnie Barnes
Let's Fall in Love — Ann Sothern - Edmund Lowe
Line-Up, The — William Gargan-Marian Nixon
Man Trailer, The — Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker
Men of Tomorrow — Frankie Darro - Jackie Searl - George Breakston
Ninth Guest — Donald Cook-Genevieve Tobin
One Is Guilty — Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey
Once to Every Woman — Fay Wray - Walter Connolly - Ralph Bellamy
Party's Over, The
Speed Wings — Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp
Twentieth Century — John Barrymore
Whirlpool — Jack Holt

FIRST DIVISION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Drive, The		May 20	89	Jan. 28
Dassan		Dec. 22	36	Dec. 30
Eat 'Em Alive		Nov. 3	56	Nov. 18
He, King of Virtue	Fernandel-Colette Darfeuil	Dec. 26	58
Throne of God		Dec. 22	55	Dec. 30

Coming Feature Attractions

Road to Ruin — Helen Foster-Paul Page — 58

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Shakedown, The	Bette Davis - Chas. Farrell - Ricardo Cortez	Jan. 6,'34	64
Bureau of Missing Persons	Bette Davis - Lewis Stone - Glenda Farrell	Sept. 16	74	Sept. 2
Convention City	Joan Blondell-Dick Powell - A. Menjou - Mary Astor	Dec. 30	69	Dec. 9
Female	Ruth Chatterton	Nov. 11	60	Oct. 21
Goodbye Again	W. William - Joan Blondell	Sept. 9	66	June 17
Havana Widows	Joan Blondell-Glenda Farrell-Lyle Talbot	Nov. 18	62	Dec. 2
I Loved a Woman	Edward G. Robinson-Kay Francis - Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 23	90	Sept. 16
She Had to Say Yes	Loretta Young - Lyle Talbot	July 15	62	June 17
Son of a Sailor	Joe E. Brown - Johnny Mack Brown	Dec. 23	73	Dec. 9
Wild Boys of the Road	All Star	Oct. 7	68	Sept. 30
World Changes, The	Paul Muni	Nov. 25	93	Nov. 4

Coming Feature Attractions

Bedside — Warren William — Jan. 27,'34

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dark Hazard	Edward G. Robinson	Feb. 3,'34		Nov. 25
Fashions of 1934	William Powell-Bette Davis	Feb. 17,'34
Fur Coats	Aline MacMahon
Heat Lightning	Aline MacMahon-Glenda Farrell-Ana Dvorak - Lyle Talbot
Journal of a Crime	Ruth Chatterton
Mandalay	Kay Francis-Ricardo Cortez	Feb. 10,'34
Massacre	R. Barthelmess-Ann Dvorak	Jan. 20,'34
Modern Hero, A	Richard Barthelmess
Registered Nurse	Bebe Daniels-Lyle Talbot
Very Honorable Guy, A	Joe E. Brown
Wonder Bar	Al Jolson-Dick Powell-Ricardo Cortez-Dolores Del Rio-Kay Francis

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
As Husbands Go	Warner Baxter-Helen Vinson	Dec. 29	78	Nov. 18
Berkeley Square	Leslie Howard-Heather Angel	Nov. 3	90	July 22
Charlie Chan's Greatest Case	Warner Oland-Heather Angel	Sept. 15	71	Oct. 14
Devil's in Love, The	Victor Jory-Loretta Young	July 21	71	Aug. 5
Doctor Bull	Will Rogers - Louise Dresser - Marian Nixon-Ralph Morgan	Sept. 22	77	Oct. 14
F. P. I.	Conrad Veidt-Jill Esmond-Leslie Fenton	July 28	90	May 20
Good Companions, The	Jessie Matthews - Edmund Gwenn	Sept. 8	96	Apr. 29
Hoopla	Clara Bow-Preston Foster	Nov. 30	78	Dec. 9
I Am Suzanne!	Lilian Harvey-Gene Raymond	Jan. 5,'34
I Was a Spy	Herbert Marshall - Madeleine Carroll - Conrad Veidt	Dec. 15	75	Sept. 23
Jimmy and Sally	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Nov. 24	68	Dec. 23
Last Trail, The	George O'Brien-Claire Trevor	Aug. 25	60
Life in the Raw	George O'Brien-Claire Trevor	July 7	62	Nov. 4
Mad Game, The	Spencer Tracy - Claire Trevor - Preston Foster-Zita Johann	Oct. 27	65	Oct. 28
Man Who Dared, The	Ralph Morgan	July 14	75	July 15
Mr. Skitch	Will Rogers-Zasu Pitts	Dec. 22	76	Dec. 16
My Lips Betray	Lilian Harvey-John Boles	Nov. 10	79	Nov. 11
My Weakness	Lilian Harvey-Lew Ayres	Sept. 29	74	Sept. 30
Olsen's Big Moment	El Brendel	Nov. 17	66	Oct. 28
Paddy, the Next Best Thing	Janet Gaynor-Warner Baxter	Sept. 1	76	Sept. 2
Pilgrimage	Henrietta Crosman - Marian Nixon - Norman Foster	Aug. 18	90	July 22
Power and the Glory, The	Spencer Tracy-Colleen Moore	Oct. 6	76	Aug. 26
Shanghai Madness	Spencer Tracy-Fay Wray	Aug. 4	68	Sept. 2
Smoky	Victor Jory-Irene Bentley	Dec. 8	69	Dec. 9
Walls of Gold	Sally Eilers-Norman Foster	Oct. 13	70	Oct. 14
Worst Woman in Paris?	Benita Hume-Adolphe Menjou	Oct. 20	78	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Bottoms Up — Pat Paterson - Spencer Tracy - John Boles
Carolina — Janet Gaynor-Lionel Barrymore-Robert Young-Henrietta Crosman — Feb. 2,'34
Coming Out Party — Frances Dee-Gene Raymond
David Harum — Will Rogers-Louise Dresser
Disillusion — Victor Jory - John Boles - Rosemary Ames — Feb. 23,'34
Ever Since Eve — George O'Brien-Mary Brian — Feb. 9,'34
Every Girl for Herself — James Dunn-Claire Trevor — Feb. 16,'34
Fox Follies — (All Star Musical)
Frontier Marshal — George O'Brien-Irene Bentley — Jan. 19,'34 — 66
Only Girl, The — Lilian Harvey-Charles Boyer — 95 — Aug. 12
Orient Express — Heather Angel-Norman Foster — Jan. 12,'34
"Scandals" — Rudy Valee-George White-Alice Faye-Jimmy Durante
Sleepers East — Wynne Gibson-Preston Foster — Jan. 26,'34
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)
Three Against Death — Marion Burns-Kane Richmond

FREULER FILM ASSOCIATES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Easy Millions	Skeets Gallagher-Dorothy Burgess-Merna Kennedy	June 30	68
Marriage on Approval	Donald Dillaway-Barbara Kent-Phyllis Barry	Nov. 17	80
War of the Range	Tom Tyler	Sept. 22	60

Coming Feature Attractions

Black Cat, The
Bulldog Edition
East of Sudan
Green Paradise
Love After Thirty — Aileen Pringle - Theodore Von Eltz
My Wandering Boy
Red Man's Country
Silent Army, The
Sister of the Follies

GAUMONT-BRITISH

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baroud (See "Love In Morocco")
Britannia of Billingsgate	Violet Loraine-Gordon Harker		79½	Oct. 7
Channel Crossing	Constance Cummings - Matheson Lang
Falling for You	J. Hulbert-Cicely Courtneidge		88	Sept. 30
Fire Raisers, The	Leslie Banks
Ghost Train, The	Jack Hulbert	Dec. 1	68	Feb. 25
Ghoul, The	Boris Karloff		85	Oct. 28
It's a Boy	Edward Everett Horton - Leslie Henson		80	Sept. 30
Just Smith	Tom Walls
King of the Ritz	Stanley Lupino - Gina Malo		88
Love in Morocco	Rex Ingram	Dec. 1	67	Oct. 15,'32
(Reviewed under the title "Baroud")
Love on Wheels	Jack Hulbert-Gordon Harker		91
Lucky Number, The	Clifford Mollison - Joan Wyndham		72½	Sept. 9
Man from Toronto, The	Jessie Matthews - Ian Hunter - Fred Kerr		77

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Marry Me	Renate Muller-Harry Green		85	Apr. 22
Night and Day	Jack Hulbert-Winifred Shotter	Dec.	77	June 10
Orders Is Orders	Charlotte Greenwood - James Gleason		88½	Aug. 19
Prince of Wales, The
Sleeping Car	Ivor Novello-Madeleine Carroll		83	July 8
There Goes the Bride	Jessie Matthews	Dec.	79	Mar. 11
Waltz Time	Evelyn Laye	Oct.	81	Aug. 12
Woman in Command, The	Cicely Courtneidge - Edward Everett Horton		80

LIBERTY PICTURES

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheaters	"Bill" Boyd-Dorothy Mackaill-June Collyer
Mad Honeymoon, The
Quitter, The
School for Girls
Take the Stand
Two Heads on a Pillow
When Strangers Meet	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge
Without Children

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Charming Deceiver, The	Constance Cummings	Dec.	87	Sept. 16
(Reviewed under the title, "Heads We Go")
Curtain at Eight	Dorothy Mackaill - C. Aubrey Smith-Paul Cavanagh	Oct.	74
Morning After, The	Ben Lyon-Sally Eilers	Jan.	63	Oct. 28
(Reviewed under the title, "I Spy")
Sin of Nora Moran, The	Zita Johann-John Miljan	Dec.	65	Dec. 30
Sing, Sinner, Sing	Paul Lukas-Leila Hyams	Aug.	73	Aug. 19
You Made Me Love You	Thelma Todd-Stanley Lupino	Nov.	74	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Divorce Bed, The	Edward Arnold-John Miljan	Jan.	15,'34

MAYFAIR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dance Hall Hostess	Helen Chandler-Jason Robards-Edward Nugent	July	73	Sept. 2
Her Forgotten Past	Monte Blue - Barbara Kent - Henry B. Walthall	Sept.	68
Riot Squad	Madge Bellamy-Pat O'Malley	June	70	Aug. 5
Secret Sinners	Sue Carol-Nick Stuart	Oct.	70
What's Your Racket?	Regis Toomey-Noel Francis	Dec.	62

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Another Language	Helen Hayes-Robt. Montgomery	July	79	Aug. 5
Beauty for Sale	Otto Kruger-Madge Evans	Sept.	87	Sept. 9
Bombshell	Jean Harlow-Lee Tracy	Oct.	98	Oct. 7
Broadway to Hollywood	Alice Brady - Frank Morgan - Madge Evans-Eddie Quillan-Jackie Cooper-Russell Hardie-Fay Templeton - Jimmy Durante	Sept.	89	Sept. 9
Chief, The	Ed Wynn-D. Mackaill	Nov.	66	Dec. 9
Dancing Lady	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable	Nov.	94	Nov. 25
Day of Reckoning	Richard Dix-Madge Evans	Oct.	70	Nov. 11
Fugitive Lovers	Robt. Montgomery-Madge Evans	Jan.	78	Dec. 30
Going Hollywood	Marion Davies-Bing Crosby	Dec.	79	Dec. 16
Her Sweetheart	Marie Dressler-L. Barrymore	Nov.	87	Nov. 18
(Reviewed under the title, "Christopher Bean")
Hold Your Man	Jean Harlow-Clark Gable	July	89	July 8
Meet the Baron	Jack Pearl - Jimmy Durante - Zasu Pitts	Oct.	65	Nov. 4
Night Flight	H. Hayes - J. Barrymore - L. Barrymore - C. Gable - Robt. Montgomery	Oct.	91	Aug. 19
Penthouse	Warner Baxter-Myrna Loy-Mae Clarke-Phillips Holmes-Chas. Butterworth	Sept.	91	Sept. 9
Prizefighter and the Lady, The	Max Baer-Myrna Loy-Dempsey-Carnera-Walter Huston	Nov.	102	Oct. 28
Should Ladies Behave?	Alice Brady-Lionel Barrymore-Conway Tearle	Dec.	78	Nov. 11
(Reviewed under the title, "The Vinegar Tree")
Solitaire Man	Herbert Marshall - Elizabeth Allan - Lionel Atwill	Sept.	65	Sept. 16
Sons of the Desert	Laurel and Hardy	Dec.	68
Stage Mother	A. Brady - Russell Hardie - M. O'Sullivan - F. Tone	Sept.	87	Sept. 16
Storm at Daybreak	Nils Asther-Kay Francis	July	82	July 1
Stranger's Return, The	Lionel Barrymore - Franchot Tone-Miriam Hopkins	July	89	July 15
Tugboat Annie	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Robt. Young-M. O'Sullivan	Aug.	88	Aug. 12
Turn Back the Clock	Lee Tracy-Mae Clarke	Aug.	80	Sept. 2
Women in His Life, The	Otto Kruger-Isabel Jewell-Ben Lyon	Dec.	76

Coming Feature Attractions

Cat and the Fiddle, The	Jeanette MacDonald-Ramon Novarro	Feb.	9,'34
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)
Dinner at Eight	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore - Jean Harlow - Madge Evans - Karen Morley - Edmund Lowe - Lee Tracy - Jean Hersholt	Jan.	12,'34	113 June 10
Eskimo	Native Cast	Jan.	19,'34	117 Nov. 18
Hollywood Party, The	(All Star Musical)
It Happened One Day	Lionel Barrymore-Fay Bainter	Feb.	2,'34
Laughing Boy	Ramon Novarro-Lupe Velez	Feb.	9,'34
Men in White	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy	Feb.	16,'34
Mystery of the Dead Police	Robt. Montgomery - Elizabeth Allan	Mar.	2,'34
Old Hannibal	May Robson-Jean Parker	Jan.	26,'34
Queen Christina	Greta Garbo - John Gilbert		10?	Dec. 30
Rip Tide	Norma Shearer - Robert Montgomery-Herbert Marshall
Tarzan and His Mate	J. Weissmuller-M. O'Sullivan
Viva Villa	Wallace Beery-Fay Wray	Feb.	23,'34

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Avenger, The	Ralph Forbes-Adrienne Ames	Aug.	70	Oct. 7
Broken Dreams	Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper	Oct.	68	Nov. 4
Devil's Mate	Preston Foster-Peggy Shannon	Aug.	68	Aug. 12
Fighting Texans	Rex Bell	June	58	July 29
Fugitive, The	Rex Bell-Cecilia Parker	July	56
Galloping Romeo	Bob Steele-Doris Hill	Aug.	54
He Couldn't Take It	Ray Walker-Virginia Cherrill	Dec.	63
Rainbow Ranch	Rex Bell	July	55
Rangers' Code	Bob Steele	Aug.	56
Riders of Destiny	John Wayne-Cecilia Parker	Oct.	58
Sagebrush Trail	John Wayne	Dec.	58	Dec. 23
Sensation Hunters	Arline Judge-Preston Foster	Aug.	70
Sixteen Fathoms Deep	Sally O'Neil-Creighton Chaney	Jan.	57
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 2.)
Skyway	K. Crawford-Ray Walker	Aug.	65
Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, The	Mary Carlisle-Buster Crabbe	Oct.	76	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Ape, The
Beggars in Ermine	Lionel Atwill
Blue Steel	John Wayne
Jane Eyre
Lucky Texan, The	John Wayne
Man from Utah, The	John Wayne
Manhattan Love Song
Mystery Liner	Noah Beery - Astrid Allwyn - Cornelius Keith
West of the Divide	John Wayne-Virginia B. Faire
Woman's Man	John Halliday-Marguerite de la Motte-Wallace Ford	Jan.	10,'34

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alice in Wonderland	Charlotte Henry - R. Arlen - J. Oakie-Chas. Ruggles	Dec.	75	Dec. 16
Big Executive	Ricardo Cortez-Elizabeth Young	Aug.	72	Aug. 5
Cradle Song	Dorothea Wieck-Kent Taylor	Nov.	77	Nov. 4
Disgraced	Helen Twelvetrees-Bruce Cabot	July	65	June 24
Duck Soup	Four Marx Bros.	Nov.	80	Nov. 11
Eight Girls in a Boat	Kay Johnson - Dorothy Wilson - Doug. Montgomery	Jan.	78	Dec. 30
Girl Without a Room	M. Churchill-Chas. Farrell-C. Ruggles	Dec.	75	Dec. 9
Golden Harvest	Richard Arlen-Chester Morris-Genevieve Tobin	Sept.	70	Sept. 23
Design for Living	Miriam Hopkins-Fredric March-Gary Cooper	Dec.	88	Nov. 25
Hell and High Water	Richard Arlen-Judith Allen	Oct.	70	Oct. 21
Her Bodyguard	Wynne Gibson-Edmund Lowe	July	70	July 8
I'm No Angel	Mae West-Cary Grant	Oct.	87	Oct. 7
Lone Cowboy	Jackie Cooper	Dec.	68	Nov. 25
Mama Loves Papa	Charles Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lilyan Tashman	July	72	July 15
Man of the Forest	Randolph Scott-Verna Hillie	July	62½
Midnight Club	Clive Brook-George Raft-Helen Vinson-Alison Skipworth	July	70	July 29
One Sunday Afternoon	Gary Cooper-Fay Wray	Sept.	85	Aug. 26
Sitting Pretty	Jack Haley-Jack Oakie-Ginger Rogers	Nov.	80	Dec. 2
Song of Songs	Marlene Dietrich-Brian Aherne	Aug.	92	July 1
Take a Chance	James Dunn - June Knight - "Buddy" Rogers - Lillian Roth	Oct.	82	Nov. 4
This Day and Age	Charles Bickford-Judith Allen	Aug.	82	July 29
Three-Cornered Moon	C. Colbert-Richard Arlen-Lyda Roberti-Mary Boland	Aug.	72	Aug. 12
Thundering Herd, The	Randolph Scott-Judith Allen	Nov.	58½
Tillie and Gus	Alison Skipworth-W. C. Fields	Oct.	57½	Nov. 18
To the Last Man	Randolph Scott-Esther Ralston	Sept.	70	Sept. 16
Too Much Harmony	Bing Crosby-Jack Oakie-Lilyan Tashman	Sept.	75	Sept. 9
Torch Singer	Claudette Colbert - Ricardo Cortez - David Manners	Sept.	72	Sept. 2
Way to Love, The	Maurice Chevalier-Ann Dvorak	Oct.	84	Sept. 30
White Woman	Carole Lombard-Chas. Laughton-Chas. Bickford	Nov.	73	Oct. 28

Coming Feature Attractions

All of Me	Fredric March-Miriam Hopkins-George Raft	Jan.	26,'34
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)
Baby in the Ice-Box	Richard Arlen-Sally Eilers
Bolero	George Raft-Carole Lombard	Feb.	16,'34
Catherine the Great	Marlene Dietrich-John Lodge	Feb.	23,'34
Death Takes a Holiday	Fredric March-Evelyn Venable	Mar.	2,'34
Four Frightened People	C. Colbert - H. Marshall - Wm. Gargan - M. Boland	Jan.	19,'34
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)
Good Dame	Sylvia Sidney-Fredric March
His Double Life	Roland Young-Lillian Gish	Jan.	12,'34	68 Dec. 30
Last Round-Up, The	Randolph Scott-Barbara Adams	Jan.	26,'34	65
Man Who Broke His Heart, The	Preston Foster-Carole Lombard
Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen	Dorothea Wieck-Baby Le Roy	Jan.	12,'34	68 Dec. 23
No More Women	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Feb.	16,'34
Search for Beauty	Buster Crabbe-Ida Lupino	Feb.	2,'34
Six of a Kind	C. Ruggles - M. Boland - W. C. Fields - A. Skipworth - Burns and Allen	Feb.	9,'34

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Jaws of Justice	Kazan-Teddy and Richard Terry	Dec.	58
Russia Today		Nov.	42	Oct. 28
Tarzan the Fearless	Buster Crabbe	Aug.	61	Aug. 19
Thunder Over Mexico	Native Cast	Nov.	70	May 20

Coming Feature Attractions

Desperate Trails	Kazan
Ferocious Pal, The	Kazan
King of the North	Kazan
Lone Avenger, The	Kazan
Teeth of Steel	Kazan

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ace of Aces	Richard Dix - Elizabeth Allan - Ralph Bellamy	Oct.	74	Sept. 30
After Tonight	Constance Bennett - Gilbert Roland	Nov.	71	Oct. 28
Aggie Appleby	Wynne Gibson-Charles Farrell	Nov.	73	Oct. 28
Ann Vickers	Irene Dunne - Walter Huston - Conrad Nagel	Oct.	72	Sept. 30
Bed of Roses	Constance Bennett-Joel McCrea	July	67	July 8
Before Dawn	Stuart Erwin-Dorothy Wilson	Aug.	62	Oct. 21
Blind Adventure	Robt. Armstrong-Helen Mack	Aug.	60	Aug. 12
Chance at Heaven	Joel McCrea - Ginger Rogers - Marian Nixon	Oct.	70	Oct. 14
Deluge, The	Peggy Shannon - Lois Wilson - Sidney Blackmer-Matt Moore	Sept.	68	Aug. 19
Double Harness	Ann Harding-William Powell	July	74	July 8
Flaming Gold	Bill Boyd - Mae Clarke - Pat O'Brien	Sept.	53
Flying Devils	Arline Judge-Bruce Cabot-Ralph Bellamy-Eric Linden	July	62	Sept. 2
Flying Down to Rio	Dolores Del Rio - Gene Raymond - Raul Roulien	Dec.	80	Dec. 16
Goodbye Love	Charles Ruggles	Nov.	66
Headline Shooter	Wm. Gargan - Frances Dee - R. Bellamy-W. Ford-G. Ratoff	July	65	July 29
If I Were Free!	Irene Dunne-Nils Asther-Clive Brook	Dec.	66	Dec. 23

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Little Women	K. Hepburn - Jean Bennett - Frances Dee - Paul Lukas	Nov. 24	107	Nov. 11
Midshipman Jack	Bruce Cabot-Betty Furness	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 16
Morning Glory	K. Hepburn-D. Fairbanks, Jr.	Aug. 18	70	July 29
No Marriage Ties	Richard Dix-Doris Kenyon	Aug. 11	73	Aug. 12
One Man's Journey	Lionel Barrymore-Joel McCrea-Dorothy Jordan	Sept. 8	72	Sept. 9
Rafter Romance	Ginger Rogers-Norman Foster	Sept. 1	70	Aug. 5
Right to Romance, The	Ann Harding-Nils Asther	Nov. 17	70	Nov. 25
Son of Kong	Robert Armstrong-Helen Mack	Dec. 22	69½

Coming Feature Attractions

Girl Meets Boy	Joel McCrea
Hips, Hips, Hooray!	Wheeler and Woolsey
Long Lost Father (See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)	John Barrymore-Helen Chandler	Jan. 19,'34
Lost Patrol, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)	McLaglen-Karloff
Man of Two Worlds (See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)	Francis Lederer-Elissa Landi
Meanest Gal in Town, The	Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - El Brendel - James Gleason - "Skeets" Gallagher	Jan. 12,'34
Rodney	Walter Huston-Frances Dee
So You Won't Sing, Eh?	Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - Edward Everett Horton
Success Story	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.-Colleen Moore - Genevieve Tobin
Transient Love	Irene Dunne-Ralph Bellamy
Trigger (See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)	Katharine Hepburn
Wild Birds	Jean Parker-Tom Brown	Jan. 26,'34
World Outside, The	Ann Harding

SHOWMEN'S PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Race, The	Boots Mallory-John Darrow	Dec. 1	71
His Private Secretary	Evalyn Knapp - John Wayne	June 10	60	June 10
Moth, The	Sally O'Neil-Paul Page	Jan. 1,'34	63
Police Call	Merna Kennedy-Nick Stuart	July 24	60	Sept. 9
Public Stenographer	Lola Lane-Wm. Collier, Jr.	Nov. 1	62
Ship of Wanted Men	Dorothy Sebastian-Leon Waycoff	Sept. 24	63	Sept. 16

Coming Feature Attractions

Golden Head
St. Louis Woman
Souls in Pawn
Special Duty
Unlimited
Within the Rock

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Carnival Lady	Boots Mallory-Allen Vincent	Hollywood
Criminal at Large	Emlyn Williams-Cathleen Nesbitt	Helber Prods.	Jan. 15,'34	65
Cougar, the King Killer	Edwin C. Hill - Jay Bruce	Master Art	Nov. 1	60
Enlighten Thy Daughter	Beth Barton-Miriam Battista	Exploitation Picts	Jan. 15,'34	80	Dec. 30
Farewell to Love	Jan Kiepura-Heather Angel	Madison Plcts.	Nov. 24	66	Dec. 2
Film Parade		General Plcts.		55
Flaming Signal, The	Marceline Day	Invincible		64
Get That Venus	Ernest Truex - Jean Arthur	Regent Plcts.
Gow		Film Exchange	Nov. 29	65	Dec. 9
Hell's Holiday	(War Film)	Superb Plcts.		77	July 22
Her Secret	Sari Maritza - Wm. Collier, Jr.	Ideal		73
Her Splendid Folly	Lilian Bond - T. Von Eltz	Progressive	Oct. 7	59	Nov. 4
Important Witness, The	Noel Francis-Donald Dillaway	Tower	July 15	64	Oct. 21
Mad Age, The		Resolute Plcts.	July 19	70	July 29
Mam'zelle Nitouche	Janie Marese-Raimu	Protex	Nov. 18	90	Dec. 2
Mr. Broadway	All Star	B'way-Hollywood		59	Sept. 23
Over the Seven Seas		Vanderbilt		70	June 3
Passion of Joan of Arc, The	Maria Falconnetti	Capital	Sept. 7	57	Sept. 16
Reform Girl	Noel Francis-Donald Dillaway	Tower	July 15	64	Oct. 21
Savage Gold		Harold Auten	July 24	67	July 29
Secrets of Hollywood	Mae Busch - June Walters	Lester F. Scott		58	Sept. 16
Shepherd of the Seven Hills, The		Faith Pictures	Aug. 7	60	Aug. 19
Sleepless Nights	Polly Walker - Stanley Lupino	Remington	July 21	65	July 29
Through the Centuries		Beacon Films	Dec. 1	70	Dec. 16
Truth About Africa, The		Wm. Alexander		47	Apr. 22
Volga Volga	H. A. Shlettom	Kinematrade	Dec. 14	76
Wandering Jew, The	Jacob Ben-Ami	JAFA	Oct. 20	90	Oct. 28
Wine, Women and Song	Lilyan Tashman-Lew Cody	I. E. Chadwick		70	Dec. 23

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Advice to the Lovelorn	Lee Tracy-Sally Blane	Dec. 1	63	Dec. 9
Bitter Sweet	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey	Sept. 22	93	Aug. 19
Blood Money	George Bancroft-Frances Dee-Chick Chandler-Judith Anderson	Nov. 17	65	Nov. 18
Bowery, The	Wallace Beery - George Raft - Jackie Cooper - Fay Wray	Oct. 13	90	Oct. 7
Broadway Thru a Keyhole	Constance Cummings - Russ Columbo - Paul Kelly	Oct. 27	85	Oct. 21
Emperor Jones	Paul Robeson-Dudley Digges	Sept. 29	80	Sept. 23
Gallant Lady	Ann Harding-Clive Brook	Jan. 5,'34	86	Dec. 9
Masquerader, The	Ronald Colman-Elissa Landi	Sept. 1	75	Feb. 25
Private Life of Henry VIII, The	Charles Laughton	Nov. 3	97	Sept. 23
Roman Scandals	Eddie Cantor - Gloria Stuart - David Manners-Ruth Etting	Dec. 29	85	Dec. 9

Coming Feature Attractions

Affairs of Cellini, The	Fredric March
Born to Be Bad	Loretta Young-Cary Grant	Feb. 23,'34
Catherine the Great (T.)	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.- Elizabeth Bergner	Mar. 16,'34
House of Rothschild, The	George Arliss
Looking for Trouble	Spencer Tracy - Jack Oakie - Constance Cummings	Feb. 9,'34
Moulin Rouge	Constance Bennett - Franchot Tone - T. Carminati	Jan. 19,'34	71	Dec. 23
Nana	Anna Sten-Lionel Atwill-Phillips Holmes	Feb. 16,'34
Paleoka (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 2.)	Jimmy Durante - Stuart Erwin - Lupe Velez	Jan. 26,'34
Queen, The	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey
Sorrell and Son	H. B. Warner	Mar. 2,'34	99

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bombay Mail	Edmund Lowe-Onslow Stevens-Shirley Grey	Jan. 1,'34
By Candlelight	Elissa Landi-Paul Lukas	Dec. 18	70	Dec. 23
Counselor-at-Law	John Barrymore-Bebe Daniels	Dec. 25	78	Nov. 25
Don't Bet on Love	Lew Ayres-Ginger Rogers	July 13	62	July 29
Fiddlin' Buckaroo	Ken Maynard-Gloria Shea	July 20	62
Gun Justice	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Dec. 11	65
Her First Mate	Summerville-Pitts	Aug. 10	70	July 22
Horseplay	Slim Summerville-Andy Devine-Leila Hyams	Nov. 27	70
Invisible Man, The	Claude Rains - Gloria Stuart - Wm. Harrigan	Nov. 13	70	Nov. 4
King for a Night	Chester Morris - Helen Twelvetrees - Alice White	Oct. 30	78	Dec. 2
Ladies Must Love	June Knight - Neil Hamilton - Mary Carlisle-George E. Stone	Sept. 25	70	Sept. 9
Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!	Summerville-Pitts	Oct. 16	63	Nov. 11
Madame Spy	Fay Wray-Nils Asther	Jan. 8,'34	70
Moonlight and Pretzels	Mary Brian-Leo Carrillo	Aug. 3	84	Sept. 2
Myrt and Marge	Myrtle Dale - Donna Damerell - Ted Healy	Dec. 4	68	Sept. 9
Only Yesterday	John Boles-Margaret Sullavan-Benita Hume-Billie Burke	Nov. 6	105	Nov. 25
S. O. S. Iceberg	Rod La Rocque-Gibson Gowland	Oct. 23	70	Sept. 23
Saturday's Millions	Robert Young-Leila Hyams	Oct. 9	72	Sept. 23
Secret of the Blue Room, The	Lionel Atwill-Paul Lukas-Gloria Stuart-Onslow Stevens	July 20	65½	Sept. 23
Strawberry Roan	Ken Maynard-Ruth Hall	Oct. 26	60	Sept. 30
Trail Drive, The	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Sept. 4	60

Coming Feature Attractions

Beloved	John Boles-Gloria Stuart	Jan. 22,'34	Dec.	23
Crosby Murder Case, The	Wynne Gibson-Onslow Stevens-Alan Dinehart	Mar. 5,'34
Cross Country Cruise	Lew Ayres - Alice White - June Knight	Jan. 15,'34
I Like It That Way (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)	Gloria Stuart-Roger Pryor	Feb. 12,'34
Midnight	O. P. Heggie-Sidney Fox	Jan. 29,'34
Poor Rich, The	Edna May Oliver-Edward Everett Horton	Feb. 26,'34
Song for You, A	Marian Nixon-Jan Kiepura
Two Clucks	Summerville-Pitts	Mar. 12,'34
Wheels of Destiny	Ken Maynard	Feb. 19,'34

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baby Face	Barbara Stanwyck	July 1	74	Apr. 1
Captured!	Leslie Howard-Doug. Fairbanks, Jr. - Paul Lukas	Aug. 19	72	June 24
College Coach	Dick Powell-Pat O'Brien-Ann Dvorak - Lyle Talbot	Nov. 4	75	Nov. 18
Disraeli (Reissue)	George Arliss	Dec. 16	88	Dec. 14,'29
Ever in My Heart	Barbara Stanwyck	Oct. 28	68	Oct. 21
Footlight Parade	James Cagney - Joan Blondell - Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Guy Kibbee	Oct. 21	101	Oct. 7
From Headquarters	Geo. Brent-M. Lindsay	Dec. 2	63	Dec. 2
Gold Diggers of 1933	Warren William-Joan Blondell-Aline MacMahon-Ruby Keeler-Dick Powell	Sept. 2	98	May 27
House on 56th Street, The	Kay Francis - Ricardo Cortez - Gene Raymond	Dec. 23	68	Dec. 9
Kennel Murder Case	William Powell-Mary Astor	Oct. 28	73	Nov. 4
Lady Killer	James Cagney	Dec. 9	73	Dec. 2
Man from Monterey, The	John Wayne-Ruth Hall	July 15	57	Aug. 26
Mary Stevens, M.D.	Kay Francis	July 22	72	Aug. 12
Narrow Corner, The	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.	July 8	71	July 22
Voltaire	George Arliss-Doris Kenyon	Aug. 5	70	June 24

Coming Feature Attractions

As the Earth Turns	Jean Muir-Donald Woods
Dragon Murder Case, The	William Powell
Easy to Love (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)	Adolphe Menjou - Mary Astor - Genevieve Tobin	Jan. 13,'34
Gambling Lady	Barbara Stanwyck
Harold Teen	Hal LeRoy - Rochelle Hudson - Patricia Ellis
Heir Chaser, The	James Cagney - Bette Davis
Hi, Nellie!	Paul Muni	Jan. 20,'34
I've Got Your Number	Joan Blondell-Pat O'Brien	Feb. 24,'34
Merry Wives of Reno	Ann Dvorak - Glenda Farrell - Margaret Lindsay - Donald Woods
Radio Romance	Dick Powell - Pat O'Brien - Ginger Rogers
Upper World	Warren William - Mary Astor - Ginger Rogers

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Attraction, The	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	July 22	89	July 29
Counsel's Opinion	Henry Kendall	London Film		71	Apr. 22
Digging Deep	Henry Kendall-Wendy Barrie	British Lion
Don Quixote	Feodor Chaliapin-George Robey	British-United Artists			July 8
Girl from Maxim's, The	Frances Day	London Film			Oct. 14
Golden Goal, The	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	June 17	85	July 8
Hawleys of High Street	Leslie Fuller	British Int'l		68	July 8
I Lived with You	Ivor Novello - Ursula Jeans	Gaumont-British			Aug. 12
Just My Luck	Ralph Lynn	British and Dominions		80	May 20
Keep It Quiet	Frank Pettingell - Bertha Belmore	British Lion
Maid of the Mountains, The	Harry Welchman - Nancy Brown	British Int'l		80	Apr. 22
Men of Tomorrow	Maurice Braddell	Paramount-London Film		80	Apr. 15
Money for Speed	John Loder - Ida Lupino - Cyril McLaglen	British-United Artists		67	July 15
Never Trust a Woman	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	Oct.	90
On the Air	Davy Burnaby-Reginald Purdell-Betty Astell	British Lion
Prince of Arcadia	Carl Brisson	Gaumont-British		80	Oct. 28
Private Wives	Claude Allister-Betty Astell	British Lion
Radio Parade		British Int'l		70	May 13
Song You Gave Me, The	Bebe Daniels-Victor Varconi	British Int'l		84	Oct. 21
This Week of Grace	Gracie Fields	Radio		92	Oct. 28
Wedding Rehearsal	Roland Young	London Film

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1933 unless otherwise stated]

AUDIO PRODUCTIONS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Butterfly		10
Seed Dispersal		10
MUSICAL MOODS
1—Dance of the Hours		9
Hans Lange and Orchestra
2—Ave Maria		7
Dion Kennedy at the Organ
3—Waters of Minnetonka		6
Gus Haenschen and Orchestra
4—Hula Moon		7
Native Hawaiian Troupe
5—Waltz in A Flat Major		4
Hans Lange and Orchestra

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
KAZY KAT KARTOONS
Antique Antics		1 rl.
Curio Shop, The
House Cleaning		1 rl.
Krazy Spooks	Oct. 13	1 rl.
Out of the Ether	Sept. 5	7½
Stage Krazy	Nov. 13	1 rl.
Whack's Museum	Sept. 29	1 rl.
LAMB'S GAMBOLS
Hear 'Em and Weep		2 rls.
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
1—In Morocco	Sept. 29	1 rl.
2—In the Orient	Oct. 25
3—In South America	Dec. 14	1 rl.
MARCH OF THE YEARS
No. 1—"Boss" Tweed	Sept. 22	9½
No. 2—	Oct. 6	1 rl.
No. 3—Famous Crippon Case	Oct. 20	1 rl.
No. 4—Commander Perry Opens Japan	Oct. 24	1 rl.
MICKEY McGUIRE COMEDIES
1—Mickey's Touchdown	Oct. 14	18
2—Mickey's Tent Show	Oct. 27	18
3—Mickey's Covered Wagon	Nov. 30	18
4—Mickey's Minstrels
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
False Alarm		1 rl.
Hollywood Babes	Nov. 10
Movie Struck	Sept. 8	7½
Sandman Tales	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Scrappy's Art Gallery
World's Affair, The	June 5	1 rl.
MINUTE MYSTERIES
No. 1—Death Attends a Party	Oct. 6	9
No. 2—Fast Fangs	Oct. 13	1 rl.
No. 3—The Clown Dies	Dec. 14
No. 4—When the Lights Went Out		1 rl.
MUSICALS
No. 1 — Roamin' Through the Roses	Nov. 16	2 rls.
Art Jarrett
No. 2—Um-Pa	Nov. 24	2 rls.
Jack Osterman
GEO. SIDNEY AND CHAS. MURRAY
Radio-dough (Tent.)		2 rls.
SMITH AND DALE
Hold Your Temper		2 rls.
Hot Daze	Oct. 20	2 rls.
SUNRISE COMEDIES
Brother, Could You Spare a Million?	Sept. 13	17
Ken Murray
Entertainer, The	Oct. 4	20
Will Mahoney
Say It Isn't So	June 29	19
Richey Craig, Jr.
WORLD OF SPORT
Flying Gloves	Aug. 18	1 rl.
Hook and Line	July 28	1 rl.
In the Good Old Winter Time	June 17	1 rl.
We Want a Touchdown	Oct. 23	1 rl.
What the Scotch Started	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Who Said the Weaker Sex?	Sept. 8	9

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES
An Old Gypsy Custom	Jan. 12,'34	2 rls.
Big Squeal, The	July 9	18
Dora's Dunking Doughnuts	Sept. 1	20
Frozen Assets	Nov. 17
His Weak Moment	Oct. 13
Loose Relations	June 11	20
Super Snooper, The	Feb. 23,'34	2 rls.
AS A DOG THINKS
Walking the Dog	Sept. 29
You and I and the Gatepost	Aug. 25
BABY BURLESKS
Kid 'N Africa	Oct. 6
Polly Tix in Washington	June 4
War Babies	Sept. 18
BATTLE FOR LIFE
Beneath Our Feet	June 25	9
BRAY'S NATURGRAPHS
Giants of the North	June 4	7
Wild Life at Home	June 18	1 rl.
BROADWAY GOSSIP
No. 6	June 18
CORONET COMEDIES
Git Along Little Wifie	Nov. 3
Good Bad Man, The	Dec. 8
Inventors, The	Feb. 2,'34
North of Zero	Jan. 19,'34
DO YOU REMEMBER?
Old-Fashioned Newsreel, An	July 2
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Merrily Yours	Oct. 6
Pardon My Pups	Jan. 26,'34
What's To Do	Nov. 24
HODGE-PODGE
Any Way to Get There	July 16	9
Capers in Clay	July 30
Sawdust Sidelights	June 4	10
MERMAID COMEDIES (Harry Langdon)
Hooks and Jabs	Aug. 25
Leave It to Dad	Oct. 20
Pop's Pal	Dec. 29
Stage Hand, The	Sept. 8
Tied for Life	July 2	18
Trimmed in Furs	Jan. 5,'34	2 rls.
MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
Blue Blackbirds	Aug. 18
Farmers' Fatal Folly	Sept. 15	18
Freeze-Out, The	Dec. 22
Hot Hoofs	June 18
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Million Dollar Melody	Oct. 27
Poppin' the Cork	Dec. 15
ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
Across the Sea	Oct. 20	11
Canyon of Romance	Dec. 8
Enchanted Trail	Sept. 22
SONG HIT STORIES
Last Dogie, The	Nov. 17
Manhattan Lullaby (Helen Morgan)	Nov. 24
Slow Poke (Stepin Fetchit)	Sept. 22	1 rl.
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Expectant Father, The	Feb. 9,'34
Mr. Adam	Nov. 17
TERRY-TOONS
Banker's Daughter, The	June 25	6
Beanstalk Jack	Oct. 20	6
Fanny in the Lion's Den	July 23	6
Fanny's Wedding Day	Sept. 22
Grand Uproar	Aug. 25
Gypsy Fiddler, A	Oct. 6	6
Holland Days	Jan. 12,'34	6
Hypnotic Eyes	Aug.
In Venice	Dec. 15	6
King Zilch	June 11	6
Last Straw, The	Feb. 23,'34	6
Little Boy Blue	Nov. 30	6
Oil Can Mystery, The	July 9	6
Owl and the Pussycat, The	Mar. 9,'34	1 rl.
Pick-necking	Sept. 8
Rip Van Winkle	Feb. 9,'34
Robinson Crusoe	Nov. 17	6
Sunny South, The	Dec. 29	6
Three Bears, The	Jan. 26,'34	6
Village Blacksmith, The	Nov. 3	6
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Aces Wild	July 9	10
Divorce Sweets	Nov. 30
Honesty Pays, But Not Much	June 4
Mouse Trapper, The	Sept. 11
Static	Sept. 29	2 rls.
TORCHY COMEDIES (Ray Cooke)
Torchy's Loud Spooker	June 25	20
Trying Out Torchy	July 23	18
TREASURE CHEST
Air Maniacs	Dec. 15
Day Dreams	Dec. 8
Shorts	Nov. 10
Song of Vienna	Nov. 3
What Does 1934 Hold?	Dec. 22
Your Life Is in Your Hands	Sept. 22

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Following the Horses!	Sept. 1	9
Motor Mania!	Sept. 29	9
Conquest of the Air!	Nov. 30	9
Scouring the Seven Seas!	Oct. 20	9
Answering the Riot Call!	Dec. 22	9
Filming the Fashions	Nov. 10	9
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
Mississippi Showboats
Boardwalks of New York
Pagodas of Peiping	Aug. 18
Shades of Cairo	Aug. 25
The Desert Patrol	Sept. 1	10
Outposts of France	Sept. 15
Glimpses of Greece	Sept. 29
Playground of Pan	Oct. 13
Elephant Trails	Oct. 27
The Island of Malta	Nov. 3	10
A Day in Tokyo	Nov. 10	9
Byways in Bangkok	Nov. 24
Around the Acropolis	Nov. 30
Gem of the Sea	Dec. 15	9
Rural England	Dec. 22
London Medley	Dec. 29
Flemish Folk	Jan. 5,'34
Tunisian Travels	Jan. 19,'34
Sentinels of the Sea	Jan. 26,'34
Roaming the Netherlands	Feb. 9,'34
Cradle of Storms	Feb. 16,'34
In Java Sea	Feb. 23,'34
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
Where Is My Wandering Boy?	Aug. 18
For the Man She Loved	Sept. 8
Slander's Tongue	Sept. 22
Twin Dukes and a Duchess	Oct. 6
The Great Train Robbery	Oct. 27
A Moment of Madness	Nov. 4
Helen of the Chorus	Dec. 10
The Extravagant Wife	Jan. 5,'34
The Girl from the Country	Jan. 19,'34
Emma's Dilemma	Feb. 2,'34
The Heart of Valeska
Love's Old Sweet Song	Feb. 16,'34
SPECIAL SUBJECT
Aniakchak	Aug. 18	28

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
EDWIN C. HILL SERIES
1. Human Side of the News		10
2. Human Side of the News		10
MELODY MAKERS
Sammy Fain — With Eton Boys, N. Brokenshire and Evelyn Hoey		7
Cliff Friend—With Peggy Healy, Jack Fulton and Pickens Sisters		9
Benny Davis — With Roy Atwell, Charles Carlisle, Martha Ray and Jackie Green		8
Gus Edwards—With Ralph Kirbery, Four Minute Men and John S. Young		9
Stephen Foster—With John Hundley, Nancy McCord and Kelvin Keech		10
Fields and McHugh—With Jack Osterman and Pickens Sisters		9
Carrie Jacobs Bond—With Edwin C. Hill, Ralph Kirbery and Lew White
ORGANLOGUES
Songs of the Hills		6
Radio Rubes
Sally		7
Singin' Sam-Don Wallace
Night of Romance		7
Donald Novis-Ann Leaf-John Young
Tongue Twisters		7
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Ship of Dreams		7
Ralph Kirbery-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Melody on Parade		7
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Home Again		8
Nick Lucas-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Tintypes		6
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Oriental Phantasy		8
Charles Carlile-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Organ Festival		9
Lew White-Ann Leaf-Dick Liebert-Jesse Crawford
Melody Tour		8
Sylvia Froos-Dick Liebert-John S. Young
Organlogue-ing the Hits		8
Nick Lucas-Lew White-Herbert Rawlinson
Songs of Nations
Carlile-Rawlinson-White
Songs of the Range
Art Dickinson-Lew White
PET SUPERSTITIONS
1. Spilled Salt		10
Phyllis Barry-Geo. Lewis-J. Carrol Naish

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR SERIES
Crook's Tour	Sept. 23	19
Twin Screws	Dec. 30	2 rls.
Yeast Is West	Nov. 11
CHARLEY CHASE
Arabian Tights	June 3	20
Cracked Iceman	Jan. 27,'34	19
Luncheon at Twelve	Dec. 9	21
Midsummer Mush	Oct. 21	21
Sherman Said It	Sept. 2	17
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
British Guiana	Dec. 23	9
Colorful Ports of Call		1 rl.
Day in Venice	Oct. 28	9
Dutch Guiana, Land of Djuka	Sept. 2	10
Italy, Land of Inspiration	Nov. 25	1 rl.
New Zealand		9
Papua and Kalabahai	June 10	9
Scotland the Bonnie	Sept. 30	9
FLIP, THE FROG
Chinaman's Chance	June 24	8
Paleface	Aug. 12	8
Soda Squirt		7
GOOFY MOVIES
A Whole Show in One Reel	Sept. 9	9
LAUREL & HARDY
Busy Bodies	Oct. 7	20
Dirty Work	Nov. 25	20
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Hello, Pop!	July 1	17
Nertsery Rhymes	Aug. 26	20
Keg O' My Heart	Nov. 11	2 rls.
Rhapsody in Brew	Sept. 30	20
Symphony in Suds	Jan. 6,'34	2 rls.
MUSICAL REVUES
Beer and Pretzels	Aug. 26	20
Plane Nuts	Oct. 14	20
Roast Beef and Movies	Dec. 2	2 rls.
ODDITIES
Bear Hunting	Dec. 16	1 rl.
Fine Feathers	Nov. 18	9
Handlebars	Aug. 26	10
Happy Warriors	Oct. 21	9
Menu	Aug. 26	11
OUR GANG
Bedtime Worries	Sept. 9	21
Wild Poses		19
SPECIAL
Inflation		11
TAXI BOYS
Rummy, The	June 10	18
Thundering Taxis	June 24	16
TODD-KELLY
Air Fright	Dec. 23	2 rls.
Backs to Nature	Nov. 14	20
Beauty and the Bus	Sept. 16	18
WILLIE WHOPPER
Davy Jones' Locker	Dec. 9	1 rl.
Play Ball	Sept. 16	7
Spite Flight	Oct. 14	8
Stratos-Fear	Nov. 11	8

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
HEADLINERS
Bundle of Blues, A (Duke Ellington)	Sept. 1	10
Captain Henry's Radio Show (Lanny Ross-Annette Hanshaw-Don Voorhees	Aug. 11	11
Little Broadcast, The (Donald Novis - Arthur Tracy - Mills Bros. - Vincent Lopez-Roy Atwill	Oct. 27	11
Radio Roundup, A (Molasses 'n' January - Mary Small - The Poet Prince-Vaughn De Leath-Three X Sisters	Nov. 24
Rumba Rhythm (Vincent Lopez	Sept. 29	6
Station T.O.T.	Jan. 19,'34	1 rl.
Where's That Tiger? (Borrah Minnevitch	Dec. 22
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE
No. 11	June 2	10
No. 12	June 30	10
No. 13	July 28	10
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE—NEW SERIES
No. 1	Aug. 18	11
No. 2	Sept. 8	11
No. 3	Oct. 13	11
No. 4	Nov. 10	11
No. 5	Dec. 8	11
No. 6	Jan. 5,'34	11
ONE REEL ACTS
Detective Tom Howard of the Suicide Squad (Tom Howard	June 9	11
Jazz a La Cuba (Don Aspiazu	July 7	10
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL
No. 12—Treasure Hunt — Wings of Summer—Putting One Over with Lillian Roth	June 16	10
No. 13—Tableaux in Wax —Bird Sanctuary — Song Makers of America	July 14	10
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL—NEW SERIES
No. 1—Just a Little Dressing—The Rock Garden—Irving Mills	Aug. 11	10
No. 2—On the Trail of the Salmon—Trotting Out the Champion—Johnny Green	Sept. 8	10
No. 3—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews — September Morn—Harry Armstrong	Oct. 6	10
No. 4—Let's Go Crabbing — Manhattan Nocturne — Irvin S. Cobb	Nov. 3	10
No. 5 — The Old Mill — Jack Frost, Master Decorator — Song Makers of the Nation	Dec. 1	10
No. 6—	Dec. 29	10
No. 7—	Jan. 26,'34	10
POPEYE THE SAILOR
Blow Me Down	Oct. 27	7
I Eats My Spinach	Nov. 17	7
I Yam What I Yam	Sept. 20	7
Seasin's Greetinks	Dec. 8	7
Wild Elephinks	Dec. 29	7
SCREEN SONGS
"Boilesk" (Watson Sisters	June 9	7
Boo, Boo, Theme Song	Oct. 13	7
Down by the Old Mill Stream (Funny Boners	July 21	7
I Like Mountain Music (Eton Boys	Nov. 10	7
Keeps Rainin' All the Time (Gertrude Neisen	Jan. 12,'34	7
Sing, Babies, Sing (Baby Rose Marie	Dec. 15
Sing, Sisters, Sing (Three X Sisters	June 3	7
Stoopnocracy (Stoopnagle and Budd	Aug. 18	7
When Yuba Plays the Rumba on the Tuba (Mills Bros.	Sept. 16	7
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 12	June 9	10
No. 13	July 7	10
SCREEN SOUVENIRS—NEW SERIES
No. 1	Aug. 25	10
No. 2	Sept. 22	10
No. 3	Oct. 20	10
No. 4	Nov. 17	10
No. 5	Dec. 15	10
No. 6	Jan. 12,'34	10
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS
No. 1 — What Makes a Champion	Aug. 4	11
No. 2—Sporting Melodies	Aug. 25	10
No. 3—Water Lure	Sept. 22	10
No. 4—The March of the Champions	Oct. 20	11
No. 5—Kennel Kings	Nov. 24	10
No. 6—Around the Calendar	Dec. 22	1 rl.
No. 7—Jumping Giants	Jan. 26,'34	1 rl.
SPORTS EYE VIEW
Balance	June 23	10
Over the Jumps	July 21	10
Straight Shooters	July 21	11
TALKARTOONS
Betty Boop's Big Boss	June 2	7
Betty Boop's Hallowe'en Party	Nov. 3	7

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
I Heard ..... Don Redmond	Sept. 1	7
Morning, Noon and Night .. Rubinoff	Oct. 6	7
Mother Goose Land ..... Cab Calloway	June 23	7
Old Man of the Mountains .. Parade of Wooden Soldiers	Aug. 4 / Dec. 1	7 / 1 rl.
Popeye, the Sailor	July 7	7
She Wronged Him Right .. TWO-REEL COMEDIES	Jan. 5,'34	1 rl.
Barber, The ..... W. C. Fields	July 28	21
Big Fibber, The ..... Sennett Star	July 14	20
Cold Turkey ..... Joseph Cawthorne	Dec. 1	2 rls.
Daddy Knows Best ..... Walter Catlett	June 16	22
Ducky Dear ..... Sidney Toler	Sept. 1	19
Husband's Reunion ..... Sennett Star	July 7	19
Just an Echo ..... Bing Crosby	Jan. 19,'34	2 rls.
Knockout Kisses ..... Sennett Star	June 23	19
Marriage Humor ..... Harry Langdon	Aug. 18	19
Meet the Champ ..... Eugene Pallette-Walter Catlett	Aug. 4	21
Old Bugler, The ..... Chic Sale	Jan. 5,'34	2 rls.
On Ice ..... Harry Langdon	Oct. 6	21
One Awful Night ..... Pallette-Catlett	Oct. 20	21
Please ..... Bing Crosby	Dec. 15	2 rls.
Roaming Romeo, A ..... Harry Langdon	Dec. 29	2 rls.
Sailors, Beware ..... Catlett-Pallette	Sept. 15	18
See You Tonight ..... Sennett Star	June 2	21
Three Little Swigs ..... Leon Errol	Nov. 10	20

RKO-RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BLONDE and RED HEAD SERIES
Flirting in the Park	Aug. 18	20
Walking Back Home	Dec. 8	19
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Re-Issues)
The Count	Nov. 17
The Cure	Aug. 19	20
The Fireman	Aug. 28	21
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Fits in a Fiddle	Oct. 20	14½
Gay Nighties, The	June 23	20
Iceman's Ball, The	Aug. 13	20
Kicking the Crown Around	Aug. 4	19
Odor in the Court		2 rls.
Snug in a Jug	Nov. 2	20
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Cubby's Picnic	Oct. 6	7
World Flight		7
GRIBBON-KENNEDY COMEDIES
How Comedies Are Born	Sept. 8	19
Shakespeare with Tin Ears	June 30	18½
Suits to Nuts	Dec. 1	19
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 4—She Outdone Him	July 21
No. 5—Preferred List	Oct. 6	20
No. 6—Air Tonic	Dec. 22	21
MASQUERS COMEDIES
Abroad in Old Kentucky	Sept. 9	20
Stolen by Gypsies, or Beer and Bicycles	July 14	21
MICKEY McGUIRE SERIES
Mickey's Big Broadcast
Mickey's Disguise	July 28
MR. AVERAGE MAN COMEDIES (EDGAR KENNEDY)
Good Housewrecking	June 16	20
Grin and Bear It	Dec. 29	20½
Quiet Please	Aug. 11	20½
What Fur?	Nov. 3	21
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
California Weather	Dec. 15	20½
Harvest Moon Girl
Knee Deep in Music	Sept. 22	21½
MY BRIDGE EXPERIENCES (Ely Culbertson)
Forced Response, A	Sept. 15	17
Murder at the Bridge Table	Sept. 1	21
Society Cheaters	Sept. 29
What Not to Do in Bridge	Oct. 13	15
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks	Oct. 27	21
Three Knaves and a Queen	Nov. 10
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEW
Released once a month

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
SOGLOW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
Fatal Note, The	Sept. 29	7
Marching Along	Oct. 27	27
On the Pan	Nov. 24	7
Pals		1 rl.
SPECIALS
So This Is Harris	Jan. 19,'34	28

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
TOM AND JERRY SERIES
Phantom Rocket	July 21	1 rl.
Puzzled Pals		7
AMKINO
A Day In Moscow		26
Killing to Live		17
Kino Displays		10
BEVERLY HILLS PICTURES
Coocoo Capers
Flame of the Pacific		23
Terrors of the Amazon		29
CAESAR FILMS
Veneziana		1 rl.
FIRST DIVISION
Delhi	Nov. 15	10
My Side of the Story ..... David L. Hutton	Sept. 22	10
Strange Case of Tom Mooney	July 21	23
IDEAL
Canal Gypsies		9
Evolution		28
Goofy Games		8
Mystic East, The		10
Next War, The		28
We're on Our Way		9
INDUSTRIAL
The Silent Enemy		30
INVISIBLE
Snowman		10
RESOLUTE
Itchy Scratchy		3 rls.
MARY WARNER
Berlin: Its Sports and Recreation		8
Berlin: Rhythm of a Metropolis		8
Glimpses of Germany		8
Green Heart of Germany, The		20
Springtime on the Rhine		7
The Mosel		8
Trier, Oldest City in Germany		6
Vintagers' Festival in the Palatinate		10
Winter in the Bavarian Alps		1 rl.
Young Germany Goes Skiing		1 rl.
P. A. POWERS
Jack and the Beanstalk		6

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
9. The Mad Doctor	Jan. 20	6
10. Mickey's Pal Pluto	Feb. 10	7
11. The Mellerdrammer	Mar. 3	6
12. Ye Olden Days	Mar. 24	7
13. The Mail Pilot	June 5	7
14. Mickey's Mechanical Man	June 9	6
15. Mickey's Gala Premiere	June 30	7
16. Puppy Love	Aug. 14
17. Steeple Chase	Sept. 1	7
18. The Pet Store	Sept. 22
(NEW SERIES)
1. Giant Land	Nov. 15	7
2. Mickey Shanghaied
3. Playful Pluto
SILLY SYMPHONIES
6. Babes in the Wood	Dec. 2,'32	8
7. Santa's Workshop	Dec. 30,'32	7
8. Birds in the Spring	Dec. 30,'32	7
9. Father Noah's Ark	Jan. 27	8
10. Three Little Pigs	May 26	8
11. Old King Cole	July 27	8
12. Lullaby Land	Aug. 18	7
13. Pied Piper	Oct. 6	7
(NEW SERIES)
1. The Night Before Christmas	Dec. 15	8

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 1	Aug. 28	8
No. 2	Oct. 1	10
No. 3	Dec. 25	1 rl.
OSWALD CARTOONS
Candy House, The	Jan. 15,'34	1 rl.
Chicken Reel	Jan. 1,'34	8½
Confidence	July 31	7
County Fair	Jan. 29,'34	1 rl.
Five and Dime	Sept. 18	8
Ham and Eggs	June 19	6
In the Zoo	Nov. 6	7
Merry Old Soul	Nov. 27	8
Parking Space	Dec. 18	7
POOCH CARTOONS
Hot and Cold	Aug. 14	1 rl.
King Klunk	Sept. 4	9
Nature's Workshop	June 5	8
Pin Feathers	July 3	9
She Done Him Right	Oct. 9	7
RADIO STAR REELS
The Old Timers ..... Louis Sobol—No. 3		21
Peeping Tom ..... Louis Sobol—No. 4	Sept. 20	17
Boswell Sisters, The ..... Nick Kenny—No. 4	Dec. 6	2 rls.
SPECIALS
World's Greatest Thrills	Aug. 18	19
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS SERIES
No. 31—Novelty	Aug. 7	9
No. 32—Novelty	Sept. 4	1 rl.
No. 33—Novelty	Oct. 9	9
No. 34—Novelty	Nov. 20	1 rl.
No. 35—Novelty	Dec. 18	10
No. 36—Novelty	Jan. 22,'34	1 rl.
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES (1932-33 SEASON)
All at Sea ..... (Mentone No. 2)	Sept. 20	21
Big Benefit, The ..... (Mentone No. 3)	Oct. 18	21
Big Casino, The ..... (Mentone No. 4)	Nov. 29	21
Gleason's New Deal ..... James Gleason	July 12	20
His First Case ..... Vince Barnett	June 14	20
Meeting Mazie ..... Sterling Holloway	Dec. 20	20
Mountain Music ..... Louise Fazenda	Jan. 3,'34	18
Not the Marrying Kind ..... Sterling Holloway	Nov. 22	20
On the Air and Off ..... (Mentone No. 1)	Sept. 6	19
Open Sesame ..... Henry Armetta	Oct. 25	20
Out of Gas ..... Louise Fazenda	Nov. 8	21
Palsie Walsie ..... Henry Armetta	Jan. 31,'34	2 rls.
Pie for Two ..... James Gleason	Dec. 13	21
Stung Again ..... Louise Fazenda	Oct. 18	18
Supper at Six ..... (Mentone No. 5)	Dec. 27	18
Trifle Backward, A ..... Vince Barnett	Jan. 17,'34	19½
Vaudeville on Parade ..... (Mentone No. 6)	Jan. 24,'34	2 rls.
Warren Doane Brevity	Aug. 9	19
Where's Elmer? ..... Vince Barnett	Feb. 7,'34	2 rls.

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 11—How've You Bean? ..... Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	June 24
No. 12—An Idle Roomer ..... Jack Haley		20
No. 13—Nothing But the Tooth ..... Jack Haley	Aug. 19	19
BIG V COMEDIES (New Series)
No. 1—Salt Water Daffy ..... Jack Haley	Sept. 16	21
No. 2—Close Relations ..... Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Sept. 30	20
No. 3—Gobs of Fun ..... George Givot-Charles Judels	Oct. 21	21
No. 4—Turkey in the Raw ..... Gus Shy	Nov. 4	21
No. 5—In the Dough ..... Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Nov. 25	22
No. 6—Here Comes Flossie ..... Ben Blue	Dec. 9	18
No. 7—Tomalio ..... Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Dec. 30	21
No. 8 — How D'Ya Like That? ..... George Givot-Charles Judels	Jan. 13,'34	18
No. 9—Nervous Hands ..... Ben Blue	Feb. 3,'34	21
No. 10—Pugs and Kisses	Feb. 17,'34	21
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 8—Sky Symphony ..... Stoopnagle and Budd	June 3
No. 11—That Goes Double ..... Russ Columbo	July 29
No. 18—World's Champ ..... Jack Dempsey	July 11
No. 22—The Double-Crossing of Columbus ..... Charles Judels	July 15	19
No. 23—Pie a la Mode	June 19
No. 24—Crashing the Gate ..... Ruth Etting-Roy Atwell	July 1
No. 25—20,000 Cheers for the Chain Gang ..... Jerry Bergen-The Rollickers-Picken Sisters	Aug. 12	19
No. 26—The "No" Man ..... Hugh O'Connell-Anne Greenway	Aug. 26	19
BROADWAY BREVITIES (New Series)
No. 1—Use Your Imagination ..... Hal LeRoy-Mitzi Mayfair	Sept. 2	18
No. 2—Rufus Jones for President ..... Ethel Waters	Sept. 9	20
No. 3—Seasoned Greetings ..... Lita Grey Chaplin	Sept. 23	20
No. 4—Paul Revere, Jr. ..... Gus Shy-Janet Reade	Oct. 7	21
No. 5—Operator's Opera ..... Donald Novis-Dawn O'Day-Eton Boys	Oct. 14	21
No. 6—'Tis Spring ..... Patricia Ellis-Allen Jenkins	Oct. 28	19
No. 7—Yeast Is Yeast ..... Tom Patricola	Nov. 11	20
No. 8—The Mild West ..... Janet Reade-Olive Borden	Nov. 18	23
No. 9—Girl Trouble ..... Mitchell and Durante	Dec. 2	23
No. 10 — Manhattan Cocktale ..... Norma Terris-Four Eton Boys	Dec. 16	29
No. 11—Plane Crazy ..... Dorothy Lee-Arthur and Morton Havel	Dec. 23	20
No. 12—Kissing Time ..... Jane Froman-Georges Metaxa	Jan. 6,'34	22
No. 13—A Little Girl with Big Ideas ..... Molly Picon	Jan. 20,'34	29
No. 14 — Not Tonight, Josephine ..... Frank McHugh-Kitty Kelly	Jan. 27,'34	21
No. 15—Private Lessons ..... Hal LeRoy-Dawn O'Day	Feb. 10,'34	21
No. 16—Dinners I Hate	Feb. 24,'34	10
HOW TO BREAK 90 BOBBY JONES
No. 1—The Grip	May 15	9
No. 2—Position and Back Swing	June 10
No. 3—Hip Action	June 24
No. 4—Down Swing	July 8
No. 5—Impact	July 15
No. 6—Fine Points	Aug. 5	10
LOONEY TUNES
No. 8—Bosko's Knight Mare
No. 9—Bosko the Sheep-Herder		8
No. 10—Beau Bosko		7
No. 11—Bosko's Mechanical Man		7
No. 12—Bosko the Musketeer		7
No. 13—Bosko's Picture Show
LOONEY TUNES (New Series)
No. 1—Buddy's Day Out ..	Sept. 9	7
No. 2—Buddy's Beer Garden	Oct. 21	7
MELODY MASTERS
No. 10—The Alma Martyr		9
Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians
No. 11—The Name Is Familiar ..... Leon Belasco and Band
No. 12—The Audition ..... Hannah Williams-Phil Emerton's Band		20
No. 13—A Castilian Garden ..... Señor Del Pozo's Marimba Orchestra		9
MELODY MASTERS (New Series)
No. 1—Hot from Petrograd ..... Dave Apollon and Orchestra		10
No. 2—Barber Shop Blues ..... Claude Hopkins and Band		9
No. 3—Rubinoff and Band		10
No. 4—Eddie Duchin and Band		10
No. 5—Borrah Minnevitch and His Harmonica Rascals		10
No. 6—Jack Denny and Band		10
No. 7—Mills Blue Rhythm Band		10
MERRY MELODIES
No. 1—You're Too Careless with Your Kisses		8
No. 2—I Wish I Had Wings		7
No. 3—A Great Big Bunch of You		7
No. 4—Three's a Crowd		7
No. 5—Shanty Where Santa Claus Lives		7
No. 6—One Stop Ahead of My Shadow		7
No. 7—Young and Healthy		7
No. 8—The Organ Grinder		7
No. 9—Wake Up the Gypsy in Me		7
No. 10—I Like Mountain Music		7
No. 11—Shuffle Off to Buffalo		7
No. 12—The Dish Ran Away with the Spoon		7
No. 13—We're in the Money		7
MERRY MELODIES (New Series)
No. 1—I've Got to Sing a Torch Song		7
PEPPER POT
No. 21—Inklings
No. 22—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 6
No. 23—Around the World in 8 Minutes
No. 24—Fishermen's Holiday
No. 25—Stuck, Stuck, Stucco
No. 26—Seeing Samoa
PEPPER POT (New Series)
No. 1—Walter Donaldson		10
No. 2.—Admission 5c		10
No. 3—Rock-A-Bye-Bye, with Dr Rockwell		11
No. 4—Laughs in the Law		8
No. 5—Notre Dame Glee Club		8
No. 6—Harry Warren		10
No. 7—Easy Aces		10
No. 8—Little Miss Mischief		10
No. 9—Movie Memories		9
No. 10—The Tune Detective ..... Sigmund Spaeth		9
No. 11—Mississippi Suits		9
No. 12—The Wrong Wrong Trail ..... Block and Sully		10
No. 13—Song Hits, with Roy Turk		11
SPORT THRILLS SERIES TED HUSING
No. 1—
No. 2—
No. 3—
No. 4—Old Time Sport Thrills
No. 5—
No. 6—
WORLD AVENTURES E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Dancing Around the World		1 rl.
No. 2—Transportations of the World		1 rl.
No. 3—An Oriental Cocktail		10
No. 4—Curious Customs of the World		1 rl.
No. 5—From Bethlehem to Jerusalem		10
No. 6—High Spots of the Far East		10
No. 7—Main Streets		10
No. 8—Beauty Spots of the World		1 rl.
No. 9—Workers of the World		1 rl.
No. 10—Wonder Spots of the World		1 rl.
No. 11—Costumes of the World		1 rl.
No. 12—Strange Ceremonies		10
No. 13—Top of the World		10
MUSICAL WORLD JOURNEYS E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Exploring the Pacific		1 rl.
No. 2—Samoan Memories		1 rl.
No. 3—Heart of Paris		1 rl.
No. 4—Italy, the Old and the New		1 rl.
No. 5—Cannibal Islands		1 rl.
No. 6—Spanish America		1 rl.

SERIALS

(EACH SERIAL 12 EPISODES OF 2 RLS.)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MASCOT
Fighting with Kit Carson ..... Johnny Mack Brown-Noah Beery	July 6 (each)	20
Mystery Squadron, The ..... Bob Steele	Dec. 23
Three Musketeers, The ..... John Wayne-Ruth Hall	Apr. 7
Wolf Dog, The ..... Rin Tin Tin, Jr.-Frankie Darro-Boots Mallory	Sept. 30
PRINCIPAL
Tarzan, the Fearless ..... Buster Crabbe	Aug. 11 (each)	20
UNIVERSAL
Gordon of Ghost City ..... Buck Jones-Madge Bellamy	Aug. 14 (each)	20
Perils of Pauline ..... Evalyn Knapp-Robert Allen	Nov. 6 (each)	20
Phantom of the Air ..... Tom Tyler-Gloria Shea	May 22
Pirate Treasure ..... Richard Talmadge-Lucille Lund	Jan. 29,'34 (each)	20

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA Chairs, Sound Equipment, Moving Picture Machines, Screens, Spotlights, Stereopticons, etc. Projection Machines Repaired. Send for catalogue H. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

700 UPHOLSTERED CHAIRS REFINISHED like new. PICTURE THEATRE SEATING, 722 Springfield Ave., Newark, N. J.

CONVINCE YOURSELF—WRITE S. O. S. FOR real lowdown on reflector arcs, amplifiers, generators, chairs, rectifiers, anything. Ask for list. Trades taken. Tremendous savings. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT. Approved home-study training. Free Catalog. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, New York.

POSITIONS WANTED

PROJECTIONIST. BEST REFERENCES INCLUDing Western Electric. Write, 143 DIDAMA, Syracuse, New York.

WILL LEASE OR MANAGE YOUR THEATRE. Experienced showman in all its branches. Operated white and colored theatres. Advise capacity, opposition terms. BOX 359, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

POSTER - ARTIST EXPERIENCED. HEADS and figures specialty. Original. Reasonable salary. DONALD E. ANDORFER, Room 17, Hotel Stephani, Manitowoc, Wisc.

PROJECTIONIST — 10 YEARS' EXPERIENCE. Prefer theatre where reliability and good work are appreciated. Will go anywhere. BOX 356, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

WANTED TO BUY

RECTIFIER FOR LOW INTENSITY REflector lamps must take care of changeovers. DIXIE THEATRE, Glade Spring, Va.

WANT USED THEATRE CHAIRS, ALL KINDS. Also parts, accessories, etc. Send sample prepaid. Advise quantity and price, etc. GENERAL SEATING COMPANY, 2035 Charleston Street, Chicago.

LEDGER SYSTEMS

KNOW EVERY WEEK HOW YOU'RE DOING. Use Bryson Theatre Record Ledger practical, simple. Special now $2.00. Prepaid if cash with order. Guaranteed satisfactory. GEORGE FOSDICK, 4417 Stevens, Minneapolis, Minn.

NEW EQUIPMENT

A.C. CHANGEOVERS, 70 AMPERES AT ONEquarter of the cost. Let us know type lamp and set now in use. Just the thing for theatres needing more light. Also new A.C. lamps. CROWN, 311 W. 44th St., New York City.

STILL GOING—TICKETS 15c ROLL, MOST denominations and colors, misprints. Buy a year's supply. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

SACRIFICING NEW SUPERIOR TYPE X PROjectors with rear shutters, adapted to sound. COXSACKIE MANUFACTURING CORP., Coxsackie, N. Y.

RCA—EMBLEM OF PERFECT SOUND—YOURS for a song—trade your old obsolete soundheads for brand new RCA Photophones at small cost. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

TECHNICAL BOOKS

"RICHARDSON'S HAND BOOKS OF PROJECtion" in three volumes. Universally accredited as the best and most practical. Aaron Nadell's "Projection Sound Pictures." Complete information on sound equipment. Both text books complete for $12.80. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, 1790 Broadway, New York.

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

SCOTT MOORE, ASTORIA 8-0073, RECENTLY Guthrie McClintic's "Criminal at Large."

THEATRE PROGRAMS

THE BETTER CLASS AT THE LOWEST PRICES. all cuts furnished by us. Delivery same day copy received. THEATRE PRINTING CO., 720 So. Dearborn St., Chicago.

THEATRES WANTED

WANTED TO LEASE OR BUY, THEATRE IN city of not less than 10,000, prefer South, but will consider others if doing business, write stating location, opposition, seating capacity, film contracts, etc., which will be confidential. BOX 360, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

DON'T LAG BEHIND THIS YEAR—INSTALL Wide Fidelity sound, $179.70 up complete; soundheads, $49.50 up; unified control amplifiers, $50.00 up. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

MAIN DRIVING GEAR FOR SIMPLEX, RCA or Western Electric $4.00, a necessity in every booth; pad rollers 75c; exciter lamps, all sizes, 6 for $3.50; daily report pads, 500 sheets, $1.50; saddle mops, $3.60 per dozen; fan covers, rubberized, $8.00 per dozen. Bargain prices on all accessories. CROWN, 311 W. 44th St., New York City.

"BEST TONE AND EVERYTHING I KNOW" wires Paul Covey, Beaver, Oklahoma. Wide Fidelity is yours for a song. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

500 NEW LENSES AT SACRIFICE—ALL SIZES, $6.75 up—old lens traded. BOX 358, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

SCREEN RESURFACING

WE RESURFACE YOUR OLD SCREEN AND make it like new. BURDICK'S RE-NU SCREEN SURFACE CO., 823 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

REPRESENTATIVES WANTED

WANTED REPRESENTATIVES IN EVERY KEY film center to roadshow a religious sound motion picture appealing to Catholics. Prefer men who understand non-theatrical field and can handle entire bookings and exploitation. Must be able to finance themselves and post bond for territory. INTEGRITY FILM CORPORATION, 220 West 42nd St., New York.

STATE RIGHT EXCHANGES

NEW FOREIGN PRODUCTION WITH WONDERful exploitation tie-ups now available for territorial distributors, great picture for non-theatrical bookings such as churches, etc. Will sell both theatrical and non-theatrical rights for cash and percentage. Everything ready for release. Reserve territory at once. BOX 347, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

A Question
ANSWERED

WHAT big picture today does not include backgrounds that call for composite photography? The answer is obvious. . . . The really vital point is: what medium to use in photographing these important backgrounds? . . . Eastman has answered that question. Eastman Background Negative, with its remarkably fine grain, its surprising speed, and its excellent processing characteristics, completely solves the film problem of the composite shot. Eastman Kodak Company. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN
Background Negative

PARAMOUNT in Players

BRIAN AHERNE
JUDITH ALLEN
ADRIENNE AMES
LONA ANDRE
RICHARD ARLEN
GEORGE BARBIER
MARY BOLAND
GRACE BRADLEY
CARL BRISSON
KATHLEEN BURKE
GEORGE BURNS
& GRACIE ALLEN
KITTY CARLISLE
MARGUERITE CHURCHILL
CLAUDETTE COLBERT
GARY COOPER

LARRY "Buster" CRABBE
EDDIE CRAVEN
BING CROSBY
DOROTHY DELL
MARLENE DIETRICH
MAXINE DOYLE
FRANCES DRAKE
W. C. FIELDS
WILLIAM FRAWLEY
BARBARA FRITCHIE
FRANCES FULLER
CARY GRANT
JACK HALEY
CHARLOTTE HENRY
MIRIAM HOPKINS
ROSCOE KARNS

JACK LA RUE
CHARLES LAUGHTON
BABY LE ROY
CAROLE LOMBARD
FREDRIC MARCH
FOUR MARX BROS.
ETHEL MERMAN
GERTRUDE MICHAEL
JOE MORRISON
JACK OAKIE
GAIL PATRICK
GEORGE RAFT
SALLY RAND
LYDA ROBERTI
LANNY ROSS
JEAN ROUVEROL

CHARLIE RUGGLES
RANDOLPH SCOTT
SYLVIA SIDNEY
ALISON SKIPWORTH
SIR GUY STANDING
KENT TAYLOR
EVELYN VENABLE
MAE WEST
DOROTHEA WIECK
DOROTHY WILSON
TOBY WING
WALTER WOOLF
ELIZABETH YOUNG

IDA LUPINO HERBERT MARSHALL

Paramount Pictures

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

311 NOMINATED FOR CODE FIELD BOARDS

Names of Exhibitors and Exchangemen Submitted to Code Authority for Membership on Local Grievance and Clearance and Zoning Boards; Reopening of Code Hearings Asked by NRA Official to Settle Projectionists' Protests

FEWER FILMS IDEA OF HOLLYWOOD IS ANSWERED

Industry Won't Outgrow Distributors and Exhibitors Who Helped Build It, Herman Wobber Tells Terry Ramsaye on Coast; Declares There Must Be "Consistent Flow of Competent Product Competently Sold and Presented"

n Two Sections—Section One

ol. 114, No. 3 Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office, at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1879. Published Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $3.00 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. January 13, 1934

Take a letter please—

Dear Mister exhibitor—
There is so much good news to tell you as the year 1934 gets under way—when the public stands in line to see a #2. show in these days it must be the greatest attraction of our times GARBO packs 'em in at every performance of "Queen Christina" the big show of 1934!

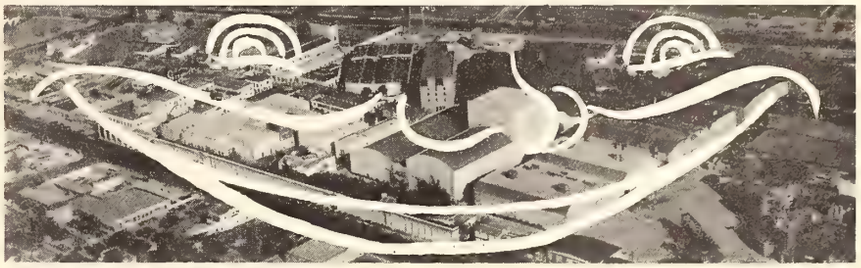
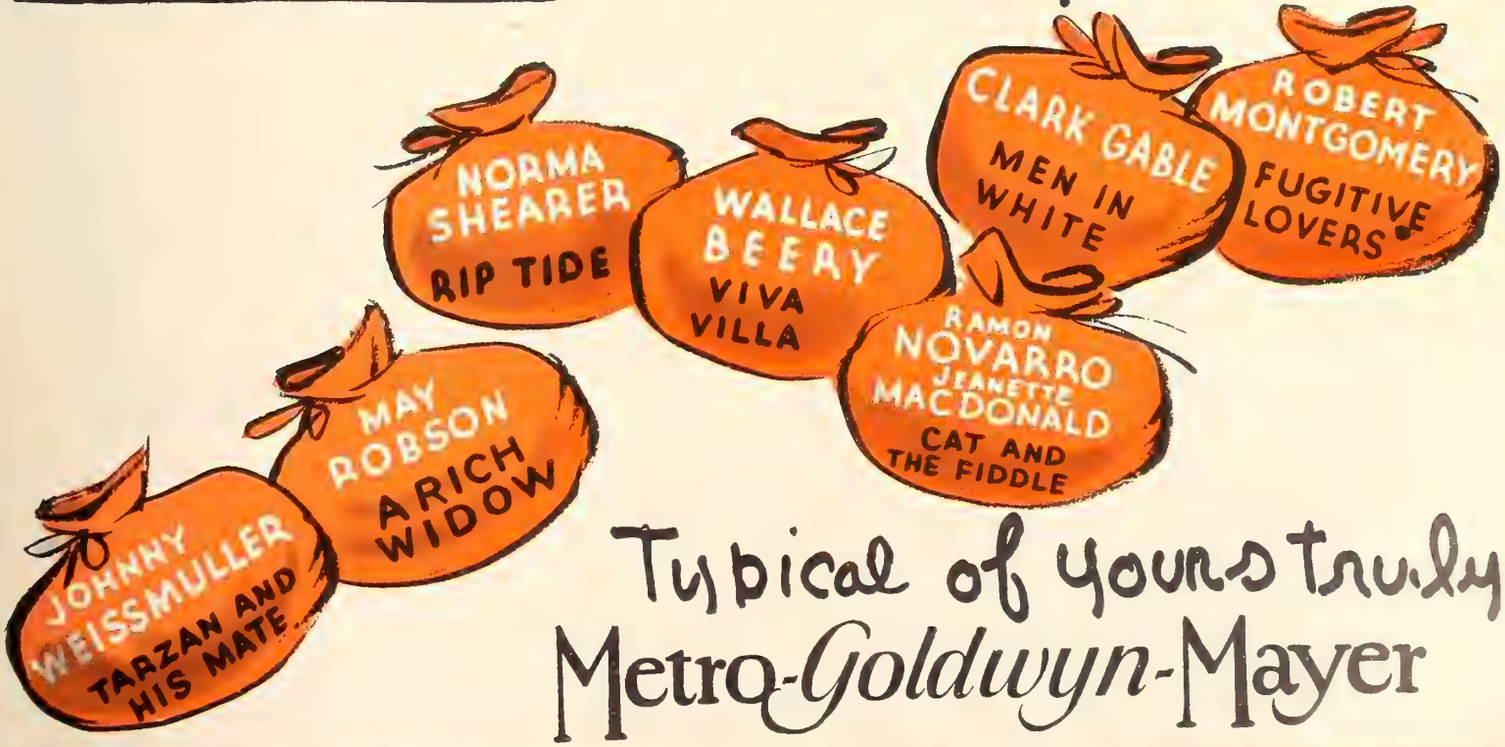
BIGGEST CAST OF STARS in amusement history!...

DINNER at 8



Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's Mightiest Entertainment



The biggest film sensation in 10 years! Never such a drama packed with thrills! The miracle picture of the screen!

From the Sam H. Harris stage play by GEORGE S. KAUFMAN and EDNA FERBER.

The trade paper headlines tell the story of "Dinner at 8" at popular prices, From Maine to California it is crashing through to new records.

M-G-M is the studio with a smile because week-after-week they are turning out HITS!

Typical of Yours truly

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

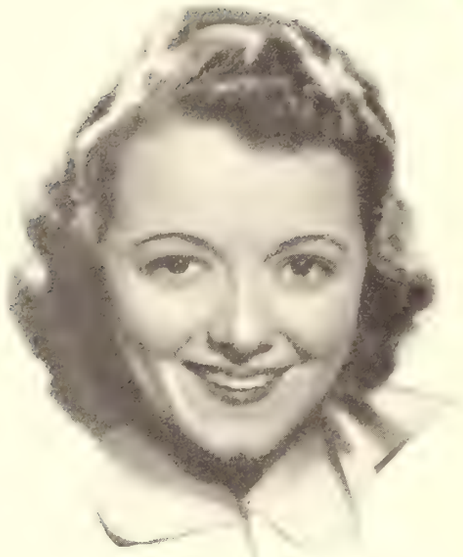
SEE PAGE 51 FOR "FUGITIVE LOVERS" $200 EXHIBITOR PRIZES!

Blazing Action

. . . GEARED TO BLAST THE ICICLES OFF EVERY POCKET-BOOK IN AMERICA . . . .

MAKE YOUR SCREEN AN ARENA OF WHIRLWIND THRILLS WITH DICK AS A FIGHTING RED MAN HURLING DEFIANCE AT HIS WHITE FOES

Warner Bros. exploitation crew is coming thru with a grand rush for "Massacre". Dozens of practical show ideas, flash street stunts, two-fisted ads and stories will be found in the big merchandizing campaign, soon available at all Warner Bros.—First National Exchanges—all emphasizing the showy Indian atmosphere and smashing action of this unusual attraction.



Vitagraph, Inc., Distributors

MASSACRE
SAVAGE BLOOD RUNS WILD AGAIN!
. . . THANKS TO WARNER BROS.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD
January 6, 1934

EXHIBITORS PICK 10 BIGGEST MONEY MAKING PLAYERS

and FOX has 2 out of the 3 FIRST

WATCH THIS PAGE

for news of other FOX personalities

. . . actors and actresses whose beauty or individuality . . coupled with the divine spark of talent . . . marks them for important positions in the firmament of stars.

They will rank prominently in your money-making lists of 1934!

★ ★ ★ ★ FOX ★ PERSONALITIES ★ PARADE

JAN 12 1934 ©CIB 213443

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 114, No. 3 January 13, 1934

THE PEERLESS JURY

CONSIDERATION of the preview methods applied in Hollywood and discussed in a recent issue brings up some proper questioning of the entire competency of the public of Southern California to sit in judgment on the art in behalf of the United States.

It need not be taken as an animadversion by the production community, which went to Hollywood for the sunshine anyway, when observation is made that various forces have concentrated abnormal and exaggerated types in the population of the region extending at least fifty miles up and down the coast from Los Angeles. It is the land of the cult and the ism, the temples of this and that, the domain of Aimee and Dave, Yogis, imported and Yankee, merchandisers of balloon juice and balogney, purveyors all to worshipful wishers rusting in the sunshine and hoping that belief and ritual in this and that will give them in this refuge-zone all that they could not win by merit and work in the eastern elsewhere from which they fled with their infantile yearnings.

The dumb literalism of this concentration of American illiterates and voodooists obtrudes in many manifestations as obviously primitive as the totems of the Andaman islands. First and foremost is the absence of even the rudiments of a power of abstract thought. A motor court, the west coast appellation for the roadside caravanserai that is hotel-and-garage to these semi-nomadic tribesmen of the sage clad canyons, is likely to be proclaimed, not by a tavern sign simply announcing the institution, but by a full relief sculptured group, including traveler and motor car—or in one fantastic example by a life-size model of a covered wagon and a group about a campfire. Typical of the literalism of the region is a tremendously costly array of gasoline signs, made up of white plaster full-relief and life-size models of racing cars mounted on monumental pedestals. The first sight of one is likely to give the eastern adult an impression that he is passing the grave of some local hero of the racetrack. The typography of the newspapers, even the best of them, lends to the notion that there are no readers but merely subscribers who sit and listen to the headlines scream while they get the thrill-news by osmosis.

It is to audiences of such a commonality that the producers of the motion picture distribute the prepaid postcards for the recording of emotional reactions. It is from this audience that they count the belly laughs, inventory the tears and clock the applause. One thing is certain, at least: aiming for bull's-eyes here they will never overshoot America.

As patent medicine merchandisers long ago learned, there is a genus homo sap, not sapiens, which loves to write testimonials. The radio, the fan mail of the stars and fan magazines, the Vox Pop columns of the daily press, all these, are full of kindred responses, more filled with the flavor of the nut than the meat.

The box office vote is cast by America's millions, but ahead of that vote Hollywood lovingly counts the totals cast up by the flattered few hundreds who write down their opinions on the pre-view cards. Research reveals no instance in the history of Los Angeles previewing where the majority vote was heavily against the production.

Yet the sagest of Hollywood producers will take issue with a seasoned box office judgment concerning a picture and reach to a top drawer to exhibit in exultation "the preview cards."

A preview fan is an intensified type of local patriot. Some pictures may be better than others, but they all are good. They are part of "My California, my Golden State, my Sierras, my etc."

Anybody who does not agree is the kind of a guy that would eat a Florida orange, and like it.

△ △ △

"PULLING FOR PARAMOUNT"

JUST as Motion Picture Herald was coming from the press in New York the other day with Mr. Martin Quigley's dissertation entitled "Paramount and Progress," the editor sat in a San Francisco office, chatting with Mr. Herman Wobber, now manager of Fox distribution in the great Pacific coast empire, and before that for some twenty-one years in the service of Paramount. Mr. Wobber was talking on the same theme, the significance of the survival and success of Paramount.

"That many years in an organization gives a sort of interest that goes out beyond the realm of ordinary business relation," observed Mr. Wobber. "So I have what might be called a sentimental concern for Paramount, as well as a deep realization of the meaning of its many, many years of consistent service to the industry. The well-being of Paramount continues to be most important to the motion picture. It is built into the foundations of the industry.

"And now functioning as a competitor, it is still important that Paramount should deliver good product and enjoy success. Working in behalf of the Fox Film Corporation, I do not want to follow inferior product from anybody's studio on anybody's screen. The interests of the industry today demand all of the good product that can be delivered. A good picture confers benefits that are shared by everybody in the business.

"In spite of the problems of the period and the storms of adversity, it will be found that Paramount's long career of service has built a depth and quality of goodwill that stands.

"They are all pulling for Paramount."

MOTION PICTURE HERALD MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago Bureau, 407 South Dearborn Street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London Bureau, 1021 A Finchley Road, Golders Green, London, England, Bernard Charman, representative; Berlin Bureau, Berlin-Tempelhof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 28, Joachim K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Bureau, 19, Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autre, representative; Rome Bureau, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio Malpassuti, representative; Sydney Bureau, 102 Sussex Street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico, James Lockhart, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1933 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and The Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK - - - -

UNIVERSAL APPEAL

Pictures with international appeal, to overcome foreign market handicaps, will be Warner's aim, declared Jack L. Warner, in charge of production, last week. "We can no longer afford to produce pictures for only American audiences." . . .

DENIED WRIT

The IATSE last week in Hollywood was denied an injunction against the IBEW (electrical workers), sought because of an alleged collusive agreement between IBEW and major studios. The superior court denounced IATSE for bringing the matter to court, pointing to unions' perennial fight against injunctions. . . .

BRITISH FILMS IN U. S.

Gaumont-British, large English producer, is preparing films definitely for the American market, says Arthur A. Lee, operating head of U. S. subsidiary, Gaumont British Picture Corporation of America. Heading the list: Leon Feuchtwanger's "Power," Evelyn Laye in "Princess Charming." . . .

TAX CUTS NET

Blamed by Stoll Theatres Corporation, London, is the amusement tax for its profit of $406.45 for the year ended September 30, comparing with net of $87,917 the previous year. No sizable profits can be expected until the law is changed, says the company. . . .

UNION DECISION

Decision of Judge Collins in New York for the defense in the action of projectionists' local 306 against the ITOA and Allied Operators was last week construed by defense counsel as upholding NRA principles. Decision makes it unnecessary for an exhibitor to reinstate a local 306 member or to cancel current agreements with any union. . . .

MPTOA CONVENTION

Likely next week is an MPTOA directors' meeting, called by president Ed Kuykendall, to complete plans for the 1934 convention, probably in February. A midwestern or southern city may be chosen, since opposition has been voiced to Los Angeles. . . .

MAYOR AT HAMILTON

Inadvertently report was made in these columns in the issue of December 30 that H. E. Wilton had been elected mayor of Toronto. Mr. Wilton is the new mayor of Hamilton, Ont., where he manages the Strand theatre. . . .

ON ACCOUNT

With small payments occasionally, Howard S. Cullman, operating the Roxy in New York, plans to settle the theatre's account with New York City. Of $218,000 back taxes owing, the receiver already has paid $65,000. Reorganization plans for the house are moving slowly. . . .

VICTOR VICTORY

Set aside recently by the U. S. circuit court of appeals in Virginia, was the claim of David Graves George, of Richmond, against the Victor Talking Machine Company, whereby he claimed authorship of the famous folk ballad, "The Wreck of the Old 97." . . .

CENSOR DEAD

E. A. Dunlop, Ontario, Canada, provincial treasurer, in charge of theatre licensing, amusement tax collection, film censoring, died in Toronto last week. A possible shift of censoring to the education department is disturbing exchanges, which fear greater restriction. . . .

In This Issue

Must sign Code by January 31; 311 nominated for field boards — Page 9

NRA official proposes reopening of Code hearings to revamp labor clauses; General Johnson hints 32-hour week among practically all industries — Page 11

Industry won't outgrow its builders, Herman Wobber tells Terry Ramsaye, answering Hollywood's "curtailment" theory — Page 13

DeCasseres comments on screen possibilities of latest stage plays — Page 15

Bonuses for theatre managers may follow Warner experiment — Page 16

FEATURES

Editorial — Page 7
The Camera Reports — Page 17
Asides and Interludes — Page 19

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me — Page 49
Showmen's Reviews — Page 38
Managers' Round Table — Page 57
Technological — Page 43
Short Features on Broadway — Page 53
Productions in Work — Page 37
The Release Chart — Page 65
Box Office Receipts — Page 44
Classified Advertising — Page 70

JUNIOR GUILD

Close to attainment of the status of auxiliary unit of the Hollywood Screen Actors' Guild is the Junior Actors' Guild, with 800 of its required 1,000 membership signed. As an auxiliary, the juniors will have one member on the parent directorate, create its own arbitration board. . . .

STUDENT ARRESTS

Paroled this week were 10 Columbia University schoolboys, following disorderly conduct arrests, when, as part of the uproarious welcome to a returning victorious football team, they, among several hundred, "crashed" the Nemo theatre near the campus, caused a rush injuring 20 when someone shouted "Fire!" . . .

CLEAR TITLE

To Fox this week was given full right to the title "Lola Montez," announced by MGM as a story for production, when an arbitration board, with representatives of Columbia, Paramount, Radio, Universal, Warner, unanimously decided for Fox. . . .

MANCALL NAMED

Boone Mancall, formerly editor of a technical motion picture publication, has been appointed by E. H. Goldstein, general sales manager, as advertising and publicity director of Majestic Pictures Corporation, succeeding Bert Ennis, who resigned last week. . . .

ST. LOUIS PROBLEMS

When on February 2 Harry Arthur and Harry Singer increase prices at the St. Louis theatre, that city's price war of three months will cease. Another problem, shortage of product, replaces price as a source of exhibitor insomnia. . . .

BRANDT RE-ELECTION

Definitely expected is the re-election of Harry Brandt as president and the complete administration of New York's Independent Theatre Owners Association at the February 7 election, since an opposition slate is lacking. . . .

CHATEAU DEAD

Dead in New Orleans is Arthur Chateau, Sr., 44, president of the local projectionists' union, leaving a son, Arthur Chateau, Jr., and a widow. . . .

IN FRENCH POST

With resignation of Max Laemmle in charge of Universal's French affairs at Paris, Max Friedland, Continental European manager, has taken over the position. . . .

MUST SIGN CODE BY JAN. 31; 311 NOMINATED BOARDS

Code Activities Of This Week

Now that the machinery for administering the motion picture industry's NRA code has started to function, many important developments pertaining to distributors and exhibitors in the field and to producers in Hollywood are occurring daily. This week's developments included:

1. Deadline for mailing signed acceptance blanks was extended from January 11 to midnight of January 31. The Code Authority received 2,500 acceptances Monday and Tuesday, chiefly from exhibitors; 100 signed with reservations were rejected and returned. 13,500 blanks were sent to exhibitors and 6,500 to others.

2. Abram F. Myers, Allied chairman, told Congressman Sirovich that independent exhibitors were being discriminated against under the code and that Congress must act. Sirovich said communications reaching him indicated that independents intend to petition all members of Congress and might "march on Washington."

3. Warning was issued that acceptance signatures made with reservations are worthless, and that all are bound under the code, whether or not they sign the blank.

4. Code Authority placed in work machinery for nationwide compliance.

5. Code Authority named committee to prepare manual for 64 field boards. Next meeting January 23 with R. H. Cochrane chairman.

6. Members of 200 Code Authorities throughout the country will be called to Washington in February to hear plan of General Johnson for handling of specific complaints about code violations.

7. White House talked about the part Federal Trade Commission will play in effecting code compliance.

8. National Recovery Administration announces the beginning of the end of overbuying by exhibitors.

9. Exhibitors and exchangemen in the field suggest 311 candidates for posts on 32 Local Clearance Boards and 32 Local Grievance Boards.

10. January 20 decided as last date for filing names of board candidates, with picking of boards set to start January 21.

11. Trade press selected as official medium for Code Authority announcements and instructions to the industry at large.

Total of 2,500 Acceptances Received in Two Days; But 100 Are Rejected Because Signed With Reservations; Independent Exhibitors Threaten "March on Washington," Says Sirovich

[A list of 311 candidates proposed by exhibitors and exchangemen for membership on local Grievance and Clearance and Zoning Boards appears on page 10. A reproduction of the acceptance blank is found on page 11.]

Decision of the Code Authority in New York to postpone the deadline for filing acceptance blanks from January 11, as required by law, to midnight of January 31, in order to give everybody in the industry sufficient opportunity to sign and return the blanks, 20,000 of which were placed in the mail only last week, was perhaps the most important code development of the week. A total of 13,500 blanks were sent to theatres, and 6,500 were directed to producers, distributors, exchanges and others.

All in the industry are bound under the code, regardless of whether or not they sign the acceptance blank. A signature on the blank guarantees the signer protection against unfair competition. Non-signers are not entitled to the full benefits of the code, which means that exchanges and exhibitors who do not sign can not file any complaints with the Local Grievance Boards, although they may be made the subject of a complaint filed by another party which does sign.

Qualified assents to the code carrying with them reservations of any nature whatsoever are not acceptable to the Code Authority, Ed Kuykendall, Code Authority member and president of the MPTOA, said Tuesday.

ADVISING RESERVATIONS MAY CAUSE SIGNATORIES DIFFICULTIES, IS WARNING

"It is my firm opinion that any association or individual who advises exhibitors, or anyone else in this industry, that they should send in an assent to the code with any reservations whatsoever, is misleading those to whom they make the statement and in all probability is helping to get them into serious difficulties," Mr. Kuykendall declared.

"Any serious minded person who is in any way anxious to be helpful to the exhibitors in this country would not give such advice. I know it to be a positive fact that the only acceptable assent that can be received by the Code Authority must be without any reservations whatsoever, and I sincerely advise exhibitors not to jeopardize their interests by trying to evade the spirit of the code.

"The exhibitor's only procedure should be a whole-hearted assent, and then, if anything appears that is discriminatory or unfair, it should be taken up through the various boards and the Code Authority as the law requires.

"Sign the regular, authorized form for code assent as sent out by the Code Authority. No other is acceptable."

REPORTS NON-SIGNERS MAY FILE PROTESTS DENIED BY ROSENBLATT

Reports that the NRA had issued a ruling to the effect that non-signers of the code would be at liberty to file protests against clearance and zoning schedules were declared without foundation at NRA headquarters in Washington on Tuesday. Mr. Rosenblatt said he was without knowledge of such a ruling and that the provisions of the code itself, requiring acceptance as a condition to obtaining relief, have not been amended or suspended.

The Code Authority's own committee appointed to speed up the work of obtaining signatures to the compliance board, placed in work machinery for accomplishing this purpose. On this committee are: Nathan Yamins (Allied); Ed Kuykendall (MPTOA), and J. Robert Rubin (MGM).

On Wednesday night the Code Authority went into its session in the offices of Harry Warner, at Warner headquarters in New York. This session was a continuation

[Continued on page 35]

311 NOMINATED TO BOARDS IN FIELD

The Code Authority in New York this week made known the names of 311 exhibitor and exchange candidates for membership on the 32 Local Grievance Boards and the 32 Local Clearance and Zoning Boards, as suggested by various individuals or companies in the industry. Anyone may suggest a candidate, but such candidate must be a bona fide distributor representative or a bona fide exhibitor. The deadline for filing suggestions for candidates is midnight on January 21. Any one of the candidates may also be selected as secretary of a local board. The Code Authority will begin the final selection January 21, subject to the approval of division administrator Sol. Rosenblatt.

The names of the first group of 311 candidates follow alphabetically and by zone:

ALBANY
William Benton
Chris. Buckley

ATLANTA
Louis Bach
Roy Le Craw
Wm. K. Jenkins
Ike Katz
O. C. Lam
Albert G. Maxwell
R. B. Wilby
Mitchel Wolfson

BOSTON
Edward Ausin
Ed Farrell
E. M. Fay
George A. Giles
Max L. Levenson
Walter B. Littlefield
Martin J. Mullin
George Ramsdell
Phillip Smith
Stanley Sumner

BUFFALO
Jack Berkowitz
Phil Cadoret
W. H. Cadoret
Dr. Peter Cornell
Thomas J. Hanrahan
Charles Hayman
Ned Komblike
Vincent J. McFaul
Jules H. Michael
Dave Miller
John Reed
Sidney Samson
J. Meyer Schine
Leon Shafer
H. T. Sixon

CHICAGO
James Coston
Phil Dunas
Edward Grossman
Walter Immerman
Felix Mendelssohn
Chas. Reagan
Lou Reinheimer
Jack Rose
J. Rubens
Aaron Saperstein
Edwin Silverman
Simon Simansky
Nate Wolf

CINCINNATI
Harold Bernstein
Charles Fine
W. A. Finney
Frank W. Huss
Stanley Jacques
William Keyes
H. O. Krent
Paul Krieger
I. Libson
Allan Moritz
R. E. Myers
J. Real Neth
J. Meyer Schine
Elmer Shard
Willis Vance
Maurice White

CLEVELAND
H. C. Bissel
Charles Burton
F. D. Drew
P. E. Essick
M. S. Fine
E. C. Flanigon
Matt Goodman
Henry Greenberger
Herb Greenblatt
Frank Gross
Paul Gusdanovic
J. Himmelein
Nat Holt
M. B. Horwitz
John D. Kalafat
John Kumler
Nat Lafton
M. A. Mooney
Dan Robbins
J. Meyer Schine
I. J. Schmertz
Martin G. Smith
Nat Wolf

CHICAGO
Henry Herbel

DALLAS
H. H. Cluck
Don C. Douglas
O. A. Englebrecht
L. C. Tidball
Roy L. Walker

DENVER
Joe Ashby
Wayne Ball
Earl Bell
L. J. Finske
Henry Fredel
Louis Hellborn
H. E. Huffman
Jack Langan
Jim Morrison
Rick Ricketson
Ed Schulte

DETROIT
E. C. Beatty
J. E. Flynn
Ed Kirchner
Charles A. Komer
Robert Peltier
James C. Ritter
J. L. Saxe
Carl H. Shalis
Lester Sturn
Geo. W. Trendle

KANSAS CITY
Mrs. A. Baier
A. F. Baker
George Baker
Wm. Benjamin
Arthur Cole
Ed Dubinsky
F. C. Hensler
W. J. Kubitzki
Lawrence Lehman
C. V. McVey
Jay Means
Fred Meyer
Fred Meyn
Elmer Rhoden
Roy Roberts
Clarence Schultz
Ward Scott
Harry Taylor
T. R. Thompson
William Troog
William Warner
E. E. Webber
Robert Withers

LOS ANGELES
Ben Berinstein
Lou Halper
George Hanes
Harry Hicks
Jake Milstein
Al O'Keef
Carroll Peacock
Rullsell Rogers
Howard Stubbins
Jack Sullivan

MEMPHIS
Page Baker
M. A. Lightman
Jimmy Rogers
Bill Ruffin
T. W. Sharp
W. E. Sipe
A. J. Suzore
Cecil Vogel
Howard Waugh
Paul Wilson

MILWAUKEE
W. L. Ainsworth
H. J. Fitzgerald
J. S. Grauman
A. D. Kvool
George L. Lovine
Fred S. Meyer
Thomas E. Saxe
A. N. Schmetz
Sam Shurman
C. W. Trampe
D. E. Weshner

MINNEAPOLIS
Al Anson
Frank C. Brickley
Jos. Friedman
Henry Green
Roy McMinn

NEW ORLEANS
J. Alsino
Joe Barcelona
Maurice F. Barr
C. J. Briant
Luke Conner
Huston Duvall
Bert Kiern
Harry McLeod
Will Shields
Rodney Toufs

NEW YORK
Louis F. Blumenthal
Lawrence S. Bolignino
Harry Brandt
Leo Brecher
Maurice Brown
Jack Haddem
Leo Justin
Hyman Rachmill
Rudolph Sanders
Harry Schiffman
A. H. Schwartz
Fred Small
Joseph Suder

NORTH AND SOUTH CAROLINA
Sam Craver
H. E. Everett
Ira Furman
Murphy Gregg
Montgomery Hill
R. J. Ingram
H. F. Kincey
J. F. Kirby
Charles W. Picquet
Albert Sotille

OKLAHOMA CITY
R. M. Clark
Sol Davis
M. Lowenstein
Pat McGee
A. B. Momand
R. I. Payne
Fred Pickrel
L. F. Stocker
Ralph Talbot
Chas. R. Zears
W. B. Zoellner

OMAHA
Morgan Ames
A. M. Avery
Ralph Branton
Thomas Burke
H. J. Chapman
Walter Creal
Harry Day
Nathan Dax
Sam Epestein
August Herman
H. F. Kennedy
C. V. McLucas
A. Mendenhall
Miss Regina Molseed
Geo. O. Monroe, Sr.
Geo. F. Monroe, Jr.
C. M. Parkhurst
Chas. Prokop
Gordon Ruth
Mort Singer
M. J. Stern
H. A. Taylor
W. W. Troxell
Harry Weinberg
C. E. Williams

PHILADELPHIA
David Barrist
Harry Bodkin
M. B. Comerford
Herbert J. Elliott
Jay Emanuel
M. S. Landow
P. Mortimer Lewis
Robert Lynch
Robert Mochrie
Michael J. O'Toole
Lewen Pizor
Milton Rogasner
Leon Schlesinger
Charles Segal
Philip Sherling
Morris Wax
Joe Willing

PITTSBURGH
A. M. Bowles
Aaron Goldburg
H. V. Harvey
G. C. Parsons
Barney Rose
Morgan A. Walsh

PORTLAND, MAINE
M. J. Garrity

PORTLAND, OREGON
Wm. Cutts
Miss Ruth Doyle
Ted Gamble
Homer Gill
George Jackson
Oscar Phelps
Andrew Sasso

ST. LOUIS
Lon Cox
Albert Critchlow
George Eigel
Collin S. Espey
Harold Evans
Charles Goldman
Lito Hill
H. H. Horman
Clarence Kaiman
Oscar Lehr
S. E. Pirtle
George Thyson
Fred Wehrenberg

SALT LAKE CITY
John Gillette
Wm. F. Gordon
Ray Hendry
Robert Hill
C. E. Huish
Joseph Lawrence
Stan Robbins
Maurice Saffle
Charles Walker

SAN FRANCISCO
Irving C. Ackerman
George Ballentine
Aaron Goldberg
George M. Mann
George Nasser
L. E. Tillman
Cliff Work

WASHINGTON, D. C.
Herman A. Blum
A. J. Brylawski
Walter Coulter
Sam Galanty
Louis Garman
J. J. Payette
Robert Smeltzer
William S. Wilder

THIRD ARTICLE ON CODE NEXT WEEK

The third article in Motion Picture Herald's series translating the motion picture code from the complex legal phraseology into a clear working language, will appear in next week's issue. The third article will contain an analytical translation of the trade practice provisions of the code that are applicable to distribution and exhibition.

In the previous two articles, the subjects discussed — all relating to distribution and exhibition — included: Issue of December 23, general application of the code, definitions of technical terms, administration of the code within the industry; issue of January 6: wage scales, working hours and all other provisions relating to labor and employees in distribution, exhibition.

Production will be discussed separately in subsequent issues.

In order to allow exhibitors and exchangemen in the field, and others, plenty of time for studying each of the code translation articles, so that they may thoroughly digest the contents, the articles are appearing only on alternating weeks.

NRA OFFICER ASKS NEW HEARINGS TO REVAMP CODE LABOR CLAUSES

Projectionists, Complaining of "Raw Deal," File Protests Against Cutting of Pay in Line With 40-Hour Maximum

Reopening of hearings on the motion picture industry's code was proposed Tuesday in New York by James F. Hodgson, regional NRA compliance board chairman, on the ground that certain code clauses, especially those pertaining to labor, did not permit of adequate judicial procedure when complaints were filed.

Other labor developments of the week were:

1. NRA is considering further reduction of working hours in practically all industries, General Hugh S. Johnson said Wednesday. A 32-hour week may be necessary to absorb the unemployed, he declared.

2. A decision handed down Monday by the supreme court of the United States may have the effect of invalidating contractual relations during the period of national emergency.

3. Complaints were filed by operators' unions against wage cuts in proportion to reduced working hours and the subsequent increase in locals' financial burdens through having to pay for overage above the 40-hour maximum.

4. Sol A. Rosenblatt, amusement administrator, gave warning that unions must not strike without submitting disputes to arbitration.

Mr. Hodgson said that his only interest was to "tighten loosely-drawn clauses which are being contested heatedly by factions in the industry." After having heard representatives of two unions and independent theatre operators, the chairman said he was unable to provide them with a decision on the moot points because the code "was drawn so loosely." The clauses to which he referred are sections II and VI pertaining to hours and wages for operators. These clauses, while providing a 40-hour work week, do not provide for cases where the projectionists' unions and exhibitors have contracts for longer work weeks.

He pleaded with theatre owners to observe the NRA spirit instead of the letter of the code which he declared unsatisfactory.

Charge "Raw Deal"

Complaining of a "raw deal" from the remainder of the industry under the Code, motion picture projectionists' locals in many sections this week were filing grievances with the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees in New York.

Disregarding the fact that through the reduction of weekly working hours many of their members who have been unemployed for a considerable period are now being given jobs, the unions charged that while the code reduces their maximum work week to 40 hours, it has made no provisions against the lowering of maximum wages in accordance with the reduction of hours and is "forcing" them to bear the burden of payment for overage in hours beyond the 40-hour maximum definitely stipulated in the code.

The operators also claimed that in many other industry codes, while there are specific provisions prohibiting work weeks of more than 40 hours, there are also clauses which prohibit the reduction of any wages whatsoever, regardless of hour reductions.

On Monday the supreme court of the United States handed down a decision in a Minnesota farm mortgage case which may have the effect of virtual abrogation of all contractual relations during the period of national emergency.

The code, under Article IV, Part I, Division C, Section 6, definitely stipulates that no employee, regularly employed in a motion picture theatre, shall work more than 40 hours weekly. At the same time it sets up a minimum wage scale as of Aug. 23, 1933. Nowhere, however, is it stipulated that employers must not reduce maximum salaries below what they were on that date.

In many cases, it is understood, exhibitors have told the unions that they could not pay for 49 hours and add the burden of additional operators.

It is generally understood that this will be one of the first important problems the Code Authority will be called upon to decide. It is fur-

(Continued on following page, column 3)

Official Form for Signing Individual Assent to Code

CODE OF FAIR COMPETITION FOR THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

The undersigned hereby approves, adopts and assents to the Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry as approved by the President on November 27, 1933.

Signed this____day of_____, 193 , at_____, _____
(Town or City) (State)

_____ (Seal)
(Name of Individual or Corporation)

Check One
Producer . . . . . ☐
Distributor . . . . . ☐
Exhibitor . . . . . ☐

Answer the First and the Appropriate Remaining Question

(1) State business address: _____, _____, _____
(Street) (City) (State)

(2) If exhibitor, state name and location of theatre_____ _____ and seating capacity_____

(3) If distributor state name and address of exchange_____

_____

(4) If producer state name of brand of pictures_____

This Assent Is Invalid if Qualified.

After signature return to "Code Authority Motion Picture Industry" in the enclosed envelope.

Each individual company, corporation, firm, exhibitor, producer and distributor in the motion picture industry must sign the official blank of acceptance under the code, otherwise they will not be protected by the government and the NRA against unfair competition.

The deadline for returning the accepted blanks has been postponed from January 11 to midnight of January 31.

All acceptances are to be returned to John Flinn, Secretary, Code Authority, RKO Building, New York. Blanks are not to be sent to Deputy Rosenblatt, at Washington, nor to other NRA offices.

If an acceptance blank is not returned by January 31, the exhibitor, distributor or producer to whom it was sent will not be entitled to protection against unfair competition.

Only 100 per cent approval of the code will entitle signatories to the full benefits of the code. This means that acceptance with reservations will not be recognized.

'HOT COMPETITION' THREATENED FILMS

Speaker Before Actors' Betterment Association, Billed as NRA Representative, Warns Theatres To Add Vaudeville

Motion Picture Herald telegraphed General Hugh S. Johnson at Washington asking if the threat of William A. Charlton was made with the authorization of the Administrator of the National Recovery Act or if it expressed the Administration's policy. Up to press time no reply had been received.

The motion picture industry has been threatened with some "hot competition" unless vaudeville is added to the film programs of motion picture theatres as a means of relieving unemployment among vaudeville players.

This threat was leveled at the industry late last week, during a meeting in New York of the Actors' Betterment Association, by William H. Charlton, billed as "editorial and radio representative of the National Recovery Administration."

Mr. Charlton told the gathering that exhibitors must agree to give the public "flesh" entertainment, or face the competition of vaudeville programs at reopened theatres.

Few Absorbed by Films and Radio

"True, the motion picture business has absorbed a very small portion of both vaudeville and legitimate players, as has the radio business, but this does not amount to a drop in the bucket," declared Mr. Charlton.

"The situation that confronts vaudeville actors," he continued, "is one that can only be corrected and relieved by the reopening of theatres now closed, or by the picture houses agreeing to give the public 'flesh' entertainment as well as photographs.

"I can very well understand the position of the managers and owners of picture houses, especially in the smaller towns, who feel that they are under enough expense as things are, but, unless they begin to make plans for the addition of 'flesh-and-blood' entertainment on their programs, if the plans that have been presented to me for consideration mean anything at all, it is almost a certainty that they will soon find themselves in for some hot competition."

"New Deal" for Theatricals

Mr. Charlton told the actors' association that it is not for him "to prescribe what shall or shall not be done, but from all the indications at hand, and the information I have received, it is my sincere belief that the theatrical profession is about to hand itself a new deal, and I know that if I were a picture house manager, I would plan to sit in on that deal. Whether or not I might add any more chips to my winnings would not be my only consideration; but I at least would then be in a position to prevent or control any losses."

Because, in his opinion, vaudeville is a "distinct line of business separate and apart from the picture business," Mr. Charlton declared that "it would be unfair to argue that theatres now closed should not be reopened with 'flesh' presentations because to do so would create dangerous competition for the picture houses."

"And it would be just as unreasonable," he added, "for vaudeville producers to ask that picture houses now open be closed for similar reasons."

Reopening Houses Proposed

The Actors' Betterment Association is understood to have recommended, some weeks ago, that darkened theatres be reopened for stage shows, possibly under subsidies of the Civil Works Administration, to relieve unemployment among vaudevillians. Unofficial theatrical observers attending the actors' association meeting pointed out that the NRA stands ready to back any project to relieve unemployment through the various emergency Government divisions.

The only other suggestion of this nature which is known to have been made at Washington was that of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Eva Le Gallienne, who, some three weeks ago, suggested that the Civil Works Administration conduct little theatres, concerts and similar entertainment for the "working man."

Formed to Aid Employment

Speakers at the association's meeting Thursday midnight at the Hotel Edison in New York, included: Sophie Tucker, Bobby Clark, of the team of Clark and McCullough; J. J. Sullivan, an assistant district attorney; William J. Rapp, Victor Moore, Elias Sugarman, Joe Laurie, Jr., and Jack McLallen, besides William Charlton.

The association was formed, some months ago, principally to alleviate unemployment among vaudeville and stage players. New officers elected last Thursday night were: Eddie Cantor, honorary president; Bobby Clark, president; Ted Lewis, first vice-president; Victor Moore, second vice-president; Pat Rooney, third vice-president; Dorothy Stone, fourth vice-president; Charlie Mosconi, treasurer; Ralph Whitehead, executive secretary.

Government Subsidy Granted

Definite indication that the government will subsidize theatrical enterprises in order to relieve unemployment was seen in the granting of such a subsidy to Miss Morelza Morrow, who will direct the new project, the American People's Theatre, under the auspices of the State Department of Adult Education and in cooperation with the Civil Works Administration.

The theatre will take over a large public school building in West 40th street, New York, and will operate a professional producing company and a "Little Theatre" department. The training school department will prepare a limited number of young people for membership in the producing company.

'Raw Deal' Seen By Projectionists

(Continued from preceding page)

ther believed that while the 40-hour maximum will stand, projectionists, in order to protect their wage scales now on contracts with exhibitors, will ask them to continue paying the contract scales, with the provision that the locals will continue to supply them with projectionists and pay the difference themselves.

Adjusting Boston Case

No complaints of wage cuts have been received by the Recovery Administration from operators, Mr. Rosenblatt said Monday. Mr. Rosenblatt added that wherever dissension had been brought to his attention the situation was being adjusted on the basis of conditions prevailing in each locality.

One of the few cases of complaint made public to date was the charge of James F. Burke, business agent of the Boston operators' local, who is reported to have said that his union "had no men on the bench awaiting jobs" and could not, therefore, supply the additional operators necessitated by the shorter working hours. Mr. Rosenblatt reported "satisfactory adjustment."

In New York, Local 306 of the IATSE and the Independent Theatre Owners of America were continuing their efforts to establish a basic wage scale for local theatres, but slight hope for success was held.

Injunction Hearing Jan. 29

An argument on the temporary injunction granted 306 last week to restrain the ITOA and the Allied Motion Picture Operators' Union, Inc., from violating the industry code, will be held January 29. The local had charged the exhibitor group formed the independent union in an effort to "get rid of" members of the union, and that it also had increased working hours and reduced wage scales below the specified code scales. A permanent injunction is being sought, together with $1,000,000 damages, of which $250,000 is said to be for actual damages and $750,000 for exemplary damages.

Also in New York another union disagreement was started when officers of the American Federation of Musicians Local 802 became alarmed over the stand of some 2,000 of its members who declared that they should refuse to play with members of the Actors Equity unless Equity abandons its opposition to Sunday shows.

The first labor dispute to be arbitrated in Arkansas City territory under the industry code resulted in a ruling favorable to union employees. The IATSE invoked the code's overriding provision relating to wage scales and maximum hours as of Aug. 23, 1933, and it was upheld.

In Chicago the operators' local was warned by Mr. Rosenblatt not to strike without submitting its wage dispute to arbitration. He will meet them January 20.

In Hollywood and Los Angeles theatre men and unions are experiencing difficulty in negotiating wage and hour agreements, with neither side apparently willing to yield an inch.

Milwaukee exhibitors have reached a wage scale agreement with the operators' union without any changes in wages being paid operators in classes 1, 2, and 3.

In Minneapolis, after a three-day session, the Allied labor committee and Twin City operators failed to get together on code wages and decided to relegate the matter to arbitration.

Demands for recognition of Local 118, Building Service Employees' Union, and for a closed shop with a 40-hour week, with wages commensurate with NRA standards, were voiced by 1,500 ushers, janitors and doormen members of the new local in New York Tuesday night.

Industry Won't Outgrow Builders, Is Answer to Curtailment Theory

Must be competent product competently sold and presented, Wobber tells Ramsaye

by TERRY RAMSAYE

Written in San Francisco

A week ago I sat among the mighty of Hollywood while they laid down the new doctrine of "curtailment," while they, or some of them, made light of exhibitor showmanship and complained of burdens of distribution. They forecast a new era for the screen art, an era of all-hit pictures, shown for long runs, higher percentages to the producer and a general scheme for the industry which would make it very like a new version of the amusement industry as conceived by Klaw & Erlanger and the Shuberts of yesteryear. Hollywood says it is the motion picture industry.

Today in the first week of the New Year, in San Francisco, where the exchange system of motion picture distribution was born, many and many a year ago, I took counsel with Herman Wobber, a famously successful exhibitor and long experienced top rank executive of distribution, who disagrees exceedingly with Hollywood and "curtailment," who disapproves, in no mincing words, of "pirate producers," and who sees the industry of today the creative result of efforts of all its component branches, production, distribution and exhibition.

Mr. Wobber is today in charge of distribution affairs for the Fox Film Corporation in the big Pacific Coast domain, and sits in the studio councils at times down Hollywood way. He began at the beginning of the feature era in motion pictures and was one of the founders of Paramount. For twenty-one years he was in the service of that organization through its rise, through various mutations, from an idea on paper to a third of a billion in assets.

In his desk at the Fox office in film row in Hyde street, is a minute book of the original Paramount concern, and therein is notation of the closing of a contract with Adolph Zukor and his Famous Players company for their output of feature pictures for twenty-five years, with negative costs limited to $25,000 a picture, executed in 1914. And in the same drawer is a letter on the stationery of the long forgotten and never famous Fiction Pictures Corporation, in which Louis Joseph Vance, who died but the other day in New York, wrote somewhat bitterly that while all the literary great of the nation were ready to accept advances for stories in terms of from one to five hundred dollars, Peter B. Kyne was asking the shocking figure of one thousand dollars. That too was in 1914.

The exploration tour of the editor of Motion Picture Herald into the many realms of the endeavor that is the motion picture, brings him this week to San Francisco, birthplace of the exchange system of distribution as well as of sundry other pertinent ideas and activities of the industry.

And here in San Francisco, Terry Ramsaye hears from Herman Wobber, famously successful exhibitor and top rank distribution executive, some words of disagreement with Hollywood's theory of "fewer pictures, fewer theatres and longer runs."

Says All Branches Helped Build Industry

With such background and an unbroken career of service, Mr. Wobber may be presumed to speak with considerable conviction, and authority.

"The distributor and the intelligent exhibitor have had a great constructive share in the building up of this industry, and it is not going to outgrow them," was Mr. Wobber's answer to a summary presentation of the Hollywood born idea conveyed by "curtailment."

"The motion picture gained, and still has a hold upon the public that no other amusement has ever approximated. This must be maintained and it can only be done by a consistent flow of competent product competently sold and presented.

"I know the policy of some 'pirate producers' who sally in with a picture now and then at the most auspicious moment and hurry away with a profit, but the industry was not built on such a policy and it will not be maintained by such a policy." Mr. Wobber ran over, as one would count on the fingers of a hand, the names of a number of producers.

"Did you ever see any of those fellows put out a picture in the summer season to help keep the houses open? Do they try to build the industry, or, to merely exploit it? They insist on the best weeks of the season, the best days of the week, and the long end of the deal.

Good Years, Not Just Good Days, Raised Industry

"But the motion pictures as the dominant amusement institution has grown, not by just good days or good weeks, but good years."

The conversation turned to some recent expressions in the public press and the status that the motion picture has been acquiring on the printed page of late.

Mr. Wobber cited an article in a national weekly bearing the name of a great picture maker and containing a considerable criticism of distribution costs.

"Hollywood may sometimes not realize that 'production' is not all that produces and creates in this industry," Mr. Wobber insisted.

"There are many factors in distribution activity which are really functions of production, but paid for as 'distribution.'

"Do you suppost, to take an analogy, that Mr. Ford would send his dealers blue prints instead of cars? But that is what the picture producer does for the distributor. The distributor gets a negative and supplies the prints, the films which carry the product to the public.

Calls Exhibitor's State Of Mind Also a Factor

"A large part of the value of a motion picture is in the state of mind which the exhibitor and his public enjoy concerning it, and that too is the distributor's concern, and the exhibitor's. They do the advertising.

"And to go back to the motor car example again. Let's suppose that Pennsylvania demands four-inch brake bands on Fords. Would that be the dealers' problem, or the factory's? But the parallel problem, censorship, falls on the distributor in the motion picture industry."

"Another thing that Hollywood ought to understand by this time," continued Mr. Wobber, "is how the hits are fattened by the selling force in the field at the expense, on the books, of the run-of the-mill pictures. Salesmen, branch managers and maybe even sales managers are not only human, but also sometimes clever. When a great power in a company asks the boys to rally round his pet picture, the boys are very likely to give him results. They go out to the exhibitor with increased demands and prices for the pet production that the boss wants decorated with a record gross, and to get that gross they make concessions, maybe five dollars a picture, on a long line of program contract product. The result produces a handsomely contrasting figure for the picture with the big gross on the books but it does not record and reflect the real relation in box office values, or the actual relative importance of components of the output to the producer and distributor."

'INDUSTRY GROWTH BY GOOD YEARS'

△ △ △

Double Bills and Dragon Dancers

Just within the fortnight, San Francisco's downtown theatres, of which there are, as elsewhere, too many, have started cutting admissions, in an endeavor to meet the increasingly difficult competition of the neighborhood and suburban houses. Double billing is raging and rampant, and "dragon dancers" have been brought in to augment the draw. The dragon dancer is the San Francisco improvement on the fan dance, in which the charming and vibrating torso of the performer is clothed but not concealed by a gauze on which is embroidered an Asiatic dragon design extending by the ingenuity of its design to the principal points of interest. It gives quite an effect.

△ △ △

Speaking generally, prices, wages and admissions in San Francisco through depression days have been maintained slightly above the averages for the West and Far West.

San Francisco, aside from being the great Pacific seaport, is the capital of a land of great production activity. Currently what Washington is doing about the monetary policy and its bimetalism helps this region in its production of both gold and silver, and beer and repeal are once again making Pacific Coast hops tremendously important.

Not so long ago San Francisco had 200,000 persons "on the dole" and last week the figure had been cut to something like 12,000, as a result of CWA and kindred agency efforts.

△ △ △

Rich in Memories Of Early Industry

The region is rich in motion picture memories. Only a few miles away are Palo Alto and the University which stands where Governor Leland Stanford brought John D. Isaacs, engineer, to evolve machinery to record and analyze the gait of the racehorse, thereby, by the whimsies of chance, conferring a spurious fame on that Eadweard J. Muybridge who emerged with self-plucked laurels as the alleged father of the motion picture. And in a boarding house in San Francisco's Turk street, the late Harry Miles, returning from adventures in Alaska, ever so many years ago, hit on the idea of rendering an exchange service of films to the nickelodeons, on a rental basis, relieving them of the expense of purchasing prints for every change of program.

And there is the Golden Gate out across the bay, where Jack London sailed off in the Snark, bound for the South Seas, with a lad named Martin Johnson, from Kansas, aboard signed on as cook, which was the beginning of a long and still continuing career in expeditionary and adventure films. The cruise of the Snark came to grief and failure, but the cook has become a world name in film adventure.

△ △ △

San Francisco takes its food and its liquors and wines seriously. Its prettiest women are indigenous, not the exotic imported models of the more southerly regions of the coast. Good cooking is general and the cuisine needs no boosting. However, it may be recorded in passing that the much vaunted abalone, a shell fish, is more shell than fish and a perfect dish of abalone has all the charm of yesterday's pancake. Order clams bordelaise, which surprisingly enough means steamed with garlic, and a cracked crab instead. The abalone's home is on the rough side of the reef and he should be left there until his shell is thick enough to make pants buttons. The rest of him is piffle.

Fisherman's Wharf, San Francisco, is one of the great sights of America. Some day a cameraman from New York will discover it. The local talent of the screen does not know it is a picture.

△ △ △

Next week, more of Hollywood, the studios and their inmates.

WOBBER DISAGREES WITH "CURTAILING"

". . . The distributor and the intelligent exhibitor have had a great constructive share in the building up of this industry, and it is not going to outgrow them.

". . . I know the policy of some 'pirate producers' who sally in with a picture now and then at the most auspicious moment and hurry away with a profit, but the industry was not built on such a policy and it will not be maintained by such a policy.

". . . Hollywood may sometimes not realize that 'production' is not all that produces and creates in this industry. . . . There are many factors in distribution activity which are really functions of production, but paid for as 'distribution'."

Virginia Group Is Organizing

A group of Richmond and other Virginia exhibitors recently met at the William Byrd Hotel, Richmond, to discuss plans for organizing a Virginia Motion Picture Theatre Owners' Association. Morton G. Thalhimer was selected as temporary chairman and Elmer Brient, of Loew's theatre, as secretary. Sam Bendheim, Jr., is acting as treasurer until organization is completed and permanent officers are elected.

It is the intention of the group to establish a permanent institution governed by a constitution and by-laws modeled after similar organizations in other states. The membership will be provided with information regarding the Code and the organization will keep a watchful eye on legislative matters, as well as providing other services customarily offered by such organizations.

The following exhibitors attended the meeting: A. F. O'Brien, Richmond; Sidney Gates, Portsmouth; W. S. Wilder, Norfolk; W. D. Cole, Tappahannock; F. W. Twyman, Charlottesville; Ben Pitts, Fredericksburg; Herman Rubin, Petersburg; Sam Bendheim, Jr., Richmond; E. H. Brient, Richmond; E. J. Loth, Waynesboro; Mr. Haley of the Lichtman Theatres; Morton Thalhimer, Richmond, and Walter Vincent, of New York, who pledged all Wilmer and Vincent theatres in Virginia.

Radio City Lease Appraisers Picked

Appraisals of the leases held by Radio-Keith-Orpheum on the two Radio City theatres, the Music Hall and the RKO Center, will be made by Edward J. Crawford, vice president of Charles F. Noyes, Inc., and Robert Huntley, in charge of appraisals for Joseph P. Day, Inc. United States District Judge Bondy made the appointments on Wednesday.

Rockefeller Center, Inc., is seeking court approval of a claim of $10,000,000 against RKO for alleged breach of lease on the two theatres, in addition to a claim of $5,000,000 for alleged breach of the lease on the RKO Building. Appraisers retained for Rockefeller Center, Inc., are Russell V. Cruikshank, real estate man, and Louis B. Altruter of Morris S. Ely & Company.

'WOULD GO OVER WITH STAR CAST'

Declares Benjamin DeCasseres of Helen Hayes' "Mary of Scotland"; Other Plays of Broadway Stage Are Discussed as to Possibilities as Screen Material

By BENJAMIN DE CASSERES

MARY OF SCOTLAND

The great big fact that sticks out in Maxwell Anderson's "Mary of Scotland" (the third Theatre Guild production of this season) is the superb physical and psychological interpretation of the title role by Helen Hayes. It is the high point in her career: ripe, penetrative, fascinating.

And if this outmoded and mouldy old piece of stock history ever goes into pictures, the one thing that will get it over, in my opinion, will be Helen Hayes as Mary and a supporting all-star cast as Elizabeth (Ethel Barrymore?), Boswell (John Barrymore?), and Darnley (Leslie Howard?).

Of course, "Mary of Scotland" is all great picture stuff per se—if the public can still be wheedled to a costume picture on a threadbare historical theme that is so distantly pre-Bull Run.

Maxwell Anderson has whitewashed Mary to a whisper. In the hands of Helen Hayes she is a saint, practically.

Helen Menken played Big Liz and Philip Merivale Bothwell; and they were wooden. Anderson's lines are too good for pictures.

Picture value (with all star cast), 80 per cent.

STRANGE ORCHESTRA

This play from London by Rodney Auckland was a flop, and I have been told that it had already, before it was produced here, been rejected for pictures by several producers.

It's rather crazy stuff laid in a London boarding house where the fag-ends of Bohemia live out their more or less putrid lives.

Lots of stabs at suicide. Girl going blind is one of them. Loves a fellow she thinks is a Rembrandt.

My advice to Hollywood is to go on rejecting "Strange Orchestra," which is not even a broken saxophone.

Picture value, .000.

THE SCORPION

Is the old Sudan stuff played out in pictures? If not, here in "The Scorpion," by Bernard J. McOwen, are all the stuffin', fixin's and some of the old bones of the grand old thrill hokum that looks like good b. o., with some Gary Cooper kind of actor, or, maybe, Gary himself.

A British cavalry post in the Sudan. Natives but no white woman in sight. Something must happen, and, as you suspect, it does.

A plane crashes, and a woman walks on. She is Illyana, the wife of Surgeon Major Linton. She left him long ago when he was up against it. She's the vamp type.

He gives her his bed; but she is no sooner sitting up than she is making eyes at Captain Roger Oken, the boss of the Britishers.

The Captain sends the rest of the company, including Illyana's hubby, off on a fake trek, so he can renew himself for a week or so. Roger is supposed to return to England and marry (and does finally).

On the return from the expedition the ruction begins. Native woman enters and tries to poison Illyana. There is also an Emir that the native woman kills.

And this opus rolls on to its usual end (any end you want for pictures). It is somewhat serviceable for the Baloney Circuit, as you see.

Picture value, 60 per cent.

PLAYS RATED FOR PICTURES

Screen potentialities of stage plays discussed in this issue by Benjamin De Casseres, noted critic and essayist, are portrayed as follows:

"Mary of Scotland"—80 per cent.
"Strange Orchestra"—zero.
"The Scorpion"—60 per cent.
"All Good Americans"—40 per cent.
"Peace on Earth"—8 per cent.
"Tobacco Road"—zero.

ALL GOOD AMERICANS

All good Americans go to Paris. So runneth an old proverb. Maybe it's "die in Paris"; but what's a proverb between critics?

This play, a Left Bank comedy by Laura and S. J. Perelman, depends mainly on character work, with Hope Williams and Fred Keating doing the chief chinning.

There is a thin enough yarn that might be worked up into a credible picture story. It would center on Pat Wells, a writer who lives by his wits in and out of the Left Bank American dug-outs.

Pat is a thorough-going but fascinating louse. One of his ways of getting jack, when he isn't pipe-lining it from women, is cabling the customs authorities in New York that in a certain woman's trunk will be found a pearl necklace. His cut is 10 per cent. Pat is, however, neatly whitewashed in the end—for picture purposes.

The female lead is Julie Gable, a Paris fashion writer for the New York papers who loves this fellow in spite of all his pediculosity.

All the stock American characters in Paris parade past us when they are not stewed to the occiput in cafés and at bars—all that crowd of American writers and artists who go to Paris to become Immortal and wind up as bar-flies and shady Annies.

What really keeps the play alive is a merry dialogue of wisecracks and penetrating observations.

From the picture point of view, there is no action. It might make some headway with the lovers of the Loose Life.

Picture value, 40 per cent.

PEACE ON EARTH

George Sklar and Albert Maltz put on a play that I liked—and which made a good picture—called "Merry-Go-Round." It was an exposé of city politics and police framing. It was solid drama first and exposé afterward, as such plays should be.

Now these two Yale boys have reversed the angle in "Peace on Earth" in a serious attempt to blow up the war racket. They have no more chance of doing this than I have of selling my essay on Schopenhauer to MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

The fault of these plays and pictures is that no one believes them. When war comes, I'll bet Messrs. Sklar and Maltz will make for the first recruiting station. Not that they are not sincere, but because the emotions and traditions always break down the mental will. Peace on earth would be the end of the race—a good job, maybe.

There are scenes and scenes and scenes—strikes against war, revolt in a college, an arrest for reading a piece of forbidden literature called the Declaration of Independence, perjurers, profiteers and all the rest.

It's well done, is all tremendously exciting (on Fourteenth street) and will not get into pictures except in Russia, which is militaristic to the backbone only they don't know it.

Picture value, 8 per cent.

TOBACCO ROAD

William Faulkner and Erskine Caldwell are the high priests of sewage literature. Both can write. Both are serious. Both have unquestioned power. But they have a nostalgia (yen to you) for that which stinks in human nature.

Therefore I do not recommend "Tobacco Road," a dramatization of Erskine Caldwell's novel of the same name, for pictures. Not that I am prudish or lilylike myself; but a mere photographic display of the perversions, piggishness, sex-caterwaulings and crimes of the clay-eaters of the South would affect my digestion—and I believe the digestion of most picture audiences.

Like certain diseases, we know these people exist. But I object to the stage or the screen being an open clinic.

What kept "Tobacco Road" running was the extraordinarily good performance of Henry Hull. It is by general agreement the best thing he has done. That he consented to do this stinking fellow Jeeter proves he is an actor first, last and all the time.

Picture value, O (I may be mistaken).

BONUSES FOR THEATRE MANAGERS MAY FOLLOW WARNER EXPERIMENT

One Plan Calls for Receipt by Manager of Tenth of Profit in Excess of 10 Per Cent Over Last Year's Gross

Warner Brothers' theatre managers are about to be made the subject of an experiment which may result in an appreciable increase in the incomes of all national circuit managers. The possibility of such a development appeared imminent this week when Joseph Bernhard, Warners' theatre executive, announced he expected the company's plans for the experiment would be completed by February 1. The extent to which the system may be adopted by other theatre circuits is expected to depend largely upon its success in the Warner organization.

Profit sharing in theatre receipts on the basis of how much money the manager is able to bring into the box office is generally conceded to be the first really "comprehensive" plan yet considered, both as an aid to increased business and better satisfied managers.

Considerable agitation on this point has been under way for several months in the theatre field. Managers have complained of inadequate salaries and the impossibility of increasing their incomes under existing conditions. A few circuits from time to time have offered bonuses for special selling drives. In most instances, however, this method has defeated its purpose, it was said, because managers were forced to unusual expenditures.

Brought Lavish Giveaways

Through these special drives the practice of awarding large prizes, usually by means of ticket stub drawings on theatre stages, developed to such proportions that theatre heads declared the practice an evil and strenuous efforts were launched to curb it. Unfavorable reaction of theatre owners was directed to the awarding of expensive gifts, such as automobiles, refrigerators and cash, never contemplated in the time-honored custom of distributing small gifts and novelties as door prizes. These practices now are forbidden in the motion picture NRA code, which prohibits giveaways and premiums, except in specific localities where 75 per cent of exhibitors agree that the practice is not unfair competition.

Although he is not yet prepared to make a statement as to just what the proposed bonus system will include, Mr. Bernhard said it has been decided to institute the plan as a permanent feature of Warner theatre management as soon as changes found necessary in the present system have been made. Warner theatre officials in the field have been working on the plan since October 1, when it first was tried out in many theatres.

Other New York theatre executives agreed that the bonus system has definite possibilities, but would not be quoted, citing uncertainty as to future business conditions and the reorganization now going on in many of the larger circuits.

Executives are, however, of the opinion that a percentage bonus system might prove a great stimulus to the nation's box offices. Managers would be spurred on to greater effort, because a part of every added dollar brought in at the box office would go into their pockets. As one theatre head said, "The theatre would again become an institution, where the manager is regarded by the community as something more than the man who just stands at the door and looks grim."

It is thought by many that the most workable plan would be one which provided for bonus participation above a set figure of profit. Thus the manager might receive 10 per cent of all intake in excess of 10 per cent over grosses a year ago, for example. This, they say, would allow for an appreciable stepping up of company profits and also provide the manager with a considerably increased income.

Percentage on All Profit Proposed

On the other hand, a theatre manager this week declared that "if the home offices want to work this thing out in the right way, the theatre manager should immediately become a salesman who ought to receive a definite percentage of every cent of profit without a quota. This could be worked out on the old 'honor' system, with the home office telling its theatre manager: 'Go ahead; the percentage is yours and you'll get it from every penny of profit you show.' If the manager knows this he will go out and work his head off to bring in extra money, even if they give him only one per cent of the profit. Thus the theatre manager can make a great deal more."

Some theatre executives, however, are of the opinion that a percentage of all profits might not always "work out" as expected, and that managers would be better off on their salaries and a larger percentage of a specified excess profit figure.

"Few persons realize," one theatre man said, "just how complicated this thing is. They seem to think that all we have to do is stand up and announce that our managers are going to get a percentage of profits. It's got to be worked our mathematically, with great emphasis on the situation and a theatre's earning capacity."

The general idea has been tried by various theatre interests since 1922. Warner has attempted it before and the Skouras theatres inaugurated it for a short time two years ago. In 1932 Paramount Publix worked out a basis for profit-sharing in line with box office receipts, but an unsettled theatrical horizon necessitated dropping it.

Another factor is the question whether theatre grosses have increased to such a degree that inauguration of the bonus system nationally would be profitable.

NEW QUOTAS DO NOT AFFECT FILMS

The increased film import quotas obtained from France and England by the State Department are not regarded by major company representatives as having any immediate effect on American exports. The first products to benefit by the recently relaxed quota regulations will be agricultural, in line with the Administration's policy, it was pointed out this week.

The new French quota allowances set aside the projected restrictions announced last September insofar as this country is concerned and continue the quota totals existing for the last year and one-half, only 25 per cent of which had been allotted to the United States up to the time the new quota allowances were announced.

Another Suggestion Is That Manager Share in All Profits; Both Aim at Higher Income for Theatre and Manager

Rockefeller Center To House Universal

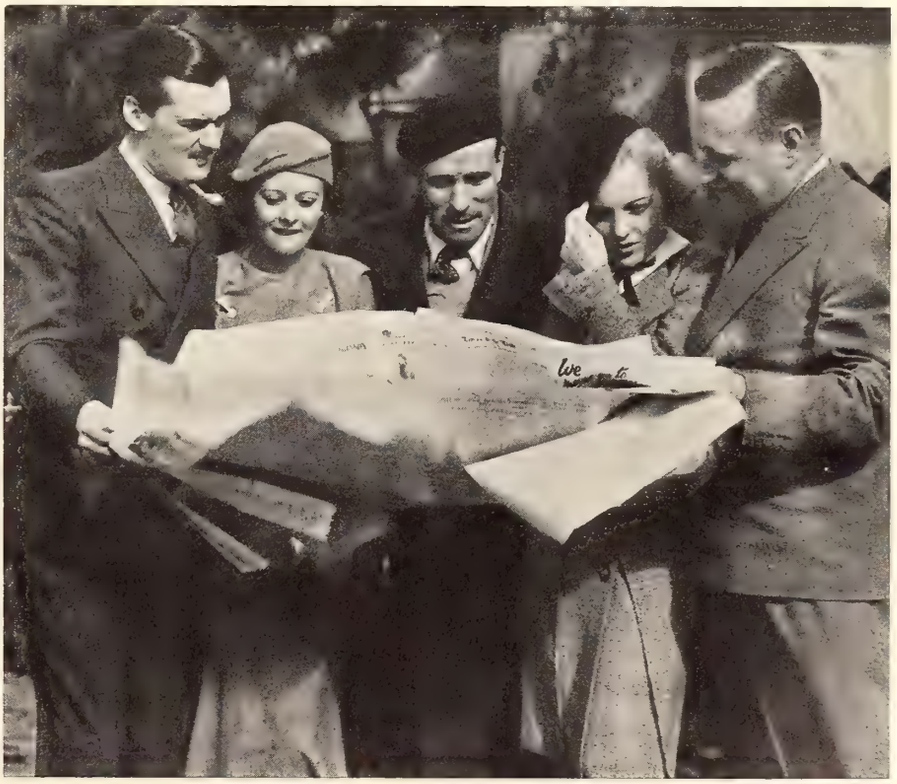
Universal will remove its home office in New York from the Heckscher Building at Fifth avenue and 57th Street to Rockefeller Center in the near future, it was announced this week.

Three floors have been leased for a ten-year period, with the quarters expected to be ready for occupancy late in March. It will mark the third move of the general offices since the company was organized in 1912, establishing offices in May in what was then Film Row, in Union Square. In December, 1912, the organization moved with the times, to 1600 Broadway. On October 1, 1924, the move to the Heckscher Building, under a ten-year lease, was made.

All departments of the organization, including the business and assignment office of Universal Newsreel, and cameramen's headquarters will be at the new location. The reel editorial offices will remain in the laboratory building on West 146th street.

Virginia Censor Cuts Total 386 During Year

The Virginia board of censors rejected four features during the past year, later passing two of them after reconstruction, according to the annual report, just issued. Of the total of 1,564 films reviewed, 386 eliminations were ordered in 115 films. Last year 1,666 films were examined, eliminations totaling 282 in 74 films.



THE CAMERA REPORTS

MAPPING BRITISH SALES DRIVE. The British unit of United Artists Corporation gets together at the Savoy hotel in London and prepares for an intensive selling campaign, under the chairmanship of Murray Silverstone, managing director. Guests of honor include Joseph M. Schenck, president of United Artists; Arthur W. Kelly, vice-president and general manager of foreign distribution; Alexander Korda and L. Toeplitz of London Films; Herbert Wilcox of British and Dominions; and Douglas Fairbanks, Sr. Mr. Silverstone is in the center at the head of the table, Messrs. Schenck, Wilcox, Fairbanks at his right, Kelly and Korda at his left.

SOMETHING NEW. Buster Keaton and his sister, Louise Keaton, are in comedy together at the same studio, now that the solemn-faced fun-maker has been signed by Educational for a series of star shorts.

NEWS FROM HOME. Screen personalities from England now in the Fox family in Hollywood get together over a newspaper from the homeland. Left to right are Hugh Williams, Heather Angel, Reginald Berkeley, Pat Paterson and W. J. Hutchinson, English representative of Fox Films, but now in America for a short visit.

BRIDAL PARTY. On a round-the-world honeymoon cruise are Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn LeRoy, following the wedding of Miss Doris Warner, daughter of Mr. and Hrs. Harry M. Warner of Warner Brothers, to Mr. LeRoy, one of the Warner company's ace directors on the cost. In the bridal party, after the ceremony, were (left to right): Miss Betty Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Warner, little Lita Warner, the bride and groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Teeple, his parents. When the cruise-ship returns in June, the young couple will make their home in Hollywood. [Acme Photo]

NEW STAR. Elizabeth Young of Paramount goes to the Coast for "The Trumpet Blows," with George Raft.

PROMOTED. Joe Weil, former exploitation chief of Universal, begins duties as special assistant to Carl Laemmle.

TO MOSCOW. Samuel Goldwyn, after bringing East the first print of "Nana," introducing Anna Sten, his new star from Russia, is to go on to Moscow in April. "Nana" is a United Artists release.

BACK ALIVE. Frank Buck, animal hunter and film producer, meets the press. Left to right, front row: Helen Gwynn, Don Hancock, Marvin Kirsch, Mr. Buck, James P. Cunningham, Sherwin Kane; rear row: Harry Blair; Sam Jacobson, Van Beuren Corporation; George T. Bye, Mr. Buck's personal manager; Phil Reisman, Amedee J. Van Beuren; Amos Hiatt, Rutgers Neilson, Cresson Smith, Leon Bamberger.

ASIDES & INTERLUDES

By JAMES CUNNINGHAM

TUGBOAT ANNIE, alias Marie Dressler, flagged the midnight express the other evening as it was thundering over the rails near Gilroy, California, and saved, if not a human life, at least a stalled automobile.

The famed Narcissus never staggered through a Secoma night as bitter as that which swept the countryside on that eventful evening. Switch lights blinked in the blast. Watchmen huddled to their shacks. Through the night thundered the express, its front light peering hazily through the gloom.

Through the storm came Raymond Taylor, grocery clerk, in his little "lizzie," Ermyntrude. His front wheels went into a puddle. The lizzie snapped her tail and the next instant Taylor was on the railroad tracks jammed in a switch frog.

He frantically called for aid, and Carl Wippener, employed at a local movie house, responded. Together they shoved, but it was useless. The old liz would not budge. In desperation they phoned the station for red flares. The station was out of them. Then it was that the theatre man got an idea. Rushing to the theatre lobby, he jerked from the billboard no less a personality than Marie Dressler—a poster advertising the coming of "Tugboat Annie." He rolled this into a ball, dipped it in gasoline, touched a match to it.

As the midnight express sounded down the tracks he waved the fiery ball above his head, desperately. It was the lone chance. The eagle-eye on the Lark saw the flare, whistled and slammed on his brakes. The day was saved, and so was lizzie.

▽

When Director W. S. Van Dyke, filming "Laughing Boy" for Metro, visited the Navajo Indian tribe in northern Arizona for oudtoor sequences, he discovered that the Navajo "bath" consists of a small shelter made of skins, into which are placed many hot stones. An Indian remains in the shelter until he begins to perspire freely and then pours a bucket of cold water over himself.

▽

Our traveling J. C. Jenkins tells about a farmer out in his county in Nebraska who shipped a 580-pound hog to the Chicago market, and after the commission firm had deducted charges for freight, commission, yardage, feed, water and whatnot, they remitted him a check for 38 cents, the balance due him. If that farmer, as a result of that transaction, jumped out of bed in the middle of the night and ran barefooted a mile through the snow and the wintry blasts to join an NRA parade, Mr. Jenkins would be more than a little surprised. So would we.

Based on the rate paid the farmer by the Chicago commission merchant, it would take 7,631,640 pounds of hog to pay some Hollywood producers' salary for one month—and that's too much hog.

▽

A hot news tip relayed from the corporate sanctum of RKO in Radio City, reveals the fact that their star, Miss Ginger Rogers, keeps a zoo right in her boudoir—300 animals, lions, tigers, elephants and other denizens of the jungle and farmyard. "She grooms them fondly and every day with a silken dust cloth," they tell us. Just at this point we were beginning to think things when we discovered that the animals are in ivory and jade.

▽

Earl P. (Buzz) Briggs, of the State theatre at Denver, can now marry and bury his patrons as well as entertain them. Because of favors in the form of passes for old members of the Liberal Church, Mr. Briggs has been made a bishop and a doctor of divinity. That's an advance over a Kentucky colonel.

OLDTIMERS will remember that it was 14 years ago last week that a small boat carrying David Wark Griffith and a party of 35 film folk and other notables set out from Miami, Fla., for the 12-hour run to Nassau in the Bahamas. Four days later they had not been heard from.

There had been a severe storm at sea and various rumors and reports started to circulate over the press wires of the nation, reaching the proportions of page-one streamer lines when the crew of a fishing boat arriving at Miami, told a harrowing tale of a vessel answering the description of the Griffith boat which they had sighted in distress and pounding on one of the Keys off the storm-beaten Florida coast.

William Gibbs McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, and a business associate of Mr. Griffith at the time through the United Artists corporation, pulled some wires at Washington and within an hour the entire course between Miami and the Bahamas was being patrolled by navy ships, submarine chasers, seaplanes and launches of all kinds and description. But not a trace of the Griffith boat was found.

Then, as dark came on the afternoon of the fourth day, when it appeared that all had been lost, there arrived in New York this cablegram from the Bahamas:

> "Our little boat became frightened on the old pirate lane of the Spanish Main and tried to find bottom. We argued with her for four days on empty stomachs and one glass of water daily, although sponge fishers who rode bold pony boats to our rescue gave us conch salad, but that made us all patients of the black witch doctor of the island.
>
> "We are now safe in a beautiful country worth the trouble to reach.
>
> "(Signed) D. W. GRIFFITH."

▽

Juliet Lowell tells about the package received by an automobile accessory house in Virginia, in which a customer inclosed a note saying he was returning the shredded remains of four tire covers which had been advertised as "Extra fine quality, well made for long wear."

"Please send me my money," concluded the exasperated customer, "I put them on my tires and they ran only about four miles."

▽

One of the funnier stories being told about town—and supposedly authentic—concerns the general belief that Roxy had ordered the uniforms of his ushers made without pockets to keep them from taking tips, and as a result the various grades of gold-braided generals and majors and plain privates of the ushers' staff are compelled to wear their handkerchiefs tucked up their sleeves.

A reporter was dispatched to the Music Hall theatre, where he interviewed one of the ushers, and found out that this is not so. The ushers all have pockets, two in the trousers and four in the vests, though none in the coats. The pockets were discovered to be all too small for a handkerchief, but they're plenty large enough for a dime. It seems that Roxy, who spent a lot of money for the uniforms, and put each usher through five sittings, didn't want everything spoiled by a lumpy handkerchief. "You see," remarked the usher, "we're Roxy's pride and joy. Naturally, he doesn't want us to bulge."

Now that Mr. Roxy is no longer connected with the Music Hall, having resigned this week, the management may be a little less stringent with the Roxy ushers, and permit them to bulge a bit on occasion.

▽

Radio's Edna May Oliver has a piano, for which she paid $900, and for which she has expended $14,100 for freight carting it around the country with her.

SCANNING Feg Murrey's syndicated series of "Seein' Stars," we noted that—

In gambling scenes coins are coated with rubber cement, as otherwise they would make a loud metallic noise that would interfere with the dialogue. . . .

A clause in a contract recently signed by Frank Borzage gave him two of Jack Warner's prize polo ponies. . . .

Ramon Novarro's real name is Jose Ramon Gil Del Segrado Corozan De Jesus Samieniego y Ghrilan y Signeiros y Guerrero. . . .

In "The Road to Mandalay," the late Lon Chaney used the lining of an egg coated over an eyeball to give the appearance of blindness in one eye. . . .

"Chinese" Anna May Wong has never been in China.

Ruth Selwyn has her picture painted on her golf balls, instead of her name. . . .

Peggy Hopkins Joyce owns a string of pearls, now in Paris, which is so valuable that she would have to pay $80,000 in duty alone to clear it through an American port. . . .

Clara Bow is so fond of a pair of white mice she has owned for two years that she had them sent by airplane to New York to meet her when she returned from Europe.

While standing on the shore at Santa Monica, Cal., Jane Barnes had her purse stolen by a sea gull, which disappeared out over the ocean with it. . . .

Walt Disney once was fired because he didn't have any good ideas. . . .

George Arliss got himself a black eye falling out of his Pullman berth. . . .

"Our Gang" is the oldest unit in pictures, having been organized 13 years ago. Since then, there have been four complete turnovers in its ranks because the youngsters grew up.

▽

Mr. Leo Meehan, in quest of a Hollywood pet that would be entirely on the level, at last elected a dachshund. He is the most amazing pup. One can twist him into the shape of a pretzel without a move or a protest. He stays put in any attitude. Terry Ramsaye thinks it's the Hollywood climate.

▽

The success of the current Broadway musical comedy, "She Loves Me Not," caused the editors of the New Yorker to dig up some facts about Howard Lindsay, author of the play. They learned that Lindsay has been an actor, director and playwright for years. He was the long-haired movie-scenario writer in "Dulcy," of a dozen years ago, and during the war he played in and directed one of the AEF musical comedies for the boys in France. All the actors were soldiers, of course, and, unfortunately for Lindsay, who was directing, they all outranked him: he was a corporal and the cast was mainly sergeants. When they wouldn't obey him, he took it up with a high-ranking officer, who made Lindsay's stage orders army orders, and if a sergeant didn't smile while singing, Lindsay could have him court-martialed. This was the most fun Lindsay has ever had.

▽

There's somewhat of a merry tingle to many of the statements appearing in advertisements and editorial notices in Sound and Shadow, published in faraway India.

For instance, the line in Warners' "Forty-second Street" ad, which said: "Most lavish production ever conceived by the miracle minds of Hollywood!"

And the humorously frank notice inserted by Famous Pictures for "Sita Kalyanam," as follows: "'Sita Kalyanam' makes a definite landmark in Indian screen history, because, for the first time, the entire cast is taken from respectable and educated classes."

AS ONE SHOWMAN

Universal's Glorious Dramatic Romance, With Haunting Music and Songs!

Belo

SAYS TO ANOTHER*—

*(Excerpts of letter to Mr. Harry Arthur, F. & M. Stage Shows, Inc., Roxy Theatre, N. Y., etc., from Marco, of Fanchon & Marco):

"I am positive it will be one of the best box-office pictures Universal has made this year. It is worth heavy exploitation and advertising campaigns because of its production values, excellent cast, novelty of story twist, musical angle and title, "Beloved," which is great."

Veal

with JOHN
BOLES
GLORIA
STUART

Morgan Farley, Ruth Hall, Albert Conti, Dorothy Peterson, Edmund Breese, Richard Carle, Lucille Gleason, Mae Busch, Jimmy Butler. Story by Paul Gangelin. Presented by Carl Laemmle.

A B. F. Zeidman Production

Directed by VICTOR SCHERTZINGER

PARAMOUNT TRUSTEES SUSTAINED BY COURT

Justice Manton Denies Zirn's Second Motion to Oust Three Trustees; Also Endorses All Actions of Referee Davis

The United States circuit court, New York, on Monday denied the petition of Samuel Zirn, attorney for a small Paramount Publix bondholders' group, to remove the three trustees in bankruptcy, Charles D. Hilles, Eugene W. Leake and Charles E. Richardson. The decision was rendered by Justice Martin T. Manton, who wrote in an opinion that "there seemed to be no reason for removal of the trustees."

Justice Manton's opinion further endorsed all actions taken by Referee Henry K. Davis in the conduct of the election of the trustees and in subsequent procedure. Mr. Zirn's request had also asked the removal of Mr. Davis.

"Full Performance of Duty"

The Zirn plea had alleged that Mr. Hilles was disqualified for the trusteeship because of his former association with the Bankers' Trust Company, underwriter of a Paramount Publix refinancing plan together with 11 other banks; that Mr. Leake and Mr. Richardson, formerly in executive capacities with Film Securities Corporation and Fox Film Corporation, respectively, were disqualified because of these associations. Justice Manton's opinion declared that, in his estimation, Mr. Leake and Mr. Richardson were the more valuable to Paramount because of their former motion picture connections.

Of Mr. Hilles, Justice Manton said that "he seems to have acted in full performance of his duty toward the creditors with regard to litigation" to set aside the $13,200,000 refinancing plan of 1931 with which Mr. Hilles' former bank was connected. Justice Manton also found Mr. Hilles to be "accustomed to conducting large business affairs, and has imposed upon him now a trusteeship fraught with serious responsibilities, and has exhibited all the marks of integrity of purpose in fulfilling that trust, and under these circumstances should not be removed." The court noted that "Mr. Hilles had severed his directorship in the Bankers' Trust at once."

Zirn's First Action Denied

Mr. Zirn has been conducting a fight for the removal of the trustees since last Spring. His first action was denied by the United States district court in New York. The action denied this week by the higher court was heard a month ago. Mr. Zirn intends taking the case to the United States Supreme Court.

Directors of the newly organized Paramount Publix subsidiary, Famous Theatres Corporation, set up to take over the assets of the bankrupt Publix Enterprises, this week elected officers as follows: Chairman of the board, Adolph Zukor; president, Ralph A. Kohn; vicepresident, Frank Freeman; vicepresident, Sam Dembow, Jr.; treasurer, Walter B. Cokell; assistant treasurer, Paul A. Raiburn; secretary, Austin C. Keough.

No cash dividends will be paid to outside creditors of Publix Enterprises by Famous prior to February 10, at which time a current offer to satisfy approved creditor claims by an exchange of securities of Famous will expire. Approximately $600,000 of such outside claims already have been approved, the largest being that of Commercial Investment Trust, Inc., for $345,000. Famous offers to settle these claims through the issuance of one share of its preferred stock for each $200 of claims. Thus the settlement offered, on the assumed par value of the stock at $100, would be on the basis of 50 cents on the dollar. Cash settlements are to be on the basis of 35 cents on the dollar, it is understood.

Seeks Closer Field Contact

A number of contested creditors' claims still remain against Publix Enterprises, and may involve litigation. Irving Trust Company will not withdraw as trustees until these have been settled.

Paramount Publix is seeking a closer field contact plan designed to bring various of its theatre partners into closer relationship with the home office. Conferences were scheduled to get under way in Atlanta on Tuesday, when Ralph Kohn, president of the newly formed Paramount Theatres Service Corporation; Sam Dembow, Jr., and Frank Freeman met with Robert Wilby, E. V. Richards, Jr., Arthur Lucas, William Jenkins and Mike Kinsey.

Theatre Deals Completed

Paramount Theatres Service Corporation is an outgrowth of Theatre Management Company, a subsidiary which owned or operated no theatres, but acted as a service unit to assist operators in the field. Control of the Fox, Paramount, Georgia and Capitol theatres in Atlanta passed into the hands of Lucas and Jenkins on January 2, through a deal negotiated in New York by which the theatres were acquired from Valatenga Theatres, owned by Famous Theatres. No change in management or policies is to be made.

At New Orleans, Kennington-Saenger Theatres, Inc., of which Saenger owns 50 per cent, was granted permission last week to dispose of 150 shares to R. E. Kennington.

In Wilmington, Publix National Theatres Corporation, a Delaware corporation, has been dissolved. The certificate of dissolution was granted by the secretary of state with consent of all stockholders.

McDonough on Coast

J. R. McDonough, general manager of RKO, is in Hollywood to look over the RKO Radio studio situation and discuss production schedules and budgets with B. B. Kahane, president of RKO's production subsidiary.

With Twentieth Century

Bernard Simon was appointed last week as eastern publicity representative of 20th Century Pictures, according to an announcement from Joseph M. Moskowitz, treasurer. Mr. Simon is a former newspaper man and legitimate theatre press agent.

Rothafel Resigns Post as Director Of Music Hall

J. R. McDonough, general manager of Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation, on Monday announced the resignation of Samuel L. (Roxy) Rothafel as managing director of the Music Hall in Radio City. Mr. McDonough declared the resignation will have no effect whatsoever on the policy of the Music Hall or of the RKO Center, which abandoned stage shows some months ago.

Mr. Rothafel said he was going South for a rest.

Leo Leonidoff, who produced the Music Hall stage shows before and during Roxy's term as managing director, will continue.

Despite previous denials from Howard S. Cullman, receiver for the Roxy theatre, to the effect that Mr. Rothafel would return to the scene of his first motion picture "cathedral," Broadway immediately began to conjecture over a possible Rothafel-Herbert Lubin combination to take over again the original Roxy on Seventh avenue. This brought an immediate denial from Mr. Cullman, who said:

"There is no change of any kind whatsoever contemplated in the management or operation of the Roxy theatre. As receiver, I have in no way discussed any plan that would include the return of Mr. Rothafel, nor have I been asked at this time to consider any proposition or plan that would include a change in the present management or policy."

It was generally believed the climax to Roxy's relations with the management at RKO came about over disagreements as to budgets for the Music Hall. Mr. Rothafel defended his position in this matter when he said Monday: "The budget at all times was adhered to. At no time were the stage shows produced in excess of the budget allowance."

Regardless, an "RKO spokesman" was quoted later as saying that Mr. Rothafel's withdrawal was the result of his failure to keep the costs of his stage spectacles within the budget limitations prescribed by the management's theatre supervisory committee. It was also felt, he said, that Mr. Rothafel's "extravaganzas" were too long and that "they lacked humor." Roxy's dislike of supervision was considered to be another factor in his withdrawal, it was said.

Mr. Rothafel opened the Radio City Music Hall in December, 1932. Immediately after the first show he became ill, taking a leave of absence for several months.

Paying a tribute to his associates at the Music Hall, Roxy said: "I am deeply devoted to each and every one of them. I have always been proud of their devotion and loyalty to me. From my maestro, Rapee, to the smallest page boy, I could so thoroughly depend on their reliability and ability to adhere to our standards of good taste and artistic integrity that I felt free to leave the theatre whenever circumstances demanded it."

Three of Mr. Rothafel's aides, Charles Griswold, house manager of the Music Hall, and his two assistants, Charles Dowd and Lloyd Evans, also resigned this week. Herman Wittman, manager of the Palace, will replace Mr. Griswold.

Buck Brings Back Films and Animals Of Malay Jungles

[Picture in Pictorial Section]

Frank Buck, of wild animal fame, returned to the comparative safety of Radio City the other day from the Malayan Peninsula, partly wrapped in bandages from unscheduled encounters with some of the less friendly perissodactyl of the dark jungles.

Mr. Buck was ready to shape some hundred thousand feet of rough negative into a feature motion picture of one-tenth that length, which Amedee J. Van Beuren will merchandise, via RKO, as "Wild Cargo," in mid-March.

The Buck caravan, which sailed down New York harbor on a chilly evening last March, is returning in three sections, the first led by Mr. Buck; the second, arriving this week, comprising Nicholas Cavalerie and Leroy Phelps, cameramen, and James Naulty, business manager. The third is a boat-load of rare animals. There is a gorilla with a "wing" spread of nine feet, and there is a young male Indian rhinoceros which he captured in Nepal, in northern India. There are only three others of its kind, according to Mr. Buck, and they are all females, the last one having brought $30,000 from the St. Louis Zoo, many years ago.

The expedition covered northern India, Ceylon, Sumatra and Malaya, always maintaining operating headquarters at Singapore, from which the negative periodically was shipped back to the States to avoid being ruined by the tropical heat.

They filmed the capture of herds of wild elephants, who are led by trained elephants into a camouflaged corral, where they are chained. They also shot the "Perahera," a procession which takes place annually in Kandy, in which thousands and thousands of natives and hundreds of elephants take part.

Mr. Buck was guest of honor at a luncheon given by his writer-friends at the Tavern in New York last Thursday afternoon. Among those attending were Amedee J. Van Beuren, president of Van Beuren Corporation, producer of Buck's films; Bradley Kelley, of Station WINS; Ned E. Dipinet, vice-president in charge of RKO distribution; Frank Snell, general manager of Van Beuren; Joseph Connolly, of King Features; Ursula Parrott, novelist; Will Durant, author; J. P. McEvoy, humorist; George Bye, Mr. Buck's manager; Clayton Heermance, father of June Collyer; Harry Hansen, book reviewer of the World-Telegram; Bugs Baer, New York American columnist; Delight Dixon, writer for the Hearst publications; Fred McConnell, vice-president of Van Beuren; Rutgers Neilson, of RKO Radio; Charles Colebough, editor of Collier's; Mrs. Buck and R. L. Simon, and M. L. Schuster of the Simon and Schuster publishing firm.

Cohen Leaves Universal

Albert J. Cohen has resigned as scenario head for Universal on the Coast to enter production. Leonard Spiegelgass, former Fox story editor, has succeeded him.

INDEPENDENT SURE OF AID, SAYS YAMINS

Member of Code Authority and President of New England Exhibitors Honored at Banquet; O'Reilly and Myers Speak

Declaring that independent motion picture interests are represented on the Code Authority only by a minority vote, but voicing his confidence in "men like Sidney R. Kent" and his faith in "the record" and President Roosevelt, Nathan Yamins, president of Independent Exhibitors, Inc., of New England, and a member of the Code Authority, declared Tuesday at a banquet in Boston in his honor that independent hopes lay in the combined efforts of W. Ray Johnston, Charles L. O'Reilly and himself to champion their cause. Mr. Johnston and Mr. O'Reilly also are members of the Authority.

Mr. Yamins indicated it would be the intention of these three independent members to seek to move major interests on the Code Authority to a sympathetic and lasting point of view on all matters pertaining to independents. He said he was certain a fair deal is assured the industry.

200 Exhibitors Honor Yamins

More than 200 independent and affiliated exhibitors, together with many leading citizens of the state, including Governor Joseph B. Ely, met at the Copley-Plaza Tuesday night to do honor to Mr. Yamins for his elevation to the Code Authority. There was a general discussion of the code itself, but the highlight was Mr. Yamins' address.

"I regard the code as a marvelous opportunity for the industry at large," he said, "and for the exhibitors in particular. I do not view the code in a literal sense because if I did I would be disappointed. There are many fundamental principles important to independents which are lacking, and they should be there. Rather do I view the code as the NRA's expression of the New Deal. The code itself expires on January 1, 1935, but, regardless of that, I say the day is gone when ruthless operation in business may disregard the rights of the individual."

As a member of the Authority, Mr. Yamins said it was "properly his task" to drive his opinions home to the other members identified with major interests.

"I am not frightened because we can carry only the minority vote," he declared. "I pin my faith on the record and the President, and am certain that if the majority vote does not support those measures that should be adopted, the code will be changed. That, however, I do not think will be necessary."

Code for Small Interests: O'Reilly

Mr. O'Reilly declared there are "two fine things about the code," one of these its title, which states it is a code of fair competition, and the second, the fact that it was promulgated to protect small enterprises. He also expressed the opinion that the Code Authority as a governing body will do everything in its power to further fair trade practices.

Abram F. Myers, general counsel to Allied States Association, with which Mr. Yamins' exhibitor group is affiliated, asserted Mr. Yamins is the only completely independently minded person on the Code Authority.

"You are one in 10 and you will find the independents of the United States looking to you and to you only to represent their interests," he declared.

Sidney Samuelson, president of Allied of New Jersey, also said the destiny of the independents was in Mr. Yamins' hands.

Other speakers included Edward Fay, Providence; George Gile, president of Allied Exhibitors of New England; Maurice Wolf, MGM's Boston manager, and Walter Littlefield. Sol A. Rosenblatt, unable to attend, sent a telegram.

Justice Lewis Goldberg was toastmaster and Max L. Levenson chairman. Guests besides Governor Ely included General Daniel Needham, Massachusetts commissioner of public safety; Mayor Joseph Hurley of Fall River; Herbert McNary, city censor; Abe Montague, Columbia sales executive, and Joseph McConville.

Arrangements for the dinner were in the hands of Edward Ansin, Irving Green, Ralph Snider, George Ramsdell, Philip Smith, W. H. McLaughlin, Carl Myshrall, E. M. Lowe, William A. Viano and Frank Lydon.

Kent Decries Lack of Names

Declaring that many of the past season's finest motion pictures "failed to click" at the nation's box-offices due to a lack of names to draw the public, Sidney R. Kent said this week that this and poor stories constitute the two most important problems facing the industry today.

The Fox Film Corp. president has just returned to New York from a stay of several weeks on the west coast where he discussed company production for 1934.

Analyzing box office records for the past year, Mr. Kent said that "a lot of fine pictures distributed last year by all producers failed to click due to a lack of names to pull in the public in a shopping market."

Mr. Kent is engaged in preparing a budget for company operations for the first fiscal quarter of the year. He indicated recently that the budget, in addition to the immediate progress of business, would be determining factors governing possible restoration of all or part of the salary cuts imposed on employees some time ago.

Oliver Leaves RKO

Hal Oliver, engaged in special exploitation work for RKO, has resigned his position.

UNIVERSAL
Again Delivers A Box-Office Picture That's Startlingly DIFFERENT!

MIDN

With SYDNEY FOX, O. P. Heggie, Henry Hull, Margaret Wycherly, Lynn Overman, Katherine Wilson, Richard Whorf, Humphrey Bogart, Moffat Johnson.

I

At midnight one woman was destined to die!...At midnight another woman was destined to kill!...What a strange premise for a movie!...Yet its working out on the screen brings you one of the most absorbing and worth-while dramas in months and months.

IGHT

From the Theatre Guild play by Paul and Claire Sifton. Directed by Chester Erskin. Produced by All Star Productions, Inc. Presented by Carl Laemmle.

FEWER FILM MOVES IN CONGRESS SEEN

Sirovich Preparing to Revive Inquiry Bill and May Include Salaries and Code Negotiations If He Finds Support

Because of the pressure of emergency business pertaining to the Administration's recovery plans, it is expected in Washington that the motion picture industry will be spared the usual attacks by anti-motion picture interests at this session of Congress, or at least that the severity which has marked such attacks in the past will be considerably lightened.

At least one mild skirmish is in the offing, with the "antis" led by Representative Sirovich of New York, who at the special session last spring introduced a resolution for a full investigation of the industry. Mr. Sirovich is preparing to confer with a number of his colleagues on the advisability of attempting to resuscitate his measure, and may expand it to embrace an inquiry on the code negotiations which preceded adoption.

Might Investigate Salaries

As soon as the pure food bill now before Congress is disposed of, Mr. Sirovich will endeavor to line up sufficient support for application for a rule to bring his resolution before the House, denied him last session.

As originally introduced, the resolution provided for a probe of the "financial, operative and business irregularities and illegal actions by interests inside and outside the motion and sonant pictures industry," but it is probable that he will consider inclusion of the question of motion picture salaries and the events leading up to approval of the code.

Addressing Congress personally, President Roosevelt at the opening of the session last week declared the "New Deal" was here to stay and that in the recovery act, "though the machinery, hurriedly devised, may need readjustment from time to time," is to be "a permanent feature of our modernized industrial structure" to continue "under the supervision, but not the arbitrary dictation, of government itself."

More Money for Film Activities

No further cut is to be made in the $85,000 fund for purchase and rental of motion pictures by the Navy, and $165,000 is provided for the purchase of motion picture and other recreational equipment. The specialties division of the Department of Commerce, with which has been incorporated the former motion picture division, is to get $28,065, as against $23,479 this year, while the Department of Agriculture will receive $61,806 for its motion picture production activities, as against a current appropriation of $59,115.

Unable to prepare a revenue measure in time for submission at the opening of Congress, the House ways and means committee, which last month held hearings on the present tax law during which repeal of the admissions tax was urged by legitimate theatre interests, has decided to make a thorough survey of the entire tax situation, and to that end resumes its public hearings Tuesday.

The hearing last month was designed chiefly to discuss a subcommittee report on revision of administrative features; the present series will go into the whole question of excise taxes and miscellaneous revenue matters. It is possible that further testimony will be taken regarding the admissions tax, although members of the committee feel the subject was well covered December 21.

Bail Fixed for Brooklyn Group

Twelve men, indicted by the federal grand jury in Brooklyn, New York, last month following investigation of activities of New York Investors, Inc., and affiliated companies, pleaded not guilty this week before Federal Judge Moskowitz in Brooklyn and were released under bail for further hearing January 22.

The indictments charged conspiracy to defraud bondholders and the New York Stock Exchange, concealment of assets and fraudulent use of the mails. Those indicted allegedly concealed millions of dollars in assets while aware that bankruptcy proceedings were pending against the companies.

Bail of $7,500 each was fixed for Frank Fox, president of Realty Associates Securities Corp.; Frank Bailey, chairman of the board of New York Investors; William M. Greve, president of New York Investors; Francis T. Pender, vice president of New York Investors and president of Allied Owners' Corp., and William H. Wheelock, director of New York Investors and president of the Prudence Company.

Each of these men were indicted on three counts and bail of $2,500 was fixed for each count. Bail of $2,500 each was set for James Graham, a director of Realty Associates Securities Corp.; James B. Fisher, another director of that company; Harry D. Burchill, vice president of Realty Associates Securities Corp.; Eugene Moses, director; Gordon S. Braislin, another vice president; Otto E. Reimer and Henry S. Parker, chairman and secretary, respectively, of the bondholders' committee.

Stuber Notes Gain in Eastman Kodak Business

An increase in the volume of business and a consequent gradual increase in the working force, is reported by W. G. Stuber, president of Eastman Kodak Company, in Rochester.

"We see no reason why the improvement in general business should not continue," said Mr. Stuber, and added that general business "for the first three months of 1934 should be well above the first quarter of 1933."

Federation Plans Ad Code; Adopts Plan for Finances

An advertising code of ethics to govern the independent producers, distributors and state right exchanges belonging to the Federation of the Motion Picture Industry is expected to be made known before the week-end. The Federation recently rejected an invitation to participate with national companies under the regulatory plan for clean advertising which those companies adopted, and decided that it would draft its own rules for eliminating the objectionable from advertising and publicity copy of Federation members.

The Federation established temporary headquarters at P. S. Harrison's offices, 1440 Broadway, New York, pending consummation of rental negotiations for space at 723 Seventh avenue. Alec Moss, formerly publicist for many distributing companies in New York, is executive secretary.

A permanent plan for financing the work of the Federation is said to call for an assessment on producer members of $5 a negative reel release, and $2.50 for each positive reel release on distributors, with a $50 annual minimum in both cases.

'Cavalcade' Wins Film Daily Poll

"Cavalcade," the Fox production which was set against a British historical background, won first honors in the annual poll to ascertain the "Ten Best Pictures of 1933," conducted by Film Daily. A total of 384 motion picture critics participated. "Cavalcade" received 304 votes.

The nine others, with the name of the producer in each case and the number of votes polled, are: "42nd Street," Warner, 209; "Private Life of Henry VIII," United Artists, 187; "Lady for a Day," Columbia, 173; "State Fair," Fox, 169; "Farewell to Arms," Paramount, 167; "She Done Him Wrong," Paramount, 158; "I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang," Warner, 156; "Maedchen in Uniform," Filmchoice, 137; "Rasputin and the Empress," MGM, 128.

James McWade Dead on Coast

James S. McWade, who entered the motion picture business in its early days as a contributing editor of the Film Index, and was long identified with motion picture trade journalism, died recently at the St. Ann Sanitarium in Culver City, Cal., following a long illness.

When the Film Index was purchased by the Moving Picture World, Mr. McWade went with it, becoming an associate editor and western correspondent for the World, a position which he occupied for many years, with headquarters in Chicago.

STOCK COMPANIES DROP FROM 219 IN 1927 TO 22 WITH BUT 12 WEEKS

Shortage of Plays and Leading Players Blamed on Films, Demands of Unions Called Most Important Factor as Cause

by FRED AYER

Stock companies—once a national institution in the world of the theatre and the training ground for the legitimate stage—have reached such a low ebb of activity that recovery even approximating the position they once held is considered virtually impossible.

In 1927 there were 219 dramatic stock companies, operating regularly on an average of six months in the year; today, faced with unprecedented competition, there are but 22—and these, with but few exceptions, adjudge themselves fortunate indeed if they are able to maintain a production schedule which gives them 12 weeks of playing time for an entire season.

A consensus of stock managers educes three major reasons for the decline in repertoire:

1. Shortage of plays.

2. The impossibility of developing and keeping leading men and women who will draw large audiences.

3. The unyielding stand of the labor unions on salaries and other matters.

For the shortage of plays and leads, Hollywood is charged with being directly responsible.

Many Companies Broken Up

The shortage of plays available for stock use during the past three seasons meant the closing down of numerous companies which otherwise might have survived the depression. There were so few "smash hits" in New York during this time that the dearth of suitable material was appalling. Whenever a "smash" came along, the motion picture companies immediately snatched it up and transferred it to the screen before stock rights could be released.

"And when stock rights were obtained, in many cases, there was nothing to prevent the picture companies from releasing a film in a specific location at the same time the stock manager planned a showing," said Lester Al Smith, onetime president of the now extinct National Dramatic Stock Managers Association, this week. "This, obviously, killed the chances of even opening to good business."

As to the second contributing factor to the decline of stocks, Mr. Smith pointed out that prior to sound pictures, leading men and women spent years developing themselves to a point where they had a large following among stock audiences. Stock once was considered a life career for many. Now, whenever a leading player reaches the point where he becomes a "name" in his community, Hollywood's lucrative offers lure him toward the Pacific.

As to union labor, Mr. Smith charged that the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, the scenic artists' organizations and, in some instances, musicians' unions, virtually have "held up" stock managers in their demands. This factor being more responsible for actual forced closings than any other.

"When times were good and everyone was making money, the average stock manager did not worry particularly over these demands," he explained. "They were accepted as a matter of course. But when depression set in and the unions still maintained their scales and their demands for a seemingly more than necessary number of men on a stage during a performance, things began to look bad. The difference between six and nine men on the stage took on a new significance—$270 per week extra! Unfortunately the stage cannot get along without stage hands, so we had to put up with this condition. We eliminated orchestras because we had to. During this past season, however, the unions began to be a bit more lenient with us, and I think the time will come when they will be able to see things from our point of view."

The terrific decline from the 219 operating companies of six years ago to the present 22, has not resulted solely from the competition of the far less expensive entertainment offered by talking pictures, authorities believe. They point out that a temporary decline in this field shortly after the talkers were put on the market, was followed by a marked recovery and even demand for stock presentations. Then the bottom fell out.

In spite of this, practically every oldtime stock manager "stuck with the game." Now they are in bankruptcy. Most of these men, discredited through no fault of their own, now must post bonds with the Actors Equity, the IATSE, the scenic artists' organizations and other groups with whom they must do business, before they are allowed to open a show. A man with $3,000 in hand might organize a stock company, but under present conditions his $3,000 would be used up in bonds before he could open.

It is the contention of most persons who have dealings with the dramatic stock companies that their chief competitor is not the motion picture, but the Little Theatre movement, which has made considerably headway the last three years.

At the same time, this movement in a sense is taken to demonstrate that the public still wants stage drama.

According to Gus Diehl, head of the Century Play Company's stock department, the Little Theatre movement, underway more than ten years, never was expected to attain such proportions as it has recently. There are now 22,000 of these Little Theatres in the country, of which approximately 300 own and operate their own houses.

Little Expense, Big Profits

With comparatively little or no overhead expense these organizations are making large profits. Many old stock actors are now turning to this field as directors, at the same time organizing schools of the drama as a sideline. Because most of them are strictly amateur societies insofar as the players are concerned, the playbrokers release rights at considerably lower rates than to professional stock companies. The result is that where a stock company is in a competitive situation with a Little Theatre group, most of the "hit" plays have been produced by these societies, and when such an organization has played over half the

(Continued on page 30)

THE 22 THEATRES PLAYING STOCK

Tumbling from a peak of 219 stock companies operating in 1927 there are now only 22 theatres* in which these organizations function regularly:

CITY	THEATRE
Boston	Peabody and Copley
Baltimore	Auditorium
Birmingham	Jefferson
Cincinnati	Cox
Cleveland	Playhouse
Columbus	Hartman
Erie, Pa.	Playhouse
Hollywood	Playhouse and El Capitan
Hartford	Club
Indianapolis	English
Kansas City	Orpheum
Lincoln	Temple
Louisville	Drury Lane
Milwaukee	Davidson
Montclair	Montclair
Montreal	His Majesty's
Plainfield	Masonic Temple
Trenton	State
Upper Darby	Playhouse
Utica	Majestic

This list varies from time to time, particularly around Christmas, when several theatres opened for stock and will, possibly, remain open.

The "road," which probably has suffered equally with the stock company during the rise of the motion picture, will be discussed in a forthcoming issue.

DOROTHEA WIECK and ALICE BRADY

"MISS FANE'S BABY IS STOLEN!"

with

BABY LE ROY

directed by Alexander Hall

A Paramount Picture

BOX OFFICE

"Previewed 'Miss Fane's Baby' privately with about thirty people in attendance. Everybody enthusiastic and positive it will be excellent box office attraction."—Charles D. Skouras, Fox West Coast Theatre

"'Miss Fane's Baby' fine entertainment."
—Martin J. Mullin, M. & P. Theatres

"Everyone connected with this picture should take bows for a grand entertainment. The picture is one of those often talked of but rarely produced. A combination of suspense and feminine appeal —with the stress on the former."
— Hollywood Variety

"Here is a great picture —probably one of the most timely and impressive stories ever brought to the screen. Packed with emotion-stirring value. Poignantly realistic, it is the type of thrilling, sympathy-arousing entertainment that should be tremendously popular with all classes of patrons."
—Motion Picture Herald

"Paramount has a hit in 'Fane's Baby Is Stolen'. A picture that is timely, universal and appealing. Preview audience sobbed unrestrainedly through the whole thing and burst out with whole-hearted applause at the end when kidnappers are caught. Authentic, human and dramatic."
— Hollywood Reporter

"Thrilling entertainment that leans heavily on the heart side. This production is an ideal combination of up-to-the-minute sentiment with tense heart interest and a suspense that holds all the way."
—Motion Picture Daily

Paramount Pictures

if it's a PARAMOUNT PICTURE it's the best show in town

22,000 LITTLE THEATRES

(Continued from page 27)

available material there is not much chance for the stock company, Mr. Diehl points out.

"In 1929 talkies came into existence and stock began to fall off, but it rallied shortly after this and its real decline commenced only with the general financial slump," he said. "It is my belief that no matter what people may say, the public did not go to pictures to the exclusion of the stock companies. Most of them did not go to either. I am certain that when people get a little extra money again for amusement purposes stock will come back—never, however, to be compared with its condition prior to 1929."

Both Mr. Smith and Mr. Diehl see a distinct benefit to stock in the reversion of many closed theatres owned by motion picture companies to their original owners. The film companies bought many small theatres in towns where stock was well established. In some instances they did not open them, but kept them closed with the threat of dire competition "unless," both men charged.

Another factor which authorities believe may return stock to a fair paying basis is the legitimate theatre's code, a clause of which forbids the release of the motion picture of a specific play until such time as that play has had adequate opportunity to enjoy a run and roadshowing. This, they said, probably will be construed to include stock companies, thereby eliminating one of the three large factors contributing to their decline.

Another development is the experiment now being conducted by A. M. Oberfelder of St. Louis, who has instituted a stock circuit covering four cities: Kansas City, Indianapolis, Cincinnati and St. Louis. Each company plays a week in each city and by the time the circuit has been completed the company has a new play ready for production.

"If this experiment works out it will open a new field for stock and may be the beginning of a 'New Deal' in this branch of amusements," Mr. Diehl declared.

250 PLAYERS NOW; 2,200 USED IN 1927

With but 22 stock companies active today there are only about 250 players working steadily in this field. The average company has a working nucleus of from 10 to 15 players. Approximately 250 stage hands are involved. One scenic artist is employed by each company.

This is a far cry from 1927 when, at the same average number of employed players and stage hands per company, there were approximately 2,200 actors and 2,190 stage hands employed.

Last year at this time there were 21 stock companies operating regularly. The year before, at a corresponding period of 1931, there were 37. In 1930 there were well over 100.

Caravan Tour To Exploit 20th Century's "Moulin Rouge"

In a tieup with the Socony-Vacuum Company, Twentieth Century plans a cross-country, key city caravan tour exploiting "Moulin Rouge," beginning February 1. Special train will carry the unit between cities, while buses will be used in each city.

Raspin To Make Original Story, "Are We Civilized?"

Edwin B. Raschbaum and Sidney T. Pink of Raspin Productions, Inc., are in Hollywood to begin production on an original story, "Are We Civilized?" Harold Sherman, author of the story, accompanied them to the Coast. The film will be directed by Edwin Carewe. Release will be by Raspin, which made "Explorers of the World."

NRA Forces Low Scale Up: Goldwyn

Declaring that in places where admission prices are below normal they will have to be increased in order to meet increased costs under the NRA, Samuel Goldwyn said this week in Chicago that labor and other costs have mounted "so considerably that I don't see how they can be absorbed unless admission scales are raised where they are low at present."

Mr. Goldwyn specifically mentioned Loew's Midland in Kansas City, where a 25-cent top prevails, a scale far too low in his estimation for the quality of the pictures shown. A year ago Mr. Goldwyn refused to allow the Midland to first run his product at that price.

Mr. Goldwyn would not say whether he thought increased production costs might increase film rentals, but he made himself quite clear when he said he had not changed his mind on the subject of star raiding. He reiterated his belief that stars should be allowed to work where they see fit.

Monogram Increases Schedule to 36 Films

W. Ray Johnston, president of Monogram, has completed plans to increase the production schedule for 1934-35 to 36 pictures. No shorts will be included. The total compares with 20 features on the 1933-34 schedule. All production activity has been concentrated under Trem Carr, vice president in charge of production, and his executive staff, headed by Lou Ostrow.

H. B. Shaffer has been named publicity director of the Monogram Seattle exchange, replacing H. B. Sobottka.

General Theatres Receiver Offers Chase Compromise

A proposed compromise agreement with Chase National Bank of New York was filed in Wilmington, Del., chancery court Friday by United States Senator Daniel O. Hastings, receiver for General Theatres Equipment, Inc. The petition was set down for a hearing February 23.

The Chase Bank has filed claims in the receivership of General Theatres in an amount in excess of $20,000,000 and the plan provides that the bank is to reduce its claim to $15,000,000, that the receiver is to consent to allow the reduced claim and to release all claims the corporation may have against bank affiliates.

To secure the $20,000,000 indebtedness there are pledged, with the bank, securities including the preferred stock of Film Securities Corp., which held the 660,900 shares of Loew's Inc., sold at auction two weeks ago, in connection with a loan of $9,700,000. This preferred stock, it is declared has been rendered valueless by the sale at auction of the Loew stock held by Film Securities, pledged to secure notes of Film Securities now in default.

Chase National, in its annual statement Tuesday, reported considerable progress had been made in 1933 in safeguarding its motion picture interests. Earnings for the year amounted to $25,298,094 before reserves and charge-offs.

Agreement Reported

In connection with the proposed agreement, Chase is reported to have made an agreement with the consolidated protective committee for the 10-year six per cent convertible gold debentures, due April 1, 1940, of General Theatres. The more important features of this agreement are that the bank is to participate in the company's reorganization, provided the details are worked out in a manner satisfactory to the bank, and is to turn over to the reorganized company its secured claims, accompanied by collateral securing them, in exchange for shares of common stock of the reorganized company, to be issued on the same pro-rata basis as to debenture holders and other unsecured creditors. Chase also will give to the reorganized company an option to purchase at $15 a share approximately 325,000 shares of Class A stock of Fox Film Corporation, good for one year, and will lend to it a reasonable amount to cover reorganization costs and working capital.

Fox West Coast Plans

Meanwhile, it is understood, plans for the reorganization of Fox West Coast are well underway in New York.

In Los Angeles, trustees' commissions and attorneys' fees for the West Coast group will be proportioned to what the estate might bring at auction, it was announced.

In Wilmington, decentralization of Fox Rocky Mountain theatres was continued with incorporation of the Fox Iowa Theatre Corporation, Fox Billings Theatre Corporation, Fox Rockhill Theatre Corporation, and Fox Southwest Theatre Corporation.

INDEPENDENTS LEADING FRANCE TO NEW RECORDS IN PRODUCTION

Total of 240 French Films Estimated for This Season, 50 Per Cent Increase; 35 to 40 Being Dubbed Outside

by PIERRE AUTRE

Paris Correspondent

Independent producers of France are setting the pace in a 50 per cent increase of output which is expected to bring out of the French studios 200 pictures this season, while 35 to 40 French versions of foreign films to be made in other countries will swell to 240 the total of French talking pictures for 1933-34. In France, 110 pictures had been turned out in the first six months of the year, 70 more between July and the current month. Now in all of 1929 only 52 pictures had been made, 94 in the following year, 139 in 1931 and 157 last year.

Credit to the Independents

It must be said that nobody here was expecting so many pictures this season from the French companies. This success of French production comes from the independent producers, who have made very great effort, both in actual producing and in getting capital. Many independents, with expenditures otherwise cut to the bone, have made one, two or three pictures each, and in this way have achieved a revival of French production.

They are more than 60 independent producing companies now in the French market. All these companies have worked all summer and are now preparing new pictures.

Of what value are these pictures? It might be thought that productions of this kind, made in two or three weeks of studio work, and with little money, would not be satisfactory pictures. Results have shown that most were rather good. It is true, of course, that some of them, made in such hurry in second-class studios, badly wired, did not give much satisfaction. But the average were really good, for the French audiences' taste.

Most of the French pictures are adaptations of stage plays, with much dialogue, little action. This kind of picture is called here "théatre photographié." Nothing is further from the American cinema than these picturese, but French audiences enjoy them very much and cinema receipts confirm that. In French studios now you see stage stars, stage authors, stage directors. All the stage people have taken in their hands the cinema work and every well-known stage play, old or modern, is adapted to the screen.

Of 384 pictures produced in France since 1929, the first days of the talkers, 171 were adaptations of stage plays, 113 were original stories and 100 adaptations of novels. Among these subjects, 119 were stories written before the war and too old-fashioned to give real interest.

It must be noted that Latin people prefer the theatre to the picture. Success of French film production comes from the fact that the French pictures are something between theatre and cinema.

Breaking the Routine

Some producers, some directors, such as Julien Duvivier, Jacques Feyder, Maurice Tourneur, have tried to get out of the routine of picturizing stage plays, and have succeeded. But most of the directors, who once were of the stage, have found it easier to make theatrical films, very cheap and yet seemingly sufficient for most French patrons, especially the popular audiences.

There is still a danger in this method, a danger of eliminating exportation of French pictures except for Egypt, Belgium or Switzerland, all countries of French language.

Some French producers have recognized this peril. Römain Pinès, Marcel Vandal, Charles Delac, Fox Film Europa, have tried to make real pictures, as "La Chatelaine Du Liban," "Dans Les Rues," "L'Ordonnance." These pictures have more success among the educated classes.

Fox Film has gone further and will release two kinds of French productions:

First, Fox Europa productions. These, with Erich Pommer directing, will be made in the St. Maurice-Paramount studios. The first, already completed, is "A Man Has Been Stolen," with Lili Damita and Henry Garat. The director is Max Onhuls, who

(Continued on page 34)

French Distributors' Pictures Available For Exhibitors from October to March

Pictures To Be Released from October to March

DISTRIBUTORS	FRENCH TALKERS Made in						DUBBINGS				TOTALS
	France	Germany	Austria	Czecho-slovakia	Italy	U. S. A.	American	British	German	Italian
Armor	2	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	2	..	4
ACE (UFA)	..	16	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	16
Auteurs Associés	3	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	3
BGK	1	..	..	..	..	..	..	1	1	..	3
CID	6	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	6
Comptoir Français	4	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	4
CUC	3	..	..	..	..	..	5	1	1	..	10
Cinedis-Gentel	3	1	2	1	..	..	..	..	..	..	7
Citac-Rasimi	1	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	2	..	3
Elté	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	2	..	2
Films de France	2	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	2
Fox Films	6	..	..	..	..	..	11	..	..	..	17
Eclair Journal	1	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	1
GFFA (Gaumont)	17	..	..	2	..	..	3	..	1	1	24
Gray Film	2	..	1	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	3
Guerlais (Pierre)	2	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	2
Haguet (André)	7	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	7
Haik (Jacques)	3	..	..	..	..	..	8	..	..	..	11
Hakim	2	..	..	..	..	..	3	8	..	..	13
Isis Film	1	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	1
Intercontinental	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	1	..	1	2
Luna Film	1	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	1
Lauzin (Albert)	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	3	..	3
Films G.L.	2	..	..	..	1	..	..	..	..	..	3
Meric (Films)	4	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	4
Nalpas (Alex)	7	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	1	..	8
Osso	5	1	..	..	..	..	6	..	..	..	12
Paramount	8	..	..	..	..	1	22	..	..	..	31
PAD	3	..	..	..	..	..	3	2	..	..	8
Pathé-Natan	26	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	26
Petit	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	1	1	..	2
MGM	..	..	..	..	..	..	18	..	..	..	18
Rouhier	..	..	..	..	..	..	2	1	1	..	4
SELF	5	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	5
Seyta	1	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	1	..	2
Société Parisienne du Film Parlant	4	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	4
Tobis	4	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	1	..	5
United Artists	1	..	..	..	..	..	9	5	..	..	15
Universal	4	1	..	..	..	..	22	..	..	..	27
Warner Bros-FN	..	..	..	..	..	..	12	..	..	..	12
	141	19	3	3	1	1	124	20	17	2	331
				168					163		331

The producers who discovered and brought KATHARINE HEPBURN to triumphant stardom confidently offer the screen debut of a blazing new star

FRANCIS LEDERER

. . . . DESTINED FOR GREATNESS!

PREVIEW COMMENTS:

"Stands out like an Orangeman in a St. Patrick's Day celebration."
Variety (Hollywood)

"May be well served as a promise of Nectar and Ambrosia to come from Lederer." M. P. Daily

★

WORLD PREMIERE
THURSDAY, JAN. 11
RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL

★

FRANCIS LEDERER
ELISSA LANDI

in

"MAN OF TWO

with Henry Stephenson . . . . J. Farrell MacDonald . . . . Directed by J. Walter

R K O
RADIO
PICTURE

MERIAN C. COOPER,
EXECUTIVE PRODUCER

WORLDS!!

Ruben . . . . A Pandro S. Berman Production

INCORPORATED

The following corporations have filed charters recently in the Delaware State Department at Dover, Del.:

Greater Manhattan Corporation, to deal in real estate and theatre business, listing capital of $800,000. The incorporators are June K. Bothman, Betty Black and Florence L. Levy of Bronx, N. Y.

Standard Theatres Corporation, to operate theatres and other places of amusement, listing capital of $50,000. The incorporators are Roger C. Clement, George A. Barry, New York, and Ida Hannis, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Hudson Theatrical Club, Inc., to foster, promote and encourage readings, recitals and exhibitions of music, listing no capital. The incorporators are J. Vernon Pimm, Albert G. Bauer and Albert S. Roebuck of Philadelphia.

P. & S. Company, Inc., to deal in motion picture films and other films, listing capital of 500 shares, no par value. The incorporators are Warren Dubois, G. M. Kendrick and M. A. Jack of New York.

International Opera Company, to conduct operas, concerts, dramatic and musical performances, listing capital of 100 shares, no par value. The incorporators are C. S. Peabbles, L. H. Herman and Walter Lenz of Wilmington.

Middletown Theatres Company, to deal in real estate, listing capital of 1,000 shares, no par value. The incorporators are Ervin Snellenburg, Elva F. Gooding and Melvin Hopkins of Dover, Del.

World Circus Company, Inc., to deal in shop properties, circus properties, listing capital of 1,000 shares, no par value. The incorporators are W. I. N. Lofland, Rebecca Dunn and Marian A. Lane of Dover, Del.

Associated Film Producers Corporation, to deal in motion pictures of all kinds, listing capital of 1,000 shares, no par value. The incorporators are C. S. Peabbles, L. H. Herman and Walter Lenz of Wilmington.

Universal Oddities, Inc., to operate amusement enterprises of all kinds, listing capital of 5,000 shares, no par value. The incorporators are C. S. Peabbles, L. H. Herman and Walter Lenz of Wilmington.

Cinaudagraph Corporation, to deal in motion and talking pictures, listing capital of 200 shares, no par value. The incorporators are Bernard L. Miller, Irwin I. Greenfield and Marian R. Shapiro of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Midas Camera-Projectors Corporation, to deal in cameras of all kinds, listing capital of 2,000 shares, no par value. The incorporators are J. T. Brennan, Frederic E. Bell and F. F. Kane of New York.

Columbia Films, Ltd., to deal in motion picture films, listing capital of $50,000. The incorporators are Jack M. Nitzburg, Leonard Kaufman and Leonard S. Picker of New York.

The Horsathon, Inc., to conduct amusement enterprises, listing capital of $50,000 and 500 shares, no par value. The incorporators are Robert A. VanVoorhis of Belleville, N. J.; R. H. Toothe, Brooklyn, N. Y.; A. M. Docken, Sunnyside, L. I., N. Y.

Tulsa Broadcasting Company, to do a general broadcasting business, listing capital of $50,000. The incorporators are C. S. Peabbles, L. H. Herman and Walter Lenz of Wilmington.

Second "ComiColor" Completed by Celebrity

"The Little Red Hen," second in the series of "ComiColor Cartoons," was completed in Cinecolor this week by UB Iwerks, at the Animated Picture Corporation studio in Los Angeles. Arrangements are being made by Celebrity Productions for simultaneous first showings of the cartoon in New York and Los Angeles.

French Pictures Showing Increase

(Continued from page 31)

made the noted German picture, "Liebelei." Only a French version of the Fox Europa picture has been produced. The next two will be "Liliom," with Charles Boyer and directed by Fritz Lang, and "Music in the Air," from the Hammerstein and Jerome Kern musical comedy, which will feature Lilian Harvey and Henry Garat, with French and English versions.

In the other hand, the French branch of Fox will distribute French films produced also in St. Maurice studios, by Fred Bacos. This company, called SAPEC, already has made two pictures, "Mitricule 33" and "Surprises of the Sleeping Car," which are very good, but theatrical successes. Fox now is building in Paris a studio for sound where American Fox pictures will be re-recorded and dubbed.

Only U. S. Company Producing

At the moment, Fox is the only American company producing in France. The two important French companies, GFFA (Gaumont) and Pathé Natan, have decreased their own production, but distribute pictures of independents, or pictures made "half and half" with independents.

The releasing programs of the distribution companies in France for this winter and the spring season, include 331 pictures, 168 of them French talkers and 163 dubbings. Here again the independents have first place. Among the 26 Pathé Natan releases are 17 from independents, while only three or four of the 17 French GFFA pictures were produced entirely by that company. French pictures released total as follows by company:

Pathe	26	Fox	6
GFFA	17	Universal	4
Paramount	8
Total			61

GFFA and Pathe, with two large circuits in Paris, have together only 43 pictures of the 168 French. That also shows the importance of the independents.

Following are the totals of dubbings by American companies:

Paramount	22	United Artists	14
Universal	22	Warner-FN	12
MGM	18	Fox	11
Total			99

Columbia and RKO pictures are released by French distributors such as CUC, Osso, GFFA.

Here is a classification for all the releases:

Paramount	31	United Artists	15
Universal	27	Hakim	13
Pathe	26	Osso	12
GFFA	24	Warner	12
MGM	18	Haik	11
Fox	17	CUC	10
ACE	16
Total			232

Thus 232 pictures are released by 13 distributors. The 99 pictures remaining are divided among 27 distributors.

TRAVELERS . . .

RUTH ETTING returned from United Artists studio in Hollywood to resume broadcasting.

ERIK CHARELL, French producer, and CHARLES BOYER, French actor, arrived in New York, en route to Movietone City to work for Fox.

W. RAY JOHNSTON, president of Monogram, was in Boston to attend Nathan Yamins' testimonial dinner.

BERT SANFORD, JR., eastern sales manager for Erpi, left New York for survey of New England and New York branches.

CARL BRISSON arrived in New York from England, en route to Hollywood to work for Paramount.

AL CHRISTIE returned to New York from Hollywood to resume work on Educational shorts.

SAMUEL GOLDWYN arrived in New York from Coast, and will leave for Russia shortly.

IRVING ASHER, Warners' foreign production head, returned to New York from Burbank studio, on his way back to London.

HARRY M. WARNER, president of Warners, and JACK L. WARNER, vice-president in charge of production, left New York for Burbank studio.

SIDNEY SINGERMAN, Universal's assistant sales executive, was vacationing at Palm Beach, Fla.

WILLIAM GARGAN arrived in New York from Coast.

LOU B. METZGER left New York for San Diego, Cal., but returns to New York shortly en route to Europe.

JAMES R. GRAINGER, Universal's sales manager, returned to New York from nation-wide exchange survey.

CHARLES EINFELD, Warners' advertising-publicity chief, left New York for Dallas, returning early next week.

MAX MILDER, Warner executive in England, returned to London.

FRANCIS L. HARLEY, Fox executive in Brazil, arrived in New York from Rio de Janiero. He was accompanied by VICTOR J. SCHOCHET, South American executive.

SAM JAFFE was due in New York from Hollywood studio of Paramount, to resume stage work.

SAUL ROGERS returned to New York from Pinehurst, N. C.

GEORGE J. SCHAEFFER, Paramount executive, was attending managers' meetings at Dallas and Atlanta.

WILLIAM ROWLAND was due in New York from Coast to confer with Columbia on Rowland-Brice releasing deal.

PAT GARYN arrived in Florida from New York.

JOHN HAMMEL and ROBERT GILLHAM, Paramount home office executives, arrived on Coast.

NAT LEVINE, head of Mascot, arrived in New York from Coast.

JOSEPH I. SCHNITZER, president of Jefferson Pictures, arrived in New York from Hollywood.

Arriving on the Ile de France from Paris were: HARPO MARX, MAURICE CHEVALIER, MARCEL VALLEE and ABRAM FRANKEL, French distributor.

BEN BERINSTEIN, head of MPTO of Southern California, arrived in New York from Los Angeles.

FAY BAINTER returned to New York from Metro's Coast studio.

PAUL MUNI sailed for Europe.

GIFFORD COCHRANE, of Krimsky-Cochrane, sailed for West Indies.

GEORGE BROWN, head of Columbia's home office advertising department, returned to New York from Caribbean cruise.

WALTER HUSTON arrived in New York from Coast.

NRA ACTS IN FIRST OVERBUYING CASE

(Continued from page 9)

of last Thursday's adjourned meeting, at which preliminary discussion was held pertaining to rules of procedure, financing of the Code Authority and official selection of headquarters, which probably will be located in the RKO Building on Sixth avenue at Radio City.

At Wednesday's session a committee was appointed to prepare a manual for the operation of the 64 field boards. On the committee are Charles L. O'Reilly, Nathan Yamins, H. S. Bareford and J. Robert Rubin. The next meeting, January 23, will be presided over by Robert H. Cochrane.

At last week's meeting, J. Robert Rubin, of MGM, substituted for Nicholas M. Schenck, who was ill. Harold S. Bareford, Warner attorney, was on hand in addition to Harry M. Warner. Neither Eddie Cantor nor Marie Dressler attended, nor did Merlin H. Aylesworth, president of RKO, who was attending a company directors' meeting.

Five permanent alternates were named: For Sidney R. Kent, W. C. Michel, Fox, alternate; for George J. Schaefer, Paramount, the alternate will be Austin Keough, Paramount; for Harry M. Warner, Harry Bareford will be the alternate; Jack Cohn, of Columbia, will alternate for Robert H. Cochrane, of Universal. The remaining Code Authority members were to name their alternates Wednesday night.

The rules committee is said to favor parliamentary procedure, although no definite decision was reported.

Although the machinery for effecting compliance with the code rapidly was taking form, the Code Authority members appeared to be in no hurry to rush through a permanent budget. It appeared that a tentative financing schedule will first be approved by the Authority, and this will prevail until an accurate estimate of actual costs necessary has been arrived at, and until a decision is made on the method of taxing the industry for the support of the Code Authority.

Under the code, each company, firm, producer, distributor and exhibitor is bound to contribute the assessed share, assessments to be made by the Code Authority. Failure to make such payments will invalidate their protection against unfair competition. Each industry must support its own Code Authority in a manner prescribed by the Code Authority.

Present estimates place the annual cost of the Code Authority to this industry at between $400,000 and $650,000. The principal reasons for such a wide divergence in cost factors have to do with the undetermined policy of whether members of the local grievance and clearance boards and of the local grievance boards who will represent the Code Authority directly, will serve without remuneration; also, whether there will be one paid secretary for each board, or one for both, and, finally, whether these boards will have their own headquarters, or will utilize present offices of the various Film Boards of Trade, now located in practically each exchange center.

The Code Authority will have one direct and impartial representative, who cannot be a member of the industry, on each of the 32 clearance and zoning boards and on each of the 32 local grievance boards. The remaining members of each board, divided evenly as representatives of exchanges and of exhibitors, must be bona fide members of the industry.

SMUGGLING OF FILMS NEAR-EAST PROBLEM

As the Near East territory of the representatives of American distributors is increasingly farther from their Egyptian headquarters, the ethics of exhibitors and agents with whom they do business in Syria, Iraq and Persia have taken on a highly eastern tinge.

Representatives are faced with seeing film rented for Iraq smuggled over into Persia or Soviet territory for a few showings, none of the receipts reaching the American firm.

It appears that this problem might present considerable business to the Copyright Protection Bureau.

Cost Factors To Be Settled First

Meanwhile, until these undetermined cost factors have been settled by the Code Authority in New York, the complete cost of code administration cannot be gauged, and until it has been settled, the manner and method of taxing the industry cannot be established, nor can the amount which will be assessed each individual producer, distributor or exhibitor.

At the session Wednesday night, it was decided definitely by the Authority that on the 23rd floor of the RKO Building at Radio City, Sixth Avenue and 50th Street, would be the headquarters for the Code Authority, in charge of John Flinn, secretary. Sol A. Rosenblatt, Division Administrator, will have offices there, besides his NRA office at Washington, and there will also be provided a special room for hearing appeals from decisions of the clearance and zoning, local grievance, or other boards provided for in the code, and appeals from which are also specifically provided for in the document.

White House Considers Compliance

All future sessions of the Code Authority will be held at the new permanent headquarters.

General compliance and complaint questions and a review of code activities to date will be the subjects of discussion in February when General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA Administrator, will preside at Washington over a special meeting of all members of Code Authorities governing some 200 codes.

Mr. Johnson let it be known at Washington that difficulty has been experienced by the NRA in obtaining "specific and definite" complaints about code violations. This trouble, he said, is largely confined to a half-dozen codes or so, but he proposed to get all the Code Authorities together in conference to develop a definite program.

The question of code compliance was under consideration at the White House, where much thought was being given to the part to be played by the Federal Trade Commission.

Conferences by the President with his various advisers are believed to have resulted in a tentative program calling for the submission of complaints on trade practices, prices and similar problems over which the NRA has supervision, when they cannot be handled by the Code Authorities, to the recovery administrator, General Johnson. If by informal proceedings, the Administration cannot settle the difficulty, it will be referred, through the President, to the Federal Trade Commission.

Apparently determined to act over the head of General Johnson, if necessary, the Business Advisory and Planning Council of the Department of Commerce has created a special committee to consider the effect of the industrial recovery act upon small enterprises.

With Sol Rosenblatt, as division administrator of amusement codes, now acting in the official capacity as direct Government representative in charge of organizing the motion picture industry's machinery for code compliance, the Government appears to have in mind postponement of selection of the remaining two official Government representatives on the Code Authority, which are provided for in the code. Neither of these three Government representatives will have a vote on the Code Authority, but they will act as direct contacts between the President and the NRA and the industry. If Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell, president-emeritus of Harvard University, finally refuses to withdraw his resignation as a Government member of the Code Authority, it is likely that his successor will be appointed at the same time the third Government representative, a woman, is selected.

Coordinating Committee in New York

On the eve of his resignation as the NRA chief in New York, Grover Whalen, who joined a distillery corporation last week, placed in motion a coordinating committee composed of representatives of the 40 permanent Code Authorities in New York, of which the motion picture's Code Authority is one. This committee, which will not have any official status, is supposed to meet monthly to discuss common problems involved in code administration and enforcement.

Mr. Whalen explained that the committee would serve as a clearing house for experiences, particularly needed since many codes were "rushed through swiftly." Through this committee, he suggested, "we may more effectively serve the industries whose codes we are administering, as well as the National Recovery Administration under whose aegis we are operating."

One of the most important developments to date, in so far as exhibitors are concerned, was the first definite step taken by the NRA to eliminate the abuse of overbuying by one exhibitor to the detriment of a competing exhibitor. In this instance, the Saenger interests in the South relinquished 206 feature pictures to an independent, Al Yoeman, operating the Temple at Meridian, Miss., who, as a result, now has sufficient product for his policy of four changes weekly.

The National Recovery Administration made much of the successful adjustment of Mr. Yoeman's complaint, issuing an official statement to the press of the country, in which it said that "elimination of one of the ancient abuses in the motion picture industry is well under way as a result of the operation of its code." The industry "for the first time in its history is able to rid itself of this monopolistic practice," the NRA added. About 85 per cent of all the complaints reaching NRA headquarters from exhibitors in the field, since the code was signed, relate to the practice of overbuying, it was said.

PICK BOARD MEMBERS JANUARY 21

Division Administrator Rosenblatt asked Ed Kuykendall, MPTOA president, and a Code Authority member, to handle the Saenger situation, which was explained in detail by NRA.

311 Candidates Proposed

Exhibitors and exchangemen in the field lost no time in taking advantage of the invitation extended some few weeks ago by the NRA, through Mr. Rosenblatt, to name candidates for local exchange and theatre representatives and secretaries of the 32 Local Clearance and Zoning Boards and the 32 Local Grievance Boards. As a result, the Code Authority in New York had in hand up to Wednesday 311 names of candidates from which will be selected an equal number of representatives of distributors and exhibitors.

For each of the two types of boards the Code Authority will select four members: one representing national distributors and one representing independent exchanges; one exhibitor representing affiliated theatres and one exhibitor representing unaffiliated owners. The 64 boards, therefore, will have a total membership of 256 exchangemen and theatre owners.

The Code Authority stated that the industry has until January 20 to submit the names of further candidates. It is expected the total list will exceed 500. Any one may suggest a candidate. Each candidate will be thoroughly investigated by the Code Authority and each candidate must be a bona fide exchange representative or a bona fide theatre worker and must have signed the code acceptance blank.

Card-Indexing Candidates' Names

Secretary Flinn at the Code Authority is card-indexing the name of each candidate by zones. Suggestions must be sent to Mr. Flinn at the Code Authority headquarters at Radio City, and are not to be sent to Division Administrator Rosenblatt at Washington, nor to any other NRA department.

On January 21, the Code Authority will commence the final selection of board members. These selections must be approved by Mr. Rosenblatt. It is expected both the Clearance and Zoning Boards and the Grievance Boards will actually start functioning around March 1. Meanwhile, the Code Authority will give full publicity to all suggestions filed with it.

Ed Kuykendall was appointed last week to be the sixth member of the Code Authority's committee on the selections of members for the boards. Other members are: Sidney R. Kent, Fox; Charles L. O'Reilly, TOCC of New York; George J. Schaefer, Paramount; W. Ray Johnston, Monogram; Nathan Yamins, Allied.

The governing Code Authority let it be known in New York late last week that the motion picture trade press will be the official medium through which the Code Authority will make its announcements and issue its instructions to the trade at large.

With no slackening of the work of his office at Washington apparent, even though the negotiating of the film code has subsided, Division Administrator Rosenblatt this week increased his executive staff by the addition, as an assistant deputy administrator, of William H. Doherty, wellknown Washington newspaper man formerly with Universal Service. At the same time, William P. Farnsworth, formerly assistant deputy administrator, was promoted to the post of deputy administrator, and immediately was assigned to the non-theatrical code as his first assignment.

Regardless of the complex activities at Mr. Rosenblatt's Washington office, every branch of the industry is giving him "splendid cooperation," he said. "I can't praise the results too highly," he added.

Business men of the nation, including exhibitors, who feel that application of the Recovery Act has affected them adversely, were invited to file full details of their cases with a special committee appointed by the Business Advisory and Planning Council, at Washington, of which Gerard Swope, who issued the invitation, is chairman.

It was said that the new committee, headed by Henry S. Dennison, president of the Dennison Manufacturing Company, Framingham, Mass., already has started to gather a variety of cases where small companies in various trades attribute damages to the effects of the Recovery Act. The committee was set up to review and recommend definite practical measures to care for these situations.

Non-Theatrical Code Pushed

Moving to complete the codification of other branches of the amusement industry, and allied fields not codified, the new deputy administrator, Mr. Farnsworth, started this week to contact members of the non-theatrical motion picture industry with a view to whipping their agreement into shape so that a public hearing can be held, probably at Washington next month. Non-theatrical motion picture interests are not governed by the motion picture code unless and until it is proven they are operating in direct competition with a regular motion picture theatre.

On January 19, at the Mayflower hotel in Washington, Deputy Administrator E. A. Selfridge will hold a public hearing on the NRA code for the seating industry. The code will govern the manufacture of certain theatre equipment, principally seats.

Assistant deputy administrator John Powers threw out the proposed code for poster exchanges when representatives of producers and poster exchanges failed to get together.

A hearing on the burlesque code was held before Mr. Rosenblatt Wednesday.

Exhibitors Take Action

Southern California exhibitors belonging to the Independent Theatre Owners' Association sent the president of their association, Ben Berinstein, to New York to handle code matters.

Allied in Illinois listened to a 14-page analysis by Abram F. Myers, national Allied chairman, in Chicago Wednesday. Illinois members of Allied had been called to the Hotel Congress by Aaron Saperstein, president, and were advised that one of three choices is open in connection with the acceptance of the code. Sign the code as it stands; refuse to sign, or sign with the reservation, prepared by Allied, of leaving the matter open to court action.

Chicago Allied representatives demanded more definite recommendations from their national leaders.

It was understood that Mr. Myers' lengthy code analysis contained a paragraph reading as follows: "You are not required to sign the code in order to register protest against clearance and zoning schedules before clearance boards or Code Authority. Allied has obtained a ruling from the NRA on this point."

Nebraska and Iowa MPTO members held a meeting at Omaha Tuesday and Wednesday. C. E. Williams, president, was in charge.

Independent Theatre Owners of New England held a mass meeting in Boston Tuesday.

Oklahoma exhibitors belonging to the Oklahoma Theatre Owners' Association, indorsed the code at a special session at Oklahoma City, late last week. More than 70 attended.

At the weekly meeting of the Oregon Motion Picture Club, 25 exhibitors discussed the code.

The MPTO of western Pennsylvania and West Virginia met for code discussion at Pittsburgh late last week.

"No Chiseling," Says Schiller

E. A. Schiller, head of Loew's circuit, called together 100 managers and assistant managers in New York and told them that the corporation was 100 per cent behind the code and "no chiseling will be tolerated." The meeting was held at the Astor hotel.

Before returning to New York to attend Wednesday night's meeting of the Code Authority, Mr. Rosenblatt is understood practically to have set up the machinery for investigating the socalled "exorbitant" or "excessive" salary situation in the industry,

Meanwhile, the independent Screen Actors' Guild in Hollywood became excited over the weekend when they read the first official bulletin to producers from the producers' representative, Pat Casey, concerning labor provisions. The bulletin had to do with the conduct of the studios with regard to extras, and the Guild wired Rosenblatt that "it is an insolent attempt by the studios to evade the code." In the cases of bit players and extras, they said, the code is being used to lower compensation previously received.

Members of the Screen Writers' Guild in Hollywood saw a hope of gaining their two major objectives: collective bargaining and a basic standard contract, when the Guild was invested by Rosenblatt with authority to supervise the nomination of screen writers' representatives on code problems, which means virtual recognition of the Guild by producers.

BROOKLINE GETS FIRST FILM HOUSE

The first motion picture theatre in Brookline, Mass., was opened to the general public a week ago. The Coolidge Corner theatre is to be operated by the Strand Theatres Corporation and Clarence Robbins of Worcester is to be manager. The theatre was designed by Frank Hayward and will seat 1400. Its equipment includes audiphones for the hard of hearing. It is three years since Brookline, in special election, let down the bars and voted to permit erection of a theatre in the town, said to have been the largest in the country without a theatre.

PRODUCTIONS IN WORK

TITLE	WRITER AND DIRECTOR	CAST	STAGE OF PRODUCTION
FOX
"Bottoms Up"	Original screen play by David Butler and Sid Silvers. Director: David Butler.	Spencer Tracy, John Boles, Pat Paterson, Herbert Mundin, Sid Silvers, Harry Green.	Shooting
"George White's 'Scandals'"	Directors: Thornton Freeland and Harry Lachman.	Rudy Vallee, Alice Faye, George White, Cliff Edwards, Jimmy Durante, Adrienne Ames.	Shooting
"David Harum"	Story by Edward Noyse Westcott. Director: James Cruze.	Will Rogers, Louise Dresser, Evelyn Venable.	Shooting
"Fox Follies"	Director: Hamilton MacFadden.	Janet Gaynor, Warner Baxter, Shirley Temple, Madge Evans, James Dunn, Heather Angel, John Boles, Mona Barrie, Herbert Mundin, Florence Desmond, Victor Jory, Nigel Bruce, Ralph Morgan, Stepin Fetchit.	Shooting
METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER
"Tarzan and His Mate"	Story by Edgar Rice Burroughs. Director: Cedric Gibbons.	Johnny Weismuller, Maureen O'Sullivan, Neil Hamilton, Paul Cavanagh, Doris Lloyd, Frank Reicher.	Shooting
"Rip Tide"	Story by Charles MacArthur. Director: Edmund Goulding.	Norma Shearer, Robert Montgomery, Herbert Marshall, Lilyan Tashman, Ralph Forbes, Mrs. Patrick Campbell.	Shooting
"Viva Villa"	Novel by Edgcumb Pinchon. Director: Jack Conway.	Wallace Beery, Stuart Erwin, Fay Wray, Leo Carrillo, Katherine DeMille, Irving Pichel, George E. Stone, Noah Beery, Jr., Donald Cook.	Shooting
"Old Hannibal"	Story by Dudley Nichols and Lamar Trotti. Director: Charles F. Riesner.	May Robson, Lewis Stone, Mary Forbes, Tad Alexander, Claude Gillingwater, Jean Parker, William Bakewell.	Shooting
"It Happened One Day"	Novel by Marjorie B. Paradis. Director: William K. Howard.	Lionel Barrymore, Mary Carlisle, Mae Clarke, Fay Bainter, Tom Brown, Eddie Nugent, Maynard Holmes, John Arledge, Edwin Maxwell, Hilda Vaughn, Richard Tucker, Dickie Moore.	Shooting
"Men in White"	Play by Sidney Kingsley. Director: Richard Boleslavsky.	Clark Gable, Myrna Loy, Jean Hersholt, Henry B. Walthall, Otto Kruger, Elizabeth Allan, Wallace Ford, C. Henry Gordon, Sarah Padden, Dorothy Peterson.	Shooting
PARAMOUNT
"The Scarlet Empress"	Story by Manuel Komroff. Director: Josef von Sternberg.	Marlene Dietrich, John Lodge, Olive Tell, Louise Dresser, Gavin Gordon, C. Aubrey Smith.	Shooting
"Bolero"	Original story by Ruth Ridenour. Director: Wesley Ruggles.	George Raft, Carole Lombard, William Frawley, Frances Drake, Sally Rand, Gloria Shea.	Shooting
"Good Dame"	Original story by William Lipman. Director: Marion Gering.	Sylvia Sidney, Frederic March, Russell Hopton, Jack LaRue, Noel Francis, Kathleen Burke, Dorothy Dell, Bradley Page.	Shooting
"Baby in the Ice-Box" (T.)	Original story by James M. Cain. Director: Casey Robinson.	Richard Arlen, Sally Eilers, Robert Armstrong, Grace Bradley, Roscoe Ates, Charley Grapewin.	Shooting
"The Man Who Broke His Heart"	Story by Frederick Schlick and Samuel French. Directors: William Cameron Menzies and George Somnes.	Preston Foster, Victor McLaglen, Dorothy Dell, Alison Skipworth, David Landau, John Rogers, Micha Auer.	Shooting
RKO-RADIO
"Success Story"	From the play by John Howard Lawson. Director: J. Walter Ruben.	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Colleen Moore, Genevieve Tobin, Frank Morgan, Walter Connolly, Nydia Westman, Edward Everett Horton, Sterling Holloway, Allen Vincent, Spencer Charters, June Brewster.	Shooting
"Transient Love"	Play by Ann M. Chapin. Director: John Cromwell.	Irene Dunne, Constance Cummings, Ralph Bellamy, Vivian Tobin, Kay Johnson, Charles Starrett.	Shooting
"So You Won't Sing, Eh?"	Original story by Aben Kandel. Director: William Seiter.	Zasu Pitts, Pert Kelton, Ned Sparks, Edward Everett Horton, Nat Pendleton, Matt McHugh.	Shooting
TWENTIETH CENTURY
"House of Rothschild"	Screen play by Sam Mintz and Maude T. Howell. Director: Al Werker.	George Arliss, Boris Karloff, Loretta Young.	Shooting
UNIVERSAL
"Elizabeth and Mary"	Original screen play by Adrian Johnson. Director: Lowell Sherman.	Margaret Sullavan, Lowell Sherman.	Shooting
"Honor of the West"	Original screen play by Nate Gatzert. Director: Alan James.	Ken Maynard.	Shooting
WARNER BROS.-FIRST NATIONAL
"Harold Teen"	Based on Carl Ed's comic strip. Screen play by Paul Gerrard Smith. Director: Murray Roth.	Hal LeRoy, Rochelle Hudson, Patricia Ellis, Hugh Herbert, Hobart Cavanaugh, Guy Kibbee, Douglas Dumbrille.	Shooting
"A Very Honorable Guy"	Based on a story by Damon Runyon. Director: Ray Enright.	Joe E. Brown, Robert Barrat, Hobart Cavanaugh, J. Carroll Naish, Noel Madison, Arthur Vinton, Ann Brody.	Shooting
"Upper World"	Story by Ben Hecht. Director: Roy Del Ruth.	Warren William, Mary Astor, Ginger Rogers, Theodore Newton, Henry O'Neill, Andy Devine, Dickie Moore, William Gargan, Robert Barrat, Robert Greig, Edward Arnold.	Shooting
"Merry Wives of Reno"	Story and screen play by Robert Lord. Director: H. Bruce Humberstone.	Donald Woods, Margaret Lindsay, Glenda Farrell, Ruth Donnelly.	Shooting

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

Fashions of 1934

(First National)

Comedy Romance

This is an exploitation picture. The title tells the whole showmanship story. For men and women it's speedy comedy romance with an emphatic accent on comedy. But for the women, it's more an elaborate, gorgeous, spectacular exhibition of ultra-new modes, designs and styles in feminine apparel. There's standby entertainment, but for them is the bigger thrill in its advance picturization of what they will wear during the coming seasons. Novelty is the keynote; even the familiar old racketeer angle has been given a new interpretation and the equally familiar list of cast names is presented in a different setting.

It's exploitable in a score of different ways. The always favorable contacts with women's stores, department stores, and so on, are naturals. And the exhibitor can go to his contacts with the knowledge that he is going to give his tieup a better break than ordinarily. In fact, so strongly are the advantages on the side of the exhibitor that he should find himself in the position of being sought after rather than doing the seeking, though he would be foolish to wait for them to come to him. Not only should there be contacts for window displays, fashion shows on the stage, exhibits in the foyer and lobby, designers working in store windows and in the theatre, but there is every reason to go after and revive the old full-page and double-truck cooperative ads. In other words, the presentation of "Fashions of 1934" should also serve as an inspiring incentive for women's wear merchants to embark on a real business building campaign.

Motivated by comedy and taking a topical slant, the picture treats the exploits of suave Nash, an idea-incubating promoter, who sees a fortune in pirating exclusive Parisian styles and peddling his loot to cut price merchants. Stopped when Harry, driver for the exclusive importer is fired, he proposes that they send him to Paris so that they might get Parisian styles for sale at the same time they are introduced in the fashion capital. The style parade is on at once, and the romance between Nash and Lynn, the designer, gets under way immediately. Snap's comedy livens things up. Chiseling Nash first cuts himself in on Ward's ostrich feather business, reveals the Duchess as an old pal from Hoboken and promotes Baroque into financing a musical revue. In this sequence Warners again come up with thrilling spectacle; the modernistically set fan dance number and the silky flowing Venitian boat spectacle compare more than favorably with any of their previous eye-filling extravaganzas. In the finale, Nash, at the point of being shown up as a super-crook, has the angle in the Duchess' identity that quiets Baroque and forces him to buy the Revue Elegance. Still continuing his pirating, he sweeps Lynn out of the arms of her youthful lover.

Take advantage of every personnel and production advantage in the show. Exploitation which permits ingenuity to run riot and hesitates at nothing should be the atmosphere in which the show is sold. There are countless angles from which to work; all vivid and new. How the chiselers cut in on the exclusive designers and importers is revealed. How the designers adapt styles from old models is just as effectively shown. And everything sparkles with novel, light and gay entertainment. Renew all merchandising contacts; get the women patrons into a mood that leads them to expect something that will thrill them to their toes; sell the men on girl glamor and straight comedy romance; emphasize the fact that the show is a brand new idea.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Warner-First National. Screen play by F. Hugh Herbert and Carl Erickson. Adaptation by Gene Markey and Kathryn Scola. Story by Harry Collins and Warren Duff. Numbers created and directed by Busby Berkeley. Music and lyrics by Sammy Fain and Irving Kahal. Dialogue director, Stanley Logan. Directed by William Dieterle. Photography by William Rees. Gowns by Orry-Kelly. Art directors, Jack Okey and Willy Pogany. Film editor, Jack Killifer. Music director, Leo Forbstein. Running time, 80 minutes. Release date, February 14, 1934.

CAST

Sherwood Nash	William Powell
Lynn	Bette Davis
Snap	Frank McHugh
The Duchess	Verree Teasdale
Baroque	Reginald Owen
Duryea	Henry O'Neill
Jimmy	Phillip Reed
Joe Ward	Hugh Herbert
Harry	Gordon Westcott
Glenda	Dorothy Burgess
Glass	Etienne Girardot
Feldman	William Burress
Mrs. Van Tyle	Nella Walker
Telephone man	Spencer Charters
Caponelli	George Humbert
Jules	Frank Darien
Book-seller	Harry Beresford
Mme. Margot	Helen Freeman

Nana

(United Artists-Goldwyn)

Comedy-Drama

Regardless of every other consideration, Anna Sten is the outstanding showmanship asset of "Nana." She is new, but she has been well ballyhooed. Her name is known. In her debut she appears in an intelligent picture intelligently produced. Anna Sten and "Nana" certainly answer the general demand for a new screen personality and a different style of entertainment. Both should prove valuable assets.

In portraying the voluptuous character of Nana, heroine of Emile Zola's novel of the same title, which suggested the picture, her striking allure, natural acting ability and talent for combining romantic glamour with physical realism, indicate that she possesses audience attracting qualities. She is adequately supported, particularly by Lionel Atwell, Richard Bennett and Phillips Holmes in the dramatic romantic passages and by Mae Clarke, Muriel Kirkland and Jesse Ralph who provide the active and atmospheric comedy contrasts.

The production has been expertly handled. The sexy savor of Zola's novel has been retained as the motivating element, but the action is more intimated than actual.

The locale is Paris, the time 1868. Nana, an orphan, vows that she will not always be poor; that she will be rich and famous. In the company of a pair of Nymphs des Boulevards, Satin and Mimi, she attracts the attention of impresario Greiner who makes her a star, darling of royalty, and his kept woman. The love-light of love-sick Lt. Muffatt, the "gilded fly," is reduced to the sidewalks again by the jealous old Greiner, who resents her affection for Muffat. He, in turn, is exiled to service in Algiers by his brother, Colonel Muffat. Heartbroken, desperate, she is ready prey. Not hearing from the Lieutenant, she gives herself to the Colonel, whose influence again makes her a star. Prussia declares war on France. The Lieutenant's regiment is ordered home. Finding Nana, Muffat pleads for love, a love that she wants. But the Colonel enters. Follows a dramatic brother-to-brother denouement, which Nana hears. She solves the problem by suicide.

As Anna Sten dominates the picture, she is the value that should be concentrated upon. There will be a ready temptation to compare her with Marlene Dietrich or Greta Garbo. That should be ignored; it would classify her as another imitator. She promises so much in her own right as to merit introduction to the public excusively as herself.

Inasmuch as the picture is one for adult consumption, the more attention given to exploiting her unusual personality and ability, the better the chances for advancing woman interest and piquing male curiosity. "Nana" is an unusual presentation of a feminine star in a strongly appealing woman's picture. Consequently hearty efforts should be exerted to stimulate feminine attention; remembering that where women will go the men ordinarily follow. If possible, see the picture before playing it, for an understanding of its dramatic and romantic charm.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Distributed by United Artists. Produced by Samuel Goldwyn. Suggested by Emile Zola's novel, adapted for the screen by Willard Mack and Harry Wagstaff Gribble. Directed by Dorothy Arzner. Dialogue direction by Willard Mack. Musical score by Alfred Newman. The song, "That's Love," by Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart. Art direction by Richard Day. Photography by Gregg Toland. Costumes by Travis Banton, Adrian and John W. Harkrider. Films edited by Frank Lawrence. Sound recorded by Frank Maher. Running time as reviewed, 85 minutes. Release date, Feb. 16, 1934.

CAST

Nana	Anna Sten
Col. Andre Muffat	Lionel Atwill
Greiner	Richard Bennett
Satin	Mae Clarke
Lt. George Muffat	Phillips Holmes
Mimi	Muriel Kirkland
Bordonave	Reginald Owen
Zoe	Jessie Ralph
Grand Duke Alexis	Lawrence Grant
Sabine	Helen Freeman
Finot	Ferdinand Gottschalk
Gregory	Hardie Albright
Leon	Branch Stevens
Louis	Barry Norton
Estelle	Lauri Beatty

All of Me

(Paramount)

Dramatic Romance

Viewed from any angle, "All of Me" is dramatic romantic entertainment with probably more appeal to sophisticates than any other patronage class. In plot, a definite effort to engender human interest being continually exerted, the story is a vivid analysis of a well bred girl's observation of the love life of a couple of a lower social strata and acceptance of its drama, desperation and tragedy as a guide to her own matrimonial decision.

Adapted from a stage play, dialogue predominates over action, yet there is sufficient action, particularly in the second half of the picture, to maintain interest at a high peak. Premised on an idea usually attractive to womanhood, the picture is convincingly acted. Suspense, tinged by dramatic realism, clothes the story in an atmosphere of uncertainty that makes anticipating the climax almost impossible.

While the title is hardly relevant to the theme, this handicap is more than offset by cast strength. Fredric March and Miriam Hopkins have been assigned difficult roles which they handle in a way that should please their admirers. However, Helen Mack, as the girl who cared and dared, is the outstanding personage and the one whom audiences likely will talk about. Miss Mack's performance not only justifies plenty of exploitation in building advance interest in this picture, but will serve in good stead in strengthening her draw in future appearances.

Lyda, fearing the uncertainty of happy married life, delays her wedding to Ellis. She and Ellis eavesdrop on the crook Rogers and his moll, Eve. A pair of outcasts, with every obstacle to happiness in the way, their love is beautiful and sincere. With nothing to inspire them other than their faith in each other, their hopes make a mockery of all Lyda's forebodings.

As Rogers is jailed, Eve, soon to have a baby, is placed in a detention home. Befriended by Lyda, Rogers escapes after killing a guard in her car. Eve is freed and the pair spend a glorious night in the open as Lyda looks on, studying their predicament as well as her own. Returning to the city, the trio are trapped by police, who follow Lyda to their tenement room. To save Eve, after an emotional dramatic sequence, Rogers takes his own life as the police pound on the door. Life no longer meaning anything to Eve, she follows her man to eternity. Lyda, learning the lesson of faith and love, after first being cleared of complicity in the jailbreaks, knows how she can make her wedded life with Ellis sublime.

Story idea, cast names and novel story telling technique are the picture's outstanding showmanship assets. It's the type of entertainment that probably will be most effectively sold by powerful straight-from-the-shoulder advertising and publicity copy that strives to arouse the maximum feminine curiosity. Concentrate on accentuating the love story of a pair of youngsters who never had a chance but loved with a faith that made ridiculous the fears of a woman who had everything—money, social prestige and character—in her favor. While in the beginning it was said that the show probably would be more appealing to the sophisticates and serious minded folk, there is an opportunity to attract a more general interest by proper realization and application of the human interest values at hand, plus determination to jump out of the rut and do a little showmanship selling.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Directed by James Flood. Based on the play "Chrysalis" by Rose Albert Porter. Screen play by Sidney Buchman and Thomas Mitchell; dialogue director, Thomas Mitchell; photographed by Victor Milner; sound by Martin Paggi; music by Ralph Rainger; lyrics by Leo Robin; art directors, Hans Dreier and Bernard Herzbrun. Running time, 61 minutes. Release date, Jan. 19, 1934.

CAST

Don Ellis.....Fredric March
Lyda Farrell.....Miriam Hopkins
Honey Rogers.....George Raft
Eve Haron.....Helen Mack
Mrs. Farrell.....Nella Walker
Jerry Halman.....William Collier, Sr.
The Dean.....Gilbert Emery
Miss Haskell.....Blanche Friderici
District Attorney.....Guy Usher
Nat Davis.....John Marston
Guard.....Edgar Kennedy
Lorraine.....Kitty Kelly

Let's Fall in Love

(Columbia)

Comedy-Drama

This picture has the entertainment values that should please the ordinary every-day theatre-goers. It's a picture of the picture making business, particularly the star-making phase. Hollywood pokes fun at itself as many of its eccentricities are bared. Amply tinged with satirical and exciting comedy, in which Gregory Ratoff in his familiar role as a harassed producer dominates the show, it additionally carries a novel romantic angle and a light dramatic twist. While one song is featured it is not a musical.

It's the story of a director whose temperamental Swedish star walks out on him, of his search to find a substitute as the super-executive, with an eye on the mounting cost sheets, bedevils him day in and out. He discovers a girl in a circus carnival and places her in the care of a Swedish family to make a Swede out of her. The girl falls in love with him. The producer is triumphantly gleeful when he convinces the pseudo-Swedish noble woman that she would be a glamorous star. Then comes a tremendous ballyhoo campaign that headlines the nation's papers. The party introducing the new sensation to the press turns tragic as the director's jealous fiancée exposes the brazen fraud. The producer's wrath is stemmed by New York's ultimatum that the missing sensation be found, as the fans all over the country demand that they see her. The director's search discovers the girl again in the traveling carnival, and this time it's love rather than desire for career that brings them together again.

Although the title hardly indicates the theme, or links it to the Hollywood premise, that is not a handicap. As Hollywood ribs itself, there are laughs from beginning to end. Even when the story turns realistic there is a thread of satire that continually eases the dramatic trend. Through that comedy, human interest is centered on the girl, director and producer. Therefore, while using cast names to their full power, advance information that convinces patrons that this is a picture of Hollywood fascination and foolishness, fame and failure, happiness and heartache, glory and gloom, giving each one a comedy twist, should be the avenue to patron interest.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Story and screen play by Herb Fields. Director, David Burton. Assistant director, Art Black. Cameraman, Benjamin Kline. Sound, George Cooper. Associate producer, Felix Young. Film editor, Gene Milford. Running time, 73 minutes. Release date, Dec. 26, 1933.

CAST

Jean.....Ann Sothern
Ken.....Edmund Lowe
Max.....Gregory Ratoff
Gerry.....Miriam Jordan
Forsell.....Tala Birell
Nellie.....Ruth Warren
Liza.....Greta Meyer
Linda.....Betty Furness
Ray.....Art Jarrett
Svente.....John Qualen
Barton.....Selmer Jackson
Archie.....Niles Welch
Agatha.....Marjorie Gateson
Allan.....Anderson Lawler
Mildred.....Consuelo Baker
Eric.....Sven Hugo Borg

Sweden, Land of the Vikings

(Boyle)

Travel Feature

John W. Boyle, one of Hollywood's better known photographers, and a member of the American Society of Cinematographers, packed up his camera, boarded the SS Kungsholm, and journeyed to Sweden. For several months he wandered the country of lengthy sunshine, and the result, entirely in Cinecolor, is a feature-length travel subject of general appeal, and considerable pictorial beauty.

Continuously in the background is true Scandinavian music, while Wilfred Lucas is interesting and occasionally amusing in his accompanying narrative description, often getting behind his picture, so to speak, to present something of the significance of what is to be seen, indicating the spirit of the people.

With the effectiveness of the picture considerably enhanced by the excellent utilization of color, and characterized throughout by photography of the highest order, the film should have definite possibilities for the exhibitor from the school angle. Enlisting the aid of educational authorities should be a simple matter and civic groups may well be found receptive to a subject of unquestioned quality. Where the exhibitor is able, by reason of location, to draw upon a patronage of Scandinavian ancestry, he has a ready-made "natural." Personal letters from the manager to the patrons and concentrated selling should bring these people unhesitatingly to the box office to see their native land pictured, beautifully, and sympathetically.

Opening on shipboard in New York, with shots of New York's skyline and the Statue of Liberty, the film has entertaining scenes of life aboard during the voyage. Then in Sweden. There is Stockholm, a modern city of the highest order, where street cars move noiselessly, and city planning has obviously reached a high point, yet having a certain old world quaintness which is appealing, a city often called the Venice of the North. Contrasted, yet blended, are scenes of the government-supplied workmen's cottages, the apparently complete absence of slums and metropolitan tawdriness.

Then into the country, via the engineering feat which is the Gota Canal, through the tranquil countryside, to the famed Saterglanten weaving school for girls at Dalecarlia, and the ancient festival of walled Visby, town on the island of Gotland in the Baltic Sea. The native costumes of men and women alike, and the obvious delight of the townsfolk in their annual Maypole dance, lend color and charm to the film. Gothenburg, where originated Gothic architecture, with its medieval castles, and stately ruins, offers an interesting contrast of ancient and modern.

Always interesting, generally appealing, beautifully photographed in natural color, it is definitely a feature worthy of exhibitor attention. For the exhibitor with Scandinavian patronage, it is decidedly much more than that.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by John W. Boyle. Photographed by John W. Boyle, assisted by Ray Fernstrom. Narrative by Wilfred Lucas. Film editor, Jean Michelson. Titles, M. G. MacDonald. Recording, J. C. Westmorland. Folk music, Henry Krise. Musical synchronization, Dominic McBride. Photographed in Cinecolor. Running time, 70 minutes.

Fog

(Columbia)

Mystery

Once again the single setting, the restricted locale, becomes the scene of murder, and in this case not one but three murders, as the focal points in a murder mystery picture which is rife with opportunities for selling, especially to those who have a fondness for mysteries, and they are many.

The setting is unique, and it all happens upon an ocean liner, somewhere in the middle of the Atlantic Ocean, bound for England, and completely shrouded in a dense, sticky fog. The young scientific criminologist is aboard, numerous lively suspects, motives aplenty and a setting and atmosphere which makes more effective the mystery motivation of the story.

The origin of the film presents to the exhibitor an almost ready-made pre-selling angle, since the picture is an adaptation of the popular novel of the same title which ran serially not long ago in the Saturday Evening Post, and undoubtedly has been read by thousands. The value of a bookstore tieup becomes immediately apparent, and considerable emphasis should be laid on the origin in the selling of the picture.

The interest is sustained well throughout and there is little probability that the audience will be able to deduce the perpetrator of the triple murder before the end of the film. Consequently use of the "challenge" method of selling should be of value in this instance. The atmosphere also lends itself to exploitation to a marked degree. Heading the cast is Donald Cook, with Mary Brian in the feminine lead and Reginald Denny and Robert McWade as the other well known names.

When McWade, wealthy and irritable millionaire, is murdered, his body found hanging over the side of the ship just after a narrowly averted collision in the dense fog, Cook, young criminologist, is placed in charge by the cap-

To COLUMBIA PICTURES CORP.
OPENED SATURDAY WITH LETS FALL IN LOVE STOP THIS IS A GREAT AND UNUSUAL PICTURE FOR A MUSICAL STOP OUR AUDIENCE ENJOYED THIS VERY MUCH STOP COLUMBIA HAS GIVEN US SOMETHING NEW IN CLEAN CUT REALLY ENJOYABLE MUSICALS STOP PICTURE OPENED SPLENDIDLY DESPITE WORST WEATHER OF THE YEAR

W T MURRAY
RIALTO THEATRE ATLANTA GEORGIA

•

"Top notch entertainment for anybody's theatre. LET'S FALL IN LOVE is a sock number which about tops current tunes in films. —Daily Variety.

•

To COLUMBIA PICTURES CORP.
LETS FALL IN LOVE SPLENDID BOX OFFICE PICTURE STOP AUDIENCE REACTION VERY GOOD

A C HAYMAN
LAFAYETTE THEATRE BUFFALO NEW YORK

•

"The best that Columbia has had on its program for a long time. It reaches the top spot in attractions and should bring in big returns for the theatres. A swell piece of entertainment. Don't let the picture sneak in on you or your audience; it should be ballyhooed to get the effects it deserves.."
—Hollywood Reporter.

•

"Really something new in film musical romances. It's good entertainment."
—Buffalo Courier-Express.

•

"Utterly charming entertainment, told and sung with captivating art."
—Atlanta Constitution.

"LET'S FALL

with EDMUND LOWE

Ann Sothern • Miriam Jordan

Gregory Ratoff

A Musical Romance of Two Hearts in Love Time!

"IN LOVE"

Story and screen play by Herbert Fields
Music and lyrics by Harold Arlen and Ted Koehler

Directed by David Burton

A COLUMBIA PICTURE

COLUMBIA PICTURES

tain. Denny, McWade's personal physician, is aboard and attracted to Miss Brian, with whom Cook is in difficulty romantically. Suspects include Helen Freeman, spirit medium, whom McWade shortly before discarded as a fake, two servants of McWade, and even Cook himself, who is revealed finally as the lost son of McWade. When the ship's doctor attempts to perform an autopsy, he also is strangled, and McWade's body disappears. When Miss Freeman attempts to reveal the murderer by a seance, she, too, is murdered.

Cook, suspected himself, arranges for all interested parties to meet in the captain's office, and with the aid of an elderly stowaway who had witnessed the McWade murder, points to the almost unsuspected Denny as the murderer. Denny leaps over the rail to commit suicide, and Cook and Miss Brian resume their romance where it left off. Denny had been working with Miss Freeman with a view to splitting McWade's money.

It is mystery material open to lively selling activity, and strong by reason of the picture's origin. The mystery stands up well, interest is well maintained and the picture has a fair measure of suspense.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Directed by Albert Rogell. From the popular novel and "Saturday Evening Post" story by Valentine Williams and Dorothy Rice Sims. Screen play by Ethel Hill and Dore Schary. Assistant director, Arthur Black. Cameraman, Benjamin Kline. Sound engineer, Edward Bernds. Film editor, Richard Cahoon. Release date, November 22, 1933. Running time, 69 minutes.

CAST

Brown ..... Donald Cook
Mary ..... Mary Brian
Dr. Winstay ..... Reginald Denny
Holt ..... Robert McWade
Alva ..... Helen Freeman
Dickens ..... Samuel S. Hinds
Mullaney ..... G. Pat Collins
Captain ..... Edwin Maxwell
Mrs. Jackson ..... Maude Eburne
Mrs. Bentley ..... Marjorie Gateson
Ship's doctor ..... Montague Shaw

In the Money

(Chesterfield)

Comedy Drama

Here is a human story of what might happen in a family of ne'er-do-wells when the absent-minded-professor father's dividends cease rolling in and they're all "broke." However, instead of the wholesale "reforming" that might be expected to result, they pin their future on the success of a prizefighter, and he wins.

In Lois Wilson and Skeets Gallagher are the names for board and paper, but Junior Coghland should not be overlooked, and Warren Hymer might be familiar to the community for the many pictures in which he has appeared.

The exhibitor may well promise some sprightly lines. Into the comedy situation of a "pug" gone Shakespeare has been written dialogue that proves a welcome surprise at times, in brightening the limping places in the action. There is a drag on production value at the start, in the introduction of characters with Gallagher as a sort of master-of-ceremonies. The introduction is done all over again as the colored laundress displays a garment of one kind or another of each of the principals and goes through the procedure of descriptive comment. All this might have been abandoned to start the picture where pictures usually start, at the start.

Lois Wilson, the eldest daughter, has her hands full trying to keep a semblance of order in the family of the chemistry-dabbling father, but when the butcher boy brings back a bouncing check her troubles become acute. The father hadn't given any thought to a letter from the factory announcing it had gone into receivership.

Into the home, just in time for the breaking of the cold facts upon the irresponsible heads, comes Warren Hymer, pugilist idol of Babs, the youngest sister, who is about to forfeit a $20,000 guarantee on a fight with the champion because he has decided to play Shakespeare. And then appears Skeets Gallagher, his quondam manager, who, incidentally, stands to lose half of that guarantee as his own money, but not if he can help it. Junior, the only one besides Lois Wilson who can grasp the idea that work has anything to do with money, is severely injured in a motorcycle race which he entered to try to earn $500. Gallagher finally bribes Hymer to enter the ring—all he need do is stay one round to collect. The fight starts, but the promoter warns he'll turn the whole business over to the boxing commission unless Hymer begins to do something besides lumber into clinches. Gallagher gets the champion to call Hymer "You big ham," and it works so well that Hymer knocks him out. Whereupon the family apparently goes on where it left off.

There is little to offer in the story itself, and not much more in the action. Best for the exhibitor's purposes is the fun in the dialogue, and the names.—ROVELSTAD, New York.

Produced by Invincible Pictures. Distributed by Chesterfield. Directed by Frank Strayer. Story and screen play by Robert Ellis. Cameraman, M. A. Andersen. Sound engineer, Pete Clark. Film editor, Roland Reed. Release date, November 7, 1933. Running time, 62 minutes.

CAST

Mary (Lambie) Higginbottom ..... Lois Wilson
Spunk Hobbs ..... Richard "Skeets" Gallagher
"Gunboat" Bimms ..... Warren Hymer
Babs ..... Sally Star
Professor Higginbottom ..... Arthur Hoyt
Dick ..... Junior Coghlan
Genie ..... Erin La Bissonier
Lionel ..... Harold Waldrice
Lily ..... Louise Beaver

Bombay Mail

(Universal)

Mystery

With considerable atmosphere in excellent simulation of the authentic, this murder mystery utilizes the almost time-honored device of the single setting, in this case the fast express running from Calcutta to Bombay, known as the Bombay Mail. It is fairly well executed mystery material, has the important entertainment element of well-sustained suspense, its expected quota of suspects, all likely murderers, each with his reasonably good motive, and all set against a background which is at least somewhat out of the ordinary for the type of story.

The lengthy cast is headed by a good name from the box office standpoint, that of Edmund Loew, as the Inspector of the British Criminal Investigation Department. Several others, though not outstanding as marquee material, are known, and handle their roles competently, including Onslow Stevens, Ralph Forbes, Hedda Hopper, Jameson Thomas. Shirley Grey, one of the two women in the cast, supplies the subordinated romantic interest, and is herself a suspect.

The unusual and single setting, the atmosphere of the piece and the numerous complications which are woven about the central theme of the murder, afford the exhibitor an opportunity for intriguing selling. Use should be made as well of the old, but effective, method of challenging the patronage to solve the mystery, guess the identity of the murderer. Reveal numerous circumstances in the selling and ask the patronage to test its powers of deduction.

When Ferdinand Gottschalk, British governor of the Indian province, is murdered aboard the Bombay Mail, Lowe, the inspector, comes aboard and begins his investigation as the train rushes through the night. As Bombay is reached, the murderer is identified, but not before plenty of action, much plotting and counter plotting, and another murder.

Aboard and possibly guilty are Miss Grey, stranded vocalist; Stevens, seeking a government concession for his ruby claims; Forbes and Thomas, secretaries to the governor; Miss Hopper, the governor's wife; John Davidson, Indian who has designs on Stevens and his rubies; Brandon Hurst, native scholar; George Renavent, expert on snake poisoning; Walter Armitage, a Maharajah, who is accompanying the governor by request.

Calm, unruffled, apparently undisturbed by what goes on, Lowe pursues his investigation. The Maharajah, greeted at a way-station, is murdered, the train thunders on its way, the poison expert's pet cobra nearly kills another man, Stevens lends a thrill as he traverses the top of the train to the compartment of Davidson, whom he suspects of having stolen his rubies, the independent Miss Grey is alternately a lively suspect and a frightened young girl, and a revolver is found resting behind a whirling electric fan. Eventually Lowe reveals the least suspicious of the train occupants, Ralph Forbes, as the murderer, and Miss Grey and Stevens conclude the film on a romantic note.

It is mystery fare with all the elements of entertainment, and adaptable to lively mystery selling.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Universal. Directed by Edwin L. Marin. From the novel by L. G. Blochman. Screen play by Tom Reed. Photographed by Charles Stumar. Release date, January 1, 1934. Running time, 68 minutes.

CAST

Inspector Dyke ..... Edmund Lowe
Beatrice Jones ..... Shirley Grey
John Hawley ..... Onslow Stevens
William Luka Patson ..... Ralph Forbes
Xavier ..... John Davidson
Lady Daniels ..... Hedda Hopper
Civil Surgeon ..... Tom Moore
Martini ..... John Wray
Pundit Chundra ..... Brandon Hurst
Capt. Gerald Worthing ..... Jameson Thomas
Sir Anthony Daniels ..... Fredinand Gottschalk
Dr. Maurice Lenoir ..... George Renavent
Cuthbert Neal ..... Gary Owen
Burgess ..... Huntley Gordon
Edward Breeze ..... Herbert Corthell
Maharajah of Zungore ..... Walter Armitage
Anderson ..... Douglas Gerrard
Collins ..... Harry Allen

The Last Dogie

(Educational)

Good

A highly entertaining subject, featuring the well known voice of James Melton as he sings numerous cowboy songs in excellent style. The setting is supposedly the bunk house on a ranch, with additional cowboy voices and accompaniment with a guitar. Interspersed, with a background of the singing are scenes on the open range, with cowboys plowing through huge snowdrifts on the trail of strays. Among the songs is the currently highly popular "The Last Round-up." It is good number, well executed.—Running time, 10 minutes.

Bosko's Picture Show

(Vitaphone)

Amusing

There is much cleverness, not a little amusement in this number of the Looney Tune animated cartoon series in which the little hero puts on a picture show. Cleverly caricatured are various stars in burlesqued versions of pictures of note today. The adults will enjoy this subject even more than the youngsters. A good number.—Running time, 7 minutes.

Five and Dime

(Universal)

Amusing Cartoon

When Oswald, the animated, is caught in a rain storm, he runs into the five and ten-cent store, and there meets the salesgirl at the music counter. They play and sing while the housewares and toys become active, until she is fired—and the two are married. With the popular song as theme melody, the cartoon is amusing and entertaining.—Running time, 8 minutes.

Wild Elephinks

(Paramount)

Amusing

There is much amusing and enjoyable in this cartoon which features Popeye the Sailor Man, hero of the new series. In this case Popeye and Olive Oyl are stranded on a wild island. She is captured by a huge gorilla, and Popeye, with the aid of his inevitable can of spinach, vanquishes the gorilla and an annoyed elephant with his pile-driver fists. It is silly but entertaining in cartoon style and the youngsters especially should enjoy it.—Running time, 7 minutes.

TECHNOLOGICAL

The BLUEBOOK School

By F. H. RICHARDSON

BLUEBOOK SCHOOL QUESTION NO. 206.—(A) In ordering projection lenses what data would you consider it necessary to supply? (B) Approximately what percentage of light is lost through reflection from each polished glass surface the light passes through? (C) What effect has an unclean lens surface on reflection losses? (D) What effect has angle of incidence upon reflection losses?

Answer to Question No. 200

Bluebook School Question No. 200 was: (A) Tell us what happens to a light ray in passing from a medium of one density to a medium of another density at an angle. (B) Tell us what various effects increase of angle at which a ray passes into a second medium of different density has. (C) When a ray enters a second medium as above, at what point or points does the refraction take place? (D) Quote the law under which the action of lenses is based.

We have some rather weird and some very good answers to these. The following "rate" (as the navy men say) mention by name: C. Rau and S. Evans; G. E. Doe; D. Danielson; J. Wentworth; H. H. Menefee; W. Lemke; P. Gaeth, Jr.; T. Van Vaulkenburg; H. Edwards; D. Emmerson; R. De Totto; H. Polies; J. J. Richmond; L. A. Goldman; K. L. Hess; L. Hutch and D. Goldberg; K. L. Knight and M. Henderson; J. Williams and O. Allbright; D. and H. B. Coates; T. M. Vinson P. Felt; J. Lansing and R. D. Oberleigh; T. H. Morton and F. G. Klar; D. Kurts and D. Howard; L. Jones and B. L. Banning; U. L. Danielson; G. Lathrope and N. L. Tomlinson; F. and J. L. Hanson; L. N. and C. B. Traxler; M. F. Fallon; D. Breaston and D. Haber; G. Thompson; H. R. Baldwin; Nic Granby; H. Pilson and D. Danielson; W. Broadbent; D. Lally and F. Ferguson; K. Griener; L. Thomas and D. D. Davis; A. L. Dodson; D. L. Sinklow; R. and K. Wells; J. Hendershot; D. U. Granger; T. T. Golley; F. L. Sanderson; B. J. Lyons and G. R. Squires; L. D. Rubin; F. H. and P. Dalbey; L. G. Gregeson; F. B. Tomlinson; M. Spencer and D. T. Arlen; R. Geddings and L. Grant; F. Harlor and G. Harrison; H. Grant; T. Malleby; D. H. and L. B. Palmer; M. U. Sampson; H. D. Tyler; F. L. Granby; S. N. Tailer; L. M. Richards; O. L. Davis and F. Sims; F. F. Franks; D. Singleton and M. Henderson; J. H. Rathburn and D. Little; C. L. Cyrus and B. Olmsby; F. L. Benton; D. L. Monehan and L. B. Bryant; K. Y. Spencer, D. L. Lode, B. R. Sanders and L. Jansen; W. T. Granger and A. Wythe; K. Ormie; R. Schuler and M. R. Davidson.

Note: Last week the correct answer of William Lemke, Chicago, accidentally was not included in the published lists. Apologies.

The answer of G. Lathrope and M. L. Tomlinson to section A is best this week, I think. It says: "A light ray passing at an angle from a transparent medium of one density to a transparent medium of another optical density will be refracted in proportion to (a) the difference in optical density between the two mediums and (b) the angle at which the second surface is met. It is refracted because of the fact that light travels at different speeds in mediums of different density. The speed is reduced as light leaves air and enters glass, it having greater optical density than air.

"Light, according to the latest theories, is in wave form, which serves well in attempting to offer explanation of refraction. when a light beam is incident upon a substance of different optical density than the one it is then passing through, and the incidence is at an angle, it is apparent that one portion of the light will contact the second substance sooner than the other, hence its speed will be altered before the portion of light striking later. In this we view the light beam as a whole for the reason that by so doing the thing is more understandable. The light then evidently will be refracted by the alteration in speed. The portion striking the second medium first will be retarded as to speed, whereas the portion still in the first medium retains its full speed.

"The action may be roughly compared with a caterpillar tractor with one tread traveling faster than the other. Once having entered the second substance the speed, provided the substance be perfectly homogeneous, will be constant, and the ray path perfectly straight, until air is again encountered, whereupon the action is reversed—assuming the angle also is reversed as in a lens, and the ray or light resumes its former path, or if the angle be changed, then whatever path is dictated by the differing angle."

Note: Doubtless the optical gentlemen will pick holes in this answer, but broadly it is correct, well put and understandable. In theory each ray of light is presumed to be of infinitely small diameter, but to have area nevertheless. However, to try to explain the action by saying one side of each ray is incident upon the second substance first, while quite correct, is taxing the imagination of all but optical engineers rather heavily. I therefore regard this answer as far better for the purpose of this work than trying to deal with separate rays. The result is the same and far more understandable.—F. H. R.

(B) William Lemke answers thusly: "The greater the angle of incidence the greater will be the loss of light through reflection, therefore, one would not get as much light into the second medium if the angle of incidence be heavy as if it be light, other conditions being equal."

(C) Our old friends, Messrs. C. Rau and S. Evans, answer: "Refraction takes place wholly at the point of entrance to a second homogeneous medium. There is, in other words, no refraction except at point of entrance of second medium."

(D) J. J. Richmond answers thus: "The law cited reads: "Light rays will travel in straight lines through a medium of even density, but will be bent or "refracted" when passing from a medium of one density to a medium of different density at an angle."

One of our students asks: "While not intending any criticism, may I ask what benefit it is to a projectionist to understand such things as are dealt with in question No. 200, to which my answer is attached. Rather seems to me to be a waste of time to dig out the answer. Happy New Year, Old Timer."

Yes, Edwards, it may seem that way, and doubtless does to many. However, it really is far from waste time. Projectionists handle lenses constantly. The basis of their work is light projection. Look at it this way: While the application may be in one sense remote, don't you really think any man who must work constantly with something should come as closely as possible to a complete understanding of all its various actions? Don't you really believe that the man who understands the thing or things he must work with, can work better and more efficiently than the man who does not?

THEATRE RECEIPTS

The total of theatre receipts for the calendar week ended January 6, 1934, from 110 houses in 19 major cities of the country, reached $1,357,374, an increase of $62,335 over the total for the preceding calendar week, ended December 30, 1933, when 114 theatres in 19 cities reported an aggregate gross of $1,295,039.

(Copyright, 1933: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week: Picture	Current Week: Gross	Previous Week: Picture	Previous Week: Gross	High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Boston
Boston	2,900	25c-50c	"By Candlelight" (U.)	23,000	"Son of Kong" (Radio)	22,000	High 1-6-34 "By Candlelight"	23,000
							Low 3-11 "Topaze"	11,000
Fenway	1,800	30c-50c	"Lady Killer" (W.B.) and "Girl Without a Room" (Para.)	12,000	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.) and "Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	11,500	High 1-14 "Island of Lost Souls" and "Billion Dollar Scandal"	15,000
							Low 7-29 "She Had to Say Yes" and "Arizona to Broadway"	6,000
Keith's	3,500	30c-50c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio)	23,000	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	21,000	High 12-2 "Little Women"	28,000
							Low 3-11 "When Strangers Marry"	12,000
Loew's State	3,700	35c-50c	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	21,500	"Going Hollywood" (MGM)	20,500	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	23,000
							Low 3-11 "Men Must Fight"	11,000
Metropolitan	4,350	30c-65c	"Havan Widows" (F. N.)	33,500	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.)	33,000	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	44,500
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	26,500
Paramount	1,800	30c-50c	"Lady Killer" (W. B.) and "Girl Without a Room" (Para.)	12,000	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.) and "Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	12,000	High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "Deception"	17,000
							Low 8-12 "Mary Stevens, M.D." and "Flying Devils"	8,000
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"Design for Living" (Para.)	26,900	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.)	14,700	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady"	31,000
							Low 3-25 "Our Betters"	9,800
Century	3,000	25c	"Wild Boys of the Road" (F. N.) and "Tillie and Gus" (Para.)	7,000	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)	7,500	High 8-12 "Forgotten Men" and "Easy Millions"	8,000
							Low 12-16 "Solitaire Man" and "Day of Reckoning"	3,500
Great Lakes	3,000	25c-40c	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	17,900	"The Prizefighter and the Lady" (MGM)	6,900	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	27,200
							Low 4-15 "Rome Express"	5,400
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-40c	"Take a Chance" (Para.)	9,400	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	9,100	High 6-24 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	16,100
							Low 8-26 "Moonlight and Pretzels"	5,100
Hollywood	300	25c-40c	"Farewell to Love" (Madison)	600	"Disraeli" (W. B.)	1,000	High 1-7 "Goona Goona"	2,600
							Low 11-25 "Night and Day"	400
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"Let's Fall in Love" (Col.) (25c-40c)	9,100	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	15,200	High 12-20 "Counsellor at Law"	15,200
							Low 12-23 "Myrt and Marge"	4,800
Chicago
Chicago	4,000	35c-68c	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	43,000	"Duck Soup" (Para.)	30,000	High 9-2 "Goodbye Again"	75,000
							Low 4-29 "Central Airport"	22,000
McVicker's	2,284	30c-60c	"Lady Killer" (W. B.) (8 days)	14,000	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.) (25c-50c)	12,000	High 10-14 "Too Much Harmony"	20,000
							Low 7-1 "The Woman I Stole"	5,000
Oriental	3,941	30c-60c	"Design for Living" (Para.) (2nd week)	16,000	"Design for Living" (Para.) (1st week)	18,000	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel"	50,000
							Low 12-16 "A Man's Castle"	10,000
Palace	2,509	35c-75c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio)	25,000	"My Lips Betray" (Fox)	20,000	High 9-9 "Morning Glory"	37,000
							Low 5-27 "Below the Sea"	14,000
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	10,000	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week)	9,000	High 10-14 "Penthouse"	16,000
							Low 3-4 "Luxury Liner"	2,[illegible]
State-Lake	2,776	20c-35c	"In the Money" (Chesterfield)	15,000	"Walls of Gold" (Fox)	14,000	High 12-23 "Flaming Gold"	15,500
							Low 2-18 "Lucky Devils"	[illegible]
United Artists	1,700	30c-60c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week)	20,000	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (1st week)	25,500	High 1-21 "The Kid From Spain"	27,000
							Low 3-18 "Perfect Understanding"	6,800
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	20c-40c	"By Candlelight" (U.)	4,100	"Broadway Through a Keyhole" (U. A.) (2nd week)	2,500	High 11-11 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "Infernal Machine" and "Exposure"	1,800
Hippodrome	3,800	30c-44c	"Convention City" (F. N.)	7,500	"Lady Killer" (W. B.)	5,000	High 10-21 "East of Fifth Avenue"	30,000
							High 6-10 "Circus Queen Murder"	2,900
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-75c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio)	25,600	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	16,500	High 12-2 "Little Women"	26,000
							Low 8-19 "No Marriage Ties"	4,200
State	3,400	30c-44c	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	16,600	"Going Hollywood" (MGM)	7,500	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	26,000
							Low 6-24 "The Eagle and the Hawk"	5,000
Stillman	1,900	25c-35c	"The Prizefighter and the Lady" (MGM) and "Public Stenographer" (Showmens)	4,000	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)	4,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	9,000
							Low 11-18 "Stage Mother" and "Hell and High Water"	2,500
Warner's Lake	800	25c-35c	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	2,100	"Jimmy and Sally" (Fox)	1,500	High 10-28 "Footlight Parade"	10,000
							Low 12-30 "Jimmy and Sally"	1,500
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-40c	"As Husbands Go" (Fox)	3,750	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	3,500	High 2-25 "Cavalcade"	10,000
							Low 4-8 "Smoke Lightning" and "Broadway Bad"	2,500
Denham	1,500	25c-40c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)	11,000	"Tillie and Gus" (Para.) (4 days)	2,500	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	16,000
					"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.) (3 days)	5,500	Low 6-3 "Mussolini Speaks" "Night of Terror" and "Soldiers of the Storm"	1,950
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	17,000	"A Man's Castle" (Col.)	7,000	High 1-6-34 "Dinner at Eight"	17,000
							Low 12-16 "The World Changes"	3,000
Orpheum	2,600	25c-40c	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	14,000	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	16,000	High 3-4 "42nd Street"	18,500
							Low 6-10 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,750
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"Smoky" (Fox) (3 days)	1,000	"Horseplay" (U.) (3 days)	900	High 4-1 "The Kid From Spain"	7,000
			"Should Ladies Behave?" (MGM) (4 days)	1,750	"Smoky" (Fox) (4 days)	1,600	Low 7-8 "The Barbarian"	2,000
Tabor	2,000	20c-25c	"Rex, King of Wild Horses" (Col.)	3,250	.....		High 12-9 "King for a Night"	4,000
							Low 10-28 "Racetrack"	3,200
Detroit
Downtown	2,750	15c-40c	"The Invisible Man" (U.)	7,200	"Son of Kong" (Radio) and "Horseplay" (U.)	4,300	High 10-14 "No Marriage Ties"	16,500
							Low 6-10 "The Woman I Stole"	3,700
Fisher	2,700	15c-50c	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	5,100	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)	6,100	High 1-28 "Silver Dollar"	15,400
							Low 3-18 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	3,100
Fox	5,100	15c-50c	"As Husbands Go" (Fox)	18,300	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	18,400	High 9-16 "Sing, Sinner, Sing"	32,300
							Low 5-15 "After the Ball" and "Afraid to Talk"	5,400
Michigan	4,000	25c-50c	"Going Hollywood" (MGM) (15c-50c)	16,400	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.)	15,600	High 1-21 "Tonight Is Ours"	23,700
							Low 7-1 "College Humor"	7,300
State	3,000	25c-50c	"Design for Living" (Para.) (2nd week)	7,100	"Design for Living" (Para.) (1st week)	8,300	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel" (5 days)	24,100
							Low 9-30 "To the Last Man"	4,400
United Artists	2,000	25c-50c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week)	8,500	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (1st week)	9,100	High 2-11 "The Kid From Spain"	17,400
							Low 3-25 "The Sign of the Cross"	4,100

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	50c-$1.65	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week)	35,330	"Little Women" (Radio) (1st week-5 days)	15,466	High 9-9 "Dinner at Eight"	36,656
							Low 4-1 "King Kong"	14,600
Pantages	3,000	25c-55c	"Madame Spy" (U.)	7,252			High 1-7 "Handle With Care"	13,000
							Low 2-18 "Vampire Bat" and "Devil's Playground"	4,100
W. B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-40c	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	13,000	"Lady Killer" (W. B.)	11,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	26,000
							Low 4-15 "Grand Slam"	8,975
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	25c-40c	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox) (2nd week)	3,000	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox) (1st week)	4,500	High 2-18 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 12-23 "As Husbands Go"	2,000
Circle	2,800	25c-40c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio)	3,500	"Design for Living" (Para.)	3,500	High 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "The Sign of the Cross" (2nd run)	2,500
Indiana	3,100	20c-40c	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.)	4,000	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	4,000	High 3-25 "Parachute Jumper"	15,000
							Low 6-10 "Below the Sea"	3,500
Lyric	2,000	20c-40c	"By Candlelight" (U.)	4,500	"Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" (Monogram)	4,500	High 7-22 "College Humor"	9,500
							Low 11-11 "Saturday's Millions"	3,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	6,500	"Going Hollywood" (MGM)	4,500	High 8-12 "Tugboat Annie"	11,000
							Low 12-16 "Women in His Life"	3,500
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	25c-60c	"If I Were Free" (Radio) (7 days and Sat. and Sun. midnite shows)	12,500	"Havana Widows" (F. N.)	18,000	High 10-28 "Ace of Aces"	21,000
							Low 5-20 "Sweepings"	4,000
Midland	4,000	25c	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. and Sun. midnite shows)	21,000	"Going Hollywood" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	14,000	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	30,000
							Low 4-15 "Perfect Understanding"	4,900
Newman	1,800	25c-40c	"Design for Living" (Para.) (7 days and Sat. and Sun. midnite shows)	9,700	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	5,000	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	20,000
							Low 5-27 "Picture Snatcher"	2,800
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox) (7 days and Sat. midnite show) "Sing, Sinner, Sing" (Majestic).. (New Year's Eve midnite show)	8,500	"Jimmy and Sally" (Fox) and "Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	2,500	High 1-6-34 "Mr. Skitch"	8,500
							Low 7-1 "Lilly Turner"	1,600
Los Angeles
Criterion	1,610	25c-40c	"Elysia" (Foy) (6th week)	6,725	"Elysia" (Foy) (5th week)	3,942	High 12-2 "Elysia"	12,000
							Low 7-29 "The Devil's Brother"	1,850
Four Star	900	50c-75c	"I Am Suzanne" (Fox) (2nd week)	3,200	"I Am Suzanne" (Fox) (1st week-5 days)	3,500
Loew's State	2,416	25c-40c	"Dancing Lady" (MGM)	25,400	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	13,500	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	28,300
							Low 3-11 "Dangerously Yours"	8,000
Los Angeles	3,000	15c-25c	"Myrt and Marge" (U.) and "King for a Night" (U.)	4,500	"In the Money" (Chesterfield) and "Fog" (Col.)	4,200	High 7-22 "Kiss of Araby" and "Samarang"	6,200
							Low 9-2 "Important Witness" and "Doubled and Redoubled"	2,200
Paramount	3,596	25c-40c	"Eight Girls in a Boat" (Para.)	28,750	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)	23,785	High 1-7 "No Man of Her Own"	30,000
							Low 3-18 "King of the Jungle"	10,000
RKO	2,700	25c-40c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio)	8,700	"Son of Kong" (Radio)	4,900	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	11,600
							Low 9-30 "Brief Moment"	1,700
United Artists	2,100	25c-40c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.)	13,000	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.) (5th week-4 days)	4,850	High 10-21 "The Bowery"	21,000
							Low 1-28 "Hello, Everybody"	3,900
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-40c	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	12,000	"Lady Killer" (W. B.)	12,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	19,000
							Low 12-23 "From Headquarters" and "Disraeli"	8,000
Minneapolis
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"The Prizefighter and the Lady" (MGM) (7 days and midnite show)	2,000	"Take a Chance" (Para.)	1,600	High 4-1 "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"	3,000
							Low 11-11 "I Loved a Woman"	1,000
Minnesota	4,000	25c-40c	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	8,500	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)	9,500	High 11-11 "I'm No Angel"	10,000
							Low 12-23 "Sitting Pretty"	7,500
RKO Orpheum	2,900	20c-40c	"The World Changes" (F. N.) (7 days and midnite show)	6,500	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	6,500	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	14,000
							Low 3-11 "Cynara"	3,000
State	2,300	25c-40c	"Hoopla" (Fox) (7 days and midnite show)	6,500	"Broadway Through a Keyhole" (U. A.)	6,500	High 4-29 "Cavalcade"	8,000
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	3,500
World	400	25c-75c	"The Red Head" (S. R.)	2,000	"Elysia" (Foy) (3rd week)	1,800	High 4-22 "Be Mine Tonight"	2,400
							Low 11-25 "Vi Som Gar Koksvagen"	1,000
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-75c	"Duck Soup" (Para.)	8,000	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	10,000	High 12-2 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	13,500
							Low 12-23 "Havana Widows" and "Ever in My Heart"	7,500
Loew's	3,115	25c-75c	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	11,000	"My Lips Betray" (Fox)	11,500	High 1-21 "The Mask of Fu Manchu"	14,500
							Low 9-30 "Turn Back the Clock" and "Emergency Call"	7,500
Palace	2,600	25c-75c	"Little Women" (Radio)	13,500	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.) and "Sitting Pretty" (Para.)	11,000	High 2-18 "The Sign of the Cross"	15,500
							Low 12-23 "I Loved a Woman" and "Female"	9,000
Princess	2,272	25c-65c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) and "Master of Men" (Col.)	10,500	"Red-Headed Woman" (MGM) and "Broken Dreams" (Monogram)	6,500	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" and "Speed Demon"	12,000
							Low 12-23 "Sing, Sinner, Sing" and "The Chief"	5,000
New York
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	58,410	"Going Hollywood" (MGM)	45,242	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady" (8 days)	66,653
							Low 9-30 "Solitaire Man"	21,210
Hollywood	1,543	25c-85c	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.) (5th week)	8,287	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.) (4th week)	8,973	High 9-1 "Voltaire"	25,868
							Low 10-21 "Ever in My Heart"	8,296
Mayfair	2,300	35c-85c	"Smoky" (Fox) (10 days)	11,000	"Criminal at Large" (Helber) (2nd week)	6,100	High 1-7 "The Half Naked Truth"	24,750
							Low 6-3 "When Strangers Marry"	4,900
Rialto	2,200	40c-65c	"A Man's Castle" (Col.)	15,600	"Chance at Heaven" (Radio)	8,500	High 5-20 "Forgotten Men"	22,500
							Low 4-15 "Destination Unknown" and "The Fighting President"	5,800
Rivoli	2,200	35c-99c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week)	40,280	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (1st week)	48,000	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	48,000
							Low 8-5 "The Rebel"	7,200
Roxy	6,200	25c-55c	"Son of Kong" (Radio)	39,235	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	28,500	High 11-25 "The Invisible Man"	42,000
							Low 1-28 "Air Hostess"	9,100
Strand	3,000	25c-$1.10	"Lady Killer" (W. B.)	21,205	"Convention City" (F. N.)	14,231	High 10-14 "Footlight Parade"	55,190
							Low 12-23 "Sin of Nora Moran"	6,850

The Creation of a Master Picture

Just as Shakespeare said "The Play's the Thing," we, the creators of "LEGAL HOLIDAY," say the story's the thing. We believe our theme one of the most timely and powerful ever written for the screen.

Experience recalls that every notable money-making attraction had a great story. Like "Covered Wagon," "Big Parade," "Ten Commandments," "Cavalcade," "Lady for a Day," and "Little Women"—"Legal Holiday" dramatizes a mighty theme.

The screen architect, or director, is a most vital factor. The director of "Legal Holiday" is a master builder of money-making pictures. His enthusiasm for our story is boundless. "It will be the greatest picture I have ever directed," he says.

"LEGAL

The Exploitation Special

The script is now receiving the finishing touches.
We will announce the name of the director soon.

This is the 4th of a series of 12 Advertisements
The first appeared in the Herald, issue of Dec. 23rd

WATCH!

Requires Constructive Enthusiasm

Though the story of "Legal Holiday" is bigger than its individual stars, the cast must fit their roles like gloves. There are several star-making parts—the fortunate actors who play them will find themselves famous over night, as did Valentino after "The Four Horsemen."

Settings, sound, music and technical work must be the best money will buy.

Yes, Great Motion Pictures are created by the constructive enthusiasm of master showmen whose experience enables them to build pictures with supreme entertainment value plus unlimited entertainmnt and exploitation possibilities.

(Signed) J. D. WILLIAMS

"HOLIDAY"

of the Year 1934 A. D.*

After Depression*

DISTINGUISHED PICTURES CORPORATION

11 West 42nd Street, New York

J. D. WILLIAMS, Night Address:
Edison Hotel, 47th St., West of Broadway

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"Going Hollywood" (MGM)	4,100	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)	3,500	High 1-6-34 "Going Hollywood"	4,100
							Low 3-11 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,350
Criterion	1,700	10c-56c	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	8,000	"Dancing Lady" (MGM)	8,000	High 11-18 "College Coach"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "Clear All Wires"	1,800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.) (4 days)	1,500	"Havana Widows" (F. N.) (4 days)	1,200	High 9-2 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	3,900
			"S. O. S. Iceberg" (U.) (3 days)	700	"Myrt and Marge" (U.) (3 days)	900	Low 3-18 "The Death Kiss" and "The Fourth Horseman"	1,100
Midwest	1,500	10c-56c	"Design for Living" (Para.)	6,000	"The Invisible Man" (U.)	4,300	High 2-25 "State Fair"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Employees' Entrance"	1,400
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	25c-40c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio) (25c-35c)	6,000	"The World Changes" (F.N.) and "Havana Widows" (F. N.)	3,500	High 11-18 "One Man's Journey"	10,750
							Low 12-30 "The World Changes" and "Havana Widows"	3,500
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.) and "King for a Night" (U.)	7,250	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	6,500	High 6-24 "I Loved You Wednesday"	16,500
							Low 4-29 "Sweepings"	5,000
Paramount	2,900	25c-50c	"Design for Living" (Para.)	7,000	"Mr. Skitch' (Fox)	6,750	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	13,250
							Low 6-10 "Reunion in Vienna"	5,800
World	2,500	25c-35c	"Olsen's Big Moment" (Fox) and "Master of Men" (Col.)	4,750	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.) and "Horseplay" (U.)	5,500	High 6-3 "Peg O' My Heart" and "Perfect Understanding"	7,500
							Low 12-9 "Hoopla" and "Manhattan Tower"	4,500
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	40c-65c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week-6 days)	14,500	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (1st week-6 days)	18,000	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	18,000
							Low 9-30 "Bitter Sweet"	4,800
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"Duck Soup" (Para.) (7 days)	6,500	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (9 days)	7,000	High 1-6-34 "Duck Soup" (7 days)	6,500
							Low 5-27 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,500
Boyd	2,400	40c-65c	"Little Women" (Radio) (6 days)	30,000	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.) (6 days)	10,000	High 1-6-34 "Little Women"	30,000
							Low 12-23 "Right to Romance"	8,000
Earle	2,000	40c-65c	"Girl Without a Room" (Para.) (6 days)	26,000	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.) (6 days)	26,000	High 1-7 "Breach of Promise"	29,000
							Low 10-21 "Saturday's Millions"	10,000
Fox	3,000	35c-75c	"I Am Suzanne" (Fox) (6 days)	28,500	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox) (6 days)	24,000	High 4-22 "Cavalcade"	29,000
							Low 8-5 "F. P. 1"	13,000
Karlton	1,000	30c-50c	"Should Ladies Behave?" (MGM) (6 days)	3,500	"Cradle Song" (Para.) (6 days)	3,500	Low 4-8 "42nd Street"	7,700
							Low 8-12 "Ann Carver's Profession"	2,500
Keith's	2,000	25c-40c	"As Husbands Go" (Fox) (6 days)	7,000	"Jimmy and Sally" (Fox) (6 days)	8,000	High 1-7 "Self Defense"	11,500
							Low 11-18 "Worst Woman in Paris?"	4,500
Stanley	3,700	40c-65c	"Dancing Lady" (MGM) (6 days)	22,000	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.) (5 days)	8,000	High 11-25 "I'm No Angel"	32,500
							Low 6-10 "The Silver Cord"	9,000
Stanton	1,700	30c-55c	"Lady Killer" (W. B.) (6 days)	8,500	"Women in His Life" (MGM) (6 days)	8,000	High 6-3 "The Little Giant"	10,000
							Low 7-14 "I Love That Man"	4,000
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"The World Changes" (F. N.) and "Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	6,000	"Going Hollywood" (MGM)	5,000	High 1-21 "Frisco Jenny"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "What! No Beer?"	3,500
Liberty	1,800	25c-40c	"White Woman" (Para.)	2,500	.....		High 11-18 "I'm No Angel"	12,300
							Low 2-11 "Central Park"	1,000
Music Box	3,000	25c-40c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio)	8,000	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	3,000	High 12-9 "Little Women"	14,000
							Low 5-13 "No More Orchids"	1,600
Oriental	2,040	25c-35c	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week)	2,000	"Little Women" (Radio) (1st week)	3,000	High 10-14 "Rafter Romance"	14,000
							Low 11-18 "College Coach"	1,600
Paramount	3,008	25c-40c	"Mr. Skitch" (Para.) and "The Thundering Herd" (Para.)	6,000	"Alice in Wonderland' (Para.) and "Olsen's Big Moment" (Fox) (8 days)	10,000	High 11-18 "The Way to Love"	12,000
							Low 12-2 "Walls of Gold"	3,500
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week)	4,000	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (1st week)	5,800	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Madame Butterfly"	1,600
San Francisco
Fox	4,600	10c-35c	"Charming Deceiver" (Majestic) and "Under Secret Orders" (Ind.)	12,000	"Fog" (Col.) and "Puss in Boots" (Ind.)	9,000	High 4-8 "Should a Woman Tell?" and "Speed Demon"	15,500
							Low 9-9 "Important Witness" and "Sensation Hunters"	7,000
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-40c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio)	19,500	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	15,500	High 2-11 "The Mummy"	25,500
							Low 10-21 "My Woman"	8,000
Orpheum	3,000	15c-40c	"By Candlelight" (U.) and "Girl Without a Room" (Para.)	8,000	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.) and "The Thundering Herd" (Para.)	6,000	High 10-14 "Ladies Must Love"	15,000
							Low 12-30 "Kennel Murder Case" and "The Thundering Herd"	6,000
Paramount	2,670	15c-55c	"Design for Living" (Para.) and "Smoky" (Fox)	9,500	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.) (5 days)	7,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	40,000
							Low 12-23 "Sitting Pretty"	7,000
Strand	1,400	15c-35c	"Thunder Over Mexico" (Principal) (2nd week)	2,200	"Thunder Over Mexico" (Principal) (1st week)	2,000	.....
United Artists	1,200	25c-50c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week)	15,000	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (1st week)	17,000	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	17,000
							Low 8-26 "The Wrecker"	4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-90c	"Dancing Lady" (MGM)	26,000	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	14,000	High 1-6-34 "Dancing Lady"	26,000
							Low 5-27 "Story of Temple Drake"	10,000
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-50c	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.)	5,500	"Little Women" (Radio) (4th week)	4,500	High 12-9 "Little Women"	8,500
							Low 8-19 "The Rebel"	2,500
Fifth Avenue	2,750	25c-55c	"Dancing Lady" (MGM)	8,500	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)	7,000	High 8-5 "Tugboat Annie"	19,250
							Low 3-18 "From Hell to Heaven" and "Secret of Madame Blanche"	5,000
Liberty	2,000	10c-25c	"Goodbye Love" (Radio) and "Hold the Press" (Col.)	4,250	"Before Midnight" (Col.) and "Strawberry Roan" (U.)	4,250	High 7-19 "What Price Innocence?"	5,500
							Low 6-24 "Uptown New York"	3,000
Music Box	950	25c-50c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio)	5,500	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	4,000	High 11-11 "Footlight Parade"	8,000
							Low 12-23 "If I Were Free"	3,250
Orpheum	2,500	25c-50c	"Hell and High Water" (Para.) and "Film Parade" (General)	6,500	"Lone Cowboy" (Para.) and "The Big Brain" (Radio)	6,000	High 10-21 "Bureau of Missing Persons" (6 days)	9,000
							Low 12-16 "Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men" and "The Mad Game"	5,000
Paramount	3,050	25c-50c	"The Fire Chief" (MGM) and "My Lips Betray" (Fox)	5,500	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.) (6 days)	5,500	High 1-7 "A Farewell to Arms"	9,500
							Low 9-23 "F. P. 1" and "Aniakchak"	4,000
Roxy	2,275	25c-50c	"Female" (F. N.) (6 days)	4,500	"Right to Romance" (Radio)	5,000	High 10-28 "Ladies Must Love"	14,000
							Low 12-9 "A Man's Castle"	4,000

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

Chesterfield

DANCE, GIRL, DANCE: Evalyn Knapp, Alan Dinehart—Good play. The only thing that was weak was the singing of Evalyn Knapp. She is a good actress, but a poor singer. Running time, 72 minutes. Played November 7-8.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. Small town patronage.

Columbia

ABOVE THE CLOUDS: Richard Cromwell, Robert Armstrong, Dorothy Wilson—This is the kind of play the people enjoy. You won't make any mistake by booking this play. We had many compliments on it. Running time, 68 minutes. Played November 28-29.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. Small town patronage.

AS THE DEVIL COMMANDS. Alan Dinehart, Mae Clarke—Fair murder play. Presented in a unique way. The plot was intensely exciting with Mae Clarke stealing most of the scenes. Running time, 68 minutes. Played November 4-5.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. Small town patronage.

BRIEF MOMENT: Carole Lombard, Gene Raymond —A good program picture. Pleased all that saw it. Running time, 69 minutes. Played Dec. 20-21.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: Warren William, May Robson—This picture has everything. One of the best pictures we have ever played. Pleased 100 per cent. We heartily recommend it. If you play this one boost it to the sky. Our patrons told us that it was the best picture we had during the year. Running time, 102 minutes. Played Dec. 27-28.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: Warren William, May Robson—Does everything it is supposed to. Has a human interest story in which May Robson proves she rates with the best of them. Great story. Should appeal to all.—Harry Pace, Broadway Theatre, Audubon, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

WHAT PRICE INNOCENCE? Jean Parker, Willard Mack—Thought this one would be too strong for my town but finally decided to run it on a Saturday night midnight show only to excellent business. But what a mistake I made. It's sex but handled in such a manner that the fathers and mothers will come out and pat you on the back for showing it. Play it on your regular dates. C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

WOMAN I STOLE, THE: Jack Holt—Nothing to it. Jack Holt don't seem to go over in Annawan. People just can't see him as an actor. Running time, 68 minutes. — Phil Billiet, Coliseum Theatre, Annawan, Illinois. Small town patronage.

First National

BUREAU OF MISSING PERSONS: Bette Davis, Lewis Stone, Pat O'Brien—A good picture. Full of life. Understandable. People liked it. Played Dec. 27-28.—Horne Morgan, Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Nebraska. Small town patronage.

BUREAU OF MISSING PERSONS: Bette Davis, Lewis Stone, Glenda Farrell—Another good one. My patrons liked it and told me so.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

FEMALE: Ruth Chatterton—Good picture. Miss Chatterton is doing better lately. Give her good stories and she will be OK. My patrons liked this one.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

GOODBYE AGAIN: Warren William—It was very cold the nights we ran this picture, and I was glad most our patrons remained at home, for we will be some time recovering from the effects of this one. One gentleman remarked as he walked out on the picture that he enjoyed the comedy (an old Charlie Chaplin). Running time, 66 minutes. Played Dec. 27-28.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

GOODBYE AGAIN: Joan Blondell, Warren William—The First lemon from Warners. Not much to it. I'd say trade it for something else if possible.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

IN this, the exhibitor's own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me
MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

WORLD CHANGES, THE: Paul Muni, Aline MacMahon—A very gripping story originating in Dakota territory. Muni born on the prairie and stirred by the urge to conquer for himself. The story takes you up to the present time, showing how his family ruined his name and fortune.—Harry Pace, Broadway Theatre, Audubon, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

Fox

DOCTOR BULL: Will Rogers—This picture did for us a nice business, and pleased everyone. As it was in the case of "Paddy the Next Best Thing," patrons, when meeting them on the street, would say to me, "That was a fine picture you had the other night." Running time, 77 minutes. Played Jan. 1-2.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

DOCTOR BULL: Will Rogers—A real small town picture. Not as many wisecracks as some Rogers pictures, but more story. Best business on any Rogers in some time.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

JIMMY AND SALLY: James Dunn, Claire Trevor —Played for kids' Christmas party. Well received. The pair are good. Dunn gets by with any of 'em. Played Dec. 22-23.—Horne Morgan, Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Nebraska. Small town patronage.

LAST TRAIL, THE: George O'Brien, Claire Trevor—One of the best westerns in a long time. Not so much riding and shooting, but more drama. Played Dec. 23.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

MAN WHO DARED, THE: Preston Foster, Zita Johann—A picture portraying the life of Mayor Cermak of Chicago. It has but little value outside of Chicago. It's another of the many Fox substitutions, and like most of them has no drawing or entertainment value.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

MR. SKITCH: Will Rogers—This is surely a lightweight story for Will Rogers, although it drew fine on preferred holiday date. It pleased pretty well in general, although the regular Rogers fans thought the story too light for him and it was. Just a hodgepodge of hokum, and another thing, it was short in footage. Played Dec. 28-29.—Joe Hewitt, Lincoln Theatre, Robinson, Ill. General patronage.

My LIPS BETRAY: Lilian Harvey, John Boles, El Brendel—Clever story. The picture was pert, saucy. Well, why not? That is Lilian Harvey all over. Played Dec. 25-26.—Horn & Morgan, Star Theatre, Bay Springs, Nebraska. Small town patronage.

MY LIPS BETRAY: Lilian Harvey, Lew Ayres—Ran this Xmas Day and pleased about 50 per cent. Personally, I prefer the American musical stars.—C. H. McCroskey, Allied Theatre, Dermott, Ark. Small town patronage.

MY WEAKNESS: Lilian Harvey, Lew Ayres—Nice picture to poor business. Poorest Sunday and Monday in some time. Will take lots of advertising to get them in.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

MY WEAKNESS: Lilian Harvey Lew Ayres—Excellent entertainment. Pleased as near 100 per cent as a picture could. Give Miss Harvey more along this line and she will reach the top. I played "My Lips Betray" Nov. 19-20, and while it was OK, it did not compare to "My Weakness." Played Dec. 28-29.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

PILGRIMAGE: Henrietta Crosman, Marian Nixon, Norman Foster—This is one of the best pictures of the year. Henrietta Crosman is a wonderful actress. Plenty of laughs and plenty of tears. It will please any audience. Running time, 91 minutes. Played Dec. 29-30.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

SAILOR'S LUCK: James Dunn, Sally Eilers—A mighty good comedy that kept the family night audience laughing from the first reel to the last. The kind of picture they want to see when shows are few and far between for a good many patrons. Would like one picture a week as good as this. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Dec. 13-14.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kans. Small town patronage.

SHANGHAI MADNESS: Spencer Tracy—Did better than I expected in a bad spot. It will be OK for small towns. The producers should hire the men who name our shorts and comedies to name our features. The short namers are brainy and clever no end.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

ZANE GREY WESTERNS: Regardless of the cast, these Zane Greys are the thing for drawing power. Extra good photography makes them look better than average western and they will go on Sunday even with big musical and comedy shorts programs in small towns. They average an hour. Give them a two-reel musical, news, cartoon, and any other two reels of comedy and song and they'll say: "What a program!" Our patrons like plenty of musical and radio short subjects and we find it pays.—Dave Hess, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

ZOO IN BUDAPEST: Gene Raymond, Loretta Young—Due to cold weather and poor title, this picture grossed less than the rental. It is, however, a fine story and if you can get them in, they will be well satisfied. Running time, 80 minutes.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

MGM

BOMBSHELL: Jean Harlow, Lee Tracy—A great Friday and Saturday picture. Full of action and pep. My patrons are all strong for Tracy. I advertised it as "The Blond Bombshell" to keep people from thinking it was a war picture. Running time, 98 minutes. Played Dec. 8-9.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

BOMBSHELL: Lee Tracy, Jean Harlow—Lee Tracy yelling for ten reels, and Miss Harlow screaming back. I'll say it's the loudest picture ever made. Holler and yell, yell and holler back, quarrel and fight. If this is good entertainment I am still in knee breeches. Beautiful sets, beautiful gowns, but my patrons just didn't like it.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

CHIEF, THE: Ed Wynn—Ed Wynn's first picture and my audience are agreed that it will be just as well if he never makes another. His terrible voice plus the silly story and the all-around no goodness of the picture surfeited the audience with one dose. Many walkouts and that has been unusual for some time. The producers have the idea that these broadcasters are hot for the screen. A bad mistake to make, especially for the box office and for the audience.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

DAY OF RECKONING: Richard Dix, Madge Evans—Your audience, I think after running this one, will be very much divided in their opinions of its merit. It is heavy drama with the saving grace of Una Merkel and Stuart Erwin to provide what little relief there is in the picture. If you ask me, Una Merkel saves the picture as she has done in so many of them that she has appeared in. There are some very unpleasant scenes in the prison that are rather depressing. Just a fair picture.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

DAY OF RECKONING: Richard Dix, Madge Evans—Good average picture, but just program type, but gives satisfaction for an evening's entertainment. The whole cast is OK, story good, photography and sound good. Played December 27.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

GOING HOLLYWOOD: Marion Davies, Bing Crosby—Very good and pleased 100 per cent. Would class this as a special.—C. H. McCroskey, Allied Theatre, Dermott, Ark. Small town patronage.

HOLD YOUR MAN: Jean Harlow, Clark Gable—Good picture. Good business. Everybody happy.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

MARY STEVENS, M.D.: Kay Francis—A decidedly modern picture in which Kay Francis does some wonderful acting. Personally, I think some of the dialogue could have been eliminated but it seemed to please about 75 per cent. Glenda Farrell is a wow. I do not see why she is not featured, for she is good. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Dec. 16-17.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kans. Small town patronage.

MEET THE BARON: Jack Pearl, Jimmy Durante—Went over fairly well. Think patrons wanted to see the Baron Munchausen after hearing him on the radio. The picture had a lot more in it than just Pearl and Durante. Played Dec. 24-25.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

MEET THE BARON: Jack Pearl, Jimmy Durante—Another average picture. The Baron is no screen star by a long way, and is very hard to understand. Drew average business, but only pleased about 60 per cent. Played December 22.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

NIGHT FLIGHT: Helen Hayes, Lionel and John Barrymore—This is a hit anywhere. The name and cast is enough. Just advertise your playdate and they will come. At least, that is what they did for me, and how. Played Dec. 10-11.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

NIGHT FLIGHT: Helen Hayes, John Barrymore, Lionel Barrymore, Clark Gable, Robert Montgomery—Here is a picture that should be a money maker. It has a great cast, great story, but somehow did not hit for me. I'll watch other reports on this one. It just goes to show that you must have something besides stars to make a picture. It's only fair entertainment.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore, May Robson—Just a delightfully human every day story that might have happened in Lebanon, Kan., and with what I call an all star cast. Barrymore at his best, which is very good indeed, and May Robson is fine. The entire cast gives an excellent performance and it is the kind of show the small town wants. This is my first RKO picture and if they are all as good as this one, it will not be my last. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Dec. 27-28.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

PEG O' MY HEART: Marion Davies, Onslow Stevens—One sweet picture. Marion perfect in her role. Some fine singing. Play this if you have not already done so. Drew above average and pleased 100 per cent.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY, THE: Max Baer, Myrna Loy—If the exhibitor who plays this will call on each lady and convince them he has the greatest love story, he will make no mistake. Greatest sporting picture to date or ever made. Clean musical. High class. Should play it a week.—Harry Pace, Broadway Theatre, Audubon, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY, THE: Max Baer, Myrna Loy, Walter Huston—Good picture. It pleased most of those present and drew a good average business. Max Baer is good looking, and knows how to act as well as fight. I advertised for the ladies to see it and they did, and liked it. Played December 12.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

SECRET SIX: Jean Harlow, Clark Gable—Instead of eliminating pictures under the code ask Metro to give you a second run on this and you'll be surprised. The stars, Gable and Harlow, meant little when it was released, so little that Beery alone was starred. Bring it back and collect. I did.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatre, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

SHOULD LADIES BEHAVE?: Lionel Barrymore, Alice Brady—Got by. Pleased fairly well. Overdrawn. Too much talk. Basis for the story good if you can find it. Reminds one of the picture "When Ladies Meet." Played Dec. 24-25.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

STAGE MOTHER: Alice Brady—Good picture. Gave complete satisfaction.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

TURN BACK THE CLOCK: Lee Tracy, Mae Clark—Not so good as most of Tracy's pictures. The repetition got rather tiresome. Please about sixty-five per cent. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Dec. 24-25.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

Paramount

ALICE IN WONDERLAND: Charlotte Henry—Here is a picture that has everything except entertainment. Wonderful cast, wonderful makeup, wonderful sets, photography and advertising helps, and yet my patrons advised they did not like it, and it did the smallest Saturday business for the year 1933. I ran it red hot right at the height of the Holiday season. It did not please ten per cent, and yet it is everything it claims to be. It is too slow and too much the same. Nothing to get excited about, and yet the story was worked out in a perfect way. My opinion is the picture will die in spite of its cast and artistic sets, etc. I cut the run from three to two days, and I honestly believe one day would be enough. Played December 29.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

BEDTIME STORY, A: Maurice Chevalier—This picture pleased those that saw it, but not many saw it. Baby LeRoy was the real star of the picture and how he steals it.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

BIG EXECUTIVE: Ricardo Cortez, Elizabeth Young—Very amusing. Richard Bennett stole the play with his humor. His witty sayings was what put the play over. Running time, 72 minutes. Played November 14-15.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. Small town patronage.

CRADLE SONG: Dorothea Wieck—A sweet picture, one exhibitors need not be ashamed to run. Its box-office possibilities not so good. Played Dec. 26-27.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

CRADLE SONG: Dorothea Wieck—Beautiful story, and a picture you should be proud to run. The Jazz Hounds may not like it, but the overwhelming majority will appreciate the work of this new star. Her work is perfect, but the story is the thing that makes this a great picture. It drew better than I really expected. Played December 20.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—Not as good as the former releases. It's a big picture all right, and beautiful sets, etc., but it has only 60 per cent of the laughs the other pictures had.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

HELL AND HIGH WATER: Richard Arlen, Judith Allen—Best Arlen play that we have ever run. Our patrons enjoyed Dick's humor throughout the play. Give us more of these, Paramount. Running time, 68 minutes. Played November 11-12.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. Small town patronage.

HER BODYGUARD: Edmund Lowe, Wynne Gibson—This is another one that will please your customers if you can get them up to your box office. That was the hard job.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

I LOVE THAT MAN: Edmund Lowe, Nancy Carroll—Fair picture with only a fair draw at box office. Title seemed to tell them to stay away.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West—Great business. Picture itself not as good as "She Done Him Wrong." Several walkouts. Many not pleased. Many said they came out of curiosity but did not care to see her again. Don't believe Mae will hold up in the small towns.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West—Wonderful box office attraction, but picture not as good as "She Done Him Wrong," but it gets the dough and that's something.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West—Despite a terrible snow storm, Mae West made a few dollars for us. The picture pleased and every one went home happy. What more could we ask for. By all means, play it, as it will please 100 per cent. Running time, 87 minutes. Played Dec. 25.—Phil Billiet, Coliseum Theatre, Annawan, Illinois. Small town patronage.

LADY'S PROFESSION, A: Alison Skipworth, Roland Young—Not much to it.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

MAMA LOVES PAPA: Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland—This one is good. It is good for many laughs and was good for the box office.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

MAMA LOVES PAPA: Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland—A good comedy. Ruggles and Boland a grand pair and audience liked it. No extra business.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

MAN OF THE FOREST: Randolph Scott—Out of the ordinary western. It is different and it pleased here in this town. It did not draw any extra business, however.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

ONE SUNDAY AFTERNOON: Gary Cooper, Fay Wray—This is only a fair picture, nothing good about it. Did not please our patrons and they did not hesitate to tell us. It is a romantic drama timed in the late nineties and the locale is a small town. Cooper and Fay Wray both turn in some good acting but that was not enough to pull up the slow story. Played one day to only fair business. Running time, 85 minutes. Played Dec. 14.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

ONE SUNDAY AFTERNOON: Gary Cooper, Fay Wray—Read several good comments on this, but our patrons thought it was terrible, and so was the second night's business. Gary Cooper as a dentist of 1905, a poor part for him. Cooper should be in roles with more action. One day enough for this one.—Dave Hess, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

PICKUP: George Raft, Sylvia Sidney—Here is one that is rather old but nevertheless it is certainly worth picking up in case you have passed it. It will please your patrons. Drew above average business for us.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

SITTING PRETTY: Jack Oakie, Ginger Rogers—Did all right for us.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho.

SITTING PRETTY: Jack Haley, Jack Oakie, Ginger Rogers—A picture that gave complete satisfaction. Old and young liked it and told me so. Not only did they say they liked it, but many proved it by coming back the second night and brought their friends. Right up to the minute entertainment.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

SONG OF SONGS: Marlene Dietrich—Fair play. Marlene Dietrich was too cold and impersonal most of the play. It held a good moral though. We had a good patronage. Running time, 82 minutes. Played November 25-26.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. Small town patronage.

SONG OF THE EAGLE: Charles Bickford and Richard Arlen—An average program picture on the subject of racketeering. Running time, 76 minutes. Played Dec. 8-9.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

SUNSET PASS: Randolph Scott and Tom Keene—We consider this a high-class western. The extreme cold weather ruined our business, however. Running time, 64 minutes. Played Dec. 22-23.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

TAKE A CHANCE: James Dunn, June Knight, Buddy Rogers—Good musical comedy. Just enough humor to make the play good. Paramount made a great hit when they produced this one. Running time, 82 minutes. Played December 2-3.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. Small town patronage.

TAKE A CHANCE: James Dunn, June Knight—Nice picture to good business.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

THIS DAY AND AGE: Charles Bickford, Judith Allen—Cecil B. DeMille as usual uses a big cast this time. It's high school crowds running out the gangsters. Personally thought it the bunk, but the young bunch made the second night's business ten dollars better than first and that means something on Dec. 21 and 22. Sell it to the younger element only.—Dave Hess, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

THREE CORNERED MOON: Claudette Colbert, Richard Arlen, Mary Boland—Witty, different. Fair picture. Played Dec. 20-21.—Horn & Morgan, Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Nebraska. Small town patronage.

TILLIE AND GUS: W. C. Fields—Nice little comedy drama to Fields style to average business.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

TILLIE AND GUS: W. C. Fields, Alison Skipworth, Baby LeRoy—Used one day, Xmas Eve, with heavy program of musical and novelty shorts, and went over OK. One day enough. If you remember Fields and Skipworth in "If I Had a Million," you know what kind of slapstick stuff to expect. Running

JENKINS' ILLNESS DELAYS COLYUM

The many readers of J. C. Jenkins' Colyum are asked to be patient this week. The Herald's Vagabond Colyumnist—not so "Vagabond" while illness is holding him to his bed and April Shower is champing at all three cylinders—was told by his stern-visaged Doc that he could not take his pen in hand for a few days. But perhaps it was just that wallpaper.

Jaysee would like to have his readers write the Colyum this week—write it in the form of letters to him, at his home in Neligh, Neb. It is hoped and expected that the Colyum will appear again next week.

Teaser Card used by Capitol, N.Y.

CONDITIONS OF CONTEST!

1. $200 in prizes for best promotion campaign on "Fugitive Lovers." 1st prize, $100; 2nd prize, $50; 3rd prize, $30; 4th prize, $20.
2. In case of ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded.
3. Campaigns must be fully documented with proofs of activities, not merely a list of them.
4. Contest ends March 5th, 1934.
5. Send your campaign to "Fugitive Lovers Contest," M-G-M, 1540 B'way, N. Y. C.
6. The judges are: "Chick" Lewis, Showmen's Round Table; A. Mike Vogel, M. P. Herald; W. R. Ferguson, M-G-M.

$200 in Prizes for the best theatre campaigns on "Fugitive Lovers" starring Robt. Montgomery, Madge Evans, Ted Healy

It's a whale of an entertainment. Build it up to a big opening and word of mouth will pack 'em in.—Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Hit!

WHAT CAPITOL, N. Y. IS DOING

1— Teaser ad campaign in newspapers 8 days in advance.

2— N.Y. Daily Mirror stunt: "FIND THE FUGITIVE LOVERS."

3— Teaser tack cards, teaser 1-sheets and three sheets.

4— Special dodger for mailing and giveaway purposes.

5— Radio sketch WOR, Mon., Wed. & Fri.

6— Tie-up with Greyhound Bus Lines.

7— Special teaser 24-sheet block posters.

8— Parade of busses with banners to Capitol opening day.

9— Camera on truck perambulator looking for "Fugitive Lovers" in N. Y.

10— Special press stunts. Increased advertising budget.

time, 58 minutes.—Dave Hess, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

TILLIE AND GUS: W. C. Fields, Alison Skipworth—Here is a team that is a riot. It's a good evening's entertainment, and many told me they liked it better than "Tugboat Annie." It's a real small town picture and you can take my word for it that it will give complete satisfaction in any house. Played December 8.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

TILLIE AND GUS: W. C. Fields, Alison Skipworth—Good patronage. Our patrons liked this play very much. Fields and Skipworth are an excellent comedian team. Any theatre that books this play is bound to have satisfied patrons. Running time, 57½ minutes. Played November 18-19.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. Small town patronage.

TO THE LAST MAN: Randolph Scott—A good western. Paramount puts a little extra of what it takes in these Zane Grey westerns to make them good. They are all killed off, but it is action.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

TO THE LAST MAN: Randolph Scott, Esther Ralston—A smashing Zane Grey western thriller. By far the best western we have played in many a day. Those who like plenty of action and thrills will be pleased with this one. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Dec. 15-16.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

TONIGHT IS OURS: Fredric March and Claudette Colbert—A picture that will not please all classes, especially in small towns. The cast is excellent. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Dec. 15-16.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie—Story, music, singing and dancing. Got lots of laughs. Pleased our holiday patrons. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Dec. 25-26.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert—Here is one of the greatest shows of the year. Has everything in it, comedy, singing, pathos and anything else that a good picture should have. By all means play this picture and advertise it as heavily as any special because it will please all types of patrons. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Dec. 24.—Phil Billiet, Coliseum Theatre, Anawan, Illinois. Small town patronage.

WAY TO LOVE, THE: Maurice Chevalier—A pleasing picture which is all Chevalier.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

WAY TO LOVE, THE: Maurice Chevalier, Edward Everett Horton, Ann Dvorak—First Chevalier picture our patrons ever really liked and Horton is half the reason. More real laughs in this one. Running time, 83 minutes.—Dave Hess, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

WAY TO LOVE, THE: Maurice Chevalier—Not as good as the first releases. Just fair.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

WAY TO LOVE, THE: Maurice Chevalier, Ann Dvorak—Good play. Funny and entertainment throughout the play. It is one of the best plays that M. Chevalier has starred in. Running time, 84 minutes. Played November 21-22.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. Small town patronage.

ZANE GREY WESTERNS: Regardless of the cast, these Zane Greys are the thing for drawing power. Extra good photography makes them look better than average western and they will go on Sunday even, with big musical and comedy shorts programs in small towns. They average an hour. Give them a two reel musical, news cartoon, and any other two reels of comedy and song and they'll say: "What a program!" Our patrons like plenty of musical and radio short subjects and we find it pays.—Dave Hess, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

Principal

TARZAN THE FEARLESS: Buster Crabbe—My patrons felt that they got fooled by my running the first four episodes as a feature as it doesn't compare with Metro's Tarzans, but we did a very good biz both nights. The subsequent chapter two-reelers held up fine so we can't kick. But don't advertise the serial, they may be fooled a little by the trick feature, ending in a trailer for serial chapters, but if they keep coming for the serial, what else can you ask?—Dave Hess, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

RKO

ACE OF ACES: Richard Dix, Elizabeth Allen—I suppose that the producers have to try the public out as to what will hit, and RKO came out with a war picture. That picture has some thrilling air sequences and should make a good Saturday picture, but with bad weather and business down, it is hard to see if they are ready for war pictures or not, but my guess is that they are not.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

HER VOTES FOR FIVE HIGH FILMS

Mrs. R. D. Carter of the Fairfax theatre at Kilmarnock, Virginia, whose reports to "What the Picture Did for Me" you have read month after month, proposes "five high pictures for 1933" and five for 1932.

Here are her choices for 1933: "State Fair" (Fox), "Paddy the Next Best Thing" (Fox), "The Big Broadcast" (Paramount), "Adorable" (Fox), and "A Bedtime Story" (Paramount).

For 1932: "Delicious" (Fox), "The First Year" (Fox), "Devotion" (Radio), "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" (Fox), and "Emma" (MGM).

Mrs. Carter adds that she is playing product of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Fox, Radio, Paramount, some Warners and some Universals.

DELUGE, THE: Peggy Shannon, Matt Moore—Just another crow. If you don't think so, play it. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Dec. 27.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

DOUBLE HARNESS: Ann Harding, William Powell—A truly fine picture to mediocre business. Played it late and under the guns of Christmas. Have you sent in your eliminations under the new code this morning? Heh!—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

FLAMING GOLD: Bill Boyd, Mae Clarke, Pat O'Brien—Played as a double bill to a fair gross. This is the first time that I ever double billed, and the last. As my best patrons said, give us one picture and some good shorts. I find a program 100 to 110 minutes is what they want. Running time, 53 minutes.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

HEADLINE SHOOTERS: Frances Dee, William Gargan—Fair entertainment. A pleasing little story. Something different. A one day picture. Running time, 62 minutes. Played Dec. 15-16.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

NO MARRIAGE TIES: Richard Dix—Just another film that RKO is capable of putting out. About one more like this and you can bid Richard Dix goodby. Why, oh why, don't RKO do something for the small exhibitor instead of driving him to the poorhouse with these kind of pictures. Running time, 73 minutes. Played Dec. 23.—Phil Billiet, Coliseum Theatre, Annawan, Illinois. Small town patronage.

RAFTER ROMANCE: Ginger Rogers, Norman Foster—This is one they could hang on the rafters. Very light. Poor business.—C. H. McCroskey, Allied Theatre, Dermott, Ark. Small town patronage.

Universal

HER FIRST MATE: Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts—Not as good as the other Pitts-Summerville pictures. We have run them all. Pleased 70%. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Dec. 13-14.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

HORSEPLAY: Slim Summerville, Andy Devine—Just as the name indicates, horseplay. It pleased our Saturday crowd and drew the best Christmas Eve crowd in many years. Played Dec. 24.—Joe Hewitt, Lincoln Theatre, Robinson, Ill. General patronage.

MOONLIGHT AND PRETZELS: Mary Brian, Leo Carrillo—Good musical comedy. You won't go wrong on this one. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Dec. 18-19.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

MY PAL, THE KING: Tom Mix—I ran this feature for a matinee and evening, Dec. 23, as an extra attraction for the kiddies, and did they like it! Some of them came twice, and most of them stayed for the second show. If we could get a picture like this once a month, the kiddies would come back to the theatre. This feature cannot be beaten for children.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

ONLY YESTERDAY: John Boles, Margaret Sullavan—This is a very fine picture. Pleased all that saw it. A picture that you will remember for weeks to come. Running time, 105 minutes. Played December 11-12.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

ONLY YESTERDAY: John Boles, Margaret Sullavan—I would say this is a great big production in story value, actors and artistry. You will make no mistake in telling your folks this is one of the biggest pictures released by anyone this year. Margaret Sullavan is by far the finest star brought to the screen in many a moon. You will see and hear more of this star. Of course, John Boles is incomparable in this picture. Average business for four days.—W. R. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

ONLY YESTERDAY: John Boles, Margaret Sullavan—Simply murderous at the box office, although I liked it personally. Played Dec. 10-11-12.—R. B. Hipple, Bijou Theatre, Pierre, S. D. General patronage.

SATURDAY'S MILLIONS: Robert Young, Leila Hyams—The best football picture I ever looked at. This is a 100 per cent, with a wonderful cast. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Dec. 24-25.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

S. O. S. ICEBERG: Rod La Rocque—Did business and a wonderful picture. No service will make more for an exhibitor than Universal this year. Sign them up if you haven't already.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatre, Nampa, Ida. General patronage.

TRAIL DRIVE: Ken Maynard, Cecilia Parker—Bad weather on this one, and it is a good average western. Perhaps above the average. Plenty of action. Glory be, the westerns seem to be coming back. Rural town audience reaction only, not holding any briefs for the larger situations.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

Warner

COLLEGE COACH: Dick Powell—Ranks among the best of football and college stories.—C. H. McCroskey, Allied Theatre, Dermott, Ark. Small town patronage.

EVER IN MY HEART: Barbara Stanwyck, Otto Kruger—The best acted picture of 1933. The work of Miss Stanwyck and Mr. Kruger is the best done this year. Truly a wonderful picture. A story as big and true as life itself. Take an extra handkerchief when you see this one. You'll need it, and you'll say it's a great picture.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

FOOTLIGHT PARADE: Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell—Again Warner Brothers ring the bell with the greatest of all musicals. If you thought "Forty-second Street" and "Gold Diggers of 1933" were great, put the two together and you have "Footlight Parade." Acting perfect, settings beautiful, pretty girls, good music and wonderful scenes and acting. The waterfall number is the most spectacular scene in the entire picture with marvelous settings and beautiful girls performing in the water. The honeymoon hotel number is equally as good but not quite as sensational. And last but not least is the Shanghai Lil number. This number brings out the patriotic side with a company of sailors forming a flag of the United States, then a picture of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and finally the emblem of the NRA—the Blue Eagle—in all of its glory. We broke the house record made on "Gold Diggers of 1933" by playing to capacity for three days. This was the first small town in our vicinity to play this and it drew much business from neighboring towns in a radius of 50 miles. Start the New Year with "Footlight Parade" and bank the profits. This is the third big money-maker from the studios of Warner Brothers and here's wishing them continued success throughout the New Year. Running time, 102 minutes. Played Dec. 11-12-13.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

FOOTLIGHT PARADE: James Cagney, Ruby Keeler—Warner gets a lot of money for their pictures, but they are worth it. I think it will be one of the best pictures of 1933-1934. Played to the best New Year's gross in three years. The kind that your patrons will call you by telephone and thank you. Running time, 102 minutes. Played Dec. 31-Jan. 1.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

FOOTLIGHT PARADE: James Cagney, Joan Blondell, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell—The best of the 1933 musical productions. It's all that Warners say it is.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

HOUSE ON 56TH STREET, THE: Kay Francis, Ricardo Cortez—Both excellent stars. The excellent acting of Kay Francis well worth noting. The story excellent. Patrons emphasized their satisfaction with the picture. Business above average even though last two nights, the town, which is only 800, was snowed in. Played Dec. 25-26-27. Running time, 68 minutes.—E. M. Scribner, Firemen's Hall, Schoharie, N. Y. General patronage.

KENNEL MURDER CASE: William Powell—A mystery story that in some ways is different. Has the usual clever Van Dine plot with some more smooth work by Powell. Plenty of interest, thrills and suspense in this one. Drew well and pleased all who saw it here.—Harry Pace, Broadway Theatre, Audubon, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

MARY STEVENS, M.D.: Kay Francis—I'm like Joe Penner (I don't know). Picture did less than average business. Gave it an extra push but was a wasted effort. The tail enders on Warners and First National this year, in my opinion, were just average pictures. Maybe we have been spoiled by their better releases earlier in the season.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

MAYOR OF HELL, THE: James Cagney—A Friday, Saturday picture. Lots of action and Cagney and Darrow very good. A prison reform school for kids with a story that is somewhat jumpy but has entertainment for your action crowd.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

NARROW CORNER, THE: Doug Fairbanks, Jr.—A first rate entertaining story. But why that title? Ran it on the days that belong to action stories. Action and entertainment was there all right, but the title kept many away.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

TELEGRAPH TRAIL: John Wayne—One of the best John Wayne pictures I have exhibited. Sure went over with the western fans and that means all the kiddies. Running time, 55 minutes. Played Dec. 20-21.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

Short Features

Columbia

BROADWAY MELODY: Krazy Kat Cartoon—These animal cartoons are getting to be a thing of the past for small towns. Running time, eight minutes.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y. General patronage.

MICKEY'S TOUCHDOWN: Mickey McGuire—I don't think this went over so well with my patrons as some of Mickey's previous numbers. However, the kids seemed to enjoy the football game. Running time, two reels.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

Educational

FARMERS' FATAL FOLLY: Moran and Mack—A good slapstick comedy of the old type that brought more laughs than a hundred of the new "art-ic" all-talking kind. More like this one, please.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

KRAKATOA: Special Subject—Very good for any program. Shows old shots of famous volcanoes, ending with thrilling scenes of eruption of undersea Krakatoa. Much better than "Aniakchak." Will pep up your poor programs. Running time, 25 minutes.—Dave Hess, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

POLLY TIX IN WASHINGTON: Baby Burlesks—Cute. Good on any program if you can use this type.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

Fox

ANIAKCHAK: Special Subject—Not as interesting as "Krakatoa," but just the thing to make footage with 60 minute comedy features or westerns. Usual Alaskan stuff with a few hundred feet of descent into valley of "Ten Thousand Smokes!"—Dave Hess, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

FOX MOVIETONE NEWS: Personally, I think this news reel is good, but what are my thoughts compared to the patrons? Give them a cartoon and they eat it up, a news and they walk out. There you are.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

MGM

BARGAIN COUNTER: Pitts and Todd — This comedy team are usually good. This above the average. They do attend a bargain sale and get a shirt at least. Running time, 18 minutes.—W. T. Biggs, Adair Theatre, Adair, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

BEDTIME WORRIES: Our Gang—Good any day with any show. Running time, 19 minutes.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town country patronage.

BEDTIME WORRIES: Our Gang—Here is a short that "rolled them in the aisles."—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

CROOK'S TOURS: All Star Series—Just fair. Running time, two reels.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

DIRTY WORK: Laurel and Hardy—A fine, clean comedy. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

FINE FEATHERS: Oddities—MGM Oddities are all okay, and Mr. Smith is the best talker of them all. Running time, nine minutes.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town country patronage.

HELLO, POP!: Colortone Musical Revues—A good colored musical short that makes a welcome change on any program. Good comedy and some great dancing scenes. Don't hesitate about this one. Running time, 18 minutes.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

ONE TRACK MINDS: Todd and Kelly—Not up to the Pitts and Todd standard. However, a few laughs in the second reel. Running time, two reels.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

PLANE NUTS: Ted Healy—If this was a couple of more reels in length, it could be run as a feature. Easily as good as Marx Brothers. Just as silly and just as funny. Play this by all means and watch them roll in their seats.—Harry Pace, Broadway Theatre, Audubon, Iowa.

RHAPSODY IN BREW: Colortone Musical Revues—Would be classed as good if they had left the fat man out. He certainly is tiresome, and you can't hear what he says half the time. Running time, two reels.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

SCOTLAND THE BONNIE: FitzPatrick Travel Talks—Very good.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town country patronage.

SWING HIGH: Cadonas Aerial Troupe—I think Pete Smith could have left out the remark about sex appeal. That's just another of the things we exhibitors have to face and it's all uncalled for. The Codonas are really good and they're not responsible for Pete Smith. Running time, one reel.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

Paramount

BORDER, THE: W. C. Fields—Not so good.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

COLD TURKEY: Joseph Cawthorne—Cawthorne tried hard to give us some laughs, but it failed here. Nothing objectionable, nothing funny.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

DOWN BY THE OLD MILL STREAM: Funny Boners—The best screen song I ever screened. Cartoons are good and the singing wonderful. Running time, eight minutes.—W. T. Biggs, Adair Theatre, Adair, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

DUCKY DEAR: Sidney Toler—Good average comedy production.—H. C. Monroe, Hollywood Theatre, Buchanan, Mich. General patronage.

GOOD OLD MOUNTAIN MUSIC: Eton Boys—Excellent cartoon, and Eton Brothers good. Good any time you need a one-reel subject.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

I EATS MY SPINACH: Popeye the Sailor—Extra good cartoon. Lots of laughs. Running time, seven minutes.—Phil Billiet, Coliseum Theatre. Anawan, Ill. Small town patronage.

LITTLE BROADCAST: Mills Brothers and Donald Novis—One of the best shorts of the year. This is my first of the headlines, and my people ate it up. Will stand extra advertising. Running time, eleven minutes.—Phil Billiet, Coliseum Theatre, Annawan, Ill. Small town patronage.

ONE AWFUL NIGHT: Eugene Pallette, Walter Catlett—A good side-splitting comedy. Will get the laughs. Running time, 20 minutes.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

PHARMACIST, THE: W. C. Fields—Fields has always been a flop for me, but this comedy got plenty of laughs. Running time, 16 minutes.—W. T. Biggs, Adair Theatre, Adair, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

RKO

AIR TONIC: Ted Fio Rito Orchestra—A very, very nifty musical that went over with a bang. Our audience liked it immensely.—Joe Hewitt, Lincoln Theatre, Robinson, Ill. General patronage.

PATHE NEWS: The local house has played Pathe News each week since 1911, if I'm not mistaken. A good record to be proud of. Sorry we don't play it twice each week. Running time, ten minutes.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y. General patronage.

United Artists

BUILDING A BUILDING: Mickey Mouse—This is a very good cartoon comedy and one that will make any audience laugh. One of the best Mickey Mouses and here's hoping there are many more to follow. Running time, nine minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

GOOD DEED: Mickey Mouse—One of the best Mickey Mouse cartoons Walt ever made. Running time, eight minutes. Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. Town and city patronage.

SANTA'S WORKSHOP: This is the greatest one-reeler that we have ever had the pleasure of screening in our theatre and did the kids flock in! It is filmed in gorgeous color and there is only one word that can describe it—beautiful. Just as the name suggests, it shows Santa's workshop where all of the toys are made and just the type of short for this season. We played this three days, and many patrons, young and old, saw it two or three times. Many thanks to Walt Disney and United Artists for this great short. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

THREE LITTLE PIGS: Silly Symphony—This is absolutely a knockout. All in color. Running time, eight minutes.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

Universal

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS: John Hix—Went over fair. Some liked it, others did not. If they like this believe-it-or-not stuff, it will go; if not, lay off. Running time, nine minutes.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

Warner Vitaphone

BYGONES: Ruth Etting—A fine musical short that everyone liked. The best Ruth Etting I have exhibited. Running time, two reels.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

BOSKO, THE MUSKETEER: Looney Tunes—This is another good cartoon from Vitaphone and one that will please both young and old alike. Practically the entire series of these are good and will make excellent fillers. Running time, nine months.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, S. C. General patronage.

CASTILIAN GARDEN, A: Melody Masters—A very good musical short.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

CRASHING THE GATE: Ruth Etting—A fine two-reel brevity. Some very fine singing by star. A good story and very interesting. Better than average

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of January 6

CRITERION
- The Cure — RKO Radio
- King Neptune — United Artists

HOLLYWOOD
- Movie Memories — Vitaphone
- Kissing Time — Vitaphone
- Easy Aces — Vitaphone
- Heart of Paris — Vitaphone

MAYFAIR
- The Boswell Sisters — Universal
- What To Do — Fox
- News Laffs — Beverly Hills

PARAMOUNT
- A Roman Romeo — Paramount
- Wild Elephinks — Paramount

RKO MUSIC HALL
- Bubblin' Along — RKO Radio
- Wrestling Match — RKO Radio
- Strange as It Seems—No. 35 — Universal

RIALTO
- Sea Killers — Principal
- Just Keeps Raining All the Time — Paramount

RIVOLI
- Three Little Pigs (Spanish) — Fox
- London Medley — Fox

ROXY
- Puppy Love — United Artists
- Pop's Pal — Educational

STRAND
- Jack Denny and Band — Vitaphone
- Not Tonight, Josephine — Vitaphone
- Sitting on a Backyard Fence — Vitaphone

snort subjects.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

DISH RAN AWAY WITH THE SPOON, THE: Merry Melodies—Good.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

EDDIE DUCHIN AND BAND: Melody Masters—Warners should make more of these Melody Masters. I haven't played one poor one yet. This one is very good. Running time, ten minutes.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

GIRL TROUBLE: Broadway Brevities—Here is another peach of a two-reel musical in color from the Vitaphone boys. This one is exceptional. No wonder some of the other producers ceased to release this type of shorts. They simply could not keep up the pace of Warner Brothers in this line. This man Sammy Sax who has charge of these shorts is a genius or he has a world of great assistants under him. This short helped me greatly in building up a good show where the feature was not so hot.—Joe Hewitt, Lincoln Theatre, Robinson, Ill. General patronage.

HOW'VE YOU BEAN? Fatty Arbuckle—Not so good as the other Arbuckle shorts but got some laughs. Running time, two reels.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kans. Small town patronage.

I LIKE MOUNTAIN MUSIC: Melody Masters—Extra good.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

I'VE GOT TO SING A TORCH SONG: Merry Melodies—One of the best. Pleased young and old. Running time, seven minutes.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town country patronage.

LAUGHS IN THE LAW: Pepper Pot—What a short and what a title. Not a laugh in a carload. Who wants to sit through ten minutes of nothing? This is based on old laws and what could be done if they were enforced. All in all, when you get it, save the juice and leave it off. I wish I had. Running time, ten minutes.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

NORTHERN EXPOSURE: Broadway Brevities—A colored two-reeler that is fair.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

OPERATOR'S OPERA: Donald Novis, Dawn O'Day—A two-reeler that is worth top billing, worth the admission price alone. Must say that Warners have the best musical two-reelers that we have seen this year. The song by Donald Novis is beautiful. Our patrons liked it very much. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

PAUL REVERE, JR.: Gus Shy—You need not be ashamed of this one. Running time, 21 minutes.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town country patronage.

ROCK-A-BYE-BYE, WITH DR. ROCKWELL: Pepper Pot—Just fair. Running time, ten minutes.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town country patronage.

RUFUS JONES FOR PRESIDENT: Ethel Waters—A great two-reel subject.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

RUFUS JONES FOR PRESIDENT: Broadway Brevities—Play this one. They will all enjoy it. Good music and some good comedy and dancing. Running time, two reels.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. Town and city patronage.

SALT WATER DAFFEY: Jack Haley—This is a fairly good comedy of the slapstick variety. It contains many laughs and should please the average theatregoer. Haley is practically new here and does not go over so well. Running time, 19 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SHANTY WHERE SANTA CLAUS LIVES: Merry Melodies—Cartoons are good but your patrons don't like to see them on every bill. Why not show one every two weeks? Screen songs don't go over at all. Play them if you like 'em. Running time, eight minutes.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y. General patronage.

SHUFFLE OFF TO BUFFALO: Merry Melodies—A very funny cartoon that went over big. Running time, one reel.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

SHUFFLE OFF TO BUFFALO: Merry Melodies—One of the best cartoons we ever played.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

STRANGE CEREMONIES OF WORLD: World Adventures—A very interesting and educational one-reeler showing various ceremonies and customs of the world. The Hawaiian dance at the end seemed to be a great hit with our audience and many came to see it twice. Running time, nine minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

THAT GOES DOUBLE: Musical Featurette—Another very good musical. These musical screen acts are better than any stage vaudeville any small town could ever book for their stage. That's that! Running time, 18 minutes.—Edmund M. Burke, Fort Plain Theatre, Fort Plain, N. Y. General patronage.

THAT'S THE SPIRIT: Noble Sissle and band—If they want real modern music and good entertainment, give them this one. Running time, one reel.—Robert Schwall, State Theatre, Ipswich, S. D. Small town patronage.

USE YOUR IMAGINATION: Broadway Brevities—Another good two-reeler added to Vitaphone Broadway Brevities Series. Running time, two reels.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. Town and city patronage.

USE YOUR IMAGINATION: Broadway Brevity—Another good two reels added to Vitaphone Broadway Brevities Series. Running time, two reels.—Louis Perretta, Crescent, Mahoningtown, Pa. Town and city patronage.

WAKE UP THE GYPSY IN ME: Merry Melodies—A filler.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town country patronage.

WALTER DONALDSON: Pepper Pot—Another fine Pepper Pot from Vitaphone. Anyone should enjoy this one. Running time, ten minutes.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. Town and city patronage.

WONDER SPOTS OF THE WORLD: World Adventures—Some people may like these world adventures but none of my patrons like them. Running time, ten minutes.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. Town and city patronage.

YOUNG AND HEALTHY: Merry Melodies—A really good cartoon. Plenty of music and action. Running time, one reel.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

Serials

Universal

CLANCY OF THE MOUNTED: Tom Tyler, Jacqueline Wells—Have run nine episodes of this serial and it seems to hold the interest of the patrons, especially the children. Good acting and beautiful scenery.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

GORDON OF GHOST CITY: Buck Jones, Madge Bellamy—Have run three chapters. Started off with fair business and keeps building. I believe this is one of the best serials we have ever played. Pleasing our serial fans. Will get the kids.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

THEATRE OWNERS

KNOW YOUR EXACT PROFIT EACH WEEK

Without Employing a Bookkeeper

Secure a copy of

MOTION PICTURE THEATRE ACCOUNTING

By Wm. F. Morris, C.P.A.

Details easy methods for recording receipts and expenses—allowing for every imaginable item, including taxes, insurance, depreciation, etc. Sufficient to care for twelve months records.

$3.00 A COPY—Postage Prepaid

QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP

1790 BROADWAY NEW YORK

Photophone Tells Story Of "High Fidelity"

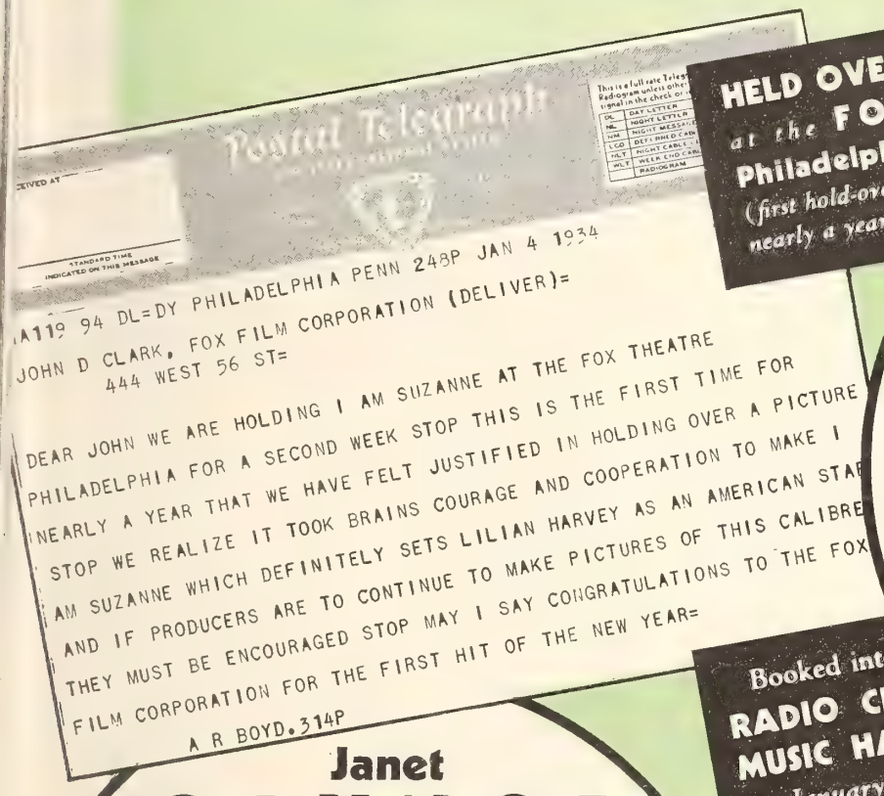
The Photophone Division of RCA Photophone, at Camden, this week completed an elaborate brochure, 16 inches by 12 inches, in several colors, which their salesmen in the field will use for merchandising "High Fidelity" sound reproducers, in addition to the usual advertising and merchandising campaigns.

Telling the story of "High Fidelity" equipment, the brochure explains many of the technical phases of the new-type reproducer and charts the cycle range which has been extended below and beyond the cycle range of the ordinary sound reproducer.

New Firm To Produce in East

Fairhaven Production, Limited, has been formed in New York to produce in the east. The company is headed by H. H. Rogers, Jr., with William Alexander as vice-president and general manager.

Kaplan Opens Iowa House



Leonard T. Kaplan, operating the Dakota theatre, Soo Falls, S. D., has opened the State theatre in Waterloo, Iowa, seating 750 and equipped with wide range sound.

Stanley Gets Refund

Over-assessments aggregating $74,103 for 1924 to 1928, inclusive, have been credited to the Stanley Company of America by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

UP GOES BUSINESS

where these FOX pictures are playing

Postal Telegraph

A119 94 DL=DY PHILADELPHIA PENN 248P JAN 4 1934

JOHN D CLARK, FOX FILM CORPORATION (DELIVER)=
444 WEST 56 ST=

DEAR JOHN WE ARE HOLDING I AM SUZANNE AT THE FOX THEATRE PHILADELPHIA FOR A SECOND WEEK STOP THIS IS THE FIRST TIME FOR NEARLY A YEAR THAT WE HAVE FELT JUSTIFIED IN HOLDING OVER A PICTURE STOP WE REALIZE IT TOOK BRAINS COURAGE AND COOPERATION TO MAKE I AM SUZANNE WHICH DEFINITELY SETS LILIAN HARVEY AS AN AMERICAN STAR AND IF PRODUCERS ARE TO CONTINUE TO MAKE PICTURES OF THIS CALIBRE THEY MUST BE ENCOURAGED STOP MAY I SAY CONGRATULATIONS TO THE FOX FILM CORPORATION FOR THE FIRST HIT OF THE NEW YEAR=

A R BOYD.314P

HELD OVER at the FOX Philadelphia (first hold-over in nearly a year)

Booked into RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL for January 18th showing

I AM SUZANNE!

with

LILIAN HARVEY

GENE RAYMOND
LESLIE BANKS
Podrecca's Piccoli Marionettes
Directed by Rowland V. Lee
JESSE L. LASKY
Production

Janet
GAYNOR
Lionel
BARRYMORE
in
"CAROLINA"

Robert Young • Richard Cromwell
Henrietta Crosman • Mona Barrie
Stepin Fetchit

From Paul Green's "The House of Connelly"
Directed by Henry King

A story so rich in drama . . . romance . . . humanness . . . and humor . . . that two of the screen's outstanding stars have every opportunity to give fully of their inspired genius.

2nd WEEK for SMOKY at the MAYFAIR, N.Y.

Unstinted critics' praise (Daily News: ★★★) as most human horse ever born moves capacity crowds to laughs and tears.

FOX

Your patrons always like
FOX MOVIETONE NEWS

A HEADLINE CAST GIVES A FRONT-PAGE SHOW!

Entertainment stars give their talent–
Motion Picture Daily gives this space–

So you GIVE A HAND! – – BE ON HAND at the

MILK and EGG LEAGUE
▲▲ BENEFIT ▲▲

FOR THE LOS ANGELES SANITORIUM
FOR NEW YORK'S TUBERCULAR POOR

NEW AMSTERDAM THEATRE
42nd STREET WEST OF BROADWAY

SUNDAY, JAN. 28 • • • 8:15 P. M.

▲ ▲ ▲

• With 1,001 Stars of Stage, Screen, and Radio •

A GRAND SHOW! . . . . A GRAND CAUSE! . . . . AND WHAT A GRAND AND GLORIOUS FEELING FOR YOU to know you've helped bring health and happiness to hundreds of New York's unfortunates!

▲

A PERCENTAGE OF THE PROCEEDS WILL BE DONATED TO THE ACTORS' FUND OF AMERICA.

▲

Make your reservations NOW!

TICKETS ON SALE AT THE NEW YORK STRAND
Or 'Phone Circle 7-5900

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

TAKE HEED, MANAGERS!

In last week's issue of Motion Picture Herald, beginning on page 55, appeared the second of a series by our own James P. Cunningham, on "De-Coding the Film Code," in which the motion picture code is being translated from the complex legal phraseology into a clear and understandable working language of the business.

Read it! By all means, read it, and study especially those parts which have to do with the responsibilities of theatre managers.

Quoting a paragraph from last week's article:

> "If the theatre manager or theatre executive does not abide by the fair competition and trade practice provisions of the code, and if such person is found to have wilfully violated any of these provisions, he would be liable to a fine of $500 for each day's violation. He would probably be made a co-defendant with the employing exhibition company, but he could be made a defendant individually."

Watch that word wilfully, for it can be construed in various ways. Make sure your giveaways, free parking, and advertising of advance showings are handled in strict accordance with the exact terminology of the code, as obtains in your situation. Temper your natural enthusiasm with discretion and stay away from all gags and ideas that hover near the code border line.

If you are undecided on a campaign and cannot get a positive opinion, then lay off that particular stunt until you are sure of your ground.

There is nothing in the code to repress any manager's desire to put over his shows, but it does aim to do away with those things in the industry that are unfair competition or unfair trade practices.

Help put it over by strict compliance as concerns your theatre, and we'll all see better days.

▽ ▽ ▽

ADVERTISING "EGG" BASKETS

Judging from campaigns recently received, the number of members becoming sold on the exploitation possibilities of their short subjects, is steadily increasing.

Offhand, we can think of real big time stunts worthy of ace feature attractions put over by Round Tablers Herman Bamberger, Paramount, Springfield, Mass.; Stan Meyer, Alhambra, Milwaukee, Wis.; Eddie Sniderman, Proctor's 58th St., New York City, and Al Zimbalist, Warner St. Louis ad director. These showmen tied in with their newspapers, department stores, hotels and transportation companies for plenty of costless promotion on shorts that drew a lot of extra admissions right up to the cashier's window.

No doubt, the inspiration for much of all this springs from the various animated cartoons, whose characters are being capitalized by smart merchandisers in many lines of business. However, regardless of the source, the added exploitation vigor being applied to the lesser features is highly commendable and might indicate that farseeing showmen are not placing all their advertising "eggs" in one basket.

▽ ▽ ▽

BOX OFFICE GOOD WILL

One of these days, your Chairman intends speaking a few words on the indiscriminate pushing around a lot of theatre managers receive by local organizations on the make, under the guise of that sadly abused term "good will." And those words will, in part, speak of real good will as engendered by Manager Paul O. Klingler, Rialto, Lewistown, Pa., in promoting a series of Sunday afternoon concerts at the theatre under the direction of his able organist, Clara Gregory.

The talent is purely local, contributed free of charge, as are admissions to the theatre and the services of all concerned. The programs are pitched to please all classes of music lovers and the result is capacity attendance. Best of all, Klingler states, is the wide favorable publicity which is building an unestimable amount of actual box office good will.

Of course, Lewistown is not a Sunday town and that's the real "snapper" in the idea. The many residents finding real pleasure in attending the theatre on this day cannot help but be impressed with the community benefits of regular Sunday shows, and in due course of time Klingler will no doubt be able to win sufficient approval to bring that about.

That, ladies and gentlemen, is good will, paying 100 cents on every dollar.

▽ ▽ ▽

Some issues back, we ran an "Honor Roll" which included a few of the circuits giving their managers a regular day off each week, the intention being to add other names as they were received.

Sid Larschan now informs us that the J. H. & S. Circuit, operating the Park, Ritz and Berkshire Theatres, Brooklyn, N. Y., is also entitled to this honor.

A. Mike Vogel

QUIGLEY AWARDS RECEIVE FOREIGN ENDORSEMENTS

Department Heads Abroad Voice Praise of Herald Plan to Gain Worldwide Recognition for Efforts Of Talented Theatremen

From the beginning, the thought behind the Quigley Award project was to make it universal, to strengthen exploitation appeal in every land, and to build up the prestige of able showmen everywhere. That this thought finds ready response from showmen abroad is proven already.

For the second week of the Award drive finds, as we expected, comment cabled and mailed from the heads of various foreign theatre and distribution departments of the major companies. These illuminating and encouraging statements indicate there is to be strong competition from the members and other managers across the water.

In fact, it should be of interest to theatremen on this side to know that Kinematograph Weekly, the well known English picture trade paper, is sponsoring a similar plan, as described briefly in J. C. Graham's cable, set down in the next column. Plans for similar projects in other foreign countries are on the fire, we understand, and the Managers' Round Table Club, of course, will cooperate wherever possible to help put over these projects in conjunction with the Quigley Awards.

CAMPAIGNS NOW BEING FORWARDED

Enthusiasm continues high among Round Tablers in the United States, and in our next issue further statements from members and other industry representatives will be quoted. In addition to their encouragement, showmen state that campaigns now being planned and already put over will be forwarded shortly and it is hoped that we can detail some of these in the Club columns before they are turned over to the judges. They should prove very interesting reading.

Incidentally, for the information of those still unfamiliar with the details of the Quigley Awards project, complete information on this has been carried in the Round Table Club columns in the last four issues of Motion Picture Herald. As stated, these awards are planned to stimulate the exploitation efforts of managers everywhere in the world; to bring their work long deserved recognition.

COMMENTS FROM OTHER LANDS

J. C. BAVETTA
Managing Director, Fox Films
Paris, France

I congratulate the Quigley Publications for the splendid practical idea in the thought of making awards for improved exploitation.

This business lives on two elements —the making of a good picture and the sale of it to the public through proper publicity methods. All too frequently has a good picture been sacrificed by either lack of effort or ideas.

The Quigley Awards should go far towards bringing out these qualities and thus serve a common good.

H. J. GILL
District Manager, Fox Films
Central Europe—Vienna

The Quigley Awards may be of particular interest to the managers and exhibitors in the foreign fields in that it will awaken this same sense of responsibility towards the industry which individuals in the domestic field have been trained to appreciate in the past and will appreciate more so because of the newly initiated system of Quigley Awards.

J. C. GRAHAM
Managing Director, Paramount Films
London, England

Kinematograph Weekly here has been sponsoring similar plan known as Guild of Showmanship, awarding thirty certificates yearly, also silver trophy as Grand Award for best theatre exploitation campaigns in Great Britain. British Paramount Theatres welcome inauguration of proposed Quigley international awards and will gladly participate in such contests.

ARTHUR W. KELLY
Vice-President and General Manager
United Artists Foreign Department

Consider Quigley Awards public spur in developing original merchandising campaigns that will promote box-office prosperity throughout the world. Plan is striking testimonial to enterprise and service rendered to industry by MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

Schaefer, Einfeld, Mayer To Judge January Entries For First Month Plaque; Quigley Grand Award Now on Display in Club

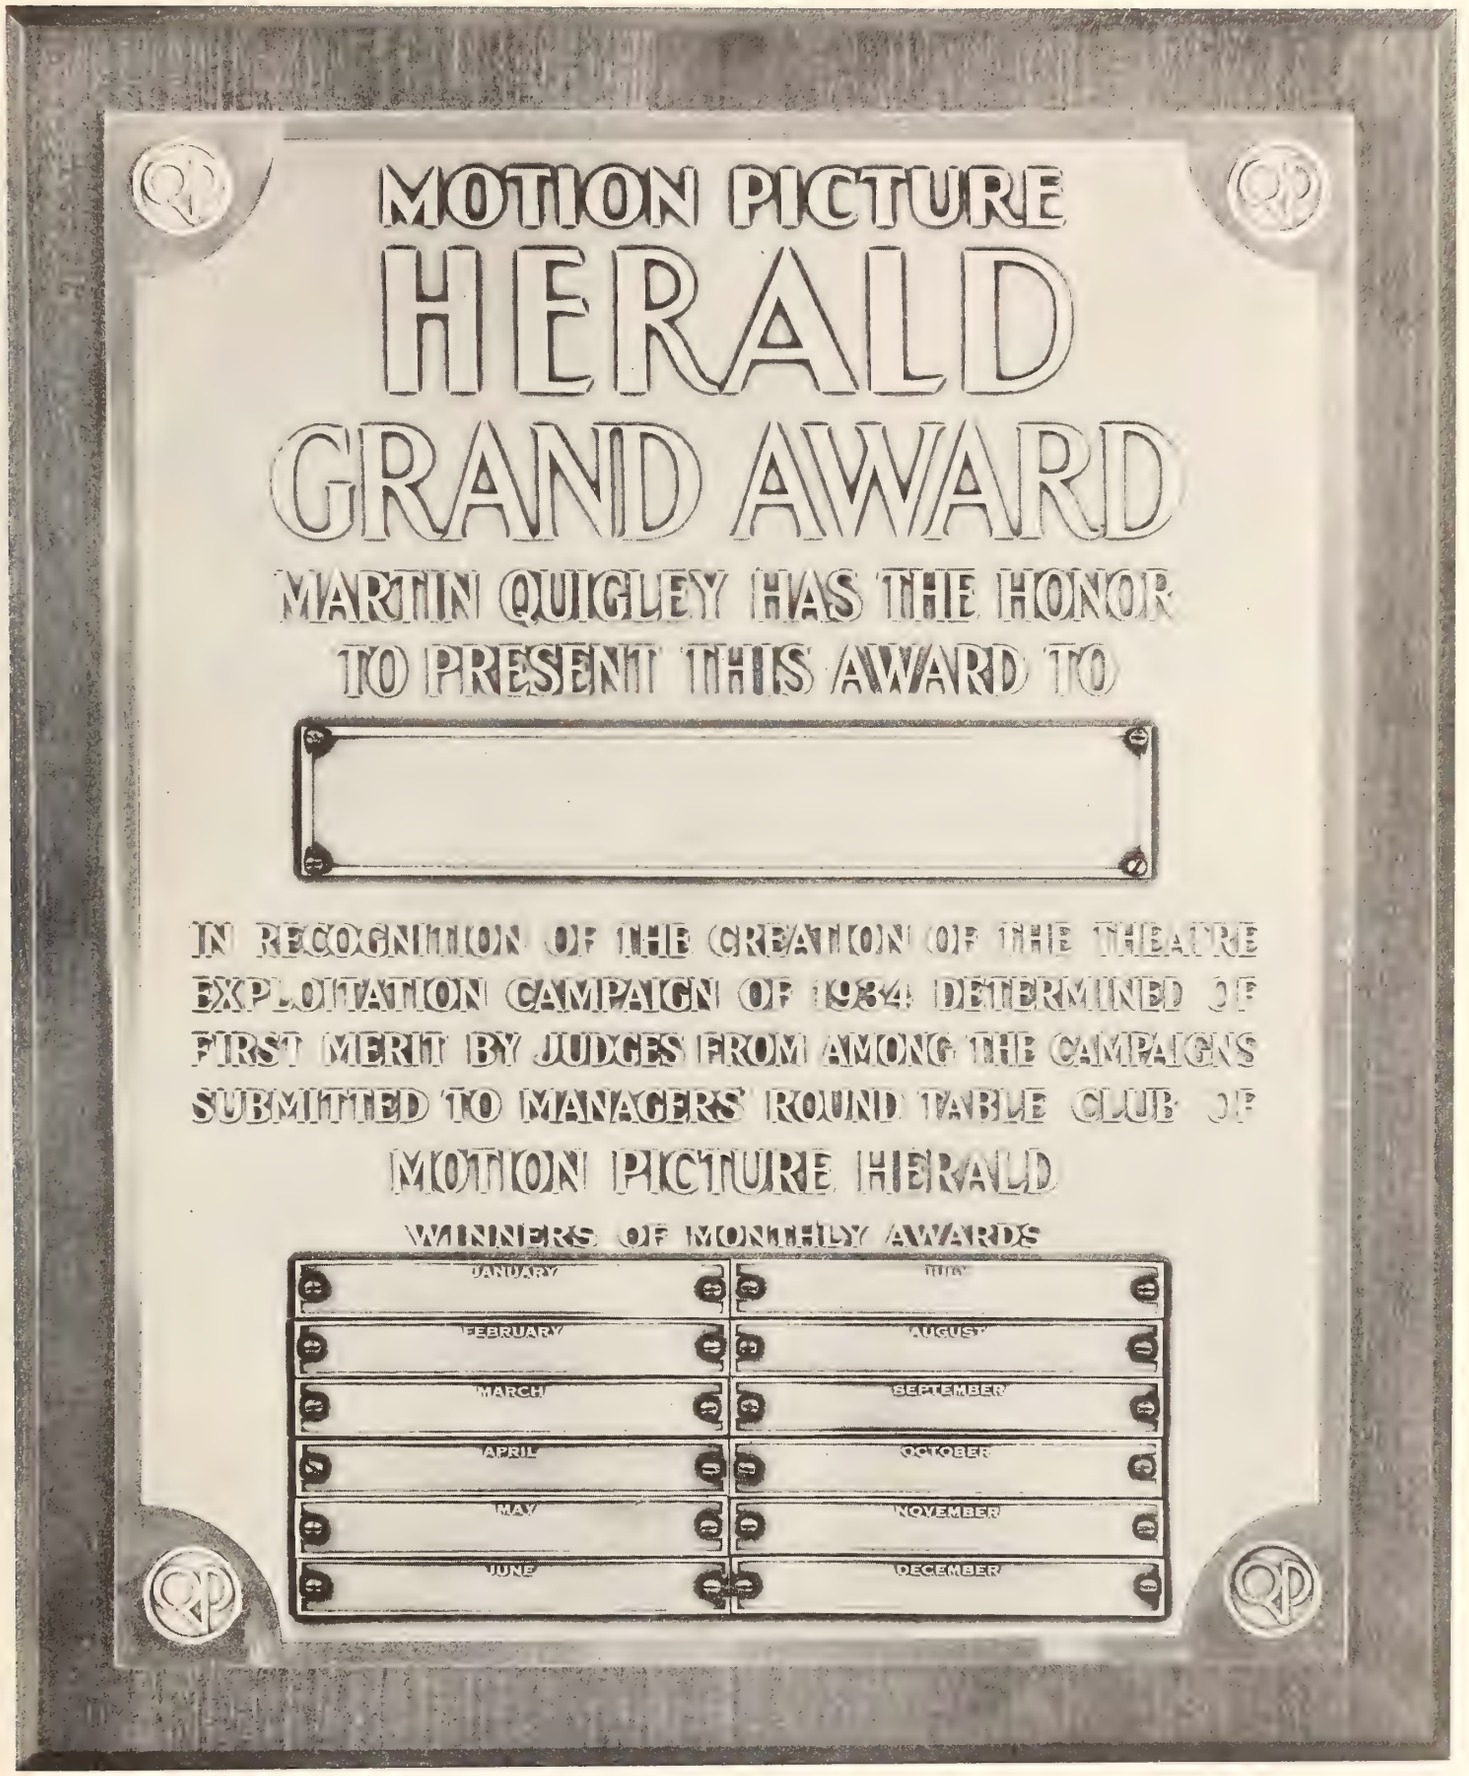
In the selection of the judging committee, it was hoped that foreign picture leaders might be included, but owing to the obvious difficulties the idea was regretfully abandoned. However, much favorable comment has been received on the selection of the judges, a list of whom was carried in our last issue, and foreign managers may be assured that their campaigns will be given equal consideration with those from the United States.

The following three industry leaders have consented to act as the committee to select the campaign that, in their opinion, will merit the January Quigley Award:

GEORGE J. SCHAEFER
Vice-President and General Manager
Paramount Pictures

S. CHARLES EINFELD
Advertising and Publicity Director
Warner Bros. Pictures

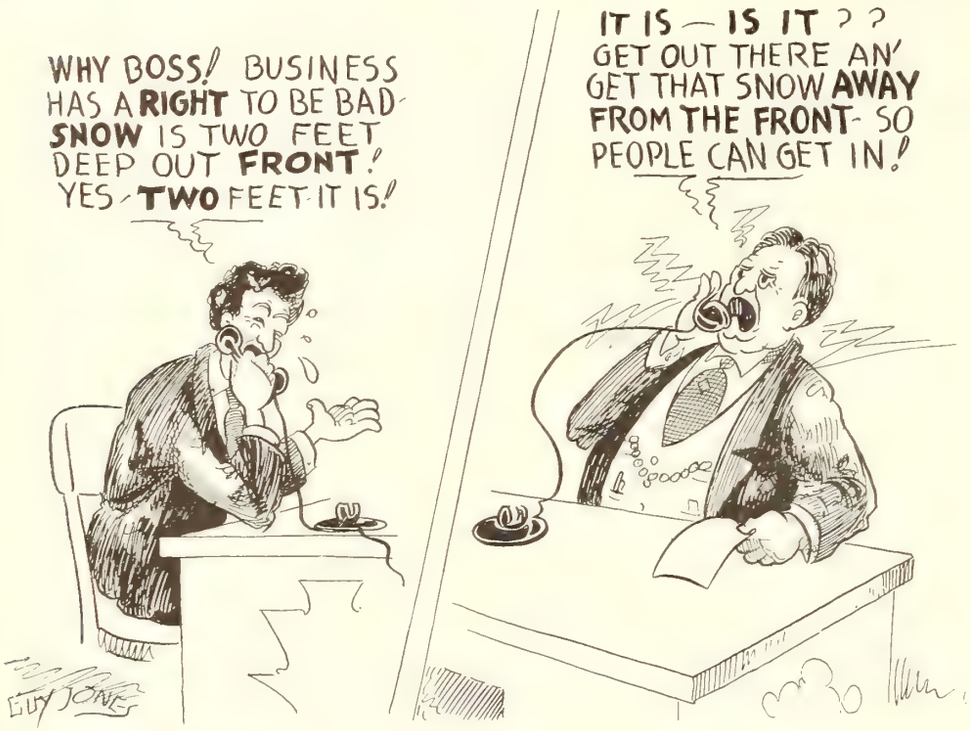
ARTHUR L. MAYER
Managing Director
Rialto Theatre, New York



They represent, respectively, the distribution, advertising and exhibition branches of the business, and it is expected that they will convene the first week in February. Committees for the following periods will be announced in the Round Table pages early in each month.

QUIGLEY GRAND AWARD ON DISPLAY

Completed in the workshops of Dieges & Clust, internationally known silversmiths and trophy designers, the Grand Award has been hung in the quarters of the Managers' Round Table Club, and will be on exhibition there until further notice.



A description of the plaque (photo on following page) may be of interest.

It is 11 inches wide by 14 inches deep, mounted on heavy grain mahogany, size 12 inches wide by 15 inches deep, all over, with all lettering and details of design finished in strong relief. The monthly Awards are to be replicas of the Grand Award, though smaller in size, and it is expected that a picture of the January plaque will appear in an early issue.

Motion Picture Herald Martin Quigley Grand Award To Be Presented for the Outstanding Theatre Campaign Selected by the Judges as Possessing the Highest Merit of All Those Submitted to the Managers' Round Table Club During the Entire Year of 1934

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS!

Bunny Bryan Sends Along Some News

The following welcome comment from the field is reported by Round Tabler Bunny Bryan, formerly skipper of the Belmont Theatre, Chicago, and now publicity director for the well-known Guy Lombardo and band.

Have been covering a lot of territory since leaving the Belmont in Chicago to go out ahead of Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians.

Mike has asked me to shoot in observations obtained en route and here goes.

The one thing that seems to stand out is the necessity for personal contacts with the newspapers and the fact that there is usually only one man on the theatre staff having these contacts. The exceptions I shall enumerate. The laggards—let's forget them.

In Cleveland Knox Strachan and Lew Wasserman can ramble into any of the newspapers and be received on a friendly man to man basis. The fine cooperation extended them undoubtedly accounted for the unusual publicity Guy received, publicity which gave us a record breaking week. Bill Watson, the house manager is equally well and favorably known to the scribes. Just about a perfect setup, I'd say.

In Baltimore, Izzy Rappaport, the owner of the Hippodrome and Ted Routson, who was manager when we were there—Ted has since been made the house publicity man—have marvelous contacts.

They are really friends with the newspaper people. Again fine publicity breaks and a long-standing house record broken to be in turn broken by "Little Women."

Bill Ewing at the Earle in Washington smooths the way for any advance man and Gene Fox and Jack Saef at the Metropolitan together with Jack Goldstein, RKO's publicity chief in Boston are just about perfect to work with.

Our jump to the Ambassador, St. Louis found Cullen Espy, George Tyson and M. L. Plessner with great newspaper contacts.

These are but a few of the many live wires we have come in contact with and worked with on this tour. These men are doing a real job because they are friends with the press. They drop in and say "Howdy" at the newspapers even when they haven't something to plant.

Incidentally, you might be interested in knowing that the Managers Round Table is on file in every one of the theatres mentioned. Ideas are the backbone of this industry and ideas are certainly to be found in the Round Table pages.

Let me close with the season's greetings to everyone and more dope from the coast when we arrive there.

MEET FRANK LARSON

Here's a shot of that smart showman, Frank Larson, Paramount Theatre, Idaho Falls, Idaho, one of the prize winners in our World's Fair contest, alongside of some snappy lobby stuff on "Moonlight and Pretzels," one of the pictures plugged to start Frank's "New Show Season."

Here Is A Corking Calendar Program

Some real showmanship is embodied in the cardboard monthly calendar program gotten out by W. F. Smith, Colonial, Clarion, Iowa, and one of the best of its kind we have seen in some time. The face is divided in regulation calendar form, with the attraction titles and copy neatly laid out and set up according to their dates. Two boxes at the top, on either side of the theatre cut, catch the eye, the first with a bit of Christmas verse and the other with a plug on the big pictures of the following month.

On the reverse side is a five-column "Screenland Gossip" page, with lots of snappy studio news and interesting picture dope. Space at top is left for names on mailing list, and the entire thing is so well done that it must bring in extra business.

Smith must be close to a good printer to get as professional a job, and no doubt he will be glad to send along copies of the program to interested members. You boys will enjoy looking it over.

Lund Puts on "Tom Thumb" Wedding with Dressler Film

A "happiness" drive was the basis of Round Tabler J. C. Lund's campaign to put over "Christopher Bean" at the Kenosha, Kenosha, Wis., one of the effective gags used being a classified tie-up with a local paper, in which passes were given to those sending in an ad from the want page with an explanation in not more than 100 words on why that particular ad caused the greatest happiness. Not the least, of course, was a number of large display ads on the contest contributed by the newspaper with cuts of Marie and copy plugging the picture.

Lund's Tom Thumb Wedding

As a special Thanksgiving presentation, Lund put over a Tom Thumb wedding, in which 75 talented local youngsters participated. Especially designed miniature furniture was used in the stage setting (see photo) and all the children were dressed in costumes appropriate to the occasion. In addition to the ceremony, many of the cast put on special numbers under the supervision of a local dancing school which supplied most of the talent.

Extra Profits for you! and the good-will of your local merchants by using Quality Ad-Slides
Write for free catalog and details.
QUALITY SLIDE CO.
6 EAST LAKE ST., CHICAGO.

Sonny Gets Roxy To Handle Benefit

Casting about for a suitable "name" to act as master of ceremonies at a charity benefit, Sonny Shepherd, that ever-stirring Wometco showman of the Mayfair, Miami, Fla., persuaded Roxy, then resting in the resort city, to take over the job. That's what we call salesmanship.

Together with Manager Jack Fink, of the Capitol, where the benefit was held, and Nelson Tower, head man at the Tower, these two Round Tablers handling the publicity and ticket sales, Sonny put on a successful show that turned 'em away. A few days later, Roxy also took a hand in putting over a Miami Christmas Fund show at the Olympia.

S. L. (Roxy) Rothafel and "Sonny"

Incidentally, Sonny reports that the boys were sceptical of his ability to obtain the services of the nationally-known showman, and further backed up their opinions with the wager of a dinner, which Shepherd of course enjoyed immensely. Having watched Sonny in action last winter, we would think twice before "laying it on the line", for he sure proved himself the fastest kind of a promoter in rounding up a flock of stuff for the Mayfair opening.

Work For A Quigley Award!

Visger Pulls Boat Street Stunt in "Dry" Town

The profit-taking possibilities of marine street stunts on "water" pictures in inland locations have already been exploited by many members, and the latest to endorse this form of bally is Manager Donald Visger, Liberty, Kennewick, Wash., who used it on "Her First Mate".

Kennewick is miles away from the nearest body of boating water, and one of the city's merchants has an attractive speed boat which he transports to and from the lakes via trailer. Don promoted the boat and the trailer, constructed a small cabin of tagboard amidships, bannered the outfit with "gag" copy from the picture, and sold the attraction for a flock of laughs.

Boating flags made from regulation one sheets were hung from the bow and stern flag staffs, the gunwales were plastered with paydate strips, and a steamboat whistle was planted atop the cabin, manned by a local lad with a pair of husky lungs that stopped plenty of traffic.

The outfit was towed around town and in the neighboring area and parked in front of the theatre at other times, where it attracted the curious in sufficient numbers to return a nice increase over the theatre's usual business, so Visger reports.

The above gag is a good illustration of the benefits of unusual bally, for Visger, operating in a "dry" town, was smart enough to realise that his boat would do the trick, as he reports that "most of my patrons have a high regard for anything marine".

Incidentally, this is the first contribution from Donald, who is another of those hasty stepping showmen from the Mercy Circuit out there iin the Yakima Valley.

Work For A Quigley Award!

McManus Speaks Before 200 Professional Women

In line with what other showmen are doing to obtain extra publicity on "The Prizefighter and the Lady," Manager John McManus, Loew's Midland, Kansas City, Mo., put on a special showing for one of the leading newspaper sporting page columnists. So impressed was the sport writer that he gave the picture and the stage battle between Baer and Carnera a sweet plug in his widely read column, and John of course tied right in with it by blowing up the blurb and planting it in his lobby.

McManus hooked in his holiday celebration to "Going Hollywood," which was playing at that time, by constructing in his lobby a specially built animated Christmas display, with an electric train bringing the picture from Hollywood to Kansas City. He concentrated most of his selling of this attraction on the many musical numbers, obtaining big displays in music stores and by having the hits played by every prominent local orchestra.

Having quite a reputation as a speaker on various phases of motion pictures, John is much in demand and recently gave a talk before 200 business and professional women regarding the difficulties of winning motion picture stardom. Of course, he used MGM names as examples, another reason why these stars are so well sold when they play the Midland.

Patrons Guess Weight Of Giant Pretzel

Frank Boucher tops all the manager pretzel-distributors with his tiein contest on "Moonlight and Pretzels," Maryland Theatre, Hagerstown (Md.), in which prizes were given to those who came nearest guessing the weight of a giant pretzel Frank promoted a local bakery into making. Needless to say the baker received a credit line.

The grandfather twist was displayed in a prominent window with announcement of the prizes, which ran from the first award of a monthly pass to ten pairs of free ducats for other best guessers. Boucher sends us a picture of the master dough creation which, unfortunately, was over-developed and therefore could not be reproduced. However, the accompanying photo shows one of a series of other windows which were used to sell the contest.

Boucher's Guessing Gag

In addition, Frank had a girl in white shorts on the streets who distributed thousands of the pretzels in imprinted envelopes on the opening day of the local fair. The newspapers came across with good stories on the guessing gag, besides other good publicity breaks on the picture.

WASHINGTON CHRISTMAS PARTY. Given by John J. Payette, Warner Bros.' Washington zone chief, who played Santa Claus to the office bunch and local managers in the local Warner Club headquarters. That's John J., center, third row from front, and we also notice quite a few Round Tablers enjoying the festivities. Merry Christmas, folks, eh, what!

BALLYHOO BATTLE STILL RAGES

Members Further Affirm and Deny Soundness of Bally In Present-Day Campaigns; Walter Morris Is for It, Joe Salmon Isn't, and Bassin Replies to Sid Holland

Looks a bit like the argument grows warmer as the boys still tangle over the merits and demerits of Old Man Bally. Two other Round Tablers have their say, one on either side of the fence, and the author of the original article again returns to the wars.

Walter Morris
Metropolitan, Washington, D. C.

I've read with no mean degree of interest the many recent comments by various managers on ballyhoo, and after studying both sides, one rather one-sided by Mr. Charles Bassin and his supporters, many of whom are personal friends of mine; the other emphatically presented by Mr. Sid Holland, who has inclined his thought more parallel to mine with his suggestion "not to kill ballyhoo," I might add that neither the pros nor the cons in this discussion could kill either medium of advertising generally if they wanted to exist in this business.

I would agree generally with an exponent of exploitation who would classify it as a most important part of merchandising any product, whether in this business or not, but that it isn't always the most important. It seems the discussion and some of the opinions held and expressed are comparable to the age old argument of which branch of motion pictures is the most important.

Analyze Public Taste

We are in a business, the success of which is based largely upon our riding the crest of the wave of popular fancy. Those who guess or otherwise determine by sales analysis the right trend of public fancy and present to the public the thing desired at the proper time are the most successful.

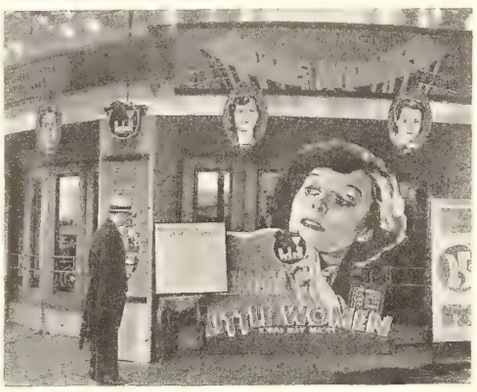
We are practically in a new business every time we change a program and our sales methods have to be adjusted accordingly. Fundamentally, the work is the same, the appeal must be varied.

In my experience there have been times when I felt that we were inclined to unsell a patron already sold. I mean we occasionally frighten some of our patrons away by cheapening the product with ballyhoo or some other medium irrelevant to the selling of the product. Likewise, symbolize the article as a class one and thereby limit our appeal to the most often lucrative mass market.

A complete sales analysis of every picture by the manager or advertising man will often eliminate most of these mistakes, generally raise results financially and in good will. As showmen, we can't employ only standard mediums to sell every picture, but we should exhaust every vendable point in sales effort.

Conclusively, I neither support exploitation 100 per cent, nor do I desert it, for I feel it is simply one of our most important mediums and, if overdone, will cease to attract and more than likely will repel.

Joseph Salmon
Riverside, New York City



A decade of high pressure, untruthful and exaggerated film presentations are—finis. In the past, theatre managers were compelled to take the word of those who produced poor products and not the opinion of the public who paid to see the pictures. I heartily agree with the article by Mr. Charles Bassin, that ballyhoo is behind us. To sell the pictures—

1. Pictures of merit are essential.
2. Pleasant surroundings.
3. The good will of the patrons.
4. The greatest esset of any business and

A theatre manager should strive to please his customers and an attractive and inviting lobby so often will attract patronage. Good pictures speak for themselves. A mediocre product will always require an artificial and undignified publicity, which theatregoers do not fall for today. Thanks to the radio, the daily papers and motion picture magazines, many movie patrons know as much about the merits of pictures as managers of theatres. So ballyhoo is wasted on this type. The former methods of promoting poor products are only expensive and are a waste of energy and though often sold the picture, it lost a customer.

Producers should once or twice a year have a convention of the managers of deluxe houses of the United States who cater to the public's taste, who could taboo the pictures which in their minds would not appeal to their clientele. These suggestions might strike out the number of pictures not worthy of screen showing. It automatically would prove the boon not only of the producers and theatre managers but the public as well.

I again want to express the fact that in my mind Mr. Charles Bassin is fully correct in the statement he made against ballyhoo.

As part of his advance on "Little Women," Manager Larry Lehman, RKO Mainstreet, Kansas City, Mo., used the above lobby blowup of the Motion Picture Daily's Preview.

Charles Bassin
Oriental, Mattapan, Mass.

The hypnotic music of Elkhart's (the native city of band instruments) sour saxophones and tantalizing trumpets has apparently paralyzed Sid Holland's better judgment and the Old Indiana Reprobate, who is not only my esteemed friend, but a damnably clever showman as well, unfortunately finds himself lethargically helpless to recognize the new order of things.

Ballyhoo in its accepted sense is dead, and dead it will remain until the present generations of our picture wise public likewise become inanimate and are replaced with an unsophisticated posterity. We are moving in a new cycle, and just as sure as we are certain of the passing of the horse and buggy in favor of automotive vehicles, we can be positive that the heyday of ballyhoo has long since passed.

Cease wondering, Sid, Sharlie vas dere and has picked up not a few, but many of the "mushroom" pamphlets and has thoroughly digested the contents thereof. If our patrons do not take these publications seriously, how then has their circulation been built up to five and one-half million copies?

Public Prefers To Buy

The hit-and-run days are over and we must settle down to constructive methods. Reiteration of the fact that a wary public dislikes being sold and would prefer to buy is necessary. The modern psychology is to make the public buy what you are selling, not to sell them what you want them to buy. Truthfully, Sid, how many unwarranted ballyhoo campaigns have you successfully sold to your patrons? And on the other hand, how many surprising grosses have been brought to the box office by pictures which you thought did not merit ballyhoo?

Who says the 24 sheet, the window card, the radio, the mails, the newspapers, and trailers must go? Nothing of the kind. They are our media of saturation, our tools of coverage, but they must be used properly.

Sid reminds me of an accountant who, given a group of figures to play with, can bring forth any desired result much to the satisfaction of the board of directors. In this case, Sid has used words for figures and as a result has brought forth a contradiction. Let me explain. When I said, "He must saturate his potential trading area with a forceful campaign engendering legitimate sales fire," I meant that the showman must tell the greatest number of people what is playing, when it is playing, and where it is playing. This can be done forcefully and successfully without extolling the supposed virtues of pictures that will knowingly be a disappointment to your audience. And again I say, just tell enough people what is playing and, if the picture warrants their attendance, "they will tear the doors down" while Old Man Ballyhoo molds in his well deserved grave.

I vas dere, Sid, but vare vas you?

Ace Drive by Hendricks On "World Changes"

The planting of the ten minute press book broadcast over a leading station, and the ten episode fictionised story of the picture in one of his dailies were just a few of the many good things put over by Manager Bill Hendricks, Warner, Memphis, Tenn., on "The World Changes."

A number of other tieups rate mention. Very effective was one with the local "correct time" bureau, wherein the title of the picture was mentioned on every call. To interest art students, a contest was put on with an important school for drawings best depicting the picture's title.

Western Union was promoted to demonstrate a teletype machine in the lobby, and with it, Indian smoke signals were also displayed to explain the evolution of communication. A night club not only put on a revue named after the title, but advertised it and the picture widely, and yet another tiein was made with a coffee firm that served the beverage free at the theatre in addition to advertising their brand with the line, "The World Changes but Blank's Coffee remains the same."

Window displays of various sorts were obtained, these comparing the old and new in various ways, such as the changes in illumination from the time of old fashioned lamps, styles in millinery, clothing, and similar ideas.

A street parade on the day before opening climaxed the campaign, featured by entries of old and new cars by local dealers, a stage coach and modern bus by a local transportation line, old and new fire engines, radio and oil dealers, dairy and bakery trucks, all of which were heavily bannered.

Then a Hollywood opening on the night of the preview, with all the atmosphere, lights, broadcasts, local notables, to put over this well executed drive to the big results it deserved and earned. Bill is the new head man at the Warner and obviously is doing a great job

Work For A Quigley Award!

"Riverhead" Bill Stops to Breathe

That Riverhead, L. I., speed merchant, Bill Levey, who keeps the wheels moving at the Riverhead Theatre there, reports a flock of gags and ideas he has been putting over lately for the benefit of his town, and of course, for his box office.

Bill's newest promotion was to get his local paper to run a two-column ten-inch Movie Guide once a week with all the theatres of the Prudential Circuit (for whom Bill labors), the attractions at each house and the dates. So if the folks miss a certain picture in Riverhead, they can find it by referring to the box in the local paper. The idea, of course, is carried in all house programs in addition.

Editorial thanks in his local and nearby papers were received recently by this member and the circuit heads for their work in helping to put over a 250th birthday of the county. Bill arranged for 17 houses in the county to carry trailers on the big day, and also ran program ads for a month in advance thus building up plenty of box office good will in the many populous communities of that county.

Good returns were obtained from a throwaway "Entertainment Guarantee Bond" on "Only Yesterday" in which the copy stated that admission money would be refunded to those who did not agree with the management that the attraction gave complete entertainment satisfaction.

Unemployment relief shows, special high school shows, future star contests are some of the other activities reported by Levey, and although we do not hear from him often, we sure hear from him all at once.

Work For A Quigley Award!

Many Tieups on "Little King"

The spread of the cartoon short has now added Otto Soglow's "Little King" to the list of animated flickers, and managers booking these Radio single reels will no doubt be interested in knowing that the stores are capitalizing on this new popularity with many items.

These consist of, among others, drinking glasses and accessories in many styles, humor books, women's compacts and greeting cards. In New York, Eddie Sniderman, of Proctor's 58th Street Theatre, tied in with the nearby Bloomingdale's department store for a glassware window tieup on the Soglow cartoon, and other like tieups are available to other interested showmen in the "Little King" press book or through Rutgers Neilson at the RKO home office.

A BRIDGE CO-OP FLASH. Anna Bell Ward, talented Round Tabler, rates a couple of extra bows for the above ace "double truck" put over with one of her papers on a Culbertson short, at the Kentucky, Lexington, Ky. It took a lot of work, as 52 merchants, one for every card in the deck, had to be sold on the idea, but it certainly was worth while. The cut above explains all the details of this unique contest, and we recommend the idea heartily for use elsewhere.

Bloomberg Puts Over Fourth Toy Matinee

The fourth annual toy matinee put on by Manager Phil Bloomberg, Paramount, Salem, Mass., resulted in an audience of over 3,000 youngsters, who contributed 4,000 toys, books and games (see photo) for distribution to the needy children for their Christmas.

The story of the growth of the idea is a sterling example of what showmen are doing to make the holidays mean something to otherwise underprivileged children. Phil is a Rotarian, and in conjunction with that organization, started the project in 1930. All letters addressed to Santa Claus at the post office were forwarded to Phil and checked by the local welfare board. If warranted, requisitions for the toys were then issued to each case.

Bloomberg's Collection for Poor

The matinee was announced, through the superintendent of schools, in every classroom of every local school, and platoons of Sea Scouts cooperated by acting as doormen, collecting the toys and filling the trucks which took the gifts to welfare headquarters for distribution.

The newspapers came through with a lot of two and three column stories and cuts, including editorial praise for the theatre and also Bloomberg. All of which helps to build up those valuable contacts that every showman finds very helpful when needed.

Work For A Quigley Award!

Largest Pretzel For "Moonlight" Campaign

Naturally we take Joe Weil's word for it, so when the Universal exploitation chief advises us that the world's largest pretzel was made up especially for the Buffalo "Moonlight and Pretzel's" campaign, we pass the information along to the membership. The giant pretzel idea was sold to a baking company through the efforts of Manager John Carr, and Ad Chief Charles Taylor of Shea's Hippodrome Theatre, and when completed was displayed in the lobby with a card describing size and weight, and also telling how many men it would feed and how much beer would be needed to match its size.

Through a tieup on Leo Carrillo, who appears in the picture, 250 grocers displayed attractive windows plugging the date, and every music store of course cooperated on the song hits. All stores in a local shoe chain also came in on the campaign and of course much was made of the pretzel giveaway as described in the press book. Aiding the local showing was Albert S. Nathan of the Universal exploitation staff.

Laurence Successful With Amateur Shows

That showmen in the smaller communities, limited in their activities by small ad budgets, are able to put over creditable box office campaigns has been amply proven, and from Manager H. L. Laurence, Capitol, Paris, Tenn., comes further affirmation of the above. Having no daily newspaper, "H. L." nevertheless keeps his potential drawing area well covered with a flock of attractive heralds, novelty ads and snappy weekly programs sent through the mails and distributed house to house. The programs are numbered, with passes given for those that correspond with numbers posted in the box office window.

Prominent among this showman's ideas is his cooperation with the drama departments of the local schools, in which presentations are put on at the theatre as part of the regular shows. The mimeographed four-page programs for these children plays are especially well done. Laurence also works with his various fraternal organizations and reports successful showings of amateur minstrel shows and musical comedy revues.

Work For A Quigley Award!

Moore Ties In High School To "College Coach"

Two ideas featured Manager B. F. Moore's campaign on "College Coach" at the LaRoy, Portsmouth, Ohio; one a classified tieup and the other a special high school night on the eve of an important local football game.

The want ad tieup, though similar to many others, was distinguished by the size of the free space contributed by the daily, in which the picture and theatre received sizeable billing, in exchange for which Moore gave 20 passes to those whose names were planted in the classified columns.

To the school event were invited the opposition teams, their coaches and the high school band, which headed the groups of football players in a street parade to the theatre, in front of which a concert was put on. Miniature metal footballs were distributed and, as part of the program, the coaches gave pep talks which were followed by school cheers and songs.

Orlove's Angles Cover All Patron Classes

Things are evidently moving briskly at the Uptown, Milwaukee, Wis., where Round Tabler Louis Orlove is putting on a lot of snappy stuff to keep his theatre pot aboilin'. Louis goes after the adults as strongly as he goes after the children, as illustrated with a "Do you remember" newspaper letter contest in which passes were given to those writing prize stories on the history of the site of the theatre.

Orlove's recent cooking school demonstration on his stage attracted women in large numbers, the idea being very profitable to the theatre, as a local utilities company undertook all the expenses of the demonstration to stress the use of electricity in cooking.

Orlove's Biblical Pageant

The youngsters, too, are fully taken care of by this far-seeing showman who, by newspaper coloring contests, free candy and children's surprise parties, has worked up a more than satisfactory patronage among the kids not only of the neighborhood but also from other sections of the city.

Orlove keeps in close touch with his neighborhood organizations and encourages them to put on dramatic and musical presentations at the theatre. To circumvent the pre-Christmas slump, three such affairs were put on successfully. The first was a male chorus of prominent professional men, the second a biblical pageant by the Sunday School pupils of the local Reformed Jewish Temple (see photo), and the third an NRA amateur revue with a cast of 150.

ROUND TABLE BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

A. E. Ableson
Ralph Allan
M. Augenblick
P. L. Baffes
Harry Berkmier
Henry W. Beuttel
L. W. Bevel
B. N. Bisbee
H. F. Borrenson
J. D. Braunagel
D. M. Brotman
Max Chimes
W. G. Collins
M. E. Cowan
G. F. Crisman
C. W. Davis
Dave Davidson
C. L. Davis
Charles Dearth
Martha Deutsch
F. E. Drachman
Elmer Field
C. L. Flater
J. A. Greer
M. F. Hanna
Lew Harris
I. M. Hirshblond
Ted Hodes
R. E. Holmes
F. H. Jones, Jr.
H. E. Jones
Joseph Josack, Jr.
Arthur Joy
M. T. Kempenick
A. K. Lavender
Ralph Larned
Bud Lawler
F. X. Linn
Jack Lykes
K. E. McMahon
C. R. Marsh
Alexander Maus
Miller Meriwether
W. L. Miller
J. E. Milstein
J. R. Minhinnick
F. E. Moree
L. E. New
H. E. Newberry
C. J. Olbrich
Dominic Reds
J. J. Revels
W. L. Reynolds
H. M. Rouda
F. J. Sarr
E. J. Saul
E. C. Schmadeka
B. F. Scott
Isser Singerman
T. L. Smalley
C. R. Stoflet
W. L. Stratton
E. O. Stutenroth
W. A. Van Camp
Anna Belel Ward
Lawrence Waters
Laura Wernick
William Weiss
J. C. White, Jr.
G. R. Wilson
Gene Yarnell
T. S. Yeoh

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features which are finished or are in work, but to which release dates have not been assigned, are listed in "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the distributors. Where they vary, the change is probably due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1933, unless otherwise specified.

ALLIED PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
One Year Later	Mary Brian-Russell Hopton	Aug. 25	69	Aug. 12
Picture Brides	Dorothy Mackaill-Regis Toomey	Nov. 1	68	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Bungalow Court
Davy Jones' Locker
Midnight Alarm
Open for Inspection
Silk Trimmed
Slightly Used

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
By Appointment Only	Lew Cody-Aileen Pringle	July 7	67	Dec. 2
Dance, Girl, Dance	Alan Dinehart-Evelyn Knapp	Sept. 1	70	Nov. 11
I Have Lived	Alan Dinehart-Anita Page	June 15	69	Sept. 16
In the Money	"Skeets" Gallagher - Lois Wilson - Warren Hymer	Nov. 7	62
Man of Sentiment, A	Marian Marsh - Owen Moore - Wm. Bakewell	Sept. 15	74
Murder on the Campus	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	Dec. 27	73
Notorious But Nice	Marian Marsh-Betty Compson	Aug. 5	72	Nov. 11
Rainbow Over Broadway	Joan Marsh-Frank Albertson	Dec. 1	70

Coming Feature Attractions

Cross Streets — John Mack Brown - Claire Windsor-Anita Louise - Kenneth Thomson

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Above the Clouds	R. Cromwell-R. Armstrong-D. Wilson	Oct. 20	67
Before Midnight	June Collyer-Ralph Bellamy	Nov. 18	63
Brief Moment	Carole Lombard-Gene Raymond-Donald Cook	Sept. 8	69	Oct. 7
East of Fifth Ave	Wallace Ford-Walter Connolly-Dorothy Tree	Oct. 20	76	Dec. 30
Fighting Code, The	Buck Jones-Diane Sinclair	Dec. 30	65
Fog	Mary Brian - Donald Cook - Reginald Denny	Nov. 22	69
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)
Fury of the Jungle	Donald Cook-Peggy Shannon	Oct. 20	66
Hold the Press	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey	Oct. 25	60
King of the Wild Horses	Wm. Janney-Dorothy Appleby	Nov. 10	60
Lady for a Day	Warren William-Guy Kibbee-May Robson-Glenda Farrell	Sept. 13	102	July 15
Let's Fall In Love	Ann Sothern - Edmund Lowe	Dec. 28	64
Man's Castle, A	Loretta Young-Spencer Tracy	Nov. 4	75	Jan. 6,'34
Master of Men	Jack Holt-Fay Wray	Oct. 28	68	Dec. 9
My Woman	Helen Twelvetrees - Wallace Ford - Victor Jory	Oct. 5	73	Oct. 21
Once to Every Woman	Fay Wray - Walter Connolly - Ralph Bellamy	Jan. 15,'34	70
Police Car 17	Tim McCoy-Evelyn Knapp	Sept. 30	58	Nov. 18
Shadows of Sing Sing	Bruce Cabot - Mary Brian	Dec. 3	65
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)
Straightaway	Tim McCoy-Sue Carol	Dec. 22
Thrill Hunter, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Sept. 30	58	Nov. 25
Wrecker, The	Jack Holt-Genevieve Tobin	July 10	72	Aug. 12

Coming Feature Attractions

Fighting Ranger, The — Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier
It Happened One Night — Clark Gable-Claudette Colbert
Lady Is Willing, The — Leslie Howard-Binnie Barnes
Line-Up, The — William Gargan-Marian Nixon
Man Trailer, The — Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker
Men of Tomorrow — Frankie Darro - Jackie Searl - George Breakston
Ninth Guest — Donald Cook-Genevieve Tobin
One Is Guilty — Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey
Party's Over, The Speed Wings — Tim McCoy-Evelyn Knapp
Twentieth Century — John Barrymore
Whirlpool — Jack Holt

FIRST DIVISION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dassan		Dec. 22	36	Dec. 30
Eat 'Em Alive		Nov. 3	56	Nov. 18
He, King of Virtue	Fernandel-Collette Darfeuil	Dec. 26	58
Throne of Gods		Dec. 22	55	Dec. 30

Coming Feature Attractions

Road to Ruin — Helen Foster-Paul Page — 58

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Shakedown, The	Bette Davis - Chas. Farrell - Ricardo Cortez	Jan. 6,'34	64
Bureau of Missing Persons	Bette Davis - Lewis Stone - Glenda Farrell	Sept. 16	74	Sept. 2
Convention City	Joan Blondell-Dick Powell - A. Menjou - Mary Astor	Dec. 30	69	Dec. 9
Female	Ruth Chatterton	Nov. 11	60	Oct. 21
Goodbye Again	W. William - Joan Blondell	Sept. 9	66	June 17
Havana Widows	Joan Blondell-Glenda Farrell-Lyle Talbot	Nov. 18	62	Dec. 2
I Loved a Woman	Edward G. Robinson-Kay Francis - Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 23	90	Sept. 16
Son of a Sailor	Joe E. Brown - Johnny Mack Brown	Dec. 23	73	Dec. 9
Wild Boys of the Road	All Star	Oct. 7	68	Sept. 30
World Changes, The	Paul Muni	Nov. 25	93	Nov. 4

Coming Feature Attractions

Bedside	Warren William	Jan. 27,'34	65
Dark Hazard	Edward G. Robinson	Feb. 3,'34		Nov. 25
Fashions of 1934	William Powell-Bette Davis	Feb. 17,'34
Hit Me Again	Joan Blondell-Ricardo Cortez
Journal of a Crime	Ruth Chatterton
Mandalay	Kay Francis-Ricardo Cortez	Feb. 10,'34
Massacre	R. Barthelmess-Ann Dvorak	Jan. 20,'34
Modern Hero, A	Richard Barthelmess
Registered Nurse	Bebe Daniels-Lyle Talbot
Very Honorable Guy, A	Joe E. Brown
Wonder Bar	Al Jolson-Dick Powell-Ricardo Cortez-Dolores Del Rio-Kay Francis

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
As Husbands Go	Warner Baxter-Helen Vinson	Dec. 29	78	Nov. 18
Berkeley Square	Leslie Howard-Heather Angel	Nov. 3	90	July 22
Charlie Chan's Greatest Case	Warner Oland-Heather Angel	Sept. 15	71	Oct. 14
Devil's In Love, The	Victor Jory-Loretta Young	July 21	71	Aug. 5
Doctor Bull	Will Rogers - Louise Dresser - Marian Nixon-Ralph Morgan	Sept. 22	77	Oct. 14
F. P. I.	Conrad Veidt-Jill Esmond-Leslie Fenton	July 28	90	May 20
Good Companions, The	Jessie Matthews - Edmund Gwenn	Sept. 8	96	Apr. 29
Hoopla	Clara Bow-Preston Foster	Nov. 30	78	Dec. 9
I Am Suzanne!	Lilian Harvey-Gene Raymond	Jan. 5,'34	85
I Was a Spy	Herbert Marshall - Madeleine Carroll - Conrad Veidt	Dec. 15	75	Sept. 23
Jimmy and Sally	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Nov. 24	68	Dec. 23
Last Trail, The	George O'Brien-Claire Trevor	Aug. 25	60
Life In the Raw	George O'Brien-Claire Trevor	July 7	62
Mad Game, The	Spencer Tracy - Claire Trevor -
Man Who Dared, The	Ralph Morgan - Preston Foster-Zita Johann	Oct. 27 / July 14	65 / 75
Mr. Skitch	Will Rogers-Zasu Pitts	Dec. 22	76
My Lips Betray	Lilian Harvey-John Boles	Nov. 10	79
My Weakness	Lilian Harvey-Lew Ayres	Sept. 29	74
Olsen's Big Moment	El Brendel	Nov. 17	66
Orient Express	Heather Angel-Norman Foster	Jan. 12,'34	72
Paddy, the Next Best Thing	Janet Gaynor-Warner Baxter	Sept. 1	76	Sept. 2
Pilgrimage	Henrietta Crosman - Marian Nixon - Norman Foster	Aug. 18	90	July 22
Power and the Glory, The	Spencer Tracy-Colleen Moore	Oct. 6	76	Aug. 26
Shanghai Madness	Spencer Tracy-Fay Wray	Aug. 4	68	Sept. 2
Smoky	Victor Jory-Irene Bentley	Dec. 8	69	Dec. 9
Walls of Gold	Sally Eilers-Norman Foster	Oct. 13	70	Oct. 14
Worst Woman In Paris?	Benita Hume-Adolphe Menjou	Oct. 20	78	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

All Men Are Enemies	Hugh Williams-Helen Twelvetrees
Bottoms Up	Pat Paterson - Spencer Tracy - John Boles
Carolina	Janet Gaynor-Lionel Barrymore-Robert Young-Henrietta Crosman	Feb. 2,'34
Coming Out Party	Frances Dee-Gene Raymond
David Harum	Will Rogers-Evelyn Venable
Disillusion	Victor Jory - John Boles - Rosemary Ames	Feb. 23,'34
Ever Since Eve	George O'Brien-Mary Brian	Feb. 9,'34
Fox Follies	(All Star Musical)
Frontier Marshal	George O'Brien-Irene Bentley	Jan. 19,'34	66
Hold That Girl	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Feb. 16,'34
Only Girl, The	Lilian Harvey-Charles Boyer		95	Aug. 12
"Scandals"	Rudy Vallee-George White-Alice Faye-Jimmy Durante
Sleepers East	Wynne Gibson-Preston Foster	Jan. 26,'34
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)
Three Against Death	Marion Burns-Kane Richmond

FREULER FILM ASSOCIATES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Easy Millions	Skeets Gallagher-Dorothy Burgess-Merna Kennedy	June 30	68
Marriage on Approval	Donald Dillaway-Barbara Kent-Phyllis Barry	Nov. 17	80
War of the Range	Tom Tyler	Sept. 22	60

Coming Feature Attractions

Black Cat, The
Bulldog Edition
East of Sudan
Green Paradise
Love After Thirty — Aileen Pringle - Theodore Von Eltz
My Wandering Boy
Red Man's Country
Silent Army, The
Sister of the Follies

GAUMONT-BRITISH

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baroud (See "Love In Morocco")
Britannia of Billingsgate	Violet Loraine-Gordon Harker		79½	Oct. 7
Channel Crossing	Constance Cummings - Matheson Lang
Falling for You	J. Hulbert-Cicely Courtneidge		88	Sept. 30
Fire Raisers, The	Leslie Banks
Ghost Train, The	Jack Hulbert	Dec. 1	68	Feb. 25
Ghoul, The	Boris Karloff		85	Oct. 28
It's a Boy	Edward Everett Horton - Leslie Henson		80	Sept. 30
Just Smith	Tom Walls
King of the Ritz	Stanley Lupino - Gina Malo		88
Love In Morocco	Rex Ingram	Dec. 1	67	Oct. 15,'32
(Reviewed under the title "Baroud")
Love on Wheels	Jack Hulbert-Gordon Harker		91
Lucky Number, The	Clifford Mollison - Joan Wyndham		72½	Sept. 9
Man from Toronto, The	Jessie Matthews - Ian Hunter - Fred Kerr		77
Marry Me	Renate Muller-Harry Green		85	Apr. 22
Night and Day	Jack Hulbert-Winifred Shotter	Dec. 1	77	June 10
Orders Is Orders	Charlotte Greenwood - James Gleason		88½	Aug. 19
Prince of Wales, The
Sleeping Car	Ivor Novello-Madeleine Carroll		83	July 8

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
There Goes the Bride	Jessie Matthews	Dec.	1 79	Mar. 11
Waltz Time	Evelyn Laye	Oct.	1 81	Aug. 12
Woman in Command, The	Cicely Courtneidge - Edward Everett Horton		80

LIBERTY PICTURES

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheaters	"Bill" Boyd-Dorothy Mackaill-June Collyer
Mad Honeymoon, The
Quitter, The
School for Girls
Take the Stand
Two Heads on a Pillow
When Strangers Meet	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge
Without Children

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Charming Deceiver, The (Reviewed under the title, "Heads We Go")	Constance Cummings	Dec.	8 87	Sept. 16
Curtain at Eight	Dorothy Mackaill - C. Aubrey Smith-Paul Cavanagh	Oct.	1 74
Divorce Bed, The	Edward Arnold-John Miljan	Jan.	15,'34
Morning After, The (Reviewed under the title, "I Spy")	Ben Lyon-Sally Eilers	Jan.	1,'34 63	Oct. 28
Sin of Nora Moran, The	Zita Johann-John Miljan	Dec.	13 65	Dec. 30
Sing, Sinner, Sing	Paul Lukas-Leila Hyams	Aug.	1 73	Aug. 19
You Made Me Love You	Thelma Todd-Stanley Lupino	Nov.	24 74	Oct. 14

MAYFAIR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dance Hall Hostess	Helen Chandler-Jason Robards-Edward Nugent	July	1 73	Sept. 2
Her Forgotten Past	Monte Blue - Barbara Kent - Henry B. Walthall	Sept.	1 68
Riot Squad	Madge Bellamy-Pat O'Malley	June	15 70	Aug. 5
Secret Sinners	Sue Carol-Nick Stuart	Oct.	20 70
What's Your Racket?	Regis Toomey-Noel Francis	Dec.	1 70

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Another Language	Helen Hayes-Robt. Montgomery	July	28 79	Aug. 5
Beauty for Sale	Otto Kruger-Madge Evans	Sept.	1 87	Sept. 9
Bombshell	Jean Harlow-Lee Tracy	Oct.	13 98	Oct. 7
Broadway to Hollywood	Alice Brady - Frank Morgan - Madge Evans-Eddie Quillan-Jackie Cooper-Russell Hardie-Fay Templeton - Jimmy Durante	Sept.	15 89	Sept. 9
Chief, The	Ed Wynn-D. Mackaill	Nov.	3 66	Dec. 9
Dancing Lady	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable	Nov.	24 94	Nov. 25
Day of Reckoning	Richard Dix-Madge Evans	Oct.	27 70	Nov. 11
Dinner at Eight	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore - Jean Harlow - Madge Evans - Karen Morley - Edmund Lowe - Lee Tracy - Jean Hersholt	Jan.	12,'34 113	June 10
Fugitive Lovers	Robt. Montgomery-Madge Evans	Jan.	5,'34 78	Dec. 30
Going Hollywood	Marion Davies-Bing Crosby	Dec.	22 79	Dec. 16
Her Sweetheart (Reviewed under the title, "Christopher Bean")	Marie Dressler-L. Barrymore	Nov.	17 87	Nov. 18
Hold Your Man	Jean Harlow-Clark Gable	July	7 89	July 8
Meet the Baron	Jack Pearl - Jimmy Durante - Zasu Pitts	Oct.	20 65	Nov. 4
Night Flight	H. Hayes - J. Barrymore - L. Barrymore - C. Gable - Robt. Montgomery	Oct.	6 91	Aug. 19
Penthouse	Warner Baxter-Myrna Loy-Mae Clarke-Phillips Holmes-Chas. Butterworth	Sept.	8 91	Sept. 9
Prizefighter and the Lady, The	Max Baer-Myrna Loy-Dempsey-Carnera-Walter Huston	Nov.	10 102	Oct. 28
Should Ladies Behave? (Reviewed under the title, "The Vinegar Tree")	Alice Brady-Lionel Barrymore-Conway Tearle	Dec.	1 78	Nov. 11
Solitaire Man	Herbert Marshall - Elizabeth Allan - Lionel Atwill	Sept.	22 65	Sept. 16
Sons of the Desert	Laurel and Hardy	Dec.	29 68
Stage Mother	A. Brady - Russell Hardie - M. O'Sullivan - F. Tone	Sept.	29 87	Sept. 16
Storm at Daybreak	Nils Asther-Kay Francis	July	14 82	July 1
Stranger's Return, The	Lionel Barrymore - Franchot Tone-Miriam Hopkins	July	21 89	July 15
Tugboat Annie	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Robt. Young-M. O'Sullivan	Aug.	4 88	Aug. 12
Turn Back the Clock	Lee Tracy-Mae Clarke	Aug.	25 80	Sept. 2
Women in His Life, The	Otto Kruger-Isabel Jewell-Ben Lyon	Dec.	8 76

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cat and the Fiddle, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)	Jeanette MacDonald-Ramon Novarro	Feb.	9,'34
Eskimo	Native Cast	Jan.	19,'34 117	Nov. 18
Hollywood Party, The	(All Star Musical)
It Happened One Day	Lionel Barrymore-Fay Bainter	Feb.	2,'34
Laughing Boy	Ramon Novarro-Lupe Velez	Feb.	9,'34
Men in White	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy	Feb.	16,'34
Mystery of the Dead Police	Robt. Montgomery - Elizabeth Allan	Mar.	2,'34
Old Hannibal	May Robson-Jean Parker	Jan.	26,'34
Queen Christina	Greta Garbo - John Gilbert		103	Dec. 30
Rip Tide	Norma Shearer - Robert Montgomery-Herbert Marshall
Tarzan and His Mate	J. Weissmuller-M. O'Sullivan
Viva Villa	Wallace Beery-Fay Wray	Feb.	23,'34

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Avenger, The	Ralph Forbes-Adrienne Ames	Aug.	10 79	Oct. 7
Broken Dreams	Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper	Oct.	20 68	Nov. 4
Devil's Mate	Preston Foster-Peggy Shannon	Aug.	20 68	Aug. 12
Fugitive, The	Rex Bell-Cecilia Parker	July	15 56
Galloping Romeo	Bob Steele-Doris Hill	Aug.	5 54
He Couldn't Take It	Ray Walker-Virginia Cherrill	Dec.	15 63
Rainbow Ranch	Rex Bell	July	25 55
Rangers' Code	Bob Steele	Aug.	15 56
Riders of Destiny	John Wayne-Cecilia Parker	Oct.	10 58
Sagebrush Trail	John Wayne	Dec.	15 58	Dec. 23
Sensation Hunters	Arline Judge-Preston Foster	Aug.	30 70
Sixteen Fathoms Deep (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 2.)	Sally O'Neil-Creighton Chaney	Jan.	1,'34 57
Skyway	K. Crawford-Ray Walker	Aug.	15 65
Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, The	Mary Carlisle-Buster Crabbe	Oct.	1 76	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ape, The
Beggars in Ermine	Lionel Atwill	Feb.	22,'34
Blue Steel	John Wayne
Jane Eyre
Lucky Texan, The	John Wayne	Jan.	22,'34 56
Man from Utah, The	John Wayne
Manhattan Love Song
Mystery Liner	Noah Beery - Astrid Allwyn - Cornelius Keith	Mar.	15,'34
West of the Divide	John Wayne-Virginia B. Faire	Feb.	15,'34 55
Woman's Man	John Halliday-Marguerite de la Motte-Wallace Ford	Feb.	7,'34

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alice in Wonderland	Charlotte Henry - R. Arlen - J. Oakie-Chas. Ruggles	Dec.	22 75	Dec. 16
Big Executive	Ricardo Cortez-Elizabeth Young	Aug.	18 72	Aug. 5
Cradle Song	Dorothea Wieck-Kent Taylor	Nov.	17 77	Nov. 4
Disgraced	Helen Twelvetrees-Bruce Cabot	July	7 65	June 24
Duck Soup	Four Marx Bros.	Nov.	17 80	Nov. 11
Eight Girls in a Boat	Kay Johnson - Dorothy Wilson - Doug. Montgomery	Jan.	5,'34 78	Dec. 30
Girl Without a Room	M. Churchill-Chas. Farrell-C. Ruggles	Dec.	8 75	Dec. 9
Golden Harvest	Richard Arlen-Chester Morris-Genevieve Tobin	Sept.	22 70	Sept. 23
Design for Living	Miriam Hopkins-Fredric March-Gary Cooper	Dec.	29 88	Nov. 25
Hell and High Water	Richard Arlen-Judith Allen	Oct.	27 70	Oct. 21
Her Bodyguard	Wynne Gibson-Edmund Lowe	July	21 70	July 8
His Double Life	Roland Young-Lillian Gish	Jan.	12,'34 68	Dec. 30
I'm No Angel	Mae West-Cary Grant	Oct.	6 87	Oct. 7
Lone Cowboy	Jackie Cooper	Dec.	1 68	Nov. 25
Mama Loves Papa	Charles Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lilyan Tashman	July	14 72	July 15
Man of the Forest	Randolph Scott-Verna Hillie	July	14 ..... 62½
Midnight Club	Clive Brook-George Raft-Helen Vinson-Alison Skipworth	July	28 70	July 29
Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen	Dorothea Wieck-Baby Le Roy	Jan.	12,'34 68	Dec. 23
One Sunday Afternoon	Gary Cooper-Fay Wray	Sept.	1 85	Aug. 26
Sitting Pretty	Jack Haley-Jack Oakie-Ginger Rogers	Nov.	24 80	Dec. 2
Song of Songs	Marlene Dietrich-Brian Aherne	Aug.	11 92	July 1
Take a Chance	James Dunn - June Knight - "Buddy" Rogers - Lillian Roth	Oct.	27 82	Nov. 4
This Day and Age	Charles Bickford-Judith Allen	Aug.	25 82	July 29
Three-Cornered Moon	C. Colbert-Richard Arlen-Lyda Roberti-Mary Boland	Aug.	4 72	Aug. 12
Thundering Herd, The	Randolph Scott-Judith Allen	Nov.	24 ..... 58½
Tillie and Gus	Alison Skipworth-W. C. Fields	Oct.	13 ..... 57½	Nov. 18
To the Last Man	Randolph Scott-Esther Ralston	Sept.	15 70	Sept. 16
Too Much Harmony	Bing Crosby-Jack Oakie-Lilyan Tashman	Sept.	29 75	Sept. 9
Torch Singer	Claudette Colbert - Ricardo Cortez - David Manners	Sept.	8 72	Sept. 2
Way to Love, The	Maurice Chevalier-Ann Dvorak	Oct.	20 84	Sept. 30
White Woman	Carole Lombard-Chas. Laughton-Chas. Bickford	Nov.	3 73	Oct. 28

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
All of Me (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)	Fredric March-Miriam Hopkins-George Raft	Jan.	19,'34 71
Baby in the Ice-Box (T.)	Richard Arlen-Sally Eilers	Feb.	23,'34
Bolero	George Raft-Carole Lombard	Feb.	23,'34
Death Takes a Holiday	Fredric March-Evelyn Venable	Mar.	2,'34
Four Frightened People (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)	C. Colbert - H. Marshall - Wm. Gargan - M. Boland	Jan.	26,'34 ... 95
Good Dame	Sylvia Sidney-Fredric March
It Ain't No Sin	Mae West
Last Round-Up, The	Randolph Scott-Barbara Fritchie	Jan.	26,'34 65	Jan. 6,'34
Man Who Broke His Heart, The	Preston Foster-Victor McLaglen
Melody in Spring	Lanny Ross
No More Women	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Feb.	16,'34
Scarlet Empress, The	Marlene Dietrich-John Lodge	Feb.	23,'34
Search for Beauty	Buster Crabbe-Ida Lupino	Feb.	2,'34
Six of a Kind	C. Ruggles - M. Boland - W. C. Fields - A. Skipworth - Burns and Allen	Feb.	9,'34
Trumpet Blows, The	George Raft
We're Not Dressing	Bing Crosby

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Jaws of Justice	Kazan-Teddy and Richard Terry	Dec.	4 58
Russia Today		Nov.	8 42	Oct. 28
Tarzan the Fearless	Buster Crabbe	Aug.	11 61	Aug. 19
Thunder Over Mexico	Native Cast	Nov.	15 70	May 20

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Desperate Trails	Kazan
Ferocious Pal, The	Kazan
King of the North	Kazan
Lone Avenger, The	Kazan
Teeth of Steel	Kazan

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ace of Aces	Richard Dix - Elizabeth Allan - Ralph Bellamy	Oct.	20 74	Sept. 30
After Tonight	Constance Bennett - Gilbert Roland	Nov.	10 71	Oct. 28
Aggie Appleby	Wynne Gibson-Charles Farrell	Nov.	3 73	Oct. 28
Ann Vickers	Irene Dunne - Walter Huston - Conrad Nagel	Oct.	13 72	Sept. 30
Bed of Roses	Constance Bennett-Joel McCrea	July	14 67	July 8
Before Dawn	Stuart Erwin-Dorothy Wilson	Aug.	4 62	Oct. 21
Blind Adventure	Robt. Armstrong-Helen Mack	Aug.	18 60	Aug. 12
Chance at Heaven	Joel McCrea - Ginger Rogers - Marian Nixon	Oct.	27 70	Oct. 14
Deluge, The	Peggy Shannon - Lois Wilson - Sidney Blackmer-Matt Moore	Sept.	15 68	Aug. 19
Double Harness	Ann Harding-William Powell	July	21 74	July 8
Flaming Gold	Bill Boyd - Mae Clarke - Pat O'Brien	Sept.	29 53
Flying Devils	Arline Judge-Bruce Cabot-Ralph Bellamy-Eric Linden	July	14 62	Sept. 2
Flying Down to Rio	Dolores Del Rio - Gene Raymond - Raul Roulien	Dec.	29 80	Dec. 16
Goodbye Love	Charles Ruggles	Nov.	10 66
Headline Shooter	Wm. Gargan - Frances Dee - R. Bellamy-W. Ford-G. Ratoff	July	28 65	July 29
If I Were Free!	Irene Dunne-Nils Asther-Clive Brook	Dec.	1 66	Dec. 23
Little Women	K. Hepburn - Jean Bennett - Frances Dee - Paul Lukas	Nov.	24 107	Nov. 11
Meanest Gal in Town, The	Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - El Brendel - James Gleason - "Skeets" Gallagher	Jan.	12,'34 62
Skyway	K. Crawford-Ray Walker	Aug.	15 65
Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, The	Mary Carlisle-Buster Crabbe	Oct.	1 76	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ape, The
Beggars in Ermine	Lionel Atwill	Feb.	22,'34
Blue Steel	John Wayne
Jane Eyre
Lucky Texan, The	John Wayne	Jan.	22,'34 56
Man from Utah, The	John Wayne
Manhattan Love Song
Mystery Liner	Noah Beery - Astrid Allwyn - Cornelius Keith	Mar.	15,'34
West of the Divide	John Wayne-Virginia B. Faire	Feb.	15,'34 55
Woman's Man	John Halliday-Marguerite de la Motte-Wallace Ford	Feb.	7,'34

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Midshipman Jack	Bruce Cabot-Betty Furness	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 16
Morning Glory	K. Hepburn-D. Fairbanks, Jr.	Aug. 18	70	July 29
No Marriage Ties	Richard Dix-Doris Kenyon	Aug. 11	73	Aug. 12
One Man's Journey	Lionel Barrymore-Joel McCrea-Dorothy Jordan	Sept. 8	72	Sept. 9
Rafter Romance	Ginger Rogers-Norman Foster	Sept. 1	70	Aug. 5
Right to Romance, The	Ann Harding-Nils Asther	Nov. 17	70	Nov. 25
Son of Kong	Robert Armstrong-Helen Mack	Dec. 22	69½	Jan. 6,'34

Coming Feature Attractions

Crime Doctor	Richard Dix	Apr.	6,'34
Finishing School	Ginger Rogers - Frances Dee - Una Merkel	Mar.	23,'34
Green Mansions	Dolores Del Rio-Joel McCrea	Apr.	27,'34
Hips, Hips, Hooray!	Wheeler and Woolsey	Feb.	2,'34
I Love An Actress	Lenore Ulric-Gregory Ratoff	Apr.	20,'34
Long Lost Father (See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)	John Barrymore-Helen Chandler	Jan.	19,'34	63
Lost Patrol, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)	McLaglen-Karloff	Feb.	16,'34
Man of Two Worlds (See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)	Francis Lederer-Elissa Landi	Feb.	9,'34
Of Human Bondage	Leslie Howard	Apr.	13,'34
Rodney	Walter Huston-Frances Dee	Mar.	2,'34
So You Won't Sing, Eh?	Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - Edward Everett Horton	May	4,'34
Success Story	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.-Colleen Moore - Genevieve Tobin	Mar.	9,'34
Transient Love	Irene Dunne-Ralph Bellamy	Mar.	16,'34
Trigger (See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)	Katharine Hepburn	Mar.	30,'34
Wild Birds	Jean Parker-Tom Brown	Jan.	26,'34
Wild Cargo	Frank Buck	Feb.	23,'34
World Outside, The	Ann Harding

SHOWMEN'S PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Race, The	Boots Mallory-John Darrow	Dec.	71
His Private Secretary	Evalyn Knapp - John Wayne	June 10	60	June 10
Moth, The	Sally O'Neil-Paul Page	Jan.	15,'34 63
Police Call	Merna Kennedy-Nick Stuart	July 24	60	Sept. 9
Public Stenographer	Lola Lane-Wm. Collier, Jr.	Nov.	1 62
Ship of Wanted Men	Dorothy Sebastian-Leon Waycoff	Sept. 24	63	Sept. 16

Coming Feature Attractions

Golden Head
St. Louis Woman
Souls in Pawn
Special Duty
Unlimited
Within the Rock

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Carnival Lady	Boots Mallory-Allen Vincent	Hollywood
Criminal at Large	Emlyn Williams-Cathleen Nesbitt	Helber Prods.	Jan.	15,'34 65	Jan. 6,'34
Cougar, the King Killer	Edwin C. Hill - Jay Bruce	Master Art	Nov.	1 60
Enlighten Thy Daughter	Beth Barton-Miriam Battista	Exploitation Picts	Jan.	15,'34 80	Dec. 30
Farewell to Love	Jan Kiepura-Heather Angel	Madison Picts.	Nov.	24 66	Dec. 2
Film Parade		General Picts.		55
Flaming Signal, The	Marceline Day	Invincible		64
Get That Venus	Ernest Truex - Jean Arthur	Regent Picts.
Gow		Film Exchange	Nov.	29 65	Dec. 9
Hell's Holiday	(War Film)	Superb Picts.		77	July 22
Her Secret	Sari Maritza - Wm. Collier, Jr.	Ideal		73
Her Splendid Folly	Lilian Bond - T. Von Eltz	Progressive	Oct.	7 59	Nov. 4
Important Witness, The	Noel Francis-Donald Dillaway	Tower	July	15 64	Oct. 21
Mad Age, The		Resolute Picts.	July	19 70	July 29
Mam'zelle Nitouche	Janie Marese-Raimu.	Protex	Nov.	18 90	Dec. 2
Mr. Broadway	All Star	B'way-Hollywood		59	Sept. 23
Over the Seven Seas		Vanderbilt		70	June 3
Passion of Joan of Arc, The	Maria Falconnetl	Capital	Sept.	7 57	Sept. 16
Reform Girl	Noel Francis-Donald Dillaway	Tower	July	15 64	Oct. 21
Savage Gold		Harold Auten	July	24 67	July 29
Secrets of Hollywood	Mae Busch - June Walters	Lester F. Scott		58	Sept. 16
Shepherd of the Seven Hills, The		Faith Pictures	Aug.	7 60	Aug. 19
Sleepless Nights	Polly Walker - Stanley Lupino	Remington	July	21 65	July 29
Through the Centuries		Beacon Films	Dec.	1 70	Dec. 16
Truth About Africa, The		Wm. Alexander		47	Apr. 22
Volga Volga	H. A. Shilettom	Kinematrade	Dec.	14 76	Jan. 6,'34
Wandering Jew, The	Jacob Ben-Ami	JAFA	Oct.	20 90	Oct. 28
Wine, Women and Song	Lilyan Tashman-Lew Cody	I. E. Chadwick		70	Dec. 23

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Advice to the Lovelorn	Lee Tracy-Sally Blane	Dec.	1 63	Dec. 9
Bitter Sweet	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey	Sept. 22	93	Aug. 19
Blood Money	George Bancroft-Frances Dee-Chick Chandler-Judith Anderson	Nov.	17 65	Nov. 18
Bowery, The	Wallace Beery - George Raft - Jackie Cooper - Fay Wray	Oct.	13 90	Oct. 7
Broadway Thru a Keyhole	Constance Cummings - Russ Columbo - Paul Kelly	Oct.	27 85	Oct. 21
Emperor Jones	Paul Robeson-Dudley Digges	Sept.	29 80	Sept. 23
Gallant Lady	Ann Harding-Clive Brook	Jan.	5,'34 86	Dec. 9
Masquerader, The	Ronald Colman-Elissa Landi	Sept.	1 75	Feb. 25
Private Life of Henry VIII, The	Charles Laughton	Nov.	3 97	Sept. 23
Roman Scandals	Eddie Cantor - Gloria Stuart - David Manners-Ruth Etting	Dec.	29 85	Dec. 9

Coming Feature Attractions

Born to Be Bad	Loretta Young-Cary Grant	Feb.	23,'34
Catherine the Great (T.)	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.- Elizabeth Bergner	Mar.	16,'34
Firebrand, The	Fredric March
House of Rothschild, The	George Arliss
Looking for Trouble	Spencer Tracy - Jack Oakie - Constance Cummings	Feb.	9,'34
Moulin Rouge	Constance Bennett - Franchot Tone - T. Carminati	Jan.	19,'34 71	Dec. 23
Nana	Anna Sten-Lionel Atwill-Phillips Holmes	Feb.	16,'34 85
Paleoka	Jimmy Durante - Stuart Erwin - Lupe Velez	Jan.	26,'34
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 2.)
Queen, The	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey
Sorrell and Son	H. B. Warner	Mar.	2,'34 99	Jan. 6,'34

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bombay Mail	Edmund Lowe-Onslow Stevens-Shirley Grey	Jan.	1,'34 68
By Candlelight	Elissa Landi-Paul Lukas	Dec.	18 70	Dec. 23
Cross Country Cruise	Lew Ayres - Alice White - June Knight	Jan.	15,'34 78
Counsellor-at-Law	John Barrymore-Bebe Daniels	Dec.	25 78	Nov. 25
Don't Bet on Love	Lew Ayres-Ginger Rogers	July	13 62	July 29
Fiddlin' Buckaroo	Ken Maynard-Gloria Shea	July	20 62
Gun Justice	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Dec.	11 65
Her First Mate	Summerville-Pitts	Aug.	10 70	July 22
Horseplay	Slim Summerville-Andy Devine-Leila Hyams	Nov.	27 70
Invisible Man, The	Claude Rains - Gloria Stuart - Wm. Harrigan	Nov.	13 70	Nov. 4
King for a Night	Chester Morris - Helen Twelvetrees - Alice White	Oct.	30 78	Dec. 2
Ladies Must Love	June Knight - Neil Hamilton - Mary Carlisle-George E. Stone	Sept.	25 70	Sept. 9
Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!	Summerville-Pitts	Oct.	16 63	Nov. 11
Madame Spy	Fay Wray-Nils Asther	Jan.	8,'34 70	Jan. 6,'34
Moonlight and Pretzels	Mary Brian-Leo Carrillo	Aug.	3 84	Sept. 2
Myrt and Marge	Myrtle Dale - Donna Damerell - Ted Healy	Dec.	4 68	Sept. 9
Only Yesterday	John Boles-Margaret Sullavan-Benita Hume-Billie Burke	Nov.	6 105	Nov. 25
S. O. S. Iceberg	Rod La Rocque-Gibson Gowland	Oct.	23 70	Sept. 23
Saturday's Millions	Robert Young-Leila Hyams	Oct.	9 72	Sept. 23
Secret of the Blue Room, The	Lionel Atwill-Paul Lukas-Gloria Stuart-Onslow Stevens	July	20 65½	Sept. 23
Strawberry Roan	Ken Maynard-Ruth Hall	Oct.	26 60	Sept. 30
Trail Drive, The	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Sept.	4 60

Coming Feature Attractions

Beloved	John Boles-Gloria Stuart	Jan.	22,'34	Dec. 23
Crosby Murder Case, The	Wynne Gibson-Onslow Stevens-Alan Dinehart	Mar.	5,'34 78
Elizabeth and Mary	Margaret Sullavan-Lowell Sherman
Honor of the West	Ken Maynard
I Like It That Way (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)	Gloria Stuart-Roger Pryor	Feb.	12,'34
Midnight	O. P. Heggie-Sidney Fox	Jan.	29,'34
Poor Rich, The	Edna May Oliver-Edward Everett Horton	Feb.	26,'34 65	Jan. 6,'34
Song for You, A	Marian Nixon-Jan Kiepura
Two Clucks	Summerville-Pitts	Mar.	12,'34
Wheels of Destiny	Ken Maynard	Feb.	19,'34

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baby Face	Barbara Stanwyck	July	1 74	Apr. 1
Captured!	Leslie Howard-Doug. Fairbanks, Jr. - Paul Lukas	Aug.	19 72	June 24
College Coach	Dick Powell-Pat O'Brien-Ann Dvorak - Lyle Talbot	Nov.	4 75	Nov. 18
Disraeli (Reissue)	George Arliss	Dec.	16 88	Dec. 14,'29
Easy to Love	Adolphe Menjou - Mary Astor - Genevieve Tobin	Jan.	13,'34 61
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)
Ever In My Heart	Barbara Stanwyck	Oct.	28 68	Oct. 21
Footlight Parade	James Cagney - Joan Blondell - Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Guy Kibbee	Oct.	21 101	Oct. 7
From Headquarters	Geo. Brent-M. Lindsay	Dec.	2 63	Dec. 2
Gold Diggers of 1933	Warren William-Joan Blondell-Aline MacMahon-Ruby Keeler-Dick Powell	Sept.	2 98	May 27
House on 56th Street, The	Kay Francis - Ricardo Cortez - Gene Raymond	Dec.	23 68	Dec. 9
Kennel Murder Case	William Powell-Mary Astor	Oct.	28 73	Nov. 4
Lady Killer	James Cagney	Dec.	9 73	Dec. 2
Man from Monterey, The	John Wayne-Ruth Hall	July	15 57	Aug. 26
Mary Stevens, M.D.	Kay Francis	July	22 72	Aug. 12
Narrow Corner, The	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.	July	8 71	July 22
Voltaire	George Arliss-Doris Kenyon	Aug.	5 70	June 24

Coming Feature Attractions

As the Earth Turns	Jean Muir-Donald Woods
Dragon Murder Case, The	William Powell
Fur Coats	Aline MacMahon
Gambling Lady	Barbara Stanwyck
Harold Teen	Hal LeRoy - Rochelle Hudson - Patricia Ellis
Heat Lightning	Aline MacMahon-Glenda Farrell-Ann Dvorak-Lyle Talbot
Heir Chaser, The	James Cagney - Bette Davis
Hi, Nellie!	Paul Muni
Hot Air	Dick Powell - Pat O'Brien - Ginger Rogers - Ann Dvorak
I've Got Your Number	Joan Blondell-Pat O'Brien
Merry Wives of Reno	Glenda Farrell-Margaret Lindsay-Donald Woods
Upper World	Warren William - Mary Astor - Ginger Rogers

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Attraction, The	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	July 22	89	July 29
Counsel's Opinion	Henry Kendall	London Film		71	Apr. 22
Digging Deep	Henry Kendall-Wendy Barrie	British Lion
Don Quixote	Feodor Chaliapin-George Robey	British-United Artists			July 8
Girl from Maxim's, The	Frances Day	London Film			Oct. 14
Golden Goal, The	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	June 17	85	July 8
Hawleys of High Street	Leslie Fuller	British Int'l		68	July 8
I Lived with You	Ivor Novello - Ursula Jeans	Gaumont-British			Aug. 12
Just My Luck	Ralph Lynn	British and Dominions		80	May 20
Keep It Quiet	Frank Pettingell - Bertha Belmore	British Lion
Maid of the Mountains, The	Harry Welchman - Nancy Brown	British Int'l		80	Apr. 22
Men of Tomorrow	Maurice Braddell	Paramount-London Film		80	Apr. 15
Money for Speed	John Loder - Ida Lupino - Cyril Maglen	British-United Artists		67	July 15
Never Trust a Woman	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	Oct.	90
On the Air	Davy Burnaby-Reginald Purdell-Betty Astell	British Lion
Prince of Arcadia	Carl Brisson	Gaumont-British		80	Oct. 28
Private Wives	Claude Allister-Betty Astell	British Lion
Radio Parade		British Int'l		70	May 13
Song You Gave Me, The	Bebe Daniels-Victor Varconi	British Int'l		84	Oct. 21
This Week of Grace	Gracie Fields	Radio		92	Oct. 28
Wedding Rehearsal	Roland Young	London Film

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1933 unless otherwise stated]

AUDIO PRODUCTIONS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Butterfly		10
Seed Dispersal		10
MUSICAL MOODS
1—Dance of the Hours		9
Hans Lange and Orchestra
2—Ave Maria		7
Dion Kennedy at the Organ
3—Waters of Minnetonka		6
Gus Haenschen and Orchestra
4—Hula Moon		7
Native Hawaiian Troupe
5—Waltz in A Flat Major		4
Hans Lange and Orchestra

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
KAZY KAT KARTOONS
Antique Antics		1 rl.
Autograph Hunter	Jan. 5,'34	1 rl.
Bill Poster, The	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Curio Shop, The	Dec. 15	1 rl.
House Cleaning		1 rl.
Krazy Spooks	Oct. 13	1 rl.
Out of the Ether	Sept. 5	7½
Stage Krazy	Nov. 13	1 rl.
Whack's Museum	Sept. 29	1 rl.
LAMB'S GAMBOLS
Hear 'Em and Weep		2 rls.
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
1—In Morocco	Sept. 29	1 rl.
2—In the Orient	Oct. 25	1 rl.
3—In South America	Dec. 22	1 rl.
MARCH OF THE YEARS
No. 1—"Boss" Tweed	Sept. 22	9½
No. 2— Touchdown	Oct. 14	18
2—Mickey's Tent Show	Oct. 27	18
3—Mickey's Covered Wagon	Nov. 30	18
4—Mickey's Minstrels	Jan. 11,'34	18
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
Auto Show	Dec. 8	1 rl.
False Alarm		1 rl.
Hollywood Scenes	Nov. 10
Movie Struck	Sept. 8	7½
Sandman Tales	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Scrappy's Art Gallery	Jan. 12,'34	1 rl.
MINUTE MYSTERIES
No. 1—Death Attends a Party	Oct. 6	9
No. 2—Fast Fangs	Oct. 13	1 rl.
No. 3—The Clown Dies	Dec. 14
No. 4—When the Lights Went Out		1 rl.
No. 5—The Missing Clue		1 rl.
MUSICALS
No. 1 — Roamin' Through the Roses	Nov. 16	2 rls.
Art Jarrett
No. 2—Um-Pa	Nov. 24	2 rls.
Jack Osterman
No. 3—Lessons in Love		2 rls.
GEO. SIDNEY AND CHAS. MURRAY
Radio-dough		2 rls.
Ten Baby Fingers		2 rls.
SMITH AND DALE
Hold Your Temper		2 rls.
Hot Daze	Oct. 20	2 rls.
SUNRISE COMEDIES
Brother, Could You Spare a Million?	Sept. 13	17
Ken Murray
Entertainer, The	Oct. 4	20
Will Mahoney
WORLD OF SPORT
Flying Gloves	Aug. 18	1 rl.
Hook and Line	July 28	1 rl.
We Want a Touchdown	Oct. 23	1 rl.
What the Scotch Started	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Who Said the Weaker Sex?	Sept. 8	9

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES
An Old Gypsy Custom	Jan. 12,'34	2 rls.
Big Squeal, The	July 9	18
Dora's Dunking Doughnuts	Sept. 1	20
Frozen Assets	Nov. 17
His Weak Moment	Oct. 13
Super Snooper, The	Feb. 23,'34	2 rls.
AS A DOG THINKS
Walking the Dog	Sept. 29
You and I and the Gatepost	Aug. 25
BABY BURLESKS
Gimme My Quarterback	Jan. 26,'34
Kid 'N Africa	Oct. 6
BATTLE FOR LIFE
Beneath Our Feet	June 25	9
City of Wax	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
CORONET COMEDIES
Git Along Little Wife	Nov. 3
Good Bad Man, The	Dec. 8
Inventors, The	Feb. 2,'34
North of Zero	Jan. 19,'34
DO YOU REMEMBER?
Old-Fashioned Newsreel, An	July 2
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Merrily Yours	Oct. 6
Pardon My Pups	Jan. 26,'34
What's To Do	Nov. 24
HODGE-PODGE
Any Way to Get There	July 16	9
Capers in Clay	July 30
MERMAID COMEDIES (Harry Langdon)
Hooks and Jabs	Aug. 25
Leave It to Dad	Oct. 20
Pop's Pal	Dec. 29
Stage Hand, The	Sept. 8
Tied for Life	July 2	18
Trimmed in Furs	Jan. 5,'34	2 rls.
MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
Blue Blackbirds	Aug. 18
Farmers' Fatal Folly	Sept. 15	18
Freeze-Out, The	Dec. 22
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Million Dollar Melody	Oct. 27
Poppin' the Cork	Dec. 15
ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
Across the Sea	Oct. 20	11
Canyon of Romance	Dec. 8
Enchanted Trail	Sept. 22
Mediterranean Blues	Feb. 2,'34	1 rl.
SONG HIT STORIES
Last Dogie, The	Nov. 17	1 rl.
Manhattan Lullaby	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Helen Morgan
Slow Poke	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Stepin Fetchit
Trav'lling the Road	Feb. 2,'34	1 rl.
Alexander Gray
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Expectant Father, The	Feb. 9,'34
Mr. Adam	Nov. 17
TERRY-TOONS
Banker's Daughter, The	June 25	6
Beanstalk Jack	Oct. 20	6
Fanny in the Lion's Den	July 23	6
Fanny's Wedding Day	Sept. 22
Grand Uproar	Aug. 25
Gypsy Fiddler, A	Oct. 6	6
Holland Days	Jan. 12,'34	6
Hypnotic Eyes	Aug.
In Venice	Dec. 15	6
Last Straw, The	Feb. 23,'34	6
Little Boy Blue	Nov. 30	6
Oil Can Mystery, The	July 9	6
Owl and the Pussycat, The	Mar. 9,'34	1 rl.
Pick-necking	Sept. 8
Rip Van Winkle	Feb. 9,'34
Robinson Crusoe	Nov. 17	6
Sunny South, The	Dec. 29	6
Three Bears, The	Jan. 26,'34	6
Village Blacksmith, The	Nov. 3	6
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Aces Wild	July 9	10
Divorce Sweets	Nov. 30
Mouse Trapper, The	Sept. 11
Static	Sept. 29	2 rls.
TORCHY COMEDIES (Ray Cooke)
Torchy's Loud Spooker	June 25	20
Trying Out Torchy	July 23	18
TREASURE CHEST
Air Maniacs	Dec. 15
Day Dreams	Dec. 8
Shorts	Nov. 10
Song of Vienna	Nov. 3
What Does 1934 Hold?	Dec. 22
Your Life Is in Your Hands	Sept. 22

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Following the Horses!	Sept. 1	9
Motor Mania!	Sept. 29	9
Conquest of the Air!	Nov. 30	9
Scouring the Seven Seas!	Oct. 20	9
Answering the Riot Call!	Dec. 22	9
Filming the Fashions	Nov. 10	9
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
Mississippi Showboats
Boardwalks of New York
Pagodas of Peiping	Aug. 18
Shades of Cairo	Aug. 25
The Desert Patrol	Sept. 1	10
Outposts of France	Sept. 15	9
Glimpses of Greece	Sept. 29
Playground of Pan	Oct. 13
Elephant Trails	Oct. 27
The Island of Malta	Nov. 3	10
A Day in Tokyo	Nov. 10	9
Byways in Bangkok	Nov. 24
Around the Acropolis	Nov. 30
Gem of the Sea	Dec. 15	8
Rural England	Dec. 22
London Medley	Dec. 29
Flemish Folk	Jan. 5,'34
Tunisian Travels	Jan. 19,'34
Sentinels of the Sea	Jan. 26,'34
Roaming the Netherlands	Feb. 9,'34
Cradle of Storms	Feb. 16,'34
In Java Sea	Feb. 23,'34
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
Where Is My Wandering Boy?	Aug. 18
For the Man She Loved	Sept. 8
Slander's Tongue	Sept. 22
Twin Dukes and a Duchess	Oct. 6
The Great Train Robbery	Oct. 27
A Moment of Madness	Nov. 4
Helen of the Chorus	Dec. 10
The Extravagant Wife	Jan. 5,'34
The Girl from the Country	Jan. 19,'34
Emma's Dilemma	Feb. 2,'34
The Heart of Valeska
Love's Old Sweet Song	Feb. 16,'34
SPECIAL SUBJECT
Aniakchak	Aug. 18	28

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
EDWIN C. HILL SERIES
1. Human Side of the News		10
2. Human Side of the News		10
MELODY MAKERS
Sammy Fain — With Eton Boys, N. Brokenshire and Evelyn Hoey		7
Cliff Friend—With Peggy Healy, Jack Fulton and Pickens Sisters		9
Benny Davis — With Roy Atwell, Charles Carlisle, Martha Ray and Jackie Green		8
Gus Edwards—With Ralph Kirbery, Four Minute Men and John S. Young		9
Stephen Foster—With John Hundley, Nancy McCord and Kelvin Keech		10
Fields and McHugh—With Jack Osterman and Pickens Sisters		9
Carrie Jacobs Bond—With Edwin C. Hill, Ralph Kirbery and Lew White
ORGANLOGUES
Songs of the Hills		6
Radio Rubes
Sally		7
Singin' Sam-Don Wallace
Night of Romance		7
Donald Novis-Ann Leaf-John Young
Tongue Twisters		7
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Ship of Dreams		7
Ralph Kirbery-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Melody on Parade		7
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Home Again		8
Nick Lucas-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Tintypes		6
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Oriental Phantasy		8
Charles Carlile-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Organ Festival		9
Lew White-Ann Leaf-Dick Liebert-Jesse Crawford
Melody Tour		8
Sylvia Froos-Dick Liebert-John S. Young
Organlogue-ing the Hits		8
Nick Lucas-Lew White-Herbert Rawlinson
Melodies of Love
Carlile-Rawlinson-White
Songs of the Range
Art Dickinson-Lew White
PET SUPERSTITIONS
I. Spilled Salt		10
Phyllis Barry-Geo. Lewis-J. Carrol Naish

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR SERIES
Crook's Tour	Sept. 23	19
Twin Screws	Dec. 30	2 rls.
Yeast Is West	Nov. 11
CHARLEY CHASE
Cracked Iceman	Jan. 27,'34	19
Luncheon at Twelve	Dec. 9	21
Midsumer Mush	Oct. 21	21
Sherman Said It	Sept. 2	17
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
British Guiana	Dec. 23	9
Colorful Ports of Call		1 rl.
Day in Venice	Oct. 28	9
Dutch Guiana, Land of Djuka	Sept. 2	10
Italy, Land of Inspiration	Nov. 25	1 rl.
New Zealand		9
Scotland the Bonnie	Sept. 30	9
FLIP, THE FROG
Paleface	Aug. 12	8
Soda Squirt		7
GOOFY MOVIES
A Whole Show In One Reel	Sept. 9	9
LAUREL & HARDY
Busy Bodies	Oct. 7	20
Dirty Work	Nov. 25	20
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Hello, Pop!	July 1	17
Nertsery Rhymes	Aug. 26	20
Keg O' My Heart	Nov. 11	2 rls.
Rhapsody in Brew	Sept. 30	20
Symphony in Suds	Jan. 6,'34	2 rls.
MUSICAL REVUES
Beer and Pretzels	Aug. 26	20
Plane Nuts	Oct. 14	20
Roast Beef and Movies	Dec. 2	2 rls.
ODDITIES
Bear Hunting	Dec. 16	1 rl.
Fine Feathers	Nov. 18	9
Handlebars	Aug. 26	10
Happy Warriors	Oct. 21	9
Menu	Aug. 26	11
OUR GANG
Bedtime Worries	Sept. 9	21
Wild Poses		19
SPECIAL
Inflation		11
TODD-KELLY
Air Fright	Dec. 23	2 rls.
Backs to Nature	Nov. 14	20
Beauty and the Bus	Sept. 16	18
WILLIE WHOPPER
Davy Jones' Locker	Dec. 9	1 rl.
Play Ball	Sept. 16	7
Spite Flight	Oct. 14	8
Stratos-Fear	Nov. 11	8

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BETTY BOOP CARTOONS
Betty Boop's Hallowe'en Party	Nov. 3	7
I Heard	Sept. 1	7
Don Redmond
Morning, Noon and Night	Oct. 6	7
Rubinoff
Old Man of the Mountains	Aug. 4	7
Cab Calloway
Parade of Wooden Soldiers	Dec. 1	1 rl.
Popeye, the Sailor	July 7	7
Red Hot Mamma	Feb. 2,'34	1 rl.
She Wronged Him Right	Jan. 5,'34	1 rl.
HEADLINERS
Bundle of Blues, A	Sept. 1	10
Duke Ellington
Captain Henry's Radio Show	Aug. 11	11
Lanny Ross-Annette Hanshaw-Don Voorhees
Little Broadcast, The	Oct. 27	11
Donald Novis - Arthur Tracy - Mills Bros. - Vincent Lopez-Roy Atwill
Radio Roundup, A	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Molasses 'n' January - Mary Small - The Poet Prince-Vaughn De Leath-Three X Sisters
Rumba Rhythm	Sept. 29	6
Vincent Lopez
Station T.O.T.	Jan. 19,'34	1 rl.
Where's That Tiger?	Dec. 22	1 rl.
Borrah Minnevitch
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE
No. 1	Aug. 18	11
No. 2	Sept. 8	11
No. 3	Oct. 13	11
No. 4	Nov. 10	11
No. 5	Dec. 8	11
No. 6	Jan. 5,'34	11
No. 7	Feb. 2,'34	1 rl.
ONE REEL ACTS
Jazz a La Cuba	July 7	10
Don Aspiazu
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL
No. 12—Treasure Hunt — Wings of Summer—Putting One Over with Lillian Roth	June 16	10
No. 13—Tableaux in Wax —Bird Sanctuary — Song Makers of America	July 14	10
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL—NEW SERIES
No. 1—Just a Little Dressing—The Rock Garden—Irving Mills	Aug. 11	10
No. 2—On the Trail of the Salmon—Trotting Out the Champion—Johnny Green	Sept. 8	10
No. 3—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews — September Morn—Harry Armstrong	Oct. 6	10
No. 4—Let's Go Crabbing — Manhattan Nocturne — Irvin S. Cobb	Nov. 3	10
No. 5 — The Old Mill — Jack Frost, Master Decorator — Song Makers of the Nation	Dec. 1	10
No. 6— Southward Ho — Trees —Gilda Gray	Dec. 29	10
No. 7—Queer Fish—Liquid Air—Lanny Ross	Jan. 26,'34	10
POPEYE THE SAILOR
Blow Me Down	Oct. 27	7
I Eats My Spinach	Nov. 17	7
I Yam What I Yam	Sept. 20	7
Let's You and Him Fight	Feb. 16,'34	1 rl.
Seasin's Greetinks	Dec. 8	7
Sock-A-Bye, Baby	Jan. 19,'34	1 rl.
Wild Elephinks	Dec. 29	7
SCREEN SONGS
Boo, Boo, Theme Song	Oct. 13	7
Down by the Old Mill Stream	July 21	7
Funny Boners
I Like Mountain Music	Nov. 10	7
Eton Boys
Keeps Rainin' All the Time	Jan. 12,'34	7
Gertrude Niesen
Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
Sing, Babies, Sing	Dec. 15	7
Baby Rose Marie
Stoopnocracy	Aug. 18	7
Stoopnagle and Budd
When Yuba Plays the Rumba on the Tuba	Sept. 16	7
Mills Bros.
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 12	June 9	10
No. 13	July 7	10
SCREEN SOUVENIRS—NEW SERIES
No. 1	Aug. 25	10
No. 2	Sept. 22	10
No. 3	Oct. 20	10
No. 4	Nov. 17	10
No. 5	Dec. 15	10
No. 6	Jan. 12,'34	10
No. 7	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS
No. 1 — What Makes a Champion	Aug. 4	11
No. 2—Sporting Melodies	Aug. 25	10
No. 3—Water Lure	Sept. 22	10
No. 4—The March of the Champions	Oct. 20	11
No. 5—Kennel Kings	Nov. 24	10
No. 6—Around the Calendar	Dec. 22	1 rl.
No. 7—Jumping Giants	Jan. 26,'34	1 rl.
SPORTS EYE VIEW
Over the Jumps	July 21	10
Straight Shooters	July 21	11
TWO-REEL COMEDIES
Barber, The	July 28	21
W. C. Fields
Big Fibber, The	July 14	20
Sennett Star
Circus Hoodoo	Feb. 16,'34	2 rls.
Harry Langdon
Cold Turkey	Dec. 1	2 rls.
Joseph Cawthorn
Ducky Dear	Sept. 1	19
Sidney Toler
Gold Nuggets	Feb. 2,'34	2 rls.
Walter Catlett
Husband's Reunion	July 7	19
Sennett Star
Just an Echo	Jan. 19,'34	2 rls.
Bing Crosby
Marriage Humor	Aug. 18	19
Harry Langdon
Meet the Champ	Aug. 4	21
Eugene Pallette-Walter Catlett
Old Bugler, The	Jan. 5,'34	2 rls.
Chic Sale
On Ice	Oct. 6	21
Harry Langdon

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
One Awful Night	Oct. 20	21
Pallette-Catlett
Please	Dec. 15	2 rls.
Bing Crosby
Roaming Romeo, A	Dec. 29	2 rls.
Harry Langdon
Sailors, Beware	Sept. 15	18
Catlett-Pallette
Three Little Swigs	Nov. 10	20
Leon Errol

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Among the Maoris	Aug. 1	7
Circle of Life of the Ant Lion, The	Feb. 4,'34	7
City of Contrasts	Nov. 22	19
Cuba	Sept. 27	21
Enough Rope	July 1	9
Farmer's Friend, The	Oct. 4	7
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 10,'34	7
Great Raccoon Hunt, The	Sept. 1	20
Her Majesty, the Queen Bee	Dec. 1	6
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4,'34	7
Kick-Off, The	Oct. 11	27
Newslaughs—No. 1	Dec. 20	9
Queen of the Underworld	Dec. 6	7
Wonders of the Tropics	Dec. 13	32

RKO-RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMOS 'N' ANDY CARTOONS
Lion Tamer, The	Feb. 2,'34
Rasslin' Match, The	Jan. 5,'34
BLONDE and RED HEAD SERIES
Flirting in the Park	Aug. 18	20
Walking Back Home	Sep. 8	19
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Re-Issues)
The Count	Nov. 17
The Cure	Aug. 19	20
The Fireman	Aug. 28	21
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Fits in a Fiddle	Oct. 20	14½
Hey Nanny, Nanny	Jan. 12,'34	2 rls.
Iceman's Ball, The	Aug. 13	20
Kicking the Crown Around	Aug. 4	19
Odor in the Court		2 rls.
Snug in a Jug	Nov. 2	20
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Croon Crazy	Dec. 29	1 rl.
Cubby's Picnic	Oct. 6	7
Cubby's World Flight	Aug. 25	7
Galloping Fanny	Dec. 1	1 rl.
Gay Gaucho, The	Nov. 3	1 rl.
Nut Factory	Aug. 11	1 rl.
Sinister Stuff	Jan. 26,'34	1 rl.
GRIBBON-KENNEDY COMEDIES
How Comedies Are Born	Sept. 8	19
Suits to Nuts	Dec. 1	19
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 4—She Outdone Him	July 21
No. 5—Preferred List	Oct. 6	20
No. 6—Air Tonic	Dec. 22	21
No. 7—On Approval	Jan. 5,'34	2 rls.
MASQUERS COMEDIES
Abroad in Old Kentucky	Sept. 9	20
Stolen by Gypsies, or Beer and Bicycles	July 14	21
MR. AVERAGE MAN COMEDIES (EDGAR KENNEDY)
Grin and Bear It	Dec. 29	20½
Quiet Please	Aug. 11	20½
What Fur?	Nov. 3	21
MUSICALS
Bubbling Over	Jan. 5,'34
Ethel Waters
Hizzoner	Nov. 17
Bert Lahr
Strange Case of Hennessy	Dec. 8
Cliff Edwards
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
California Weather	Dec. 15	20½
Harvest Moon Girl
Knee Deep in Music	Sept. 22	21½
MY BRIDGE EXPERIENCES (Ely Culbertson)
Forced Response, A	Sept. 15	17
Murder at the Bridge Table	Sept. 1	21
Society Cheaters	Sept. 29
What Not to Do in Bridge	Oct. 13	15
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks	Oct. 27	21
Three Knaves and a Queen	Nov. 10	20
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEW
Released once a month
SOGLOW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
Fatal Note, The	Sept. 29	7
Jest of Honor	Jan. 19,'34
Marching Along	Oct. 27	27
On the Pan	Nov. 24	7
Pals		1 rl.
SPECIALS
So This Is Harris	Jan. 19,'34	28
TOM AND JERRY SERIES
Phantom Rocket	July 21	1 rl.
Puzzled Pals		7
VAGABOND ADVENTURE SERIES
Antwerp	Sept. 8
Cuba	Nov. 10
Moorish Spain	Jan. 12,'34

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMKINO
A Day in Moscow		26
Killing to Live		17
Kino Displays		10
BEVERLY HILLS PICTURES
Cocoee Capers
Flame of the Pacific		23
Terrors of the Amazon		29
CAESAR FILMS
Veneziana		1 rl.
FIRST DIVISION
Delhi	Nov. 15	10
My Side of the Story	Sept. 22	10
David L. Hutton
Strange Case of Tom Meeney	July 21	23
IDEAL
Canal Gypsies		9
Evolution		28
Goofy Games		8
Mystic East, The		10
Next War, The		26
We're on Our Way		9
INDUSTRIAL
The Silent Enemy		30
INVISIBLE
Snowman		10
RESOLUTE
Itchy Scratchy		8 rls.
MARY WARNER
Berlin: Its Sports and Recreation		8
Berlin: Rhythm of a Metropolis		8
Glimpses of Germany		8
Green Heart of Germany, The		20
Springtime on the Rhine		7
The Mosel		8
Trier, Oldest City in Germany		8
Vintagers' Festival in the Palatinate		10
Winter in the Bavarian Alps		1 rl.
Young Germany Goes Skiing		1 rl.
P. A. POWERS
Jack and the Beanstalk		6

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
13. The Mail Pilot	June 5	7
14. Mickey's Mechanical Man	June 9	6
15. Mickey's Gala Premiere	June 30	7
16. Puppy Love	Aug. 14
17. Steeple Chase	Sept. 1	7
18. The Pet Store	Sept. 22
(NEW SERIES)
1. Giant Land	Nov. 15	7
2. Mickey Shanghaied
3. Playful Pluto
SILLY SYMPHONIES
6. Babes in the Wood	Dec. 2,'32	8
7. Santa's Workshop	Dec. 30,'32	7
8. Birds in the Spring	Dec. 30,'32	7
9. Father Noah's Ark	Jan. 27	8
10. Three Little Pigs	May 26	8
11. Old King Cole	July 27	8
12. Lullaby Land	Aug. 18	7
13. Pied Piper	Oct. 6	7
(NEW SERIES)
1. The Night Before Christmas	Dec. 15	8

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 1	Aug. 28	8
No. 2	Oct. 1	10
No. 3	Dec. 25	1 rl.
OSWALD CARTOONS
Candy House, The	Jan. 15,'34	1 rl.
Chicken Reel	Jan. 1,'34	8½
Confidence	July 31	7
County Fair	Jan. 29,'34	1 rl.
Five and Dime	Sept. 15	8
In the Zoo	Nov. 6	7
Merry Old Soul	Nov. 27	8
Parking Space	Dec. 18	7
Toy Shoppe, The	Feb. 12,'34	1 rl.
POOCH CARTOONS
Hot and Cold	Aug. 14	1 rl.
King Klunk	Sept. 4	9
Pin Feathers	July 3	9
She Done Him Right	Oct. 9	7
RADIO STAR REELS
The Old Timers		21
Louis Sobol—No. 3
Peeping Tom	Sept. 20	17
Louis Sobol—No. 4
Boswell Sisters, The	Dec. 6	2 rls.
Nick Kenny—No. 4
SPECIALS
World's Greatest Thrills	Aug. 18	19
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS SERIES
No. 31—Novelty	Aug. 7	9
No. 32—Novelty	Sept. 4	1 rl.
No. 33—Novelty	Oct. 9	9
No. 34—Novelty	Nov. 20	9
No. 35—Novelty	Dec. 18	10
No. 36—Novelty	Jan. 22,'34	1 rl.
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES
All at Sea (Mentone No. 2)	Sept. 20	21
Big Benefit, The (Mentone No. 3)	Oct. 18	21
Big Casino, The (Mentone No. 4)	Nov. 29	21
Broadway Varieties (Mentone No. 7)	Feb. 14,'34	2 rls.
Gleason's New Deal, James Gleason	July 12	20
Meeting Mazie, Sterling Holloway	Dec. 20	20
Mountain Music, Louise Fazenda	Jan. 3,'34	18
Not the Marrying Kind, Sterling Holloway	Nov. 22	20
On the Air and Off (Mentone No. 1)	Sept. 6	19
Open Sesame, Henry Armetta	Oct. 25	20
Out of Gas, Louise Fazenda	Nov. 8	21
Paisie Waisie, Henry Armetta	Jan. 31,'34	2 rls.
Pie for Two, James Gleason	Dec. 13	21
Stung Again, Louise Fazenda	Oct. 18	18
Supper at Six (Mentone No. 5)	Dec. 27	18
Trifle Backward, A, Vince Barnett	Jan. 17,'34	19½
Vaudeville on Parade (Mentone No. 6)	Jan. 24,'34	2 rls.
Warren Doane Brevity	Aug. 9	19
Where's Elmer? Vince Barnett	Feb. 7,'34	2 rls.

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 11—How've You Been? Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	June 24
No. 12—An Idle Roomer, Jack Haley		20
No. 13—Nothing But the Tooth, Jack Haley	Aug. 19	19
BIG V COMEDIES (New Series)
No. 1—Salt Water Daffy, Jack Haley	Sept. 16	21
No. 2—Close Relations, Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Sept. 30	20
No. 3—Gobs of Fun, George Givot-Charles Judels	Oct. 21	21
No. 4—Turkey in the Raw, Gus Shy	Nov. 4	21
No. 5—In the Dough, Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Nov. 25	22
No. 6—Here Comes Flossie, Ben Blue	Dec. 9	18
No. 7—Tomalio, Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Dec. 30	21
No. 8 — How D'Ya Like That? George Givot-Charles Judels	Jan. 13,'34	18
No. 9—Nervous Hands, Ben Blue	Feb. 3,'34	21
No. 10—Pugs and Kisses	Feb. 17,'34	21
No. 11—Mushrooms, Harry Gribbon	Feb. 14,'34	2 rls.
No. 12—Ben Blue (untitled)	Mar. 24,'34	2rls.
No. 13—Ben Blue (untitled)	Apr. 14,'34	2 rls.
No. 14—Corn on the Cop	Apr. 28,'34	2 rls.
No. 15—I Scream	May 19,'34	2 rls.
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 11—That Goes Double, Russ Columbo	July 29
No. 18—World's Champ, Jack Dempsey	July 11
No. 22—The Double-Crossing of Columbus, Charles Judels	July 15	19
No. 23—Pie a la Mode	June 19
No. 24—Crashing the Gate, Ruth Etting-Roy Atwell	July 1
No. 25—20,000 Cheers for the Chain Gang, Jerry Bergen-The Rollickers-Pieken Slaters	Aug. 12	19
No. 26—The "No" Man, Hugh O'Connell-Anne Greenway	Aug. 26	19
BROADWAY BREVITIES (New Series)
No. 1—Use Your Imagination, Hal LeRoy-Mitzi Mayfair	Sept. 2	18
No. 2—Rufus Jones for President, Ethel Waters	Sept. 9	20
No. 3—Seasoned Greetings, Lita Grey Chaplin	Sept. 23	20
No. 4—Paul Revere, Jr., Gus Shy-Janet Reade	Oct. 7	21
No. 5—Operator's Opera, Donald Novis-Dawn O'Day-Eton Boys	Oct. 14	21
No. 6—'Tis Spring, Patricia Ellis-Allen Jenkins	Oct. 28	19
No. 7—Yeast is Yeast, Tom Patricola	Nov. 11	20
No. 8—The Mild West, Janet Reade-Olive Borden	Nov. 18	23
No. 9—Girl Trouble, Mitchell and Durante	Dec. 2	23
No. 10 — Manhattan Cocktale, Norma Terris-Four Eton Boys	Dec. 16	29
No. 11—Plane Crazy, Dorothy Lee-Arthur and Morten Havel	Dec. 23	22
No. 12—Kissing Time, Jane Froman-Georges Metaxa	Jan. 6,'34	22
No. 13—A Little Girl with Big Ideas, Molly Picon	Jan. 20,'34	29
No. 14 — Not Tonight, Josephine, Frank McHugh-Kitty Kelly	Jan. 27,'34	21
No. 15—Picture Palace	Feb. 10,'34	21
No. 16—Dinners I Hate	Feb. 24,'34	10
No. 17 — Business is a Pleasure, Dorothy Stone	Mar. 3,'34	2 rls.
No. 18—Silver Lining, Gertraude Neisen	Mar. 17,'34	2 rls.
No. 20—Janet Reade (Untitled)	Apr. 7,'34	2 rls.
No. 21 — Helen Morgan (Untitled)	Apr. 21,'34	2 rls.
No. 22—Private Lessons, Hal LeRoy	May 5,'34	2 rls.
No. 23—Morocco Nights (Technicolor)	May 12,'34	2 rls.
HOW TO BREAK 90 BOBBY JONES
No. 4—Down Swing	July 8
No. 5—Impact	July 15
No. 6—Fine Points	Aug. 5	10
LOONEY TUNES
No. 10—Beau Bosko		7
No. 11—Bosko's Mechanical Man
No. 12—Bosko the Musketeer		7
No. 13—Bosko's Picture Show
LOONEY TUNES (New Series)
No. 1—Buddy's Day Out	Sept. 9	7
No. 2—Buddy's Beer Garden	Oct. 21	7
No. 3—Buddy's Show Boat	Dec. 9	1 rl.
No. 4—Buddy the Gob	Jan. 13,'34	1 rl.
MELODY MASTERS
No. 10—The Alma Martyr, Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians		9
No. 11—The Name Is Familiar, Leon Belasco and Band
No. 12—The Audition, Hannah Williams-Phil Emerton's Band		20
No. 13—A Castilian Garden, Señor Del Poze's Marimba Orchestra		8
MELODY MASTERS (New Series)
No. 1—Hot from Petrograd, Dave Apollon and Orchestra		10
No. 2—Barber Shop Blues, Claude Hopkins and Band		9
No. 3—Rubinoff and Band		10
No. 4—Eddie Duchin and Band		10
No. 5—Borrah Minnevitch and His Harmonica Rascals		10
No. 6—Jack Denny and Band		10
No. 7—Mills Blue Rhythm Band		10
No. 8—Isham Jones	Mar. 17,'34	1 rl.
No. 9—Phil Spitalny	Apr. 14,'34	1 rl.
No. 10—Vincent Lopez	May 12,'34	1 rl.
MERRY MELODIES
No. 1—You're Too Careless with Your Kisses		8
No. 2—I Wish I Had Wings		7
No. 3—A Great Big Bunch of You		7
No. 4—Three's a Crowd		7
No. 5—Shanty Where Santa Claus Lives		7
No. 6—One Stop Ahead of My Shadow		7
No. 7—Young and Healthy		7
No. 8—The Organ Grinder		7
No. 9—Wake Up the Gypsy in Me		7
No. 10—I Like Mountain Music		7
No. 11—Shuffle Off to Buffalo		7
No. 12—The Dish Ran Away with the Spoon		7
No. 13—We're in the Money		7
MERRY MELODIES (New Series)
No. 1—I've Got to Sing a Torch Song		7
No. 2—Sitting on a Back Yard Fence		1 rl.
PEPPER POT
No. 21—Inklings
No. 22—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 6
No. 23—Around the World in 8 Minutes
No. 24—Fishermen's Holiday
No. 25—Stuck, Stuck, Stucco
No. 26—Seeing Samoa
PEPPER POT (New Series)
No. 1—Walter Donaldson		10
No. 2.—Admission 5c		10
No. 3—Rock-A-Bye-Bye, with Dr Rockwell		11
No. 4—Laughs in the Law		8
No. 5—Notre Dame Glee Club		8
No. 6—Harry Warren		10
No. 7—Easy Aces		10
No. 8—Little Miss Mischief		10
No. 9—Movie Memories		9
No. 10—The Tune Detective, Sigmund Spaeth		9
No. 11—Mississippi Suits		9
No. 12—The Wrong Wrong Trail, Block and Sully		10
No. 13—Song Hits, with Roy Turk		11
No. 14—Easy Aces, No. 2		1 rl.
No. 15—Pure Feud		1 rl.
No. 16—Radio Ramblers		1 rl.
No. 17—Lulu McConnell		1 rl.
No. 18—Good Old Days		1 rl.
No. 19—Radio Reels, Jessel—Van		1 rl.
SPORT THRILLS SERIES TED HUSING
No. 1—
No. 2—
No. 3—
No. 4—Old Time Sport Thrills
No. 5—
No. 6—
WORLD AVENTURES E. M. NEWMAN
No. 5—From Bethlehem to Jerusalem		10
No. 6—High Spots of the Far East		10
No. 7—Main Streets		10
No. 8—Beauty Spots of the World		1 rl.
No. 9—Workers of the World		1 rl.
No. 10—Wonder Spots of the World		1 rl.
No. 11—Costumes of the World		1 rl.
No. 12—Strange Ceremonies		10
No. 13—Top of the World		10
MUSICAL WORLD JOURNEYS E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Exploring the Pacific		1 rl.
No. 2—Samoan Memories		1 rl.
No. 3—Heart of Paris		10
No. 4—Italy, the Old and the New		1 rl.
No. 5—Cannibal Islands		1 rl.
No. 6—Spanish America		1 rl.
No. 7—Jerusalem, the Holy City		1 rl.
No. 8—Picturesque Siam		1 rl.
No. 9—Slackers of the Jungle		1 rl.
No. 10—East Indies		1 rl.

SERIALS

(EACH SERIAL 12 EPISODES OF 2 RLS.)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MASCOT
Fighting with Kit Carson, Johnny Mack Brown-Noah Beery	July 6	20 (each)
Mystery Squadron, The, Bob Steele	Dec. 23
Three Musketeers, The, John Wayne-Ruth Hall	Apr. 7
Wolf Dog, The, Rin Tin Tin, Jr.-Frankie Darro-Boots Mallory	Sept. 30
PRINCIPAL
Tarzan, the Fearless, Buster Crabbe	Aug. 11	20 (each)
UNIVERSAL
Gordon of Ghost City, Buck Jones-Madge Bellamy	Aug. 14	20 (each)
Perils of Pauline, Evalyn Knapp-Robert Allen	Nov. 6	20 (each)
Phantom of the Air, Tom Tyler-Gloria Shea	May 22
Pirate Treasure, Richard Talmadge-Lucille Lund	Jan. 29,'34	20 (each)

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA Chairs, Sound Equipment, Moving Picture Machines, Screens, Spotlights, Stereopticons, etc. Projection Machines Repaired. Send for catalogue H. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

700 UPHOLSTERED CHAIRS REFINISHED like new. PICTURE THEATRE SEATING, 722 Springfield Ave., Newark, N. J.

SIMPLEX MECHANISMS REBUILT, $135.00; complete equipment, $175.00; rebuilt Peerless low intensity lamps, $95.00; 30 amperes Forest rectifiers, $75.00. Bargains all along the line. Let us hear from you. CROWN, 311 West 44th St., New York.

SAVE TIME SCOUTING AROUND! REFLECTOR arcs, amplifiers, generators, chairs, rectifiers, anything. Ask for list. Trades taken. Tremendous savings. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT. Approved home-study training. Free Catalog. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, New York.

POSITIONS WANTED

PROJECTIONIST—10 YEARS' EXPERIENCE. Prefer theatre where reliability and good work are appreciated. Will go anywhere. BOX 356, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

R. C. A. PROJECTIONIST, NON-UNION: Single, sober, quality work, minimum wages. Prefer large town. Address, H. BARKDOLL, Vinton, Iowa.

WANTED TO BUY

WANT USED THEATRE CHAIRS, ALL KINDS. Also parts, accessories, etc. Send sample prepaid. Advise quantity and price, etc. GENERAL SEATING COMPANY, 2035 Charleston Street, Chicago.

GOLD STANDARD CASH PRICES FOR ANY theatre equipment. Trades made. POSTOFFICE BOX 2042 DeSoto Station, Memphis, Tenn.

NEW EQUIPMENT

SACRIFICING NEW SUPERIOR TYPE X PROjectors with rear shutters, adapted to sound. COXSACKIE MANUFACTURING CORP., Coxsackie, N. Y.

RCA PHOTOPHONE — OLD EQUIPMENT traded—Powers or Simplex soundheads, original cost $1,200.00, our price, $295.00. Up to $300 allowed on worn out soundheads. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

CONVERT YOUR LOW INTENSITY LAMPS TO A.C. with transformers, increasing light to 80 amperes pulling 13 amperes off the line. Very reasonable especially for theatres needing more light. CROWN, 311 West 44th St., New York.

"RESULTS WONDERFUL, SOUND FIRST class!" says Hardman, Frankfort, Kansas. Why don't you investigate S. O. S. Wide Fidelity sound? S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

WIDE RANGE AC AUDITORIUM SPEAKERS, $14.75; Monitor speakers, $3.75. Improved results guaranteed. We ship on trial. THEATRE SOUND SERVICE, Rochester, N. Y.

TECHNICAL BOOKS

"RICHARDSON'S HAND BOOKS OF PROJECtion" in three volumes. Universally accredited as the best and most practical. Aaron Nadell's "Projection Sound Pictures." Compete information on sound equipment. Both text books complete for $12.80. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, 1790 Broadway, New York.

THEATRE PROGRAMS

THE BETTER CLASS AT THE LOWEST PRICES, all cuts furnished by us. Delivery same day copy received. THEATRE PRINTING CO., 720 So. Dearborn St., Chicago.

RENTAL SERVICE

SOUND PROJECTION EQUIPMENT AVAILable with operator, day or week, non-theatrical and theatres not sound equipped. All offers considered. V. HAYNES, Roscoe, N. Y.

THEATRES WANTED

WILL LEASE OR BUY THEATRE, CITY OF 10,000, prefer south. Consider others if doing business. Write stating location, opposition, seating capacity, film contracts. Information confidential. BOX 360, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

COMPLETE BOOTH EQUIPMENT AND SOUND equipment. New and rebuilt. Expert repair and servicing. Guaranteed quality. Unusual prices. Trades considered. EMPIRE THEATRE SUPPLY CORP., 334 W. 44th St., New York.

WHAT'RE YOU WAITING FOR?—S. O. S. WIDE Fidelity sound $179.70 up complete; soundheads, $49.50 up; unified control amplifiers, $50.00 up. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

SCREEN RESURFACING

WE RESURFACE YOUR OLD SCREEN AND make it like new. BURDICK'S RE-NU SCREEN SURFACE CO., 823 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

REPRESENTATIVES WANTED

WANTED REPRESENTATIVES IN EVERY KEY film center to roadshow a religious sound motion picture appealing to Catholics. Prefer men who understand non-theatrical field and can handle entire bookings and exploitation. Must be able to finance themselves and post bond for territory. INTEGRITY FILM CORPORATION, 220 West 42nd St., New York.

REPAIR SERVICE

CHAIR BACKS AND BOTTOMS TO MATCH yours. Write VENEER SERVICE, Box 430, Des Moines, Iowa.

REPAIR AMPLIFIERS AND SPEAKERS—COMplete reconditioning. All jobs unconditionally guaranteed to work as good or better than new. Parts and accessories for all makes. Rush service. Write for special low prices. ELECTRONIC INDUSTRIES, 75 East Wacker Drive, Chicago.

A Question
ANSWERED

WHAT big picture today does not include backgrounds that call for composite photography? The answer is obvious. . . . The really vital point is: what medium to use in photographing these important backgrounds? . . . Eastman has answered that question. Eastman Background Negative, with its remarkably fine grain, its surprising speed, and its excellent processing characteristics, completely solves the film problem of the composite shot. Eastman Kodak Company. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN
Background Negative

PARAMOUNT in directors

HARRY JOE BROWN
CECIL B. DeMILLE
JAMES FLOOD
TAY GARNETT
MARION GERING
ALEXANDER HALL
HENRY HATHAWAY
GROVER JONES
ERLE KENTON
MITCHELL LEISEN
ERNST LUBITSCH
MAX MARCIN
LEO McCAREY
WM. SLAVENS McNUTT
NORMAN McLEOD
WM. CAMERON MENZIES
NINA MOISE
RALPH MURPHY
STEPHEN ROBERTS
CASEY ROBINSON
AL ROGELL
WESLEY RUGGLES
GEORGE SOMNES
NORMAN TAUROG
CHARLES VIDOR
JOSEF VON STERNBERG

JAN 12 1934 ©CIB 213443

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Better Theatres

WITH WHICH IS COMBINED "THE SHOWMAN"

JANUARY 13, 1934

THE TRUE MEANING OF MAINTENANCE IN THEATRE OPERATION

FIVE PAGES ON THE LAYING OUT OF ADVERTISING

In 2 Sections — Section 2

FLICKERLESS PROJECTION

with brilliant white light

at low intensity cost

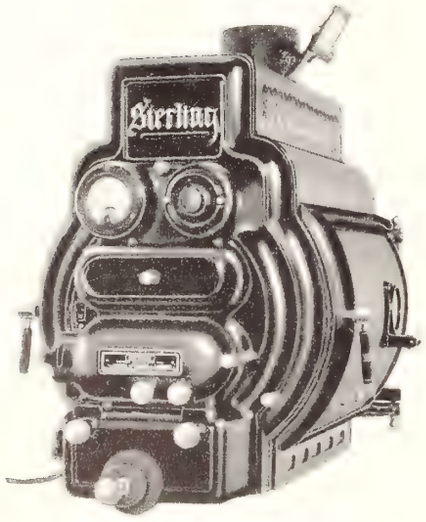
the wonder lamp



100% union made

NRA MEMBER U.S. WE DO OUR PART

STERLING SUPREX

Direct Current Projection Arcs designed by C. S. Ashcraft

45-50 Amps. 36-40 Volts

STERLING SUPREX projection arcs are the modern projection equipment for the live-wire modern theatre operator. They are economical to maintain . . . giving improved projection at lower costs. They have no complicated carbon rotating or feeding mechanism . . . no contact shoes . . . no baffles . . . STERLING SUPREX uses the lowest wattage, yet creates more light per ampere than any other light source on a very low heat factor. It is sturdy . . . simple . . . practical in design.

The Sterling Suprex Lamp is not an alternating current lamp. It can be operated on small generators or rectifiers built for the purpose.

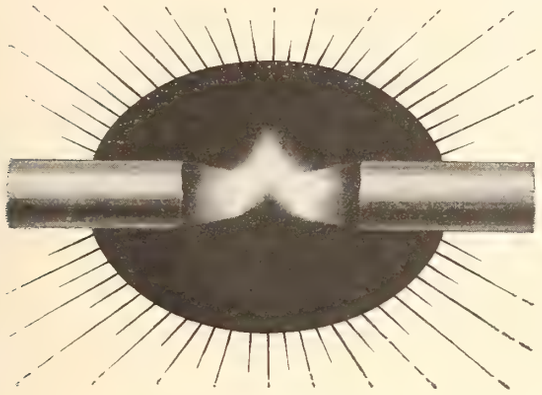
IMPERIAL ELECTRIC & MANUFACTURING CO.

1062 No. Orange Grove Ave., Los Angeles

Write for catalogue TODAY—to our nearest dealer.

New York
Continental Theatres Accessories, Inc.
325 West 44th St.

Chicago
Joe Goldberg
823 So. Wabash Ave.



San Francisco
Western Theatrical Equipment Co.
146 Leavenworth St.

Seattle
B. F. Shearer Co.
2318 Second Ave.

Los Angeles
Breck Photoplay Supply Co.
1969 So. Vermenot Ave.

The Striking Advantages of

NATIONAL COPPER COATED HIGH INTENSITY A. C. PROJECTOR CARBONS

for the Neighborhood Theatre

are

Greatly Increased Illumination

Snow White Light

The new lamps designed specifically for these carbons are available now.

Lamp mechanism accommodates 12-inch carbons in both holders.

Arc control maintains the proper arc gap.

Feed ratio conforms to the burning rate of these carbons.

Special transformer insures excellent regulation.

Newly designed optical system gives ONE-THIRD MORE LIGHT.

National Copper Coated High Intensity A. C. Projector Carbons provide High Intensity quality and brilliancy of screen illumination in the neighborhood theatre at an added cost of less than 2 cents per hour.

NATIONAL

PROJECTOR CARBONS

Sold exclusively through Distributors and Dealers

NATIONAL CARBON COMPANY, INC.

Unit of Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation

Carbon Sales Division, CLEVELAND, OHIO

Branch Sales Offices:

New York Pittsburgh Chicago San Francisco

Better Theatres

January 13, 1934

Vol. 114, No. 3

A section of Motion Picture Herald devoted to the operation . . . design . . . maintenance . . . and equipment of the motion picture theatre

GEORGE SCHUTZ, Editor — C. B. O'NEILL, Advertising Manager — RAY GALLO, Eastern Advertising Manager

GENERAL FEATURES

The Demands of Theatre Technology: By J. T. Knight, Jr. 6

Modern Illuminated Facades 6, 7, 8

Constructing Theatre Advertising: By George Schutz 9

Advertising Layouts 10, 11, 12, 13

Duty to Protect Patrons' Property: By Leo T. Parker 14

DEPARTMENTS

Modern Projection 16

Tubes in Theatre Reproduction: By Victor C. Allen 16

F. H. Richardson's Comment 18

Planning the Theatre 26

New Theatre Projects 31

MISCELLANEOUS

Editorials 5

Employe Contact With Public: By M. Marvin Berger 15

Equipment Affairs: Equipment News and Comment 30

Index to Advertisers 32 32

Better Theatres Catalog Bureau 33

QUIGLEY PUBLISHING COMPANY, 1790 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

MARTIN QUIGLEY, Publisher and Editor-in-Chief — COLVIN W. BROWN, Vice-Pres. and Gen. Mgr.

CHICAGO: 407 South Dearborn Street — HOLLYWOOD: Pacific States Life Bldg.

LONDON: 41 Redhill Drive, Edgware

CABLE ADDRESS: Quigpubco — NEW YORK TEL.: CIrcle 7-3100

Better Theatres (with which is incorporated The Showman) is published every fourth week as Section Two of Motion Picture Herald: Terry Ramsaye, editor. Member of Audit Bureau of Circulations. All editorial and general business correspondence should be addressed to the New York office.

All contents copyrighted 1934 by Quigley Publishing Company and, except for properly accredited quotations, nothing appearing herein may be reproduced without written permission. Every precaution is taken to ensure the safety of unsolicited manuscripts and photographs submitted, but the publishers herewith deny all responsibility for them in case of mutilation or loss.

Manager Chicago office, E. S. Clifford. Manager Hollywood Bureau, Victor M. Shapiro. London representative: W. H. Mooring. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac (published annually) and The Chicagoan.

Better Theatres
January 13, 1934

Observations

¶ Projectionist groups have got their objections in early to the threat of reduced wages which they see in the Code for the Motion Picture Industry. That portion of the craft which is working under 50-hour-per-week contracts is naturally anxious to know just how it is affected by the Code stipulation that no member of the Labor branch of the industry shall work more than 40 hours a week. Shall this mean 40 hours at the 50-hour-per-week wage called for in these projectionist contracts? Or at a 40-hour-per-week wage?

Determination of these questions cannot long be deferred, and may be forthcoming ere these pages are very old. The issue has been rather vigorously raised, however, and current excitement calls for current comment.

First of all, it would seem to us that the Code is very explicit in its demand that projectionists, since they are included in the Labor classification, do not work more than 40 hours a week. This stipulation fundamentally represents the great purpose of the National Recovery Act, under which the Code was drawn. That purpose is to create jobs. It is therefore expected, with all the assurance derived from the provision of substantial penalties, that projectionists now working 50 hours will work only 40 hours, so that there will be hours available for the employment of projectionists now unemployed.

We take it for granted that none of the local unions quarrels with that purpose. But who is to pay the wages of the re-employed projectionists? The man now working under a 50-hour-a-week contract? Or the exhibitor? And naturally, neither wants to!

This brings us to a consideration of the contract itself. Under NIRA, the 50-hour-a-week provision is invalidated by the 40-hour mandate of the Code. Either that, or contractual relations have supersedance over the Act itself in Constitutional law. For the projectionist to rest his case solely on the existence of his contract, however, would be to raise an issue which might well have ramifications and repercussions of very critical character, in this industry and perhaps elsewhere. In this connection it is relevant to note that the United States Supreme Court has just upheld a Minnesota Emergency Law of purpose similar to that of the national act, the effect of which has been to modify contracts.

¶ Does any branch of the industry care to be arbitrary, anyway? Can it afford to? The issue is not one involving projectionists alone, nor theatre operators alone. It is an industry issue which must be determined with the least ill effect on the industry as a whole.

We know from experience that many a union member considers the employer a selfish bargain-driver; and that many an employer has the same opinion of the union. Thus there is the probability of a bad psychology, the fear of one side that the solution may prove a victory—perhaps a permanent victory—for the other.

Instead, the situation should be viewed for what it is—an emergency. Some projectionists are fortunately employed, many others are entirely without an income. At the same time, some theatres enjoy a measure of prosperity, while others could not exist with any substantial increase in overhead. The ideal solution would take into consideration this wide diversity of conditions and attempt to correct the injustices that would be bound to result from a blanket ruling. Otherwise—and for practical purpose, this may be necessary—some interests are going to be hurt. How many, depends upon the extent to which the few are willing to make sacrifices for the good of the many. Sacrifice is not ordinarily a delight to human nature. But this is an emergency.

¶ It is, as Mr. F. H. Richardson has remarked to us, "a very complicated matter." Yet this veteran union man and observer of motion picture affairs (and a very fair-minded one) takes the view that inasmuch as the I. A. has approved the 40-hour-per-week provision as written in the Code, "it would seem that denunciations are right now hardly in order."

"It might be remarked," F. H. points out, "that some unions are themselves penalizing working members, compelling them to lay off part of their time in order that the work may be spread among their many idle members. Moreover, I can personally vouch for the fact that right here in New York some very capable projectionists have been compelled to lay off, while in some cases other men far their inferior in ability have been given the work this made available.

"One thing is certain, however, and that is, if projectionists are penalized for working more than 40 hours a week, then the employers who permit them to should be likewise penalized."

One thing more is certain: No solution of broad benefit to the industry can come from an effort to fan into flames those embers inherent in employer-labor relations which may have come to glow in this issue. Calm deliberation, without factional bias, is here called for—perhaps in a reopening of the whole matter so that this situation, originally unlooked for, may be specifically treated.—G. S.

THE DEMANDS OF THEATRE TECHNOLOGY

By J. T. KNIGHT Jr.

How modern technics of the theatre call for a sound maintenance method—the ninth of a series of articles

ANY COMPREHENSIVE study of the Motion Picture Industry will substantiate the claim that the exhibition of motion pictures is a highly technical, mechanical and scientific endeavor. The high lights of progress have always resulted from advanced scientific inventions and improvements. Without the developments of scientists and engineers this industry would not have come into existence, grown or prospered.

This complicated equipment which has been devised in laboratory and shop, has been turned over to commercial organizations that apparently have little appreciation of its delicacy and intricate detail. These organizations generally operate such equipment for all there is in it, with little thought to upkeep and repairs until it breaks down. When a breakdown does occur under conditions as outlined above, excessive sums are spent to place such equipment in operation again.

It is truly rather astounding to realize how indifferent the organizations that operate theatres are to the very real necessity of maintaining properly that equipment of the theatres which forms the foundation of picture exhibition. As a matter of fact, the higher brackets of executives in the theatre circuits actually seem to discount the idea that proper maintenance is at all important, seeming to believe that most anybody's opinion is sufficient to solve engineering problems. This point of view has been substantiated by the drastic cuts made by larger circuits in their engineering and maintenance staffs, and consequently maintenance in theatres for the past eighteen months has been nil.

The same opinion with regard to maintenance and engineering departments has been, and still is, held by some theatre managers, particularly small circuit operators. In all fairness it must be admitted that maintenance and engineering departments of circuits, as organized and operated in the past, with their waste and red tape and large fixed weekly charges saddled to each theatre, were enough to lead many theatre executives to wonder whether maintenance was an evil—and if it was a necessary evil at that! But regardless of the rather unimpressive examples of engineering and maintenance departments of the past, for any theatre executive to hold the thought for one minute that engineering advice and maintenance service is unnecessary, is about the height of short-sightedness and shows a lack of appreciation of the backbone of motion picture exhibition.

A proper engineering and maintenance organization will "earn its own keep" several times over in any organization of ten or more theatres.

Any man who spends $150 for a watch generally takes it to the best available jeweler for overhauling and repair. The same man invests anywhere from a hundred thousand to a million dollars in a circuit of theatres, then entrusts the upkeep of those properties to the combination theatre manager-purchasing agent, or a mechanic. Most of those who are charged with this responsibility are not fitted by training, education or experience. This is a paradoxical situation that exists in a great many operating situations, and cannot be intelligently explained except to say that the executive who permits such a condition to exist fails to appreciate, due to lack of application or study of the situation, the tremendous scientific aspect of the entire industry.

EFECT OF FALSE BOOKKEEPING

IT IS ALL too frequent that the weekly profit or loss figures on a theatre or theatres do not actually reflect the real situation. During the past few years, especially in circuit operations, ambitious managers, district managers and division managers have neglected theatre properties, valuable equipment and furnishings in order to increase an apparent but actually a false profit, or to minimize an apparent loss. Such practice has been aimed at fooling some "higher-up" executive of the particular organization.

Frequently this has led to withholding the entry and the passing of legitimate bills for obligations already incurred and services performed that should rightfully be placed in line for payment. Theatre statements

(Continued on page 28)

MODERN ILLUMINATED FACADES

● On the opposite page, and also on the page immediately following it, are two original designs for theatre facades that markedly lend themselves to the exploitation functions of the motion picture theatre. The facing material is glass, applied in a new form of tile which may be readily fitted into a variety of forms and color combinations and which, being highly translucent, may be made to glow with light emitted by lamps set in channels immediately behind it. (See note on page 32.)

The two designs here presented, by Eberson & Kautzky, New York architects, have been conceived with the existing, out-of-date structure in mind, as a means of modernization, but of course the method is as applicable to a new building.

The first creation shown (on the opposite page) is called a Tower Design, and has been adapted to meet common structural conditions of an existing theatre. Construction is of veneer type, with the marquee conceived as an integral part of the entire front. A depth of 8 inches in the whole facing is sufficient for illumination and access to the channels in the rear for lamp renewal.

The back wall is curved, and in conjunction with a cylindrical tower, forms a stage for cut-outs and other exploitation devices, which are made to stand out by illumination from the rear and proper floodlighting in front. Like the area above it, the marquee is translucent. Lighting effects can be permanent, and according to the requirements of the location, should be so contrived as to give the theatre prominence and remove any cramped appearance derived from the presence of much larger buildings on either side.

The sign work in this design can consist in either silhouetted lettering or neon tubing, metallic and chromium-plated letters, or flat-painted multi-colored cut-outs, which may be changed readily with each change of bill. An added feature would be an illuminated non-slip glass floor in the vestibule.

The other design is called a Rainbow Scheme. This is created in modern straight lines and incorporates slowly changing color effects in rainbow-like tones. General construction suggested in this design is similar to that of the first conception described, employing a veneer of variegated glass tiles with rear illuminant channels. Further information is given on page 32.

DESIGN FOR GLASS FACADE. By EBERSON & KAUTZKY

DESIGN FOR GLASS FACADE. By EBERSON & KAUTZKY

CONSTRUCTING THEATRE ADVERTISING

Putting the Ad on Paper

The layout, with examples on the following four pages, comprising the fifth installment of a series

By GEORGE SCHUTZ

SITTING DOWN to lay out a theatre advertisement means that the copy itself has either been written in its entirety or been comprehensively planned. Certainly the local appeal of the feature picture has been selected, and this has taken form in a catch-line or opening paragraph, or a general physical scheme for the proposed advertisement. Things are now ready for paper and pencil.

The average theatre manager or the member of his staff delegated to prepare the newspaper advertisements for the printer, will not want to make the layout process very laborious. He is more a showman than an advertising man. But unless he has his advertising prepared for him by the central office of a circuit, or is always able to find a complete advertisement suitable to his needs in the press book, he does at times have to organize a selling message in the words and forms of an advertisement.

Those who prepare advertising layouts professionally use a paper known as tracing tissue. In its good grades tracing tissue is tough, yet is highly transparent. This transparency permits the layout man to outline an illustration readily right in the spot of the advertisement where it is to go, or to copy easily from any other similar model certain typographical features which he wishes to indicate to the printer—and also to indicate to himself more clearly what the advertisement is going to look like.

As for pencils, we need not here insist on the technically proper kinds. Suffice it to point out that in taking instructions from the simplest layout, the printer appreciates clarity and neatness, and will go wrong less often when the drawn layout possesses these qualities. Tracing tissue causes even the medium-soft pencils to write very black, hence should be used for only the broader, bolder elements of the layout. A medium-soft and a medium-hard pencil will serve the average theatre layout man in his purposes.

This part of the series consists principally in actual examples of advertising layouts, especially prepared to illustrate certain selected points. They can scarcely be exhaustive, for there are many ways of treating the same advertising problem. They are found on subsequent pages, with explanatory captions. One of these illustrates a layout, with copy, as it might be sent to the printer.

The first step in the preparation of such a scheme for the printer is to outline the shape and size of the advertisement on the paper. The shape and size may be dictated by previous arrangements with the newspaper of a more or less permanent nature, or by specific factors in the advertisement itself, such as the illustration or title. Whatever it may be that determines the size and shape of the advertisement, they represent the absolute limits of the area in which the layout man must work. There can be no squeezing—and usually there should be no expanding—after these limits are set.

The size is of course partly determined by the established column widths used in the newspaper into which the advertisement is to go. In papers having eight columns, column widths (with possible rare exceptions) are 12 picas (2 inches), and hence the widths of advertisements, measured in picas, are determined in multiples of 12. Printers refer to advertising widths by the column, and depths in inches. Thus an advertisement size would be referred to as 5 inches on one column, 10 inches on two columns, and so on.

In arranging the typographical elements of the advertisement it is usual to employ the unit pica as explained in a previous article. Therefore the layout man will have obtained from his printer or similar source, a pica-rule. Such rules may be procured with picas along one edge and inches on the other, so that the relationship between the two units may be readily compared. It would be clumsy, however, to try to measure blocks of type in the average advertisement in inches, while printing practice calls for line-measurement in ems.

After the size and shape have been outlined, the next step is to sketch in the dominant element of the advertisement. (Sometimes there is more than one, and they must now be adjusted to each other.) If this is a bold catch-line to be placed at the top, it is in the interests of the selling function of the advertisement to give this element primary consideration, letting it take the space and type-size best suited to its purpose.

With the dominant element or elements taken care of, the next step is to appraise the pattern that has so far taken shape and then to determine the sizes, forms and locations of the other type elements possible in the remaining space. If not more or less at the outset, then by this time the whole general pattern of the advertisement has probably been established. A point to be remembered now is that the placing of the subordinate elements will have a very important effect upon the balance and general attractiveness of the advertisement. Too frequently these are placed without proper consideration of their relationship to the dominant elements—just so they get in. Even a small block of light-face type has its effect. The effort now should be to continue the selling message with unity of thought and typographical balance.

An actual advertisement combining press book material with copy composed locally. This was prepared by James A. Bittles, manager of the Granada in Greencastle, Ind., who wished to quote from the Herald's "What the Picture Did for Me."

PENTHOUSE LOVE!

BIG CITY NIGHTS

BIJOU THEATRE

Penthouse Love

BIG CITY NIGHTS

BIJOU

Greta Shearer in BIG CITY NIGHTS with

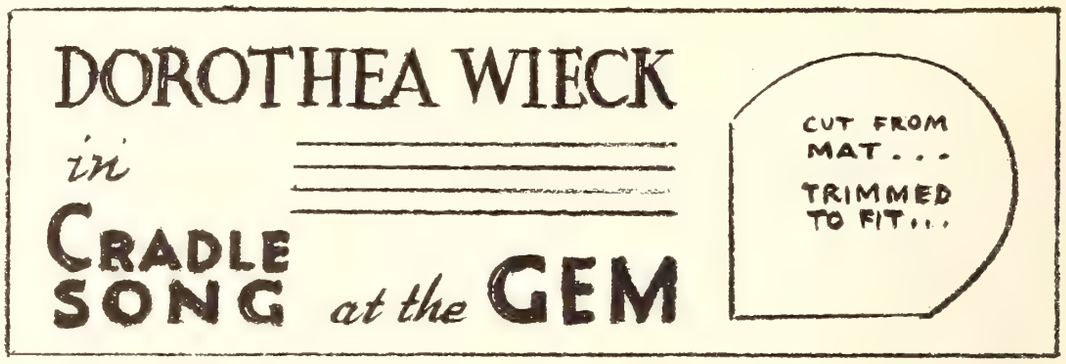
BIJOU THEATRE

Johnnie McDuff in KING OF SPORTS

• CRITERION

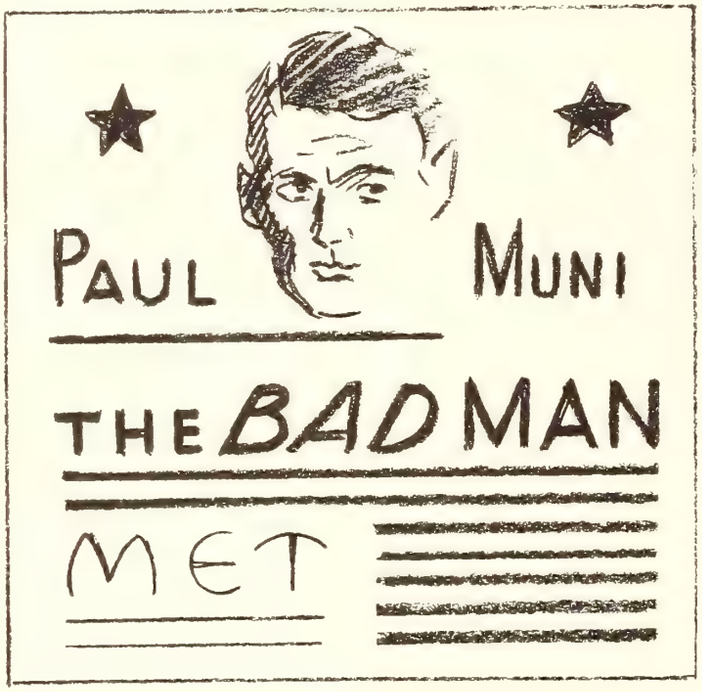
The two layouts on the left-hand side of the page illustrate a certain lack of balance. Common examples, rather than extreme ones, have been chosen. The average person laying out advertising would not be guilty of an extremely unbalanced layout, but it is not difficult to place minor elements so that weights and lines are thrown out of gear. The layout at the upper right is an attempt to improve the layout at its left, while the one at lower right indicates how illustration and type may be out of line with each other, yet, with the help of white space, be suitably balanced.

In these layouts are illustrated a manner of using pressbook material in the building of advertisements with entirely new copy, or added copy, and in a different form from the original. In this case, as is usual, there were plenty of mats available for various sizes and shapes of advertisements. However, in the two upper sketches is indicated the construction of a layout employing a shallow 30c mat in an advertisement considerably larger, with plenty of space for local copy, including a top display line, while the pressbook mat contained no message other than the star, the title and subordinate cast credits.



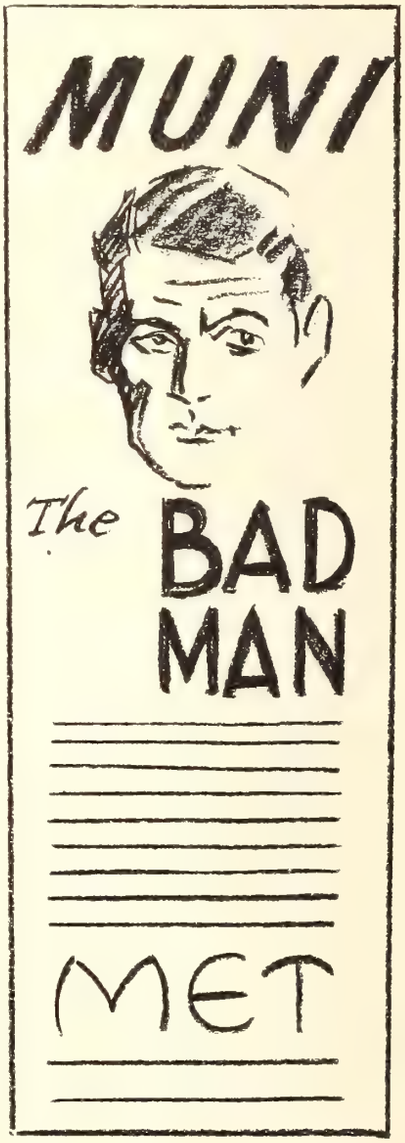
In the first of these two sketches, the mat portion—which is attractively contrived—was located as the first step, with provision of space for some kind of catch-line. Many ways were then open to arrange the rest of the copy in the ample space below. The treatment of this remaining space would of course depend on what the advertisement was to emphasize, how far in advance the booking, and so on. The arrangement used here merely for illustration employs a block of type for possible descriptive purposes, in dimensions permitting a size of type that could be easily read even though light enough to contrast with the larger, bolder type at the left. Because the display line and the type matter beneath the mat material is of broken pattern, the name of the theatre is extended evenly across the bottom. This also parallels the ad-wide effect of the mat material.

It may be well to point out that the mat material is placed fully as low in this layout as it could be for proper appearance. Its weight is such that to lower it farther for the purposes of increasing the extent of the display line or other introductory material, would be to throw the entire advertisement off balance. As placed, the star and title, being at the optical center of the space, are where they will be seen at a glance.

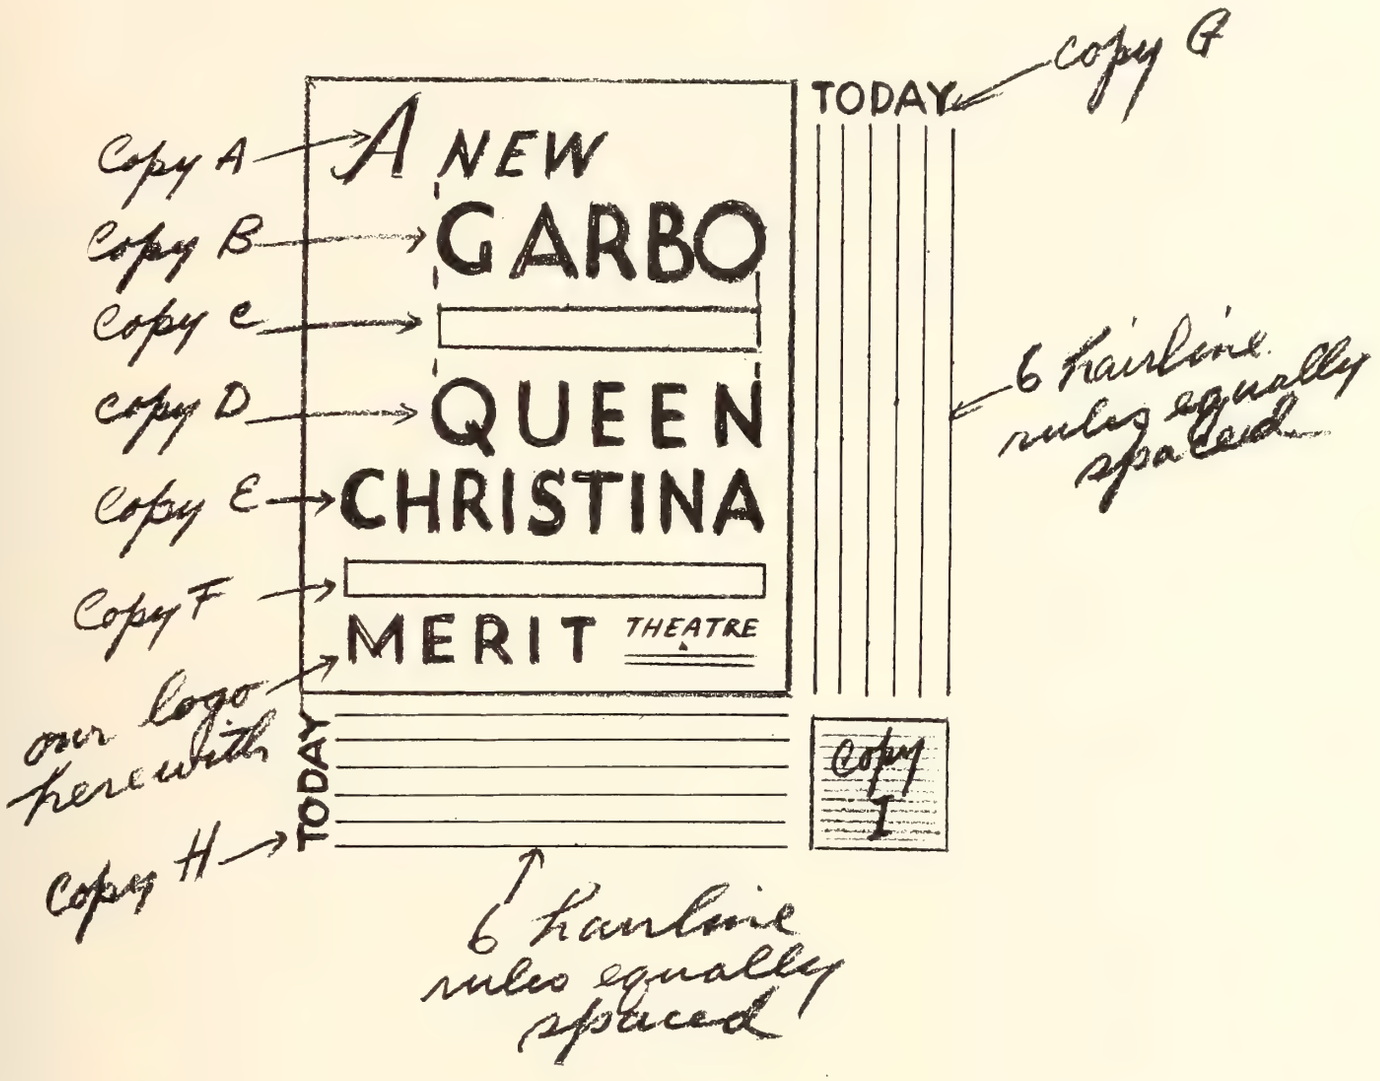


The lower layout, designed for one-column use (here photographically reduced), adapts a portion of the same mat material used in the advertisement above. Thus is indicated the possibility of occasionally using the same mat material without seeming to be repeating it, and in different sizes and shapes of advertisements. Pressbook material frequently lends itself to this kind of treatment even more readily than that here used. Even though other copy than that of the press book advertisement may be wanted, such type matter as a hand-drawn title may be preserved.

In this connection it should be remembered that mats themselves should not be trimmed (unless by one who knows precisely what he is doing), because if certain elevations in the mat are out, so that the valleys extend to the edge, the molten metal used in casting the printing surface from the mat will run out, and no metal plate can be made.



Here is illustrated a manner of adapting press book material solely for an illustration, in an advertisement either more suitable in size and shape to local copy needs, or following the use of the original press book advertisement in its entirety. As reproduced here, the original press book advertisement (at left) has been photographically reduced in size, and thus that portion used in the layout above is larger than the corresponding part of the original. The method indicated here is to cut the plate straight across just above the type matter.



Sketch of Paul Muni as it appeared in press book.

Illustrated here are two simple layouts of different column-widths, making use of a sketch offered in the press book. (The title of the picture here is of course fictitious.) This illustration happens to be of Paul Muni, and was procurable in a variety of sizes, in both mat and cut form. Both layouts indicate how some elements may be centered, and others flushed left or right, without precluding balance. This calls for a nice adjustment of both spacing and type weights (the latter being not so well illustrated here by the pencil lines.) Press book advertisements are of course laid out more elaborately, and commonly interlace the type matter with extensive illustrative matter, with or without the use of drawn letters. Such methods are not available, however, to the average theatre which may have occasion to compose its own advertising, and hence the layouts here presented involve only such elements as should be procurable in the newspaper plant.

Here is indicated a layout sheet with instructions for the printer. Attached to such a sheet would be the copy, clearly typewritten and covering every item whether sketched in layout or not, and with instructions for setting each of such elements, proper reference being made by means of a corresponding letter of the layout.

Matter other than that to be set in type, need only be referred to on the layout itself, as is done above.

No attempt is made here, of course, to present a highly commendable ad pattern, or copy that would meet the approval of the showman. This material refers only to printing instructions, not exploitation. This layout was designed to include a variety of typographical elements for the purpose of illustrating a variety of instructions.

For example, Copy A. If the type selected is Garamond italic with an ornamental letter "A" as indicated, instructions will be, for example: "Copy A, set 24 pt Garamond italic caps with 48 pt swash initial." And immediately below the copy itself would be given.

When the copy is written into the layout, the typesetting instructions, as well as those for other elements, may be written on the layout sheet in the same manner that the copy references are written above. Only when there is little copy in large space is such a method commendable. In many cases it would be impossible. In others the copy might not be clear.

One of the instructions given here is, "Our logo herewith." This refers to the established signature of the theatre which has been cast in a solid piece of metal, called a logotype, shortened in printing slang to logo.

DUTY TO PROTECT PATRONS' PROPERTY

By LEO T. PARKER

When the theatre operator is liable for loss of personal articles, and how to avoid this liability

ALL THEATRE owners and managers have had controversies with patrons over damage, loss and theft of articles of wearing apparel such as jewelry, coats, hats, gloves, canes and umbrellas. Usually, the value of the smaller articles is too small to cause much trouble, but very frequently the value of jewelry, fur coats and the like is sufficient to result in serious and expensive litigations.

Moreover, it is important that theatre owners and managers shall conduct their theatres in a manner likely to retain the good will of patrons who suffer damage, theft of smaller articles of wearing apparel.

The purpose of this article is to review all relevant recently decided and leading higher court cases in order that readers may readily determine their legal obligations. Also, suggestions will be given with respect to performance of certain duties on the part of theatre owners, as display of signs, instructions to employes, providing check-rooms, and the like, which in event of suits will avoid liability and in the majority of instances satisfy complaining patrons and therefore prevent litigation and retain the good will of the patrons.

First, it is important to know that the legal duty of the owner of a theatre to safeguard his patrons' property is the same as that of a firm or person who agrees to take possession of another person's property for a profit. In other words, the law on this subject is based upon the legal duty of a paid bailee toward a bailor, the latter being the owner of the goods, the former the theatre owner.

Generally speaking, it is the legal duty of a theatre owner to exercise ordinary care to prevent patrons' loss or injury to articles and clothing by the employment of trustworthy employes, giving proper instructions to them, providing check-rooms.

PAID AND GRATUITOUS BAILEE

CONTROVERSIES of this nature are decided by rules of the law pertaining to "bailment." Legally, the theatre owner is a bailee, and the patron is a bailor. A bailee is any person who has legal possession of property belonging to another, and the owner of such property is the bailor.

Various courts have held that if a person agrees to keep another person's property without compensation the keeper is a gratuitous bailee who is liable for loss or injury to the property only where he positively is grossly negligent. Therefore, there is a fine line of distinction between the degree of care required of a paid bailee and a gratuitous bailee, and this distinction frequently is the chief consideration of the courts in litigations involving the liability of theatre owners for loss or injury to articles belonging to patrons.

CASE

For example, in the recent case of Sanders v. Franklin (286 S. W. 925), the chief point of discussion was the degree of care required of a bailee who keeps another person's property without compensation. The facts of this case are that certain property was left by its owner in the care of a bailee who was not paid for his services. In other words, the article was left for safe-keeping without the owner either paying or patronizing the keeper.

Later, without knowledge of the bailee, another person came upon the premises and committed a theft. The owner thereupon instituted legal proceedings to recover.

DECISION

It is interesting to observe that the court held the bailee not liable, since the testimony proved that the owner left his property on the premises of the bailee who was paid nothing for his services.

EFFECT OF FEE

It is thus quite apparent that a theatre owner is legally expected to exercise only a slight degree of care in safeguarding articles of value against injury or loss, where he receives no remuneration.

However, the higher courts have consistently held that a theatre owner who charges admission fees is a paid bailee and therefore is liable to his patrons for loss or damage to their property resulting from want of ordinary care on the part of the theatre owner, or that of his authorized employes. This law is applicable with respect to wearing apparel worn by the patron or deposited in the theatre check-room.

WHAT IS ORDINARY CARE?

SINCE IT IS well settled law that a theatre owner is not liable for the loss or injury to clothing, or other articles of value, unless the testimony indicates that the loss or damage resulted from "negligence" or "want of ordinary care" on the part of the theatre employes, it is interesting to interpret the legal meaning of these terms.

Numerous courts have held that there is no fixed rule by which a court may determine in every case what acts shall be considered negligence, and what shall constitute ordinary care. In other words, the terms "ordinary care" and "reasonable prudence," as applied to the care legally required of a bailee, cannot be arbitrarily defined. What may be deemed ordinary care in one case may, under different surroundings and circumstances, be regarded as gross negligence.

RULE OF NEGLIGENCE

However, the usual rule for determining whether a theatre owner is liable for negligence is: Did the theatre owner and his employes exercise the same degree of care to safeguard the patron's property as would have been used by other reasonably prudent theatre owners and their employes under identical circumstances? If so, the theatre owner is not negligent.

Whether or not a theatre owner has bestowed upon the patron's property the degree of care required by law is a question which must be decided by a jury after careful consideration of all details of the testimony. Also, in view of the outcome of several leading cases, it is established law that when a patron delivers clothing to a theatre check-room employe and it is returned in a damaged state, or not returned at all, it is presumed that the theatre employe was negligent and the theatre owner has the burden of showing that the loss or damage did not occur through negligence of the employe. If he cannot affirmatively prove at least that he exercised a degree of care sufficient to rebut the presumption of negligence, he is liable.

CASE

For illustration in a late higher court case on this subject (150 Atl. 408), it was disclosed that the owner of goods sued a bailee for loss caused by fire. The bailee contended that before the owner of the property was entitled to a judgment, it was his duty to prove that the loss resulted from negligence of the former. The lower court sustained this contention and refused to hold the owner of the goods entitled to a recovery. But the higher court said:

DECISION

"The duty of the bailee under the common law was to take reasonable care of the goods trusted to his charge. The modern law dictates that . . . proof of loss or injury while in the custody of the bailee establishes a prima facie case against the bailee to put him upon his defense."

The higher courts have consistently held that a theatre owner is not liable for destruction by fire of clothing belonging to patrons, provided he exercises ordinary care to conduct his business in a reasonably safe building.

LOSS BY FIRE

The rule may be stated thus: It is the duty of the theatre owner toward patrons that he shall exercise due care and reasonable precaution to protect and preserve the patrons' property against loss by fire; that is, such care as an ordinarily prudent theatre owner is in the habit of exercising toward property entrusted to him for safekeeping.

Obviously, a theatre owner would be liable in damages for loss by fire resulting from his negligence in failing to maintain the theatre equipment in proper condition, or if his employes failed to exercise care in removing clothing from a check-room.

CHECK-ROOM LIABILITY

A COMMON SOURCE of litigation arises when a patron's property, such as wearing apparel, is lost or stolen, (1) where such property is retained in the control of the patron; or (2) where it is deposited in a check-room without charge; or (3) where it is carelessly left by the patron in a dressing room. Legal examples will be given of each of these instances.

In the first instance, the theatre owner never is liable for loss of clothing retained in the patron's possession unless the theft was committed by a theatre employe, or the theatre employe was negligent in endeavoring to locate the article after having been informed by the patron of his loss. Of course, a theatre owner is deemed negligent and liable for theft of goods by a dishonest employee, particularly if the testimony indicates that the theatre owner or his manager had reason to believe that the employe was not trustworthy.

CASE

For instance, in a recent case (269 Pac. 459) the owner of goods sued a bailee to recover their value which he contended had been stolen. During the trial the patron proved that upon different occasions goods had been stolen from the bailee, and once a room had been burglarized. Also, it was proved that the bailee had been warned that one of his employes had a bad reputation. In view of this testimony the court held the bailee liable for the loss and commented upon this situation in the decision as follows:

DECISION

"Persons depositing valuable articles with him (bailee) expect that such measures will be taken as will ordinarily secure the property from burglars outside and from thieves within . . . and also that they will employ fit men, both in ability and integrity, for the discharge of their duties, and remove those employed whenever found wanting in either of these particulars. An omission of such measures would in most cases be deemed culpable negligence so gross as to amount to a breach of good faith, and constitute a fraud upon the bailor."

EFFECT OF POSTED WARNINGS

ANOTHER IMPORTANT point of the law is that a theatre owner cannot be relieved from liability for loss of clothing belonging to patrons, where such loss results from negligence of theatre employes, although signs are posted in the theatre building reading "Not Responsible for Loss of Clothing," or "Patrons Are Informed Management Will Not Be Responsible for Lost or Stolen Valuables."

However, chances for liability may be reduced by a sign reading "Not Responsible for Lost or Stolen Clothing, Unless Deposited in Theatre Check-Room." Moreover, any sign or notification placed in a prominent location may be depended upon to assist in retaining the good will of patrons who suffer losses, because the attention of complaining patrons may be directed to such a sign and feel that it is something of a forewarning.

EFFECT OF CHECK-ROOM

It is well settled that a theatre owner who provides a room and an employe for checking and keeping the wearing apparel and other valuable articles belonging to

(Continued on page 29)

EMPLOYE CONTACT WITH PUBLIC

By M. MARVIN BERGER
MEMBER NEW YORK BAR

A GREAT proportion of suits involving theatres arises out of situations in which patrons sustain injuries through some defect in theatre plants, such as faulty lighting, torn carpeting, etc. In deciding such cases, the courts stress the duty of theatre owners and operators to keep their premises in a safe condition.

But, as one court has put it, "The duty of the proprietor of a place of amusement to exercise reasonable care for the protection and safety of his patrons goes further than the mere provision of suitable premises."

One must never lose sight of the fact that injuries to a theatre's patrons may be, and often are, caused by persons as well as inanimate objects.

Take for example the case of an usher whose training has not included emphasis on the necessity of keeping his temper and patience with the guests of his theatre. The usher, in trying to keep a standing crowd in order, becomes involved in a quarrel with an impatient patron, indulges in abusive language and finally yanking the patron out of the line, strikes him and rushes him out of the theatre. The usher is dismissed, but the customer sues the theatre owner for damages for assault and for injured feeling and humiliation, and obtains a verdict.

The general principal of law in such a case is stated by one court in the following language:

"Managers of theatres . . . who invite the public to become their patrons and guests and thus submit personal safety and comfort to their keeping, owe a special duty to those who may accept such invitation. Such patrons and guests have a right to ask that they shall be protected from injury while present on such invitation and particularly that they shall not suffer wrong from the agents and servants of those who have invited them."

The "wrong" mentioned by the court is not necessarily limited to physical violence. It may consist in the use of uncivil and offensive language addressed to or spoken about the patron.

There are several grounds for holding the employer liable for the misdeeds of his employe with regard to patrons. The most important grounds are:

1. The selection, or retaining in service, of employes who are incompetent and unfit to perform the services for which they were employed, where such incompetency was the cause of the injury.
2. Failure to instruct the employe in the proper method of doing his work.
3. Expressly ordering the employe to do the act resulting in injury to a third party.
4. Ratifying of the act of an employe causing injury to a third person.
5. The most important and most frequently used ground for holding an employer liable for his employes' acts is where the employe is acting in the line of duty and in the service of his employer. Any negligent or wanton act performed by an employe while so engaged in the course of his duty which results in injury to a patron, even though the act causing the injury is an abuse, or in excess, of the employe's authority; is sufficient to make the employer liable.

A carefully selected, well trained employe is always aware of the fact that in dealing with his theatre's patrons, he acts, not as an irresponsible individual, but as the representative of the operator of the theatre, and that if he loses his temper and insults or assaults a patron, his employer may be obliged to make good, and he may lose his job.

MODERN PROJECTION

PROJECTION • SOUND REPRODUCTION • ACOUSTICS

TUBES IN THEATRE REPRODUCTION

By VICTOR C. ALLEN

Outlining the difference between radio and theatre sound reproduction tubes. A note on the author is on page 32

AS THE OFFSPRING of radio broadcasting technique, sound pictures naturally began with standard radio tubes. The rapid strides towards amazing fidelity and tremendous volume soon demanded not only the best tubes which the radio tube industry had to offer, but finally special tubes capable of meeting the most rigid specifications. Indeed, standard radio tubes could hardly be expected to qualify in such particulars as minutely maintained characteristics, exceptionally long life despite many hours of continuous service each day, complete freedom from microphonics and background noises even with fantastic amplification, and extra ruggedness for an amazingly reliable component upon which rests the success or failure of any sound system. After all, the impelling thought is that "the show must go on" and the box office receipts are at stake—two infinitely more serious considerations than one family's enjoyment of a radio program.

Now please take note that these reflections in no way disparage present-day radio tubes. The better grade receiving tubes of today are quite remarkable considering the lowest prices yet attained. But theatre sound equipment is far more critical in its requirements than any broadcast receiver; which means, in sum, that sound system tubes must be made specifically for sound systems by those specializing in this specific field.

First and foremost, there is that major specification to meet—a noiseless tube. Noise is a constant enemy of good sound equipment performance, and most of this noise in the past has been traceable to tubes. Critically analyzed, tube noises may be due to:

Microphonics—lack of rigidity in the tube structure, especially the filament, permitting elements to vibrate sufficiently with jarring of bulb, even under delicate impact of sound waves, to introduce extraneous noises and resonant howls in the loudspeaker rendition.

Poor welds—improperly joined metal parts which, under vibration or jarring, or even in normal handling, work apart and introduce uncertain connections, causing background noise and even momentary interruptions in the rendition.

Leakage between elements—caused by a deposit of metallic particles of the usual getter or even of sputtered metal parts during production bombardment, on glass press, spacers and other non-conducting parts, thereby establishing a conductor where there should be an insulator.

Poor socket contacts—due to dirty or greasy tube prongs and even to improperly soldered connections between tube leads and prongs. What might pass for broadcast reception turns up as an imperfection under the enormous amplification and volume of theatre sound equipment.

Hiss—caused by the loss of vacuum during tube life, this softness becoming evident in the mushiness of the rendition and the hissing background. A tube becomes soft or with lowered vacuum when the elements are, in actual operation, heated beyond the production bombardment temperature, and there is insufficient "keeper" or clean-up action. The heated metal parts give off gas, imbedded in the pores, which was not driven out by the lower bombardment temperature. The particles of free gas interfere with the clean-cut flow of electrons.

Faulty filaments—the very heart of the tube, providing the electronic flow or blood circulation, must be uniform and sufficient in emission, as well as permanently positioned. If the filament sags, especially when the tube is mounted horizontally, vital characteristics are altered. If emission varies, tube performance is seriously affected. Also the scraping of oxide coating where the filament is supported by a hook, is imperative.

Other specifications are extreme ruggedness, utmost reliability, and a long, economical service life. The quest for the noiseless tube to a large degree takes care of the remaining specifications at the same time.

In most theatrical sound equipment, the following types of tubes are employed—102D, 205D, 264B, 242A and 258A. Considering these types in turn:

The 264B, it should be noted, is not the same as the 864. The 264B draws .3-ampere at 1½ volts, while the 864 draws .25-ampere at 1.1 volts. It has a plate impedance of 13,000 ohms, compared with 15,000 ohms for the 864, and a slightly less mutual conductance. In all equipment specifying 264B tubes, care should be taken that an 864 is not substituted, as performance is not the same.

This tube is highly important as it is employed in the head amplifier. It must be positively non-microphonic. It incorporates a delicate filament of just the right cross-section to compromise between electrical and mechanical requirements. The elements are rigidly mounted to reduce microphonics. The filament must be permanently positioned, yet because of its small diameter it cannot be too tightly tensioned. A hook with just sufficient springiness tensions the filament. Where it hangs on the tension hook at the top, the oxide coated filament is scraped clean, for otherwise noise will result. Great care is taken in the manufacturing process to see that the oxide coating is uniformly reduced, otherwise a noise arising from the so-called "flickering effect" will be apparent in the performance.

NEXT IN importance is the 205D in which the prevention of noise is also highly important. A recent development in this type, as well as in other larger types, is the introduction of a solid graphite anode in place of the former metal plate.

The graphite anode is a one-piece structure machined from a block of solid carbon which is treated by a process for the removal of binder, hydro-carbons, amorphous carbon and other undesirable ingredients, thereby reducing the mass to the pure carbon or graphite form. It is not to be confused with carbonized plates, or metal plates coated with carbon.

The graphite mass acts as the black body or heat radiator, dissipating the heat generated in the plate when the tube is in operation. This heat dissipation lowers the operating temperature of the plate and other elements, eliminating troublesome grid and secondary emission, as well as the warpage of plate and other elements.

In this tube cobalt nickel alloy is employed for the filament so as to obtain greater emission area and high mutual conductance, as well as high tensile strength when hot. This filament choice compensates for high current surges which are impressed on this tube in a rectifier position, because of the capacity input to the filter system. This tube is mounted in a horizontal position and the tensile strength when hot prevents filament sagging.

In the 102D, again, freedom from noise due to any cause is most essential. Particular precautions, as in the 205D may be taken to prevent noise by scraping the oxide-coated filament at the hook support, by firmly welding all elements and by thoroughly evacuating the envelope. Employing cobalt nickel for the filament has also been found to help.

A recently developed type of 242A tube has a thoriated tungsten filament, having been brought out to replace the oxide-coated 211E. This 242A incorporates the thoriated tungsten filament and graphite anode, the latter acting as a "keeper" and dissipating the heat. The writer finds that this feature eliminates the gas and short life objections to earlier tubes. The increased heat dissipation is very readily noted in the operation of the 242A graphite anode tube. Arcing at the base experienced with the 242A type, particularly when used as a rectifier, is overcome by the use of high-breakdown-voltage glass in the stem.

The 242A tube is often used in parallel, and a proper resistance parasitic oscillation suppressor is mounted in the grid lead, making the tube entirely interchangeable

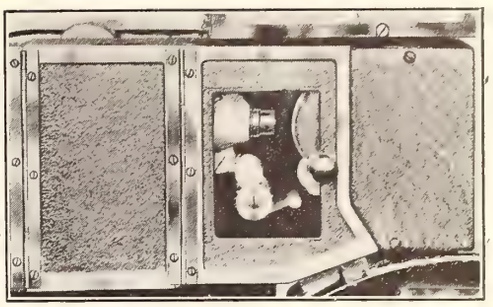
IN MANY sound systems the mercury vapor rectifier used looks in some respects much like the 866 rectifier. It differs, however, in two essential details. One is the base, which is a two-prong base of special design. The other is the filament which, while operating at 5 volts, is much heavier and requires a drain of 7 amperes for correct operation, as against 5 amperes required for the 866 filament. The purpose of this heavier filament is to supply the necessary current peaks which rise as high as 1.4 amperes in sound equipment due to the capacity input filter system used.

All in all, sound system tubes are not just ordinary receiving tubes. They are quite different. The relationship is comparable to that between a standard or stock automobile and a powerful racing car built to withstand the grueling grind of the race track. The greatest extravagance in which theatres may indulge is inferior tubes.

HOW I ADDED AN "AIR WASHER"

By W. F. ROTH, JR.
OWNER, NEW PALACE THEATRE, GALLATIN, TENN.

LAST SUMMER I installed a home-made washed-air outfit to use in connection with Arctic Nu-Air, which gave surprising results at a total cost of $22.50.



Mr. Roth atop shipment of RCA sound equipment.

My blower and fan house are located just behind the building, with three chutes extending from the fan house down to about 4 feet of ground, one chute on each side, and one at the back. The water supply, a 52-gallon water barrel, is directly under the fan house, with outlet at the bottom of the barrel through an auto pump (second-hand), driven with a 1/4-h.p. motor, forcing water to each chute through 1/2-inch tubing. The tubing is placed up against the roofing of the chute, with 1/32-inch holes drilled in the tubing at 1/8-inch distances. The water sprays downwardly.

Care must be taken to get the spray far enough from the blower so that it won't draw the water into the fan. This distance must be judged by the speed under which each particular blower is operated in order to satisfactorily cool the theatre.

At the bottom of each chute is trough and gutter to catch the water from the spray and return it to the barrel. In other words, you just use the water over and over. However, it is a good idea to drain the barrel and refill with fresh water every few days. In unusually hot weather you can put ice in the barrel.

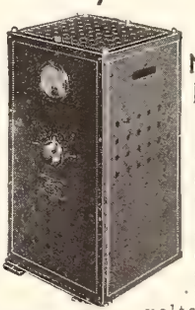
One must be sure to put a strainer in the barrel outlet, and also a cloth over the top of the barrel, to keep all foreign matter from stopping up the holes in the spray apparatus.

Syncrofilm
SOUND EQUIPMENT

Wide Range
Narrow Price

MODEL D Syncrofilm sound head meets the exacting requirements of the new wide range recordings and the more exacting needs of your budget. When you talk price with one of our representatives you talk sense. You can afford to change to Syncrofilm Model D. You are paying for it anyhow, why not own it?

The difference in the box office take between Syncrofilm Model D and outmoded equipment comes to a lot—too much for you to pass up any longer. Find out how little Syncrofilm sound heads would cost you for your present projectors and get a pleasant surprise.



Model D is simple; it has few moving parts. All parts are finished within a thousandth of an inch. All wearing parts are chrome plated—practically everlasting. The drive is through two round belts, and thence by silent chain. Not a chance for waver or distortion. Syncrofilm reproduces every sound exactly as the microphone registered it.

Your money back if you're not satisfied. Send now for the name of our nearest representative.

WEBER MACHINE CORP.
59 Rutter St., Rochester, N. Y.
Export Office: 15 Laight St., New York City
Cable Address: Romos, New York
Representatives in all principal cities.

For Every Booth!

GARVER KURRENT CHANGER
Eliminates change - over troubles. Saves 20-30%, changing A.C. to D.C. Delivers 15-30 amps constant, pure white light quietly, dependably, without sound interference. Recommended by leading lamp manufacturers. $125 complete for brilliant mazda projection. Small, sturdy, simple, dependable, quiet. Ideal for highly concentrated spot or flood lighting. 110 or 220 volts.

NATIONAL REGULATOR

Representatives in all Principal Cities

GARVER ELECTRIC CO.
Union City, Indiana

F. H. RICHARDSON'S COMMENT

• • AND ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES •

ABOUT TWO EVILS AND WHO IS TO BLAME

FROM A PROJECTIONIST in Illinois comes a letter which raises two very important questions. It reads:

"There are times when every projectionist cannot help but wonder if it really pays to deliver the best possible projection. This question looms up largely when the equipment is sadly in need of a general overhauling, or of replacement of wornout parts, and requisitions for the same fall on totally deaf managerial ears.

"Repeated requests seem always to be entirely out of place when it comes to asking for the expenditure of money for projection room replacements or repairs. If we had the money that has been shoveled out in the past ten years in the form of door prizes, or spent for cheap sound outfits when sound was new, and other wide-open spigots of pure waste, we might, with that money, much more than equip the finest imaginable projection room with the very best of equipment, and have plenty left over to keep it in the very pink of condition.

"I find it utterly useless to talk to the manager about such matters. The less I say about them the better I get along with him. Moreover, 'safety crews,' projectionists are finding out, are highly unpopular with exhibitors. With them safety doesn't apparently count for much.

"The matter of sound should have very careful attention by every projectionist, both as regards volume and quality. I have been accustomed to keep myself informed as to the best volume for various subjects by occasionally stepping outside my projection room to listen. The management, however, claims I have no right to this privilege. May I ask who is to be held responsible if the sound be too high or too low if the projectionist who produces it is not privileged to check up on it at least to some extent?"

This man, whose name and exact location is withheld for obvious reasons, is, for the most part, right. The attitude he criticizes represents mismanagement. No successful exhibitor or manager would for a moment tolerate it. It is just plain foolish to depreciate the quality of the one and only thing a theatre has to sell to the public.

The wise manager first of all makes sure his projectionist has every reasonable thing necessary to enable him to get the best possible results, provided his equipment is kept in first-class condition. He then demands that he, the projectionist, make good by getting every possible thing out of the films. Money is most emphatically not saved by refusing to permit proper repairs. It is wasted, for the reason that friend box office no longer has its maximum drawing power.

As to stepping outside the projection room, however, our correspondent is wrong, and his manager right. I say this with the full knowledge that it is just about as unfair as anything well can be to expect projectionists who are unable to hear the sound accurately and therefore are out of touch with auditorium sound, to produce the best results. If the sound is too high, too low or otherwise punk, certainly the manager has absolutely no right to attach blame to the projectionist, unless the projectionist knows something is wrong with the equipment and has failed to correct the condition.

We have many times directed attention to the unfairness of this whole matter insofar as it applies to the one-man room. As to the "safety crew," the recent elimination of many second men was very largely the fault of the men themselves. Time after time, I have called attention to the effect of a manager stepping into a projection room to find neither man really on the job, neither man perhaps anywhere near the working projector, both men perhaps engaged in animated conversation with a visitor, or one reading a paper or book while the other did something else not connected with the actual work of projection. Therefore I don't blame the exhibitor. I place the blame where it belongs, upon the men themselves. I have entered projection rooms and found neither man near the working projector, and not doing much of anything else. I have had both men of a two-man shift stand talking to me for minutes, without even so much as glancing at either the working projector or the screen. As a result, there are many rooms with only one man on duty, and many men without any job at all. Had exhibitors and managers always found one man right there at the working projector and the other one engaged in some duty—and a duty can always be found if one really wants to find it—I venture the assertion that the one-man question would never have been raised, or at least not carried out with any degree of success.

Other Articles

In addition to the material on this page, Mr. Richardson's columns of this isuue also contain:

The Brenkert A. C. Reflector Lamp. . . . . Page 19

Those Contacts: Watch Them. . . . . Page 21

How to Prevent Emulsion Deposit . . . . . Page 22

Objects to Numbers Punched in Film . . . . . Page 22

Proper Color for Borders . . Page 23

Characteristics of RCA-57 Tube . . . . . Page 24

The Cause of Carbon Penciling . . . . . Page 24

State Uses Motion Pictures . Page 25

PAINTING THE PROJECTION ROOM

CARL RASMUSSEN of Elgin, Ill., inquires as to what color is best for projection room walls. This is a matter which has been treated from time to time in this department. Primarily, it is very largely a matter of visibility of the picture upon the screen. It is easy to understand that a man working in a well lighted room, the walls of which are painted white, would have a far less excellent view of a screen some distance away than he would have were the room unlighted and its walls painted black. This is particularly true when one must view the screen through a relatively small opening in the front wall.

The lighted, white-walled room and the unlighted black-walled one of course represent extremes, between which there is plenty of room for variation. Time was when I advocated dead black walls and ceilings and as little light in the room as possible. Observation ports were then invariably very small, and screens were relatively dimly lighted. Things are different now and extremes are no longer so necessary. But were I myself still projecting, I would demand a dark color on both walls and ceiling, and as little light as possible in the room. It did and would not bother me at all. When working my mind is entirely absorbed in my work, and whither or no the surroundings are lighted or cheerful matters very little.

Most projectionists, however, demand light. They want things as cheerful as may be, and under present-day conditions, if the matter of light be not carried too far, there is no great objection to it (except that it tempts men not to watch the screen as continuously as they should). Modern practice is to cover the floor with a dark battleship linoleum and to paint the walls a rather dark olive green, with the ceiling (and perhaps a border on the walls) any preferred light color, such as buff or light bination with olive walls and has been used quite a little.

However, nine projection rooms out of every ten are entirely too well lighted. It may be all very nice for the men, but it most emphatically is not good for the picture. There is no real need for a lot of illumination. What there is should be very carefully placed. Its direct rays should not be permitted to fall upon the front wall. A space at least 18 inches wide all around the observation ports should be painted a dead, non-gloss black, all of which makes for two things; namely, visibility of the screen, and a tendency to watch the screen because other things are not so plainly visible.

THE BRENKERT A. C. REFLECTOR LAMP

I HAVE just examined specifications of the new Model K Brenkert reflector type alternating current arc lamp, which is a handsome and apparently well made piece of apparatus. True, I have not as yet had opportunity of examining the actual equipment itself. However, several pictures in my possession give an excellent idea of the equipment in all its parts, and inasmuch as through the years every piece of Brenkert equipment has been well made and efficient, I may assume this will be the same. Mr. Karl Brenkert made an effort to arrange a theatre demonstration of the light source for me while I was in Chicago recently, but unfortunately it could not be done in the time at my disposal. The equipment in question is designed to handle the alternating current projection carbon developed recently by the engineering department of the National Carbon Company. The underlying idea is to secure screen illumination very similar in tone to high-intensity (though of course not equal in

RESULTS ALMOST UNBELIEVABLE

THE Model 309 full range reproducer and horn has been placed in many direct competitive tests within the past few months and has yet to find an equal.

Paonia, Colorado,
December 26, 1933.

Wright-DeCoster, Inc.,
St. Paul, Minnesota.

Gentlemen:

I installed the Model 309 reproducer with horn, rack and field supply over two weeks ago and cannot help but write you regarding the results. They are wonderful and it is hardly believable that there could be such a difference between the reproduction which I now have and what I had before.

Yours very truly,
PAONIA THEATRE,
By: Tom Poulos.

The Model 309 reproducer, the speaker with the patented corrugated leather spider that protects the air gap from dirt, dust and grit of all kinds and also allows the cone great freedom of movement.

Write us and we will gladly furnish you with proof of the above facts, together with detailed information.

WRIGHT-DeCOSTER, Inc.

2225 UNIVERSITY AVENUE : : ST. PAUL, MINN.

EXPORT DEPARTMENT: M. SIMONS & SON CO., 25 Warren Street, New York

Cable Address: SIMONTRICE, New York

Are you going to

RECONDITION?

If you are let

BETTER THEATRES

help you. . . The department

PLANNING THE THEATRE

was established to give the theatre owner and manager practical advice in precisely those problems which have come to the front as a result of current efforts to end the worn-out, run-down condition that overtook thousands of theatre properties during the depression. Planning the Theatre is conducted by a licensed architect, Peter M. Hulsken. He will give your inquiry his personal attention. Merely address it to

BETTER THEATRES

1790 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

Figure 1.—Compensator transformer.

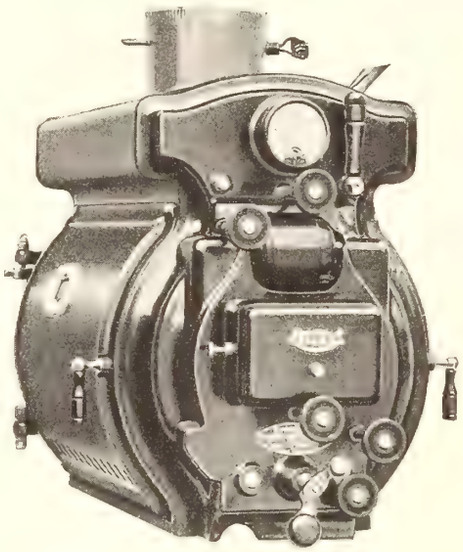

Figure 2.—End view of lamphouse.

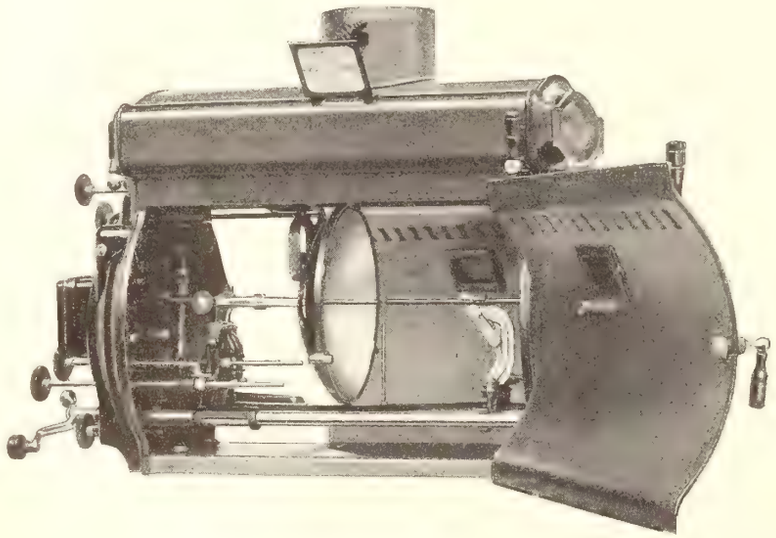

Figure 3.—Interior view of lamphouse.

light production volume) and to do this at considerably reduced cost.

As compared with low intensity light sources, the carbon consumption will be found to amount to quite a bit more. On the other hand, no current rectification equipment is required. Instead a small compensator is supplied with the lamp, the operating cost of which is quite low. It is shown in Figure 1.

It may be used with 95 to 130, or with 190 to 260 volts. On its upper surface is a knob, by means of which current flow at the arc may be varied between 65 and 85 amperes, in fractional and very gradual ampere steps. Due to the high efficiency of the compensator as compared to motor generators or current rectifying devices, a saving in current is effected over low-intensity direct current operation, which compensates to considerable extent for the higher cost of a.c. carbons. The result is only slightly higher operating costs for carbons and current combined, over that for a 30-ampere low-intensity direct current lamp.

The main equipment consists of a handsome appearing lamphouse, the ends of which are of aluminum. It may be viewed in Figure 2. Note that it carries all necessary controls in convenient reach of the projectionist from working position. Also on it are mounted the ammeter, and the motor and relay of the arc control. Note also the vent pipe of ample dimensions equipped with controlling damper.

In Figure 3 we have an interior view showing the lamp, which, be it noted, is of simple construction, with most of its working parts back of the large-diameter mirror and therefore protected from high temperatures. The mirror is elliptical, of proper focal length, and of a diameter to pick up an unusually large angle of light. The mirror is of pyrex.

Just over the lamphouse door is a framed screen, upon which an image of the light source is projected. It has guiding lines so that the projectionist may maintain his light source (crater) in exactly the correct distance from mirror and note whether or not it is burning properly. A compound lens system accurately focuses the light source on this screen.

The Brenkert company says the new light source cannot supply screen illumination equal to their high intensity type arc operating at 75 amperes, but that it will deliver more light to the screen than will a low intensity operating at 30 amperes, and also a very white light, from all of which it is pretty evident the new a.c. arc will seek its main field in the smaller theatres where Mazdas and low-intensity lamps now hold the fort.

Be it noted, however, that alternating current arc light sources are automatically barred where only low-cycle current (25 cycle) is available. I do not believe the a.c. flicker will be objectionable on screens where the current is 60-cycle, or even a trifle less. I will watch the performance of the a.c. projection arc as it comes more and more into use and report to you from time to time as to what success projection-ists have with it, as compared with what we now have in use.

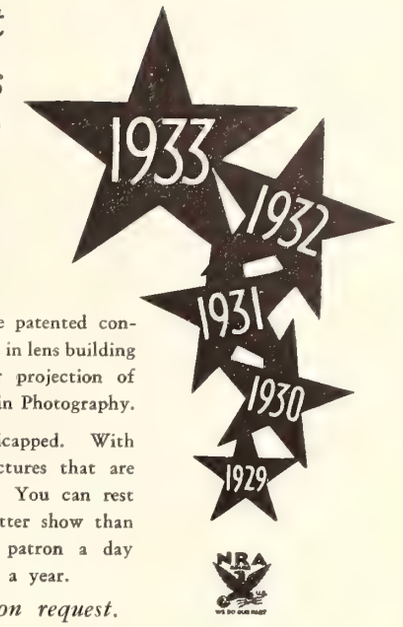
THOSE CONTACTS: WATCH THEM!

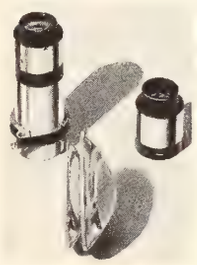
RECENTLY Projectionist W. H. Flowers of the Plaza theatre in Duquesne, Pa., wrote that he was using certain equipment taking current through a Hertner Transverter, and that when a second arc was struck there was a momentary disturbance of the light. He asked what was the matter, and not being certain, I immediately took the matter up with John Hertner of the Hertner Electric Company, asking that he get into touch with Mr. Flowers, find out what was wrong and straighten the matter up. This Mr. Hertner did. I now have a letter from Mr. Flowers reading, in part, as follows:



"My trouble was quickly remedied, thanks to your action in writing Mr. Hertner. He told me to look for trouble in the relay located in the panel, saying, 'It flies up on open circuit, but should remain down when either one or two lamps are in operation. When down, it shorts out some resistance in the regulator. Its contact should be positive and steady so that no current fluctuations will occur, which will be indicated by a voltmeter across the contact points. When operating lamps, the voltmeter should show zero at all times.'

"That was what Mr. Hertner told me, and I got me busy. The voltmeter most certainly did not show zero, so I immediately examined the relay contact and am ashamed to say it was in bad shape. However, careful work with very fine sandpaper remedied this, making the contact perfect, whereupon the first arc (Strong Standard) burned perfectly, and when the second was cut in, did not show the slightest bit of fluctuation. As soon as the second arc settled down, both ammeter needles were rock steady, showing a drop of one ampere each, whereas before it was from three to four amperes drop.

"The trouble then was that the current loss with two arcs in operation caused an excess of current to be thrown into the remaining arc when one was turned out. One ampere added merely results in a very slight normal brightening, scarcely perceptible whereas 3 or 4 amperes added causes spitting or flickering. A small cure for a large illness. Many thanks."



Many times I have warned projectionists to carefully inspect all contacts on fixed dates. Brother Flowers and all other projectionists should have on the wall of their projection room a chart or schedule of inspection dates. [See article, "Projection Routine and Inspection," August 26th issue.—The Editor.] Certain inspections should be made daily, others semi-weekly, some weekly and so on. But unless they be given a regular time the thing seldom is done at the time it should be, or perhaps not until trouble compels examination, which is too late and not infrequently results disastrously.

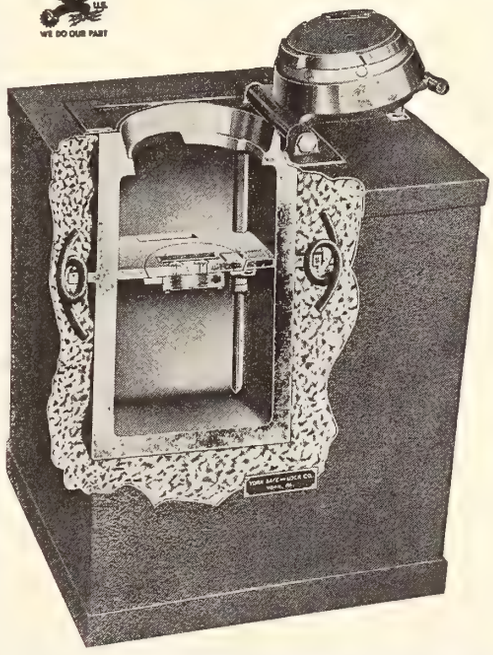
Would You Be Content To Show The Pictures Of Five Years Ago?

Of course you wouldn't. Faster camera lenses, better films and finer lighting stamp 1929 productions as out of date.

Changes just as great have taken place in projecting equipment.

The new Super-Cinephor Lens with the patented condenser system represents an achievement in lens building that is as great a step in the proper projection of pictures as have been the improvements in Photography.

Without this new lens you are handicapped. With it you can show sharper, brighter pictures that are clean right to the edge of the screen. You can rest assured that no one is putting on a better show than you are. Remember—just one more patron a day pays for a Super-Cinephor in less than a year.



Complete details gladly sent on request.

BAUSCH & LOMB

B & L GLASS IS USED IN B & L MICROSCOPES, TELESCOPES, BINOCULARS, SPECTACLE LENSES AND FRAMES . . . OPHTHALMIC APPARATUS, SCIENTIFIC INSTRUMENTS.

BAUSCH & LOMB OPTICAL CO., 679 ST. PAUL ST., ROCHESTER, N. Y., U. S. A.

Over 20,000 YORK CHESTS in daily use

York Chests have earned an unequalled record of burglary resistance.

When equipped with our patented, portable hold-up partition, the chance of a successful hold-up is eliminated.

Daily resistance of actual burglaries and hold-ups prove this.

York famous 400 line chests and X-60 chests are built in various sizes to meet any requirement.

Lowest Mercantile Insurance Rates.

Without any obligation, may we discuss your burglary and hold-up problems with you?

YORK SAFE AND LOCK CO.

York, Pennsylvania

Manufacturers of the World's Greatest Vault Branches and Agencies in all Principal Cities

it's the

V-8

of the theatre

FEB. 13TH IS THE DATE

BUILD PATRONAGE

with thrilling Full-Range High Fidelity Sound . . . .

Dual Speakers

. . . at new low cost with this remarkable amplifier

You can't afford to let an antiquated sound amplifier rob your patrons of the breath-taking realism of voice and music that is recorded on today's films.

Join the many theatre operators who have found a new Clough-Brengle Wide-Range Amplifier is a sure way to "pack-'em-in." Write today for description and new low prices.

Kendall Clough—Chief Engineer

The CLOUGH-BRENGLE CO.

1130-A West Austin Avenue, Chicago, Illinois

GORDOS

AMPLIFIER TUBES

Featuring the new carbon plate, having rigid six point support insuring maximum efficiency.

Complete line of power tubes, rectifier tubes and photo-cells.

Inquiries Invited

GORDOS PRODUCTS COMPANY

17 W. 60th St., N. Y. C.

G.-211 and 242

SUPER-LITE LENSES

and

PRO-JEX SOUND UNITS

are giving universal satisfaction

A TRYOUT WILL CONVINCE YOU

Projection Optics Co., Inc.

330 Lyell Ave., Rochester, N. Y., U. S. A.

Had brother Flowers had such a schedule on his wall and paid strict attention to it, the trouble never would have occurred. That same is true in nine projection rooms out of ten. Have regular dates for examination. For example, on Monday—examine wires inside lamphouse, taking connections apart and cleaning them; examine all switches as to conditions, tightness, etc.; examine condition of intermittent sprocket teeth, also teeth of other sprockets; test film tracks at aperture for wear; test lost motion in gear train. And so on, through all the list of things for weekly examination on Monday. It is a matter of "a stitch in time saves nine"—and sometimes a great many more, too! Were I still in active projection work I certainly would make up such a list and post it on my projection room wall under glass. Just set a sheet of ordinary window glass, say 12 inches square against the wall, held out from it by, say, one-eighth of an inch, let it be open at both ends, and slip the paper in back of it. It is best that each staff make out its own schedule, to meet its own conditions.

However, it is no earthly use to do this and then forget it. Make a suitable inspection list, post it, pay strict attention to it. You will thus avoid a lot of trouble.

OBJECTS TO NUMBERS PUNCHED IN FILM

J. H. WEAVER, Pittsburgh projectionist, pays us the compliment of saying that our 'umble writings have given him much aid through his ten years in the "shadow business." He then asks:

"Why do some film companies punch numbers at the beginning and end of each reel of film? Such punchings usually are located from 5 to 10 feet from title and trailer. They are decidedly objectionable. In one print I had recently, the punch marks were between 5 and 6 inches long. When reels are doubled up they cause two flashes, though that is not true with all makes of film so maltreated.

"Universal punch marks are so placed that they do not show on the screen, yet a while back one of them was the cause of a film breaking, with the result that I was handed that projectional abomination, a white screen. The language I used would not look well in print, and my remarks concerning punching film would have to be washed in strong disinfectant before being broadcast. Even after the bath I'm afraid it wouldn't go through the loud speakers without considerable over-heating.

"Films very often crack at the punchings after being run for a time. Have cut out many of them that had started to crack. The break is always across the film. It therefore is likely to catch in the aperture, or perhaps on an idler roller. If the numbers are really necessary, why not place them along the side, like footage numbers?

"And now another thing: Some Universal films have a white dot at the side, where the frame lines join. This often sets up motorboat noise, which we just love—may the Creator forgive me for lying! There seems no legitimate reason for their presence. I therefore move, Mr. Chairman, that they be eliminated. [Motion unanimously carried. So ordered.—F. H. R.]

"On the standard prints, why cannot a transparent line be placed on the ninth sprocket hole from the start frame, as a convenience in threading?

"Do you think the elimination of the out-of-focus effect set up by sharp projection angle is very important? Have solved it on short projection distance and sharp angle, but have not tested the plan on a large scale."

The elimination of a tendency toward out-of-focus set up by projection angle distortion, would have very real value if it could be done without introducing other equally objectionable elements. However, I think I may say that that can hardly be. Depth of focus may be increased by reducing lens diameter, but that, of course, means light loss. Since the effect depends upon optical laws, it would seem rather impossible to remedy it without lens diameter reduction. As lens diameter is increased, depth of focus is decreased. So far as I know, that is inevitable.

As to the punch marks, they are for the purpose of identifying film ownership. I shall lay your objections before Universal headquarters for consideration. I agree that the white "dots" should not be there. They would be harmless were only film used that had them, since the mechanism might be adjusted so that they would never get into the sound light beam. But in using films of different makes, it might well be impossible to do this. What has been the experience of other men in this respect? Let me hear from you. If the trouble is general I should endeavor to procure a remedy.

HOW TO PREVENT EMULSION DEPOSIT

FROM Thomas F. Bochert, chief projectionist of the Palace theatre in Lancaster, Ohio, we have the following:

"This is my first letter, but hope it will not be my last. Have read every one of your articles and used your Bluebooks for five years past. May I honor you with the degree of Dean of Projection, which I sincerely believe fits you on your record.

"Am writing to offer a bit of help on the subject of film scratching, particularly on the sound track and on the opposite side of the film. I am sure what I have to say will be welcomed by brother projectionists.

"Scratching the sound track usually occurs at the intermittent sprocket idler roller, and for this reason: Both upper and lower sprocket idlers should rotate freely, but the film held to the intermittent sprocket by idler rollers must stop and start 24 times per second, which means either that the rollers must do the same thing (which seems rather impossible), stand still, or possibly rotate at part speed. In either event the tendency would be for them to collect emulsion deposit, which is the chief cause of scratches on film.

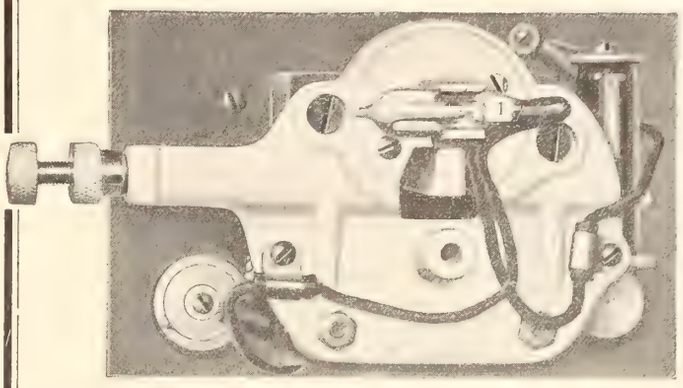
"We have cured this trouble here by turning down the inner side of the idler roller flanges to a depth of 1/32 of an inch, which acts to prevent it from bearing on, or scratching, the sound track. We find this adds no tendency of the film to jump or run through unsteadily. Our experiment was applied to Powers projectors only."

What this good brother means is that he has turned 1/32 of an inch off the inner "lip" of the idler roller, each end of which has a slot in its center, thus forming two narrow faces at the roller end. I am not prepared to say positively whether the suggestion has value or not, but at least it seems to have worked well at the Palace. It therefore is laid before you for consideration.

We welcome suggestions such as this from practical projectionists. It costs little for men who have discovered some stunt that seems to be of benefit in practical work, to send it in so that we may lay it before thousands of brother projectionists in this and other lands. It gains a man just exactly nothing at all to hug to his breast little things he has "dug up." On the other hand it does do a lot of good to set them forth for the benefit of all.

PROPER COLOR FOR BORDERS

JOHN L. BRADLEY of London, England, writes, "I have found your writings very helpful because you deal with practical things and in a way that they may be easily understood. Regarding screen border, I would ask your indulgence in answering this question: Is black best, or is some tint of gray or some other color better? I have, before presuming to trouble you, made inquiries here, only to reap a variety of opinions, apparently based either upon abstract theory or pure guess work. May I hope to be favored with your views?"



Many years ago, when I first entered projection (1904), screens were not bordered. When first I began writing some nondescript borders had come into use, but were a very poor affair. Finally, after studying the matter, I bought a lot of cheap black cloth, and after the show closed and the rest had all departed for the night, I installed it, letting it extend just a trifle into the picture—about half an inch, as I remember it.

I was myself rather astounded at the effect. So much so that I told the exhibitor about my experiment next day, asking him to remain while I put it on again that night. It never came down again, except to install it on a proper frame. (Also, he never paid me for that cloth!)

I then began advocating black as a screen border, and soon the benefits were so obvious that it became the universal practice. All of which is merely blowing my own horn, of course, but perhaps not offensively loud. And now as to your question:

Some of our scientific gentlemen have lately raised objection to the use of black for the reason that it tends to form too

PROJECTION FACTS by BRENKERT

The BRENKERT
Alternating Current ARC Control

An alternating current projection lamp can maintain clear, white screen illumination only if the arc control regulating the feeding of the carbons is very accurate in operation.

The Brenkert arc control of the Brenkert model K lamp meets these exacting requirements and has the following important and exclusive features:

1. No adjustment necessary to compensate for temperature changes of the lamp. 2. Once adjusted, always adjusted. 3. No contacts to clean. 4. Extreme feeding accuracy not impaired by lamp mechanism being clean or dirty or oiled or dry. 5. Ruggedly constructed and always reliable. 6. A revelation in fully automatic arc regulation.

YOU CAN HAVE PERFECT PROJECTION IN YOUR THEATRE BY SEEING THE BRENKERT DISTRIBUTOR IN YOUR TERRITORY OR BY WRITING DIRECT TO—

BRENKERT LIGHT PROJECTION CO.
DETROIT Engineers and Manufacturers MICHIGAN

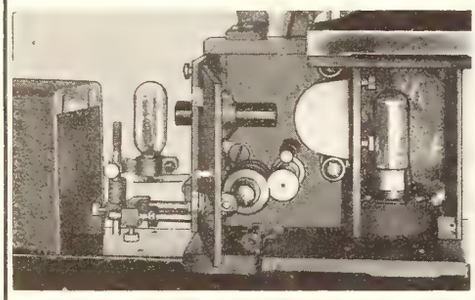
Richardson's Handbooks on Projection
IN THREE VOLUMES

Universally accredited as the best and most practical treatise ever published on projection and the many problems daily confronting the man in the projection room. The remedy for hundreds of every day perplexing annoyances is explained in detail and in simple language.



Volume 1-2 is devoted to the general subject of projection including its allied activities, but without information on sound. Volume 3 deals exclusively with sound. All three volumes are profusely illustrated and contain over 1400 pages of information and helps. Each volume contains Richardson's famous Question and Answer Series.

VOLUME 1-2 (one unit).....$ 6.20
VOLUME 3 ..... 5.10
VOLUMES 1-2 and 3 (complete set)..... 10.20

QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP
1790 BROADWAY NEW YORK

1936
Coupes
Phaetons
Sedans
Limousines
Cabriolets comfort ease luxury
FEB. 13TH IS THE DATE

MELLAPHONE
WIDE RANGE SOUND-ON-FILM

WHEN you buy Mellaphone Sound Equipment, you buy proven satisfaction. Over 3000 installations tell the story. Buy outright on the weekly payment plan, easy terms. Full information on request.

The choice of the United States Government

MELLAPHONE CORPORATION
ROCHESTER, NEW YORK

N E W & N O V E L

The "BESTOMATIC COLOR SPOT" is a 500-watt baby spot with a self-starting motor operated color wheel with 7 colors. Colors can be changed 1, 2, 3 or 6 times per minute by means of a simple adjustment. Lamp adjustable for spot or flood with ample cooling for 500-watt bulb. Complete, less bulb, for A.C. 60 cycle, 110 volts, $25.00. Write for literature or see your dealer.

BEST DEVICES CO.
200 Film Bldg. Cleveland, Ohio

Motion Picture Patents My Specialty

PATENTS
William N. Moore
Patent Attorney

Loan and Trust Building
Washington, D. C.

The first important step is to learn whether you can obtain a patent. Please send sketch of your invention with $10, and I will examine the pertinent U. S. patents and inform you whether you are entitled to a patent, the cost and manner of procedure. Personal attention. Established 35 years.

Copyright your play $5.00
Trade-Mark your goods or titles $30.00

WHERE'S THAT MONEY?

Know the answer at a glance, right every time. Stop the leaks; find out what pays best and use it more. Know why you made a profit or not. Know where profit comes from. Send $10; money back if not as represented.

EASY METHOD LEDGER SYSTEM
Seymour, Indiana

high a contrast, therefore to make the picture edges seem more highly illuminated than the center. This objection, coming as it does from the aforesaid scientific end of things, is much voiced, and you, Friend Bradley, may well have been treated to it over there. At first glance the argument seems reasonable. It would be reasonable, too, were theatre screens evenly illuminated as they should be. The fact is, however, that screens are not evenly illuminated. If you doubt it, have them measured with a photometer. You may be amazed, as I was when I, in conjunction with Jesse Hopkins, a fellow member of the Projection Practice Committee of the S. M. P. E., measured a lot of screens in New York City. It was found that in all classes of theatres, the screen was far brighter in the center than at the outer zones. The difference not infrequently was amazing. One of our very best Broadway theatres measured approximately 15-foot candles (figures from memory) at center, and only from 4 to 5 at the outer edges. Some dropped even more than that at the outer zones.

Granting that what the scientific gentlemen say is all quite true, insofar as has to do with the sharp contrast tending to make the outer zones seem brighter than they really are, it really seems to me that under the conditions that might be a very decided benefit. What do you think?

My own view is that, provided the screen be evenly illuminated all over its area (a condition I doubt you will find in any present day theatre), then some neutral tint of perhaps gray would be better than black for a picture border, in theatres in which there is high screen illumination—say, in excess of 10 or 12 foot-candles. For theatres having low screen illumination, below 10 foot-candles, I am not so sure about it, even with uniform screen illumination.

Under present conditions of uneven screen illumination, due entirely to imperfect projector optical trains, I certainly hold non-glossy black to be best at the picture edge, though it may, and very possibly should be shaded off gradually in neutral tints toward the outer edge of the border. However, a strip from 3 to 4 inches wide, of pure black, should border the picture, extending into the picture by 1 to 2 inches.

The reason for having it extend into the picture is that the picture edge will not be plainly visible on entirely non-gloss black, therefore slight movements of the screen image as a whole will not be so visible to theatre patrons.

CHARACTERISTICS OF RCA-57 TUBE

I HAVE BEEN receiving letters from theatre managers and projectionists asking whether the RCA-57 and RCA-82 tubes are interchangeable with tubes 50 and 81. They are not.

The RCA-57 is of a newer type, being a triple-grid amplifier or detector, with a.c. heater. Its complete characteristics are:

Heater.—Coated uni-potential cathode: Voltage, 2.5, a.c. or d.c. Current, 1 ampere.

Direct inter-electrode capacitances.—Between control grid (or cap of the tube) and the plate, 0.010 micro-microfarads (one micro-microfarad is equivalent to 1x10-12 farad). Between the control grid, and the cathode and scren grid connected together, 5.2 micro-microfarads. Between the plate, and the cathode and screen grid connected together, 6.8 micro-microfarads.

Overall length.—4 19/32 to 4 27/32 inches.

Maximum diameter.—1 9/16 inches. Base, 6-pin.

AMPLIFIER (CLASS A).

Operating conditions and characteristics.—Heater (with shield can), 2.5 a.c. volts. Plate, 250 volts, maximum. Screen, 100 volts, maximum. Grid, —3 volts. Suppressor, connected to cathode at socket. Amplification factor, greater than 1,500. (In general, the amplification per stage in a screen grid stage is determined by the mutual conductance and load impedance.) Plate resistance, greater than 1:5 megohms. Mutual conductance, 1,225 micro-mhos (conductance units). Cathode current cut-off, approximately 7 grid bias volts. Plate current, 2 milliamperes. Screen current, 1 milliampere maximum.

DETECTOR

Operating conditions as biased detector.—Heater, 2.5 volts a.c. Plate, 250 volts maximum. Screen, 100 volts maximum. Grid, —6 volts, approximately. Suppressor, connected to cathode at socket. Plate load, 250,000 ohms, or 500 h. choke shunted by 0.25 megohm. (For resistance load, plate supply voltage will be voltage at plate plus voltage drop in load caused by specified plate current.) Plate current, adjusted to 0.1 milliampere with no alternating current input signal.

To be noted is that in designing circuits for use of the 57 as a detector, it is desirable to work from the detector stage directly into the power output stage.

Also to be noted is that the recommended practice is to have no potential difference between the heater and the cathode. If this practice is not followed, the heater may be made negative with respect to the cathode by not more than 45 volts.

As to the RCA-82 tube, this is a full-wave mercury vapor rectifier. It is not interchangeable with the RCA-280 (commonly referred to as RCA-80), which is also a full-wave rectifier, but of the high-vacuum type.

THE CAUSE OF CARBON PENCILING

FROM THE New Jersey State Prison comes a letter, certain excerpts from which are taken, as follows:

"Have been an interested reader of your departments in MOTION PICTURE HERALD and BETTER THEATRES for the past year. Am an inmate in the New Jersey State Prison. While here have learned motion picture projection. Was taught by another inmate, a member of the New York City projectionists' union who has been licensed for 16 years. He has gone out into the world of freedom again. We have two of your books, one on projection and one on sound. They have helped immensely but do not seem to cover the problems I am now confronted with.

"We have one Simplex projector, using a.c. through a variable type transformer—a.c. at the arc, I mean. Have had trouble due to carbon penciling. This was overcome by using a larger diameter carbon. After reading the chapter in your book devoted to carbons, I discovered the probable cause. Upon connecting an ammeter and voltmeter into the arc circuit I found we were using 52 amperes at 32 volts, with transformer working at its minimum, and 77 amperes at 33 or 34 volts at maximum, which evidently was all wrong, as the transformer name plate set its rating at 25 to 40 amperes at 110 volts.

"Examining the transformer I discovered we were using only two of the three primary leads, the common, and one 110-volt wire. I feel that the trouble, so far as penciling is concerned, was due to the fact that this other lead was not connected. Will you kindly explain so that I may set the matter before the proper authority correctly?"

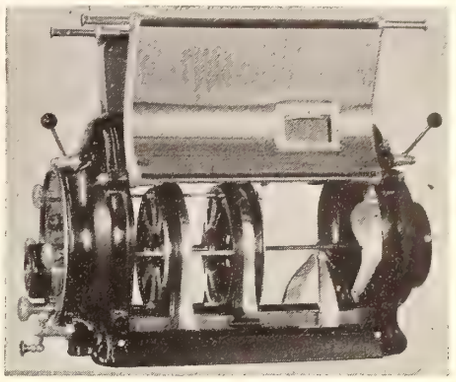
Your description of the Edison transformer is not sufficient to enable me to determine definitely just what that third wire is for. There is a transformer which may be used on 110- or on 220-volts, according to which leads are connected. However, I think you have one of the early type transformers in which the amperage was altered by making different wire connections. J. H. Hallberg made one that way in the early days, and, possibly Edison did too. I cannot remember. However, the matter is easily determined. You can use only two of the three wires. Disconnect one (either one) of the wires, and connect the idle one. If the other wire is for 220-volt circuits, then you will get only half the former light. Possibly the arc won't strike, though I believe it will. If it is another 110-volt connection, you will get a different amperage, presumably less. Connect in your ammeter when you try it out. You cannot do any damage in any event. Penciling means the carbon is overloaded. It is too small in diameter for the amperage being used.

As to the shutter, I see, though you do not say so, you have an old style in-front-of-the-lens shutter. I would certainly recommend to the prison authorities the installation of a rear shutter. It can and by all means should be installed. It reduces fire danger and film heating by more than 50%. It therefore makes for added safety and longer life of films, and the projector mechanism as well, since it then is not subjected to high temperatures. In the end it will pay for itself many times over in the saving effected.

As to the present shutter, I don't know which edition you have of the Bluebook. Presumably the fourth and the Sound volume, or fifth. If that is correct, turn to page 620 and under "How To Trim Shutter Blade" you will see what should be done. By substituting paper shutter blade (which will last for weeks) you may experiment as much as you like, and still leave your metal blade unaltered. If you find you can make an improvement, then trim the metal blade to the paper blade dimensions, and there you are. It is unlikely, but possible, that you are using low-cycle current (say 25-cycle), in which case the flicker is inherent in the light itself, and there is nothing you can do.

If you have some other edition than the fourth, then here is what you should do: Secure a sheet of stiff, thin cardboard, such as business cards are printed on. Remove your metal shutter blade and cut out a paper one just like it, omitting the outside ring, which is not necessary. Install the paper shutter blade in place of the metal one, having made a mark on the hub opposite one side of one of the blades before removing the metal blade, so you can install the paper one without the trouble of setting it.

Now gradually trim off say, 1/16 of an inch from both sides of all blades and try it out. If there is no travel ghost, remove another like portion from all blade edges and try it out. Keep this up until faint travel ghost results, whereupon cut another paper blade with just a bit wider blades—say, 1/16 wider—and see what the results are as to flicker. If there is an improvement, trim your metal blade to conform to the dimensions of the paper one, and—there you are. If there is no improvement you can do as you see fit about trimming the metal blade. If the result is as good as it was, but no better—well anyhow you will get some more screen illumination by trimming it down.



STATE USES MOTION PICTURES

B. A. AUGHIBAUGH, supervisor of Visual Instruction, Department of Education, for the State of Ohio, hands me a 15-page catalog listing films and slides carried in the Visual Instruction Exchange, owned and operated by the state. Dr. B. O. Skinner, Director of Education, certainly has, as evidenced by the catalog, built up a remarkable exchange containing a large assortment of both 35- and 16-millimeter films, all on non-inflammable stock, and a comprehensive collection of stereopticon slides, the whole dealing entirely with educational subjects.

This catalog interested me particularly because I had just listened to an address by Donald P. Bean of the University of Chicago, in which the view was expressed that with proper, well planned procedure, motion pictures can have very large value in educational work. Certainly this view must be well founded.

In the catalog certain books are listed under the title, "Some Helpful Literature." In this list "A Million and One Nights," by Terry Ramsaye, leads the rest. In projection, the Bluebook is the only one named.

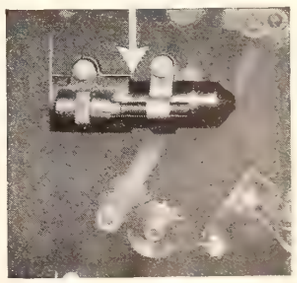
AT LAST!

ANNOUNCING THE NEW STRONG A.C. MOGUL

NRA

An arc lamp that operates smoothly and quietly on alternating current, and is intermediate in light intensity and operating costs between the present low intensity and the Hylo.

For Sale by Trustworthy Independent Supply Dealers Everywhere



Write today for free circular. No obligation.

The Strong Electric Corporation

2501 Lagrange St., TOLEDO, OHIO

Export Office
44 Whitehall St., New York City, N. Y.

MICROMETER ADJUSTMENT makes perfect lens settings EASY in this NEW Better SOUND HEAD

LANGSENKAMP - WHEELER BRASS WORKS
Indianapolis

PLANNING THE THEATRE

A SERVICE CONDUCTED BY PETER M. HULSKEN, A. I. A.

The Question:

WE ARE now building a small theatre. It is to be a one-story building, 100 feet long and 30 feet wide, finished 16 feet high inside, with no balcony. The building is now under construction, and the thought occurred to me that you might have some helpful suggestions as to planning the entrance, lobby, seating arrangement, interior and stage.

In your opinion, is masonite suitable for the interior, as that is what we are planning to use?—A. H. C.

The Answer:

NOTING THE dimensions of your theatre, I am afraid that the ceiling height is too low. It would be better if you could increase this to 18 feet at the high part of the auditorium floor.

Beginning with the front of the theatre, I suggest that you place two sets of 5-foot doors in the center of the front elevation. This will give you a lobby 12 feet wide and taking off the thickness of the walls, there will be left a space of 7 feet, 6 inches in width on each side of the lobby. This space being too small for store rooms, I suggest that you plan for a women's room on one side of the lobby, and for a men's room and an office on the other, these rooms to open from the cross aisle or foyer, except the office, which should open from the lobby. Set the entrance doors about 8 feet back from the front of the building, allowing space for a ticket booth in front of the entrance doors.

Place another set of doors 10 feet back from the entrance doors. This will give you a 10 by 12-foot lobby. Make the ceiling in the lobby at least 9 feet high. Over this front part plan for the projection room and be sure to provide for wash room facilities in connection with same.

In the auditorium first provide for a 5-foot cross aisle leading to the wall aisles. Plan for a center bank of 13 seats in the middle of the auditorium, with aisles along the side walls. Of course you can plan for a center aisle and gain one more seat in each row, but you know that a center aisle is not advisable and the use of same should be prevented if possible, as it takes the place of the best seats in the house and the frequent use of same interferes with the vision of the audience, while the wall aisles do not hinder at all.

For such a small house you do not need a stage. An apron about 10 feet wide will do. You can use this for small vaudeville acts if necessary. However, design this as a proscenium arch. Place near the stage in each side wall exit doors as required by your State code. So far we have used for lobby, apron and thickness of walls, 35 feet of the 100-foot length of the building, leaving 65 feet for seats. After taking off at least 7 feet, 6 inches for space between the first row and apron, we find that there is space for 23 rows, making the total seating capacity 299 seats.

I find no objection to your using the material you mention as it takes paint satisfactorily and if you employ someone who is well familiar with applying this material, you can obtain good results by using beveled-edge design. The manufacturer of this material will furnish you with tools and designs.

Provide for as many poster cabinets in front and in the lobby as possible.

▲

NOTE:

IN THIS department Better Theatres will be glad to answer questions pertaining to the preliminary consideration involved in the planning of a new theatre or in the remodeling of an existing one. Only requests for ideas will be answered, since this department cannot assume the practical functions of an architect. All communications intended for this department should be addressed to "Better Theatres," 1790 Broadway, New York. They will be answered in this department. None will be answered by mail. Although only initials will be used in signing the questions published, it is a requirement that all letters bear the signature and address of their writers. The replies will be prepared personally by Mr. Hulsken, who is a practical architect and a member of the American Institute of Architects.

The Question:

THERE ARE two independent companies who are interested in constructing a modern theatre in Panama City. Both have asked me to request that you furnish them with any information available regarding purchase of equipment, chairs, air cooling systems, etc.

One company has already drawn up their plans for a theatre 150x50 feet, capacity of 1,045 (438 seats on first floor; 369 seats in first balcony, to be used for better class public; 238 seats for gallery). This company owns the property on which they plan to build their theatre. They are well-known building contractors.

The other company proposes building a theatre of about the same capacity as the above mentioned one, but have not yet drawn up their plans.

It would be appreciated if you could supply these companies, also myself, with information requested just as early as possible—J. R. N.

The Answer:

DESIGNING a motion picture theatre in a warm climate, such as in Panama, is to me an entirely different problem from that of designing an average theatre in an ordinary climate. It is my opinion that to enjoy a performance in comfort in such a theatre one should eliminate all thoughts of excessive heat and design the interior in such a way that nothing will refer to high temperature. The auditorium should be made as comfortable as possible, and an even temperature from 70° to 75° should be maintained.

The first consideration I would give to the building would be to plan it so that all roofs and walls would be properly insulated, so as to prevent the heat from the sun to penetrate to the interior. The next consideration would be to install a very efficient air conditioning plant. Since I think it would be nearly impossible to obtain water at 60° temperature, a refrigeration plant would have to be installed. Plan for as many air changes per hour as possible, and provide for plenty of cool air blast in the lobby and foyer. The direction of this blast should be toward the entrance doors, so as to prevent the warm air from entering through the doors when opened. When the building is properly insulated and the air cooling plant in good operation I do not think you will experience any trouble in keeping the auditorium comfortable.

Further I suggest that all electric lighting be of the concealed type, as an exposed light bulb suggests heat. Outside of the proscenium arch I would eliminate all drapes or fabric hangings, and whatever there is to be used should be of a floral design. The decorative treatment also calls for a great deal of study. Use only real light tones, as red and yellow make one think of heat. If decorative panels are required I suggest you use a floral or a cascade or a snow capped mountain motif. A modernistic design in line effect would also be satisfactory.

Provide only the amount of doors necessary for the safety of the public and provide them with self-closing devices so that no door shall be open any longer than necessary. For the seats I would not advise the use of velour. Use leather or a glazed fabric. As for floor covering in aisles or foyer, I would advise use of rubber or cork.

▲

On Decoration

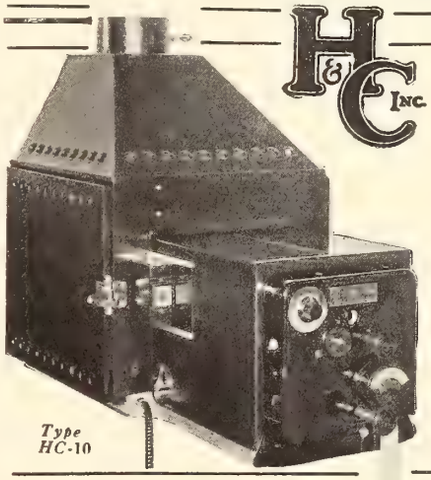
SO MANY readers have sent inquiries relative to ways for decorating old and new theatres, that I feel obliged to try to give a description of a very inexpensive, but an effective modern decoration scheme. This scheme will eliminate a great deal of painting, and in new theatres, eliminate plastering of side and rear walls, which item will mean a great saving in the cost of construction. I want it understood that I am not trying to discourage the use of paint or do away with color treatments, but simply to describe a very inexpensive way of renovation, which can be done in the shortest time possible and will change the atmosphere of a theatre after remodeling.

Let us take as an example the plain side and rear walls of an auditorium. To eliminate the plainness of such walls, I suggest breaking up this wall surface by introducing wall sections divided by fluted pilasters. Making these pilasters out of natural wood or ornamental plaster would be rather expensive, so I am going to suggest a material which was once used for only walls and roofs of factory buildings: namely, corrugated sheet metal. This corrugation will give the effect of the modern interpretation of fluting. Cover this metal with a thin material, such as flexwood of any kind of natural finish desired, and the desired result will be like a real wood pilaster. The effect can be enriched by using natural wood bases and caps or by placing wood strips horizontally at equal distances, according to the lengths of the sheets.

The panels between the pilasters could be built out of a wood-grained material. Of this product there are several kinds manufactured, so one is not limited to a certain choice. The best results will be obtained by having the grain of the wood mitred or placed in a checkerboard pattern, each square to be from 24 to 30 inches in width. The ceiling should be plastered and should be decorated in a very light soft tone, free from any ornamentation, except a few shadowed borders along the walls.

Indirect light fixtures should be used for the wall panels, or a more effective but more expensive way of lighting would be a continuous band of concealed lights behind obscure glass in the angle of ceiling and walls. In place of wood-grained material one could also use sound absorbing sheets

Modern Marquee With Adler Aluminum Letters



Brings Quick Returns!

THIS modern marquee installation was designed, built and erected complete by us, the work including new steel framing, soffit and roof. While the Cinema was not originally built with a marquee, the owners say that the new installation has not only enhanced its appearance, but substantially increased box office receipts. It will quickly pay for itself. Ask us for data on signs or letters.

BEN ADLER SIGNS, INC.
STATE-LAKE BLDG., 190 N. STATE ST., CHICAGO
Phone: Randolph 4747

The Symbol of Perfection in Projection

H & C INC.

Always Improving

THE identification of "H & C" with Perfection in Projection Lighting is the result of many years of research and the active technical skill in the manufacture of "H & C" products.

HALL & CONNOLLY, INC.
24 VAN DAM STREET NEW YORK, N. Y.

Write for Illustrated Booklet

it's the auto industry's gift to the theatre

PER-FU DEODORIZES YOUR THEATRE

CONTROLLED ELECTRIC DISSEMINATION

Per-fu frees your lobby of stuffy "crowd odors." Economical to operate.

COMBINATION OFFER
1 master Disseminator. $3.50
1 pound Per-fu..... 5.00
ONLY $7.50
(enough for 30 to 45 days)

Odors: oriental, jasmine, lavender, rose, carnation, lily, violet, orange blossom, lilac.

Sent postpaid in U. S. on check with order, or C.O.D.
PER-FU CO. of HOLLYWOOD
1210 North Fairfax Avenue, Hollywood, Calif.

Genuine
DUOVAC TUBES

205-D	$3.25.	Ten for	$22.50
864-A	1.00.	Ten for	7.00
242	10.00.	Four for	35.00
211	10.00.	Four for	35.00
845	12.00.	Four for	38.00
872	9.50.	Four for	32.00
866	2.25.	Ten for	17.50
842	3.00.	217-C	8.50

3A P. E. Cell—$5.50
868 P. E. Cell—$3.60
Fully Guaranteed
HARRISON RADIO CO.
142-B Liberty Street, N. Y. C.

or tiles, especially when the acoustic qualities of the house demand improvement. However, this panel will need decorating.

These wall panels should be applied on furring strips, which method will be a great improvement for old houses where the walls are covered wtih ornaments and where the walls are not straight and plumb, and certainly will improve the acoustics. I am sure that this scheme will make a very pleasant effect and a total transformation of any old theatre at a very low cost. The cost of wood-grained material in imitation or real wood runs from 5½ to 35c per square foot.

The effect of the above treatment can be elaborated by the application of a wainscoting of mableized material, which is also easily applied. Another very effective scheme, which is also of a rather low cost, is to paint the walls and ceiling of the auditorium as light as possible, then provide for concealed lights with a cut-out cover to throw designs on wall and ceiling. The color scheme can be changed by using differently colored lamps or by changing the gelatines in the cut-out covers. The only drawback of this method is that to obtain good results, the wall and ceiling have to be perfectly smooth and even.

The Demands of Theatre Technology

(Continued from page 6)

should represent a true condition existing at the time such statement is prepared. When such statements do not include at least a remark to cover the sadly neglected maintenance condition, it cannot reflect the whole truth.

Perhaps if the maintenance requirements were considered there would be much less to show as a net figure. But why should we fool ourselves? Delayed maintenance means more expensive maintenance—patchwork maintenance and emergency maintenance means higher maintenance costs in the end.

There are many theatres that are undoubtedly managed ably and honestly, but there still remain enough exceptions to cast the shadow of doubt and to make it worth while to consider the question here of the value of proper maintenance.

In examining the statements of any theatre in the light of the past and present depression in theatre attendance, it is very important to know how successful that manager has been in reducing expenses; for it is one thing to reduce expenses and still operate efficiently with a theatre and equipment which has not been permitted to depreciate faster than a normal rate, and quite another to reduce expenses and permit both theatre and equipment to fall to pieces.

It is those theatres which have been successful in regard to reduced expenses in proper ratio to the physical condition of the theatre and equipment, that will make the best showing as the upturn in business proceeds.

HOW DEPRECIATION SHOULD BE HANDLED

ON MAINTENANCE some discussion should be devoted to the item of depreciation. The purpose of charging depreciation to expense is to distribute extraordinary costs of replacements equitably over the useful life of the property or equipment. The charge should be credited to a depreciation reserve account against which actual replacements are subsequently charged.

Are there any depreciation reserves left in the theatre business, did any ever exist, where are they now?

Each theatre, depending upon type, construction, etc., and each item of equipment should have its own rate of depreciation. This rate is so established that the accumulated reserves, plus the secondhand value, should represent a sufficient amount in dollars and cents to replace the property or equipment when it is desirable to do so.

It follows from this that the less spent on maintenance, the higher should be the rate of depreciation. If this had been true during the past three or four years, judging from the amounts spent on maintenance there should have been some very handsome sums set aside as a depreciation reserve. This, of course, has not been the case. However, there is a ratio between expenditures for maintenance and the amount set aside for depreciation which will result in maximum life, highest efficiency, and greatest utility of both theatre and equipment.

The annual depreciation charge is usually set at a fixed percentage of the gross value of the property or the equipment, generally with no other maintenance consideration other than to repair breakdowns. This established percentage is based upon the premise that the replacement costs would equal the initial costs. This is obviously not always the case. Any appreciable change in the unit costs from time to time should necessitate a change in the annual depreciation rate in order that at time of replacement there would be sufficient money in the depreciation reserve to cover the complete replacement. This change in annual depreciation rate is most generally established by a careful revaluation of the theatre and equipment—in other words, an accurate appraisal.

There is a great tendency on the part of circuit operators to neglect adequate provisions for depreciation during periods when box office grosses are declining. This is always done in order to make a more favorable showing on the operating statement. During such periods of declining box office grosses there is also that great temptation to cut down maintenance expenditures, and consequently the theatre properties and equipment of this country are in a deplorable condition at this time.

PROPER PLACE OF MAINTENANCE

TODAY MOST theatres, either through the inability of landlords to get enough rent or because of receiverships or bankruptcies, have been revalued and readjusted downward during the past eighteen months to a lower dollar and cents scale in order to meet the condition of lower box office grosses. But this revaluation downward has only altered the financial setup and has not corrected the deplorable physical conditions that now exist. Too many of those higher executives who have been busily engaged in this revaluation process seem to believe that this revaluation has corrected all evils; they seem to have no knowledge of the absolutely dilapidated physical conditions that need attention now.

Just as it was pointed out in a previous article of this series, that this is a beginning of a new era so far as the theatre manager is concerned, so it will be a new era for theatre maintenance in scope, conception and organization. Maintenance should be a branch of engineering and therefore tied in definitely with the chief engineer of a circuit or group of theatres; the chief engineer in reality should be an executive of the circuit with definite engineering background and experience, capable of meeting any technical or scientific problem.

The maintenance department should be composed of a minimum number of men, properly trained and with definite work and responsibilities, allocated to them. There should be no attempt to build up a staff of mechanics or trouble shooters, nor should any effort be made to send mechanics on missions to distant towns when the travel expense, salary, hotel and meals make the cost of the job exceed what it could be done for with local labor. The maintenance department should be an engineering service to every theatre manager, a control on maintenance expenditures, an agent for allocating maintenance appropriations, and a means of checking work done locally under the theatre manager.

The more up-to-date conception of maintenance should place it definitely as one of the important functions of theatre operation and management. In the past most any detail that did not definitely fall as a responsibility of some other department, was shunted over to the maintenance—in brief, it was the "catch all" for any and everything. Consequently a department not recognized as on a par with other management departments, was looked down upon by all, managers as well as executives.

There are many theatre operating and management executives who know so little about the mechanics or the technical side of theatre management that they present an extremely difficult situation in discussing with them maintenance problems. Such executives, because of no engineering background, don't even want to make the effort to understand, and hence say yes or no many times, basing their decisions on the most superficial facts. It is for this reason that it is believed that ultimately the larger circuits will have an engineering officer of the company—call him chief engineer or anything else—who can be counted upon to direct and control all phases of theatre operation that is based upon technical or scientific facts.

The organization for maintenance should never be intricate or numerous so far as the circuit headquarters is concerned. The maintenance department should be advisory and supervisory, not a direct operating department, employing projectionists, electricians, upholsterers, painters, carpenters, handymen, etc., on a department pay roll. That particular type of labor should be hired, paid for and charged to the theatre as needed. Such a maintenance department so organized so as not to saddle on each theatre an appreciable weekly charge in the form of overhead expense for an elaborate department of skilled mechanics, for which a theatre might not have use for periods of several weeks at a time, could and would be of definite value to a circuit.

It is to be noted that during this entire discussion no attempt has been made to include purchasing, warehousing or the service of supplies to theatres. In many instances it is economical and a sound policy to combine these functions with maintenance. But at this time it is not wise to confuse the maintenance issue or to becloud it by such considerations.

If the theatres of this country are to be safe, free from fires, panics, and catastrophies; and performances are to be free from interruption, maintenance is of primary importance now to every circuit and independent theatre. If the theatres are to reap returns promptly with any marked improvement in theatre attendance, repairs and renewals should be promptly cared for.

The year 1934 is going to bring that improvement in theatre attendance if every person connected with the motion picture industry bends every effort toward that end. The Motion Picture Industry is like one giant organization (the Code has made it so), with various units competing against each other. Any marked improvement or development by one unit will automatically raise the standard of the whole industry. All who find themselves actively a part of this great industry in January, 1934, should have the right to believe that they are to be a part of this business for years to come. This industry requires the help of men and women of many temperaments, ages and qualifications. All are important. All should have the aim of creating in this business the brightest futures possible.

Men and women of patience, perseverance and industry who are honest with themselves and their organizations, have every reason to be proud of this industry and to believe that it holds for them the satisfaction of all their desires. The time has come when those who always ask, "What is there in it for me?" will quickly fade out of the picture.

This year is one of service, co-operation, helpfulness and coordination. These are the sign posts of progress and point the way this year.

Duty to Protect Patrons' Property

(Continued from page 15)

patrons, may introduce this fact in a suit to show that he has taken precaution to furnish a place in which the valuables of his patrons may be safeguarded. Also, patrons who fail to take advantage of the check-room cannot recover for lost or stolen valuables unless, of course, it is proved that the loss was occasioned by gross negligence of the theatre employes. Furthermore, it is apparent that where a proprietor provides a suitable place in which to deposit articles of value for safe-keeping, and a patron, failing to take advantage of the service, hangs his hat or other wearing apparel on a hook, or places it in a vacant seat, or leaves it in a dressing room, thereby contributes to a great extent to the loss of the articles, resulting in non-liability of the proprietor. Moreover, in cases of this kind the burden is on the patron to prove negligence of the theatre owner or his employes, otherwise there is no liability.

CASE

For illustration, in the late case of Nolde (164 Atl. 804), it was shown that a patron left an expensive fur coat hanging upon a rack in a room not having an attendant therein. The coat was stolen and the patron filed suit against the proprietor to recover its value.

However, since the room in which the coat was left was not intended for hanging wearing apparel, except when the owners of such apparel were in the room, the higher court refused to hold the proprietor liable, and said:

DECISION

"Neither actual nor implied bailment or constructive custody having been established, there is no evidence of such negligence on the part of the defendant (proprietor). . . . The burden of proof upon this point was upon the plaintiff (patron); for it is only in a case of a bailment that the burden is cast upon a bailee (proprietor) to account for the loss of the goods."

CASE

In another case it was shown that a patron purchased all of the seats in a box for himself and a party of friends. A usual curtain or portiere hung at the door, and the walls of the box were supplied with hooks intended for the use of patrons

(Continued on page 34)

Projecting Sound Pictures

By AARON NADELL

A Complete Textbook on Sound, with chapters on the following:

Film Reproduction
Sound-on-disc
Sound-on-film
Amplifiers & Rectifiers
Vacuum Tubes
Acoustics
The Loud Speaker
Motors & Generators
Tracing Trouble
Recording

PRICE (including postage): $2.60

QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP

1790 Broadway, NEW YORK, N. Y.

TERMS as Low as $50 Down

Genuine Brand New RCA PHOTOPHONE, WIDE RANGE SOUND HEADS

Originally Priced $1200.00

—NOW—

For Powers or Simplex $295

Liberal Allowance for Trade-In

For AC or DC operation with any make Amplifier. Absolutely complete with RCA Photocells, G.E. Exciter Lamp, Bausch & Lomb Optical System, etc.

S. O. S. CORP.

1600 BROADWAY, NEW YORK CITY

AIR CONDITIONING CHARTS

READY MARCH 1

. . . when you will be thinking ahead on your requirements for proper conditions during the warm months. If you have not already sent in your request for the charts, do so at once. Write:

BETTER THEATRES

1790 BROADWAY NEW YORK

EQUIPMENT AFFAIRS

Equipment News and Comment

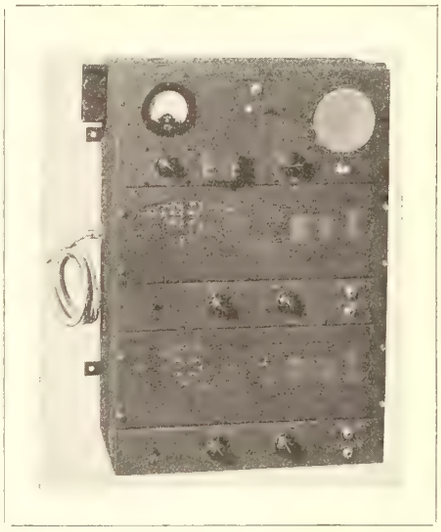
"SUPREX" PROJECTION

● Development of the a. c. projection carbon has been accompanied by efforts to adapt this very type of carbon to an improved d. c. projection arc. This phase of the innovation has not had the publicity accorded the use of this carbon directly with alternating current, yet it has already stimulated a certain amount of experimental work on the part of lamp manufacturers.

According to the National Carbon Company, developers of this new type of projection carbon, the combination which will probably be in most general use consists of a 7-mm. x 12 copper-coated high-intensity positive, and a 6-mm. x 9 copper-coated cored negative. Lamps adapted to the new carbon for use with direct current are distinguished by the term "Suprex."

Such a lamp has been placed on the market by the Imperial Electric and Manufacturing Company of Los Angeles, under the trade name of Sterling-Suprex. Tests, according to the manufacturer, have indicated a volume of light 3½ times that of the low-intensity lamp. The Sterling-Suprex draw from 40 to 50 amperes, while the arc voltage is 36.

This product was designed by C. S. Ashcraft and is distributed by Continental Theatre Accessories, Inc., New York; Western Theatrical Equipment Company, San Francisco; Joe Goldberg, Chicago; B. F. Shearer Company, Seattle; and the Brick Photoplay Supply Company, Los Angeles.



ATTRACTION LETTERS

● A complete line of cast aluminum attraction letters has been marketed by Ben Adler Signs, Inc., of Chicago. These are adapted to any type of sign using changeable letters, either of flat or of raised glass. They are of rigid construction and designed so as not to bend or break. All letters are cast solid.

WIDE RANGE AMPLIFIERS

● Two new series of wide-range theatre sound amplifiers have been introduced by the Clough-Brengle Company of Chicago. One series is an a. c. line-operated amplifier for use with any soundhead and stage speaker system, providing a usable peak output power of 27 watts. Single and double channel models are available.

The other series is similar to the larger amplifier except that it permits lower costs for smaller houses where an undistorted peak power of 15 watts is sufficient. Both amplifiers supply p.e. cell voltage and exciter lamp current. Switching facilities allow instant switching between projectors, and in dual-channel models, for quick changeover to the spare amplifier.

Clough-Brengle amplifier.

These amplifiers may be connected directly to any 500-ohm stage speaker line. However, they have special output ranges to utilize the new dual speaker systems having special high note or "tweeter" speakers for wide-range reproduction.

TESTING SERVICE

● Service engineers of Electrical Research Products are now supplied with new testing apparatus for making measurements on Western Electric sound systems to determine quantitatively the actual response at various frequencies.

The new test apparatus consists of two newly designed meters and a multi-frequency test film. One of these meters is a combination d. c. voltmeter, ammeter and ohmmeter, which permits the measurement of every d. c. voltage and current used in the Western Electric sound system. In addition, it has a self-contained source of voltage which permits its use as an ohmmeter by means of which resistance values can be quickly and accurately checked.

The other meter is a combination a. c. voltmeter and power level indicator. The a. c. voltmeter will measure every a. c. voltage used in the sound equipment. The power level indicator has a range of minus-18 to plus-56 decibels, so that it can be used to measure the output of the largest amplifier. These meters are portable.

Used in connection with these meters is a new multi-frequency test film produced by Eastern Service Studios, a licensee of Erpi. Each of these films is especially recorded and calibrated, and provides the necessary high and steady output. Through the use of the test films and power level indicator, the frequency characteristic, the gain and the overload point of the sound system can be readily determined.

It is disclosed that more than 1,700 exhibitors have signed the new Repair and Replacement agreements offered by Electrical Research Products.

NEW INSTALLATIONS

● The steady increase in the amount of equipment being purchased reflects a revived interest in normal theatre maintenance that at the same time reflects a steady increase in patronage. To some extent current installations represent new theatres, but it is significant that most of them reconditioning in some form. General reports cover most of the country and a wide variety of equipment and furnishings, while at hand are special reports on specific types of equipment. Among them are listed the following theatre interests:

Curtain control equipment.—O. C. Lam Amusement Company, Cedartown, Ga.; Larchmont, Larchmont, N. Y.; Argonne, Belair, Md.; Aldine, Baltimore; Little, Baltimore; State, Richmond, Va.; Lyric, Lexington, Va.; Tiger, Auburn, Ala.; Virginia, Wellston, Ohio; Orient, Dunmore, Pa.; Kingston, Kingston, N. Y.; Rex, Baltimore; State, Harrisburg, Pa.; Lane, New York City; Old Howard, Boston; Heights, New York City; Yorktown, New York City; Arden, New York City; Alpha, Brooklyn; Barron, Pratt, Kan.; Paramount, High Point, N. C.; and Heights theatre, Cleveland Heights, Ohio. Reported by the Vallen Electrical Company, Inc., of Akron, Ohio.

Air conditioning equipment.—Parkway, Minneapolis; Rialto, Dickinson, N. Dak.; Lake Shore, Chicago; De Luxe, Chicago; Strand, St. Paul; Villas, Cicero, Ill.; Piller, Valley City, N. Dak.; Paramount, Bismarck, N. Dak.; Capitol, Bismarck, N. Dak.; Ritz, Newburgh, N. Y.; World, Minneapolis; Drexel, Chicago; Macklind, St. Louis; and Rio, Beaumont, Tex. Reported by United States Air Conditioning Corporation of Minneapolis.

Sound reproduction equipment.—Palace, Erwin, Tenn.; Lyric, Beattyville, Ky.; Photoplay, Grassflat, Pa.; Orpheum, Nelsonville, Ohio; the Family, the State, and the Sorg in Middletown, Ohio; Lyric, Hamilton, Ohio; Oak Harbor, Ohio; Central Park, Birmingham, Ala.; Lyric, Gassaway, W. Va.; Fraternity, Baldwinsville, Mass.; the Bijou and the Booth in Knoxville, Tenn.; and the Liberty, Kalamazoo, Mich. Reported by Cincinnati Time Recorder Company of Cincinnati.

NEW THEATRE PROJECTS

Following is a list of theatre projects involving new constructions, remodeling and re-equipping. This list has been compiled from the latest reports available on January 9. The listing is arranged alphabetically by states. An asterisk indicates information received since a prior report.

California

BELLFLOWER—Long Beach Building & Loan Association, corner First and Locust, Long Beach. Will repair theatre at 330 N. Downey Avenue. Architect, C. E. Murry. Engineer, 6239 Newell Street, Huntington Park. Cost $4,900. Population 6,700.

COMPTON—Lessee, R. D. Whitson and Albert Hansen, 253 E. Compton Boulevard. Architect, H. L. Gogerty, 221 E. Compton Boulevard. Seating capacity 850. Building new theatre. Marquee, acoustic treatment, ventilating system, gas-fired heating to be installed.

LOS ANGELES—Jeanette Bell, 715 Rives-Strong Building. Will repair theatre at 6523 Compton Avenue. Architect, Jas. O. Sorrell, 1715 Stamford St., Santa Monica. Cost $8,000.

LOS ANGELES—Auditorium Company, 427 W. 5th Street. Will alter office and theatre building to cost $1,300. Builder, Mission Staff & Stone Company, Inc., 1512 Knowles Street.

SAN FRANCISCO—New Fillmore Theatre, 1329 Fillmore Street. Remodeling interior and exterior of theatre. Architect, A. A. Cantin, 557 Market Street.

Connecticut

EAST HARTFORD—Lessee, The Astor Theatre Company, 1175 Main Street. Alterations to theatre to cost $3,500. Owner, L. B. Comstock, Comstock Building, East Hartford. Contractor, A. K. Beaton, 27 Garvan St., East Hartford.

Georgia

ATLANTA—G. W. Hemphill, care of A. F. N. Everett, architect, 301 Bona Allen Building. To erect theatre.

Illinois

MAYWOOD—Syndicate, care of F. Koenig, architect, 143 S. Ninth Avenue. To erect theatre building.

OAK PARK—Northern Trust Company, 30 S. LaSalle Street. Will erect addition to theatre at 828 S. Oak Avenue. General contractor, Zirwas Construction Company, 1516 N. Hoyne Avenue, Chicago, Ill. Population 64,000.

Maryland

BALTIMORE—Arnold M. Lohrfinck, 213 St. Paul Place. To alter and remodel two buildings for a theatre at 1429-31 Pennsylvania Avenue. Architect, David Harrison, 3735 Reisterstown Road.

Michigan

KALAMAZOO—W. C. Butterfield Theatre Corporation, First National Bank Building, Detroit, to convert store building into theatre building. Architects, Leroy & Newlander, Pratt Building. Seating capacity 640. Cost $35,000.

Missouri

CHARLESTON—American Theatre, care of O. W. McCutcheon, Blytheville, Ark. Will remodel theatre. Cost $20,000. Seating capacity 500. Population 3,400.

ST. LOUIS—Hubery W. Guth, Architect, 1503 S. Grand Boulevard. To alter theatre building and install new screen, seats, sound and projection equipment. Cost $20,000.

North Carolina

ASHEVILLE—C. L. & W. Theatres, S. W. Craver, president, Patton & Lexington Avenues. Remodeling Strand Theatre Building. Architects, Benton & Benton, Wilson, N. C. Cost $25,000. To equip theatre with sound.

New Jersey

ATLANTIC CITY—Apollo Theatre, Boardwalk, New York Avenue. Alterations being made to theatre. Owner, Theodore J. Lapres, Kentucky Ave. and Boardwalk. Architect, William H. Lee, 1505 Race Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

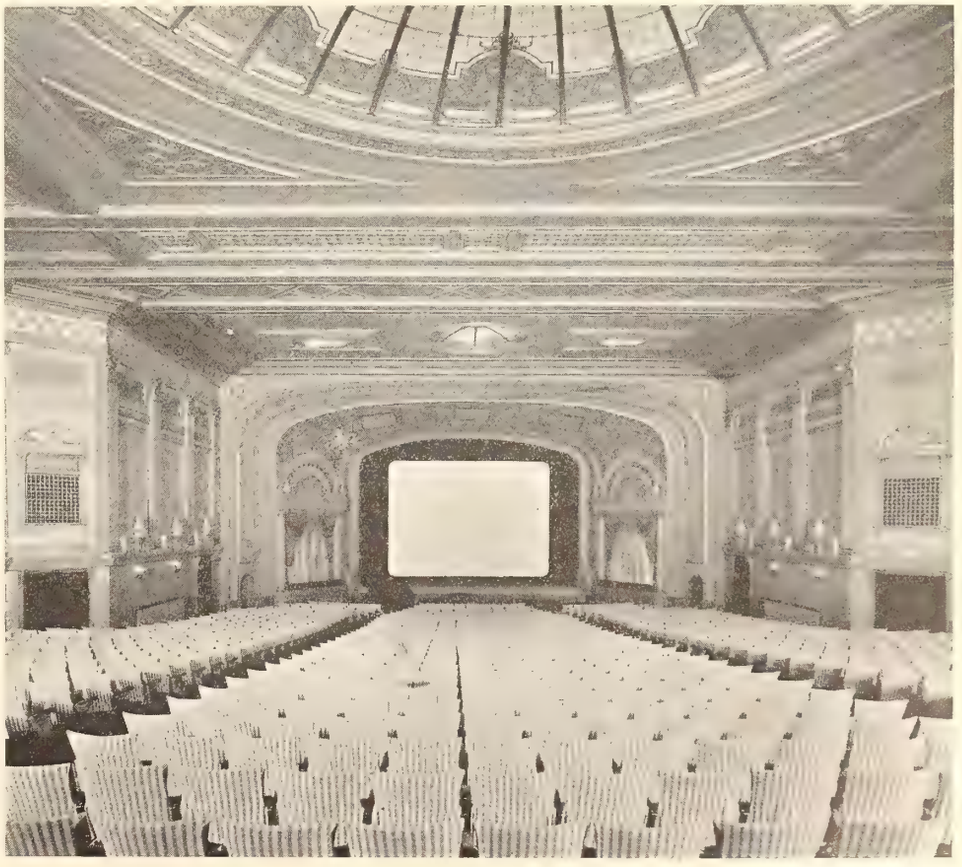
New York

BROOKLYN—J. Stern, 1971-84th Street. To erect theatre building at 1669-83 McDonald Avenue. Cost $20,000. Architect, I. Kallich, 375 Fulton Street.

GLOVERSVILLE—Myron Van Buren, 31 West Pine Street, to erect theatre building. Seating capacity 2,000. Cost $150,000.

MOUNT VERNON—Samuel Lerner, 354-4th Avenue, New York City. Alterations. Costing $30,000. Architect, Eugene DeRosa, Inc., 105 W. 40th Street, New York City.

NEW YORK CITY—Owner, care of Ben Schlanger, architect, 452 Lexington Avenue. Alterations to building at 205-9 E. 57th Street for use as a theatre. Cost $30,000. Seating capacity 600.



Ohio

CINCINNATI—Monte Vista Theatre, 6214 Montgomery Road. Will install new lobby, redecorate, new lighting fixtures, etc. Architects, Grunkemeyer & Sullivan, 3717 Eastern Avenue.

Incorporations

McCutchen's Theatre, Inc., Charleston, Mo. Capital $10,00. Stanley S. Dark and others.

Riverside Operating Company, care of Thomas E. Allen, 176 W. Wisconsin Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis. Thomas E. Allen & others.

Auditorium of the Kentucky theatre in Lexington, Ky., as remodeled by the Phoenix Amusement Company. The seating capacity is 1,234. The new style is French Provencal, in a green-gold-rose color scheme.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF ADVERTISERS

A

Adler Signs, Inc., Ben 27

B

Bausch and Lomb Optical Co. 21
Best Devices Company 24
Brenkert Light Projection Co. 23

C

The Clough-Brengle Co. 22

E

Easy Method Ledger System 24
Enterprise Optical Mfg. Co. ..... Fourth Cover

G

Garver Electric Company 17
Gordos Products Company 22

H

Hall & Connolly 27
Harrison Radio Company 27

I

Imperial Electric & Mfg. Co. ..... Second Cover
International Projector Corporation ... Third Cover

L

Langsenkamp-Wheeler Brass Works 25

M

Mellaphone Corporation 24
Moore, William N. 24

N

National Carbon Company, Inc. 3

P

Per-fu Company of Hollywood 27
Projection Optics Company, Inc. 22

S

S. O. S. Corporation 29
Strong Electric Corporation 25

W

Weber Machine Corporation 17
Wright-DeCoster, Inc. 19

Y

York Safe and Lock Company 21

Among Contributors to This Issue:

¶ J. T. Knight, Jr. (The Demands of Theatre Technology) is writing an indefinite number of articles on the management, operation and maintenance of motion picture theatres exclusively for this publication. Mr. Knight (who by this time must have become familiar to most of our readers) is in charge of maintenance for Paramount Publix theatres, with which organization he has been associated for a long period of years.

¶ The two designs described under the title, Modern Illuminated Facades, and reproduced on pages 7 and 8, have been especially prepared for Better Theatres by the architectural firm of Eberson & Kautzky, which is headed by the well known motion picture theatre architect, John Eberson. The type of glass tile forming the basis of these designs is a new product recently brought out by the Sealed Joint Products Company, for whom the National Theatre Supply Company is acting as agents in the motion picture theatre field.

¶ The series on Constructing Theatre Advertising reaches, in this issue, the practical stage of actual preparation. The present discussion, and the accompanying examples, precede a presentation of type styles and their application to theatre advertising.

¶ Leo T. Parker (Duty to Protect Patrons' Property) is a regular contributor to Better Theatres on legal phases of theatre operation. He is an attorney-at-law with offices in Cincinnati.

¶ V. C. Allen (Tubes in Theatre Reproduction) is in charge of developmental activities of the Hygrade Sylvania Corporation, among whose products radio and sound reproduction tubes take prominent place. Executive offices are maintained in New York City, while tube manufacturing is conducted at Clifton, N. J. In additon, a lamp factory is operated at Salem, Mass.

BETTER THEATRES CATALOG BUREAU

"Better Theatres" offers on this page an individual service to its readers. Detailed information and catalogs concerning any product listed herewith will be sent to any theatre owner, manager, architect or projectionist. Just fill in the coupon below and mail to "Better Theatres" Division of Motion Picture Herald. Readers will find that many of the products listed by this Bureau are advertised in this issue.

A

Accounting systems
Acoustical installations
Adapters, mazda
Advertising novelties
Advertising projectors
Air conditioning equipment
Aisle rope
Amplifiers
Arc regulators
Automatic curtain control

B

Banners
Batteries
Blocks, pulleys, stage-rigging
Bolts, chair anchor
Booths, projection (portable)
Bulletin boards, changeable

C

Cameras
Canopies for fronts
Carbons
Carpets
Carpet cushion
Cement, film
Cement for fastening chairs
Chairs, theatre
Change makers
Changeable letters
Changeovers
Color hoods
Condensers
Cutout machines

D

Dimmers
Disinfectants—perfumed
Doors, fireproof
Draperies
Drinking fountains

E

Earphones
Effect machines
Electric measuring instruments
Electric fans
Electric motors
Electric generating plants
Electric signs
Electric signal and control systems
Emergency lighting plants

F

Film cleaning machines
Film processing machines
Film rewinders
Film shipping cases
Film splicing machines
Fireproof curtains
Fireproof doors
Flashers, electric sign
Flood lighting
Footlights
Fountains, decorative Frames, poster, lobby display

H

Hand driers
Hardware, stage
Heating systems
Horns
Horn lifts and towers

L

Ladders, safety
Lamps, decorative
Lamp dip coloring
Lamps, general lighting
Lamps, incandescent projection
Lamps, high intensity
Lamps, reflecting arc
Lenses
Lighting systems, complete
Linoleum

M

Marquees
Mats and runners
Motion picture cable
Motor generators
Music stands

O

Orchestra pit fittings, furnishings
Organs
Organ novelty slides
Organ lifts

P

Perfumers
Photo-electric cells
Plastic fixtures and decorations
Pop-corn machines
Portable projectors
Portable sound equipment
Projection lamps
Projectors
Projection room equipment
Public address systems

R

Rails, brass
Rectifiers
Reflectors
Regulators, mazda
Reels
Reel end signals
Reel cases
Resonant orchestra platforms
Rheostats

S

Safes, box office
Safes, film
Schools
Screens
Screen masks and modifiers
Screen resurfacing service
Seat covers
Seat indicators
Seats, theatre
Signs, directional
Signs, marquee
Slides
Shutters, metal fire
Sound equipment, complete
Sound heads
Speakers, dynamic
Speed indicators
Spotlights
Stage lighting equipment
Stage scenery
Stage rigging
Statuary
Stereopticons
Switchboards
Switches, automatic

T

Tapestries
Telephones, inter-communicating
Tickets
Ticket booths
Ticket choppers
Ticket selling machines
Transformers

U

Uniforms
Upholstery materials

V

Vacuum cleaning equipment
Ventilating systems
Vending machines

W

Wall coverings

"BETTER THEATRES" DIVISION, Motion Picture Herald,
1790 Broadway, New York

Gentlemen: I should like to receive reliable information on the following items:

(Refer to items by name, as listed above)

1 ..... 7 .....
2 ..... 8 .....
3 ..... 9 .....
4 ..... 10 .....
5 ..... 11 .....
6 ..... 12 .....

Remarks: .....

.....

Name ..... Theatre ..... City .....

State ..... Seating Capacity .....

Duty to Protect Patrons' Property

(Continued from page 29)

who desired to suspend coats, hats and other outer wearing apparel thereon.

The patron hung his coat on one of the hooks, and during intermission, visited other parts of the theatre, leaving his coat on the hook. While the patron was out of the box, a stranger entered and tarried a short time without objection on the part of the patron's friends who were in the box at the time. The patron's coat was stolen, and he instituted legal proceedings against the owner of the theatre for the recovery of its value.

DECISION

However, the court held the owner of the theatre not responsible for the loss of the coat and explained that the manager or owner of a theatre is not an absolute insurer against the loss of his patrons' property, even though the property may comprise ordinary wearing apparel such as is usually discarded by patrons who enter the theatre. The court said further that in this instance, as in other similar litigations, a theatre proprietor is liable at most to observe only reasonable care to insure the safety of garments or other valuable property which is brought into the theatre by patrons.

LOSS FROM CHECK-ROOMS

A THEATRE OWNER is liable for wearing apparel stolen from a check-room having an attendant therein, unless it is proved that the loss resulted from unusual circumstances.

CASE AND DECISION

For instance, in Hines v. Riley (216 N. Y. S. 158), it was disclosed that a fur coat valued at $850 was checked by its owner in a check-room. The coat was stolen and the owner sued to recover its value. The court promptly held the owner entitled to a recovery.

CASE

Also, in Honig (213 N. Y. S. 380), it was shown that a State statute provided that where wearing apparel is deposited by patrons in the parcel or check-room and a check is delivered therefor, and for which no charge is exacted, the proprietor shall not be liable beyond $100 "unless such loss occurs through his fault or negligence."

In this case it was proved that the patron received a check which failed to have written thereon that the value of the coat was in excess of $100. However, the court held the proprietor liable for full value of the stolen coat, saying:

DECISION

"The further provision that, if a value receipt is not issued 'he shall in no event be liable beyond $100, unless such loss occurs through his fault or negligence' is wholly meaningless."

However, it is important to know that if the check simply provided that the proprietor would be not liable for more than $100 for the loss of a coat, unless an additional fee of 10 cents for each $100 value of the coat is paid by the owner, the proprietor of the theatre would not have been liable. (See the recent case of Healy v. N. Y. C. [210 N. Y. 646] and Central v. Pickering [O. S.].

CARE REQUIRED BEFORE LOSS

THE FACT that a theatre owner offers a reward for the return of stolen property does not in the least reduce his liability.

CASE

For example, in Southern v. Goldman (84 So. 478), it was disclosed that through negligence of the employes a patron's property was stolen. The proprietor advertised that he would pay a reward to anyone returning the articles or arresting the thief.

During the trial he endeavored to convince the court that he had made an attempt to recover the property and that for this reason he should not be held liable. However, the court held the proprietor liable, saying:

DECISION

"Any diligence exercised by the defendant (proprietor) in seeking to recover the property would not absolve him from liability, and the fact that he had offered a reward for the recovery or the arrest of the culprit, was clearly immaterial."

HOW TO REDUCE LIABILITY

IT IS WELL settled that a theatre owner may lawfully reduce his liability by having his patron sign receipts limiting the valuation to a reasonable amount, provided the articles are not lost or damaged by negligence of the theatre employes, and the theatre owner does not know that the valuation of the property exceeds the amount specified in the receipt.

However, where the patron merely agrees verbally, or signs a written contract, to relieve the theatre owner from liability for the loss or injury to the goods, the theatre owner's liability remains unchanged, unless the patron specifically agrees to relieve the theatre owner from liability for losses resulting from a certain or specified cause. Moreover, the fact that the contract contains a clause intended to relieve the theatre owner from liability for a loss resulting from his negligence does not prevent the patron from obtaining a judgment, if the contract fails to clearly stipulate against the actual cause of the loss.

In other words, it is well established that a contract between a theatre owner and a patron, by which the former is relieved from liability for loss or injury to the patrons's property, is valid only where such contract clearly and unmistakably specifies the reason causing the loss which is shown not to have been the result of negligence of theatre owner or employes.

UNSIGNED RECEIPTS ARE INVALID

ORDINARILY a negligent theatre owner is not relieved of liability for loss or injury to a customer's property, although the receipts issued to the patron include protective provisions intended to effect this result. Limitations of the liabilities of a theatre owner for loss or injury to a patron's goods must be agreed to by the customer or be part of the contract.

CASE

For example, in Cothren v. Kansas (242 S. W. 167), it was shown that a customer received from a bailee a receipt, in effect, as follows:

"Our liability for either loss or damage will not, under any circumstances, exceed an amount ten times our charge, unless a special declared value is made on an article by the owner, in writing. . . ."

The proprietor lost the article, and the patron filed suit to collect an amount equal to its value. The counsel for the proprietor argued that the printed notification on the receipt limited his liability to not more than ten times the charge for the services to be rendered. Also, it was shown that the patron had regularly received receipts, having printed thereon the same notification, for two years. Nevertheless, the court held the proprietor liable for the full value of the merchandise, saying:

DECISION

"Limitations of liability, even those permissible under the law, must be contained in or made a part of the original contract of bailment, for that arises upon the delivery of the goods to the bailee, and the latter cannot afterward impose conditions nor limit his liability resulting from such bailment. There was no showing of any assent or agreement on the part of plaintiff (patron) to any special contract of limited liability. Her assent to any such agreement cannot be inferred. . . ."

GENERAL LIABILITY

IN THE VERY recent case of Lemnos Broad v. Spiegelberg (217 N. Y. S. 595), the Supreme Court of New York explained the rights and liabilities of a bailee and owner of goods left in the former's possession, saying:

"The responsibility of a bailee upon elementary principles, is for negligence. A bailee is not an insurer. A bailee, unlike an insurer, is liable only in the event of neglect."

AROUND THE WORLD WITH Simplex PROJECTORS

Simplex TRADE MARK REG.

FORWARD 1934

The Cine Eden, opened this month in Mexico City, Mexico, is tangible, conclusive evidence of the constant, resistless advance motion pictures continue to make in spite of every hindrance and handicap.

Bringing entertainment and education to the great centers of population and to every "nook and cranny" of the universe where groups gather for recreation, motion pictures carry joy and consolation to the peoples of all the world.

For a quarter of a century this Company, above all others in the technical field, has been the outstanding source of equipment that gives the highest possible results where projection is demanded or where dependability is so essential.

In the series of advertisements we have been running for some time we have shown that "Simplex, The International Projector—Supreme on Land and Sea" is no idle boast. At this Season of the year we again extend a Greeting to our friends throughout the world and give an absolute assurance that we shall continue to advance with this great industry as we always have in the past.

This Splendid Theatre

THE CINE EDEN

MEXICO CITY, MEXICO

OPENED JANUARY 1934

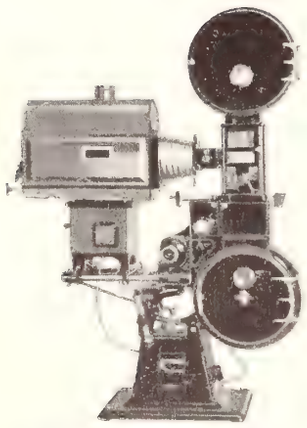
NRA WE DO OUR PART

INTERNATIONAL PROJECTOR CORPORATION

88-96 GOLD STREET NEW YORK, N.Y. U.S.A.

In making the statement to you a year ago—"I will not tolerate a let-down in Motiograph Quality"—I expressed that which has for over thirty years been a watchword in our organization.

It is gratifying to look back on the year 1933 and realize that during this trying period, exhibitors have expressed confidence in our standard of quality by volume purchases sufficient to enable us to carry on our work and endeavors.



Surely this is a tribute to the merit and performance of our equipment.

This New Year is particularly promising to me because of the unquestioned upward trend of business recovery. It is this which has encouraged us to carry on new and important developments and improvements which are shortly to be announced.

O. F. Goahr

President

The Enterprise Optical Mfg. Co., Chicago

MOTIOGRAPH DeLUXE
SOUND PROJECTOR

MOTION PICTURE
HERALD
A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

THE LIFE as HOLLYWOOD LIVES IT

By TERRY RAMSAYE

Written in Hollywood

De-Coding Distribution and Exhibition Trade Practices

Vol. 114, No. 4 Entered as second-class matter January 13, 1931, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under the Act of March 3, 1879. Published Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $3.00 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. January 20, 1934

Leo's Smiling!

Because he watches with glee "Dinner at 8" making new records at pop prices Because GARBO is a bigger draw than ever in "Christina" at the $2 Astor N.Y. Because week after week it's happiness in every box-office

Marion Davies

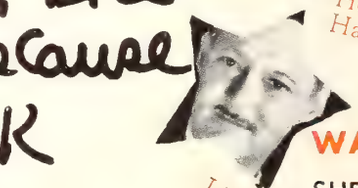
Clark Gable

Greta Garbo

Wallace Beery

Jean Harlow

Maurice Chevalier

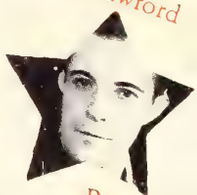


Jeanette MacDonald

Robert Montgomery

Jimmy Durante

Jackie Cooper



Lionel Barrymore

Laurel & Hardy

Norma Shearer

John Barrymore

Joan Crawford

Ramon Novarro

Marie Dressler

Helen Hayes

WATCH!

NOVARRO and Jeanette MacDONALD in "Cat and the Fiddle"

—

MONTGOMERY in "Fugitive Lovers"

—

GABLE in "Men in White"

—

WEISSMULLER in "Tarzan and His Mate"

—

BEERY in "Viva Villa"

WATCH!

SHEARER in "Rip Tide"

—

"ESKIMO" nationally exploited at popular prices

—

MAY ROBSON in "You Can't Buy Everything"

—

"HOLLYWOOD PARTY" Unique!

—

And Plenty More M-G-M Smiling Hits!

ASH BULLETIN FROM WARNER BROS. TO EVERY EXHIBITOR IN AMERICA:-

MUNI IS COMING IN A BIG ONE!

HOUSE MANAGERS:—Paul Muni in "Hi, Nellie" soon will sweep America to the roar of record grosses • Tune up your staff • Start your campaign now!

ADVERTISING, PUBLICITY AND EXPLOITATION MEN:—Here's a chance to do your stuff • You can absolutely shoot the works—the show will back you up.

PROJECTION OPERATORS:—Gear machines to the last point of perfection. Muni gives the GREATEST PERFORMANCE IN TALKING PICTURE HISTORY!

TICKET SELLERS:—Limber up your fingers • "Hi, Nellie" will pull like a billion-volt dynamo if properly sold . . . . . .

USHERS:—Snap into it like real showmen • Start telling 'em now about "Hi, Nellie"

BILL POSTERS:—Drape the town with the sensational line of Muni paper—a two week flash in advance won't be too much . . . . . .

SIGN ARTISTS:—Get the situation stills and character shots of Muni • Here's your chance to spread yourself . . . . . .

"Hi, Nellie"

With Glenda Farrell—Ned Sparks—Directed by Mervyn LeRoy

TWO LITTLE WORDS THAT MEAN A GOLD MINE FROM WARNER BROS.

COMING!

THE SCREEN'S FIRST

"FASHION"

STARRING WILLIAM POWELL

DIRECTED by DIETERLE • DANCES

Remember!

$10.00 TOP

Opening at Hollywood Theatre, Broadway

JAN. 18TH

from WARNER BROS.!

FASHION EXTRAVAGANZA—WITH SONGS AND MUSIC!

'S OF 1934

BETTE DAVIS • VEREE TEASDALE • FRANK McHUGH • HUGH HERBERT • REGINALD OWEN

STAGED and DIRECTED by BUSBY BERKELEY • SONGS by KAHAL and FAIN • GOWNS by ORRY KELLY

"42ND STREET" • "GOLD DIGGERS" • "FOOTLIGHT PARADE" well here we are again!

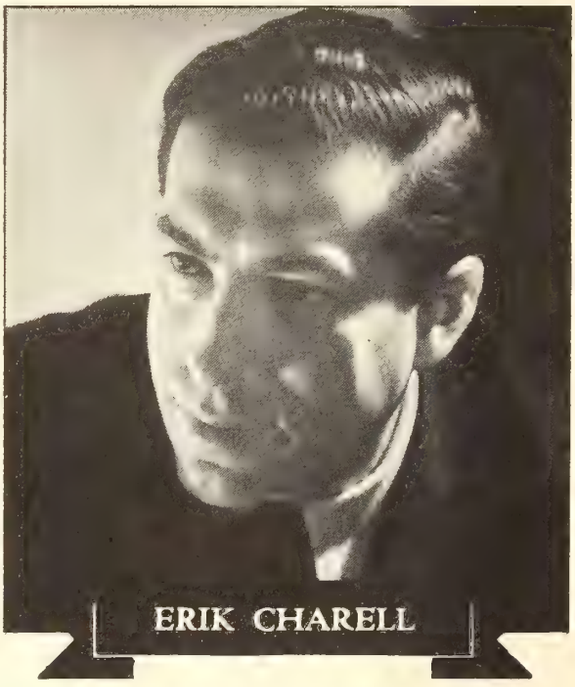
Erik Charell
Charles Boyer

FOX welcomes you to America!

and all America will welcome your genius!



Erik Charell, producer of international fame! Charles Boyer, outstanding dramatic figure of France! Joining their genius under the FOX banner . . . to give America a glorious new entertainment thrill. Two more brilliant names added to the resplendent FOX Parade of Personalities. Further evidence that FOX is ever alert to add glamour to your box office!

To appear in Erik Charell's first American production . . . which will bring to the fore all the mysterious glamour that radiates from this magnetic personality.

•

Foremost romantic and dramatic personality of the French stage and screen. Starred in the French stage success: "Le Bonheur"; "Melo"; "Le Venin"; "La Gallerie des Glaces". Starred in many motion picture hits . . among others: Erich Pommer's epochal "Liliom" in French.

Here to make productions typical of the amazing vitality, originality and appeal which characterize his sensational Continental successes.

•

Producer of "White Horse Inn", current hit of all Europe (now in its 3rd year in Paris, its 2nd in London). Max Reinhardt's associate in "The Miracle". Successfully produced "The Merry Widow", "The Three Musketeers", "Madame Pompadour", many other hits, in Berlin's Grosses Schauspielhaus.

FOX

JAN 20 1934 ©C1B 215060

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 114, No. 4 January 20, 1934

THE EXHIBITOR'S JOB

THE exhibitor interested in the preservation of the status of his craft will be doing well to pay ever more heed to his programming and more especially to the short and incidental product which accompanies his feature picture presentations. The effort and trend being fostered by powerful interests in Hollywood production, calculated to make the exhibitor of about the rank of a house manager in the town opera house presenting road shows, takes no cognizance of the possible continuance of the motion picture as a definitely local institution knit into its community life. The strength of the theatre as an institution of and for its customers, and not merely an amusement merchandise outlet, must be maintained or the screen will lose a large part of the intimate hold upon public esteem and attention upon which its greatness and prosperities have been built. There is a capable but not too articulate minority in Hollywood which understands this and which is working toward increased output of competent productions at a level of costs which will permit the motion picture business to continue a business of the great masses.

△ △ △

SOMETHING TO DO

MISS MARY PICKFORD has long and amply won her right and demonstrated her ability to do a good job of attending to her own business, but, in spite of that, The Pickford doing five shows a day as a Broadway vaudeville attraction inevitably gives occasion to some relevant reflections.

The engagement is said to pay Miss Pickford some ten thousand dollars a week. That may or may not be justification enough, or inspiration enough. However, it is to be recalled that a few months ago Miss Mary in a chat with the editor of Motion Picture Herald remarked that the screen would be considerably better off "if we had all our money taken away from us so we would have to work." Further, it is most improbable that another ten thousand, or several of tens of thousands, should be really important to Miss Pickford, and one cannot perceive what contribution she can be to the art and industry of the screen in five-a-day on the stage. According to the press, Miss Pickford explains it by saying, "I must always be doing something."

There are many, many motion picture works yet to be done, explorations of technique to be made, in which Miss Pickford might quite as well serve the art, and mayhap her own interests as well. One is, or was, a project presenting her as the lone human figure in a production of "Alice in Wonderland" with accompanying cast by Mr. Walt Disney's facile cartoon pencil. The rapidly evolving refinements of technique in both camera and recorder are giving the art of the motion picture instruments of a capacity considerably greater in scope than its creative minds can yet utilize. There is plenty of work to do for those who can afford to invest their abilities and energies without demand for instant box office result.

Progress in the motion picture art has come mostly by falling upstairs, by the unexpected but successful eventuation of a project which escaped its authors and became something else. The motion picture is now near enough to maturity among the arts to quit leaving everything to luck. No other great technological system does.

△ △ △

OUT OF PUBLICITY

THE emergence of Mr. Pete Smith from publicity activities into a fullblown maker of short subjects for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, an overlap dissolve that has been underway for a year or so, suffices to remind one that exceedingly few of the press agent attaches of the motion picture have adventured into production. Offhand, but one other conspicuous instance comes to mind: Mr. Ben Schulberg, who has been identified with the studio so long that his beginnings in the publicity service of Famous Players are well near forgotten. Mr. John Flinn, now executive secretary of the Code Authority, went from publicity into various posts, including production, but in the main has been a general executive. Generally, public relations have not led to studio relations.

△ △ △

JUST A PIPEFUL

THE solemn Associated Press—it used to be solemn—reports that Mr. Will Rogers got sick trying to smoke a pipe in a scene on the Fox lot the other day. The W.C.T.U. will doubtless be telling Mr. Will Hays to tell Mr. Joe Breen to speak to Mr. Winfield Sheehan about this debauchery of American manhood by the movies.

Personal-like we think it is a lot of hooey. Mr. Rogers, the polo playing Mr. Rogers, the wise cracking, movie actin', hoss wranglin' son of Oklahoma, takes what we'd call a bum stance when he permits publicity to rule him out of all qualification for the hot stove league of philosophy to which he so obviously belongs.

If Mr. Rogers can't spit in a wildcat's eye with a cud of natural leaf, at full gallop, from the back of a piebald pinto, the American public has been gypped. Mr. W. S. Hart, one-time hero of the wide open spaces, became a boy scout example so sweet we couldn't stand it. We do not want Mr. Rogers so pure.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago Bureau, 407 South Dearborn Street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London Bureau, 1021 A Finchley Road, Golders Green, London, England, Bernard Charman, representative; Berlin Bureau, Berlin-Tempelhof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 28, Joachim K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Bureau, 19, Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autre, representative; Rome Bureau, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio Malpassuti, representative; Sydney Bureau, 102 Sussex Street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico, James Lockhart, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1933 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and The Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK - - - -

DE MILLE OBSERVES

"The end of carelessly made pictures is in sight. . . . A good picture will always be well received by the public. . . . During the past year the public has shown shrewd taste. . . ." So spoke the veteran Cecil B. DeMille, Paramount director, last week, reflecting on the present and future as he celebrated 20 years of motion picture effort. . . .

GERMAN MARKET

Indications are that American film imports into Germany this year may fall below the low 43 of 1932-33 as a result of the abolition of the double bill in German houses, reports trade commissioner George R. Canty. Little or no market is seen for English versions. Slight compensation is probable increased rental because of dual bill abandonment. . . .

ANTI-TRUST SUIT

Invoking the Clayton and Sherman anti-trust acts, Detroit Neighborhood Theatres, Inc., operating the Oriole, has filed suit against Mid States Theatres, local booking combine, and its individual members, asking $180,000. Triple damages are possible under the law. . . .

LEGISLATION

With the strong influence of the new Virginia MPTO brought to bear, exhibitors of the state are concentrating efforts on the legislature in Richmond, in support of repeal of the state blue laws, in opposition to a ten per cent amusement tax. . . .

"STILL" UNANIMITY

With the acquiescence of 20th Century, Monogram and Majestic, all Coast producers now have agreed to submission of all "stills" and advertising campaigns to the MPPDA Hollywood office, for approval—or censoring. . . .

AT BIOGRAPH

The Biograph studio in New York may be the scene of the making of two Reliance features, for United Artists release. The first, "Frankie and Johnnie," will be done under Chester Erskine's direction, the other awaits conclusion of negotiations. . . .

KENTUCKY TAX

Kentucky exhibitors were shocked this week when Governor Ruby Laffoon's tax program was found to contain a ticket tax scale of five cents for each 25 cents of admission or fraction thereof. Rallying is organized opposition to the proposed impost. . . .

VAN OSTEN SUCCESSOR

Unusual is the appointment of a woman, Mrs. Hulda McGinn, former public relations director for the California Theatre Association, as secretary and manager of the association, succeeding the late Thomas D. Van Osten. She is credited with a principal part in the defeat of daylight saving in the state last year. . . .

WARNER TIEUP

The spending of $1,000,000 in advertising in all national media, over a two-year period, is involved in a tie-up between the manufacturers of Coca-Cola and Warner, featuring stars in full-page displays. Dealer cards are included with Coca-Cola men contacting exhibitors. Advertising, publicity director S. Charles Einfeld of Warner handled the negotiations. . . .

RKO PRODUCTION

An expenditure of $4,000,000 will be involved in the 17 productions intended for completion within the next three months under the supervision of Merian Cooper, in charge of RKO Radio production. . . .

In This Issue

Government launches sweeping investigation of salaries; 6,000 signed code blanks received — Page 9
The Life as Hollywood Lives It — by Terry Ramsaye — Page 11
De-Coding the Code: Trade practices for distribution and exhibition — Page 37
DeCasseres comments on current plays of the New York stage — Page 14
Theatres of the United States — Page 34
Theatres of the World — Page 35

FEATURES

Editorial — Page 7
The Camera Reports — Page 15
Radio City Section — Page 19
December Box Office Champions — Page 32
J. C. Jenkins—His Colyum — Page 64

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me — Page 65
Showmen's Reviews — Page 56
Managers' Round Table — Page 75
Technological — Page 62
Short Features on Broadway — Page 63
Chicago — Page 63
The Release Chart — Page 85
Box Office Receipts — Page 72
Classified Advertising — Page 90

WILD CARGO ASHORE

Safely to port in Boston after a stormy passage has come the SS Steel Navigator, with its wild cargo of Indian jungle beasts captured by Frank Buck during the filming of his "Wild Cargo," for Van Beuren, the picture to be released in March by RKO Radio. . . .

FOREIGN EXPANSION

Expanding its European distribution facilities, RKO Radio, through Ned Depinet, distribution vice-president, has named Ambrose Dowling European manager, with headquarters in London. Phil Reisman, general manager of foreign distribution, will accompany Mr. Dowling this week to survey the field. . . .

DISNEY HONORED

One more honor went this week to Walt Disney, of "Three Little Pigs," when on Wednesday in Philadelphia the Poor Richard Club of advertising men and publishers awarded him its annual gold medal for the outstanding achievement of 1933. Mickey Mouse and the Silly Symphonies are the collective reason. . . .

JOB TRANSPOSITION

To effect closer cooperation between home office and Coast publicity, Arch Reeve, head of the Fox Coast publicity department, and G. S. Yorke, advertising manager at the home office, shortly will assume each other's post, Charles E. McCarthy, director of advertising and publicity, announced this week. . . .

MOTION DROPPED

With reorganization of Allied Owners Corporation almost set, bankruptcy referee Theodore Stitt in Brooklyn last week ordered dropped from the calendar motion to remove William M. Greve, under indictment, as a trustee of Allied Owners, a subsidiary of New York Investors. . . .

ACTION POSTPONED

Again last week the government's anti-trust action against Warner Brothers, growing out of the acquisition of First National, was postponed, this time until March 10. Scheduled for trial in the U. S. district court, the suit has been pending two years. . . .

CLEVELAND RELIEF

For the relief of needy members of the industry will go the proceeds of the annual Cleveland film party, scheduled for February 12. The Cleveland Film Board of Trade is sponsor. . . .

GOVERNMENT LAUNCHES PAY QUIZ; 6,000 SIGNED CODE BLANKS FILED

ACTIVITIES UNDER CODE THIS WEEK

Highlights of this week's motion picture code and related developments included the following:

1. Government initiates intensive investigation of motion picture salaries above $150 per week, including "relatives," also of grosses.

▽

2. Code Authority receives 325 more names of exhibitor and exchange candidates for Local Grievance and Local Clearance Boards. Total names now on file reach 636, with deadline set for Saturday. Only board secretaries to be paid.

▽

3. Delay of Code Authority in naming various local boards hurting exhibitors, it was charged.

▽

4. Six thousand code acceptance blanks received from industry by Code Authority, out of 20,000 mailed out, with deadline set for January 31.

▽

5. The first labor dispute under the code was settled by arbitration of wages and working hours of union projectionists in Chicago theatres.

▽

6. West Coast theatres charged by Federal Trade Commission with unfair practices.

▽

7. Some organizations in field still meeting on code problems.

▽

8. NRA appoints code committees for studios.

▽

9. Poster men were still at odds on their code.

▽

10. Vaudeville field decide to see Rosenblatt on code changes.

▽ ▽ ▽

The third article of MOTION PICTURE HERALD'S series translating the code from the legal phraseology into a working language for the industry appears on page 37. The article this week translates the trade practice provisions for distribution and exhibition, also clearance and zoning provisions.

Initiating the most intensive investigation of salaries ever undertaken by the Government in any industry, Division Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt late last week mailed to some 2,000 producers, distributors and theatre circuits a questionnaire requesting intimate business, earnings and salary details which heretofore have been held closely within the motion picture industry.

All salaries of $150 or more a week are to be studied by the National Recovery Administration in this investigation, ordered by President Roosevelt November 27 when he signed the film code.

ALL RECEIVING $150 OR MORE AS SALARIES WILL BE LISTED

Among the data to be brought to light will be the names of relatives of executives and others receiving $150 or more a week who also are on the motion picture industry payroll, and the compensation given in the form of cash and stock bonuses, rights to stock and other ways.

While the Federal Trade Commission already has made a study of the salaries paid officers and directors of film companies, Mr. Rosenbatt begins where the Commission left off. The nature of parts of the questionnaire is expected to be something of a shock in many companies, where it was expected that, at worst, the Recovery Administration inquiry would cover only the more apparent phases of salary payments.

Instead, the companies are required first of all to provide a condensed balance sheet covering operations of the past three years, showing also the number of persons employed and the aggregate payroll for a large number of certain classes of employees. The purpose of this information is to show to some extent the proportion of total expense assignable to wages and salaries and also, by checking the return of a company against that of competitors doing about the same business, the Administration will be able to determine whether it is employing a disproportionate number of persons in any department.

All this ties into the second part of the questionnaire, which requires the names and salaries of persons receiving $150 or more a week, and which is accompanied by a form on which the reporting company is required to show whether any such individual has relatives also on the industry payroll—even though they may be employed by some other company.

MUST SHOW FORM OF ANY OTHER PAY THAN CASH SALARY

In the third part of the questionnaire, companies are required to show the form in which any compensation other than regular cash salary has been paid, by means of cash or stock bonuses, stock rights, etc.

When the questionnaires are returned to Washington—and one must be filed for every affiliated company as well as for all the affiliates with the parent company as a single entity—the Government will have at its command more information regarding the industry than it ever heretofore has been possible to gather.

A comparison of salary payments with net earnings will show at once whether the stockholders of the industry are being deprived of a fair return on their investment by reason of excessive salaries.

Also, the information gathered in the investigation obviously could supply the government with data with which it could check upon income tax returns.

In attempting to control so-called excessive salaries in the motion picture industry by controlling the bidding-up of salary offers to stars and executives, the NRA incorporated in the motion picture code the following clause, Part 4, Article V of "Unfair Trade Practices":

"To avoid the payment of sums unreasonably in excess of the fair value of personal services which results in unfair and destructive competition, the Code Authority shall have power, with the approval of the Administrator, to investigate whether in any case any

(Continued on page 17)

325 MORE NOMINATIONS TO BOARDS

The Code Authority in New York this week made known the names of 325 additional exhibitor and exchange candidates for membership on the 32 Local Grivance Boards and the 32 Local Clearance and Zoning Boards. These nominees, together with the 311 publicly announced last week by the Code Authority, make a total of 636 exhibitor and exchange candidates for the 256 exchange and exhibitor posts, which divided evenly, will comprise the membership of two groups of boards, to be named by the Code Authority, beginning January 21.

The last date for making nominations to these boards is midnight, January 20, and anyone may make nominations, but such nomination will not be honored unless the nominee has signed the official code acceptance blank. No exchange man or exhibitor will be permitted to serve on either board unless he has affixed his signature to the acceptance blank.

The names of the second group of 325 exchange and exhibitor candidates who have been named, in addition to those announced last week, follow alphabetically and by zones:

ALBANY
Jack Beck
C. G. Eastman
Henry Frieder
R. C. Halligan
M. Harrington
Harry Hellman
Charles Johnson
Maurice Kronick
Lou Lazar
Bernie Mills
William Raynor
Jacob Rosenthal
Nate Sanbar
Morris Shulman
Morris Silverman
William Smalley
Ray Smith
A. Stone
Charles Wilson

▼

ATLANTA
A. C. Bromberg
M. C. Howard
Charles Hughes
L. D. Joel
W. T. Murray
Captain J. A. Rebb
Adolph Samuels
Fred Weis

▼

BOSTON
Tom Bailey
Joseph Brennan
R. C. Cropper
John Dervin
Martha Ferris
J. J. Jeffrey
Frank Lydon
Tom Meighan
Max Melincoff
Herman Rifkin
Al Somerby
Ralph Synder
Harold Stoneman
Tim O'Toole
Martin Tuohey
Maurice Wolf
Nathan Yamins

▼

BUFFALO
Nicholas Basil
M. E. Comerford
Ralph Crabill
Nikitos Dipson
Harry Dixon
Albert Fenyiessy
Chester Fenyiessy
James Holden
Byron Inderbitzen
G. N. King
Stanley Kozenowski
R. P. Merriman
John Osborne
E. K. O'Shea
Erwin Price
Sol Raives
Kenneth Robinson
Willis Sargent
E. Wm. Tishkoff

▼

CHARLOTTE
E. L. Hearne
T. A. Little
J. E. Simpson
L. C. Sipe
Marian Wrenn

▼

CHICAGO
Emma Abplanalp
Ben Bartelstein
Andrew Cuser
Henri Elman
Harry Foster
E. W. Haferkamp
Verne Langdon
Benjamin Lasker
I. W. Mandel
Jack Osserman
Mrs. Paley
M. Rubin
S. Schlaes
S. H. Selig
B. N. Sudell

▼

CINCINNATI
William Chesborough
Andy Hattesheimer
Wesley Huss, Jr.
S. D. Lee
Sam Lind
William Onie

▼

CLEVELAND
Henry Greenleiger
Frank Gross
Paul Gusdanovic
Maurice Kaplan
I. J. Schwartz
Julius Schwartz
Jerry Steele

▼

DALLAS
I. B. Adelman
Eph Charnisky
Claude Ezell
Rubin Frels
B. Legg
Leon Lewis
A. W. Lilly
Jack Lilly
Bob McIllheran
Leaman Marshall
Paul Scott
Wm. Shields Tyler
W. G. Underwood

▼

DENVER
Burns Ellison
H. A. Goodridge
P. H. Hoppen
James R. Keitz
Earl Kerr
Harry Marcus

▼

DETROIT
Otto Bolle
Ray Brauch
G. W. Freudle
David Idzal
Audrey Littell
Lester Matt
James Minter
Fred North
Sam Sepolin
Harlan Starr
Roy Taylor
Dan Thompson
George Wilbur
Henry Zapp

▼

DES MOINES
Ralph Branton
Wayne Dutton
E. D. Ellsworth
Joe Lery
S. J. Mayer
C. L. Niles
Louis Patz
F. R. Puffer
Don Thornley
E. J. Tilton
Leo Wolcott

▼

INDIANAPOLIS
R. R. Bair
Ace Berry
W. J. Bradley
Henry Burton
Kenneth Collins
Earl Kunnyham
Jack Flex
Marian Hull
Helen Keller
M. Marcus
Louis Markun
Harry Markun
L. W. Marriott
M. Mazur
Charles Olsen
F. B. Saunders
L. B. Soulden
A. C. Zaring

▼

KANSAS CITY
Earl Blackman
Harry McClure
John McManus
Ray Wilson

▼

LITTLE ROCK
James Augustine
J. M. Ensor
L. F. Haven
R. V. McGinnis
W. M. McGinnis
W. M. Reeves
James Rodgers
T. W. Sharpe
W. E. Sipe

▼

LOS ANGELES
George Bromley
Joe Leo
Lou Metzger
William Rider
Robert Whitson
W. W. Wimquist

▼

MILWAUKEE
John Adler
William Ainsworth
B. K. Fischer
George Fischer
H. S. Fitzgerald
Jack Frackman
John Homthaner
F. J. McWilliams
Ed Maertz
J. E. O'Toole
Harry Perlenitz
Thomas Saxe
W. Silcock
Martin Thomas
Charles Wishicheck
W. Weinshenker
Jack Yeo

MINNEAPOLIS
Bennie Berger
Sidney Blackmore
W. R. Frank
John J. Friedl
L. E. Goldhammer
A. A. Kaplan
O. A. Lee
H. O. Mugridge
Gilbert Nathanson
C. O. Roeder
Eddie Ruben
Al Steffes
J. Stern

▼

NEW HAVEN
Leo Bonoff
R. W. Cobe
Jack Fishman
Morris Jacobson
Martin Kelleher
Arthur Lockwood
Leo Ricci
Kathryn Sullivan

▼

NEW ORLEANS
Joseph Akina
Guy Brown
Jack Dischany
Richard Frank
Fred Goodrow
I. J. Hanelson
Mrs. E. Junqua
Henry Lazarus
E. V. Richards
W. J. Salles
Leo Scheznayder

▼

NEW YORK CITY
Jack Bellman
Jack Hattein
J. C. Kroesen
Harry Pear
Leon Rosenblatt
Sol Saphire
H. H. Schwartz
Joseph Seider
Harry Thomas

▼

OKLAHOMA CITY
H. J. Buchanan
Sam Caporal
Orville Enloe
P. R. Isley
E. G. Kadane
W. P. Moran

▼

OMAHA
Calvan Bard

▼

PHILADELPHIA
Al Blofson
Al Boyd
A. J. DiFiori
George Gravenstine
Jack Greenberg
Oscar Neufeld

▼

PITTSBURGH
James Alexander
M. J. Cullen
William Davis
Emmaline Fineberg
Harry Fleishman
Frank Harris
John Harris
Dr. C. E. Herman
Harry Kalmine
Lew Lefton
William Lipsie
John Maloney
Alexander Moore
A. H. Schnitzer
B. M. Stern

▼

PORTLAND, ORE.
Harry Aiken
George Appleby
C. J. Farnes
John Hamrick
Howard Mapes
Oscar Seltzer
Homer Sill
Ray Stumbo
Bob White

▼

ST. LOUIS
Harry Greenman
Dave Nelson
Barney Rosenthal
Nat Steinberg
Francis Stout

▼

SAN FRANCISCO
A. M. Bowles
Herman Cohen
Morris Gallos
Henry Goldenberg
H. V. Harvey
R. Harvey
Mel Hulling
M. L. Markowitz
G. C. Parsons
Ramey Rise
Floyd St. John
Morgan Walsh

▼

SEATTLE
Paul Aust
Harry Black
Hugh Bruen
Neal East
Albert Finkelstein
John Hamrick
A. H. Huot
Leroy Johnson
L. O. Lukan
L. J. McGinley
Al Oxtoly
Al Rosenberg
L. N. Walton

▼

TAMPA
Arthur Bromberg
L. D. Joel
M. C. Moore
Ben Stein
Mitchel Wolfson

▼

WASHINGTON, D. C.
M. Bendheim
Harry Brown
Max Cluster
George Gill
Herman Hable
William Hicks
A. Lichtman
I. Rappaport
Willard Silverberg

THE LIFE as HOLLYWOOD LIVES IT

by TERRY RAMSAYE

Written in Hollywood

The editor of Motion Picture Herald, gripping his bulldog pipe between his teeth and donning a fore-and-aft cap in the conventional sleuthian mode, set about ferreting out the life of Hollywood, and the accompanying article is the definition with which he emerged.

When Walt Disney and his production staff came to an impasse in the lyrics of "Three Little Pigs" they met the problem by forgetting the words and finishing the quatrain on the flute.

This sun-pickled afternoon that I have set myself at the task of recording something of the life of Hollywood—and I mean the life sociologically, biologically, ethnologically and in fact everything but logically—I wish I were a piccolo player, because I suspect that is the medium in which it could be told best.

IT'S LIKE AN ASPIC THAT NEVER JELLED

To put it up in one paragraph, there is no life in Hollywood. It is like nothing so much as an aspic that never jelled—

Hollywood is the only mining camp which has operated on one gulch for a quarter of a century, a process rendered possible only by the continuous supply of pay dirt forwarded by the home offices in New York.

Twice in its history Hollywood was almost organized socially. First it was when the Lasky lot was the center of the production universe, and second when Pickfair loomed as a symbol of the success idyllic. That is now all as long ago and far away as the bells of Mandalay. Hollywood just doesn't know who is who or why, today, and it has not had anything more than a notion since sound came along. If you want to be safest and surest about who's the whoest in Hollywood at any given time, turn to the box office receipts pages of Motion Picture Herald and read the key city grosses. The top figure is the top personality. The United States in all of its major centers has built its social registers on success, with Dun and Bradstreet the real authorities behind them. The same condition obtains yet in Hollywood, but the sensitivity of the situation is such that to be absolutely assured of making no mistakes there ought to be a movie receipts ticker set up in the lobby of the Beverly-Wilshire hotel.

△ △ △

IT'S A REGION, NOT A COMMUNITY

The social life of the motion picture community is inextricably intermeshed with the art life, the commercial life, the sex life and the political life of the region—it is a region, not a community, because strive as they may they cannot make a community out of it.

One blessing of the depression is to be recorded. With the glum years, by force of pressure expressed in the roars of the angry mob the era of ostentation in its more crass expressions appears to be over. A decade ago Tom Mix snorted up and down the by-ways in a car trimmed in embossed silver and Spanish leather, and a downtown piano store displayed a Steinway concert grand plated with mother-of-pearl to the order of Charlie Ray.

Then came the night a year or so ago when the scintillant, haughty and mighty in their glories of ermine and platinum and Kimberly hardware poured out to a de luxe, searchlighted, microphoned, rose petaled world premier preview at the Pantages theatre and had to flee into the lobby for cover at the breaking of a barrage of unborn Plymouth Rocks. The hungry and hopeless of the unemployed were annoyed a lot. This became one of the classic unpublished stories of Hollywood, and it sounds very like some of the items which eventually a few weeks ago led President Roosevelt to make remarks about movie salaries. Hollywood, which had staged its weddings and sound-cued its funerals, took to cover and since—no picture, no society.

In its own struggling way Hollywood is trying hard to have a life, to "be people." One of the current evidences, strangely overlooked by the palpitating fan writers, is what might be called "the baby cycle." It is becoming positively the thing to have babies. Research, while leading to no absolute conclusions, tends to indicate that it was none other than the vital Gloria Swanson who started the baby cycle.

This would scarcely be worth recording in these pages if it were not that the exhibitor needs the background to let him understand some of the curious qualities of the wares that he gets to sell. It all pertains to a state of what might be called mind if it could be focused. The manner in which Hollywood tries to live with itself has a lot to do with, and is considerably indicative of how it works with itself, too.

The standard stock concept and assorted stories of Hollywood as a sink hole of sin are all very wrong. Hollywood has not got enough social guts to be sinful in a big way. It has its sprinkling of amateur and professional vice, all trivial. Its big, imposing, extra-legal liaisons are robbed of importance by their social acceptance. Any American city can teach Hollywood tricks, and I am not even including New York. The drug traffic, which got so much publicity in the aftermath of sensational journalism which followed the murder of William Dean Tanner, alias Taylor, a decade ago, has all but vanished. It had a flurry of awakening for a few minutes last week when an Asiatic cargo got across with its agents from Tia Juana, but it was done within a few hours before a new merchandising wave had begun. As for liquor, Hollywood can not take it. The reasons are largely climatic. Very little sincere drinking is done, even by experts among the expatriates from New York. They do not dare. Three highballs may make a man sassy, and there is no such man in Hollywood. Those who got snooted and said "No" probably were all deported long ago. On those rare occasions when a motion picture Hollywoodsman gets tight he hurries home by a back road and goes to bed for fear he will have courage to tell somebody what he thinks. That makes the night life very brief.

The most outspoken man in Hollywood is Mr. Pat Casey, who never takes a drink.

Speaking entirely of the yes-system and with absolutely no bearing whatsoever on the drink topic, it may be recorded that a few years ago the brilliant Mr. Arthur Caesar reversed the rule, and proved it by reversal—which is to say that he gave all comers a verbal bust in the nose. He was shortly employed at high salary and has not been heard from since.

That reminds me of the time when in the New York service of a considerable but transient screen magnate, I was offered, accepted and given a large raise in salary on a deal to quit making "quotable remarks" about the company's administration. The principle is that if the gag man is to be gagged and muzzled he still is entitled to his corn—but the ox must not be gored.

Cite if you will the synthetically celebrated bout between Mr. Al Jolson and Mr. Walter Winchell, and the even more exciting outburst of Mr. Lee Tracy at Mexico City. I say cite them if you will—but all Hollywood knows and declares them to be mere publicity frame-ups—one of which got just a shade out of hand. That, however, is not strictly in the pattern of our story; there's no time at the moment to go into all that Hollywood will do to attract and amuse the customers.

NAMES SPARKLE BUT NOT SOCIAL LIFE

There is a life in Hollywood lived by a few of the saner, self-assured and established figures of the industry—and that can describe only a few—that is very like the life of any normal American city, but this pertains only to homes that are islands unto themselves in this Hollywood South Sea archipelago, not a part or influence on the picture map. Such a reserved American life is typified by the L. B. Mayers, for instance, and this despite the fact that the name of Mayer is such a compelling factor of influence extending deep into every nuance of the Hollywood scene.

△ △ △

THERE'S NORMAL LIFE ON "ISLAND" HOMES

Some among those of lofty fame in Hollywood are almost recluses. Mr. Charles Chaplin, once so much the life of the big parties, is now rarely to be seen. His Japanese major domo, "Kono," answers the telephone and relays messages, but Mr. Chaplin sits by the fireside and plays the fiddle. It was a matter of no little comment when Chaplin appeared at Darryl Zanuck's "Bowery party" at the Vendome cafe. He brought along Paulette Goddard, of whom perhaps more later on the screen, if, when and as there is another Chaplin production. The "Bowery" party was enlivened with considerable of the jollity of the make-believers of Hollywood. For instance, Connie Cummings, Twentieth Century player, and Benn Levy, writer, rode a tandem down the boulevard for the last half dozen squares approaching the Vendome. Such cut-ups, in our village!

The cut-up spirit had a vogue. Joan Crawford threw a garden party and positively had "hot dog" stand. Movieland at play is almost as funny sometimes as Southampton and Newport.

△ △ △

And mention of the Vendome brings up consideration of the restaurant life of Hollywood. The Vendome is the newest and most costly menued and swank-laden of the eating places. And while there is food to be had at the Vendome, its real significance pertains to other matters, elaborate ramifications of the invisible map of Hollywood. The Vendome is about as much a restaurnt as Wall street is a thoroughfare, or Tammany Hall is a benevolent association. All of which pertains to another story for another time—"The Politics of Hollywood."

Al Levy's restaurant is the oldest and probably most atmospheric of Hollywood's eating places. Levy's operates on a policy of good food and ample. There one may find most any Hollywood figure most any day, but the regulars are the old school picture writers and their producer friends, and the ranking publicity persons.

". . . There is a life in Hollywood lived by a few of the saner, self-assured and established figures of the industry. . . . that is very like the life of any normal American city, but this pertains only to homes that are islands unto themselves. . . . Some among those of lofty fame . . . are almost recluses."

Like as not you will be seeing there such a literary nector as Mr. Al Cohn, among the first and most famous scenario craftsmen, now with Warners and, incidentally, but importantly, also collector of the Port of Los Angeles, second in tonnage for the United States, in recognition of his sterling services to the Democratic party.

And there will be maybe Homer Croy, now picture writer and formerly from Booneville, Missouri, subsequently of the Hotel Judson colony in New York's Washington Square, where he became a humorist. The Judson was a funny place anyway. There will be directors and players, without end—and with lots of it. It is a handy spot for Mr. Joe Breen of the Hays office and Mr. Pat Casey, producers' labor boss, and Mr. Charlie Sullivan and Mr. Edward B. Derr, one time star of Bethlehem (Pa.), who was pre-war, a master accountant and while serving Mr. Joseph P. Kennedy saw the light and took the other side of the ledger to become a producer.

△ △ △

The assorted Brown Derby restaurants, all growing out of a strange conceit of a place shaped like a hat in Wilshire Boulevard in Los Angeles, now located also in Hollywood and Beverly, are meeting grounds for all manner of members of the picture colony, with a large sprinkling of stars great and lesser, and an adoring, hopeful, autograph hunting fan fringe. The Brown Derby chain is under able publicity administration attentions, and just to make sure, "the press," meaning the army of writers for the fan magazines and newspapers, are equipped with cards that entitle them to a fifty per cent discount on the check. This of course pertains not to our subject but to publicity—but everything in Hollywood pertains to publicity.

The food, if you are interested, in these establishments is above the Los Angeles average, and the waitresses are better than that. Most of them came out to break into the movies. There's one who has not made the screen yet, but has two apartment houses to show for her efforts so far. She is the kind that would do well anywhere.

Hollywood's nearest current approach to organized society is "The Mayfair," a dinner-and-dance club with five scheduled functions a year, and "all industry" but hand picked membership. It began at the Biltmore and is now holding its parties at the Beverly-Wilshire in Beverly Hills, which, incidentally, makes a Sunday night party possible. Los Angeles, you may understand, is so completely under the domination of the weather-and-climate refugees from the Bible Belt and the middle west's Prairies of Propriety that there can be no Sunday night dancing, not even at the still impressive Hotel Ambassador's far famed Cocoanut Grove.

△ △ △

NEAREST CURRENT APPROACH TO ORGANIZED SOCIETY

The Ambassador is still a movie capital, despite its years, and there the folk of Hollywood are taken most seriously. I have to record that breakfasting one afternoon in the main dining room, where the acoustics of the serving pantry seem indiscreetly arranged, I was regaled with a most acrimonious discussion between a head waiter and various assistants because someone on the Sunday night before had been such an utter dumbbell as to serve Mr. Julian Johnson, story editor of Fox, with rye buns. It seems that the entire world was supposed to know that Mr. Johnson would have nothing but French bread, and hell was to be had all over the lot. It has long been known that Mr. Johnson is the terror of headwaiters from Canoe Place, Long Island, to Point Loma, but at the Ambassador they do it with gestures and oratory.

Blushing the while, one might as well set down that motion pictures and their people are not what one would say accepted in the upper crust of Los Angeles. Los Angeles, you know, supports its upper crust on oil, citrus fruits and cattle. The movie people are as badly off as though they lived on the wrong side of the railroad tracks in Sedalia. A very few motion picture persons are among the socially elect of Los Angeles, but they are very few. Film cement smells like banana oil.

Some of the most sparkling names in movieland appear to have no social life at all in Hollywood. There's Miss Anna Sten, who has been so busy taking English lessons from and for Mr. Sam Goldwyn, preparatory to her appearance in "Nana," that for her whole two years in the region she has not been seen at a party. And few can be more rare than Greta Garbo, timid soul, sequestered in her pent house a-top Sunset Towers. Also one does not discover Miss Mae West at the parties. When Miss Mae's "I'm No Angel" was previewed at Mr. Sid Grauman's classic Chinese Theatre not one of Hollywood's stars attended. That in Hollywood means something, or is supposed to. If one may judge of Miss West's disposition in the matter, it would not be much of a speculation as to what she might say they could do about it. As it is, her chief public appearances are at the prize fights, sitting alongside, on the one side, of Mr. Emanuel Cohen, Paramount's chief of production, who has, one might remark, seemingly more of an eye on the box office than on Hollywood and its foibles.

CLOTHES IMPORTANT TO MAKE-BELIEVE

Mr. Winfield Sheehan, with a home of vast splendors up in the hills, is on occasions the host of considerable functions, but all so very quietly conducted. No reporter has yet overtaken a Sheehan guest list. It may be set down in passing that the stormy vitrolic Sheehan moods are no longer a part of the Hollywood weather, but the same non-committal blue eyes sweep the scene, on the Fox lot and across Hollywood. The technique may change tint, but the basic system, never.

△ △ △

THE REAL TRIUMPH OF ANY PARTY

For the touch exotic, consider the fact that the real triumph of any Hollywood party is to win the attendance of Miss Anna May Wong, the premier contribution of the Orient to the screen. Miss Wong, one is told, was born in San Francisco.

Anna May Wong has a slant on the world, but not in her eyes. They suggest an Occidental seeing, recording for an Oriental mind.

△ △ △

In Hollywood as elsewhere there is a phase of social activity which takes its inspiration and movement from charitable impulses. There is the Assistance League, presided over by Mrs. Abe Lehr, which serves luncheons, with society girls as waitresses, with also the tips going to the selected causes. And mostly unrecorded and remarkably conducted without publicity are the many benefactions of Miss Marion Davies, who supports a clinic for children and each Christmastide gives an exciting party for the children of the worthy poor at the Metro-Goldwyn-Studio. The whole Metro lot was knee deep in kiddie cars and Christmas baskets one day this December.

As might be expected in this effulgent land of make-believe, clothes are important. For showmanship in clothes take Lilyan Tashman, who has hers done mostly by Howard Greer, a local couturier. She's famous too for her glittering emerald clips. Lilian Harvey highlights the occasion with a 22 karat diamond and Carole Lombard has a star sapphire about the size of a colonial doorknob.

". . . Motion pictures and their people are not what one would say accepted in the upper crust of Los Angeles. . . . Los Angeles, you know, supports its upper crust on oil, citrus fruits and cattle. . . . Film cement smells like banana oil."

The diligence of racketeers, kidnapers and bootleggers looking for something else to do, has driven many of Hollywood's best gems into the safety deposit box while paste copies make the appearances. Depression and market accidents might have the same general effect, except that the originals would not be in the box.

△ △ △

STUDIO FASHION DESIGNERS ADD MUCH TO SOCIAL SCENE

The studio fashion designers, conspicuously Adrian of MGM and Travis Banton of Paramount, contribute not a little to the Hollywood social scene. They are likely to be the hands that shape the garb of such figures as Mae West, Joan Crawford and Norma Shearer—and Jean Harlow, although of course studio influences tend to keep Miss Harlow in the pictorial role of the "Blonde Bombshell," whether she likes it or not, and she probably does.

The Hollywood version of the Prince of Wales is the dashing Mr. Bob Montgomery, who has a gold name plate on the instrument board of his amazing car. It bears his name, address and studio address. It would be very difficult for Mr. Montgomery to get permanently lost.

Adolphe Menjou has the sophisticated name of being the best dressed man about, with his fifty suits and forty pairs of shoes—only ten less than has Mr. Albert Wiggin of the New York Chase bank Wiggins.

Over on the Paramount lot the social center is Gary Cooper's dressing room and he is no casual dresser. The current glass of fashion in Hollywood, however, is Mr. George Raft.

There is a marginal life around and about Hollywood that is called "ranching." Among the ranchers, who would be suburbanites elsewhere, are Paul Muni, Richard Dix and Bill Boyd. They take their open air open. When they give a party it is a barbecue party, and a good one.

Out on the edge of things about where you start for San Francisco is Will Rogers' ranch, a tidy matter of several hundred acres, including a private polo field. Mr. Rogers apparently likes his polo, but he never ceases to be the showman. He plays his polo in overalls, tough like, to take the curse of too much gentility off'n it. Hollywood has quite a polo playing set, including such stalwarts as Spencer Tracy, Clark Gable and Bob Montgomery. Mostly they get all gashed up and there's a clause in the playing contracts which forbid their playing while on a picture. The soft spoken Darryl Zanuck is also an ardent player.

△ △ △

Another suburban manifestation is in the movie life about Toluca Lake, where the type of home might be called, after the Spanish, the Hacienda. Among the residents are such diverse personages as Bing Crosby, the crooner; Charles Farrell, romancer; Jack Oakie, the lad who made Indian nuts famous, and Richard Arlen. Most recent to join this colony is Al Cohn, immortal for the script on the first of the sound pictures, and some best sellers since.

Speaking of Mr. Cohn brings to mind the Pacific Writers' Yacht Club, presided over considerably by such salty persons as Grover Jones and William Slavans McNutt. Brought to mind, you understand, because Mr. Cohn is collector of the port and has a bearing on the traffic on the high and low seas hereabouts.

△ △ △

THE LITTLE IVORY BALL AND THE CAVIAR ITEM

Here and there, according to old Spanish custom, are places where the little ivory ball chases itself around over red and black between the single and double 0. This is in no wise to be confused with the single and double cross, emblems of Hollywood.

If one were in quest of night club thrills in the region it is said that they would find it in the Colony club, country, and the Clover club, in the New York manner.

I am minded of the remarks of the most famous motion picture banker of the West Coast who has said, what little the Code and the Blue Eagle may add to the cost of production is trivial, as compared to what the boys are losing on the fall of the marble and charging to the pictures.

It is set down in Hollywood gossip that one able producer made $48,000 worth of mistakes in contract bridge the other night. But he raised hell over the caviar item at a press luncheon, that same week. Basically he was right, about the caviar.

△ △ △

Let us close the picture at Palm Springs. A younger rajah, scion of a celluloid dynasty, sits with his feet a-wash in the ripple of the cerulean pool, while grouped about are the beauties of the court. He has a royal command to deliver: "Hey, Bill, you go back to the studio tonight—my other stooge will be down tonight."

To the power and the glory forever, of such is the Kingdom of Hollywood.

"GREAT BUY FOR PICTURE TECHNIQUE"

Says DeCasseres of Howard Lindsay's "She Loves Me Not"; Several Other Current Stage Plays Given High Ranking As Potential Material for the Screen

by BENJAMIN DE CASSERES

SHE LOVES ME NOT

As rare a case of château Y'quem at a gravediggers' picnic is the bawling, thundertone unanimity of the New York critics (including myself and Kelcey Allen) over a play. But they just went nuts double plus over "She Loves Me Not," a farce-comedy by Howard Lindsay done from Edward Hope's novel of the same name, with a warble or two by Arthur Schwartz and Edward Heyman.

Played in picture technique—even with a Paramount news-reel to help along the guffawing convulsions—to say this is a great buy would be like saying your cat likes cream.

From beginning to end it whirls, buzzes, leaps, crashes and spoofs—spoofs the pictures (funnier than "Once in a Lifetime"), spoofs Princeton, spoofs night-club murders, spoofs Communism, spoofs the news-reel. The laughs come so fast that you can't half tell what they're pulling off next.

Locales: Philadelphia, Princeton New York, Detroit and Washington (six stages are running, sometimes simultaneously, in "She Loves Me Not").

Opens in a Philadelphia night club. Girl is doing semi-nude dance. Gangster shoots a booze Big Shot. Panic.

Princeton. Dancer, wanted as a material witness, shows up in the room of a student plugging for exams. She is still half-nude, with a cloak over her. Made her getaway on a buss from Philly (grand pix stuff here!).

Students dress her as a boy. Stowaway at Princeton. And the big hunt is on. Whole nation wants to know what has become of Curley Flagg.

Super-Sound Pictures get wind of her. Trek to Princeton. The murderer also goes there to bump her off, as she is too material a witness.

Communists, Washington, society, everybody, in an uproar. The tempo gets faster.

Meanwhile, Curley's doing well at Princeton until the picture boys get her, with the thug trying to kill her off. Here things happen too swiftly to describe.

All played in the key of Aw, whatterhell!

Picture value, 100 per cent.

THE DRUMS BEGIN

Howard Irving Young, who used to mould scenario mosaics at the old Astoria studio, certainly knew whereto "The Drums Begin" was bound when he wrote it.

It will make a corking, high-powered melodrama, exciting, comic and noisy. Abbott & Dunning, the old maestros of many successes, produced and Judith Anderson starred as a post-war French spy.

What I think should be cut out of it in the Hollywood gouging-machines is Howard's peace propaganda stuff. The only time human beings really believe in peace is when they are at war.

The Monarch Film Company is filming a post-war drama in a French château. The leading lady is a French woman, and as the play goes along we find out that this woman was a German spy during the real war and it was by her dirty work that thousands of her countrymen lost their lives.

Besides which, the château that is being used by the picture company is the very châuteau in which this Mata-Hari lived during the war.

The company employs both French and German actors in the play, and here we get a look in how "the drums begin," for both nationals begin to pick open the old wounds.

There is lots of comedy stuff, naturally, in these filming antics. (But why are picture executives supposed to be nuttier than directors, for instance?)

That's the woof and warp of this play. It is tragic and comic in detail with the old "Pagliacci" technique of a play within a play.

It is an immensely clever and stimulating picture idea, even though as a play it is at times confusing and heavy-handed. But Out Where the Brains Grow, in dear old Rolphland, I believe this Young opus will be ironed out into a fine bit of entertainment that no exhibitor will want to turn down—with Dietrich, for instance, as the actress-spy.

Picture value, 90 per cent.

RATING OF PLAYS AS SCREEN STUFF

Studying stage offerings of the day in the light of motion picture possibilities, Benjamin DeCasseres, essayist and critic, gives ratings as follows to those commented upon this week:
"She Loves Me Not"—100 per cent.
"The Drums Begin"—90 per cent.
"The Dark Tower"—80 per cent.
"Birthright"—80 per cent.

THE DARK TOWER

Those old crocheters of entertaining hokum, George S. Kaufman and Alexander Woollcott, have fashioned in "The Dark Tower" a melodrama that will make a splendid program picture for the thrill trade. But it will need considerable building up and an actor who can conceal for some sequences his identity even from the audience. That's the high spot and the big trick in this play.

These cock-eyed jinks are laid in a house in East 48th street and in a suite in the Waldorf. The dirty work at the cross-roads is done in the Waldorf by Damon Wells (Basil Sydney), a celebrated actor of the Jack Barrymore breed.

His big stunt consists in disguising himself as a German play-backer with a broken arm and a lame leg, luring the murderous, degenerate husband of his sister—also a celebrated actress—to the Waldorf, drugging him and then stabbing him to death in a closet, taking off his disguise on a Fall River boat and coming back to the house. He is never suspected, of course.

The actress sister has been hypnotized by her husband. So we excuse Damon for doing the dirty deed, for didn't it restore the Great Actress (Margalo Gilmore) to the Deah American Public?

All this, with some wit, some skill and much hooey-hooey, is written and played with the tongue in the cheek.

When it goes into picture production (and it certainly will with, I should say, Jack Barrymore doing the lead) it should be played fairly straight and the degenerate qualities of the villain (Ernest Milton) cut out with a hatchet. At least, sez I; for if there is one thing that pictures ought to clear up it is the stage degenerate.

Picture value, 80 per cent.

BIRTHRIGHT

This is the third attempt to stage the massacre of a civilization in Germany. And "Birthright," by Richard Maibaum, is not just "propaganda" (that bugaboo word that has no meaning, for everything is propaganda of some kind); it is for two acts splendid, tense, biting drama. Then it goes off into a smear.

The story is of Germany today and is laid around an upper middle-class Jewish family. The daughter is engaged to a gentile. A son is a Communist ranter. And it is he who gets the whole family in trouble.

When the Mad Hatter becomes Chancellor, the Storm Troopers break in, kill the old servant and are about to arrest the boy howler when the latter shoots the captain of the Nazi gang dead.

So they shoot the kid at dawn while the family prays. The girl's gentile lover tries to do something for the boy; but business is business, you know.

Waving "propaganda" pish-posh aside, there are picture values in this play of universal import, to Jew and non-Jew. If the Russians can show their pictures here, as they do, why shouldn't Hollywood start to blast against the whole crazy game going on east of the Rhine?

Picture value (with humor), 80 per cent.

THE CAMERA REPORTS

EVERY ONE A WINNER. The lucky candidates in Paramount's "Search for Beauty," in which 100,000 contestants were enrolled. Here are the winners as they arrived in Los Angeles, ready for roles in the Paramount production, "The Search for Beauty." They represent every English-speaking region, and therefore every section of the world. (The girls look rather short here, but that's because the young men are standing on a rail.)

SEEKS A WOMAN. For a role, be it stipulated, in Columbia's "Twentieth Century." Howard Hawks, director of this John Barrymore vehicle, is shown as he reached New York in his quest.

IN SHORTS. Montagu Love, principal in many a feature, who is in two new Educational pictures, "The Doctor" and "The Expectant Father."

LILLUMS. Rochelle Hudson, who was selected by Warner Brothers for the principal feminine role opposite Hal LeRoy in "Harold Teen."

FATHER'S DAUGHTER. Katherine DeMille, whose dad is Cecil DeMille, and who has been assigned an important role in MGM's "Viva Villa."

HONOR GUESTS. (Below) Dolores Del Rio and Walter Huston at AMPA luncheon, shown with John Flinn (center), AMPA president, and Cedric Gibbons, art director, Miss Del Rio's husband.

NOW A STAR. Aline MacMahon, a featured player in many Warner Brothers productions, who has been promoted to the rank of star, under a new contract recently signed by her and Warners. Miss MacMahon's first starring vehicle has already been scheduled, bearing the title "Fur Coats."

IN WARSAW. J. A. Koerpel (center, with glasses), general manager for United Artists in Continental Europe, as he visited the Falanga studio in the Polish capital. At his left is Friedrich Fleminger, manager of National Film Corporation, Warsaw distributor of U. A. product.

IN BURBANK. Irving Asher, Warner-British production head, on the "Registered Nurse" set during his visit to the Warner-First National studios. Shown are Arthur Greville Collins, Bebe Daniels, Mr. Asher, Director Robert Florey, Lyle Talbot and John Halliday.

AS OF 1934. Verree Teasdale as she appears very contemporaneously fixed-out in an evening gown of gold satin, in the Warner-First National production, "Fashions of 1934."

BACK TO STUDIO. Samuel J. Briskin, general manager of Columbia, is met by his sons, Jerry (left) and Raymond, as he arrives in Los Angeles by plane, ending an absence from the production capital which included several weeks in Europe.

ON VACATION. Fredric March, Paramount star, arriving in New York with Mrs. March (Florence Eldridge), after a boat trip from Los Angeles, to vacation in the East and witness the opening of his latest picture, "All of Me," at the Paramount theatre.

ON DECK. For a new production, Maurice Chevalier is shown arriving in New York, come back from abroad to star in "The Merry Widow" for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

SALARY QUESTIONNAIRE DETAILED

(Continued from page 9)

employer in the motion-picture industry has agreed to pay any unreasonably excessive inducement to any person to enter into the employ of such employer. If the Code Authority finds that such employer has done so, the Code Authority shall have the power, with the approval of the Administrator, to impose an assessment against such employer in the amount of the unreasonable excess payment to such person, not, however, to exceed the sum of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00), and to make public its findings, but nothing in this PART shall in any manner impair the validity or enforceability of such agreement of employment. All such assessments shall be paid to the Code Authority for use by it in the Administration of its functions."

Despite the popular impression that the control of excessive salaries was intended solely for Hollywood's excessive star salaries and excessive producer salaries, the clause may be made applicable to any salary payments above $150 per week in any branch of the industry, at any place.

Only employers received the questionnaire blank which was mailed out last week by Mr. Rosenblatt as part of the investigation. This was sent to 2,000 producing, distributing and theatre companies and subsidiaries.

The questionnaire follows:

SCHEDULE 1

Gross receipts, investment, assets, number of individuals employed and total compensation for production, distribution and exhibition—each separately—for the years 1931, 1932 and 1933, with the following specific information asked for each year, and separately for each of the three branches:

- Gross Receipts
- Cost of Supplies and Materials
- Total Capital Investment
- Surplus and Surplus Reserves
- Total Assets
- Net Profit or Loss
- Total Number of Employees, and
- Total Compensation:
  - (a) Directors of Company
  - (b) Executives
  - (c) Supervisors
  - (d) Clerical, Office and Service
  - (e) Actors and Actresses (excluding Extras)
  - (f) Extra Players
  - (g) Motion Picture Directors
  - (h) Musical Directors and Musicians
  - (i) Writers, Authors, Dramatists (Literary)
  - (j) Composers, Arrangers, Librarians (Musical)
  - (k) Artists and Sculptors
  - (l) Scenic Artists and Designers
  - (m) Costume Designers
  - (n) Sound Engineers
  - (o) Sound Technicians
  - (p) Cameramen
  - (q) Studio Mechanics
  - (r) Laboratory Workers
  - (s) All other employees

The questions "Total Number" and "Total Compensation" are asked separately for each of the foregoing groups of employees, and separately for each year and separately for each division of the industry: production, distribution and exhibition.

▽

SCHEDULE 2

For each individual employee receiving an aggregate compensation of $150 or more per week, this part of the questionnaire asks the companies to list each individual separately by a number, in order to keep the identity of the worker unknown. However, on another section are to be listed the confidential name and number designation corresponding with the number on Schedule 2. This information—identities of numbers—will be detached from the questionnaire immediately upon its receipt at the office of the Administrator.

Besides the identifying individual number of each individual employee, there must be written the following information:

Position or Title
Weekly Cash Salary Rate
Cash Salary Received During Year
All Other Compensation Received During Year
Total Compensation

This information, likewise, must be listed separately for each employee for each of the years 1931, 1932 and 1933, and separately for each division of the industry: production, distribution and exhibition. Then, in addition, there must be listed a grand total of compensation from all branches where any one employee receives compensation from more than one branch of the industry.

▽

SCHEDULE 3

This part of the questionnaire is intended to gain an analysis of all other compensation received by an employee during the year, as follows:

Amount of Cash Bonuses, Commissions and Other Cash Compensation in Addition to Salary.

Amount of Bonuses, Commissions and Other Cash Compensation in Capital Stock, Bonds or Other Securities

Amount of Subscription Rights for Bonds, Stock or Other Securities, Including Special Options.

Amount of Any Other Compensation, Remuneration, Gift, etc., Not Already Listed.

Grand Total of All Compensation Other Than Regular Cash Salary.

This information, also, must be listed separately for each employee for each of the years 1931, 1932 and 1933, and separately for each division of the industry: production, distribution and exhibition. And, in addition, there must be filed a grand total of compensation from all branches where any one employee receives compensation from more than one branch of the industry.

▽

CONFIDENTIAL NAME AND NUMBER DESIGNATION

This blank says, "Designate below the names of individuals who are listed by number" in Section 3.

"This information is for identification purposes only and will be held in strictest confidence, being available only to the division administrator in charge of the investigation" (Sol A. Rosenblatt) "and to the chief investigator."

"This information will be detached from the questionnaire immediately upon its receipt at this office." (NRA.)

Besides the identifying name of each individual, to be listed beside the identifying number of such employee, there is another blank headed: "Names of such individual's relatives drawing compensation from the motion picture industry."

▽

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

This blank says:

"Each schedule in the attached questionnaire is set up to cover the three divisions of the motion picture industry, or in other words, to cover separately, production, distribution and exhibition.

"Where an individual or a company was engaged in all three of the activities" each individual section—production, distribution, exhibition—"of the schedules should be filled out completely. In other words, if the individual designated as 'Number 10' received a salary or other compensation from each of the three activities (branches), the amounts of such earnings should be specified in the sections dealing with each activity.

"On the other hand, if an individual received a salary or salary and other compensation from only one activity, or, for example, from motion picture exhibition only, then only" that section, "Motion Picture Exhibition," should be completed.

"If none of the individuals received an aggregate compensation of $150 or more a week, so indicate and return questionnaire to this office.

"Certificate of the correctness of this return must be made below by an appropriate executive officer in behalf of the company.

"CERTIFICATION

"I hereby certify that the answers in the schedules following are correct:
"Name
"Title of officer
"Name of Company
"Street
"City

"How many subsidiary or related companies are included in this report?

"If this report is completed by a subsidiary or affiliated company, give name and location of parent organization.

"This information will be detached from the questionnaire immediately upon its receipt at this office.

325 More Nominations to Boards

Exhibitors and exchangemen in the field continued during the week to send to the Code Authority in New York the names of exhibitor and exchange representatives suggested for appointment to the 32 Local Clearance and Zoning Boards and 32 Local Grievance Boards.

In addition to the 311 nominees announced by the Code Authority last week—the list appeared on page 10 of the January 13 issue of Motion Picture Herald—the Code Authority made known this week a second group of 325 nominations. Up to press time the Code Authority had on hand, then, a total of 636 nominations from the field to fill the 64 exchange posts and 64 exhibitor posts on the 32 Local Clearance and Zoning Boards; and the 64 exchange posts and 64 exhibitor posts on the 32 Local Grievance Boards. In addition, the Code Authority will appoint its own representative on each board, who shall not be a member of the industry, but shall be the official contact between the board and the Code Authority.

EXHIBITORS RUSH ACTION ON CODE

The Code Authority will commence on January 20 to make the final selections for both boards, and these selections shall be subject to the approval of Division Administrator Rosenblatt.

A list of the second group of 325 exchange and exhibitor nominees announced this week by the Code Authority appears in this issue, on page 10.

Code Authority members Charles L. O'Reilly, Nathan Yamins, J. Robert Rubin and Harold S. Bareford, commenced meetings over the weekend, as a committee, to prepare a manual of rules and regulations for the 64 Grievance and Clearance Boards, of which there will be one each established in each exchange city.

Neither group of boards is expected to start operations in the field before February 15, and possibly not until March 1.

The clearance and zoning schedules which will be drawn up by each Local Clearance and Zoning Board will be applicable only to the 1934-35 season. It is said that many grievances already have been received by the Code Authority for determination by the Local Grievance Boards when they start functioning next month.

The Code Authority let it be known that only the board secretaries will be paid, and that no remuneration will be made for the services of the exchange and exhibitor representatives on the boards, nor to the Code Authority's own representative.

Each board will elect its own chairman, and it is expected that these chairmen will be selected on a rotating system.

Minimum Expense Is Policy

In announcing the decision of the Code Authority not to pay board members, except secretaries, John C. Flinn, Code Authority secretary, sent the following wire to the Theatre Owners of Oklahoma, at Oklahoma City, in answer to an inquiry about salary payments made by that organization:

"The Code Authority of the motion picture industry has placed itself on record as unanimously approving the policy of performing its duties and supervising the duties and functions of Local Clearance and Zoning Boards and Local Grievance Boards at the very minimum of expense to the three branches of the industry from which, under the code, the expense of operation will be obtained. Members of the Code Authority are devoting unlimited time and effort without remuneration, but are prompted by a desire to render unselfish and earnest service to the industry at large in support of the Administration's National Recovery Act. No provision is being made to pay fees or salaries to any members of local boards appointed from the industry or from outside the industry with the exception of the paid secretary."

Mr. Flinn's statement that fees would not be paid to board members from outside the industry clarified a misunderstanding that the Code Authority's own representative on each board might be paid.

Typical of the intense interest of exhibitors in the field in the Local Clearance and Zoning and Local Grievance Boards was that voiced in New York during the week by Ben Berinstein, president of the Independent Theatre Owners of Southern California, who came East from Los Angeles to ascertain from the Code Authority when the local boards can be expected to begin functioning.

The last date for making nominations to the boards is midnight, January 20, and anyone may make nominations, but such nominations will not be honored unless the person who is nominated has signed the official acceptance blank for the code. No exchange man or exhibitor will be permitted to serve on either board unless he has signed the acceptance blank.

Mr. Berinstein made it clear that his exhibitors had no fault to find with the code itself, but said that the delay of the Code Authority in naming the boards is "demoralizing" exhibition and distribution, at least in the southern California territory, resulting in admission slashes which may prove ruinous.

6,000 Code Assents Received

Some 6,000 code acceptance blanks had been received by the Code Authority in New York up to press time, from producers and distributors and exhibitors in the field. The Code Authority mailed out two weeks ago about 13,500 blanks to theatres and 6,500 to producers, distributors, exchanges and others.

Newcomers in the industry will be given forty-five days after their entrance into the business to sign the code blank in order to be assured of protection against unfair trade practices.

The Code Authority late last week finally selected the 23rd floor of the RKO Building on Sixth Avenue, at Radio City, as its permanent headquarters.

The Authority has not yet decided on the manner and method of financing the administration of the code, nor on the amount which it will assess each industry member, including producers, distributors and exhibitors.

The next Code Authority meeting will be held at headquarters in New York on Tuesday, January 23. R. H. Cochrane, of Universal, will preside, succeeding S. R. Kent, in line with the rotating system for chairmen.

The United States Postal Department at Washington this week refused to grant the Code Authority the privilege of free postage.

While practically all other Code Authority members already have appointed alternates, it appeared likely that alternates will not be named by and for Nathan Yamins, of Allied of New England, or for Charles L. O'Reilly, of the Theatre Owners Chamber of Commerce in New York.

Nor will Mr. Rosenblatt have an alternate to act for him at Code Authority meetings.

Mr. Rosenblatt leaves for Hollywood on Friday and for the first time the next Code Authority meeting on January 23 will witness his absence by sending a copy of the minutes to the NRA at Washington.

While in Hollywood, in the interests of the Government's investigation of studio salaries, Mr. Rosenblatt will call a general meeting of the personnel of all studios at which he will explain in detail the application of the code to production and production workers.

Indirectly involving the NRA's motion picture code was the information regarding a number of practices continued by West Coast theatres, in California, in alleged violation of the Government's consent degree of August, 1930, which information was forwarded over the weekend by the Federal Trade Commission to the Department of Justice and the chairman of the Senate banking and currency committee at Washington. A copy of the report was also sent to the National Recovery Administration, but officials of that organization pointed out that the matters involved did not involve the code and were, therefore, of but passing interest to them.

Exhibitor Organizations Meet

In the field, exhibitor organizations were continuing their discussions of operation under the code.

In Chicago, Allied exhibitors, having been unable to come to a decision on signing the code at a meeting last week, were planning to get together again within the next 10 days.

A large majority signed with reservations at a meeting of the Cleveland Motion Picture Exhibitors Association.

At Columbus, under a new ruling of the Ohio MPTO, it was announced that future bulletins will be mailed to members only.

Allied Theatre Owners of Michigan were to meet today.

In Kansas City, A. F. Baker, president of the Kansas-Missouri Theatre Association, was awaiting a reply from Mr. Rosenblatt to his invitation to address a mass meeting.

Sign "With Exceptions"

Allied Theatres of New Orleans signed the code "with exceptions." Ed Kuykendall, MPTOA president, will hold a conference there early next week.

No agreement was reached at Omaha at the MPTO meeting last week on a plan for clearance and zoning.

At a meeting of 50 Oregon exhibitors and exchange officials in Portland on giveaways and lotteries, it was decided to file "friendly" complaints against three Portland theatres.

Abandoning the idea of formulating a state code, the Inter-mountain Theatres Association at Salt Lake City decided to sign the national industry code.

Mr. Rosenblatt announced the following as members of standing committees on studio labor and extras:

Studio labor, other than extras: Pat Casey, representing the producers; Al Berres, international unions; Ed Smith, musicians' union; Dick L'Estrange, California Federation of Labor.

Committee of 15 on extras: Dr. A. H. Giannini, Mabel E. Kinney, Mrs. Una N. Hopkins, Fred Pelton, Dave Werner, M. H. Hoffman, B. B. Kahane, Pat Casey, Charles Miller, Larry Steers, Lee Phelps, Allan Garcia, Fred D. Burns, P. M. Friedman, J. Blockley Russell. Miss Kinney, M. H. Hoffman, B. B. Kahane, Charles Miller and Larry Steers are to comprise the executive committee of the standing committee.

In Hollywood the IATSE won the studio jurisdiction vote with a total of 448. The American Society of Cinematographers received 93, and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, nine.

In Washington, faced with denunciation of his code by film producers, George P. Aarons, counsel for the National Poster Exchange Association, last week sought to withdraw the poster code for an undisclosed amendment to define the exact purpose of the trade. Permission was withheld by NRA officials.

BOX-OFFICE BULWARK

OF THE LARGEST THEATRE IN THE WORLD!...

THE MOST DARING ADVENTURE IN THEATRICAL HIST
CITY! . . . AN ALMOST FABULOUS EMPIRE OF STONE AND MARBLE MADE TO LIVE BY THAT INTANGIBLE CALLED ENTERTAINMENT! IN ITS FIRST YEAR, JUST MOST THREE MILLION PEOPLE HAVE PASSED THROUGH BE ENTERTAINED BY RKO-RADIO PICTURES, THE BOX-WARK OF THIS SHOW PLACE OF THE NATION, THE LA
TRE IN THE WORLD!

IT IS WITH PRIDE THAT WE LIST THESE ATTRACTIO
OF UNIFORM EXCELLENCE, COMMANDING THE HIGHEST PRESS AND PUBLIC AND PROVING THEIR MERIT AT THE
IT TAKES PRODUCTIONS, NOT PREDICTIONS, TO FILL
6,200 SEATS TO AN AVERAGE ATTENDANCE OF 20,000

ORY IS RADIO

AND STEEL

SOMETHING

ENDED, AL-

ITS DOORS TO

OFFICE BUL-

RGEST THEA-

NS, PICTURES

PRAISE OF

BOX-OFFICE!

A HOUSE OF DAILY!

RKO-RADIO PICTURES AND THEIR RECORDS AT RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL

	ATTENDANCE
TOPAZE	143,736
THE GREAT JASPER	127,008
OUR BETTERS	138,345
KING KONG	124,673

(played simultaneously at both Radio City theatres, total seating capacity of 10,000, total attendance nearly 300,000)

CHRISTOPHER STRONG	100,485
SWEEPINGS	132,739
THE SILVER CORD	110,906
MELODY CRUISE	96,408
BED OF ROSES	112,207
PROFESSIONAL SWEETHEART	113,806
DOUBLE HARNESS	110,499
NO MARRIAGE TIES	102,664
MORNING GLORY	149,854
ONE MAN'S JOURNEY	144,713
ANN VICKERS	133,182
AGGIE APPLEBY	86,049
AFTER TONIGHT	92,528
LITTLE WOMEN	450,801

1st week 165,845
2nd week 138,863
3rd week 146,093

(Moved to Radio City Center Theatre for 4 weeks, playing to an additional quarter million attendance)

THE RIGHT TO ROMANCE	90,502
FLYING DOWN TO RIO	281,086

1st week 135,774
2nd week 145,312

(Moved to Radio City Center Theatre for indefinite run)

RKO Radio PICTURES

SOME COMING RKO-RADIO PICT
BOX-OFFICE REQUIREMENTS OF

URES CREATED TO MEET THE
THE WORLD'S FINEST THEATRES

LEDE

. . . . DESTINED FOR GREATNESS

"So well acted by Mr. Lederer that it tickled the risibles of the audience . . . spectators applauded this film"
—Hall, N. Y. Times

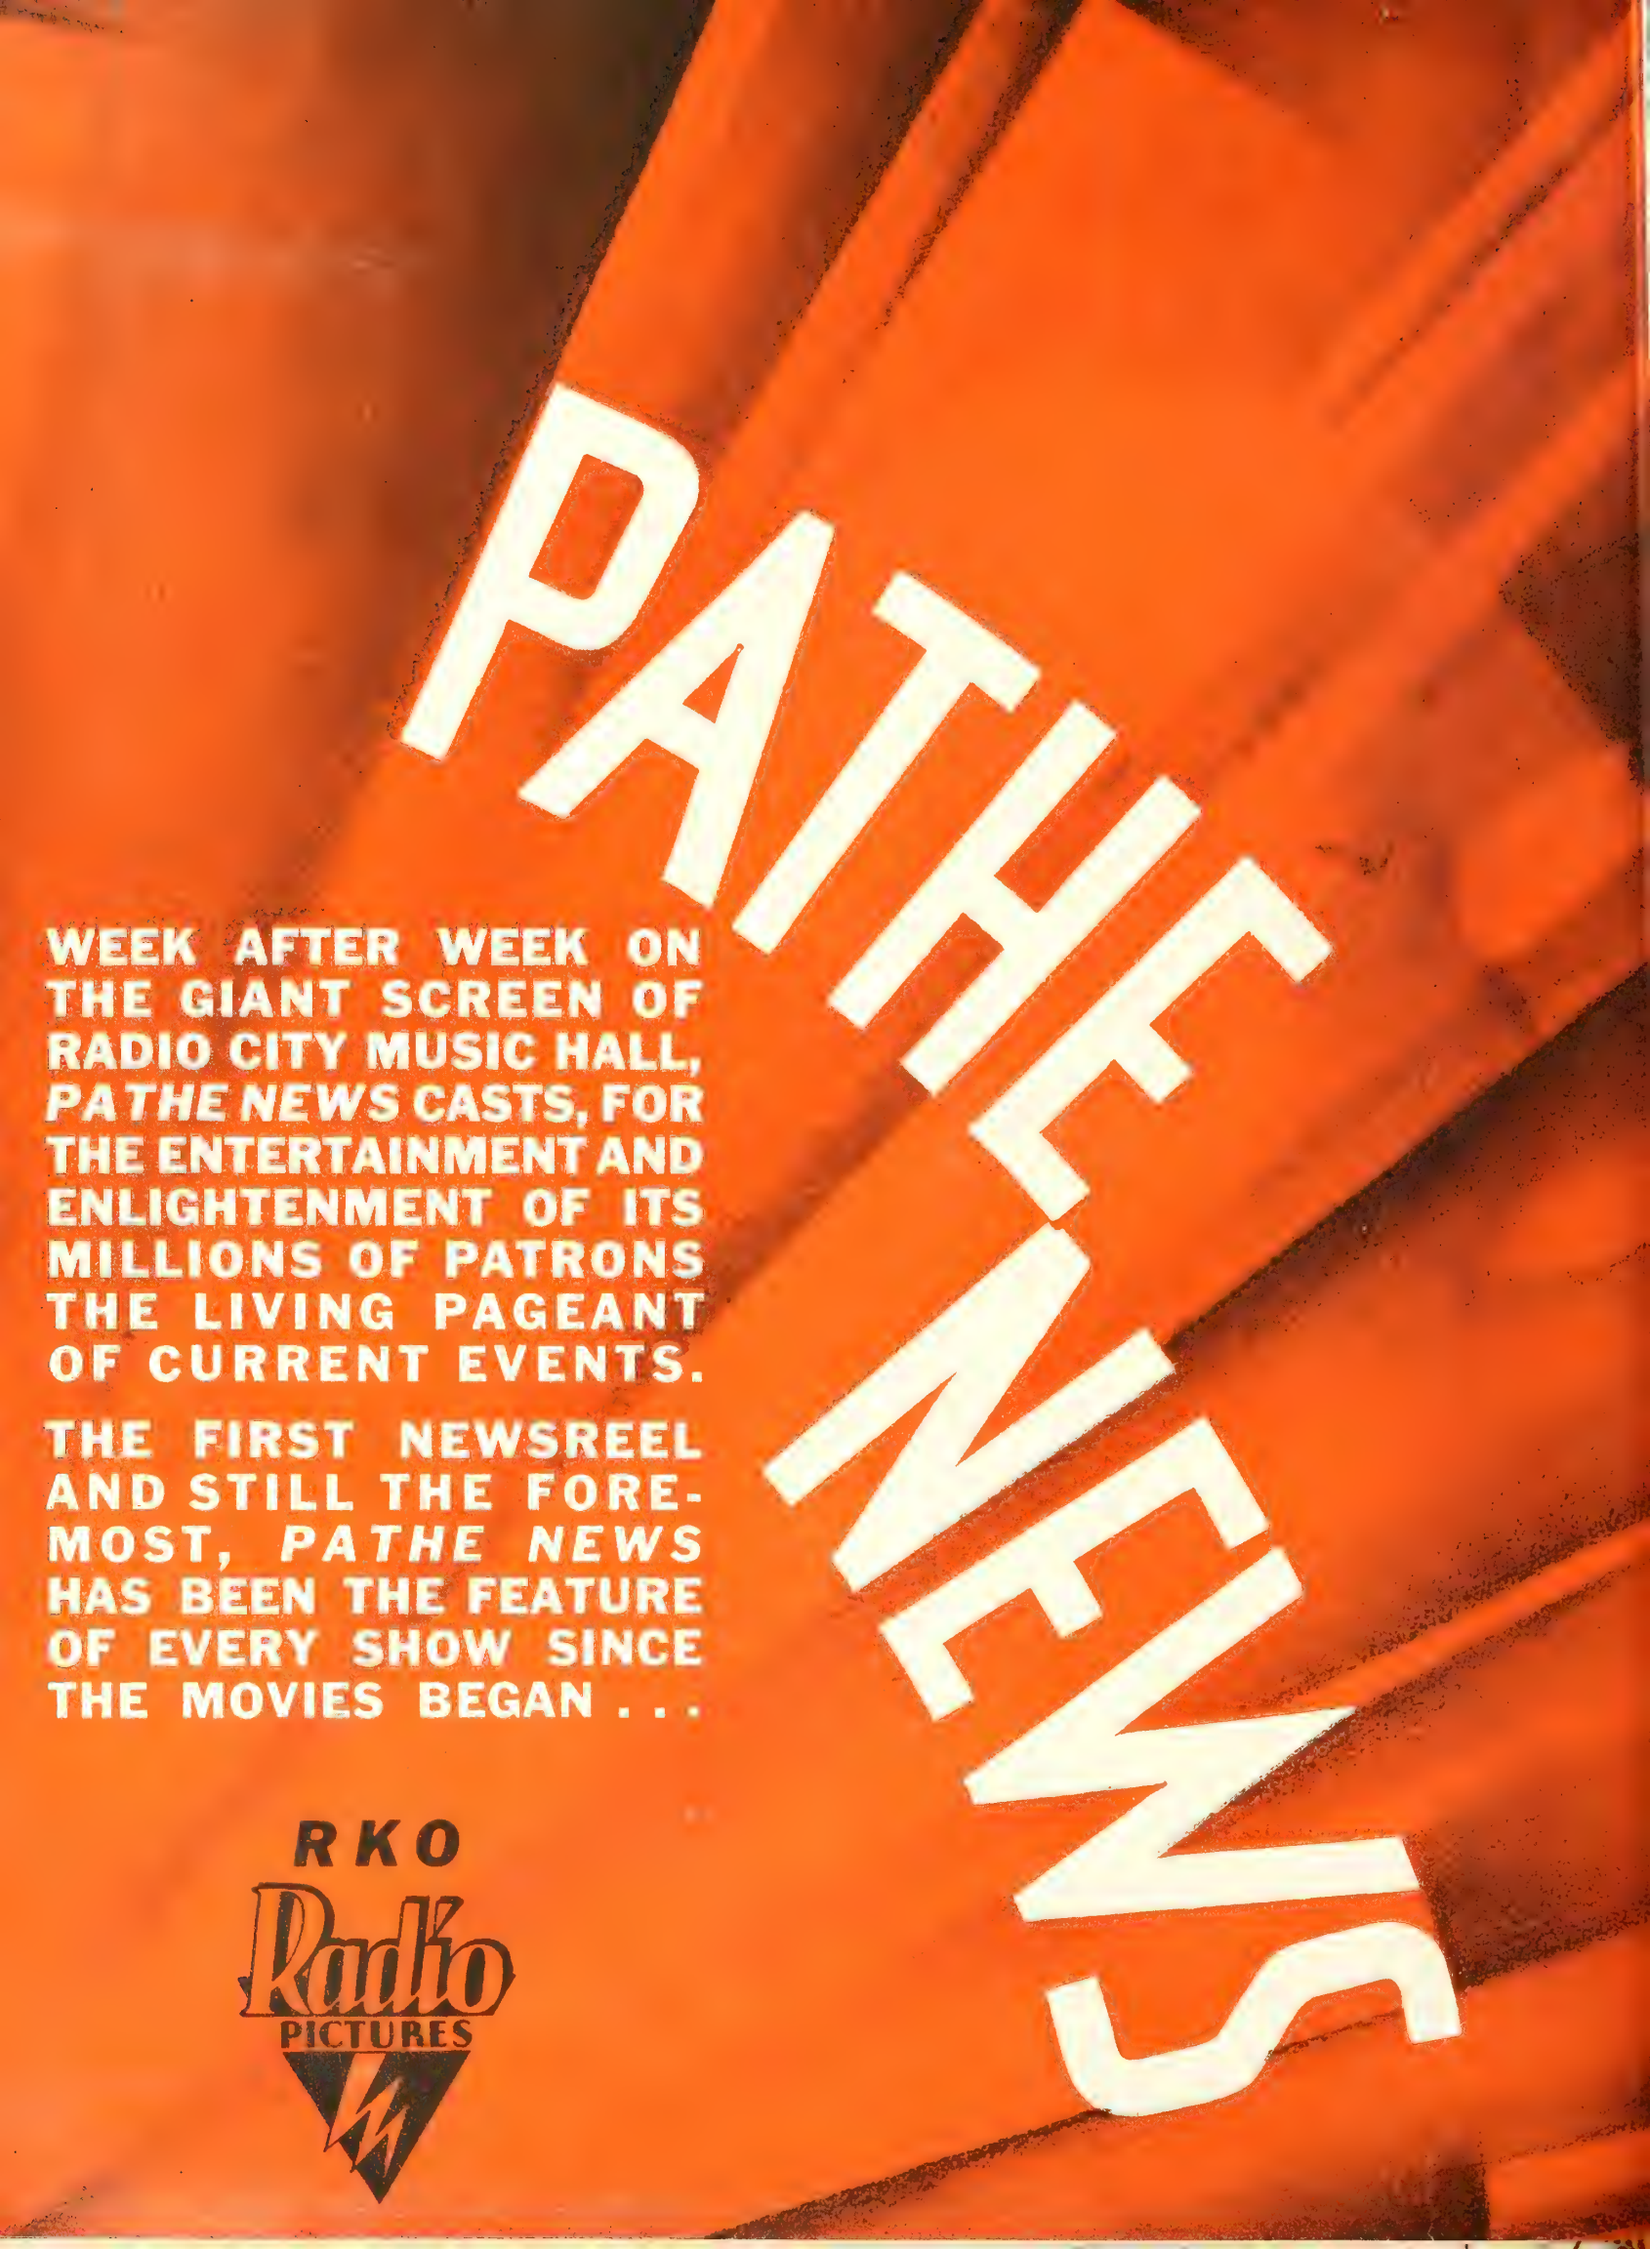
"His Hollywood entrance can be definitely set down as a success"
—Watts, N. Y. Herald-Tribune

"Broadway's most exciting matinee idol"
—Bland Johaneson, N. Y. Mirror

"Has both talent and personality"
—Regina Crewe, N. Y. American

"An excellently true and sympathetic performance"
—Boehnel, N. Y. World-Telegram

"An actor of sufficient skill and personal charm to endow any character he portrays with the love-glow"
—Delehanty, N. Y. Post



"Charming"
—John S. Cohen, N. Y. Eve. Sun

FRANCIS LEDERER
ELISSA LANDI
in
"MAN OF TWO WORLDS"

with Henry Stephenson . . J. Farrell MacDonald

Directed by J. Walter Ruben... A Pandro S. Berman Production

RER

PATHE NEWS
WEEK AFTER WEEK ON THE GIANT SCREEN OF RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL, PATHE NEWS CASTS, FOR THE ENTERTAINMENT AND ENLIGHTENMENT OF ITS MILLIONS OF PATRONS THE LIVING PAGEANT OF CURRENT EVENTS.
THE FIRST NEWSREEL AND STILL THE FOREMOST, PATHE NEWS HAS BEEN THE FEATURE OF EVERY SHOW SINCE THE MOVIES BEGAN . . .
RKO
Radio
PICTURES

MORE THAN 8,000,000 ATTENDED RADIO CITY HOUSES IN FIRST YEAR

RKO's Music Hall and Center Attendances 6,025,000 and 2,050,000, Respectively, for Period; Day's Record 30,010

On Thursday, January 11, 1934, the Radio City Music Hall celebrated the first anniversary of its operation by RKO under its present policy of screen and stage attractions, continuous performances and popular prices. The enterprise, eyed so dubiously by many showmen prior to its opening, had become a success in its first twelvemonth.

In mid-January, 1933, literally overnight, the present policy was inaugurated at the Music Hall. Since that date approximately 6,025,000 persons have paid admission to the Music Hall. The attendance record for a single day was set on Saturday, December 2, the seventeenth day of the record-breaking run of "Little Women," when 30,010 stepped to the box offices.

2,050,000 at RKO Center

During the same period the Music Hall's sister house in Radio City, the RKO Center, was moving along successfully. The Center, now playing second run pictures and short features at popular prices, was visited by 2,050,000 persons during its first year, making a total of over 8,000,000 to attend the two Radio City theatres in Rockefeller Center in the first twelve months of their operation by Radio-Keith-Orpheum.

RKO Radio's "Little Women," holder of all Music Hall attendance and receipts records, played three weeks at the Music Hall to 450,701 people, then moving a block to the RKO Center, it played another four weeks. The picture was among the Box Office Champions of November in MOTION PICTURE HERALD'S compilation, and led the field in the listing of the December Champions.

Many Notables Attended

In addition to those who attend the Music Hall regularly each week, the theatre is a magnet for visitors from outside the city, many notables among them. General Balbo, Senator Marconi, Ex-President Herbert Hoover and scores of other wellknown figures have attended from time to time.

Beside feature pictures, the Music Hall plays spectacular stage shows on what has been called the best-equipped stage in the world. Since the resignation of S. L. Rothafel (Roxy) they are staged by Leon Leonidoff as production director, with Erno Rapee as director of music and Vincente Minnelli as art director.

The Music Hall's permanent ensembles include the symphony, under Mr. Rapee's direction; the corps de ballet, directed by Florence Rogge; the choral ensemble led by Leon Rosebrook, and the noted Roxyettes, precision dancers, trained by Russell Markert. Among the notable productions offered during the first year, were Ravel's "Bolero," "Blue Prelude," Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Scheherazade" and an adaptation of Delibes' "Coppelia" ballet.

Walt Disney's "Silly Symphonies" have their first New York showings at the Music Hall. It was on the Music Hall screen that the "Three Little Pigs" began their amazing screen career.

Presented Showmanship Problems

Herman Whitman is manager of the Music Hall, while Michael Cruise officiates in the same capacity at the RKO Center.

The Music Hall, with its 6,200 seats, and the RKO Center, with its 3,700, operating a block apart, presented great problems in practical showmanship. Ten thousand seats were added overnight to the Times Square theatrical district. Prophets insisted that amusement-seekers would not leave Broadway and travel the long block to Radio City on Sixth Avenue, but 8,000,000 persons proved them wrong in the first twelve months.

With 20 RKO Radio features having figured in the year's playing time at the Music Hall, many other productions from the company's studio are slated for the house, several in the "hold over" class.

Katharine Hepburn's fourth picture for Music Hall time will be "Spitfire." John Barrymore will make his second appearance on that screen under the RKO banner in "Long Lost Father," and Leslie Howard's starring vehicle, "Of Human Bondage" will be an attraction. Frank Buck's "Wild Cargo," just back "in the can" from the Malayan jungles; "Green Mansions," with Dolores Del Rio and Joel McRae; Richard Dix in "The Crime Doctor" and Wheeler and Woolsey in "Hips, Hips Hooray" are RKO Radio films scheduled for the house during the new season.

Irene Dunne, who had the leading role in two pictures at the Music Hall during the past season, will be seen in "Transient Love;" Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in "Success Story," recently completed, and "The Lost Patrol," with Victor McLaglen and Boris Karloff.

THEATRES OVERCAME COLD, CLOSED BANKS

On at least two occasions during the first year of the Music Hall operation the film-going public defied highly unfavorable conditions to "see the show."

When "Little Women" opened on November 16, a long line braved record cold weather. The official weather report told of the coldest November 16 in fifty years, but 23,073 persons attended for a new opening-day record.

Added to the cold of March when "King Kong" played simultaneously at both houses in Radio City, was the bank moratorium. Yet an even 200,000 braved inclement weather and the shortage of funds due to the bank holiday to see "Kong" in a single week.

Large Seating Capacity of Two Theatres Presented Showman Problems; 20 Radio Pictures Played on Music Hall Screen

Hepburn Film Sets Records

Of all the stars whose films played the Music Hall during its first year none shone more brightly and for so many weeks as did Katharine Hepburn.

Miss Hepburn had appeared in only one picture, "A Bill of Divorcement" in which she made her debut in the John Barrymore film, when the Music Hall opened. With the release of "Christopher Strong" her career became linked in a way with the Music Hall. "Christopher Strong" played the Music Hall the week of March 15, and Miss Hepburn was seen by an audience of slightly more than 100,000.

Her second screen appearance at the theatre was in "Morning Glory" and then "Little Women." The total run of the three Hepburn productions was five weeks, "Little Women" alone accounting for three of the five weeks.

"Little Women" at the Music Hall broke all opening-day records and all week, two-week and three-week records. The total attendance for the three record weeks was 451,801. The Louisa M. Alcott classic then moved in but a block away at the RKO Center, and ran for four additional weeks with the attendance thermometer registering 250,000.

"Topaze" National Board Choice

The first RKO Radio picture to play the big house on Sixth avenue was "Topaze," a John Barrymore starring vehicle. It was later chosen by the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures as the best American film for the year 1933. Harry D' Arrast directed. The supporting cast was headed by Myrna Loy, and included Albert Conti, Reginald Mason, Jobyna Howland, Frank Reicher and Jackie Searle. "Topaze" played to 143,736 people during the week's run.

Announces Development Of New Type Sound Head

Wesley Trout, sound engineer of Enid, Okla., has developed a new type of sound head which, he claims, uses a new type of optical system, two sprockets, new type of curved, case hardened sound gate, and is gear-driven. He claims Powers, Simplex, Kaplan and Motiograph projectors can be equipped with the new sound head. Mr. Trout also has developed a new all a.c. amplifier, using all latest tubes, new tone-control and changeover device.

Congratulations

FROM FOX

to RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL ... for the splendid success you have attained in your first year ... the reward of outstanding attractions on both stage and screen ... and an atmosphere of hospitality and distinction created by an intelligent personnel... which have made you a showplace of New York City.

and

MAY WE TAKE A BOW

for giving you CAVALCADE...which holds your attendance record for both first week (172,535 people) and hold-over week (172,064 people) . . . as well as the following FOX pictures which did their part toward swelling your $4,000,000 gross:

STATE FAIR

PILGRIMAGE

BERKELEY SQUARE

THE WARRIOR'S HUSBAND

I LOVED YOU WEDNESDAY

THE POWER AND THE GLORY

PADDY the Next Best Thing

—and to start your second successful year—

I AM SUZANNE!

"CAROLINA"

Producers Vote Plan to Continue Academy Services

At a momentous session of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences in Hollywood on Wednesday, Howard Green, president, appealed to 40 producers and members for support of a new life membership plan, inviting the producers to join as corporate members, with a tax of $50 for each completed feature to defray expenses and carry on technical research, conciliation and other Academy services.

The producers, favoring the plan, voted it be made immediately effective. It was the unanimous opinion of those present that the new setup would lead the Academy to continue as a service organization.

A committee, on ways and means of continuance of the activity and financing, includes: King Vidor, chairman; Irving Thalberg, Jack Warner, Cecil B. DeMille, Lewis Stone, De Witt Jennings, Frank Capra, Waldemar Young, John Nickolaus, John Cromwell and Carl Dreher. A finance committee, to take care of existing obligations, is composed of William Sistrom, George Irving and Van Nest Polglase.

The indication, as seen in some quarters, points to the practical transposition of the Academy from a voice for creative workers to the status of a service organization. The belief has been expressed in Hollywood that with producers supporting the Academy, there is little likelihood they will recognize any other organization, such as the Writers' Guild or the Actors' Guild.

Hoblitzelle Staff To Share in Profit

As a sequel to the proposed Warner bonus plan for its theatre managers, announced last week in the HERALD, the hundred or more employees of Karl Hoblitzelle, operating his 86 theatres in 30 Texas and New Mexico cities, will participate in the profits of their respective houses, it was announced last week.

Mr. Hoblitzelle emphasized the need of making the theatre in each community the center of its activity.

"It is necessary that each theatre be operated with the greatest possible independence of the home office in Dallas," he said. "It also is necessary that the managers and others bring creative thoughts to their particular cities. The best way to obtain this is to give each manager a pecuniary interest beyond his salary."

General Theatres Hearing Date Is Now Feb. 13

Chancery court at Wilmington this week advanced to February 13 the date for hearing the application of U. S. Senator Daniel Hastings, receiver for General Theatres Equipment, for authority to compromise claims filed against General by the Chase National Bank, of New York.

Creditors Protest Davis' Reductions

Creditors of Paramount Publix voiced their objections to U. S. District Judge William Bondy on Wednesday when the report of Referee Henry K. Davis recommending 15 per cent reduction in the company's receivership cost was brought up for approval. The court referred the case to Judge John Knox for early decision.

Recommends $250,000 Be Paid

Mr. Davis' report recommended that approximately $250,000 of the $296,000 originally asked for be allowed. The allowances, the majority of which are attorneys' fees, are for expenses incurred during the seven weeks of the Paramount Publix equity receivership, from Jan. 26, 1933, up to the time the company went into bankruptcy in March.

The principal reduction recommended was $25,000 from the allowance asked by Root, Clark, Buckner & Ballantyne, attorneys for the equity receivers. Mr. Davis recommended payment of $100,000.

The allowance of Charles D. Hilles, co-receiver with Adolph Zukor, was recommended at $25,000 instead of $30,000 asked by Mr. Hilles. Mr. Zukor"s petition for $23,047 was recommended to be paid in full. Also recommended was the payment of $41,000 of the additional $59,784 asked by the equity receivers for expenses incurred as ancillary receivers in California and Illinois.

The $30,000 allowances asked by the law firm of Rosenberg, Goldmark & Colin, attorneys for Paramount, was reduced to $25,000 by the referee's recommendation. Cravath, De Gersdorff, Swaine & Wood also Paramount attorneys, had an allowance of $15,000 approved in full by the report, but the allowance of Donovan & Raichle, attorneys, was reduced to $4,000 from the requested $5,246. A $15,000 allowance asked by O'Melvany, Tuller & Myers, Los Angeles attorneys, was cut to $12,000 by Mr. Davis.

Operating on Profit Several Months

The remaining allowances asked were for the most part smaller requests for law firms handling ancillary receivership affairs in Illinois, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Texas, Ohio, California and New Jersey, and approximated $10,000.

On Friday the Paramount trustees reported the company has been operating at a profit for several months and has been aided materially by foreign revenues benefited by current exchange rates. This report came as a result of inquiries as to the activity of Paramount certificates on the Stock Exchange. The certificates reached their highest level on the exchange on Friday, rising 62½ cents a share to 2.62½, on a turnover of 117,500 shares.

Petitions for payment of $76,171 by the trustee in bankruptcy of Publix Enterprises to Paramount Publix, and $15,000 to Dan Michalove, former advisor to the trustees of the bankrupt theatre subsidiary, will be acted on January 22. The $15,000 asked by Mr. Michalove is in addition to $7,950 already paid him.

"ComiColor" Distribution Covers 84% of Country

Eighty-four per cent of American territory is now being served on the P. A. Powers-Celebrity Productions "ComiColor" cartoon series under territorial rights contracts, the company announced last week.

Another well-known fairy tale, "The Brave Tin Soldier," has been put into production as the third in the group.

Independents in New York Plan a New Association

A new independent exhibitor unit in the metropolitan area of New York is understood in the process of formation. A meeting was held last week at the Breton Hall Hotel. A. H. Schwartz, Jack Springer and Sam Cocalis, who attended the meeting, are said to be among the chief supporters of the new organization.

The Schwartz and Springer and Cocalis circuits were recently suspended from the Independent Theatre Owners Association for non-payment of dues.

The organization, if formed, would be the third in the territory, the others being the ITOA, of which Harry Brandt is president, and the Theatre Owners' Chamber of Commerce, with Charles L. O'Reilly as president. Major circuits as well as independent are included in the membership of the TOCC, the oldest group.

New Radio City Officers Named

Announcement of the new officers and board of directors of Radio City Theatres, which controls and operates the Music Hall and the RKO Center, was made this week by Merlin Hall Aylesworth, president of Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation. At the same time, Mr. Aylesworth announced that operation of the Music Hall will be vested in the hands of an advisory board for the time being, and no successor to S. L. (Roxy) Rothafel is likely to be appointed at present.

The new directorate consists of Mr. Aylesworth, J. R. McDonough, W. G. Van Schmus, L. E. Thompson, Webster B. Todd, Herman Zohbel, Joseph O. Brown, William Mallard and Francis T. Christy.

Officers as announced are M. H. Aylesworth, chairman of the board; J. R. McDonough, president; W. G. Van Schmus, vice-president and comptroller; L. E. Thompson, vice-president and acting general manager; Herman Zohbel, treasurer, and William Mallard, secretary.

Mr. Thompson will have direct charge of the Music Hall and Leon Leonidoff will be in general charge under him.

Meanwhile a plan of settlement of RKO's claim of $2,094,665 against Keith-Albee-Orpheum, proposed by the Irving Trust Co., RKO receiver, was upheld this week in a ruling handed down by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Under the receiver's plan, Stadium Theatres, Inc., a newly organized RKO subsidiary, takes over the claim against K-A-O and issues its own stock to the RKO receiver in exchange.

U. A. Tour from Washington

The United Artists exploitation tour, the Moulin Rouge caravan, advertising the 20th Century film, "Moulin Rouge," will start from Washington instead of New York, as originally intended.

Columbia Congratulates Radio City Music Hall

We are proud to join the Motion Picture industry in offering our felicitations to Radio City Music Hall on the occasion of its first anniversary

•

CLARK CLAUDETTE

GABLE and COLBERT

in "IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT"

From the Cosmopolitan Magazine story by Samuel Hopkins Adams

Screen play by Robert Riskin

A FRANK CAPRA Production

JOHN BARRYMORE

in

"20th CENTURY"

From the sensational Broadway Success by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur with CAROLE LOMBARD

A HOWARD HAWKS Production

"NO GREATER GLORY"

From the world-famous novel by

FERENC MOLNAR

Screen play by Jo Swerling

A FRANK BORZAGE Production

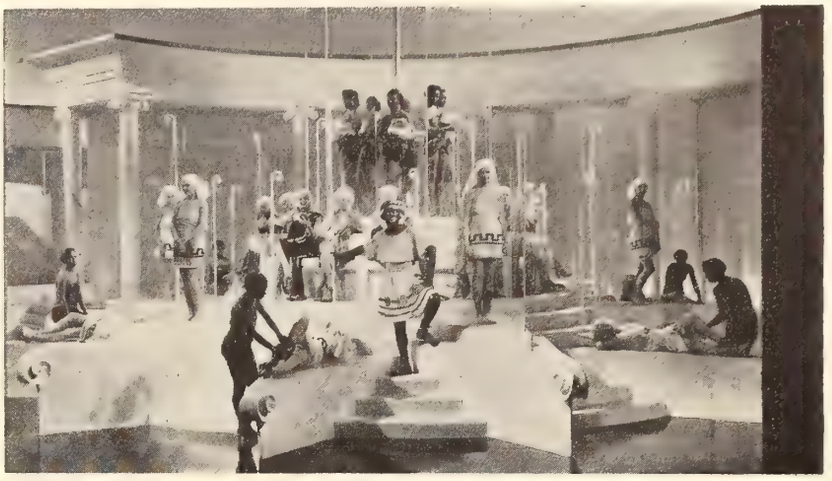
COLUMBIA PICTURES

BOX OFFICE CHAMPIONS: December

(1) Directed by George Cukor. Executive producer: Merian C. Cooper. Supervised by Kenneth MacGowan. From the novel by Louisa May Alcott. Screen play by Sarah Y. Mason and Victor Heerman. Photographed by Henry Gerrard. Cast: Katharine Hepburn, Joan Bennett, Frances Dee, Jean Parker, Paul Lukas, Edna May Oliver, Douglass Montgomery, Henry Stephenson. Released November 24, 1933.

LITTLE WOMEN — RKO Radio

(2) Directed by Robert Z. Leonard. David O. Selznick, executive producer. John W. Considine, Jr., associate producer. Screen play by Allen Rivkin and P. J. Wolfson, from the book by James Warner Bellah. Photographed by Oliver T. Marsh. Cast: Joan Crawford, Clark Gable, Franchot Tone, May Robson, Winnie Lightner, Fred Astaire, Robert Benchley, Ted Healy, Floria Foy, Art Jarrett, Grant Mitchell, Maynard Holmes, Nelson Eddy, Sterling Holloway, Moe Howard, Jerry Howard, Larry Fine. Released November 24, 1933.



DANCING LADY — MGM

(3) Directed by Norman McLeod. From the story by Lewis Carroll. Screen play by Joseph L. Mankiewicz and William Cameron Menzies. Music by Dimitri Tiomkin. Music supervision by Nathaniel Finston. Technical effects by Gordon Jennings and Farciot Edouart. Masks and costumes by Wally Westmore and Newt Jons. Settings by Robert Odell. Phonographed by Henry Sharp and Bert Glennon. Sound, Eugene Merritt. Cast: Charlotte Henry, Richard Arlen, Roscoe Ates, William Austin, Gary Cooper, Jack Duffy, Leon Errol, Louise Fazenda, W. C. Fields, Alec B. Francis, "Skeets" Gallagher, Cary Grant, Lillian Harmer, Raymond Hatton, Sterling Holloway, Edward Everett Horton, Roscoe Karns, Baby Leroy, Lucien Littlefield, Mae Marsh, Polly Moran. Released Dec. 22, 1933.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND — Paramount

¶ With six productions listed, four rankings are represented among the Box Office Champions for December. Among the four pictures sharing their positions with another, is the whimsical "Alice in Wonderland," which is tied with the forthright, though beauteous "Roman Scandals." "Little Women," also a November Champion, rose to head of the class in December.

(3) Produced by Samuel Goldwyn. Directed by Frank Tuttle. Screen play by William Anthony McGuire, from an original story by George S. Kaufman and Robert Sherwood. Additional dialogue and material by George Oppenheimer, Arthur Sheekman and Nat Perrin. Songs by Al Dubin and Harry Warren. Dances and production numbers directed by Busby Berkeley. Art director: Richard Day. Musical director: Alfred Newman. Photography of the numbers by Gregg Toland. Photography of the story by Ray June. Film editor: Stuart Heisler. Sound recorder: Vinton Vernon. Cast: Eddie Cantor, Ruth Etting, Gloria Stuart, David Manners, Verree Teasdale, Edward Arnold, Alan Mowbray, Grace Poggi, Charles C. Wilson, Harry Holman, Lee Kohlmar. Released Dec. 29, 1933.

ROMAN SCANDALS — United Artists

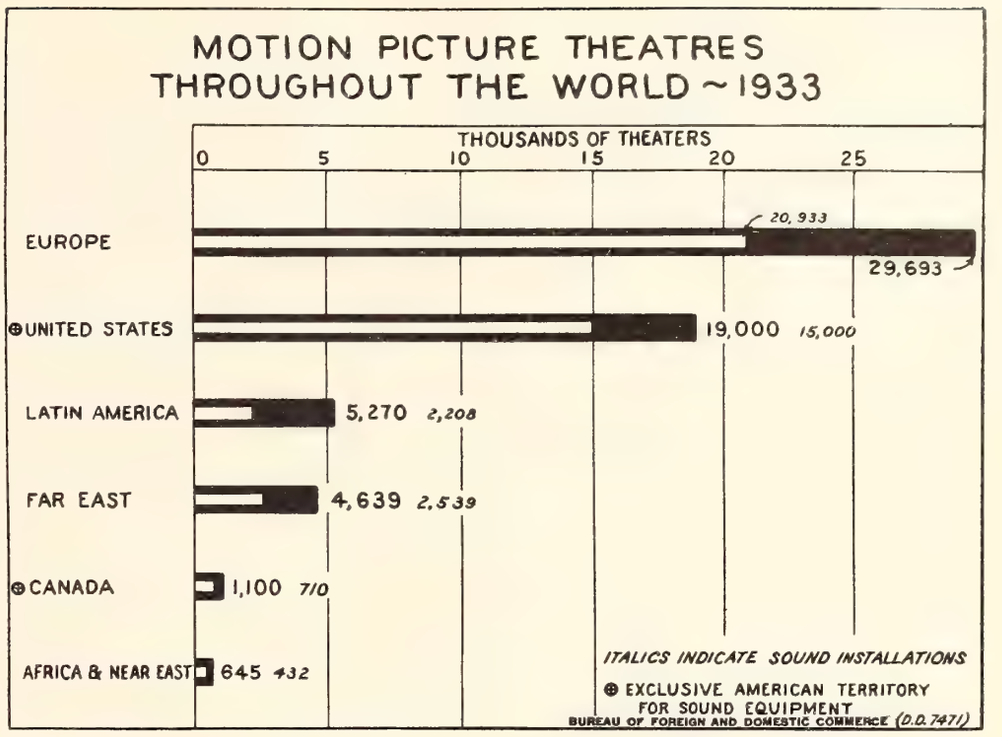
(4) Directed by John Blystone. From the play, "Der Komet," by Attila Orbok. Screen play by Hans Kraly and Jane Storm. Dialogue by S. N. Behrman. Music and lyrics by William Kernell. Photographed by Lee Garmes. Dance direction by Sammy Lee. Sound recorder: W. W. Lindsay, Jr. Art director: Joseph Wright. Musical arrangement by Hugo Friedhofer. Cast: Lilian Harvey, John Boles, El Brendel, Irene Browne, Maude Eburne, Henry Stephenson, Herman Bing. Released Nov. 10, 1933.

MY LIPS BETRAY — Fox

(4) Directed by John M. Stahl. Suggested by the book, "Only Yesterday," by Frederick Lewis Allen. Screen play by Arthur Richman and George O'Neill. Dialogue by William Hurlbut. Photographed by Merritt Gerstad. Cast: Margaret Sullavan, John Boles, Billie Burke, Reginald Denny, Jimmy Butler, Edna May Oliver, Benita Hume, George Meeker, June Clyde, Oscar Apfel, Jane Darwell, Tom Conlon, Berton Churchill, Onslow Stevens, Franklin Pangborn, Walter Catlett, Noel Francis, Bramwell Fletcher, Barry Norton, Arthur Hoyt, Natalie Moorhead, Joyce Compton, Betty Blythe, Grady Sutton. Released Nov. 6, 1933.

ONLY YESTERDAY — Universal

THEATRES IN THE UNITED STATES



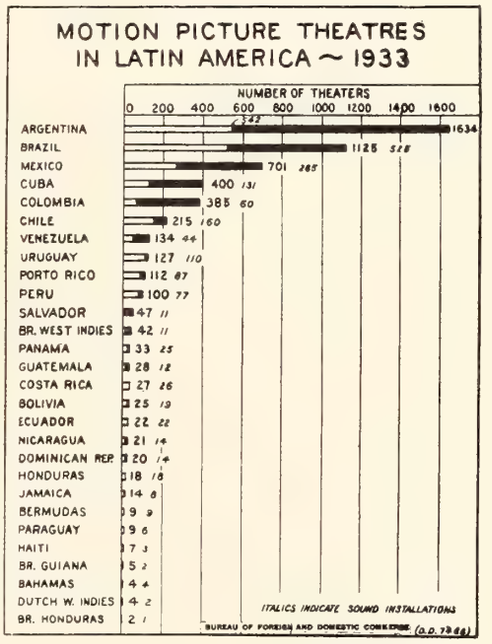
Key City Territory	Theatres		Circuit Theatres				Independent Theatres		Theatres		Closed Theatres
			Affiliated		Unaffiliated								Total
	No.	Capacity	No.	Capacity	No.	Capacity	No.	Capacity	Sound	Silent	Sound	Silent	Closed
ALBANY (Upper N. Y., Western Vt., and Western Mass.)	453	270,012	32	50,938	130	103,816	291	115,258	370	83	74	78	152
ATLANTA (Ala., Fla., Ga., parts of Miss., S. C. and Tenn. east of Tenn. River.)	612	342,091	120	119,407	125	75,009	367	147,675	595	17	87	17	104
BOSTON (Me., Mass. except extreme western part, R. I., N. H. and all but extreme western part of Vt.)	1,072	790,657	157	210,635	147	159,235	768	420,787	845	227	186	218	404
BUFFALO (Western New York)	462	334,732	39	66,437	135	129,909	288	138,386	369	93	56	91	147
CHARLOTTE (N. C., S. C. and most of Tennessee)	382	183,956	56	47,618	23	13,443	303	122,895	354	28	37	28	65
CHICAGO (No. Ill., No. Ind. and Eastern Iowa)	915	663,845	123	205,811	163	154,194	629	303,840	771	144	86	143	229
CINCINNATI (Southern O. and parts of Ky., W. Va., Ind. and Va.)	1,346	527,724	69	76,878	126	85,920	1,151	364,926	807	539	121	521	642
CLEVELAND (Northern Ohio)	555	373,140	36	61,118	116	106,362	403	205,660	474	81	63	81	144
DALLAS (Texas)	936	443,645	16	14,590	222	174,197	698	254,858	711	225	65	224	289
DENVER (Col., west. Nebr., part of N. M., Black Hills of S. D., parts of Tex. and Wyo.)	390	187,133	51	38,082	20	16,002	319	133,049	355	35	39	34	73
DES MOINES (Parts of Ia., Ill.)	373	163,657	22	28,376	39	22,562	312	112,719	355	18	26	18	44
DETROIT (Lower Mich.)	512	372,617	92	110,019	47	42,281	373	220,317	502	10	38	10	48
INDIANAPOLIS (Most of Ind. and western Ky.)	624	296,323	15	15,460	99	88,062	510	192,801	466	158	63	158	221
KANSAS CITY (Kan. and western Mo.)	686	350,949	97	94,611	61	46,310	528	210,028	589	97	122	97	219
LOS ANGELES (Southern Cal. and parts of Ariz., Mex., Nev. and New Mex.)	577	443,345	134	172,788	78	65,084	365	205,473	482	95	35	95	130
MEMPHIS (Ark., northern Miss. and west. Tenn.)	235	112,839	11	9,582	39	21,746	185	81,511	230	5	42	5	47
MILWAUKEE (Most of Wis. and upper Michigan)	541	291,881	43	51,950	21	22,050	477	217,881	446	95	71	75	146
MINNEAPOLIS (Minn., west. Wis., parts of Ia., N. D. and S. D.)	863	357,268	75	67,009	44	23,474	744	266,785	832	31	102	31	133
NEW HAVEN (Connecticut)	176	170,817	35	48,389	38	51,588	103	70,840	175	1	18	1	19
NEW ORLEANS (La., parts of Ala., Ark., Fla., Miss.)	477	213,484	3	7,299	95	75,097	379	131,088	361	116	52	116	168
NEW YORK (Long Island, Greater N. Y. City, N. Y. State as far north as Poughkeepsie, and northern N. Jersey)	1,119	1,290,644	196	419,639	468	545,162	455	325,843	1,087	32	93	32	125
OKLAHOMA CITY (Oklahoma)	410	197,367	46	35,169	45	31,763	319	130,435	390	20	14	20	34
OMAHA (Most of Neb., parts of Ia. and S. D.)	582	204,996	23	29,075	29	16,077	530	159,844	433	149	67	149	216
PHILADELPHIA (Eastern Pa., so. N. Jersey, Delaware)	768	663,169	181	246,250	90	96,161	497	320,758	768	0	52	0	52
PITTSBURGH (Western Pa. and part of West Va.)	720	372,783	68	81,269	52	37,058	600	254,456	606	114	62	114	178
PORTLAND, ORE. (Most of Ore. and parts of Cal., Ida. and Wash.)	195	104,586	7	11,178	19	14,982	169	78,426	187	8	20	8	28
ST. LOUIS (Southern Ill., east. Mo., part of Ky.)	484	269,590	54	59,613	62	39,480	368	170,497	461	23	76	21	97
SALT LAKE CITY (Parts of Utah, Ida., Mont., Nev., Ore., Wyo., Ariz., Wash., Colo. both Dakotas)	548	203,173	22	18,009	41	23,465	485	161,699	390	158	82	155	237
SAN FRANCISCO (Parts of Cal., Ore. and Nev.)	418	329,008	45	75,104	111	107,671	262	146,233	404	14	58	14	72
SEATTLE Alaska and parts of Wash. and Ida.)	268	145,838	20	28,817	69	44,288	179	72,733	268	0	27	0	27
WASHINGTON, D. C. (D. of C., Maryland, parts Del., Va., and W. Va.)	672	357,681	66	85,523	92	60,934	514	211,224	569	103	45	102	147
Total January 1, 1934	18,371	11,028,950	1,954	2,586,643	2,846	2,493,382	13,571	5,948,925	15,652	2,719	1,979	2,656	4,635
Total January 1, 1933	19,311	11,161,193	2,266	2,937,644	3,189	2,561,726	13,796	5,585,830	15,231	4,080	2,170	3,725	5,895

42,000 Theatres Wired of World Total of 60,000

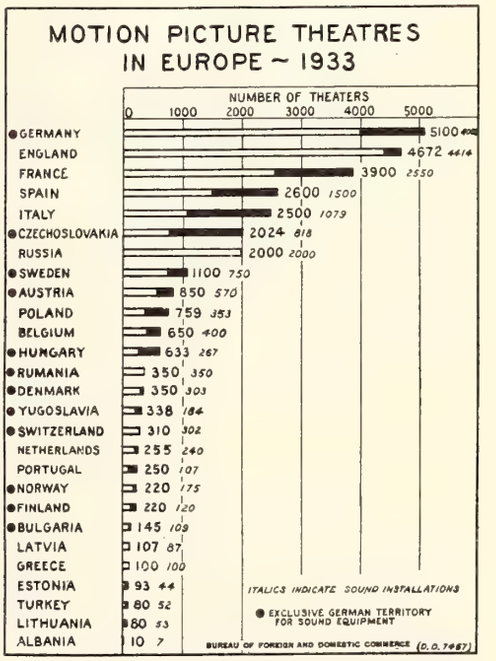
Approximately 42,000 motion picture theatres, of the world's total of 60,347, are wired for sound pictures, according to the United States Department of Commerce, Motion Picture Division, which last week completed its annual investigation of picture houses in both hemispheres. The total of all motion picture theatres was 1,577 fewer than in the previous year, while those wired grew by 5,000.

The figures, based on January 1 totals, according to the department, show Europe continuing in the lead with 29,693 theatres, of which 20,933 were wired. The United States is second, having 19,000 houses with 15,000 wired, according to the federal survey.

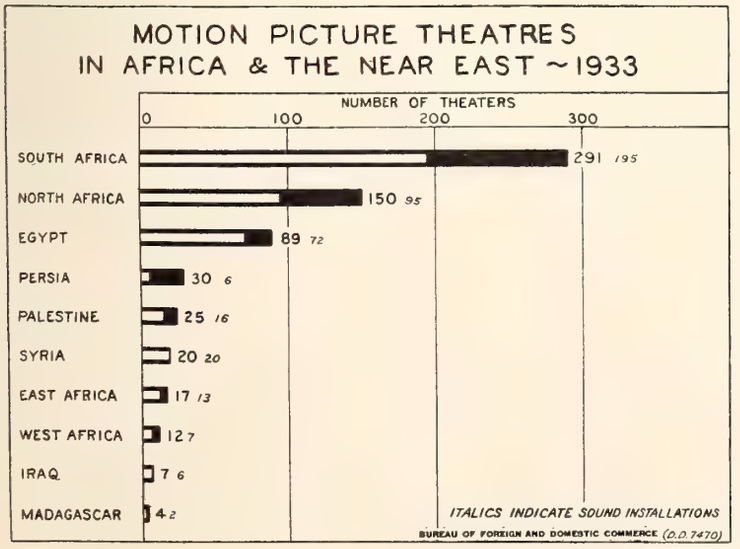
Following is a table of the world's theatres by countries:



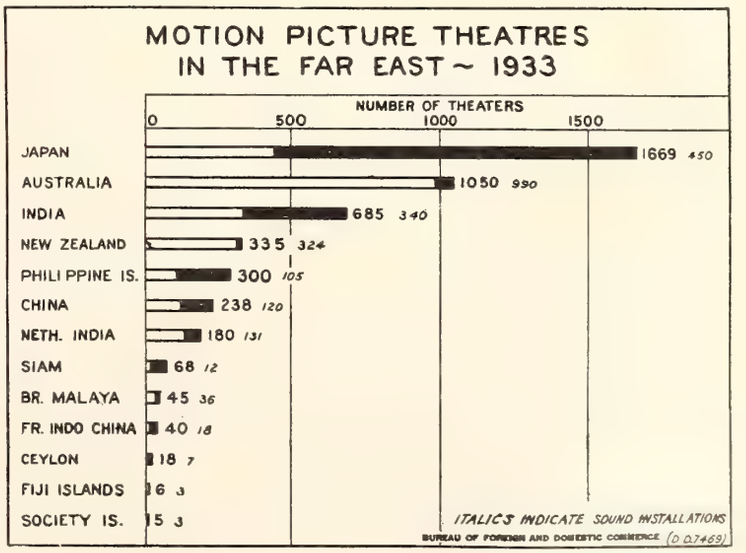
WORLD THEATRES
Total and Wired



Country	Theatres	Wired
Europe	29,693	20,933
United States	19,000	15,000
Latin America	5,270	2,208
Far East	4,639	2,539
Canada	1,100	710
Africa and Near East	645	432
	60,347	41,822



EUROPE



Country	Theatres	Wired
*Germany	5,100	4,000
England	4,672	4,414
France	3,900	2,550
Spain	2,600	1,500
Italy	2,500	1,079
*Czechoslovakia	2,024	818
Russia	2,000	2,000
*Sweden	1,100	750
*Austria	850	570
Poland	759	353
Belgium	650	400
*Hungary	633	267
*Roumania	350	350
*Denmark	350	303
*Yugoslavia	338	184
*Switzerland	310	302
Netherlands	255	240
Portugal	250	107
*Norway	220	175
*Finland	220	120
*Bulgaria	145	109
Latvia	107	87
Greece	100	100
Estonia	93	44
Turkey	80	52
Lithuania	80	53
Albania	10	7

*Exclusive German territory for sound equipment.

National Group Will Advise on Paramount Houses

Paramount Publix will bring together the loose ends of the executive management of its nationwide theatre decentralization system by means of a National Advisory Committee of Paramount theatre partners.

Formal announcement of the committee was made over the weekend in New York by Ralph A. Kohn. Members will be chosen within a few days, territorially, by the partners of Paramount in the theatre business in various sections. Under the company's nationwide decentralized theatre operation plan, the committee will be formed for the specific purposes of exchanging information, confirming and corelating policies and maintaining a closer contact between Paramount theatre partners and associates and the home offices. The members of the committee will be in constant communication with one another and with the home office and will meet at least once every three months with executives of Paramount's theatre department.

According to present plans the committee will consist of six members, each committeeman representing one of the five large geographical divisions in the United States and one representing Canada.

E. V. Richards, of New Orleans, representing the Paramount partners in the Southeast, was chosen by them as the first member of this committee at a meeting in Atlanta last week. Additional members will be chosen by Paramount associates in the Southwest, the Chicago territory, New England territory, the territory west of Chicago and Canada. It is expected that the southwestern representative will be chosen at Dallas, Texas, on Friday. N. L. Nathanson, president of Famous Players Canadian Corporation, also will serve.

Meanwhile, Paramount has leased the St. Francis theatre at San Francisco, from Louis R. Lurie, for 99 years at a total rental of $7,400,000, with Mr. Lurie agreeing to replace the present structure with a new one within two years.

At the same time, a sale of assets of the bankrupt Publix Nebraska Company, Inc., for $14,000, was made known at Omaha by the trustee, J. W. Denham. The purchaser was Tristate Theatres Company, of which A. H. Blank is president.

Most of the creditors of the A. H. Blank Theatre Company of Nebraska have indicated their willingness to accept the company's offer to pay claims at the rate of about 20 cents on the dollar, which would require about $1,038,000.

Means Re-Elected

Jay Means this week was re-elected for the third time as president of the Independent Theatre Owners of Greater Kansas City. Other officers, also re-elected, are Charles Vaughan, vice-president; Charles Potter, treasurer, and Mrs. A. Baier, secretary.

Loew Meeting Postponed

Stockholders of Loew, Inc., on Tuesday postponed their meeting for a month because of inability to obtain a quorum.

Missouri Passes Lowest Sales Tax

Missouri last week passed the one-half of one per cent sales tax and at the same time killed two other taxes affecting the motion picture industry. Passage of the bill is expected to settle the state's tax problem until the regular legislative session next year.

The special session had adjourned over the holidays with three bills pending, including the sales tax, which applies to all forms of business. This bill, it is said, was favored by the industry in preference to a ticket tax, which called for a levy of one and one-half cents up to 25 cents, and a straight 10 per cent on all tickets above 25 cents. The other bill killed was a one-cent footage tax on all negative and positive film.

Charles E. Mack Killed in Crash

Charles E. Mack, of the team of Moran and Mack, the "Two Black Crows," was killed last week in an automobile accident near Mesa, Ariz. With him were his wife and a daughter, Mary Jane; George Moran, the other half of the team, and Mack Sennett, the producer. All suffered minor cuts and bruises.

In 1928 the team appeared in 16 weekly broadcasts and made two pictures for Paramount and subsequently did several short subjects for various companies. At the time of Mr. Mack's death the team was working on a series for Educational, three of which had been completed.

Weeks to Head Coast G-B Unit

Gaumont-British Pictures of America will open a branch office in Los Angeles for the handling of company product in West Coast states, according to Arthur A. Lee, heading the company in this country. George W. Weeks, former general sales manager of Paramount, will be in charge of the new office. In recent years, Mr. Weeks has been engaged in the independent field.

Pictures which will be handled by the new branch under Mr. Weeks' direction will be those that are being distributed direct to exhibitors by the company. Mr. Lee pointed out that the deal will in no way affect releasing arrangements with national distributors.

Decree in Erpi-Vitaphone Suit Expected February 6

A decree in the long contested case of Electrical Research Products, Inc., against the Vitaphone Corporation will be handed down on February 6 by the supreme court of Delaware, it was announced in Washington Tuesday.

Chicago Union Tiff Cleared in a Week Under Arbitration

With announcement from Washington late last week that higher minimum wages in all codes will be discussed at the meeting of code authorities in the Capitol next month and that NRA might ask for a 32-hour week throughout all industry, motion picture projectionists were marking time this week in their fight to obtain what they consider more equitable terms in proportion with the reduction in working hours.

High labor officials of the NRA are contending for increased wages in the event that work hours are shortened.

A strike ordered by Chicago operators was called off when the attention of union officials was directed to that provision of the code calling for arbitration and outlawing strikes or lockouts pending mediation. Arbitration in less than a week effected an agreement on virtually the same scale and conditions as in effect last year, except as the NRA affects working hours. Operators, it is understood, will average from 35 to 40 hours of work per week, with wages remaining at about $75 to $100.

On the heels of the Chicago settlement, 38 new complaints charging theatre owners with NRA violations in working employees more than 40 hours weekly were filed last week with the regional labor board in New York by Local 118, Building Service Employees Union.

Code violation charges preferred by Local 306, New York, against the Independent Theatre Owners Association were heard Tuesday before Assistant Deputy Administrator Farnsworth, who had been delegated by Division Administrator Rosenblatt to hear the case. Mr. Farnsworth referred the matter to Mrs. Eleanor Herrick of the Labor Compliance Board, and James H. Hodgson, regional NRA compliance chairman.

U. S. Grants Fund To Stage Players

With the granting of a $28,000 fund to alleviate unemployment among actors and actresses of the legitimate theatre by the Civil Works Administration, indigent members of the profession in New York this week were storming the emergency headquarters at the Actors' Equity Association. In the first day about 1,000 players were seeking the 150 jobs available.

Preference was given those artists previously registered with the CWA and it was understood that each player would receive $25 weekly for two weeks of rehearsal, and two playing weeks. Twelve plays are to be offered free of charge in schools, auditoriums, hospitals and museums, beginning January 30, under the auspices of the Board of Education and Equity. Playwrights will waive royalties for all such performances, it is understood.

DE-CODING THE FILM CODE

by JAMES P. CUNNINGHAM

1. PREAMBLE—TRADE PRACTICES FOR EXHIBITORS AND FOR DISTRIBUTORS

In this third of MOTION PICTURE HERALD'S series translating the entire motion picture code from its complex legal phraseology into a clear and comprehensive working language for the industry the subjects treated are: (1) Provisions for creating fair competitive and contractual relations and fair trade practices between distributors and exhibitors and among distributors and among exhibitors; (2) Clearance and Zoning.

This is the final article pertaining to the code's provisions and clauses for distribution and exhibition; code provisions affecting production will be discussed later.

The Local Grievance Boards in each exchange center which are to be set up in another week or two to administer the trade practice and fair competition provisions of the distribution and exhibition parts of the code will probably be ready to hear grievances, or complaints of violations, of exhibitors and distributors on or before March 1.

No exhibitor and no distributor which does not sign the official blank of code acceptance—without any qualifications—on or before midnight of January 31, shall be entitled to protection against unfair competition, nor shall it be entitled to file a complaint with the Local Grievance Board for relief from such unfair competition. However, and regardless, everyone is bound under the code whether or not they sign and a distributor or an exhibitor may be made a defendant in a case brought before the Local Grievance Board even though it did not sign the official acceptance blank.

The exchange manager and salesman and theatre owner or manager who wilfully and intentionally, directly or indirectly, violates any of the trade practice provisions of the code while dealing with other distributors or exhibitors is liable under the code, as is his employer, and may be fined $500 for each day's violation of any trade practice clause. A detailed analysis of the relations to the code of the excutive or managerial type of distribution and exhibition employee appears below, as Part 3.

The trade practice provisions for distribution and exhibition which are treated below in this article, as Parts 4, 5 and 6, are divided as follows:

PART 4

TRADE PRACTICES FOR DISTRIBUTION

What the Distributor and Exchange Must Do or Must Not Do

(a) Coercion; Intimidation
(b) Employees Interfering with Buying
(c) Substitutions

This is the third and final article in this series of MOTION PICTURE HERALD'S translations of the code as the code pertains to distribution and exhibition provisions. Production will be treated separately in subsequent issues.

The subjects treated in this third article are: (1) Provisions for creating fair competitive and contractual relations and fair trade practices between distributors and exhibitors and among distributors and among exhibitors; and, (2) Clearance and Zoning.

These translations of the code are not intended to interpret the legal meaning of any clause or code provision. The Code Authority and the NRA will be the code's legal interpreters, no one else.

(d) Non-Theatrical Accounts
(e) Tieing-In Shorts with Features
(f) Divulging Box-Office Receipts
(g) Fraudulently Transferring Assets
(h) Rental Adjustments
(i) Relief to Exhibitor from Designated Playdates
(j) Withholding Deliveries for Defaults
(k) Selling Specials
(l) Exchanges and Fire Regulations
(m) Interfering with Relations of "Outside" Distributor

PART 5

TRADE PRACTICES FOR EXHIBITION

What the Exhibitor and Theatre Must Do or Must Not Do

(a) Selective Service Contracts
(b) Overbuying
(c) Reduced Admissions, Rebates, Premiums, Prizes, Lotteries, Giveaways
(d) Fraudulently Transferring Ownership of Theatres
(e) Advertising Conflicting with a Prior Run
(f) Interfering with Theatre Leasing Negotiations
(g) Midnight Shows; Prior Exhibition to Dawn
(h) Misouts on "Circuit Shipments"

PART 6

TRADE PRACTICES FOR DISTRIBUTION AND EXHIBITION TOGETHER

What Distributors or Exchanges and Exhibitors or Theatres Must Do or Must Not Do Jointly

(a) Defamation of Character; Libel
(b) Threatening Legal Procedure
(c) Securing Confidential Information by Unfair Means
(d) Payment of Excessive Salaries
(e) Optional Standard License Agreement
(f) Arbitration of Contract Disputes
(g) Fraudulently Breaching Contracts
(h) Commercial Bribery; Giving of Gratuities
(i) Disclosing Box-Office Receipts
(j) Ten Per Cent Exclusion or Cancellation Privilege
(k) Proper Moral Standards in Motion Pictures
(l) Proper Moral Standards in Motion Picture Advertising

Other Machinery

The code provides local machinery, besides the Code Authority, for administering the code provisions relating to distribution and exhibition. These include Local Grievance Boards and, also contract arbitration boards for the private arbitration of contract disputes between distributors and exhibitors, and which contract disputes arise under an existing Optional Standard License Agreement. The arbitration of such contract disputes shall be conducted in accordance with the Optional Arbitration Clause of the Optional Standard License Agreement, and as modified by the code.

Clearance and Zoning Boards are now being established to provide against clearance of unreasonable length in each exchange territory.

The Local Grievance Boards are now being established to hear all other complaints and grievances of exhibitors or distributors.

An appeal may be taken to the Code Authority from any decision of the Local Grievance Board or Local Clearance and Zoning Board.

In the first two articles of this series on code translation (appearing in the issues of December 23 and January 6), subjects treated embraced all phases of the various boards for administering the code in distribution and exhibition; labor and employee provisions in distribution and exhibition and an analysis of the general application of the code to both fields.

Must Pay Yearly Assessment

In addition to affixing a signature to the official acceptance blank to get protection from the Local Grievance Boards against unfair competition, each distributor or exchange and each theatre must pay whatever yearly assessment is made by the Code Authority for the expense of administering the code. A method of collecting such allotments, and the amount of such allotments, will shortly be made known to the industry by the Code Authority.

The Code Authority may, after notice and hearing and with the approval of the NRA Administrator and the President, add such further trade practice provisions to the code as it sees fit. Or, it may modify any existing provisions as changes in circumstances or experience may indicate.

Proposals for modifications, eliminations or supplementary provisions to the code shall be submitted to the Code Authority, which, after a hearing on the proposal, shall report to the Administrator such additional rules as they recommend for the approval of the President.

The provisions of the code are separable, so that if a court decision invalidates one clause such decision in no way affects the validity of the other provisions.

Nothing in the code shall apply to 16mm. or non-theatrical companies, except when such companies are operating as unfair competition to regular theatres, and after the Code Authority establishes this fact, then such company shall be made subject to the code.

TRADE PRACTICES FOR DISTRIBUTION

Basically, the trade practices discussed in this article are the laws and rules and regulations for the governing of relations between distributors and exhibitors and among themselves.

2. DEFINITIONS OF TERMS

In order that each member of distribution and each member of exhibition shall have a thorough knowledge of the application of the code to individuals, firms, companies, corporations or interests, in connection with the technical terms used in the code, a study of the following definitions in the code as applicable to distribution and exhibition, should be made:

1. "MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY" shall be deemed to include, without limitation, the production, distribution, or exhibition of motion pictures and all activities normally related thereto, except as specifically excepted from the operation of the code, as in the cases of uncompetitive non-theatrical and 16mm films, television and the like.

2. "DISTRIBUTOR" shall be deemed to include, without limitation, all persons, partnerships, associations and corporations who shall engage or contract to engage in the distribution of motion pictures.

3. "EXHIBITOR" shall include, without limitation, all persons, partnerships, associations and corporations engaged in the ownership or operation of theatres for the exhibition of motion pictures.

4. "EMPLOYEE" as used in the code shall be deemed to refer to and include every person employed by any producer, distributor, or exhibitor as defined above.

5. "CLEARANCE" shall be deemed to refer to that interval of time between the conclusion of the exhibition of a motion picture at a theatre licensed to exhibit such motion picture prior in time to its exhibition at another theatre or theatres, and the commencement of exhibition at such other theatre or theatres.

6. "ZONE" as used in the code shall be deemed to refer to any defined area embraced within the operations of a local clearance and zoning board

7. "AFFILIATED EXHIBITOR" shall be deemed to refer to an exhibitor engaged in the business of operating a motion picture theatre which business is owned, controlled, or managed by a producer or distributor, or in which a producer or a distributor has a financial interest in the ownership, control, or management thereof. The mere ownership, however, by a producer or distributor of any theatre premises leased to an exhibitor shall not constitute any such theatre or exhibitor an "affiliated exhibitor," or "affiliated theatre."

8. "UNAFFILIATED EXHIBITOR" shall be deemed to refer to any exhibitor engaged in the business of operating a motion picture theatre which business is not owned, controlled, or managed by any producer or distributor, or in which no producer or distributor has an interest in the ownership, management or control thereof.

9. "ADMINISTRATOR" as used in the code shall be deemed to mean the National Recovery Administrator (General Hugh S. Johnson).

10. "NON-THEATRICAL" shall be deemed to refer to churches, schools, and other places where motion pictures are exhibited, but which are not operated in the usual and ordinary course of the business of operating a theatre for the exhibition of motion pictures.

3. EMPLOYEES, MANAGERS AND TRADE PRACTICES

Those classes of skilled or unskilled, unionized or unorganized labor or workers—principally engaged in exhibition—which do not belong to any of the managerial-executive-advisory classes of employees, have absolutely no responsibilities under any of the clauses or provisions of fair competition and trade practices in the code.

But, the executive type of employees of the managerial-executive-advisory classes engaged, both in distribution and exhibition, and principally involving exchange managers and distribution executives, and theatre managers and circuit executives, are bound under the clauses of fair competition and trade practices in the code. And, if they are personally held to have wilfully violated any such clauses of fair competition and trade practices, they are liable to a fine of $500 per day for each day of the violation.

The exchange manager, in his relations with a theatre owner, must abide by all of the fair competition and trade practice clauses to which his employer is bound. Likewise, a theatre manager, in his relations with the exchange, and with competitive theatres, must abide by all of the fair competition and trade practice clauses to which his employer is bound.

All of the trade practice clauses and provisions for fair competition between distributors and exhibitors, and among distributors themselves, and among competing exhibitors, are discussed in this third article in this series translating the motion picture code from the legal phraseology into a working language of the industry.

Some of the clauses in the trade practice and fair competition sections of the code specifically mention exchange or theatre employees in connection with their conduct with one another.

Obviously, when a distributor employer or an exhibitor employer violates the provisions of trade practices or fair competition, and such employer's manager or executive employee has no control over the violation by the employer, the manager or executive employee is in no wise involved, and, therefore, he is not liable to any penalties which may be levied if the violation is found to be wilful.

To illustrate the exchange manager's responsibilities: No salesmen or exchange manager shall wilfully require an exhibitor to take more short subjects when negotiating a feature contract than are required by the provisions of the code. Too, the exchange manager may be held liable if he is personally and wilfully responsible for violating that provision which compels each distributor to abide by the regulations promulgated by the Code Authority for the prevention of fire in the exchange. These two cases are but typical of a score of other clauses which involve the distributor and his manager in the field.

In exhibition, besides conducting his relations with the exchange according to the trade practice provisions of the code, and conducting his relations with competing exhibitors according to fair competition clauses of the code, the theatre manager may be held liable, for instance, if he personally and wilfully violates any ban which may be placed on rebates locally. This, likewise, is typical of a score of other clauses which involve the theatre manager.

Exchange managers and distribution executives in the field, representing both major and independent or state right distributors, and theatre managers and circuit executives in the field, are urged to study the trade practice provisions and the provisions of fair competition which, as previously mentioned, are translated in this third article of this series.

4. TRADE PRACTICES FOR DISTRIBUTION

WHAT DISTRIBUTORS AND EXCHANGES MUST DO OR MUST NOT DO

COERCION; INTIMIDATION

(Article V—D, Part 1)

A distributor must not threaten or coerce or attempt to force any exhibitor to enter a contract for pictures or to pay higher film rentals by the actual commission of any act which would indicate that the distributor will build a theatre, or acquire a theatre in competition with the exhibitor's if the exhibitor refuses to buy the distributor's pictures or refuses to pay higher film rentals to the distributor.

The distributor must actually perform an overt act with the thought in mind of intimidating or coercing the exhibitor; that is, for example, the erecting of any sign on a vacant lot or on any building announcing the distributor's intention of building a theatre or opening a theatre or opening a theatre in competition, or the actual filing of plans, or actual commencing of building or reopening or opening operations for such purposes of intimidation.

However, an act must actually be committed by the distributor, and no exhibitor has any grounds of complaint against a distributor based on any verbal threats to build or acquire a theatre in competition, which threats were reputed to have been voiced by a film salesman or exchange manager or other agent of the distributor. This is intended to protect the distributor against any unjust claims of an exhibitor who has no tangible evidence to offer to prove he had been threatened or coercion had been attempted in this connection.

Nothing in this clause shall in any way interfere with the right of any producer or distributor in good faith to build or acquire a theatre in any location in any place, competitive or otherwise.

Obviously, then, the exhibitor must definitely show, through the distributor's commission of any such act, that the distributor threatens to build or acquire a theatre in order to intimidate him.

DISTRIBUTOR'S EMPLOYEE INTERESTED IN THEATRE WHO INTERFERES WITH BUYING

(Article V—D, Part 2)

No employee of any exchange or of any distributor, if such employee is interested financially or otherwise in a theatre running in competition with a theatre owned by another exhibitor, may use his position with his distributor or exchange employer to interfere with the buying or contracting of pictures by such other exhibitor. No employee of a distributor is considered to have an interest in any theatre affiliated with his distributor employer. A Metro film salesman, for example, shall not be deemed to have an interest in a Loew theatre. The

(Continued on page 42)

"Best business

Orpheum Theatre (San Francisco) has enjoyed since start of present policy has been with your current picture, 'Cross Country Cruise.'"

—Charlie Caballero Manager

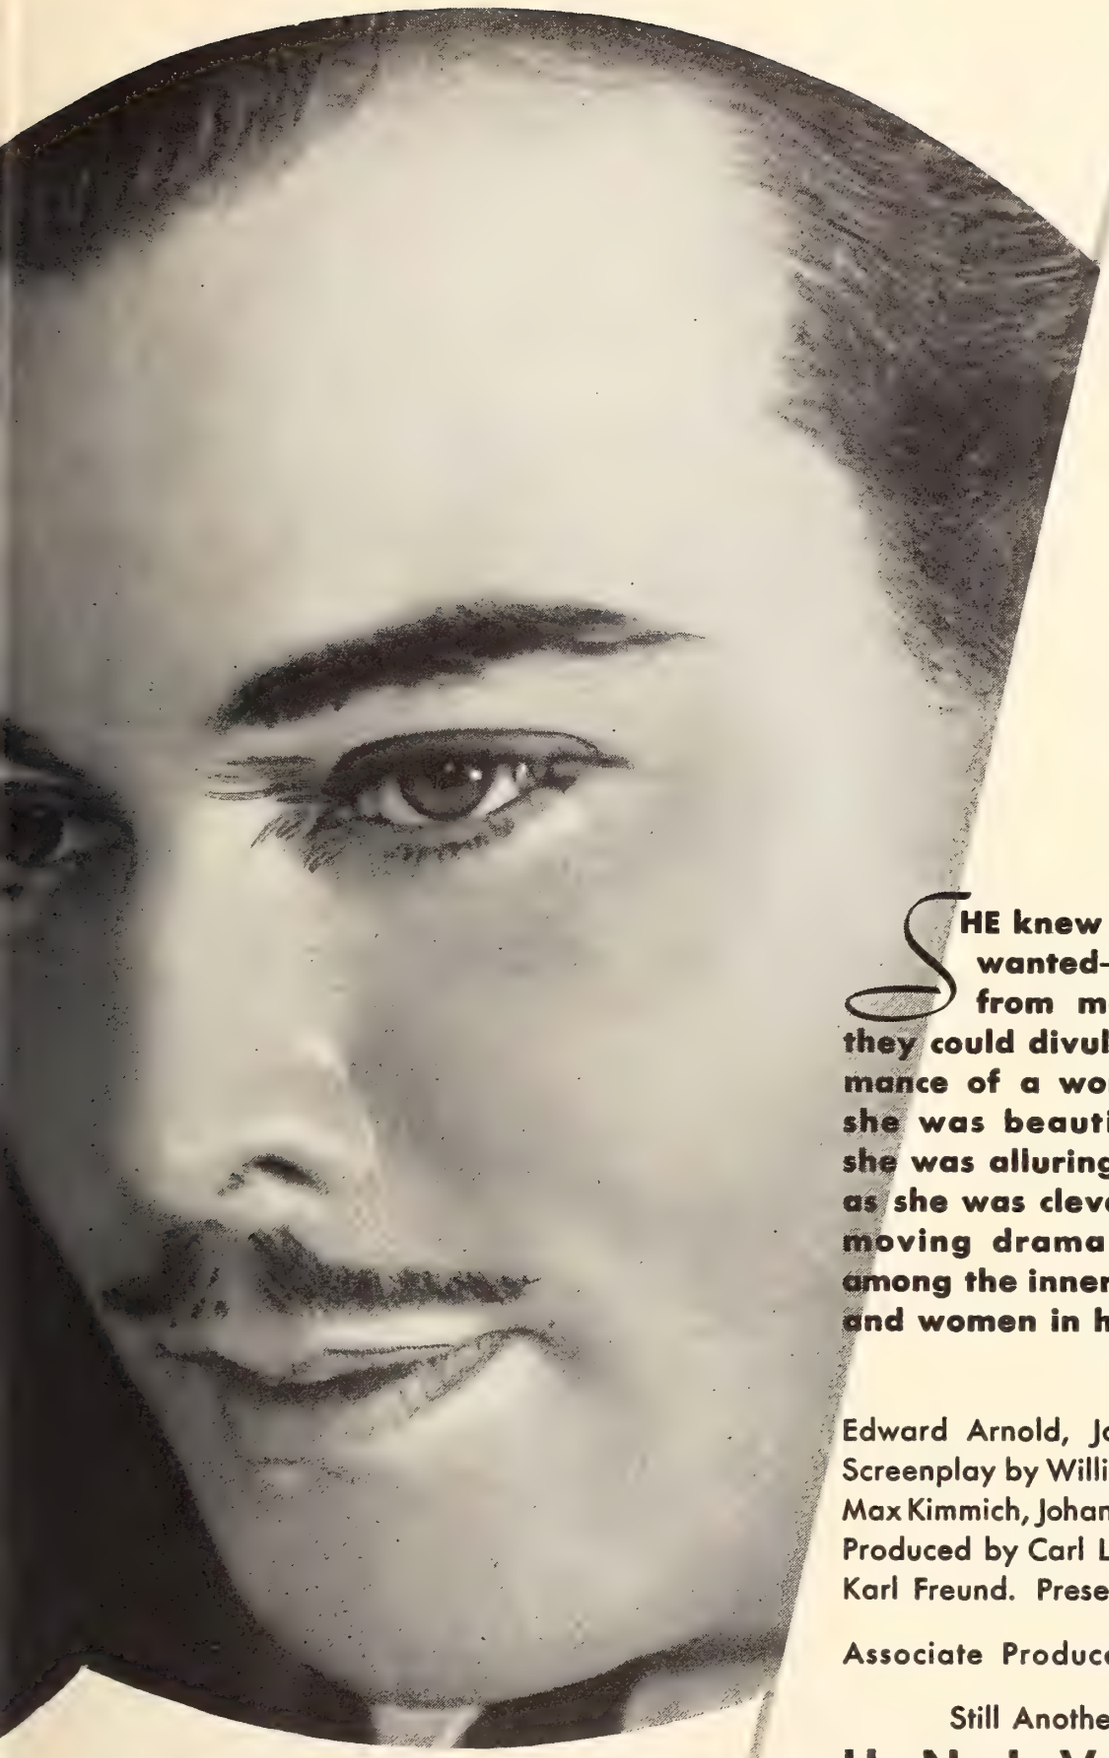
with

JUNE KNIGHT

ALICE WHITE, Alan Dinehart, Eugene Palette, Henry Armetta. Story by Stanley Rauh. Produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr. Directed by Edward Buzzell. Presented by Carl Laemmle.

UNIVERSAL



LEW AYRES IN CROSS COUNTRY CRUISE

The love story of a beautiful adventuress!

Madame

SPY

SHE knew how to get what she wanted—and all she wanted from men was the secrets they could divulge! . . . See the romance of a woman as ruthless as she was beautiful; as cunning as she was alluring, and as dangerous as she was clever! . . . It's a swift-moving drama that plunges you among the innermost secrets of men and women in high places!

•

Edward Arnold, John Miljan and others. Screenplay by William Hurlbut. Original by Max Kimmich, Johannes Brandt, Joseph Than. Produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr. Directed by Karl Freund. Presented by Carl Laemmle.

Associate Producer, Edmund Grainger.

Still Another Big One From

UNIVERSAL

•

with FAY WRAY

NILS ASTHER

THE NON-THEATRICALS AND THE CODE

interest of the distributor's employee must be his own personal interest.

SUBSTITUTIONS

(Article V—D, Part 3)

No exhibitor is required to accept any motion picture from a distributor which is substituted for another feature picture which is marked in the contract: "No Substitute."

Nor may the distributor substitute for a feature picture described in the contract as that of a named star or stars or named director or named well known author or named book or named play, any other feature picture of any other star or stars or director or well known author or book or play.

The distributor shall have the right to change the title of any feature picture, and to make any changes or alterations in or adaptations of any story, book or play, as he sees fit.

A picture described in the schedule of the contract as a "Mae Garbo" production, may not be substituted by the distributor for a picture of any other star. Or, if stated in the schedule that a picture is to be directed by Cecil von Stroheim, there cannot be substituted for it one directed by any other director. Or, if a picture is described in the contract as from a story by Sinclair Lewis—he being, of course, a "well known author"—there may not be substituted for it a story by a different author.

However, a distributor may substitute any story, book or play which is not marked in the schedule "No Substitute" and which is not described in the schedule as based upon a well known story, book or play, and which is not described in the schedule as based upon a story, book or play by a well known author; but in case the distributor does so substitute, where allowed by the foregoing to substitute a story, book or play, it must then give notice of such substitution by means of a paid advertisement of not less than one-quarter page in a national trade publication before the release date of the motion picture in which such story, book or play substitution has been made. And, where the distributor does substitute such story, book or play, and the exhibitor refuses to accept such substitution, the distributor must submit the case to the Local Grievance Board, or to arbitration if the Optional Standard License Agreement is being used, if the distributor insists that the exhibitor accept such substituted story, book or play.

In addition to having the right to change the title of any motion picture contracted for and to change, alter and adapt any story, book or play, the distributor also has the right to change any or all members of the supporting cast other than the named star or stars; and, as previously stated, even the star or stars may be changed unless the contract specifically provides that the distributor is to deliver the picture as that of a named star or stars.

NON-THEATRICAL ACCOUNTS

(Article V—D, Part 4)

No distributor shall enter into any contract for motion pictures with, or otherwise furnish motion pictures to any non-theatrical account contrary to the ruling of the Local Grievance Board in the territory if the Local Grievance Board has determined and announced that to contract with or supply pictures to such non-theatrical account would be unfair competition to a regular motion picture theatre.

The Local Grievance Board will decide whether such non-theatrical competition is unfair as, if and when an exhibitor files a complaint with the Local Grievance Board about such non-theatrical competition being unfair.

A non-theatrical account is a church, school or other institution or public auditorium where motion pictures are exhibited but which are not operated in the usual and ordinary course of the business of operating a theatre for the exhibition of motion pictures.

However, in Section (b) of this non-theatrical clause, the code creates somewhat of a contradictory situation by the provision that the Local Grievance Board shall not prohibit the making of motion picture contracts or the supplying of motion pictures for exhibition at army posts, army camps, on board ships of the United States Navy, on board any other ships engaged in carrying passengers to foreign or domestic ports, or at educational or religious institutions, or at institutions housing "shut-ins," such as prisons, hospitals, orphanages and the like.

In any case, where the exhibitor believes that the supplying of film to such educational or religious institution or church, has resulted in unfair competition with his theatre, he should bring the case before the Local Grievance Board in his territory, and if the board decrees that such competition is unfair, it shall order the distributor to desist from further relations with such unfair competition to the theatre complaining.

TIEING IN SHORTS WITH FEATURES

(Article V—D, Part 5)

A distributor may require an exhibitor to contract for a certain number of short subjects as a condition of licensing of features. But the distributor must not require any exhibitor as a condition of licensing feature pictures to contract for more short subjects in proportion to the exhibitor's short subject requirements than the features being contracted for bear to the total number of features required by the exhibitor during the year, in accordance with the established policy of the theatre.

The purpose of this clause is to prevent the distributor from overloading an exhibitor with short subjects in order for the exhibitor to secure the necessary number of feature motion pictures. A distributor must not require any exhibitor to buy more short subjects (excluding newsreels) than are needed to fill out the program for the number of features the exhibitor buys from the distributor. This does not prevent the exhibitor from voluntarily and without coercion buying all of the short subjects he wants, however.

The purpose of this clause is to prevent the distributor from overloading an exhibitor with short subjects in negotiating feature picture contracts. The distributor may compel the exhibitor to load up on shorts as a condition of the feature contract in proportion to the number of shorts which he uses during the year.

For example: The distributor and an exhibitor are negotiating a contract for 40 features, and the exhibitor's requirements for the year are 160 features and 400 shorts. The distributor, then, may require as a condition of said contract that the exhibitor also take 100 shorts. (The 40 features being negotiated for are one-fourth the number of features required for the year—160; then, one-fourth the total number of 400 shorts required during the year are 100, which the distributor may require the exhibitor to buy as a condition of the 40-feature contract.)

While the code specifically prohibits the distributor from forcing more than a proportionate number of shorts, it does not prohibit a distributor and exhibitor from voluntarily and without relation to the contract for features, contract for more shorts than such proportionate number.

The question of fact involved and to determine whether coercion or persuasion was used to secure a contract for an excess number of short subjects is apparently in each separate instance left to the Local Grievance Board to determine on its merits and on the evidence.

No distinction is made in the code between one-reel and two or more reel short subjects; each being considered one short. Which obviously means that a distributor may include all two-reelers in the proportionate number of shorts which he may require the exhibitor to take.

Newsreels are not considered short subjects for the purpose of this section of the code.

DIVULGING BOX OFFICE RECEIPTS

(Article V—D, Part 6)

A distributor must not divulge or knowingly permit to be divulged any information received in the checking of the receipts of its motion pictures at theatres, except that the distributor may disclose such receipts in any arbitration proceeding or proceeding before a Local Grievance Board or in litigation, or for any government report, or N.R.A. or Code Authority report.

The distributor, also, shall not authorize or knowingly permit any employee or checker to divulge such information about box-office receipts. But, the code does not make the divulging of such receipts by a checker or distributor's employee a violation by the distributor where the information is divulged contrary to the instructions of, or without the knowledge of the distributor.

Nor does this clause prohibit a distributor from divulging the number of admissions to its motion pictures at any theatre.

According to the clause, a distributor shall not publish in any advertisement the box-office receipts of its pictures at any theatre, even if such theatre is affiliated with such distributor.

FRAUDULENTLY TRANSFERRING ASSETS

(Article V—D, Part 7)

No distributor shall convey or transfer its assets to another for the purpose of avoiding the delivery to any exhibitor of any feature motion picture contracted for by such exhibitor.

RENTAL ADJUSTMENTS WHEN CONTRACT IS ON AVERAGE BASIS

(Article V—D, Part 8)

Where the exhibitor contracts for a group of feature pictures and the average rental per picture is stated in the contract, and the exhibitor fully performs the contract, then the distributor must make a fair adjustment of the rentals if all of the pictures in the group contracted for are not delivered by the distributor.

In compelling the distributor to make an adjustment of the contract rentals if the contract specifically provides that the group of pictures covered in the contract have been bought in a group on the basis of an average sum for each picture, and the distributor fails to deliver within the period provided in the contract certain of the pictures, this clause recognizes the fact that, as a result of any non-delivery of any of the pictures in the group, the average price of the rentals paid by the exhibitor for the pictures actually delivered may become higher than the average sum which was stated in the contract.

For example: An exhibitor signs a contract with a distributor for 40 feature pictures for RELIEF FROM DESIGNATED PLAYDATES

Translating the Film Code

Being a translation of the complex legal phraseology of the motion picture code into the working language of the industry, in a series of articles, of which this is the third and final article pertaining to the distribution and exhibition provisions. Production will be treated separately in later issues.

The three articles translating distribution and exhibition provisions were organized into several parts, as follows:

First Article—Appeared in Motion Picture Herald, Dec. 23rd
DISTRIBUTION—EXHIBITION—GENERAL ADMINISTRATION

(1) PREAMBLE—Being a Translation of the General Application of the Code to Distribution and Exhibition.
(2) DEFINITIONS of the Technical Terms Used in Distribution and Exhibition Sections of the Code.
(3) ADMINISTRATION of the Distribution and Exhibition Parts of the Code.

▽ ▽ ▽

Second Article—Appeared in Motion Picture Herald, Jan. 6th
DISTRIBUTION AND EXHIBITION—LABOR AND EMPLOYEES

(1) PREAMBLE—Being a Translation of the General Application of the Labor and Employee Provisions to Distribution and Exhibition.
(2) DEFINITIONS of the Technical Terms Used in the Labor and Employee Provisions of the Distribution and Exhibition Sections of the Code.
(3) RELATION OF LABOR AND EMPLOYEES IN DISTRIBUTION AND EXHIBITION TO THE PROVISIONS OF FAIR COMPETITION.
(4) THE CODE AUTHORITY and Its Relation to Labor and Employees in Distribution and Exhibition.
(5) GENERAL PROVISIONS Pertaining to Labor and Employees in Distribution and Exhibition.
(6) WAGE SCALES AND WORKING HOURS FOR DISTRIBUTION AND EXHIBITION.
A—DISTRIBUTION
B—EXHIBITION
C—ARBITRATION FOR EXHIBITION LABOR
D—LABOR PROVISIONS FOR THEATRE ACTORS

▽ ▽ ▽

Third Article—Appearing in This Issue
DISTRIBUTION AND EXHIBITION—TRADE PRACTICES

(1) PREAMBLE—Being a Translation of the General Application of the Trade Practice Provisions and of Clearance and Zoning in Distribution and Exhibition.
(2) DEFINITIONS of the Technical Terms Used in the Trade Practice Provisions of the Distribution and Exhibition Sections of the Code.
(3) RELATION OF TRADE PRACTICE PROVISIONS IN DISTRIBUTION AND EXHIBITION TO MANAGERS AND EMPLOYEES.
(4) TRADE PRACTICES FOR DISTRIBUTION AND EXHIBITION:
A—DISTRIBUTION
B—EXHIBITION
C—DISTRIBUTION AND EXHIBITION TOGETHER
(5) ADMINISTRATION OF THE TRADE PRACTICES IN DISTRIBUTION AND EXHIBITION.
(6) CLEARANCE AND ZONING.

an average rental of $100 per picture, or $4,000 for the group, with the rental prices to be allocated by the exchange as the pictures are released. In the process of allocating prices, the exchange schedules 20 of the 40 features at $150, and the remaining 20 at $50 per picture. But, the distributor does not deliver the 40 features, but delivers only 30. The ten not delivered were of the $50 per picture group.

On the basis of the 30 pictures delivered, 20 of which were $150 per feature and 10 were $50 each, the total rental is $3,500 for the 30 pictures played and paid for. The exhibitor, therefore, would be entitled to an adjustment of $500, having paid $3,500 for 30 pictures, which at the average stipulated rental of $100, should only have cost him $3,000.

The clause recognizes the fact that disputes or controversies concerning a fair adjustment of rentals on such contracts are inevitable, and specifies that in these cases the matter of adjustment be determined by the Local Grievance Board in the territory.

This clause is not intended as a means of adjusting rentals on any contract in which a flat film rental is specifically scheduled for each separate picture.

RELIEF TO EXHIBITOR FROM DESIGNATED PLAYDATES

(Article V—D, Part 9)

No distributor shall require that any exhibitor exhibit specified motion pictures or class of pictures in any specific day or days of the week unless specifically provided for in the exhibitor's contract, and in no event if the rental fee for such picture or class of pictures is for a flat sum only.

On a percentage picture, if the contract contains no definite agreement for a Saturday or Sunday playdate, the distributor cannot insist on such a day or days of the week, nor can the distributor refuse to accept a playdate on some other day of the week if the contract contains no definite agreement for such a Saturday or Sunday playdate.

Where the rental is based on a percentage of the box office receipts, the distributor shall not require the exhibitor to exhibit its motion picture on any specific day or days unless it is so provided in the exhibitor's contract.

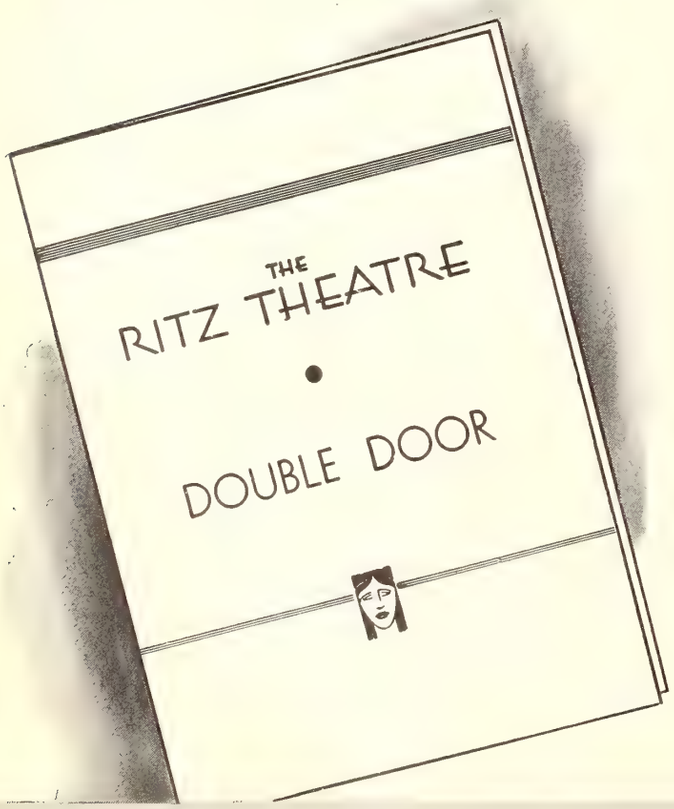
For good and sufficient reason, the exhibitor may be relieved from his contract obligation to play a percentage feature picture upon any designated playing day or dates, when the exhibitor believes that the subject and character of the picture so designated are objectionable or unsuitable for exhibition at the exhibitor's theatre on such designated day or days. For example: Relief may justifiably be sought from the playing of a so-called "ultra-sophisticated" feature on a Saturday when children usually attend the theatre in large numbers. Or, the exhibitor may seek relief from the Local Grievance Board from the playing of a feature entirely unsuitable for showing on established "Family Nights," or at other times, especially Sundays.

However, when such relief is granted by the Local Grievance Board, certain rights are granted the distributor.

When an exhibitor desires relief from the playing of percentage features on designated day or days, the exhibitor must file such an application for relief with the Local Grievance Board in the territory within three days after receipt of the notice of availability of such feature picture, and the application must state that the only reason for seeking such relief—and the only reason allowable under the code—is that the subject and character of the picture are unsuitable for exhibition at the exhibitor's theatre on such designated day or days of the week.

The distributor, if it so desires, may then have the Local Grievance Board determine the claim upon forty-eight hours' notice.

If the Local Grievance Board grants the exhibitor's application, the distributor has the right to substitute for that designated day or days another percentage picture if there still be one under contract and if the percentage terms are the same or similar to the terms of the picture from which relief is sought.



The distributor may designate a later day or the PLAY'S THE THING!

"MURDER AT THE VANITIES"

Around a typical Earl Carroll "Vanities," with its lovely girls . . . haunting music . . . and riotous sketches, is wound the scarlet thread of an exciting murder mystery . . . a combination which accounts for its eighteen weeks of SRO business on Broadway. As a Paramount picture, it will be personally supervised by Earl Carroll, and contain the pick of "the most beautiful girls in the world."

"DOUBLE DOOR"

New York . . . the brownstone house of a wealthy family . . . ruled by a sinister and iron-willed woman . . . a secret room, sealed to the world by its double doors . . . a room where one can enter and disappear forever . . . "DOUBLE DOOR." One of the most intense and thrilling melodramas of recent years. Sought by other companies, this prize was won by Paramount, as usual.

as PARAMOUNT PICTURES they

"SAILOR, BEWARE"

When "SAILOR, BEWARE" jogged New York's funny-bone some fourteen weeks ago, the critics gave loud cheers, and among them were these: "Uproariously funny . . . rich and racy . . ."—Evening Post. "A new season knock-out..."—World-Telegram. "Sprightliest of the new year's entertainment..."—Herald-Tribune.

"PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS"

When a boy courted a girl on a winter night in those good old days, they "bundled," that is, they went to bed together fully clothed, with a center board between. The complications attendant on such a delightful custom were so many that "PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS," which was written about "bundling", is one of the most delightful comedies in New York, and after fourteen weeks' business on Broadway, is still selling out.

"SHE LOVES ME NOT"

Considered the funniest play in years, as these excerpts from hard-boiled reviewers indicate: "It is, so help me, just about the funniest farce I have ever seen . . ."—New York American. "The most gloriously cock-eyed farce comedy the season is apt to reveal . . ."—Post. "A wild farce . . . a riotous tale . . . they shouted in glee at the 46th Street Theatre last night . . ."—News. "A pip...a humdinger...a knock-out..."—Mirror.

'SO PARAMOUNT BUYS BROADWAY'S BIGGEST HITS!

will be the best shows in town!

REGULATIONS ON SALE OF SPECIALS days, but different days of the week for the picture upon which later date and picture shall be shown.

The distributor, then, is entitled to the date on which the objectionable feature was scheduled to be shown, and the Local Grievance Board cannot turn that date over to another distributor, provided, however, there remains another percentage picture under contract between the exhibitor and the distributor in question.

If the Local Grievance Board shall sustain the claim of the exhibitor, such award of the Local Board shall not be deemed to apply to any other theatre in the same way nor shall it be deemed to apply to any other location. Each case must be tried and determined on its own merits for each separate theatre in each locality.

In giving the distributor the right to date in the picture objected to at a later day or days of the week or at a later date or dates, and where the petition of an exhibitor is granted by the Local Grievance Board, the code also gives to the distributor the right to move back —but not ahead—all or any subsequent run dates on the same picture. The exhibitor who filed the complaint asking for relief from playing the picture on a designated day or days of the week does not lose his protection on such picture over subsequent runs because his petition was granted by the Local Board.

WITHHOLDING FEATURE DELIVERIES FOR DEFAULT IN SHORTS CONTRACTS

(Article V—D, Part 10)

Because an exhibitor refuses to date in short subjects contracted for, the distributor distributing such shorts cannot withhold delivery of any features under contract, provided, however, such exhibitor has agreed to arbitrate all claims and controversies arising under all existing Optional Standard License Agreements.

Nor shall the distributor withhold delivery of any short subjects under contract because the exhibitor refuses to date in features contracted from the same distributor, provided, also, that such exhibitor has agreed to arbitrate all claims and controversies arising under all existing Optional Standard License Agreements.

The clause also prevents a distributor from forcing the dating of a short by holding up the availability date of a feature, and vice versa, again provided that the exhibitor has agreed to arbitrate all claims and controversies under all existing Optional Standard License Agreements.

SELLING SPECIALS

(Article V—D, Part 11)

A distributor must offer any special or additional productions—features in addition to the number announced as its season's feature releases—to its regular exhibitor account before offering such special features to such exhibitor's competitor. A regular exhibitor account is one who has bought more than 50 per cent of the distributor's season's product.

In cases where two exhibitors have each bought 50 per cent of the season's feature product the distributor may in its discretion decide to which one of the two it will first offer any such special production.

Such offers need not be made unless the exhibitor has fully performed all contracts with the distributor and is not in default under any of the existing contracts.

FIRE REGULATIONS FOR EXCHANGES

(Article V—D, Part 12)

Each film exchange must abide by rules and regulations to be promulgated by the Code Authority for the prevention of fire, for the holding of fire drills and rigid monthly inspections, the inspection of prints, the storing of inflammable film, the maintenance of testing routine for sprinkler systems and fire extinguishers, the avoidance of smoking and other cautions, methods and devices to protect the lives of employees and the public and to insure safety against fire, or fire hazards.

The exchange members of the Film Board of Trade in each exchange territory now operate under a set of rules and regulations for fire prevention, which rules and regulations were formulated by the MPPDA. Independent exchanges have been operating under their own rules, in many cases, but were not bound under those which bind the Film Board exchange members. From now on, however, all independent exchanges and exchanges of national distributors will be bound under the same set of regulations which will shortly be announced by the Code Authority. It is expected that these rules will be similar to the Film Board regulations, which will probably be adopted by the Code Authority as a model.

INTERFERING WITH RELATIONS OF "OUTSIDE" DISTRIBUTOR

(Article V—C, Part 2)

No distributor, or distributor's employee, or distributor's agent shall knowingly and intentionally, directly or indirectly, interfere with existing relations between an outside or associated producer or outside or associated distributor and another distributor which is releasing the motion picture product of such outside producer or distributor, nor shall anyone do anything to alienate or entice any such outside producer or distributor away from the other distributor nor shall anyone do anything to create discord or strife between such outside producer and distributor, for the purpose of inducing such outside producer or distributor to breach or attempt to breach any existing contracts between the outside producer or distributor and another distributor releasing its product, or to secure a change in the terms and conditions of any existing contract between any such outside producer or distributor and another distributor.

To effectuate this clause, no distributor shall negotiate with or make any offer for or to any such outside producer or distributor at any time prior to sixty days before the termination of any existing agreement between such outside producer or distributor and the distributor which is releasing such outside producer's or distributor's product, nor shall another distributor make any offer to such outside producer or distributor prior to sixty days before the date when the outside producer or distributor shall fulfill its delivery commitment to the producer or distributor with whom it has contractual obligations, whichever date is earlier.

5. TRADE PRACTICES FOR EXHIBITION

WHAT EXHIBITORS AND THEATRES MUST DO OR MUST NOT DO

SELECTIVE SERVICE CONTRACTS

(Article V—E, Part 1)

Any exhibitor entering into a selective service or selective buying contract for the exhibition of pictures which contract permits the exhibitor to select from the total number of pictures contracted for any number of less than 85 per cent of such total and to reject the remainder as released shall by written notice to distributor reject each of such motion pictures not to exceed the number which are permitted to be rejected, within 21 days after the date of availability of prints for booking, and upon the exhibitor's failure to give such notice of rejection, each of such pictures shall be deemed to have been selected and the exhibitor must play and pay for them.

The pictures to be rejected under the selective buying contract are to be rejected as the pictures are released and the permission of rejection is cumulative, that is, if the selective buying contract gives the exhibitor the right to reject 10 out of 50 pictures, the exhibitor may play all of the first 40 and reject the entire last 10.

The practice of selective buying is usually followed by the deluxe first run and subsequent run theatres, which by their longer-run policy are unable to use every picture released. The 21-day clause which compels the exhibitor to notify the distributor of rejection not later than that period is to prevent the abuse of tying-up product by selective contracts away from a competing theatre that may need pictures on the same "run." It is contemplated that the provision will force the rejection of pictures that are not going to be used as they may be resold to such competing exhibitor who may need pictures.

The date of availability in the exchange territory may be determined as the date on which the regular theatre exhibitions start in that distribution zone and prints are available in the exchange for screening.

OVERBUYING

(Article V—E, Part 2)

This is a general clause against the practice of overbuying by an exhibitor and says that an exhibitor must not contract for more motion pictures than such exhibitor reasonably requires for exhibition at his theatre with the intent and effect of depriving a competing exhibitor from contracting to exhibit such excess number of pictures. But the clause does not prohibit an exhibitor from contracting for a reasonable and sufficient number of motion pictures in order to protect himself against nondelivery.

REDUCED ADMISSIONS, REBATES, PREMIUMS, PRIZES, LOTTERIES, THROW-AWAYS

(Article V—E, Part 3)

No exhibitor shall fail to maintain the minimum price of admission specified in any exhibition contract during the exhibition of any of the motion pictures covered by such contract. This section shall not be deemed to prohibit exhibitors from reducing admissions as they see fit, except as prohibited by a film contract.

No exhibitor shall, under any condition:

(a) Lower the admission prices publicly announced or advertised for his theatre by giving rebates in the form of

(1) Lotteries,
(2) Prizes,
(3) Reduced Script Books,
(4) Coupons,
(5) Throw-away tickets,
(6) Two-for-one admissions,
(7) By other methods or devices of similar nature which directly or indirectly lower or tend to lower such announced admission prices and which are unfair to competing exhibitors or which tend to deceive the public.

(b) Premiums and other things of value which are given to all patrons, and therefore, are not lotteries, may be ruled out and exhibitors in any territory shall not use them at their theatre only when and if 75 per cent of the non-affiliated theatres and 75 per cent of the affiliated theatres in any area fixed by the Local Clearance and Zoning Board have both declared in writing that such premiums shall be prohibited in their territory. For purpose of such declaration each theatre has one vote. For example, four Loew theatres in a place each have a single vote. Such declaration by the exhibitors shall not become effective until ninety days after it is made. This is to give an exhibitor having contracts with a company supplying them with the articles used as premiums, sufficient time to work out the contracts or terminate such contracts.

TRADE PRACTICES FOR EXHIBITION

This clause, in two sections, clearly establishes two different points: (1) No theatre in any place under any condition may give rebates in the form of lotteries, prizes, reduced script books, cut-rate tickets, throw-away tickets, two-for-one admissions or other methods or devices of similar nature which directly or indirectly lower or tend to lower the announced admission prices and which are unfair to competing exhibitors. The giving of anything of value, such as a piece of silverware or chinaware, to each and every patron (or to each one of a certain class of patron, such as to all children or to all women or to all men), when they purchase their ticket, is not considered a lottery or a prize giveaway, but is considered for purposes of the code to be a premium and this practice is permissible unless and until 75 per cent of the exhibitors in the territory vote against it.

When an exhibitor is in doubt about the status of any practice which comes under this clause, he should consult the Local Grievance Board for advice.

(2) The giving of rebates such as premiums in the form of gifts or other things of value to all patrons, or to each one of a certain class of patron, which rebate is not otherwise definitely prohibited as a lottery under the foregoing paragraphs above, shall be deemed to be prohibited only where 75 per cent of the exhibitors in an area vote against the practice.

The term lottery or prize, both of which are absolutely prohibited, shall apply in a general manner to the awarding or giving away of anything of value when the matter of chance or skill involves such awarding. A premium to each tenth ticket purchaser, or other number, is a lottery and is prohibited. Stage drawings are prohibited.

Exploitation and publicity contests for "prizes" that require the purchase of an admission ticket to participate or witness would be prohibited as they tend to lower the announced or advertised admission price.

Also prohibited is any method or manner of directly or indirectly lowering or tending to lower the announced admission price when such manner or method deceives the public. For example, cut-rate tickets obtained by customers from local merchants would entitle two persons to enter the theatre for a single admission, which in fact cuts the announced admission price to one half, but another theatre patron is charged the full admission price because he does not have a cut-rate ticket from a merchant. This would be deceiving the person who pays the full admission as to the true admission price, because he would not be aware of such a possibility.

When 75 per cent of the exhibitors in an area or territory or zone which zone or area is to be defined by Local Clearance and Zoning Board, declare in writing that premiums shall not be permitted in such area or zone, and in case any exhibitor is found after notice and hearing by the Local Grievance Board to have violated any of the provisions of this clause as to either rebates or premiums, and if the exhibitor refuses to cease and desist from the practice, the Local Grievance Board shall have the right to order any and all exchanges to refuse to service such exhibitor with film until such exhibitor ceases and desists from the practice.

PRODUCTION CLAUSES IN NEXT ARTICLE

Labor, trade practice and general provisions of the code which pertain to studios and production and producers, on both coasts, will be treated in early issues.

FRAUDULENTLY TRANSFERRING OWNERSHIP OF THEATRES

(Article V—E, Part 4)

No exhibitor shall transfer his theatre to another exhibitor or company for the purpose of avoiding uncompleted motion picture contracts and the clause specifically assigns to the Local Grievance Board the power to hear and determine any disputes arising under this clause and the Board shall make findings of fact which shall be binding upon all the parties concerned.

ADVERTISING CONFLICTING WITH A PRIOR RUN

(Article V—E, Part 5)

An exhibitor having a subsequent run must not advertise a specific picture prior to or during the exhibition of that picture by the exhibitor having the right to a prior run with clearance over that subsequent run theatre. The subsequent run exhibitor shall not start advertising such a motion picture until the prior run has completed the exhibition of the picture, except in cases where the subsequent run is within seven days of the prior run, then the Local Grievance Board may grant the right to the subsequent run exhibitor to advertise upon the screen of his subsequent run or to distribute within his subsequent run theatre a printed program or mail such printed program to a list of regular patrons. Such screen announcement and such printed programs shall be limited to the bare announcement of the motion pictures which will be exhibited at the subsequent run during the period of not more than seven days immediately following the appearance of the screen announcement or appearance of the printed program.

Because this clause is aimed to abolish the practice whereby a subsequent run exhibitor announces the coming of a picture at his theatre at lower admissions than that charged by the prior run while the picture is playing at the prior run, the clause does forbid the exhibitor to mention in his screen announcement or on his printed programs, which are released to patrons within seven days of the exhibition of the picture at such subsequent run theatre, the prices or scales of admission which will be charged by such subsequent run exhibitor.

Where a subsequent run exhibitor complains that the general prohibition of prior advertising announcements on a specific picture or specific pictures works an unfair hardship upon him, then the Local Grievance Board shall have the right to hear such complaint and after determination of the facts presented, shall fix and specify the number of days within which such subsequent run exhibitor may advertise such picture; provided, however, that should the subsequent run exhibitor be granted permission to advertise the picture at his subsequent run theatre before the close of the prior run, he shall not advertise the picture before the beginning of the run at the prior run theatre, nor shall he have the right to advertise in any way, shape, manner or form, or issue any statement that the prices of admission are or will be less than the admission prices charged by the exhibitor having the first or prior run of such motion picture.

The code does not prohibit an exhibitor from advertising generally all of the feature motion pictures licensed by such exhibitor as a group, but this general advertising shall not specifically refer to any one of such pictures at any time prior to its exhibition by any other exhibitor having the first or immediately prior run thereof excepting as hereinabove provided. For example: An exhibitor may advertise the fact that he is playing Paramount Pictures, but he may not specifically mention any one of those Paramount pictures prior to its run by a prior theatre, except as hereinabove provided.

Again, clause is intended to restrain subsequent run exhibitors from unfair advertising of this nature: "Why pay 25 cents to see a picture at the —— theatre when you can see it at the —— —— theatre in a few days for 15 cents."

INTERFERING WITH THEATRE LEASING NEGOTIATIONS

(Article V—E, Part 6)

Any person engaged in the industry must not knowingly and intentionally, directly or indirectly interfere with pending negotiations between an exhibitor and his landlord, or any other party, pertaining to or affecting the possession, operation or occupancy of a theatre then actually operated by such exhibitor or with respect to any modification, renewal or extension of any agreement affecting such theatre for the purpose of preventing consummation of such negotiations so as to deprive such exhibitor of the continued operation, possession or occupancy of such theatre. This clause was written after it became known that one circuit company supposedly secretly made a better offer to the landlord of a theatre for which the current operator was at that time negotiating a new lease with that landlord. The higher offer made by the outside circuit caused the landlord to cancel negotiations which were being conducted with the current operator and to open and eventually conclude negotiations with the circuit company which made the higher offer.

MIDNIGHT SHOWS; PRIOR EXHIBITION TO DAWN

(Article V—E, Part 7)

No exhibitor shall exhibit a motion picture previous to dawn of the first licensed and booked day of exhibition withoutt securing express written permission from the exchange.

MISOUTS ON "CIRCUIT SHIPMENTS"

(Article VIII—Part 1)

An exhibitor when he forwards or delivers a print of a motion picture to another exhibitor at the request or upon the order of the dis-

In reply to an inquiring Friend who asks—
"Who is the star of 'Legal Holiday'"?
Here is our answer, My Friend—

Big Pictures Make Stars

"LEGAL

The Exploitation Special of the Year 1934 A.D.*

After Depression*

"Name" players of ability to fit the roles—that is our casting policy—as it was the policy behind The Birth of a Nation, The Miracle Man, The Covered Wagon, The Big Parade, The Ten Commandments, Cavalcade, etc. Before The Four Horsemen, the great Valentino was an unknown. The Kid made Jackie Coogan over night. Yes, Big Pictures make stars.

This is the 5th of a series of 12 Advertisements.
The first appeared in the Herald issue of Dec. 23rd
WATCH THEM!

"HOLIDAY"

has 3 Star-making Roles

Just now we're building our script—and building is the right word for it because our director is a real screen architect.

And speaking of building a script—have you ever noticed the difference between a story you've read and the story (which may have cost a fortune) when it appeared on the screen?

Screen stories have to be built by screen dramatists. We have two of the best working with our director on "Legal Holiday" right now.

(Signed) J. D. WILLIAMS

DISTINGUISHED PICTURES CORPORATION

11 West 42nd Street, New York

J. D. WILLIAMS, Night Address:
Edison Hotel, 47th St., West of Broadway

ARBITRATION OF CONTRACT DISPUTES

tributor, is for such purpose to be deemed the agent of the distributor. This is for purposes of holding the distributor responsible for the act of his agent in case the print does not reach the destination of the second theatre on scheduled time for scheduled exhibition.

6. TRADE PRACTICES FOR DISTRIBUTION, EXHIBITION

WHAT DISTRIBUTORS OR EXCHANGES AND EXHIBITORS OR THEATRES MUST OR MUST NOT DO JOINTLY

DEFAMATION OR DISPARAGEMENT OF CHARACTER; LIBEL

(Article V—A, Part 1)

A distributor or exhibitor must not defame competitors by falsely imputing to any of them dishonorable conduct or inability to perform contracts or questionable credit standing, or by other false representations or by falsely disparaging the grade or quality of their motion picture or theatres. This does not, however, prohibit a fair appraisal of a distributor's pictures in comparison with those of other distributors.

THREATS OF LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

(Article V—A, Part 2)

Distributors and exhibitors must not publish or circularize threats of suits or any other legal proceedings not in good faith in order to harass or intimidate other distributors or exhibitors. This is declared to be an unfair trade practice subject to all of the penalties for violation of the code.

SECURING CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION BY UNFAIR MEANS

(Article V—A, Part 3)

Commercial espionage is prohibited under the code, which means that the securing of confidential information concerning the business of a competitor by false or misleading statement or representations, by a false impersonation of one in authority, by bribery, or by any other unfair method, shall be deemed to be unfair.

The Local Grievance Board will investigate such complaints to ascertain whether the code has been violated, and if such a fact is established, the Board shall then report the case to the Code Authority.

PAYMENT OF EXCESSIVE SALARIES

(Article V—A, Part 4)

Pending an investigation, which is now under way, a special Presidential order which accompanied the final approved code postponed for ninety days, or, until February 26, this clause of the code which is intended to stop the practice in all branches of the business, of paying excessive salaries and bonuses for the services of anyone. As a result of the investigation, the government will decide whether the clause shall not become effective, or whether it should be suspended, or modified, altered or changed.

The popular impression is that the clause involves only high priced salaries and payments to Hollywood stars and producers and to family relations on the payrolls of studios. True, it was aimed especially at Hollywood, but, regardless, it may be made applicable to any employer in either exhibition or distribution, as well as production, who pays an unreasonably excessive inducement in excess of a fair value of the personal services to get an employee away from another employer.

The clause says: "To avoid the payment of sums unreasonably in excess of the fair value of personal services which results in unfair and destructive competition, the Code Authority shall have power, with the approval of the Administrator, to investigate whether in any case any employer in the industry has agreed to pay an unreasonably excessive inducement to any person to enter into the employ of such employer.

"If the Code Authority finds that such employer has done so, the Code Authority shall have the power, with the approval of the Administrator, to impose an assessment against such employer in the amount of the unreasonable excess payment to such person, not however, to exceed the sum of $10,000, and to make public its findings, but nothing in this Part shall in any manner impair the validity or enforcement provisions of such agreement of employment." In other words, the Code Authority may fine the employer up to $10,000, but the Code Authority's action shall not interfere with the continued contractual or working arrangement between the employer so fined and the employee.

OPTIONAL STANDARD LICENSE AGREEMENT

(Article V—F, Part 1)

All distributors are required under the code to have available for use by exhibitors a copy of the Optional Standard License Agreement (negotiated by exhibitors in 1933) and a copy of the regular company contract form and the exhibitor shall have the right to select either form for use in contracting from the distributor or exchange motion picture product. Unless the distributor and the exhibitor otherwise mutually agree, the form of contract, then, must be the Optional Standard License Agreement.

However, in case any condition or clause or provision of the said Optional Standard License Agreement conflicts or is inconsistent with any provision or clause of the code, such conflicting or inconsistent clause, condition or provision shall be deemed amended to conform with such similar provision or clause of the code, it being the intention that the provisions of the code shall govern.

Provisions of the Optional Standard License Agreement which may differ with similar provisions of the code, and which automatically are amended in the contract to conform with the code, involve: Substitutions, prior advertising rights, cancellations; adjusting of film rentals, preferred playing time or designated playdates, selective contracts, midnight showings, divulging box-office receipts, directions to an exhibitor to forward prints and overbuying.

Individual distributors' sales policy provisions may be inserted in the "Schedule" of the Optional Standard License Agreement, but the code says that these, too, shall not be contradictory of, or inconsistent with any of the Optional Standard License Agreement clauses or provisions.

ARBITRATION OF CONTRACT DISPUTES

(Article V—F, Part 2)

If the exhibitor desires arbitration under the Optional Standard License Agreement, he must, in addition to signing the Optional Contract, also sign the Optional Arbitration clause which is appended to the Optional Standard License Agreement, and in such cases, the Optional Arbitration clause shall also be signed by the distributor.

Also, the clause says that in cases where exhibitors select to accept the Optional Arbitration clause of the Optional Standard License Agreement, then such arbitration shall be in accordance with the machintry for arbitration which is specifically mentioned in the Optional Arbitration clause of the Optional contract, except as the provisions of such Optional Arbitration clause may be modified by provisions of this code.

By stipulation of the parties to any dispute growing out of an exhibition contract, the number of arbitrators to be appointed by each party may be reduced to one each, with the power in two thus appointed, if they cannot agree upon award, to appoint an umpire as provided in said Optional Arbitration clause of the Optional Standard License Agreement.

The contract arbitration boards were discussed in the first article of the series in the issue of December 23.

When an exhibitor does not select the Optional Arbitration clause of the Optional Standard License Agreement, or when the exhibitor and the distributor did not agree to arbitration under any contract, then the code provides local "General Arbitration" machinery for the use of the exhibitor and distributor to determine contract disputes by voluntary arbitration, or if the dispute between the distributor and the exhibitor is not over contractual relations and is specifically under the jurisdiction of the Local Grievance Board, such dispute would automatically be referred to the Local Grievance Board.

The purpose, personnel-makeup, procedure, jurisdiction, duties and general comment both on the Local General Arbitration Boards and the Local Grievance Boards were discussed in detail in the first article in this series of code translations, on page 30 and page 38, respectively, of the December 23rd issue of MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

FRAUDULENTLY BREACHING CONTRACTS

(Article V—F, Part 3)

Commercial fraud is prohibited under the code and the clause so governing specifically says that no distributor and no exhibitor must induce another distributor or another exhibitor to breach any existing contract covering the licensing of motion pictures. For example: When one exhibitor and a distributor's agent "cooks up" a "scheme" to break a contract between that exhibitor and another distributor in order to have the product of the "scheming" distributor succeed the product of such other distributor in the theatre of the "scheming" exhibitor.

COMMERCIAL BRIBERY; GIVING OF GRATUITIES

(Article V—F, Part 4)

No distributor or no exhibitor must give or offer a gratuity in order to procure advantages that otherwise would not be procurable or to induce an exhibitor or distributor not to deal with other distributors or other exhibitors.

DISCLOSING BOX OFFICE RECEIPTS

(Article V—F, Part 5)

No distributor or exhibitor shall make any disclosure of box-office receipts for publication except necessary reports to stockholders, credit and governmental agencies, and to other like

So rich in every human emotion that —

TWO OF THE SCREEN'S MOST POPULAR STARS GIVE Fully OF THEIR BOUNDLESS GENIUS

● Drama . . . romance . . . humanness . . . humor . . . abound in this completely appealing picture. A wisp of a girl bursts like a ray of sunshine into a sleepy Carolina plantation . . . tumbles cobwebby tradition . . . awakens a new joyous spirit . . . stirs up excitement. Into-the-heart entertainment . . . bigger than "State Fair"!

JANET GAYNOR
LIONEL BARRYMORE

in

"CAROLINA"

ROBERT YOUNG • HENRIETTA CROSMAN
RICHARD CROMWELL • MONA BARRIE
STEPIN FETCHIT

Directed by HENRY KING. From "The House of Connelly" by Paul Green

FOX production

Your patrons always like
FOX MOVIETONE NEWS

PROPER MORAL STANDARDS IN FILMS

bodies. No exhibitor or distributor shall be responsible for disclosures in violation of this clause made by agents or employees of such exhibitors or distributors who are not authorized to do so.

TEN PER CENT EXCLUSION OR REJECTION CLAUSE

(Article V—F, Part 6)

The ten per cent exclusion or rejection privilege which the code provides exhibitors shall have, is given to exhibitors in the following cases:

If in the license agreement for the exhibition of feature motion pictures the exhibitor has contracted to exhibit all of the motion pictures offered at one time by the distributor to the exhibitor and the rental fees of all of these pictures average not more than $250.

The exhibitor has the privilege to exclude or cancel from such contract not to exceed ten per cent of the total number of pictures in the contract, provided the exhibitor:

(1) is not in default under such contract, and

(2) shall have complied with all of the contract provisions for the exhibition of such pictures at specified intervals.

The manner of exercising the ten per cent exclusion privilege is as follows:

1 The exhibitor shall give to the distributor written notice of each picture to be excluded or cancelled within 14 days after the general release date of such picture in the exchange territory out of which the exhibitor is served.

2 The exhibitor may exclude without payment therefor, one motion picture out of each group of ten of the number of features specified in the contract provided he has paid for the other pictures already played. The privilege of the ten per cent rejection or exclusion provision is cumulative, that is, if an exhibitor contracted for 100 features of an average rental of less than $250, it is not necessary that he exercise the privilege after every ten pictures, but may play the first 90 pictures and reject the last ten.

3 If the rejection or exclusion privilege is not exercised on the tenth picture in the regular manner, but the exhibitor wants to reject another picture before the tenth, he then pays for such picture but does not exhibit it at his theatre, and duly notifies the distributor of such rejection. Such rental payment shall be credited against such tenth or succeeding picture, as the case may be.

4 Upon the failure or refusal of the exhibitor to comply with any term or condition of such license agreement, or to comply with any arbitration award involving such contract, the privilege of exclusion shall be revoked and the exhibitor shall be liable for and pay to the distributor the license fees of all motion pictures therefore excluded or rejected.

5 If the license fee of any feature picture specified in the contract is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage payment arrangement, such percentage fee (for the purpose of computing the average license fee of all the pictures licensed under such contract) shall be determined as follows:

(a) Average the license fees of all of the distributor's feature pictures exhibited upon a percentage basis at such theatre during the period of one year prior to the term of such license agreement.

(b) If none of the distributor's feature pictures were exhibited upon a percentage basis at such theatre during such period of one year before the term of the license agreement, then average the license fees of all feature pictures of all distributors which were shown upon a percentage basis during such period of one year prior to the term of such license agreement.

MANAGERS LIABLE UNDER THE CODE

A theatre manager or exchange manager in the field who wilfully violates any of the trade practice provisions of the code in his relations with another exhibitor or another distributor is liable under the code and if the violation is upheld by the Local Grievance Board, such manager is liable to a fine of $500 for each day's violation.

(c) If the rental of any motion picture cancelled or excluded is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the receipts of the exhibitor's theatre, the sum to be paid by the exhibitor as a condition of excluding a picture out of order shall be determined as follows:

(1) Average the gross receipts of all the distributor's feature pictures exhibited at the exhibitor's theatre during the ninety-day period preceding the exhibitor's notice of exclusion, and apply to such average the percentage terms specified in the license agreement for the picture so excluded.

(2) If no feature motion pictures of the distributor's were exhibited during said ninety-day period, average the daily gross receipts of the exhibitor's theatre for the period of thirty operating days preceding the exhibitor's notice of exclusion and apply to such average the percentage terms specified in the license agreement for the picture excluded.

(3) In computing the number of feature pictures which may be excluded under the provisions of this clause, fractions of more than one-half shall be regarded as one, but fractions of less than one-half shall not be counted. For example: An exhibitor with a contract for 42 pictures would be entitled to reject or exclude four features; an exhibitor with a contract for 47 pictures would be entitled to reject or exclude five features.

PROPER MORAL STANDARDS IN MOTION PICTURES

(Article VII—Part 1)

Every one in distribution and exhibition, as well as in production, is pledged and bound under the code to give their combined strength to maintain the best standards of morals in motion pictures. And to that end the industry and everyone in it is pledged and bound to adhere to the regulations promulgated by and within the industry to assure the attainment of such purpose.

The Hays code of production morals standards is that established set of regulations promulgated by and within the industry to attain such right moral standards.

IN ADVERTISING PICTURES

(Article VII—Part 2)

Everyone in distribution and exhibition, as well as in production, is pledged and bound under the code to give their combined strength to maintain the best standards of morals in advertising motion pictures in the trade and to the public. And to that end the industry and everyone in it is pledged and bound to adhere to the regulations promulgated by and within the industry to assure the attainment of such purpose.

The Hays (Advertising Advisory Council under J. J. McCarthy) code of advertising morals is the established regulations promulgated by and within the industry to attain such right moral standards in advertising. If an exhibitor or distributor any place is in doubt about the propriety of the morals of any piece of advertising and publicity he may submit it voluntarily to the Advertising Advisory Council, at No. 28 West 44th Street, in New York, and the Council will advise as to the propriety of such piece of advertising and publicity and exploitation. In any event, each individual person or company or exhibitor or distributor is responsible for its own advertising under this clause.

7. ADMINISTRATION

Administration of the motion picture code's provisions which are intended to promote fair competition and eliminate unfair competitive practices between distributors and exhibitors and among distributors and among exhibitors shall be vested in 32 Local Grievance Boards and 32 Local Clearance and Zoning Boards which will be established later this month, in each of the exchange cities, and which shall administer the trade practice provisions in their respective territories under the general direction of the Code Authority.

In the first article of this series of code translations, starting on page 23 of the December 23rd issue of MOTION PICTURE HERALD, appeared a complete and detailed analysis of the purposes, personnel-makeup, procedure, jurisdiction, headquarters' locations and general comment both pertaining to the Code Authority and to the Local Grievance Boards, Local Clearance and Zoning Boards and to Contract Arbitration Boards.

8. CLEARANCE and ZONING

(Article VI—Part 1—Sections 1 to 9)

(That part of the code translation which follows and which analyzes that section of the motion picture code which pertains to clearance and zoning and Clearance and Zoning Boards, appeared in the first article of this series of code translations, on page 31 of the December 23rd issue of Motion Picture Herald.)

A. PURPOSES OF BOARDS

1. To provide against clearance of unreasonable length and/or area in any exchange territory.

2. To establish a schedule in each exchange territory of fair, just, reasonable and equitable clearance and zoning regulating the number of days which must elapse between theatres in their showing of the same motion pictures in such territory, and which shall be binding upon all distributors and exhibitors in that territory.

B. PERSONNEL

Selection of the names for the local Clearance and Zoning Boards which will be set up by the Code Authority in each of the 32 key exchange territories has not yet been completed and the boards probably will not start functioning until about March 1.

The code specifies that each of the local Clearance and Zoning Boards shall be appointed by the Code Authority and shall consist of two representatives of distributors, one of whom shall be a representative of a national distributor with theatre affiliations and the other a distributor without circuit affiliations; and two representatives of first-run theatres located in $600.00 IN CASH PRIZES FOR SHOWMEN!!!

CONTEST OPEN TO ALL U. S. AND CANADIAN EXHIBITORS

The biggest prize money contest in years. Open to all exhibitors in the U. S. and Canada . . . regardless of the size of theatre operated.

Its aim: to get your ideas... as a practical showman . . . on how to advertise, exploit, publicize the three FOX smash musical productions now being filmed for spring release... FOX FOLLIES, BOTTOMS UP, GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS.

All three are musicals. But all three are different. Bear this in mind when preparing your campaigns. Each campaign should be distinctive and different from the other.

READ THESE RULES*

1 The contest will begin on receipt of this letter and will close February 17th. All campaigns must be in the office of Charles E. McCarthy, Fox Film Corporation, 444 West 56th Street, New York City, not later than that date.

2 The contest will be open to all theatre managers and their employees.

3 Each contestant must submit complete advertising, exploitation and publicity campaigns on each of the three pictures in order to qualify for any prize.

4 Contestants who are not equipped to submit drawings or layouts of their ideas may describe them in writing and be assured of equal consideration by the judges.

5 No employees of the Fox Film Corporation will be eligible to compete in this contest.

6 The Advertising and Publicity department of the Fox Film Corporation under the direction of Charles E. McCarthy will be the sole and only judge of the contest. Its decision as to the winners will be final.

7 The Fox Film Corporation shall have all rights to use all or any part of the campaigns submitted.

9 DIFFERENT AWARDS FOR CAMPAIGNS ON:

FOX FOLLIES BOTTOMS UP
GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS

3 Prizes on EACH of the above:

1. $100 for the best complete campaign including outdoor, advertising, exploitation, publicity.
2. $50 for the best newspaper advertising campaign.
3. $50 for the best outdoor and exploitation campaign.

* REMEMBER, that in order to qualify for any of these prizes, each contestant must submit a complete campaign on all three pictures!

THE PRIZES will be distributed as soon as possible after the winners have been determined. In case of a tie, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

WATCH for a letter addressed to you containing everything you need to know for the contest.

SHOW your mettle as a showman. Start laying out your campaigns now. Don't wait!

Send them along at once to:

CHARLES E. McCARTHY
Director, Advertising and Publicity
Fox Film Corporation, 444 W. 56th St., New York City

FOX

ZONING BOARD DUTIES

the territory, one of whom shall be an affiliated exhibitor or manager, if there be one, and the other an unaffiliated exhibitor; and two representatives of subsequent-run unaffiliated theatres operating within the territory.

A seventh member of the Board shall be appointed by the Code Authority and approved by the Administrator and he shall be regarded as the impartial representative of the Code Authority and he shall have no direct or indirect affiliation with any branch of the motion picture industry. The Code Authority's representative shall vote on any question only when the Board is deadlocked, and his vote shall determine the question.

The local Clearance and Zoning Board will select its own chairman by a majority vote of its members, and any vacancy in the Board shall be filled by the Code Authority, but only from the class of members in which the vacancy occurred.

All members appointed to the Board by the Code Authority shall be persons of good repute and of good standing in the industry, and shall, upon accepting the appointment, subscribe and file with the Administrator an oath to fairly and impartially determine whatever issue is presented to the Board.

No Board shall contain in its membership more than one representative of any one distributor or exhibitor, and if a member of any Board ceases to belong to the class which he represents on the Board, the Code Authority shall declare him ineligible to continue on the Board and shall fill the vacancy by designating a representative of the same class.

C. PROCEDURE-JURISDICTION-DUTIES

The jurisdiction of the local Clearance and Zoning Boards shall be limited to matters of clearance and zoning and such Boards shall hear no questions other than those pertaining to clearance and zoning matters.

Although the code says that each local Clearance and Zoning Board shall promptly after its creation, and prior to January 1, 1934, and prior to January 1st of each year thereafter, formulate, prescribe and publish for its territory, schedules of clearance for the season next ensuing, the schedules for the season 1934-35 cannot possibly be ready until about March 1.

However, the schedules cannot affect existing 1933-34 exhibition contracts on clearance and zoning, and few, if any, new contracts will be negotiated from now until after the new schedules are prescribed by the Boards in each territory.

The Boards will individually set up schedules according to the requirements and conditions which are peculiar to the particular territory. The schedules may classify theatres by geographical zones or other classifications best suited to local conditions, but each schedule shall be intended for the sole purpose of fixing the maximum clearance in length of time and area after the conclusion of the prior runs of such theatres.

Each Board may, after fair and reasonable notice and hearing to interested exhibitors, change, modify, or vary any part of the schedule set up by it, provided that any such change or modification shall not in any wise apply to, affect, or modify any exhibition contract made subject to, or in reliance upon, or pursuant to any such schedule, without the prior written consent of the parties to such contract.

The decision of each Board shall be determined by a majority vote, and in case the Board is evenly divided, such question shall be submitted for determination to the impartial representative of the Code Authority, whose vote shall determine the question.

The decision of the Board and/or the Code Authority's representative shall be in writing.

Each Board shall promptly publish the clearance and zoning schedules formulated by it, and file a copy of such schedules immediately with the Code Authority.

Within thirty days of publication of the clearance and zoning schedules, under specific code law, any group of exhibitors, or any individual theatre owner involved locally by the schedules, may file a protest in writing with the Board issuing them. Such Board shall then promptly convene and give reasonable notice of hearing to all those who are concerned, or who have an interest in the proceeding, and the Board shall hear them and accept from them all relative papers and evidence.

The Board shall have the power to make reasonable rules pertaining to the time, place and manner of hearing.

The Board shall make its decision on the protest within fifteen days from the filing of the protest, or within three business days after the parties involved shall have been fully heard, whichever date is sooner.

Any party aggrieved by the decision of the Board shall have absolute right of appeal to the Code Authority, provided such appeal is filed or mailed by registered mail, or delivered in writing not later than five days after the decision on the protest by the local Board. The local Board will then turn over all evidence taken before it to the Code Authority.

All persons interested in the decision on the appeal shall have the right to appear before the Code Authority and present additional evidence, and the Code Authority shall make a decision within fifteen days from and after the date of the hearing. The Code Authority shall, however, first investigate the protest, review the evidence gathered in its investigation and consider the additional evidence, if any.

The code says that the requirements as to these various steps hereinbefore prescribed shall be mandatory in order to give full relief before the buying season commences.

Each and every distributor and exchange and exhibitor in each territory shall be bound by the schedules drafted and/or decisions made by any local Clearance and Zoning Board, and/or decisions of the Code Authority upon any appeal to it.

Pending the final determination of any dispute or controversy over clearance and zoning, all existing exhibition contracts between the disputants shall continue to be performed in every respect.

Factors To Be Considered In Clearance Board Action

Each local Clearance and Zoning Board when making any classification of theatres for purposes of drawing a clearance schedule, or when fixing the maximum period or area of clearance in respect of any theatre, shall, among other things peculiar to the requirements locally, consider and give due regard to the following factors:

(a) That clearance to a very considerable extent determines the rental value of motion pictures;

(b) That exhibitions, or showings of the same motion picture within the same competitive area at too short an interval after the conclusion of a preceding run or runs, depreciates the rental value of motion pictures; and

(c) That all such depreciations of the rental values of motion pictures tend to reduce the number of motion pictures produced, discourage the production of motion pictures of quality involving large investments of capital, labor, skill and enterprise and thereby tend to reduce employment.

(d) That unreasonable clearance to a considerable extent affects the value of motion pictures for subsequent-run theatres.

(e) That unreasonable clearance depreciates the potential return from motion pictures to subsequent-run theatres.

(f) That unreasonable clearance as to time and area diminishes the potential revenue to the distributor from the subsequent-run exhibitor.

D. HEADQUARTERS - BRANCH LOCATIONS

The Clearance and Zoning Boards will operate and will have headquarters in the following exchange cities, in offices still to be selected:

ALBANY
ATLANTA
BOSTON
BUFFALO
CHARLOTTE
CHICAGO
CINCINNATI
CLEVELAND
DALLAS
DENVER
DES MOINES
DETROIT
INDIANAPOLIS
KANSAS CITY
LOS ANGELES
MEMPHIS
MILWAUKEE
MINNEAPOLIS
NEW HAVEN
NEW ORLEANS
NEW YORK
OKLAHOMA CITY
OMAHA
PHILADELPHIA
PITTSBURGH
PORTLAND
ST. LOUIS
SALT LAKE CITY
SAN FRANCISCO
SEATTLE
WASHINGTON

E. GENERAL

No exhibitor or distributor shall be entitled to file any complaint or grievance or protest under the clearance and zoning provisions of the code, or under any other article of the code unless such exhibitor or distributor shall have signed the code in its entirety by January 31.

Evidence of such signature, duly executed, shall be filed on a duly prescribed form with the Code Authority. The Code Authority has mailed to every exhibitor and exchange, distributor, producer or other corporation, firm or company, a copy of the official form for execution by each separate exhibitor and distributor, and the signature on this form binds the firm, corporation or individual to agree to comply with the code in its entirety and with all the requirements of the National Recovery Act.

New companies or individuals engaging in the motion picture business, or new theatre ventures must sign the code within forty-five days after commencing operations.

Change of ownership does not change the clearance and zoning previously specified by the Board for a particular theatre.

Also, any person, firm, theatre, exchange or corporation who shall fail to pay promptly any assessment or levy made by the Code Authority for code administration expenses, shall not be entitled to file any complaint, grievance or protest with the local Clearance and Zoning Boards, or with the Code Authority under any article or part of the code. They may, however, be made defendants in disputes, complaints or grievances filed by another. The code is a law binding every person or company in the industry, regardless of whether they sign it or pay their assessed share of code administration expenses as prescribed by the Code Authority.

"MUSTARD with your HOT DOGS?"

BROADWAY SCREAMS!

"I never saw people laugh so hard. Large numbers of kids also came!"

(signed)
ARTHUR MAYER
Rialto Thea., N. Y. City

Daily Mirror—
... joyous piece of work ... great fun ... stirring uproar ... supreme comedy ...

American—
...one of best entertainments created by this comedy combine . . . story is well constructed, full of fun and merriment keeps going with no pauses ...

Sun—
... film done well ... Laurel & Hardy excellent ... I predict a brilliant future for them in six reelers ... this only second in long career of shorts ...

Journal—
...funny... plenty of laughs...

Film Daily—
... generous feast for those who want laughs ...

Times—
... funny all the way ...

Hollywood Reporter—
... plenty of real, genuine laughter ...

Variety—
... elaborate production ... good direction ... will get laughs ...

Brooklyn Times—
...funniest of their comedies ... a pleasure ... won much laughter ...

Morning Telegraph—
... as giddy a bit of screen hilarity as you'll find anywhere ... Laurel & Hardy seldom have turned in such excellent work ... a truly amusing comedy ... it's funny ...

News—
... fresh gags keep audience in continual state of laughter ... climax hilarious ...

Brooklyn Eagle—
...a large audience appeared to be constantly in danger of laughing itself to death...

Post—
... met with approval of receptive audience ...

LAUREL-HARDY's

7 Rollicking Reels

"SONS of the DESERT"

with CHARLEY CHASE

"Thanks Hal Roach! Your Pal, Leo!"

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

Man of Two Worlds

(RKO Radio)

Drama

In an unusual picture RKO Radio introduces to the screen a new personality, of whom they have hopes in the starring direction. Francis Lederer reached New York about a year ago and rapidly, chiefly by reason of his appearance in the starring role of the Broadway stage play, "Autumn Crocus," attained a popularity approaching that of a matinee idol. The exhibitor away from Broadway probably will find Lederer more or less unknown to the rank and file of his patronage, and that may even be an asset in the selling this time. He should be emphasized as a new screen personality, with concentration on this as his first screen appearance and an indication of his rapid rise to popularity on the stage.

His slight foreign accent fits the work, from Ainsworth Morgan's novel, "Man of Two Worlds." There is, of course, the opportunity for possible book store tieups which should not be overlooked. Lederer is attractive physically, capable and energetic in performance and possessed of a definite personality. He is worth building for future appearances.

Supporting him are the good names of Elissa Landi, Henry Stephenson and J. Farrell MacDonald in particular, the last two especially giving their customary excellent performances. Lederer's is, however, the chief marquee name.

The title is open to exploitation, since it is an accurate designation of the story's theme: an Eskimo carried to London, after falling in love with the picture of a girl, making frantic efforts to "fit in," in his primitive manner, then returning, broken-hearted and disillusioned, to his Eskimo wife and the tribe of which he is the leader. But concluding tragedy is offset by his realization that Greenland is where he belongs, and where he will be happy.

Stephenson, in Greenland in search of animals for the London Zoo, and accompanied by MacDonald, enlists the aid of Lederer, great hunter of the tribe. The Eskimo becomes fascinated by a photograph of Miss Landi, Stephenson's daughter, and at his urgent request is taken back to London, leaving his wife and son. There the fascination grows and Miss Landi is urged to assist in the fiction.

The story, in a sense novel, is interesting material, and may well be sold in interesting fashion, without any resort to exploitation of the ballyhoo type, to which the picture does not lend itself. Concentrate on Lederer, the new star, and make an effort to intrigue the feminine portion of the patronage. The resume of the story should suggest effective selling angles.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by RKO Radio. Directed by J. Walter Ruben. From the novel by Ainsworth Morgan. Screen play by Howard J. Green and Ainsworth Morgan. Photography by Henry W. Gerrard. Film editor, George Hively. Sound recorder, John Tribby. Release date, February 9, 1934. Running time 92 minutes.

CAST

Aigo ..... Francis Lederer
Joan Pemberton ..... Elissa Landi
Sir Basil Pemberton ..... Henry Stephenson
Michael ..... J. Farrell MacDonald
Eric Paget ..... Walter Byron
Tim ..... Forrester Harvey
Dr. Lott ..... Ivan Simpson
Captain Swan ..... Lumsden Hare
Guinana ..... Steffi Duna
Olago ..... Sarah Padden
Knudson ..... Christian Rub
Natkusiak ..... Emil Chautard

LeGong

(Bennett Pictures)

Travel Novelty

Done entirely in color, with no dialogue and subtitles interpreting the story and action, this picture is a novel presentation of the people, social and religious customs and folklore of the Island of Bali. Against this background, a romantic and dramatic story plot is unfolded. A well devised musical score colors both the action and intent of the story.

Despite the fact that "LeGong" is a silent picture, it aroused and held the interest of an audience that did not know it was going to see a preview. That its novelty and charm was appreciated was indicated by the enthusiastic applause at the conclusion.

The plot is simple, but it has been so developed that it assumes dramatic and romantic punches on par with the best of current story adaptations. Poutou, native girl, is deliriously happy when she finds Nyong awakening love in her heart. Unafraid of the age-old tradition that a maid who loves but is spurned is doomed to shame, she sees her hopes swept away as Nyong gives his affections to her sister Saplak. Disheartened, she makes no effort to win the boy back, but after her last temple dance, she sacrifices her life. The finale is an elaborate picturization of the Bali cremation rites.

Differing completely from the usual travelogue, aborigine presentations, "Le Gong" should prove a pleasing novelty when offered in contrast to pictures of more modern and familiar themes. Houses that offer unusual features on their programs should find it a more than satisfactory attraction.—MCCARTHY, Hollywood.

Produced by Bennett Pictures Corporation, Ltd. Associate producer, Henry de la Falaise. Story told by Henry de la Falaise and Gaston Glass. Photographed by William Howard Greene. Titled by Hampton Del Ruth. Edited by Edward Schroeder. Music supervised by Abe Meyer. Orchestra directed by S. K. Wineland. Recorded by RCA Photophone. Running time, 55 minutes.

WITH ALL NATIVE CAST

The girl ..... Poutou
Her Father ..... Bagus
Her halfsister ..... Saplak
The boy ..... Nyong-Nyong

Search for Beauty

(Paramount)

Comedy-Drama

Quite a different brand of amusing and exciting entertainment is revealed in this show. The story premise is novel; tying up a racketeer angle, which takes a ludicrous comedy twist, with liberal dashes of health, beauty and physique developing propaganda and ringing in the thirty international contest winners in a way that makes topical exploitation easy. The leads have been so cast that the Olympic championship prestige of Larry "Buster" Crabbe can be effectively capitalized upon, and the newcomer, Ida Lupino, can be talked about.

There is an athletic twist in the beginning as clip newsreel shots of the 1932 Olympic games introduce the leads as models of physical and moral perfection. The comedy, romance and light drama, as well as the athletic spectacle presenting the international beauties, boys and girls, are developed as the promoting Armstrong, Gleason and Gertrude Michael attempt to cash in on the fame of Crabbe and Miss Lupino as editors of a health magazine.

Moving along at a steady and coherent clip, Williams promotes Swass into financing a health magazine and sells Jackson and Barbara, Olympic champs, the idea of being editors. The kids fall for his glib line, but quickly get wise that they're being used as tools in a racket. Swapping their interest in the magazine for a health farm, the athletes quarter the contest winners there.

Seeking to turn the spot into a mecca for jaded ladies and playboys, Williams, Swass and their giddy guests are given a thorough working over by Jackson, Barbara and their athletic cohorts, in sequences that are chock full of amusement. The anticlimax is the revelation of Reverend Rankin as a Department of Justice agent, who shoos the promoters out of the picture and makes it possible for the now-in-love Don and Barbara to run the health farm as a haven for real folk who want to build themselves up.

Athletic and clean living propaganda sequences give the show a lot of interesting color that permits recommending it to youthful patrons. The fast moving, comedy, light dramatic and romantic phases are values that should be capitalized to stir up adult curiosity. The advance publicity received while the search for beauty contests were under way should be revived and exploitation tieups that stress the athletic atmosphere should be worked to the limit.—MCCARTHY, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Directed by Erle Kenton. Story by David Boehm and Maurine Watkins. Screen play by Frank Butler and Claude Binyon. Dialogue by Sam Hellman. Based upon a play by Schuyler E. Grey and Paul R. Milton. Photographed by Harry Fischbeck, A. S. C. Sound, Joel Butler. Music by Ralph Rainger. Lyrics by Leo Robin. Dance director, LeRoy Prinz. Art directors, Hans Dreier and John Goodman.

CAST

Don Jackson ..... Larry "Buster" Crabbe
Barbara Hilton ..... Ida Lupino
Larry Williams ..... Robert Armstrong
Sam Swass ..... James Gleason
Sally ..... Toby Wing
Jean Strange ..... Gertrude Michael
Joe ..... Bradley Page
Reverend Rankin ..... Frank McGlynn, Sr.
Miss Pettigrew ..... Nora Cecil
Mrs. Archibald Henderson-James ... Virginia Hammond
Mr. Adolph Knockler ..... Eddie Gribbon
Caretaker ..... "Pop" Kenton
Mac ..... Del Henderson
Heinie ..... Phil Dunham
Fat Man in Bed ..... Harry Stubbs
Blonde in Bed ..... Ara Haswell
Formation Director ..... Tammany Young
1st Author ..... Vigne
2nd Author ..... Monya Andre
3rd Author ..... Arthur Rankin
Cameraman ..... Charles Williams
Cement Foreman ..... William Norton Bailey
Prison Clerk ..... Earl Pingree

and

the 30 winners in the international beauty contest chosen from England, Scotland, Ireland, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Canada and the United States.

West of the Divide

(Monogram)

Western

Cut much to the usual pattern of the action type western, this none the less contains a goodly quota of hard riding, fast fighting, gun play and general excitement.

The popular John Wayne has the lead, sharing with his beautiful white horse the honors of the chase. No opportunity is lost to permit the powerful looking Wayne to make ample

The Biggest Names in The Biggest Laughs in short subjects

STOOPNAGLE and BUDD in "THE INVENTORS"

with OLIVE BORDEN

"Excellent comedy . . . shows Stoopnagle and Budd at their best as the nutty inventors . . . If you are looking for belly laughs, this has them." Film Daily

CORONET COMEDY

Produced by AL CHRISTIE

"I pledged the Fox sales force the best comedies on the market for 1934, both in name strength and entertainment value. I believe these new two-reel laugh pictures show that Educational is going to deliver on that pledge. They will give you the treat of again hearing your audiences rocking with that good old belt-line laughter that pays you such handsome profits. I recommend that you see them both right now."

E. W. Hammons

FROLICS of YOUTH "PARDON MY PUPS"

A comedy of youth, its fights and its frolics, that will keep any audience in stitches of laughter, and then leave a pleasant memory.

with

JUNIOR COGHLAN

and

SHIRLEY TEMPLE

"Altogether delightful." Rob. Wagner's Script

"Furnishes plenty of laughs. Shirley Temple is great." M. P. DAILY

. . . and always More Big Names

To the long list of big names in Educational Pictures is now added

BUSTER KEATON

coming soon in a new

STAR COMEDY SPECIAL

Educational Pictures
"THE SPICE OF THE PROGRAM"

Distributed in U. S. A. by FOX FILM CORPORATION

use of his fists, a factor which should lead to plenty of approbation on the part of the juvenile masculine portion of the audience. Virginia Browne Faire makes an attractive heroine in the expected western style, while the supporting cast contains such western film standbys as Lloyd Whitlock, George Hayes, Yakima Canutt and Lafe McKee.

Use of Wayne's name comes foremost, but those of several of the others familiar to the patronage should not be overlooked.

Wayne, with Hayes, an oldtimer, returns to the scene of the murder of his father 12 years before, seeking the murderer and news of his young brother, sole survivor besides himself of the raid which killed his parents. Finding a clue in letters on the body of Gatt Ganns, the outlaw, Wayne assumes the bandit's identity to learn what he can. Following directions in one of the letters, he meets Whitlock, bandit leader, bent on taking McKee's ranch and incidentally McKee's daughter to boot. Whitlock hires Wayne to murder McKee during the night theft of McKee's cattle. Wayne warns them in time without revealing his own identity.

Wayne had befriended a youngster, Billy O'Brien, from the ill treatment of a man at the bandit hideout, and the youngster, at a crucial moment, repays the kindness by warning his benefactor of impending danger when the bandits are ordered to "get" Wayne. Eventually, in a fast action finish, Wayne exposes Whitlock as the murderer of his father, discovers the youngster to be his lost brother, and saves the ranch for McKee. Wayne and the daughter, Miss Faire, complete the picture as anticipated.

There's plenty of excitement to stir the enthusiasm of the youngsters, and entertain the adults. The weekend is the playing position.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Monogram. A Lone Star western produced by Paul Malvern. Directed by R. N. Bradbury. Story by R. N. Bradbury. Photographed by Archie Stout. Recorded by John Stransky, Jr. Release date, February 15, 1934. Running time, 54 minutes.

CAST

Ted Hayden	John Wayne
Fay Winter	Virginia Brown Faire
Gentry	Lloyd Whitlock
Dusty Rhodes	George Hayes
Hank	Yakima Canutt
Spud	Billy O'Brien
Winters	Lafe McKee
Hutch	Blackie Whiteford
Red	Earl Dwire
Joe	Dick Dickinson

Two Alone

(Radio)

Melodrama

There are several demands for showmanship resourcefulness in putting over this picture. In the first place, cast names are none too potent, the most powerful, Zasu Pitts, appearing in only short atmospheric comedy contrast bits. The theme is melodramatic, the romantic angles tending particularly to heavy drama. While there is a strong effort to create human interest and direct audience sympathy on the two youthful leads, the unnatural cruelty and inhumanity to which they are subjected gives the picture a depressing rather than elevating tone.

Localed on a farm, Mazie is the orphan maid-of-all-work in the Slag household. Victim of all the heartlessness of Slag and Mrs. Slag, her only friend is Marshall. Adam, fleeing reform school, finds refuge on the farm. He and Mazie, alone in the world, are attracted to each other. Slag, who has sinister interests in the girl, becomes more brutal than ever in his attempt to break up the Mazie-Tom romance. As Marshall has quit his job, the two young folk, unable to bear conditions any longer, run away from the farm. Caught by Slag and brought back, Adam fights for the girl and injures Slag. Marshall returns just in time to prevent Mazie from committing suicide, and it is revealed that he is her father. Climaxing the drama, Adam is shot, as the authorities arrest Slag for harboring an escaped prisoner. After the youngsters are married, Adam returns to finish his term or be eligible for quick parole.

Sold as a picture that powerfully details all the hardship and heartache of a pair of youngsters who alone and friendless and despite endless torment found the way to love, women, both young and old should find much to interest them in the picture. There is plenty of heavy emotion, a quality that under proper handling usually interests feminine patrons. The story is the value that should be accented and the drawing power of Jean Parker, one of the highlights of "Little Women," used to the utmost.—MCCARTHY, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Radio. Director, Elliott Nugent. Screen play by Josephine Lovett and Joseph Moncure March. From the play, "Wild Birds," by Dan Totheroh. Photographer, Lucien Andriot. Art directors, Van Nest Polglase and Charles Kirk. Sound recorder, John L. Cass. Film editor, Arthur Roberts. Musical director, Max Steiner. Associate producer, David Lewis. Executive producer, Merian C. Cooper. Running time, 74 minutes. Release date, Jan. 26, 1934.

CAST

Mazie	Jean Parker
Adam	Tom Brown
Esthey	Zasu Pitts
Slag	Arthur Byron
Mrs. Slag	Beulah Bondi
Corie	Nydia Westman
Marshall	Willard Robertson
Sandy	Charley Grapewin
Milt	Emerson Treacy
Sheriff	Paul Nicholson

Sons of the Desert

(MGM-Roach)

Comedy

Once again the usually amusing comedy team of Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy venture into the feature field, this time under a title which may be found somewhat misleading, since the "Sons of the Desert" is not a reference to the comics tramping over trackless wastes of sand, but rather the inspiring name of the society, or lodge, to which the two belong.

The picture approaches probably as closely to slapstick as any feature comedy offered in many a long day, and the two, especially the corpulent Hardy, almost from beginning to end, form the human targets for assorted crockery and other kitchen utensils, hurled with unerring accuracy by the good right arms of their respective irate wives. In brief, the feature, in story and execution, is neither more nor less than rather usual two-reel comedy material stretched—almost to the breaking point—into feature length.

The picture is always perfectly obvious and of the pie-heaving school of the comic, and as such, at the showing at the Rialto theatre on Broadway in New York, the audience gave considerable and repeated evidence of definite enjoyment, chuckling at frequent intervals, laughing heartily on occasion. Let that be something of a guide for the exhibitor in selling the picture.

Laurel and Hardy are the draw names, of course, with Charley Chase indulging in energetic antics in one scene, and Mae Busch and Dorothy Christy as Mrs. Hardy and Mrs. Laurel, respectively. Tieups with societies and lodges in the community and street ballyhoo of that nature are obvious, with possible use of impersonators of Laurel and Hardy. The women may be drawn to the theatre with a play on the wifely tradition of reluctance to permit husbands to attend lodge conventions unchaperoned.

Laurel and Hardy take an oath to go to the convention, but the wives raise something of an objection, especially Hardy's, after he has read Laurel a lesson in the proper superior conduct to be adopted by a husband in dealing with a wife. What Mae Busch does may readily be imagined. The two devise a scheme. Hardy plays sick and a doctor is instructed to insist he go to Honolulu. It works and they leave for the convention in Chicago. Report comes that the boat from Honolulu on which they were to return, has been wrecked, but the wives see a newsreel of their hubbies in Chicago. When they discover the situation they are in, the two make catastrophic efforts to hide in the attic, but are forced to the roof in a howling storm, taken by a policeman and returned to the tender mercies of the wives. Laurel tells the truth and is forgiven, but Hardy goes down for the third time in a hail of crockery.

Slapstick comedy laughs there are aplenty, to judge by the Rialto audience. Take what selling advantage lies in the husbands-lodge convention theme, and concentrate on the drawing power of the Laurel and Hardy names. It is material for the entire family. Midweek is suggested as a playing position.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced by Hal Roach. Distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Original story, and continuity, by Frank Craven and Byron Morgan. Directed by William A. Seiter. Photography by Kenneth Peach. Film editor, Bert Jordan. Release date, December 29, 1933. Running time, 68 minutes.

CAST

Stan	Stan Laurel
Oliver	Oliver Hardy
Mrs. Laurel	Dorothy Christy
Mrs. Hardy	Mae Busch
Charley	Charley Chase
Doc	Lucien Littlefield

Strange Holiday

(Paramount)

Melodrama

"Strange Holiday' is a rather daring picture. It should be one of the most talked about experiments in the line of unusual entertainment since talking pictures came into vogue. Here's the strange premise: The Angel of Death takes on mortal form, living on earth for three days to dip into its fleshpots in order to find out what strange fascination there is in life that impels humans to cling so tenaciously to it, and to find out why mortals fear him so. Thus the picture assumes all the wierd, eerie thrill of "Frankenstein," "Dr. Jekyll" and "The Invisible Man." Ghostly, it's not ghastly. True, there is the awesome terror of the unreal. But there is no gruesomeness. Rather it is a powerful, beautiful romantic love story of the natural and supernatural. Likewise there is a comedy contrast, resulting from the imagination-stunning situations and the sparkling dialogue.

It does not look like an easy picture to sell. It places a terrific strain on audience credulity. However, in spite of its seeming drawbacks, "Strange Holiday" has big time stuff. It's a class picture. Previewed before a class audience, it held the folk in wrapt attention, even won a resounding burst of applause. What its fate will be with the ordinary theatre-goer is a question answerable only by the showmanship smartness of the men who will play it. Certainly the novelty of it all affords endless opportunities to arouse the mass mind.

There is a strong interest-inciting commercial value in the title. Name values, with Fredric March and Evelyn Venable, the girl of "Cradle Song," and Sir Guy Standing, plus the others, are above par. It is skillfully produced, acted and directed in every phase so that the delicate subject with which it deals never gets out of control.

The story is that of Death reincarnated as Prince Sirki. Only the Duke knows his secret. Two women, Rhoda and Stephanie, are drawn to him. It's sex, but not flamboyant sex. Through Grazia he knows earthly love and she knows ethereal affection. Motivated by unreal realism, they want each other. The Duke pleads with Death not to take the girl with him. She wants to go; he wants her to go with him and she does, willingly and gladly when Death's three-day mortal existence expires. That's the story. It is no description of the glamour which surrounds it.

The entire show is a daring topic, frankly presented, totally unlike anything ever shown before on a talking screen. Whether it is entertainment, amusing or otherwise, to be profitably appreciated is to be determined. It is possible that its showing can be made a real

This is

ANNA STEN

"She will dazzle the eyes of the most blase theatre-goer. She is not only beautiful . . . she is breathtaking."

LOUELLA PARSONS
Universal Service

event. To insure that it must be seen from start to finish. It is not the type of picture which permits anyone to drop into the theatre at any time and pick up the understandable story thread. Frankly the picture must be word-sold. Necessarily the reactions of the first audiences will unusually influence the desire of others to see the picture.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Directed by Mitchell Leisen. From the stage play "Death Takes a Holiday," by Alberto Casella. Screen play by Maxwell Anderson and Gladys Lehman. English adaptation, Walter Ferris. Technical effects by Gordon Jennings. Sound, Harold Lewis. Photographed by Charles Lang. Art directors, Hans Dreier and Ernst Fegte. Running time, 78 minutes, when previewed. Release date, March 2, 1934.

CAST

Prince Sirki ..... Fredric March
Grazia ..... Evelyn Venable
Duke Lambert ..... Sir Guy Standing
Alda ..... Katharine Alexander
Rhoda ..... Gail Patrick
Stephanie ..... Helen Westley
Princess Maria ..... Kathleen Howard
Corrado ..... Kent Taylor
Baron Cesarea ..... Henry Travers
Eric ..... G. P. Huntley, Jr.
Fedele ..... Otto Hoffmann
Doctor Valle ..... Edward Van Sloan
Pietro ..... Hector Sarno
Vendor ..... Frank Yaconelli
Maid ..... Anna De Linsky

Above the Clouds

(Columbia)

Drama

Action, punch and an air thrill or two combine to give the exhibitor a fair amount of salable material. The newsreel cameraman comes in for his share of attention, and no opportunity has been neglected to impart a "kick" to the adventures of the reel men. There is a bit of comedy here and there, and the expected romantic interest, but with the effort and final success of the boy attempting to make good as a cameraman as the motivation, the shooting itself gives the film its entertainment punch.

For cast names on the marquee there are Robert Armstrong, Richard Cromwell and Dorothy Wilson, while Edmund Breese and Louis Alberni are well known and supply the greater part of the comedy relief. The selling tack is the behind-the-scenes method, with the reference to the newsreel cameramen and their often risky job, with emphasis on the action and thrill and an indication of the romantic sidelight.

The film opens with Cromwell shown shooting stunt flying at an air circus from the wing of one of the planes with a small camera, while Armstrong, on the ground, is busily engaged with a girl. Next a championship fight, at which cameramen are barred, is taken by Cromwell with a camera hidden in a peanut basket. Meanwhile, Cromwell meets Miss Wilson, stenographer in the Globe offices, and the two are attracted to each other. While Armstrong is drunk during the filming of naval maneuvers, Cromwell shoots a submarine disaster, only to find the film has been ruined by Armstrong's negligence. The boy is fired, but is promised by Scoop that he will take him along on a navy dirigible flight to Greenland and return. Finding himself double crossed, he gets his chance when the new assistant returns for forgotten lenses, substitutes for him and fights it out with Armstrong. When the ship goes down into the sea, Cromwell saves the magazine and brings back pictures of the accident. Scoop resigns, and Cromwell gets job and girl.

The youngsters should get a real thrill out of the picture, and an effort should be made to sell them.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Directed by Roy William Neill. From the story by George B. Seitz. Screen play by Albert DeMond. Assistant director, C. C. Coleman. Photographed by John Stumar. Sound engineer, Paul Johnson. Release date, October 20, 1933. Running time, 67 minutes.

CAST

Scoop ..... Robert Armstrong
Dick ..... Richard Cromwell
Connie ..... Dorothy Wilson
Crusty ..... Edmund Breese
Chandler ..... Morgan Wallace
Dolly ..... Dorothy Revier
Mother ..... Bessie Barriscale
Mabel ..... Geneva Mitchell
Speakeasy owner ..... Luis Alberni
Doyle ..... Sherry Hall

Easy to Love

(Warner)

Comedy Romance

Sophistication streams from every bit of dialogue and each turn of action in "Easy to Love." It is in the light of that fact that the showman will fashion his call to patronage. It is a sophisticated comedy romance farce, but one which has a run of sprightly comedy in situation as well as lines. While probably necessarily there would be considerable dialogue in a picture of this kind, that very condition proves a leavening factor in the production as a whole, and should be capitalized in billing.

The title scarcely defines the picture in full, but it has its intriguing atmosphere and can be turned to advantage.

First of all in exploitation values, however, come the names of the players. Here is name after name worth while for the marquee. The four principals are Adolphe Menjou, Genevieve Tobin, Mary Astor and Edward Everett Horton.

It's a story of love nests and lovers, start to finish, and secret alliances of husbands and wives, within two families. Genevieve Tobin finds that her husband, Menjou, is indifferent to her. She sees the family physician first, then engages a private detective, Hugh Herbert, but it's her own sleuthing that provides the real developments. Horton has been trying in vain to win her and now she apparently accedes. They go to find an apartment, ostensibly, enter the wrong one, again obviously, and find Horton's wife, Mary Astor, Menjou having hidden in a closet. Menjou hears all, as Genevieve intends he shall, and goes into a rage over her apparent philandering. When they battle it out verbally at home, their daughter, Patricia Ellis, lets them know that she's quite up on such matters, and then adds that she and Paul Kaye have given up the idea of marriage, but are going away together, anyway. The parents trail them to a tavern-hotel and find them in twin beds. Menjou summons a justice of the peace for a fire-ax wedding, whereupon the young folk, fully dressed, jump up and reveal that it's all a plot to bring the parents to their senses. And also whereupon, Mary Astor and Horton decide they have been silly and go home together.

It is strictly an adult menu.—Rovelstad, New York.

Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Directed by William Keighley. Screen play by Carl Erickson and Manuel Seff. Adapation by David Boehm. From a play by Thompson Buchanan. Photography by Ernest Haller. Film editor, William Clemmons. Art editor, Anton Grot. Gowns by Orry-Kelly. Vitaphone Orchestra conducted by Leo Forbstein. Release date, January 13, 1934. Running time, 61 minutes.

CAST

Carol ..... Genevieve Tobin
John ..... Adolphe Menjou
Charlotte ..... Mary Astor
Eric ..... Edward Everett Horton
Janet ..... Patricia Ellis
Justice of Peace ..... Guy Kibbee
Detective ..... Hugh Herbert
Paul ..... Paul Kaye
Clerk ..... Hobart Cavanaugh
Andrews ..... Robert Greig
Elevator Boy ..... Harold Waldridge

Before Midnight

(Columbia)

Mystery

Well sustained mystery, with considerable suspense, good performances and sufficiently appropriate setting, are here. The device of a recounting of the events long after they have happened is used to introduce the mystery, but little time is lost in getting the yarn under way.

Ralph Bellamy, police inspector, is the detective in the case, and presents virtually the only name in the cast having valuable marquee quality. The others are all capable, but not particularly strong in box office drawing power, though June Collyer, Claude Gillingwater and Betty Blythe are of course known. The title offers possibilities for advertising play, using it in a reference to the time the feature will be shown each day and devising catchlines built around it.

Numerous suspects serve to make the detective's task more difficult and confuse the audience as to the identity of the actual killer, permitting the exhibitor to use the method of defying his audience to detect the culprit until he is actually revealed, without fear of any one succeeding. A case of voluntarily transposed identities, an important factor, leaves the way open for selling lines on that basis.

When a young detective walks into the office of his chief and compliments himself on solving a mystery, the chief tells him of the Arnold case, pointing to it as a real problem. Then the film swings quickly into the mystery. Bellamy is called to the home of William Jeffrey, who fears he will be killed, as were his father and grandfather, basing his belief on certain signs, including a pool of blood on the floor. He is killed and Bellamy discovers poison has been used, but cannot uncover the manner in which it was injected. Suspects include a shyster lawyer, who drew the dead millionaire's will, a young doctor who had treated him and is in love with Miss Collyer, Jeffrey's ward; Gillingwater, private secretary; Miss Blythe, the secretary's wife; and a Japanese servant. All had acceptable motives.

Bellamy discovers that Jeffrey was originally the secretary and Gillingwater really Arnold, the millionaire, and learns that fear of death had led Gillingwater to the switch of identities. With active byplay adding to the suspense and the pace of the picture throughout, Bellamy goes his way, picking up a detail here, another there. The Japanese servant is killed by a knife in the back just as he is about to reveal the murderer to Bellamy. A diary, important in content, causes further complication, as Miss Blythe and the lawyer bargain with each other after Miss Blythe has apprehended the lawyer attempting to steal it.

Finally Bellamy discovers that the pointed self-filling lever on a fountain pen was the means of injecting the poison which killed Jeffrey, and learns that Gillingwater, or Arnold himself, killed the man he had delegated to pose as Arnold. Bellamy, realizing extenuating circumstances, gives Gillingwater the opportunity of committing suicide, in order to save the girl from disgrace, and throws the incriminating dairy into the fire. A flashback to the opening setting, with dialogue explaining the final disposition of the persons involved, concludes the film.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Directed by Lambert Hillyer. Story and adaptation by Robert Quigley. Photography by John Stumar. Film editor, Otto Meyer. Sound recorder, George Cooper. Release date, November 18, 1933. Running time, 63 minutes.

CAST

Trent ..... Ralph Bellamy
Janet ..... June Collyer
Fry ..... Claude Gillingwater
Mavis ..... Betty Blythe
Doctor ..... Arthur Pierson
Stubby ..... George Cooper
Smith ..... Bradley Page
Kono ..... Otto Yanaoka
Capt. Flynn ..... Joseph Crehan
Arnold ..... William Jeffrey

Italy, The Old and the New

(Vitaphone)

Interesting

There is considerable interest and a measure of novelty in this number of the new travel series from E. M. Newman, "Musical World Journeys." The accompanying explanation has been reduced to a minimum and replaced for the most part by music, vocal and instrumental, appropriate to the subject matter. Venice, with its Rialto Bridge and canals, its modern transportation system, the famous glass blowers at work, is first depicted, then Alberobello, a small, primitive village, where the inhabitants maintain themselves in quaint fashion. An interesting subject, well presentd.—Running time, 11 minutes.

INTRODUCING

"the Speaker of the Evening"

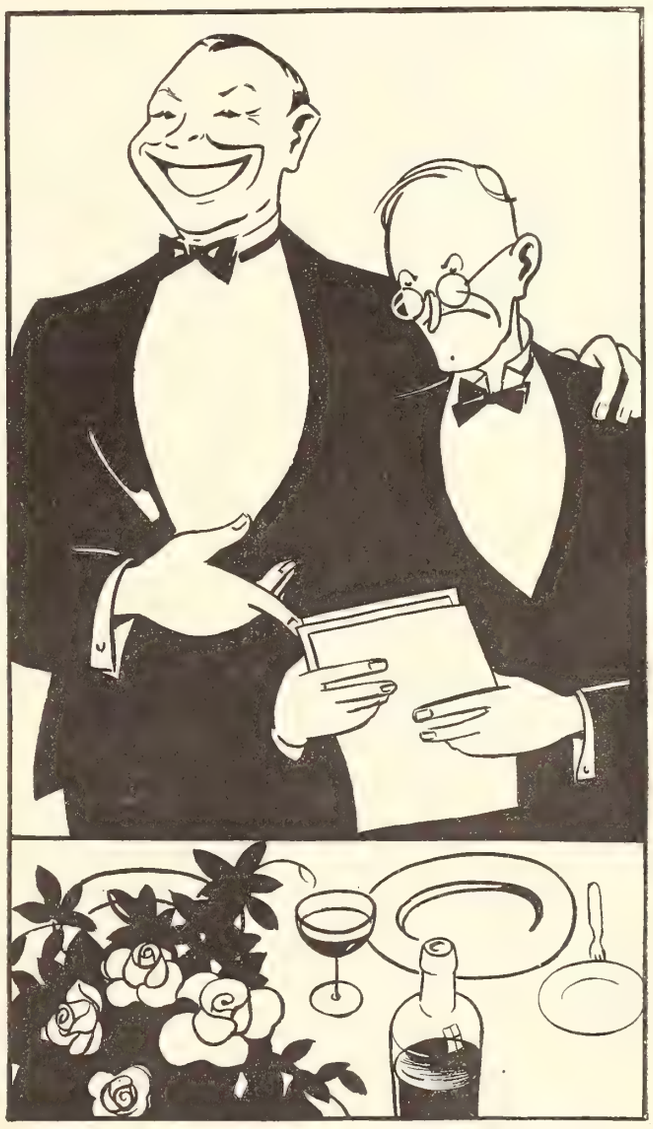
EVER sit in on a banquet while a toastmaster, with more cracks to his line than a syndicated colyumist, introduced a speaker who was a washout? It happens often.

Think about your theatre the same way. You book a feature, promote it, stunt it, advertise it to a fare-thee-well. And you pack them. You're just like the toastmaster. You've got your customers on edge, waiting for something swell.

And then . . . up comes the speaker of the evening—your sound—the most vital part of your show. And what do your customers do?

If you have High Fidelity, they sit thrilled to the most perfect sound that money can buy. They listen to realism unrivalled by life itself. In short they listen to natural sound, and they go home, sold on your house, sure to come next week.

But, if you haven't High Fidelity . . . Well, why take the negative angle? Some day in the interest of your box office, you will have High Fidelity, and when you do you'll understand and join in the enthusiasm of the hundreds of ear wise exhibitors who are making money with their . . .



HIGH FIDELITY RCA VICTOR PHOTOPHONE

Make them ear happy with HIGH FIDELITY

PHOTOPHONE DIVISION

RCA VICTOR CO., Inc.

Camden, New Jersey

Stage presentations are on the rebound. If you plan to go in for them, remember: Stage Sound must now be as good as Screen Sound, or else . . . Sound Reinforcing is the answer and we have a completely standardized proposition to tell you about. Mail this coupon.

« « « COUPON » » »

☐ I want further information about High Fidelity.
☐ I want information about Sound Reinforcing.

Name.....

Address.....

City..... State.....

MH

TECHNOLOGICAL

The BLUEBOOK School

By F. H. RICHARDSON

BLUEBOOK SCHOOL QUESTION NO. 207.—(A) Disregarding condition of surface as to cleanliness, upon what three elements does the amount of light reflected from a surface, or transmitted by it, depend? (B) Were a sheet of chemically pure water a foot thick, and a sheet of high-grade glass a foot thick, to be laid side by side, from which would the greater amount of light be reflected, and in the interior of which would the illumination be highest—and why? (Note: No one will be penalized for failure on this last one, since only those having a Bluebook would be able to dig out the answer without much searching.) (C) What is meant by "angle of incidence"? By "Refractive Index"?

Answer to Question No. 201

Bluebook School Question No. 201 was: (A) Upon what various factors depends the amount of bending of light rays when they pass from air to glass, or vice versa? (B) Explain just why ray C in accompanying diagram is not bent at all in passing through the lens; why ray C is bent more than ray B; why there will be a greater loss of light in Ray C than in rays A and B; and what may serve to alter the losses incident to the passage of all three rays. (C) For all practical purposes, on what may projectionists assume the amount of bending or refraction of light rays passing through a lens, will depend?

The following made good: G. E. Doe; S. Evans and C. Rau; J. Wentworth; D. Danielson; B. Doe; H. H. Menefee; T. VanVaulkenburg; H. Edwards; R. DeTotto; H. D. Schofield; G. Tinlin; J. J. Richmon; P. Gaeth, Jr.; B. L. Tanner and E. Rymer; B. Diglah and P. Jackson; L. D. Stellegos and G. Wayne; C. D. Carmody; D. C. Coates; D. Goldberg and L. Hutch; M. C. Mellinger and H. Pitchkey; B. Ilers; J. T. Ballinger and D. L. Mason; D. Holler and D. R. Peters; W. and S. F. Love; L. Biello, R. K. Hart, H. E. Daniels and R. S. Conrad; R. S. Allen and N. Williams; S. Carberry; O. L. Evans; C. F. Davis and P. Conforti; T. H. and J. N. Williams; T. L. Edwards; H. C. Lake; K. M. Dart; D. L. Sinklow; H. D. Schofield; D. U. Granger; D. R. Bainbridge and S. Peterson; D. Forman; H. May and D. N. Anderson; P. L. Wheeler and M. Scully; J. H. Rathburn and D. Little; G. S. Bowers; M. J. Conroy; S. L. Jones and P. L. Sanborn; R. Leroy and T. L. Albert; P. L. Lathrop; G. H. Henderson and P. H. Harrison; T. R. Richards and H. Schontz; G. Farmann; D. L. Howard; B. L. Stephens; M. Simms and O. L. Daris; G. Johnson and N. T. Kane; R. Wheeler and R. Suler; G. Bagby; C. Abrams and E. F. Griffin; L. Jones; A. Sarno and H. B. Roth; P. R. Dual; R. McDonald; L. H. Danville and R. H. Patterson; H. C. Lake; F. Darris and F. T. Thompson; F. T. Dannella; T. L. Turk and R. O. Davis; T. Kelley and C. Cummings; D. H. Samuels and R. Byrker; S. L. Holmes, R. Dorfel and J. E. Smith.

Here is what G. E. Doe has to say about Section A: "The factors upon which the amount of bending rays will receive in passing from air to glass, or vice versa, are (1) the angle at which the ray meets the medium into which it is to pass, and (2) the refractive index of the glass, which in effect means the difference in optical density as between the two mediums. Glass of different sorts, (flint and crown, for example) do not all have the same optical density."

Incidentally, a number of you, whom I have credited as correct, will do well to examine the above rather closely.

(B) Messrs. D. Holler and D. R. Peters say: "Ray C meets the glass surface at right angles, or as opticians say, "perpendicular to its surface," hence there will be no refraction, as the law governing such matters says there will be no refraction except the ray meet the surface at an oblique angle when passing from a medium of one density to a medium of another density. The loss to ray A would be slight, and entirely due to reflection and absorption, the latter by the glass medium.

"Ray C is bent or refracted more than ray B for the reason that it meets the lens surface at a greater angle than does ray B. Ray C will encounter more loss than either of the other rays for the reason that, due to meeting the lens surface at a greater angle, the reflection loss will be greater. Rays A and B will have greater absorption loss than ray C because they must pass through more glass, but absorption losses are relatively negligible as compared with losses by reflection.

"Losses incident to passage of all three rays which may be altered by circumstances are (a) unclean lens surfaces, (b) poorly polished lens surfaces, (c) excessive lens thickness, (d) poor quality of glass, (e) discoloration in lens, (f) alteration of angle of incidence, (g) alteration in quality of incident light, though possibly that latter is not admissible."

(C) Messrs. Evans and Rau say "The amount of refraction light rays will receive in passing through any lens will largely depend upon the angle at which the lens surface is met, though the refractive index of the glass itself has considerable effect."

NEED NOT FEAR TO ANSWER WRONG

D. Calladine of the Marpole theatre in Vancouver, B. C., asks for the question and answers mentioned in a recent issue, and adds, "I am a second-class projectionist working in the Marpole. Am hoping to get a first-class license in June.

"I find the Bluebook very easy to understand. At first, with no knowledge of projection practice, it was difficult, but I soon found that by reading any given section a few times the matter became clear. The question index also was a great help. By reviewing each section and answering the questions mentally, I kept my small stock of knowledge up-to-date.

"Have often considered entering the Bluebook School, but have feared I have not yet sufficient knowledge to make good in written answers. I really consider myself as sadly lacking. Don't like being laughed at any more than any one else. However, I think I will take a crack at them, whether the answers are right or not."

What Mr. Calladine has said convinces me that he will be a fine projectionist. We need men who don't "know it all." There are right now entirely too many of the know-it-alls. I commend him to the attention of my union, Local 348 (honorary gold card member). Calladine sent in one Bluebook School answer which was a very good one. However, he won't be in any degree "laughed at" if some answers are wrong. No one but I will know that and my laughter is expended not on the man who tries and makes mistakes, but on the ingrowing jackass who won't try.

WABASH AVENUE

CHICAGO

Sam Horowitz is the new branch manager at the United Artists exchange. Horowitz comes here from Kansas City, where he was connected with the United Artists Mid West division. Steve Montgomery has been made country sales manager.

▽

Janet Gaynor gave a party for the press at the Blackstone last Friday and under the guidance of Clyde Eckhardt entertained the critics. Among others attending were Mr. and Mrs. John Balaban and Mr. and Mrs. William K. Hollander. The diminutive Fox star's next picture is "Caroline." She has been visiting "dozens of cousins" here and is headed for a brief vacation in New York.

▽

Charlie Leonard of the United Artists home office is in town in connection with publicity and exploitation plans for "Gallant Lady," which opened at the United Artists Wednesday.

▽

Allied exhibitors who failed to take any action on signing the code at a recent meeting will get together again prior to the January 31st deadline. Aaron Saperstein is emphatic in declaring that this is one action in which the association will not advise exhibitors one way or the other.

▽

The mother and father of Irving Stacel of the Elston theatre suffered serious injuries in an automobile accident near Evansville, Ind. Both are confined to a hospital. They were headed for a Florida vacation at the time of the mishap.

▽

Frye and Mouench, who operate the Tivoli and Colonial in Danville, have taken over the Princess theatre at Centralia, Ill.

▽

Ross Bros. have just completed installation of a modern Neon sign and new seats at the Majestic, Joliet.

▽

Great States is reopening the Rialto at Peoria after an extensive remodeling program.

▽

F. J. Meehan of the home office was here for several days conferring with H. D. Charness of Advance Film Company.

▽

Johnny Mednikow is back from a trip to New York, bringing with him a line of attractive lobby display frames for Master Art productions.

▽

Boots McLaughlin, former manager of the Glen Ellyn theatre at Glen Ellyn, has opened the Idle Hour theatre at Rossville, Ill.

▽

There's no depression with A. B. McCullom, who operates theatres in Hoopeston, Fairbury, Clinton, Paxton and Dwight. He has taken over the Star at Watseka, Ill., and according to reports is spending $10,000 to put this house in A1 shape for opening in February.

▽

Film Row was saddened to learn of the death of the mother of Lou Dreher, Fox booker.

▽

Jim Steininger has sold the Crane theatre on Archer avenue to H. Burdine.

HOLQUIST

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of January 13

CAPITOL
Carrie Jacobs Bond.....Master Art

CRITERION
The Cure.....RKO Radio
King Neptune.....United Artists

HOLLYWOOD
Samoan Memories.....Vitaphone
Notre Dame Glee Club....Vitaphone
Gypsy Caravan.....Vitaphone

MAYFAIR
Meeting Mazie.....Universal
March of the Years—No. 3.Columbia

PARAMOUNT
Keeps Rainin' All the Time.Paramount
Paramount Pictorial—No. 5.Paramount
Hollywood on Parade—No. 5.Paramount

RKO MUSIC HALL
Strange Case of Hennessy..RKO Radio
Who Said the Weaker Sex?.Columbia

RIALTO
Sea Killers.....Principal
Keeps Rainin' All the Time.Paramount
Paramount Pictorial—No. 5.Paramount

RIVOLI
London Medley.....Fox
Three Little Pigs (Spanish).United Artists

ROXY
Pied Piper.....United Artists
Insect Clowns.....Principal
Static .....Educational

STRAND
Picture Palace.....Vitaphone
Song Hits.....Vitaphone
Buddy's Show Boat.....Vitaphone

A STATEMENT

YOU no doubt have read of my resignation from Radio City. Because I am leaving for a brief rest it has been impossible to communicate with many of my friends in the motion picture industry.

Therefore, I am taking this means of expressing to them my very great appreciation for the loyalty and the warm personal friendship shown me.

To my staff, to the executives in the industry and to all the other fine men and women in this business whom I am proud to call my frinds, I write this note of thanks and gratitude for the pleasant relations which have been my good fortune to enjoy, and which I am sure will continue.

For the present all communications should be addressed to me at 115 Central Park West, New York City.

Sincerely,

J. C. Jenkins--His Colyum

Neligh, Nebraska

DEAR HERALD:

Well, boys, we are going to try it. We don't know how far we will get, since we are just able to sit up to this typewriter, but if the piano, radio and other objects don't get to chasing one another around the room, as they have been doing, we might get quite a piece.

Every old lady in the community has been in to see us and everyone has had a positive remedy to cure our ills, none of which we have taken because all of our spare time is taken up by the Doc.

What worries us considerable is our inability to answer personally the many letters we are getting from you boys. To do that would require an able-bodied citizen who was strong enough to throw a bull over the fence by the tail with one hand, and this ain't no bull. About all we can do is to reply briefly to some of the letters here in this Colyum. And if you fail to see your name mentioned, just remember that space and our ability to sit up and pound this machine is the reason, but that your letters are none the less appreciated, and because we don't answer all of you personally is not a sufficient excuse for your not writing.

We have been outside of the house just twice since before Christmas, and then only for a short time and with a guardian, and that hasn't been so good, but you remember that John McAmily said to Emet Bonlore, when he was elected Justice of the Peace, "Emet, they just can't keep a good man down."

Our son and his wife from Wyoming have been here with us for two weeks and we are trying to hold them over for another week, but they think the Burlington railroad won't run unless they are back on the job. When we were state game warden some years ago we thought there wouldn't be any game left should we quit the job, but the office is still open and the ducks, chickens, grouse, geese and other game are still flying, so you see that, in this day and age, where one man isn't half as good as two, it don't make much difference.

▽

Foolish Fish

From away up north in northern Minnesota where the mercury has been down to 40 below this winter, Andy Anderson of the State theatre, Detroit Lakes, our old cell mate, writes us and says he wants us to hurry up and get well and come up there and catch a lot of fish through the ice on the lakes. Say, Andy, any fish that will bite when it's 40 below must have a tapeworm. However, we thank you for your invitation and good wishes. Please remember us to the Mrs. and Herb.

▽

Down in Greenleaf, Kansas, is a guy who runs the Elie theatre. We called on him last fall and found him to be the busiest man in Kansas. His name is Walter Hohlfeld. Walter told us he would send us a check to renew his subscription to the HERALD. He did, just sent it, and that's why we say that those Jayhawkers are 100% plus. Walter shoots straight from the shoulder and seldom misses the mark.

▽

Wichita, Kansas, has the best cameraman west of Hoboken. He goes by the name of F. A. Wesly. He writes us that he can't get along without the HERALD (none of 'em can), and he also says he reads our Colyum, which indicates that he can't be very busy. Thanks, F. A., for your renewal. Good luck to you.

▽

If you ever go to Davenport, Nebraska, stop and call on John R. Westcott, who operates the theatre, and try and cool him down. John is sore at us because we came within 30 miles of him and didn't call on him, but he sends in his renewal for the HERALD and says he can't get along without it. He hopes we get better. So do we, John. Thanks for your good letter and your renewal. May prosperity shine upon you.

▽

Hollywood is on the job, too. Joseph N. Quillan sends us a long letter and thanks us for having said something in this Colyum some time ago about his son Eddie. We don't remember what it was, but we hope it was something good and we doubt if it was half good enough. Eddie is all right and so is his father. Thanks, Mr. Quillan, for your letter. Give Eddie our kindest regards. We hope he makes a ten strike every time he plays.

▽

W. M. Dennis of the American Seating Company writes us from Phoenix, Arizona, and says if we ever get down there to be sure to look him up. He says he'll bet we are a real guy. Tut, tut, Bill, you must have been drinking. You bet we will. We wouldn't want to miss you. Good luck, old-timer.

▽

But Where Was Don?

Don Bloxham of the Iowa theatre at Sheldon, Iowa, says he saw our car in Sheldon but didn't see us. Well, we were there, Don, but where were you? Don says he likes the HERALD immensely and our Colyum—well, we will omit that. Good boy, Don, thanks for your letter.

▽

We wish John Cosner of the Sun theatre at Sargent, Nebraska, would behave himself. He writes us about his fishing trips. Done, no doubt, to cheer us up, but how can that cheer us when we can't get out of the house? Shame on you, John, but you are all right just the same. Good luck, old boy.

▽

Well, that will be all for this time. We've got to quit now before the furniture starts whirling around again.

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS
The HERALD's Vagabond Colyumnist

General Pictures Handle Jungle Film, Sub-sea Novelty

General Pictures Exchange, Inc., will distribute a jungle picture, "Found Alive," throughout New York's metropolitan area, according to an announcement from Phil Meyer, president, this week.

General Pictures also will distribute a two-reel novelty, "Freak Fish of the Seven Seas." The company also has acquired distribution rights throughout New York state for the Pyramid Productions' series of 12 feature releases.

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

IN this, the exhibitor's own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me

MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

Allied

ONE YEAR LATER: Mary Brian, Russell Hopton—This play was fair. Mary Brian had almost been forgotten here. Quite a few of the older patrons liked her acting but the kids did not care for this play. It was too sad. What we need now is laughter and gayety. Played December 19-20.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. Small town patronage.

Columbia

ANN CARVER'S PROFESSION: Fay Wray—Very fine picture. Business fair.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

BRIEF MOMENT: Carole Lombard, Gene Raymond—Good, but not the type picture for our community. Business terrible.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

CALIFORNIA TRAIL, THE: Buck Jones—This is a very good western picture and one that will please any western fan. Full of action and a good story. This is one of the best westerns we have played in some time, but all of Jones' pictures are good and Columbia seems to have the best westerns on the market. Played one day to a very good business and pleased one hundred per cent. Running time, 67 minutes. Played Dec. 23.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

CALIFORNIA TRAIL, THE: Buck Jones—Fine western. Brought them in.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

CHILD OF MANHATTAN: Nancy Carroll, John Boles—A good picture marred by some poor recording. Had a comedy that could not be used because of poor recording. Very unfortunate when there is a full house. Played Jan. 3-4.—Mrs. George Thomsen, Garden Theatre, Arthur, Ill. Small town patronage.

COCKTAIL HOUR: Bebe Daniels, Randolph Scott—This is a very good little picture, nothing big, but a swell program picture. It is a comedy romance of a girl who preferred freedom rather than marriage and a husband to protect her, but in the end she took the husband. We certainly have had some excellent features from Columbia, but the shorts are terrible. Played one day to a very good business. Running time, 74 minutes. Played Dec. 27.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

EAST OF FIFTH AVENUE: Wallace Ford, Mary Carlisle—This is a fair picture, poor entertainment. It is a dramatic romance with a study of two kinds of love. This is not up to the standard from Columbia and if you must play it, play it on a bargain day and get it over. We played it on our bargain day. Practically our entire audience thought it a poor picture. Business only fair. Running time, 76 minutes. Played Dec. 22.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

FURY OF THE JUNGLE: Peggy Shannon, Donald Cook—This is only fair entertainment of the jungle type. Practically the entire picture is set in the jungle and did not go over well here. Columbia has given us some good pictures this season, but here is one that did not click at the box-office. If you have to play it, put it on bargain day and get it over. We played it on bargain day to only a fair business. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Dec. 29.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

KING OF THE WILD HORSES: Rex the horse—Very good picture. A dandy show for Friday-Saturday. It's clean. Running time, 65 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

MAN OF ACTION: Tim McCoy—Good western that pleased Saturday night crowds. Nothing unusual, however. Business fairly good. Running time, eight reels. Played Dec. 8-9.—Don R. Stevenson, Star Theatre, Williamson, N. Y. Small town patronage.

MASTER OF MEN: Jack Holt, Fay Wray—A regular Jack Holt picture. Plenty of action. Running time, 68 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

MASTER OF MEN: Jack Holt—Just an ordinary program picture. No business.—M. F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

TREASON: Buck Jones—Used this one on bargain night with very good results. Sound on film excellent. Played Jan. 3.—M. F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

WHAT PRICE INNOCENCE? Willard Mack, Jean Parker—This is another of the sex pictures but with restraint. However, it is a good picture and presents a good moral. There is no vulgarity or cheapness, but a straightforward story. This one should be played in every theatre in the country. We played it on a midnight show and most of the audience were displeased because of the moral it taught. Business good. Running time, 64 minutes. Played Dec. 24.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

WHAT PRICE INNOCENCE? Jean Parker, Willard Mack—This kind of picture don't mean a thing to us. Just another of the specials.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

WHIRLWIND: Tim McCoy—Splendid western that brought three big houses and sent them away pleased, which is more important than getting them in. Played Jan. 5-6.—Mrs. George Thomsen, Garden Theatre, Arthur, Ill. Small town patronage.

WRECKER, THE: Jack Holt, Genevieve Tobin—Here is another good picture from Columbia; nothing big, but good program material. It is a drama of a different type from the usual Holt picture. Just the type of show that will please the average theatregoer. A little action and excellent acting by the leads. Included in the supporting cast are Sidney Blackmer and George E. Stone. Played one day to good business. Running time, 72 minutes. Played January 5.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

First National

CABIN IN THE COTTON: Richard Barthelmess—After seeing the trailer on this one, I was a little bit scared that there was going to be too much Southern dialect in it, to put it over up here in North Dakota, where men are men, and women are glad of it. I was agreeably surprised, however. It's a great show, with lots of action and a peach of a story.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Mining and country patronage.

CENTRAL AIRPORT: Richard Barthelmess—The best airplane picture that we have ever shown. Many favorable comments from our patrons. Business only fair. Played Des. 31-Jan. 1.—M. F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

FEMALE: Ruth Chatterton, George Brent—Here is a very good picture, really a surprise. It is not gigantic, but is clean, clever entertainment from start to finish. It is a comedy drama, and by far the best picture in which Chatterton has starred. A few more like this one and she will regain her popularity again. Good entertainment for the whole family. We played this Christmas day to a good business. Running time, 60 minutes. Played Dec. 24.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

GOODBYE AGAIN: Warren William, Joan Blondell—Another good picture about a single man staying all night with a married woman. I would suggest that you tie up with a cafe. Put in a display with a card reading, "After you have spent the night with a married woman, get your breakfast here instead of having her cook it like Warren William did in 'Goodbye Again' now at the blank theatre."—H. G. Stettmund, Jr., H. & S. Theatre, Chandler, Okla. Small town patronage.

GOODBYE AGAIN: Joan Blondell, Warren William—Poorest feature Warner's have made. Played it on Sunday and starved.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

HAVANA WIDOWS: Joan Blondell, Lyle Talbot—I have no way of knowing the drawing power of this picture as it was our New Year's attraction, and we were packed to the doors, but everyone who I talked to said it was swell entertainment. It's as full of good hearty laughs as any picture released by Warner this year. The cast, sound, photography and story are all A-1. Good picture. Played Jan. 1.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

LILY TURNER: Ruth Chatterton—Fair Chatterton is poor draw for us.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

LITTLE GIANT, THE: Edward G. Robinson—Very good entertainment that did average business.—Robt. K. Yancey, Paradise Theatre, Cotter, Ark. Railroad and general patronage.

LITTLE GIANT, THE: Edward G. Robinson—An excellent picture, but did not gross film rental in two days. The worst business that we have had in months. Played Dec. 25-26.—M. F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

SHE HAD TO SAY YES: Loretta Young—Fair. Title poor. Doesn't mean a thing. No business.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

TENDERFOOT, THE: Joe E. Brown—Played this one as a Boy Scout benefit. Although old, I had a very nice print. The show did not draw at all. Partly on account of adverse weather conditions. Would rate it about an average for Joe E.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD: Frankie Darro—We use Warner's trailers on all their pictures, as well as First National, and find that they pay handsome profits. Frankie Darro in this picture gives a great performance. By all means play it and boost it.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Mining and country patronage.

YOU SAID A MOUTHFUL: Joe E. Brown—Did not think quite as good as "Elmer the Great," but those that commented liked it better. Certainly rates as a very good comedy. For some unknown reason, business was not good on this, but it did go over very well.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

YOU SAID A MOUTHFUL: Joe E. Brown—Joe E. Brown's best in a long time. Enjoyed by all, but attendance was very small. Played Dec. 29-30.—M. F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

Fox

BEST OF ENEMIES: Frank Morgan—Easily the best program picture Fox made last year. In fact, I would rate it above most of their socalled specials. Audience was simply delighted with it. I have noted Frank Morgan as the star rather than Charles Rogers and Marian Nixon. Those of you who have seen this will back me up in this. Exhibitors playing Fox product—if you haven't used this, get busy and set it in in place of any of the new programers.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

BEST OF ENEMIES: Marian Nixon, Charles Rogers—Had to put the chain up at 7:30. Could not seat the second house. Acting good. True to life. A pity that there was so much beer in it, but the human appeal reaches people's hearts. Played Dec. 29-30.—Mrs. George Thomsen, Garden Theatre, Arthur, Ill. Small town patronage.

BEST OF ENEMIES: Charles Rogers, Marian Nixon—Very fine feature. Rogers deserves a break.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

CALL HER SAVAGE: Clara Bow—Too old to do any business. I should have known better than set this in at this date, but I believe better old and good, than new and punk. It is a very good picture. Robt. K. Yancey, Paradise Theatre, Cotter, Ark. Railroad and general patronage.

DEVIL'S IN LOVE, THE: Victor Jory, Loretta Young—Just another picture. No cast names and no business. A one day picture or for use on double program, if you use them. Played Jan. 3-4.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

I LOVED YOU WEDNESDAY: Warner Baxter, Elissa Landi—Terrible. Landi is a complete washout.

Business poor.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

I LOVED YOU WEDNESDAY: Elissa Landi, Warner Baxter—A flop picture delivered in place of and at the same price as Gaynor-Farrell. I haven't read a favorable report on this subject from any exhibitor—and I wonder why? Played Nov. 27-28.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

IT'S GREAT TO BE ALIVE: Edna May Oliver, Raul Roulien—Nothing to this. Too silly. Running time, 72 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

IT'S GREAT TO BE ALIVE: Raul Roulien—Fairly good musical but suffers in comparison to some of the new musicals. Raul Roulien doesn't mean a thing here. Business very poor. Running time, eight reels. Played Dec. 15-16.—Don R. Stevenson, Star Theatre, Williamson, N. Y. Small town patronage.

LIFE IN THE RAW: George O'Brien—One of the most entertaining Zane Grey's ever brought to the screen. We have played them all, so feel that we are entitled to make that remark. This show has everything in it to make it a 100 per cent-er for the small town. Even the usual "western haters" praised this show. One of the village wisecrackers, when buying his ticket, asked: "Is this here one of them new nudist pictures?"—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

LIFE IN THE RAW: George O'Brien—Great western. Pleased 100 per cent. George O'Brien and Zane Grey always do. Marvelous scenery. Business was not so good, however. Running time, seven reels. Played Dec. 29-30.—Don R. Stevenson, Star Theatre, Williamson, N. Y. Small town patronage.

LIFE IN THE RAW: George O'Brien—Excellent for small town or country patrons. Held interest of our people all the way through. Good all-around production. Played Dec. 9.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. General country patronage.

LIFE IN THE RAW: George O'Brien—Didn't get to see this subject, but it drew well, and seemed to please all, so what else matters. Most all Zane Grey subjects are popular here. They're always clean, full of action, with the necessary amount of romance to satisfy all comers. Played Dec. 22-23.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

MAN WHO DARED, THE: Ralph Morgan, Zita Johann—Didn't see this one as I knew I was going to be disappointed (by reports) financially, so didn't care to be personally, too. Tried to put this one over with an extra array of good shorts, but in spite of it all, it established a new low for the sinkers of the year. Cast it aside, as you can make more money closed for two nights than by showing it. Played Dec. 11-12.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

MR. SKITCH: Will Rogers, Zasu Pitts—Exceptionally good, interesting, and enjoyed by all who saw it. Shots in Yellowstone Park and Grand Canyon give it a wonderful scenic background.—H. G. Stettmund, Jr., H. & S. Theatre, Chandler, Okla. Small town patronage.

OLSEN'S BIG MOMENT: El Brendel, Walter Catlett—Catlett shares the honors with Brendel, if any, for this six reel drunk spree. One day will be enough, and give them plenty of serious shorts. Fine for double billing. Running time, 63 minutes.—M. P. Foster, New Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

PILGRIMAGE: Henrietta Crosman—After reading the reviews of various small town exhibitors, I ran this with hesitance. Found it to be an excellent production and it pleased my audience very much. Second night's business almost as much as the first. If you do not get what you should out of this picture, it is not the fault of the producer, as it will please any reasonable audience. Played Dec. 29-30.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Small town patronage.

POWER AND THE GLORY, THE: Spencer Tracy, Colleen Moore—Another big super-special that will flop at any small town theatre anywhere. Why the producers continue to produce these type subjects is beyond me. Why can't someone introduce "What the Picture Did for Me" to all of the producers. Maybe they could visualize what type pictures pay. Played Jan. 1-2.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

SAILORS' LUCK: James Dunn, Sally Eilers—Fair.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

TESS OF THE STORM COUNTRY: Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell—They all turned out to see this one. Turned people away on this one, had to put chairs down the aisle to take care of what I did. It's a great little show, many good comments.—Robt. K. Yancey, Paradise Theatre, Cotter, Ark. Railroad and general patronage.

WARRIOR'S HUSBAND: Elissa Landi—Fairly good for our patrons. Some comedy, but somewhat exaggerated. Just a medium production. Played Nov. 18.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. General country patronage.

ZOO IN BUDAPEST: Loretta Young, Gene Raymond—Good picture of its kind. Different from the regular run of pictures. It's clean. Running time, 78 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

MGM

BEAUTY FOR SALE: Madge Evans, Otto Kruger—Good program feature. Didn't get any extra business.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD: Alice Brady, Frank Morgan—Very good. Had fine cast; helped box office.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

CHIEF, THE: Ed Wynn—Ran this one night and broke two house records, one for low attendance mark and the other for walk-outs. The old P. T. Barnum philosophy may have been true in its day but you can't fool them any more even if you wanted to. I should have taken a tip from this column and paid off and shelved it. At that a certain portion of my audience, perhaps 25 per cent, enjoyed it very much. Played January 1.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Small town patronage.

DANCING LADY: Joan Crawford, Clark Gable—A great picture. Crawford had slipped here, but this one certainly will not do her any harm anywhere. A good musical with superb setting.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

GOING HOLLYWOOD: Marion Davies, Bing Crosby—Here is one fine musical picture. Also did above average business.—Robt. K. Yancey, Paradise Theatre, Cotter, Ark. Railroad and general patronage.

HER SWEETHEART: Marie Dressler, Lionel Barrymore—Failed to click here. Comments unfavorable. Second night business terrible. Not a bad picture but below average for Dressler and Barrymore.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

HOLD YOUR MAN: Jean Harlow, Clark Gable—This is a dandy show, snappy, a little risque, but just what the folks want. We did a nice business and our patrons liked it.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Mining and country patronage.

MEET THE BARON: Jack Pearl, Jimmy Durante—Silly comedy. Would have made a fair two reel comedy possibly. Business below average first day. Hardly anyone came out the second night.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

MIDNIGHT MARY: Loretta Young, Ricardo Cortez—Every minute of it was enjoyed. Held interest for everyone. Business good.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

NIGHT FLIGHT: Helen Hayes, John Barrymore—A lot of good stars wasted with no apparent reason except for their box office value, and they will not have that long unless they are kept out of pictures in which they have nothing to do. As good an air picture as any of them, but my people do not want air pictures, it seems.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

PENTHOUSE: Warner Baxter, Myrna Loy—This is a very good picture and one that pleased all who saw it. This is a drama with romance with a story twist that makes it different. This is the first picture we have played from Metro's new group, but if the others are as good as this, it will be a "banner year" for them. Here's hoping they won't disappoint the exhibitors. Played two days to good business. Running time, 91 minutes. Played Jan. 1-2.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY, THE: Max Baer, Myrna Loy, Walter Huston—An excellent production in every respect. Even the ladies liked it in spite of the fights. Baer has a wonderful personality and this picture should go over big everywhere. One of the best pictures I have run in a long time. Business very satisfactory.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

STORM AT DAYBREAK: Kay Francis, Walter Huston—Did fair business.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhod patronage.

STRANGER'S RETURN, THE: Lionel Barrymore—Good cast and splendid story. Did good business. Played Sept. 3-4-5.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery—Dressler and Beery in a "whale" of a good show. They will get you business anywhere and anytime. Played December 14-16.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Mining and country patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery—Good. Drags them in.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhod patronage.

TURN BACK THE CLOCK: Lee Tracy, Mae Clarke—This is a comedy drama of the most unusual type. Tracy is the whole show, so if your patrons like him this will go over big. Here his name means nothing. Personally, I think it only fair entertainment which goes back twenty years. Practically the entire picture takes place while Tracy is under the influence of ether. Played on a midnight show to good business. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Dec. 31.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

WHEN LADIES MEET: Ann Harding, Robert Montgomery—This picture was a little bit too sophisticated for our patrons, but in spite of this, it went over fine. Ann Harding is great, and Myrna Loy gives a great performance. Fifty per cent of your audience will say "It's great," and the other will say "Not bad."—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Mining and country patronage.

WHEN LADIES MEET: Robert Montgomery, Ann Harding—This is a fair picture of the comedy drama type. The plot is the eternal love triangle. The settings in this picture are entirely too much the same. The two leading ladies stay in the same room and talk about the same thing entirely too much. The above is the comment of my audience and personally I agree with them. Played one day to a good business. Running time, 85 minutes. Played Dec. 26.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

L. RACHMIL
Rachmil-Katz Theatres
Brooklyn New York

I. KATZ
Rachmil-Katz Theatres
Brooklyn, New York

WHEN LADIES MEET: Ann Harding—Good picture. Too upstage for our patrons. No business.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

Monogram

BROKEN DREAMS: Randolph Scott, Martha Sleeper—And still another good picture from Monogram, an independent producer, and they say an independent cannot make a good picture. This is one of the finest pictures we have played in many weeks and one that pleased everyone who saw it. It is a drama with an appealing story and good entertainment for the whole family. Buster Phelps practically stole the entire picture. Business good. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Dec. 20.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

FLAMING PASSION: Another one of those sex pictures. Just a fair picture for those that go for this kind of stuff. Sound fair. Played Dec. 22.—M. F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

HE COULDN'T TAKE IT: Ray Walker, Virginia Cherrill—Contemplating what successful achievement in motion picture entertainment would follow present specials, exhibitors will receive a most welcome surprise when screening "He Couldn't Take It," and will declare it as one of the finest comedy productions created by Monogram to strike this territory, which can assure keen competition with some of the foremost major releases without giving ground to its rivals. Concentrating chiefly on Ray Walker's recent performance, the screen writers have built a role similar to the last and inserted additional dialogue with snappy comedy giving him a wider range. Playing opposite is the charming personality, Virginia Cherrill, who deserves due credit for the manner in which she upholds her portion of the cast. George E. Stone and Dorothy Granger are the other main factors in the film. Banishing all amateurism in their newly acquired successes, Monogram is endeavoring to prove their symbol "M. P. C." does not merely indicate their brand but their personal guarantee symbol verifying all pictures produced by that corporation. The picture will stand the test to practically all opposition, with some exceptions. Running time, 65 minutes. Played January 7-8-9.—William Dabb, Lyric Theatre, Shenandoah, Pa. Small town patronage.

PHANTOM BROADCAST: Ralph Forbes—Best independent we have run. Fair business.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

SIXTEEN FATHOMS DEEP: Sally O'Neil, Creighton Chaney—This is a fair picture of the action type. However, it is entirely too slow. It is an action drama tinged with romance and the locale is among the sponge reefs and practically all of the action takes place on or below the sea. This is the type of show for Saturday in the small towns and will go over good on Saturday. Hoping the next will be better. Played to a good business. Running time, 57 minutes. Played Dec. 30.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SPHINX, THE: Lionel Atwill—Very poor mystery. Holds no interest. No business. Played Nov. 29.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

Paramount

BIG EXECUTIVE: Ricardo Cortez, Elizabeth Young—A good clean program picture that fell short at the box office. Richard Bennett also turns out a splendid performance. Played Dec. 27-28.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

CRADLE SONG: Dorothea Wieck—This is one of the sweetest pictures I have ever had the pleasure of screening in this theatre. However, in the small towns it will not go over well without the help of some church, preferably the Catholic church. The story and acting is wonderful and although it will not appeal to the masses, there are many who appreciate a picture of this type. Played one day to good business. Running time, 77 minutes. Played Jan 4.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

CRADLE SONG: Dorothea Wieck—Too slow to suit my people. Very poor business on a holiday date. Some of the women liked it. She may be a great actress, but she got a poor send-off for my town. D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

CRADLE SONG: Dorothea Wieck, Kent Taylor—Poor play for this town. Too much Catholic stuff for a small Protestant community. Might be a great play in the city but a total loss here. Running time, 77 minutes. Played December 26-27.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. Small town patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—These boys are worn out in my town. Every one of their pictures does less business than the one before.—D. B. Fiske, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—I do not know whether I have reported on this subject before or not, but it don't make much difference anyway. This picture is average entertainment, and at average price would be satisfactory. The picture is fair, but in my opinion not so good as the others. We lost money on it because it did not draw, and only pleased mildly. Played December 15-16.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

THAT'S WHAT THEY ALL SAY

"I find the 'What the Picture Did for Me' section of the HERALD to be of great value, especially since it has been so greatly enlarged by the cooperation of so many exhibitors, and want to thank you for building up this section for the exhibitor as you have," writes D. B. Fiske of the Fiske theatre at Oak Grove, Louisiana.

"In return for the benefit I have received from this section, I am listing my criticism on a few pictures I have played recently, with the hope that other exhibitors may be benefited thereby."

Wherewith Fiske sends in ten reports, appearing in this issue.

EAGLE AND THE HAWK, THE: Fredric March, Carole Lombard—Few women patrons. This picture had been run near us with plenty squawks, as this is just war air stuff, and not the thing for Fredric March, Carole Lombard and Cary Grant. Would say the fault is that the players are miscast, as far as the box office is concerned, as their patrons expect a love story well mounted with class. M. P. Foster, New Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

GIRL WITHOUT A ROOM: Marguerite Churchill, Charles Farrell, Charles Ruggles—A fair comedy romance with plenty of laughs. Did good business and pleased. A little hot in spots, but that seems to be what they want.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST: Richard Arlen, Chester Morris, Genevieve Tobin—Here's another fine subject from Paramount that is music to any small town exhibitor. It's timely, lively and a great piece of entertainment. Boost it aplenty and you can stand safely in the lobby after the performance. Our tenth one from above company and not a lemon yet. Played Jan. 5-6.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST: Richard Arlen, Genevieve Tobin—Great for rural patronage if you stress the striking farmer wanting a "New Deal." As good as "The Stranger's Return," but not so much comedy. Go after the farmers on this, they'll eat it up.—M. P. Foster, New Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

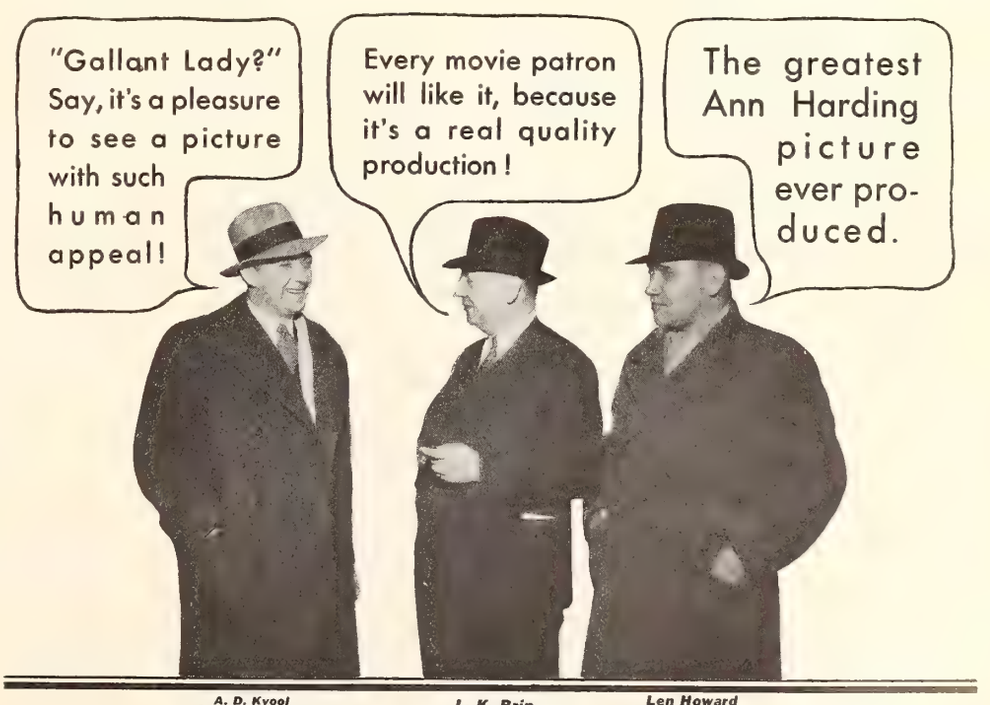
I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West—Did the best business of the year on this one. Whether they like her or not they all come out to see her. The church people clamor for clean pictures, but they all come out to see Mae West and stay away from a clean, sweet picture like "The Cradle Song."—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West—Here's one that will start 'em coming and keep 'em coming. Ole May is surely in a class all her own and this Cary Grant is very good support. Good business and no kick. That's what makes the living better. Played Nov. 30-Dec. 1-2.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn.

LONE COWBOY: Jackie Cooper—Ran this on Family Night and it pleased everybody. Better than average business. Played January 2.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Small town patronage.

MAMA LOVES PAPA: Charles Ruggles—This certainly can rate no better than a satisfactory midweek programer. Lots of laughs, and a few mentioned the fact that they enjoyed it. Title should have drawn in extra business. It didn't though. In fact, the gross was off a few points.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

MAN OF THE FOREST: Randolph Scott—This drew more nice compliments than most of the so-called specials. Certainly a dandy outdoor picture for all classes. Even the highbrows were pleased. Drew above average during the week before Christmas, which is usually one of the worst weeks of the year. Zane Greys are always good bets, and this one is exceptional.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.



ONE SUNDAY AFTERNOON: Gary Cooper, Fay Wray—Good play, good patronage. The weather was cold or we would have done better. Gary Cooper is a great drawing card. This play was quite humorous and that is what makes the hit these days. Running time, 85 minutes. Played Dec. 12-13.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. Small town patronage.

SITTING PRETTY: Jack Oakie, Ginger Rogers—A good musical show. Not as elaborate as some but a pleasing story and good music. Everyone liked it. Business good.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

SONG OF SONGS: Marlene Dietrich—A good picture with only fair business. It certainly looks like Paramount could give this star some masculine support once in a while. The statue scenes were a little overdone I thought, and this is another for adult consumption only. Played Dec. 4-5.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

SONG OF THE EAGLE: Charles Bickford, Richard Arlen—Very well liked, but no draw. A very timely subject.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

SUNSET PASS: Randolph Scott, Tom Keene—I used this for my fifth anniversary show here. It does not rate as high as most of the Zane Greys have this year. Nothing particularly wrong with it, however. Being heavily advertised it did draw some extra business.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

A. D. Kvool, General Manager, Saxe Circuit, Milwaukee, Wis. — L. K. Brin, New Garden Theatre, Milwaukee, Wis. — Len Howard, Princess Theatre, Milwaukee, Wis.

TAKE A CHANCE: James Dunn, June Knight, Cliff Edwards—Extra good musical with comedy. A good number of popular songs they have all heard on the radio. Did turn away business both nights.—Robt. K. Yancey, Paradise Theatre, Cotter, Ark. Railroad and general patronage.

TAKE A CHANCE: James Dunn, June Knight, Cliff Edwards—This is a very good musical comedy; however, a little too much comedy for the average theatregoer. A light musical with a touch of romance, comedy and spectacle that make it a backstage story. Cliff Edwards plays and sings one song that seemed to please everyone. We played this one day, just before Christmas, to a good business and pleased about 90 per cent. Running time, 82 minutes. Played Dec. 21.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

TAKE A CHANCE: James Dunn, June Knight—A little naughty for some, depending on your patronage, but they get plenty of laughs. Cliff Edwards and Lillian Roth steal the show. June Knight fair, James Dunn ordinary, good songs, very little revue dancing, less plot, but we did good New Year's.—M. P. Foster, New Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

THIS DAY AND AGE: Richard Cromwell, Judith Allen, Charles Bickford—The usual DeMille production. However, is more in keeping with present times. A good lively production that demands attention, though it failed to arouse any extra business here. This new girl, Judith Allen, will "bear watching"; she's very easy on the eyes and is turning out some fine acting. Played Dec. 18-19.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

THUNDERING HERD, THE: Randolph Scott, Judith Allen—Good western but was far too short. Randolph Scott and Harry Carey were the players that held our patrons' interest. Give us more good westerns, Paramount. Running time, 57½ minutes. Played Dec. 9-10.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. Small town patronage.

TILLIE AND GUS: W. C. Fields, Alison Skipworth—If you like a good comedy, here is the picture for you. As funny as possible and will keep any audience laughing throughout the comedy type, but our patrons did not come out to see it. We never have any business when we play comedies and this was no exception. Played on bargain day to fair business. Running time, 58 minutes. Played Jan. 3.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

TO THE LAST MAN: Randolph Scott, Esther Ralston—Another good one from Zane Grey. Randolph Scott is turning out some very good western performances and it was good to see Esther Ralston of the silent days back again. Played Dec. 15-16.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby, Judith Allen—Good play with a good cast. Bing's singing put this play over with a bang. Jack Oakie and Skeets Gallagher were good likewise. We want more plays like this one. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Dec. 16-17.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. Small town patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert, Ricardo Cortez—This play was all right if they had left the sob stuff out. We played it just before Christmas and it did not make a hit. What Claudette Colbert should have done was sing more and cry less. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Dec. 23-24.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. Small town patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert, Ricardo Cortez—This Colbert girl sure does kick over the traces and unbridles the great acting ability of a great actress which has hitherto been in the background. This one you yell about in capital letters and it will make 'em leave home. However, it's strictly adult entertainment. Played Dec. 29-30.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

WAY TO LOVE, THE: Maurice Chevalier, Ann Dvorak—Chock full of entertainment, but fell flat at the box office. Just as good as "A Bedtime Story" as far as entertainment is concerned.—Robt. K. Yancey, Paradise Theatre, Cotter, Ark. Railroad and general patronage.

WAY TO LOVE, THE: Maurice Chevalier—This is different from the usual type of Chevalier picture. It pleased all of our patrons. However, Chevalier is not popular here and business slightly below average. Played Dec. 27-28.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Small town patronage.

WAY TO LOVE, THE: Maurice Chevalier, Ann Dvorak—This is a good romantic comedy that is quite different from the usual Chevalier picture. Most of the comedy is of the slapstick variety, while there is enough music to please the average Chevalier fans. Ann Dvorak puts in some excellent acting. Good, clean entertainment for the whole family. Played one day to a good business. Running time, 84 minutes. Played Dec. 28.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

WHITE WOMAN: Carole Lombard, Charles Laughton, Charles Bickford—Good play as long as it lasted but had an ending that few understood. Charles Laughton's acting was superb. This play might make a hit in the city but is no good in a small community. Running time, 73 minutes. Played Dec. 5-6.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. Small town patronage.

RKO

AGGIE APPLEBY, MAKER OF MEN: Wynne Gibson, Charles Farrell—The common ordinary run of folks, who speak the American language and like their picture fare "as is," will like this picture. It has comedy relief, a good story and some swell acting by both Wynne Gibson and Farrell. I passed this one up, but picked it up later and am glad I did.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Mining and country patronage.

AGGIE APPLEBY, MAKER OF MEN: Wynne Gibson, Charles Farrell—A fair program picture which pleased our patrons one hundred per cent. Nothing exceptional, but Wynne Gibson, Charles Farrell and William Gargan do good work. Average business. Played Dec. 31.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Small town patronage.

ANN VICKERS: Irene Dunne—Excellent picture. Irene Dunne wonderful in this. Her acting is so true to life. More success to you, Miss Dunne. Bruce Cabot not good looking enough to play opposite her. It's clean. Running time, 72 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

BED OF ROSES: Constance Bennett — Hardly worth the four stars given it by Liberty, but a real entertaining little show that no one kicked on even though it is suggestive in several spots. Several remarked that "it was a good show." Unless your folks are very narrow, you don't have to be afraid of this.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

BED OF ROSES: Constance Bennett—Bennett may as well be dead as far as our customers are concerned. Business terrible.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

BEFORE DAWN: Dorothy Wilson, Warner Oland Thrilling mystery. Fair business.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

BLIND ADVENTURE: Robert Armstrong—Poor. Story very weak. Also weak business.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

CHRISTOPHER STRONG: Katharine Hepburn—Fair. Much too English to please our customers. No drawing power. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Aug. 9-10.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

DIPLOMANIACS: Wheeler and Woolsey—Not as funny as previous releases, but music was grand. Business good. Running time, 63 minutes. Played Aug. 6-7-8.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

EMERGENCY CALL: William Boyd—Fair little action picture. Cold weather killed business. Played Dec. 13-14.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

FLAMING GOLD: William Boyd—Just an ordinary program picture without any pull at the box office. Played Dec. 27-28.—M. F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

FLYING DEVILS: Eric Linden, Arlene Judge—Ran this three days. Did fine business.—Alyce Cornell. Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

HEADLINE SHOOTER: William Gargan — Fair little action picture. Didn't do anything on it.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

LUCKY DEVILS: Bill Boyd—A stunt picture that was very exciting and very interesting. Pleased our patrons. I consider it very good entertainment. Played Nov. 25.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. General country patronage.

MELODY CRUISE: Phil Harris, Charles Ruggles—Good musical comedy, if they only would have had some good looking and acting guy in place of Phil Harris. He sure is the bunk. He can't act, sing, dance or do anything else. Just a big flop. Running time, 75 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

MEN OF AMERICA: William Boyd—Very good. Played Aug. 11-12.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

MORNING GLORY: Katharine Hepburn—Just so much film as far as the box-office is concerned. A complete washout for small towns. While it was pretty close to Christmas, I didn't think it would be as bad as it was. Bizz terrible. Running time, eight reels. Played Dec. 22-23.—Don R. Stevenson, Star Theatre, Williamson, N. Y. Small town patronage.

NO MARRIAGE TIES: Richard Dix—This is positively the worst picture Dix has ever made. No business. Played Nov. 26.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore—An excellent picture. Lionel Barrymore's portrayal of a country doctor's life convincing and impressive. Second night's receipts larger than the first. Played Jan. 3-4.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Small town patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore—Another good reason why the hockey games are doing a turnaway business. Just another picture glorifying an unwed mother and her child. I would suggest that you cut out the seduction scene in the fourth reel before you show it. People are tired of smut in pictures and that is why picture business is poor.—H. G. Stettmund, Jr., H. & S. Theatre, Chandler, Okla. Small town patronage.

SON OF KONG: Robert Armstrong, Helen Mack—Certainly sensational, but not a pleasant subject. Although I played this late I expected a lot of business that didn't come. I covered every house and store in the county with a handbill and still it did not pull as much as several I have run this year that I didn't use a single handbill on. Second night half of first. No one came and said they liked it.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

STRANGE JUSTICE: Marian Marsh—Fair. Good for Friday and Saturday. Children liked it. Played Dec. 9-10.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

United Artists

I COVER THE WATERFRONT: Claudette Colbert, Ben Lyon—An exceptionally good picture that holds one's interests from beginning to end. The story is good for all classes and the picture drew a little above average. It seemed good to see Ernest Torrence in his last picture, and he surely did a wonderful job in this picture. Played Nov. 24.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

MASQUERADER, THE: Ronald Colman—A remarkable high class picture. Acting, story, photograph, sound, etc., all excellent. The cast all speak with an English accent, and the story is laid in London, but in spite of this it's a great picture, and will please high class audiences. Ronald Colman does excellent work. Played Jan. 1-2.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

Universal

BE MINE TONIGHT: Jan Kiepura—This foreign picture hits and misses. There are those who like it exceptionally well and those who will walk out on it. The singing (mostly in Italian) is great. The beautiful scenery is outstanding. The story fair, but these foreign pictures only appeal to about five per cent.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

BIG CAGE, THE: Clyde Beatty—Fair. Draws the children—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

DON'T BET ON LOVE: Ginger Rogers, Lew Ayres—Doesn't mean a thing. Poor story. Played Dec. 13-14.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

FLAMING GUNS: Tom Mix—Very satisfactory. Mix drew nice midweek business.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

HER FIRST MATE: Slim Summerville, Zusu Pitts—This pair does business for us. Not up to standard, but gets by.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

INVISIBLE MAN: Claude Rains, Gloria Stuart—Here's one that you never saw anything like it before. Story is interesting and well told. Will appeal to persons liking the horror type of picture. Follow the press book in advertising it.—H. G. Settmund, Jr., H. & S. Theatre, Chandler, Okla. Small town patronage.

KING OF JAZZ: John Boles—I name John Boles as the star because of his excellent singing. A most spectacular and beautiful production. Good enough for any theatre in any part of the world. Beautiful color effects. Played Dec. 2.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. General country patronage.

LOVE, HONOR AND OH, BABY: Zasu Pitts, Slim Summerville—This one is pretty raw. However, it has its moments, so we won't either knock or boost it. Cost 50 per cent above program and did about everage business. The possibilities with this pair are so good that it seems a shame that they don't give them better material.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

MOONLIGHT AND PRETZELS: Mary Brian, Leo Carrillo—This seemed to please very nicely, as it drew a lot of favorable comments. It is classed as a musical comedy, but personally I do not think it has enough comedy to take that rating. Played this as our New Year's show and drew nearly up to the split figure.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

MOONLIGHT AND PRETZELS: Mary Brian, Leo Carrillo—Fine picture. Did fine business. Better than average musical.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

ONLY YESTERDAY: Margaret Sullavan, John Boles—A very good picture. It's clean. Margaret Sullavan wonderful in this. She plays her part great. Give us more pictures with this little star in it. It's clean.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

SECRET OF THE BLUE ROOM, THE: Paul Lukas, Gloria Stuart — A good mystery story. It brought the people, and sent them home pleased. Attendance held up. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Dec. 31-Jan. 1-2.—Mrs. George Thomsen, Garden Theatre, Arthur, Ill. Small town patronage.

Warner

BABY FACE—Barbara Stanwyck—Stanwyck does her best, which is swell, but story yells Jean Harlow. Stanwyck isn't cut out for that type story. Business good.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

EX-LADY: Bette Davis—Beautiful gowns and music. Story poor. Running time, 62 minutes. Played Aug. 6-7-8.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

HAUNTED GOLD: John Wayne—Very good mystery angle made it exciting. Fine for children matinee. Played Aug. 11-12.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

MAYOR OF HELL, THE: James Cagney—Cagney sure goes over in our community. Picture fair. Business good. Played Oct. 29-30-31.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

MYSTERY OF THE WAX MUSEUM, THE: Lionel Atwill, Fay Wray—Very good. Kept them on edge the entire show. Fine photography.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

TIGER SHARK: Edward G. Robinson—Played this following the annual Legion show, and business was far below average. However, we expected this. Picture is horrible in spots, but a real production nevertheless.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

20,000 YEARS IN SING SING: Spencer Tracy—This failed to please, and the gross was far below expectations. Had no favorable comments, and a number of severe kicks. All in all, about the worst flop of the past three months. Personally, I liked the show, but what the exhibitor likes is of no consequence. L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

WORKING MAN, THE: George Arliss—This should easily make any critic's "All America" selection as one of the best of the year. Several said the best picture they ever witnessed. Considering the small attendance, the number of fine comments it received was without parallel. People had tears in their eyes coming out, not because it was sad but because it was so darn good. We take our hat off to this most excellent production.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

WORKING MAN, THE: George Arliss—Best Arliss we have run. He doesn't usually get any money for us, but this will please the masses. Played Nov. 10-11. —Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

"BEST THING EVER FOR EXHIBITORS"

The following, from L. E. Laughlin, Chaise Theatre, Senecaville, Ohio, tells the whole story:

"I have had the theatre here closed almost two years on account of depression (it is not over yet), but have opened up and note that your Motion Picture Herald carries the good "What the Picture Did for Me" again, and I think that this is the best thing that could be published anywhere to benefit the exhibitors.

"The small town ones, I suppose, are benefited more than anyone else, but can't see where it hurts anyone connected with the business. So herewith you will find the comments on two pictures and more will follow."

World Wide

COME ON, TARZAN: Ken Maynard—Picture poor, but title got them in.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

Short Features

Columbia

CURSE OF A BROKEN HEART, THE: Sunrise Comedies—This is undoubtedly the worst 18 minutes of entertainment ever put on any two reels of film. I had previously given the medal for the worst short of 1932-1933 season to Vitaphone for their one-reeler, "Breakwater," but now I know that worse can be made and Columbia takes the medal. To top it off, they put their name and trade mark on the end of the film. If I had produced such a short as this, I certainly would have left the name off. Play it and see.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

FLOP HOUSE: Scrappy Cartoons—Excellent cartoon. One of the best we have screened. Running time, one reel.—Don R. Stevenson, Star Theatre, Williamson, N. Y. Small town patronage.

MUTUAL MAN, THE: Hal Skelly—This is only a fair comedy from Columbia. This is by far the best two-reel comedy we have played from them, but then it is nothing to talk about. Too bad Columbia cannot make good comedies inasmuch as practically all their features are good. Running time, 18 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

Educational

HOT HOOFS: Moran and Mack—Very good comedy. Pleased kids and adults. Running time, two reels.—Don R. Stevenson, Star Theatre, Williamson, N. Y. Small town patronage.

KNIGHT DUTY: Harry Langdon—This is a fairly good two-reel comedy with Harry Langdon and should produce many laughs. It is of the slapstick variety and very funny. Our entire audience seemed well pleased and many laughed through the entire two reels. Running time, 18 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

PAIR OF SOCKS, A: Moran and Mack—Dandy comedy. Plenty of action. Kept house in constant laughter. Running time, two reels.—Don R. Stevenson, Star Theatre, Williamson, N. Y. Small town patronage.

TRYING OUT TORCHY: Ray Cooke—Better than the usual Torchy comedies. Seemed to please. Running time, two reels.—Don R. Stevenson, Star Theatre, Williamson, N. Y. Small town patronage.

MGM

ASLEEP IN THE FEET: Pitts and Todd—Fine. Plenty of laughs. Running time, 18 minutes.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

CALL HER SAUSAGE: Taxi Boys—Not as funny as some they have made, but Ben Blue goes over. Running time, 18 minutes.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

FISH HOOKY: Our Gang—Children liked this better than average.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

FLIP'S LUNCHROOM: Flip the Frog—The children enjoy Flip any time.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

HELLO, POP!: Musical Comedies—Not as good as some we have run.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

ME AND MY PAL: Laurel and Hardy—Very fine. Plenty of laughs.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

METRO SHORTS: Travel Talk subjects are very good. Other Metro shorts are excellent. "Fine Feathers" in color is wonderful. "Menu" very good. "Scotland the Bonnie" fine. "Play Ball' cartoon good. —S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

NATURE IN THE WRONG: Charley Chase—Fine. One of Chase's best.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

NERTSERY RHYMES: Ted Healy—A good Colortone revue—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

TWICE TWO: Laurel and Hardy—This is about an average Laurel-Hardy comedy. These two comedians always go over with us, and this one was no exception.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Mining and country patronage.

WHAT PRICE TAXI: Taxi Boys—Plenty of laughs. Running time, 20 minutes—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

Paramount

BLOW ME DOWN: Popeye the Sailor—They are all good. The only trouble is they're too short.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

CAPTAIN HENRY'S RADIO SHOW: Lanny Ross, Annette Hanshaw, Don Voorhees—A fine short. Just pleased all.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

I YAM WHAT I YAM: Talkatoons—This is the first cartoon of Popeye in our theatre and the audience ate it up. These are really better than the ones last year and every one seems to enjoy them, especially the kids. Here's hoping the rest are as good as this one. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

LITTLE BROADCAST, THE: Mills Brothers, Vinvent Lopez and Band, Arthur Tracy—Here's a fine musical short. We need more of them. Too bad they don't make a hundred or so of them.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

MARRIAGE HUMOR: Harry Langdon—A very amusing comedy with plenty of action. Give us more of 'em.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

MEET THE CHAMP: Eugene Pallette, Walter Catlett—A lively and novel comedy. Catlett and Pallette are a great pair.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

OLD MAN OF THE MOUNTAINS: Betty Boop, Cab Calloway—This is the hottest cartoon you've ever seen. Don't forget to tell 'em about it.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. Small town patronage.

OLD MAN OF THE MOUNTAINS: Talkartoons—Good cartoon. Nearly all these screen songs are outstanding and original. Plenty of laughs in all this series. Very clever. Most of the Paramount short subjects are exceptionally good this year.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

RKO

FATAL NOTE, THE: Soglow's "The King" Cartoons—Fairly good cartoon. Better than I expected after seeing several of these. Running time, one reel. —Don R. Stevenson, Star Theatre, Williamson, N. Y. Small town patronage.

FIT AS A FIDDLE: Clark and McCullough—Not so hot. Was a disappointment coming from these two. Nothing to it and only about a reel and a half of that. Running time, 15 minutes.—Don R. Stevenson, Star Theatre, Williamson, N. Y. Small town patronage.

FLOORWALKER, THE: Charlie Chaplin—The Chaplin comedies are very well liked.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

HEAVE TWO: Harry Sweet—Best we have had from RKO in a blue moon.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

QUIET PLEASE: Edgar Kennedy, Florence Lake—Excellent comedy. Kennedy sure can make 'em laugh. Running time, two reels.—Don R. Stevenson, Star Theatre, Williamson, N. Y. Small town patronage.

SHAMPOO THE MAGICIAN: Roscoe Ates, Hugh Herbert—Very good.—Alyce Cornell Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

SILVERY MOON: Fables—Music 100 per cent. Very enjoyable.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

SO THIS IS HARRIS: Walter Catlett, Phil Harris—Book this three-reeler with a weak feature, and in spite of it your show is made. This is a dandy comedy, with music, girls, and lots of comedy by Walter Catlett. Running time, 20 minutes.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbia Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Mining and country patronage.

State Rights

HOT MONEY: Twenty interesting minutes of the Oklahoma Urshel kidnaping trial and scenes incident to the trial. For western states this is extra good. Good photography, sound good and it pleased better than our feature, "The Eagle and the Hawk," and drew what business we had. Running time, 20 minutes.—M. P. Foster, New Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

United Artists

BIRDS IN THE SPRING: Silly Symphonies—This is another good cartoon from the pen of Walt Disney. It is filmed in gorgeous color and is very pleasing and entertaining. The color process adds 100 per cent to the entertainment value of this one-reeler. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

MAD DOCTOR, THE: Mickey Mouse—Here is another good cartoon and one that seemed to please our entire audience. Many of the adults came back to see it over. The first cartoons in this series were not so pleasing, but the last ones have been excellent entertainment. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

OLD KING COLE: Silly Symphonies—These well known stories do extra business.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

THREE LITTLE PIGS: Silly Symphonies—Here is a short subject that you can advertise above your feature—any feature. It's absolutely the best short subject ever produced, and if there ever was a four-star picture here it is. The whole town is talking about this cartoon and many are coming back the second time to see it over. When you run this subject, try to get a good feature and good shorts, and watch your old box office bulge out like a bloated cow. I rate this subject first of 1933.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

Universal

HOT AND COLD: Pooch Cartoons—Excellent music. Grand.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

MERRY DOG, THE: Pooch Cartoons—Good Christmas number. Fine music.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

SHRIEK, THE: Oswald Cartoons—Valentino's double. Very entertaining.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

Warner Vitaphone

BARBER SHOP BLUES: Melody Masters—This is a very good musical with Claude Hopkins and his band furnishing the music. Good entertainment and just the type that every one likes. Here's hoping there are many more of this series. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

BORRAH MINNEVITCH AND HIS HARMONICA RASCALS: Melody Masters—This is a good musical one-reeler, with Borrah Minnevitch and his Harmonica Rascals furnishing the music. This is just the type of entertainment our patrons want. Vitaphone has the best shorts on the market this season and every season.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

BOSKO'S PICTURE SHOW: Looney Tunes—This is a good cartoon comedy featuring Bosko and Honey. Some excellent caricatures of Laurel and Hardy, Jimmy Durante and the Four Marx Brothers. Personally, I am sorry the Bosko and Honey characters have been discontinued. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

DISH RAN AWAY WITH THE SPOON, THE:

SHE REPORTS ON 58 FILMS IN ONE WEEK

Speaking about reports on pictures, which occur occasionally in this department, here is something of a record:

Miss Alyce Cornell, regular contributor from the Galewood theatre at Grand Rapids, Mich., sent in comment on 58 pictures this week.

"Gallant Lady" is a great show! Already have a great campaign laid out for it!

Ralph Goldberg
City Manager for Paramount, Orpheum & World Theatres
Omaha, Neb.

Merry Melodies—This is a good cartoon comedy and will make a good filler on any program. It brought many laughs from our audience and pleased both the youngsters and adults. Good entertainment and very pleasing. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

HEART OF PARIS: Musical World Journeys—This is an excellent one-reeler, interesting and educational. Showing many scenes in the beautiful city of Paris. The last few minutes show the most interesting spots at night, illuminated with electric lights, which makes it more beautiful. Running time, nine minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

HOT FROM PETROGRAD: Melody Masters—This is another of the musical one-reelers from Vitaphone, featuring Dave Appolon and his orchestra playing a few popular selections, and Nora Williams singing a very popular song hit. If you want a good one-reeler, get one from this series. Running time, ten minutes. —J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

RAMBLING ROUND RADIO ROW (NO. 4)—Pepper Pot—This is another of the radio musicals, presenting some of the radio stars at work and play. These are very good, but our audience is not familiar with the majority of these stars. Why not present the more popular and well known stars? Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

RUFUS JONES FOR PRESIDENT: Broadway Brevities—This is one of the best Broadway Brevities I have ever had the pleasure of screening, featuring Ethel Waters, famous Negro blues singer, and talented Sammy Davis, dancing, and with an all Negro cast. Full of pep and entertainment. Ethel Waters sings "Rufus Jones for President," along with two very popular songs, "Am I Blue" and "Underneath the Harlem Moon," and that alone should please any audience. Extra billing of this short should prove an extra business getter. Vitaphone, let us have more hits like this one. Running time, 19 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SEA DEVILS: Pepper Pot—This is a one-reeler on the type of sport thrills, showing different types of fish in the ocean. If you are the fishing type you are sure to like this; otherwise it is just a waste of film, time and money. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SEASONED GREETINGS: Lita Grey Chaplin—Here is a good musical comedy that is different. It is full of music and Lita Grey Chaplin sings many song hits. The new series of Broadway Brevities are plenty good and wonderful entertainment. Running time, 18 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

THAT GOES DOUBLE: Russ Columbo—Very good. —Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

20,000 CHEERS FOR THE CHAIN GANG: Broadway Brevities—These new Broadway Brevities are not to be compared with the ones released last year. These subjects have only been fair and some of them very weak. How can they build up a good reputation, and then sacrifice it with a lot of poor pictures. I am in hopes they will improve. No color subjects this year yet.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

USE YOUR IMAGINATION: Hal LeRoy, Mitzi Mayfair—This is a good musical comedy and one that should please any one. Plenty of good music, dancing and pretty girls. This is the first Broadway Brevity we have played on the new contract, but they seem better than the last year's group. Running time, 18 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

USE YOUR IMAGINATION: Broadway Brevity—A pleasure to run a two-reeler like this. Singing, dancing and comedy by real artists.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Mining and country patronage.

WALTER DONALDSON: Pepper Pot—A dandy one-reeler, bringing back some of the old popular songs composed by Donaldson.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Mining and country patronage.

Corona Four

The greatest value ever offered in a practical portable typewriter. Four rows of keys—types both capitals and small letters. Beautiful, complete, formerly $60, now only $45.

L. C. SMITH & CORONA TYPEWRITERS, Inc.

Syracuse, N. Y.

Branches and Dealers in Principal Cities

TRAVELERS . . .

LIONEL ATWILL returned to New York this week after a long sojourn in Hollywood.

AL FRIEDLANDER left New York for Washington on the first leg of a tour of First Division exchanges.

JOSEPH M. SCHENCK left London for New York.

ARTHUR M. LOEW is en route for New York from China via San Francisco.

WILL H. HAYS plans to leave for Hollywood shortly.

A. H. MCCAUSLAND, representative of Irving Trust Co., receiver for RKO, left New York for Hollywood.

JAMES R. GRAINGER is spending the week in Toronto.

R. H. BRUCE-LOCKHART, author of "British Agent," new LESLIE HOWARD vehicle for Warners, arrives in New York the end of the month.

CARL LESSERMAN, assistant to GRADWELL SEARS at the Warner home office, returned to New York from Dallas.

KAY FRANCIS left New York for Hollywood.

LEW PRESTON, managing director of the Academy of Music, New York, is in Florida for his health.

HARRY GREENMAN, resident manager of the Fox, St. Louis, is in New York on a vacation.

SOL A. ROSENBLATT left Washington for Hollywood.

GEORGE WEEKS left New York for Michigan.

JANET GAYNOR arrived in New York for a short holiday.

BILLY WILKERSON is in New York.

MAURICE CHEVALIER left New York for the MGM studios.

GEORGE O'BRIEN and his wife, MARGUERITE CHURCHILL, left New York for Hollywood.

DICK BRADY and HERMAN C. SIEVERS of Eastman Kodak sailed from New York for the West Indies.

FREDERIC MARCH and his wife, FLORENCE ELDRIDGE, arrived in New York for a brief vacation.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, Jr., sailed for England.

CARL BRISSON, Danish musical comedy star, left New York for Hollywood.

LEON SCHLESINGER is in New York.

ED KUYKENDALL will return to New York next week for the Code Authority meeting. He is taking a rest at his Columbus, Miss., home.

RANDOLPH SCOTT returned to the Paramount lot after a six-week sojourn in England.

ADOLPH ZUKOR left for his seasonal visit to the Paramount studio in Hollywood.

RUBE WOLF arrived in New York from the Coast to take over his new job as master of ceremonies at the Roxy.

BERT SANFORD spent last week in Boston.

BARBARA STANWYCK is in New York.

FELIX FEIST is out of town on a two-week vacation.

GRACE POGGI, lithe and willowy dancer in "Roman Scandals," was in New York en route for a European holiday.

GEORGE J. SCHAEFER returned to New York from Dallas.

J. R. MCDONOUGH, RKO general manager, left New York for the Coast.

MILT KUSELL, eastern captain in Paramount's Victory Drive, left New York for a tour of New England exchanges.

R. E. GRIFFITH, operating Westland Theatres Co., throughout Colorado, moved from Denver to Dallas where he is establishing offices. He also operates R. E. Griffith Theatres, Inc., in New Mexico and Texas.

WARNING

TO EXHIBITORS

RECENT notices to theatres throughout U. S. concerning alleged claims of patent infringement by the use of certain sound equipment has created considerable anxiety among exhibitors as to their legal protection.

Many similar attempts have been made to victimize innocent exhibitors, to which we reply:—

Don't You Be Hoodwinked

by Wild Sweeping Stampedes of the Trusts!

THE terrific inroads the S. O. S. Corp. has made into the World's market for Sound Equipment has naturally disturbed the plans of the large combines especially in face of the tremendous savings shown in the price of independently manufactured equipments. The best evidence of this fact is today's use of S. O. S. Sound Systems in many thousands of theatres throughout the world.

S. O. S. HAS THE FACTS

and Will Advise You

Grounded on long experience and under expert legal counsel, S. O. S. will gladly guide you — if you will write naming the type of equipment you are using — whether Sound-on-Film, Disc or both . . .

Just Address

—Service Board—

S. O. S. CORP.

1600 Broadway, N. Y. City

THEATRE RECEIPTS

The total of theatre receipts for the calendar week ended January 13, 1934, from 116 houses in 19 major cities of the country, reached $1,285,899, a decrease of $71,475 from the total for the preceding calendar week, ended January 6, when 110 theatres in 19 cities reported an aggregate gross of $1,357,374.

(Copyright, 1933: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Boston			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Boston	2,900	25c-50c	"Fog" (Col.)	23,500	"By Candlelight" (U.)	23,000	High 1-13-34 "Fog"	23,500
							Low 3-11 "Topaze"	11,000
Fenway	1,800	30c-50c	"Havana Widows" (F. N.) and "Hell and High Water" (Para.)	10,000	"Lady Killer" (W.B.) and "Girl Without a Room" (Para.)	12,000	High 1-14 "Island of Lost Souls" and "Billion Dollar Scandal"	15,000
							Low 7-29 "She Had to Say Yes" and "Arizona to Broadway"	6,000
Keith's	3,500	30c-50c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio) (2nd week)	21,000	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio) (1st week)	23,000	High 12-2 "Little Women"	28,000
Loew's State	3,700	35c-50c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.)	22,000	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	21,500	Low 3-11 "When Strangers Marry"	12,000
							High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	23,000
Metropolitan	4,350	30c-65c	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	31,000	"Havana Widows" (F. N.)	33,500	Low 3-11 "Men Must Fight"	11,000
							High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	44,500
Paramount	1,800	30c-50c	"Havana Widows" (F. N.) and "Hell and High Water" (Para.)	9,500	"Lady Killer" (W. B.) and "Girl Without a Room" (Para.)	12,000	Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	26,500
							High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "Deception"	17,000
							Low 8-12 "Mary Stevens, M.D." and "Flying Devils"	8,000
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"Gallant Lady" (U. A.)	22,000	"Design for Living" (Para.)	26,000	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady"	31,000
							Low 3-25 "Our Betters"	9,800
Century	3,000	25c	"Havana Widows" (F. N.) and "Hell and High Water" (Para.)	6,800	"Wild Boys of the Road" (F. N.) and "Tillie and Gus" (Para.)	7,000	High 8-12 "Forgotten Men" and "Easy Millions"	8,000
							Low 12-16 "Solitaire Man" and "Day of Reckoning"	3,500
Great Lakes	3,000	25c-40c	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (2nd week)	7,900	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (1st week)	17,900	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	27,200
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-40c	"Hoopla" (Fox)	11,100	"Take a Chance" (Para.)	9,400	Low 4-15 "Rome Express"	5,400
							High 6-24 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	16,100
Hollywood	300	25c-40c	"Farewell to Love" (Madison) (2nd week-4 days)	200	"Farewell to Love" (Madison) (1st week)	600	Low 8-26 "Moonlight and Pretzels"	5,100
							High 1-7 "Goona Goona"	2,600
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"By Candlelight" (U.) (25c-35c)	10,000	"Let's Fall in Love" (Col.) (25c-40c)	9,100	Low 11-25 "Night and Day"	400
							High 12-20 "Counsellor at Law"	15,200
							Low 12-23 "Myrt and Marge"	4,800
Chicago
Chicago	4,000	35c-68c	"Easy to Love" (W. B.)	55,000	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	43,000	High 9-2 "Goodbye Again"	75,000
							Low 4-29 "Central Airport"	22,000
McVicker's	2,284	30c-60c	"Convention City" (F. N.)	14,000	"Lady Killer" (W. B.) (8 days)	14,000	High 10-14 "Too Much Harmony"	20,000
Oriental	3,940	30c-60c	"Design for Living" (Para.) (3rd week)	11,000	"Design for Living" (Para.) (2nd week)	16,000	Low 7-1 "The Woman I Stole"	5,000
							High 10-14 "I'm No Angel"	50,000
Palace	2,509	35c-75c	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	27,000	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio)	25,000	Low 12-16 "A Man's Castle"	10,000
							High 9-9 "Morning Glory"	37,000
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)	8,000	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	10,000	Low 5-27 "Below the Sea"	14,000
							High 10-14 "Penthouse"	16,000
State-Lake	2,776	20c-35c	"Goodbye Love" (Radio)	18,000	"In the Money" (Chesterfield)	15,000	Low 3-4 "Luxury Liner"	6,200
							High 1-13-34 "Goodbye Love"	18,000
United Artists	1,700	30c-60c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (3rd week)	16,000	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week)	20,000	Low 2-18 "Lucky Devils"	4,500
							High 1-21 "The Kid From Spain"	27,000
							Low 3-18 "Perfect Understanding"	6,800
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	20c-40c	"Bombay Mail" (U.)	3,500	"By Candlelight" (U.)	4,100	High 11-11 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "Infernal Machine" and "Exposure"	1,800
Hippodrome	3,800	30c-44c	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.)	5,800	"Convention City" (F. N.)	7,500	High 10-21 "East of Fifth Avenue"	30,000
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-75c	"Rainbow Over Broadway" (Chesterfield)	20,500	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio)	25,000	High 6-10 "Circus Queen Murder"	2,900
							High 12-2 "Little Women"	26,000
State	3,400	30c-44c	"Design for Living" (Para.)	10,000	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	16,000	Low 8-19 "No Marriage Ties"	4,200
							High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	26,000
Stillman	1,900	25c-35c	"Girl Without a Room" (Para.) and "Sixteen Fathoms Deep" (Monogram)	4,100	"The Prizefighter and the Lady" (MGM) and "Public Stenographer" (Showmens)	4,000	Low 6-24 "The Eagle and the Hawk"	5,000
							High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	9,000
							Low 11-18 "Stage Mother" and "Hell and High Water"	2,500
Warner's Lake	800	25c-35c	"Horseplay" (U.) and "King for a Night" (U.)	2,500	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	2,100	High 10-28 "Footlight Parade"	10,000
							Low 12-30 "Jimmy and Sally"	1,500
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-40c	"Morning Glory" (Radio)	3,500	"As Husbands Go" (Fox)	3,750	High 2-25 "Cavalcade"	10,000
							Low 4-8 "Smoke Lightning" and "Broadway Bad"	2,500
Denham	1,500	25c-40c	"Design for Living" (Para.)	6,000	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)	11,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	16,000
							Low 6-3 "Mussolini Speaks" "Night of Terror" and "Soldiers of the Storm"	1,950
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.)	17,500	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	17,000	High 1-13-34 "Roman Scandals"	17,500
Orpheum	2,600	25c-40c	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	11,000	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	14,000	Low 12-16 "The World Changes"	3,000
							High 3-4 "42nd Street"	18,500
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	5,500	"Smoky" (Fox) (3 days)	1,000	Low 6-10 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,750
							High 4-1 "The Kid From Spain"	7,000
					"Should Ladies Behave?" (MGM) (4 days)	1,750	Low 7-8 "The Barbarian"	2,000
Detroit
Downtown	2,750	15c-40c	"The Invisible Man" (U.) (2nd week)	5,300	"The Invisible Man" (U.) (1st week)	7,200	High 10-14 "No Marriage Ties"	16,500
							Low 6-10 "The Woman I Stole"	3,700
Fisher	2,700	15c-50c	"Sons of the Desert" (MGM)	5,600	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	5,100
Fox	5,100	15c-50c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio)	23,600	"As Husbands Go" (Fox)	18,300	High 1-28 "Silver Dollar"	15,400
							Low 3-18 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	3,100
							High 9-16 "Sing, Sinner, Sing"	32,300
Michigan	4,000	25c-50c	"Convention City" (F. N.) (15c-40c)	20,500	"Going Hollywood" (MGM) (15c-50c)	16,400	Low 5-15 "After the Ball" and "Afraid to Talk"	5,400
State	3,000	25c-50c	"Blood Money" (U. A.) (15c-40c)	3,200	"Design for Living" (Para.) (2nd week)	7,100	High 1-21 "Tonight Is Ours"	23,700
							Low 7-1 "College Humor"	7,300
							High 10-14 "I'm No Angel" (5 days)	24,100
United Artists	2,000	25c-50c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (3rd week) (15c-50c)	5,100	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week)	8,500	Low 1-13-34 "Blood Money"	3,200
							High 2-11 "The Kid From Spain"	17,400
							Low 3-25 "The Sign of the Cross"	4,100

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	50c-$1.65	"Little Women" (Radio) (3rd week)	19,250	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week)	35,330	High 9-9 "Dinner at Eight"	36,656
							Low 4-1 "King Kong"	14,600
Pantages	3,000	25c-55c	"Women in His Life" (MGM)	7,330	"Madame Spy" (U.)	7,252	High 1-7 "Handle With Care"	13,000
							Low 2-18 "Vampire Bat" and "Devil's Playground"	4,100
W. B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-40c	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.)	15,000	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	13,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	26,000
							Low 4-15 "Grand Slam"	8,975
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	25c-40c	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	2,500	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox) (2nd week)	3,000	High 2-18 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 12-23 "As Husbands Go"	2,000
Circle	2,800	25c-40c	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.)	4,000	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio)	3,500	High 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "The Sign of the Cross" (2nd run)	2,500
Indiana	3,100	20c-40c	"The World Changes" (F. N.) (4 days) "Havana Widows" (F. N.) (3 days)	3,500	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.)	4,000	High 3-25 "Parachute Jumper"	15,000
							Low 1-13-34 "The World Changes" and "Havana Widows"	3,500
Lyric	2,000	20c-40c	"Lady Killer" (W. B.)	4,500	"By Candlelight" (U.)	4,500	High 7-22 "College Humor"	9,500
							Low 11-11 "Saturday's Millions"	3,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (2nd week)	4,000	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (1st week)	6,500	High 8-12 "Tugboat Annie"	11,000
							Low 12-16 "Women in His Life"	3,500
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	25c-60c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio) (25c-40c)	11,000	"If I Were Free" (Radio) (7 days and Sat. and Sun. midnite shows)	12,500	High 10-28 "Ace of Aces"	21,000
							Low 5-20 "Sweepings"	4,000
Midland	4,000	25c	"Gallant Lady" (U. A.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	12,200	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. and Sun. midnite shows)	21,000	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	30,000
							Low 4-15 "Perfect Understanding"	4,900
Newman	1,800	25c-40c	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	6,000	"Design for Living" (Para.) (7 days and Sat. and Sun. midnite shows)	9,700	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	20,000
							Low 5-27 "Picture Snatcher"	2,800
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox) (2nd week)	4,000	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox) (1st week-7 days and Sat. midnite show) "Sing, Sinner, Sing" (Majestic) (New Year's Eve midnite show)	8,500	High 1-6-34 "Mr. Skitch"	8,500
							Low 7-1 "Lilly Turner"	1,600
Los Angeles
Criterion	1,610	25c-40c	"Elysia" (Foy) (7th week)	4,500	"Elysia" (Foy) (6th week)	6,725	High 12-2 "Elysia"	12,000
							Low 7-29 "The Devil's Brother"	1,850
Filmarte	800	40c-50c	"Waltz Time" (Gaumont-British) and "Film Parade" (Blackton)	1,850	.....		High 11-25 "Emperor Jones"	3,950
							Low 9-9 "The Rebel"	1,800
Four Star	900	50c-75c	"I Am Suzanne" (Fox) (3rd week)	2,433	"I Am Suzanne" (Fox) (2nd week)	3,200	.....
Loew's State	2,416	25c-40c	"Dancing Lady" (MGM) (2nd week)	15,000	"Dancing Lady" (MGM) (1st week)	25,400	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	28,300
							Low 3-11 "Dangerously Yours"	8,000
Los Angeles	3,000	15c-25c	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!" (U.) and "Before Midnight" (Col.)	4,200	"Myrt and Marge" (U.) and "King for a Night" (U.)	4,500	High 7-22 "Kiss of Araby" and "Samarang"	6,200
							Low 9-2 "Important Witness" and "Doubled and Redoubled"	2,200
Paramount	3,596	25c-40c	"Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen" (Para.)	22,000	"Eight Girls in a Boat" (Para.)	28,750	High 1-7 "No Man of Her Own"	30,000
							Low 3-18 "King of the Jungle"	10,000
RKO	2,700	25c-40c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio) (2nd week)	5,400	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio) (1st week)	8,700	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	11,600
							Low 9-30 "Brief Moment"	1,700
United Artists	2,100	25c-40c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week-4 days) "I'm No Angel" (Para.) (3 days)	10,500	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (1st week)	13,000	High 10-21 "The Bowery"	21,000
							Low 1-28 "Hello, Everybody"	3,900
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-40c	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.)	13,000	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	12,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	19,000
							Low 12-23 "From Headquarters" and "Disraeli"	8,000
Minneapolis
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"Blood Money" (U. A.)	1,200	"The Prizefighter and the Lady" (MGM) (7 days and midnite show)	2,000	High 4-1 "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"	3,000
							Low 11-11 "I Loved a Woman"	1,000
Minnesota	4,000	25c-40c	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	9,000	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	8,500	High 11-11 "I'm No Angel"	10,000
							Low 12-23 "Sitting Pretty"	7,500
RKO Orpheum	2,900	20c-40c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio)	5,500	"The World Changes" (F. N.) (7 days and midnite show)	6,500	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	14,000
							Low 3-11 "Cynara"	3,000
State	2,300	25c-40c	"I Am Suzanne" (Fox)	6,000	"Hoopla" (Fox) (7 days and midnite show)	6,500	High 4-29 "Cavalcade"	8,000
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	3,500
World	400	25c-75c	"The Red Head" (French) (2nd week)	3,500	"The Red Head" (French) (1st week)	2,000	High 1-13-34 "The Red Head"	3,500
							Low 11-25 "Vi Som Gar Koksvagen"	1,000
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-75c	"Her Sweetheart, Christopher Bean" (MGM)	11,000	"Duck Soup" (Para.)	8,000	High 12-2 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	13,500
							Low 12-23 "Havana Widows" and "Ever in My Heart"	7,500
Imperial	1,914	25c-50c	"Pour Etre Aime" (French)	2,000	.....		High 1-7 "Enlevez-Moi" and "Cain"	4,000
							Low 7-8 "Les Bleus d'Amour"	1,500
Loew's	3,115	25c-75c	"Hoopla" (Fox) (15c-75c)	10,500	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	11,000	High 1-21 "The Mask of Fu Manchu"	14,500
							Low 9-30 "Turn Back the Clock" and "Emergency Call"	7,500
Palace	2,600	25c-75c	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week)	10,500	"Little Women" (Radio) (1st week)	13,500	High 2-18 "The Sign of the Cross"	15,500
							Low 12-23 "I Loved a Woman" and "Female"	9,000
Princess	2,272	25c-65c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) and "Master of Men" (Col.) (2nd week)	9,000	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) and "Master of Men" (Col.) (1st week)	10,500	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" and "Speed Demon"	12,000
							Low 12-23 "Sing, Sinner, Sing" and "The Chief"	5,000
New York
Astor	1,012	55c-$2.20	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (3rd week)	18,700	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (2nd week)	19,000	High 9-2 "Dinner at Eight"	21,000
							Low 3-25 "The White Sister"	14,559
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (2nd week)	41,533	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (1st week)	58,410	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady" (8 days)	66,653
							Low 9-30 "Solitaire Man"	21,210
Hollywood	1,543	25c-85c	"House on 56th Street" (W.B.) (6th week)	5,816	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.) (5th week)	8,287	High 9-1 "Voltaire"	25,868
							Low 10-21 "Ever in My Heart"	8,296
Mayfair	2,300	35c-85c	"Before Midnight" (Col.)	7,000	"Smoky" (Fox) (10 days)	11,000	High 1-7 "The Half Naked Truth"	24,750
							Low 6-3 "When Strangers Marry"	4,900
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"Bombay Mail" (U.)	11,500	"Havana Widows" (F. N.)	12,500	High 2-4 "Animal Kingdom"	16,150
							Low 4-15 "Parole Girl"	4,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"Design for Living" (Para.) (2nd week)	39,600	"Design for Living" (Para.) (1st week)	58,500	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	83,450
							Low 2-4 "Hello, Everybody"	15,600
Rialto	2,200	40c-65c	"A Man's Castle" (Col.) (2nd week-5 days)	11,000	"A Man's Castle" (Col.) (1st week)	15,600	High 5-20 "Forgotten Men"	22,500
							Low 4-15 "Destination Unknown" and "The Fighting President"	5,800
Rivoli	2,200	35c-99c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (3rd week)	24,832	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week)	40,280	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	48,000
							Low 8-5 "The Rebel"	7,200

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
New York (Continued)
RKO Center	3,700	25c-55c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio)	12,000	"Little Women" (Radio) (4th week)	22,000	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	71,267
							Low 7-1 "Adorable" and "Supernatural"	7,592
RKO Music Hall.	5,945	35c-$1.65	"If I Were Free" (Radio)	68,800	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio) (2nd week)	97,000	High 11-25 "Little Women"	109,000
							Low 6-17 "Ann Carver's Profession"	44,938
Roxy	6,200	25c-55c	"By Candlelight" (U.)	28,200	"Son of Kong" (Radio)	39,235	High 11-25 "The Invisible Man"	42,000
							Low 1-28 "Air Hostess"	9,100
Strand	3,000	25c-$1.10	"Lady Killer" (W. B.) (2nd week)	14,505	"Lady Killer" (W. B.) (1st week)	21,205	High 10-14 "Footlight Parade"	55,190
							Low 12-23 "Sin of Nora Moran"	6,850
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"After Tonight" (Radio)	2,000	"Going Hollywood" (MGM)	4,100	High 1-6-34 "Going Hollywood"	4,100
							Low 3-11 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,350
Criterion	1,700	10c-56c	"Little Women" (Radio)	8,500	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	8,000	High 11-18 "College Coach"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "Clear All Wires"	1,800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"Frontier Marshall" (Fox) (4 days)	1,200	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.) (4 days)	1,500	High 9-2 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	3,900
			"Bombay Mail" (U.) (3 days)	900	"S. O. S. Iceberg" (U.) (3 days)	700	Low 3-18 "The Death Kiss" and "The Fourth Horseman"	1,100
Midwest	1,500	10c-56c	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.)	3,500	"Design for Living" (Para.)	6,000	High 2-25 "State Fair"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Employees' Entrance"	1,400
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	25c-35c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio) (2nd week-5 days)	3,000	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio) (1st week)	6,000	High 11-18 "One Man's Journey"	10,750
							Low 12-30 "The World Changes" and "Havana Widows"	3,500
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.) (25c-50c)	7,000	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.) and "King for a Night" (U.)	7,250	High 6-24 "I Loved You Wednesday"	16,500
							Low 4-29 "Sweepings"	5,000
Paramount	2,900	25c-50c	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (25c-40c)	8,500	"Design for Living" (Para.)	7,000	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	13,250
							Low 6-10 "Reunion in Vienna"	5,800
World	2,500	25c-35c	"Lady Killer" (W. B.) and "The Chief" (MGM)	5,500	"Olsen's Big Moment" (Fox) and "Master of Men" (Col.)	4,750	High 6-3 "Peg O' My Heart" and "Perfect Understanding"	7,500
							Low 12-9 "Hoopla" and "Manhattan Tower"	4,500
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	40c-65c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (3rd week-6 days)	11,500	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week-6 days)	14,500	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	18,000
							Low 9-30 "Bitter Sweet"	4,800
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"Sitting Pretty" (Para.) (6 days) (25c-40c)	2,000	"Duck Soup" (Para.) (7 days)	6,500	High 1-6-34 "Duck Soup" (7 days)	6,500
							Low 5-27 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,500
Boyd	2,400	40c-65c	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week-6 days)	24,000	"Little Women" (Radio) (1st week-6 days)	30,000	High 1-6-34 "Little Women"	30,000
							Low 12-23 "Right to Romance"	8,000
Earle	2,000	40c-65c	"Above the Clouds" (Col.) (6 days)	23,000	"Girl Without a Room" (Para.) (6 days)	26,000	High 1-7 "Breach of Promise"	29,000
							Low 10-21 "Saturday's Millions"	10,000
Fox	3,000	35c-75c	"I Am Suzanne" (Fox) (2nd week-6 days)	18,500	"I Am Suzanne" (Fox) (1st week-6 days)	28,500	High 4-22 "Cavalcade"	29,000
							Low 8-5 "F. P. 1"	13,000
Karlton	1,000	30c-50c	"By Candlelight" (U.) (6 days)	6,000	"Should Ladies Behave?" (MGM) (6 days)	3,500	High 4-8 "42nd Street"	7,700
							Low 8-12 "Ann Carver's Profession"	2,500
Keith's	2,000	25c-40c	"Wine, Women and Song" (Chadwick) (4 days)	3,000	"As Husbands Go" (Fox) (6 days)	7,000	High 1-7 "Self Defense"	11,500
							Low 11-18 "Worst Woman in Paris?"	4,500
Stanley	3,700	40c-65c	"Dancing Lady" (MGM) (2nd week-6 days)	11,000	"Dancing Lady" (MGM) (1st week-6 days)	22,000	High 11-25 "I'm No Angel"	32,500
							Low 6-10 "The Silver Cord"	9,000
Stanton	1,700	30c-55c	"White Woman" (Para.) (6 days)	7,200	"Lady Killer" (W. B.) (6 days)	8,500	High 6-3 "The Little Giant"	10,000
							Low 7-14 "I Love That Man"	4,000
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"Fugitive Lovers" (MGM) and "S. O. S. Iceberg" (U.)	5,700	"The World Changes" (F. N.) and "Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	6,000	High 1-21 "Frisco Jenny"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "What! No Beer?"	3,500
Liberty	1,800	25c-40c	"Secret of the Blue Room" (U.)	2,200	"White Woman" (Para.)	2,500	High 11-18 "I'm No Angel"	12,500
							Low 2-11 "Central Park"	1,000
Music Box	3,000	25c-40c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio) (2nd week)	4,000	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio) (1st week)	8,000	High 12-9 "Little Women"	14,000
							Low 5-13 "No More Orchids"	1,600
Oriental	2,040	25c-35c	"Mary Stevens, M. D." (W. B.)	2,000	"Little Women" (Radio) (2nd week)	2,000	High 10-14 "Rafter Romance"	14,000
							Low 11-18 "College Coach"	1,600
Paramount	3,008	25c-40c	"Design for Living" (Para.) and "Orient Express" (Fox)	4,000	"Mr. Skitch" (Para.) and "The Thundering Herd" (Para.)	6,000	High 11-18 "The Way to Love"	12,000
							Low 12-2 "Walls of Gold"	3,500
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	5,800	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week)	4,000	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Madame Butterfly"	1,600
San Francisco
Filmarte	1,400	25c-40c	"The Red Head" (Ind.)	3,000			High 10-7 "Eat 'Em Alive"	6,300
							Low 4-22 "Holzapfel Knows Everything"	1,300
Fox	4,600	10c-35c	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.) and "Riders of Destiny" (Monogram)	14,000	"Charming Deceiver" (Majestic) and "Under Secret Orders" (Ind.)	12,000	High 4-8 "Should a Woman Tell?" and "Speed Demon"	15,500
							Low 9-9 "Important Witness" and "Sensation Hunters"	7,000
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-40c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio) (2nd week)	14,500	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio) (1st week)	19,500	High 2-11 "The Mummy"	25,500
							Low 10-21 "My Woman"	8,000
Orpheum	3,000	15c-40c	"Cross Country Cruise" (U.) and "Ace of Aces" (Radio)	7,000	"By Candlelight" (U.) and "Girl Without a Room" (Para.)	8,000	High 10-14 "Ladies Must Love"	15,000
							Low 12-30 "Kennel Murder Case" and "The Thundering Herd"	6,000
Paramount	2,670	15c-55c	"Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen" (Para.) and "As Husbands Go" (Fox)	9,000	"Design for Living" (Para.) and "Smoky" (Fox)	9,500	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	40,000
							Low 12-23 "Sitting Pretty"	7,000
United Artists	1,200	25c-50c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (3rd week)	13,000	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week)	15,000	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	17,000
							Low 8-26 "The Wrecker"	4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-90c	"Dancing Lady" (MGM) (2nd week)	20,000	"Dancing Lady" (MGM) (1st week)	26,000	High 1-6-34 "Dancing Lady"	26,000
							Low 5-27 "Story of Temple Drake"	10,000
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-50c	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.) (2nd week)	3,750	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.) (1st week)	5,500	High 12-9 "Little Women"	8,500
							Low 8-19 "The Rebel"	2,500
Fifth Avenue	2,750	25c-55c	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox)	8,250	"Dancing Lady" (MGM)	8,500	High 8-5 "Tugboat Annie"	19,250
							Low 3-18 "From Hell to Heaven" and "Secret of Madame Blanche"	5,000
Liberty	2,000	10c-25c	"The Thundering Herd" (Para.) and "His Private Secretary" (Showmens)	4,250	"Goodbye Love" (Radio) and "Hold the Press" (Col.)	4,250	High 7-19 "What Price Innocence?"	5,500
							Low 6-24 "Uptown New York"	3,000
Music Box	950	25c-50c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio) (2nd week)	3,600	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio) (1st week)	5,500	High 11-11 "Footlight Parade"	8,000
							Low 12-23 "If I Were Free"	3,250
Orpheum	2,500	25c-50c	"From Headquarters" (F. N.) and "Smoky" (Fox)	6,500	"Hell and High Water" (Para.) and "Film Parade" (General)	6,500	High 10-21 "Bureau of Missing Persons" (6 days)	9,000
							Low 12-16 "Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men" and "The Mad Game"	5,000
Paramount	3,050	25c-50c	"Dancing Lady" (MGM) (2nd run) (25c-55c)	4,000	"The Fire Chief" (MGM) and "My Lips Betray" (Fox)	5,500	High 1-7 "A Farewell to Arms"	9,500
							Low 1-13-34 "Dancing Lady" (2nd run)	4,000
Roxy	2,275	25c-50c	"Bombay Mail" (U.) (6 days)	4,000	"Female" (F. N.) (6 days)	4,500	High 10-28 "Ladies Must Love"	14,000
							Low 12-9 "A Man's Castle"	4,000

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

DON'T SELL "BALLY" SHORT!

We define two types of able showmen. The first tends to the conservative in his advertising, doing a sound job of selling along lines that more approximate dignity and utilizing ballyhoo perhaps only when a cold analysis of its worth makes such use advisable.

The second leans toward higher pressure, added excitement, more color in the exploitation employed in addition to the more conventional forms of theatre advertising, but is more sympathetic toward ballyhoo exploitation.

Both types use commendable judgment and discretion based on ability and experience; both obtain results. So, if we may be permitted to speak our piece on the merits and demerits of ballyhoo, we believe that the appeal of such advertising in exploitation depends to an extent upon the temperament of the individual manager who employs it; and if this be so, then the box office possibilities of this medium should not be neglected, nor should they be overestimated.

But never should ballyhoo be completely ignored, fan magazine critics notwithstanding. For surely your courageous showman is not prepared to lay down his arms at the first blast of contrary opinion. If his attraction in his eyes has some measure of box office worth, though self-appointed magazine prophets cry "phooey," he is going to fight with every available weapon —including ballyhoo—for his rightful share of business.

Fifteen years ago there were very few fan magazines to influence opinion, and rare was the newspaper with a motion picture critic. Nevertheless, patrons stayed away from poor pictures in large numbers and stood, if necessary, to see the better fare.

"Lay off the dogs" is as true today as we were taught it in 1920. But go after those attractions you believe have sufficient audience possibilities.

And don't sell "bally" short, for with all the abuse and punishment this form of advertising has been subject to, nevertheless we say it is as potent today as it was in the time of P. T. Barnum.

▽ ▽ ▽

"INGENUITY IS THE MOTHER——"

Daily grows our admiration for the showmanship of the manager at the helm of the small town theatre, for in these situations, to paraphrase, "ingenuity is the mother of invention." Decidedly limited in advertising expenditure, the smaller community theatreman must use most everything but money to put over his campaigns; and, judging from the results that reach this department, he does a job, in many instances, that could stand on its feet in a much larger spot.

So we are pleased to publicize in the following pages some of the exploitation of Manager R. M. Thomason, Crystal Theatre, Ellis, Kansas, whose activities are quite typical of the profitable effort expended by members in countless similar situations.

Therefore, it is most appropriate at this time to express our appreciation of this very good work in the small towns, and to extend a sincere invitation to the "silent" showmen in these communities to contribute to our pages for the information and benefit of the membership.

▽ ▽ ▽

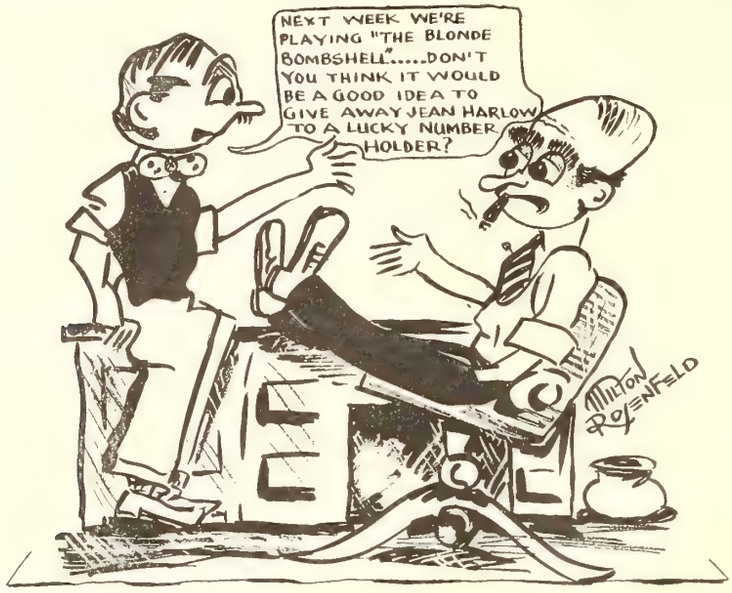
MOVIES TAKE A BOW

A newspaper's editorial attitude on motion pictures and motion picture theatres quite often depends upon the relations between editors and the local theatre managers. There have been, and there are, numerous cases wherein the showman's diplomacy and good judgment, or lack of these qualities, had largely to do with what their papers said or did not say about the screen.

Obtaining favorable comment from this source is of necessity a premier duty of the manager, and Round Tabler Harry Botwick, skipper of the Paramount Theatre, Rutland, Vt., sends along a lead editorial from the Rutland Daily Herald that indicates how well he is discharging this duty.

Headed "Tribute to the Movies—Not Paid For," the editorial praises the motion picture in no uncertain terms, finishing with the following:

> "With all their faults, and in spite of their critics, the movies bring more surcease and more sunshine into more lives than does any other single influence in this modern world of ours."



That so conservative a newspaper "goes all the way" is indicative of the very sound situation between the press and theatre in Rutland, a condition that managers in less favored locations should strive to duplicate.

▽ ▽ ▽

In answer to the many queries, there is no limit to the number of campaigns individual managers may submit each month for the Quigley Awards. Entrants are encouraged to forward as many campaigns as they see fit.

A. Mike Vogel

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS!

Would Milt's idea play to capacity?

Malone Hustles On "Scandals" Campaign

Taking advantage of the many national tieups, and putting on a number of local gags, Manager H. H. Maloney, Loew's State, Providence, R. I., executed a well rounded campaign on his showing of "Roman Scandals."

The cooperation of Cantor's radio sponsors resulted in a city-wide plug on the part of all stores handling the product, the highlight being an elaborate display containing 40 x 60 theatre signs, posters and cutouts of Cantor in the windows of one of the biggest markets. Other windows were secured on a cosmetic hookup with many of the leading drug stores, and other effective hookups were made with furniture and women's apparel stores.

The song hits were plugged on the radio and in the music stores, thousands of tabloids were distributed, and a number of other selling slants were put over to obtain complete advertising and publicity coverage on this attraction.

Work For A Quigley Award!

Bamberger Makes Store Tieup On Short

The merchandising possibilities of Walt Disney's "Lullaby Land" were exploited to their fullest by that able showman, Herman C. Bamberger, skipper of the Poli, Springfield, Mass., who worked up some very smooth cooperation with the infant wear department of one of his leading stores.

A special baby exhibit named after the title of the short was installed in the store, a large poster at the entrance calling attention to the showing at the theatre (see photo). A similar artistic display was carried in one of the windows, adorned with other Disney cartoon toy characters.

Besides this, the store also ran special newspaper advertising calling attention to the special displays and of course the picture, the entire cost to the theatre for all the promotion being a short trailer announcing the store, presentation, which was run immediately after "Lullaby Land."

Work For A Quigley Award!

Bamberger's "Short" Tieup

Caldwell Decorates Light Poles on "Dinner at Eight"

Obtaining permission to use city electric light poles for theatre advertising is not the easiest thing to put over in any city, and Wally Caldwell, of Loew's Valentine, Toledo, Ohio, doesn't say what kind of magic or pressure he used to hang rope streamers from pole to pole, curb to curb, with four one-sheet muslin banners back to back, tied to each streamer advertising "Dinner at Eight."

Another splash along the same lines was an 40-foot road show banner placed on the face of an office building in the heart of the city, and covering two floors of windows, all this topped with a transparent valence that entirely surrounded the marquee.

Wally turned himself loose on windows for this date by promoting three full windows in his leading department store on men's and women's fashions, dinnerware, etc., against backgrounds of large clock dials containing the title in flittered script letters. Other good window locations were also secured, including that of a furniture store which featured a dinner table set for eight, with oil paintings and three sheet poster cutouts as background.

Restaurants used the cards reading, "We serve dinner from 5 to 7 so you can see "Dinner at Eight," a slick gag that has been used effectively in other spots.

Phillips Puts Over Clever Lobby Show

We are pleased to hear again from one of our old members, Manager Ralph E. Phillips, Paramount, Mitchell, S. D., previously at the State, Chattanooga, Tenn., who reports on some of his recent theatre activities that brought extra admissions.

Foremost among these was an electrical appliance show put on in cooperation with the merchants of his city in which for an entire week the lobby was given over to an exposition of electrical labor saving devices (see photo). In return, the participating merchants plugged the showing with window displays, newspaper ads and heralds distributed to all customers, the local papers coming across with a lot of free space. Ralph reports that over 5,000 attended the free lobby show, a great many of which also bought their way into the theatre.

A tieup with the local Kiwannis Club on a Christmas tree toy matinee gave the theatre a splendid prestige build-up which included letters of appreciation from the club officers, mention of which was also carried in the local press.

To ward off his pre-Christmas slump, and to save on advertising during that time, Phillips hooked in with one of his local papers on a want ad contest, in which cash prizes and theatre tickets were given for the best letters describing the advantages of using the classified page. Large free ads were obtained in advance and during the contest stressing the prize theatre tickets, and also the theatre attractions.

Seems like Brother Phillips is keeping things stirred up out in that section of the country, and we trust you will be more regular in your membership obligations, Ralph.

Phillips' Electric Lobby

Brenner and McKenzie Hit With "Going Hollywood"

Another sprightly campaign embracing animated displays was that directed by Manager Joe Brenner, Loew's State, Boston, Mass., together with MGM exploiteer, Bert McKenzie, on "Going Hollywood," in which lifesize enlargements of Davies and Crosby used in shadow boxes against a circulating, revolving and colored background.

A combination radio and victrola was placed in the lobby, and the Crosby records from the picture played at intervals, the Brunswick record people also planting their regular advertising strips, including theatre copy, in all their retail outlets. The stores further cooperated with window displays which carried the title pages of the song hits and theatre posters.

AWARD INTEREST MOUNTS

Theatremen on both sides of the water continue to comment enthusiastically upon the Award project, and below we are pleased to quote from the late mails.

▽ ▽ ▽

SPYROS P. SKOURAS, President
Fox West Coast Theatres

I shall be very happy to serve on the Committee of Judges in connection with the Quigley Awards for the most meritorious theatre exploitation campaigns.

I think the idea is a very good one and should be productive of excellent results to all participants.

▽ ▽ ▽

LIONEL H. KEENE
Southern Representative
Loew Theatres, Atlanta, Ga.

I am happy to express myself on the very commendable Managers' Exploitation Contest sponsored by Martin Quigley and the Managers' Round Table Club, am with you heartily on this and even venture to state that one of Dixie's boys of the Loew organization may deserve the big Award. More power to you!

▽ ▽ ▽

WALTER GOULD
General Manager, United Artists
Mexico

The importance of the Quigley Awards to foreign showmen cannot be overestimated because the Motion Picture Herald exerts a tremendous influence in film circles throughout Central and South America. I look for spirited rivalry among the more enlightened exhibitors of Mexico for the honor of winning one of the plaques.

▽ ▽ ▽

ENRIQUE BAEZ
General Manager, United Artists
Brazil

The Quigley Awards are a challenge to the showmanship spirit of exhibitors the world over. They will promote a keen and healthy spirit of competition that will act as a spur to greater merchandising achievements. It is human nature to want to beat the other fellow. Besides, a contest inevitably brings to light outstanding examples of individual accomplishment. It has been said, men are like apples in a barrel riding over a bumpy road—the big ones always come to the top. My congratulations to Motion Picture Herald and Managers' Round Table Club for sponsoring a movement that is certain to raise the level of showmanship in every quarter of the globe.

Rules and Information

A QUIGLEY AWARD will be presented each month during 1934 for the theatre exploitation campaign selected by the judges as possessing the highest merit of all those submitted to the Managers' Round Table Club on pictures played between the first and last days of that month. . . .

THE QUIGLEY GRAND AWARD will be presented to the theatre manager submitting, in the opinion of the judges, the campaign possessing the highest merit on any picture played between January 1 and December 31, 1934. . . .

CAMPAIGNS should be forwarded as soon as completed, but may be forwarded after the last day of the month, provided they are on pictures played during that month. This includes pictures played on the last days of one month and the first days of the following. . . .

EVERY THEATRE MANAGER everywhere is eligible for the Awards, including non-members of the Club. Campaigns from foreign lands will be given extra time to provide for mailing time. . . .

MANAGERS may enter more than one campaign each month, and may enter as many as they see fit during the entire year. . . .

EVERY CAMPAIGN will receive the same break. Managers with small budgets will receive the same consideration as those with large appropriations. Remember, "it's not how much, but how good." . . .

QUIGLEY AWARDS COMMITTEE
1790 Broadway New York

RUDOLPH A. KUEHN
Manager, Fabian
Hoboken, New Jersey

News of the Quigley Award is headline copy to every member of the Round Table Club and all managers. The opportunity for this real recognition should not be passed up, and you can count upon me to do my best to cooperate through 1934. Best of luck and all wishes for success.

A. J. SONOSKY
Manager, Capitol
Aberdeen, S. D.

I believe the Quigley Award idea to be a meritorious one, indeed. Good showmen are everlastingly trying for accomplishment, if for no other reason than the personal satisfaction of doing a good job. They do a job for the love of doing, in an enthusiastic and responsive manner, whether they receive credit or a pat on the back, or not. However, they are not adverse to such credit, and these Quigley Awards will certainly be cherished by the winners as a visible proof of superior accomplishment.

▽ ▽ ▽

HARRY M. SUGARMAN
Manager, Egyptian
Los Angeles, Cal.

It is indeed a progressive step and most certainly opens a field of recognition to the alert and thinking managers.

It is their opportunity to express themselves and receive recognition of such expression, and like the director, the story writer, and other members of our industry whose names are synonymous with self-expression, so, too, can theatre managers become recognized as leaders in their phase of a business depending upon personality and self-expression, of which exploitation is the most lucrative of the various phases of self-expression in theatre operation.

▽ ▽ ▽

AL ZIMBALIST
Advertising Director
Saint Louis Amusement Co.

Count us in and start polishing the pages for our campaigns. Saint Louis Warner managers hereby affix their willingness to actively participate in the Quigley Awards drive. Watch our smoke!

▽ ▽ ▽

MORRIS ROSENTHAL
Manager, Majestic
Bridgeport, Conn.

At last the theatre manager is coming into his own. After all these years his work is no wto be recognized along with the national and distributor's exploitation men. It seems like irony that the men in the field who have been instrumental in selling some of the producers' mistakes to the public for years are the last persons to receive recognition.

I for one feel that these awards to be given by the Motion Picture Herald will do much to stimulate activities in the field year after year.

Hammond Plants Plane In Lobby on "Skyway"

Sam Hammond, whom the membership will recall as one of the World's Fair prize winners in our last summer's exploitation contest, has transferred his activities from the Criterion, Anderson, S. C., to the Cavalier, Norfolk, Va. He sends us a report on one of his last campaigns at his previous assignment in which he put over a number of snappy ideas on his showing of "Skyway."

For lobby display, Sam promoted a lot of flying accessories from his local airport and posted paper in the surrounding area, inviting the folks to come and see the exhibit. To embellish this, a plane was borrowed from a local flying enthusiast, the ship being planted in front of the theatre (see photo) where it was used during the run of the picture, the total cost coming to $15.

Sam's Practical Plane

During the rush hours the ship was towed around town with a banner on the fuselage calling attention to the picture. At prominent corners the motor was cranked and handbills distributed to the crowds which gathered. Besides its use as a street stunt, the plane was flown over the city and nearby towns at low altitude and passes attached to many parachutes were dropped over various locations. Sam reports that as a result of all this activity, the picture played to over 5,000 paid admissions, which is something to enthuse over in any town the size of Anderson.

One of the first things that this Round Tabler put over in Norfolk was a Thanksgiving "potato" show for the benefit of local charities. Admission was two sweet potatoes and nine barrels of the yams were turned over to the Salvation Army.

Dick and Ken Speed Up On "Invisible Man"

"The Invisible Man" was evidently quite in demand by the time the picture arrived at the RKO Hillstreet, Los Angeles, Cal., due to the efforts of Manager Dick Moss and Publicity Chief Ken McGaffey, who had the town running ragged with a host of unusual slants.

Announcements of the engagement were made to all local drama critics and columnists, with telegrams from "Invisible Man," and window cards covered the downtown area advertising $10,000 reward for his capture, dead or alive. Masked girls were used on the streets, handing out "Beware" heralds, copy of which offered prizes for best suggestions on capturing the "man."

Lobby background was in keeping with atmosphere of picture, with all lights changed to green. All poster work carried out the eerie effect, with a cutout figure next the boxoffice highlighting the atmosphere of the picture.

A still lobby-guessing contest was one of the features of the plugging of "Right to Romance," in which a number of stills from Harding's previous pictures were posted, and patrons invited to test their memories by guessing the names of the attractions.

The Culbertson bridge short on the same bill was tied in to a free bridge school at one of the department stores, the theatre advertising the school and the store carrying theatre credits in their advertising. Bridge rules were distributed to all patrons, and one of the papers ran a theatre box under the daily Culbertson syndicate bridge lesson.

Work For A Quigley Award!

Students Study "Emperor Jones" Picture Script

In cooperation with United Artists, the National Council of Teachers of English, through the regional committees on photoplay appreciation, are continuing the "Emperor Jones" high school students' criticism contest now being conducted in high schools throughout the United States, as a part of senior English study for high school students.

As the picture has not yet been shown in many spots, there is still opportunity for managers who have dated the picture to contact their local high school English teachers for the purpose of making this tiein in which many prizes are being offered for the best student criticisms.

Old Time Bike Stops Some Traffic

From new member Newell Howard, publicist of the Ulman and the New Theatres, Salisbury, Md., comes a neat campaign on "Little Women" that he reports did swell business day-and-date at both houses in the face of bad weather and tough opposition.

A novel bally was an old timer high wheel bicycle, ridden by a trick cyclist. To the bike was attached a two-wheel trailer carrying an inverted "V" sign, and the outfit illustrated in the accompanying photo shows why a lot of attention was attracted on the streets and in the nearby towns.

Newell also put over the press book sampler contest to good returns, as the folks down in his section are skilled in this kind of needlework and went for the idea in pleasing numbers. The inclusion of a number of other stunts rounded out the drive.

Newell's High-Bike Gag

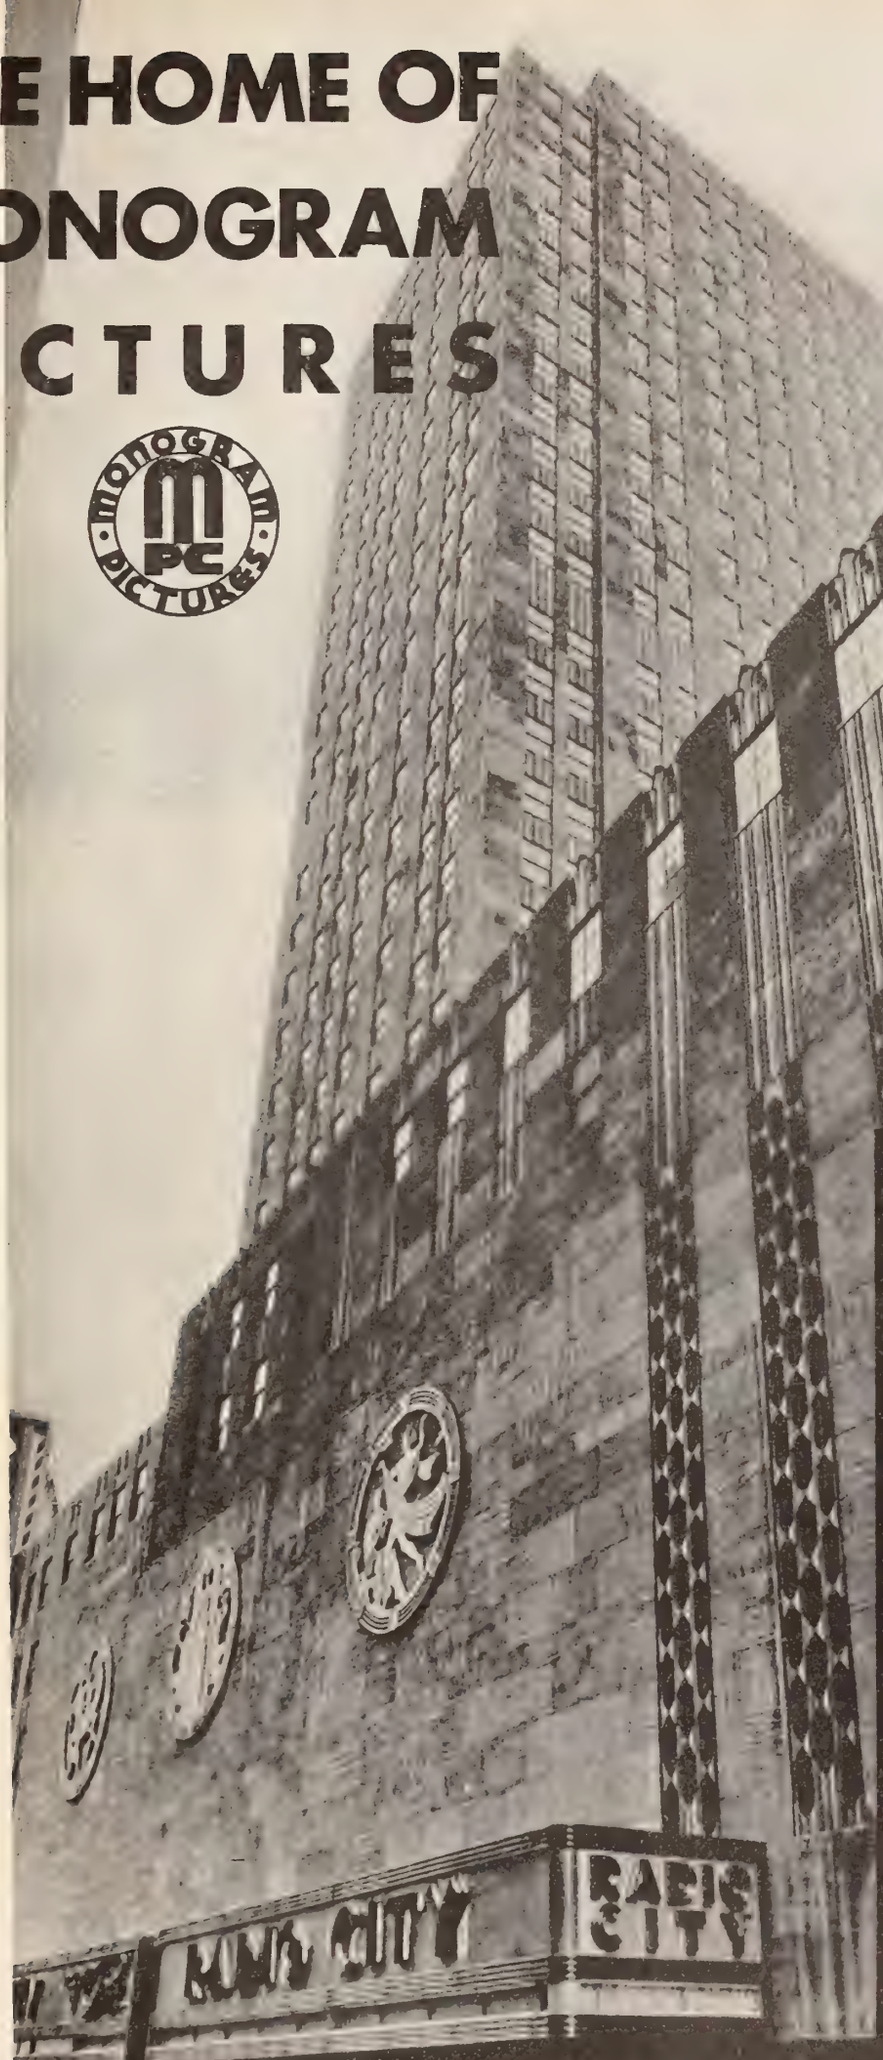
Howard states that he is happy to pass along his street gag to those who haven't used it, and is ready to furnish further details to any member wanting more information. Nice spirit, brother.

Work For A Quigley Award!

Dancin' the "Carioca"



If a lot of theatres playing "Flying Down to Rio" do not tie up with their local ballrooms on the new dance in the picture, the "Carioca," it won't be the fault of Leon J. Bamberger, of RKO Radio's sales promotion staff, who has already contacted over 2,000 leading dance halls throughout the country.

Broadsides giving all details, including a description of the dance steps and shots of the various positions posed by Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers of the cast have been sent to the ballroom people, with instructions regarding the tiein with the local theatres dating the attraction.

HARDING ART GOES CLASS. United Artists' Hal Horne invited a group of top line artists to a showing of Ann Harding in "Gallant Lady" and the above illustrates some of the art impressions inspired by the picture and created by these famous names, Howard Chandler Christy, Diego Rivera, McClelland Barclay, James Montgomery Flagg and Hayden Hayden. Mats of this fine art, in various sizes, are now available for advertising and publicity.

THE HOME OF MONOGRAM PICTURES

COMING RELEASES

WOMAN'S MAN

with

JOHN HALLIDAY WALLACE FORD
KITTY KELLY MARGUERITE de la MOTTE

Based on Adela Rogers St. John's magazine story. Supervised by Ben Verschleiser. Directed by Edward Ludwig.

BEGGARS IN ERMINE

with

LIONEL ATWILL BETTY FURNESS
JAMES BUSH HENRY B. WALTHALL

Based on the novel by Esther Lynd Day. Supervised by W. T. Lackey. Directed by Phil Rosen.

MYSTERY LINER

with

NOAH BEERY
ASTRID ALLYN CORNELIUS KEEFE

Based on Edgar Wallace's mystery-thriller. Supervised by Paul Malvern. Directed by William Nigh.

W. RAY JOHNSTON
President

•

TREM CARR
Vice-President, in charge of production

Showmen Whizzing Over "Footlight" Slants

The boys out in the field are still striking fire with their broadsides on "Footlight Parade" and the following from various spots are the highlights of some of the individual campaigns.

Stanley, Camden, N. J.

Manager Joe Murdock, working with Floyd Fitzsimmons, district publicist, went after the factories in that section and had a lot of single dollar bills wrapped in imprinted cellophane which were included in the regular payrolls, the "picture" money being exchanged for regulation dollars. The boys also used a lot of "girl," lobby and street stuff and also put on a regular Hollywood opening.

Warner, Los Angeles, Cal.

Lou Halper, Warner West Coast theatre head, and his staff put over some real sock stuff, including a special newspaper section of solid pages of cooperative ads, all of which of course plugged the picture. Harry Maizlich promoted a number of well known orchestra leaders and picked musicians from their bands to entertain from a stand erected in front of the theatre.

At the opening, a broadcast was arranged from a blimp cruising above the theatre, and a parade which marched up Hollywood Boulevard included a squad of marines and many of the girls who appeared in the picture, a number of whom, in costume, rode on a special float, designed by Frank Murphy, Warner Bros. electrical engineer.

Metropolitan, Houston, Tex.

Manager E. E. Collins and Warner Exploiteer Allen Glenn take the bows for this campaign. Unusual was the erection of a huge turntable on a marquee opposite the theatre, upon which at various times a group of girls formed tableaux, lighted at night with spotlights from the Metropolitan.

The stocking window stunt was also put on in a leading apparel store, wherein the window was so covered that only the girls' legs could be seen as they paraded. A "pick your star" newspaper contest was also promoted in which readers were asked to select attractive girls from a layout and to list the qualities they thought the girls must possess to attain stardom.

Paramount, Rutland, Vt.

Here Round Tabler Harry Botwick put on the sort of campaign he is noted for on the bigger attractions, and the following stunts are taken from his 10-page report that included a six-sheet pasted on lobby floor for two weeks in advance, 1,000-watt flood lamps illuminating lobby.

Tieup with leading store returned 30-inch free display ad, window displays and free imprinted balloon distribution to children. Heralds and balloons also distributed to capacity house on midnight preview of attraction preceding "Footlights."

Unusual broadcasting idea was put on opening day when patrons were admitted half hour in advance to listen to special broadcast from stage set to resemble studio. Wire was run from pick-up arms of house non-sync to remote control amplifier on stage which picked up half-hour broadcast on picture from local station. The gag was well advertised and went over tremendously, the entire cost to Botwick being only $9.

Club Calendar

FEBRUARY

1st	Clark Gable's Birthday U. S. Flag Raised in Hawaii—1893 Ground Hog Day
3rd	Woodrow Wilson Died—1924 Horace Greeley Born—1811 Mendelssohn (German Composer) Born—1809
4th	Col. Lindberg's Birthday—1904 Mass. Ratified Constitution—1788 Aaron Burr Born—1756
6th	Ramon Novarro's Birthday
7th	Charles Dickens Born—1812 John Ruskin Born—1819 General Sherman Born—1820
8th	Charles Ruggles' Birthday
9th	Nebraska Admitted to Union—1867 Ronald Colman's Birthday William H. Harrison (9th President) Born—1773 Roosevelt Natl. Memorial Day
10th	Daniel Boone Born—1734 Thomas Edison Born—1847
12th	Abraham Lincoln Born—1809
14th	St. Valentine's Day Arizona Admitted to Union—1912 Stuart Erwin's Birthday
15th	John Barrymore's Birthday N. J. Abolished Slavery—1804 Destruction of Maine—1898
16th	Al Jolson's Birthday Chester Morris' Birthday
17th	1st Telephone Exchange Opened Mary Brian's Birthday J. Harold Murray's Birthday
18th	Adolph Menjou's Birthday Jefferson Davis Inaugurated Pres. of Confederacy—1861 Jimmy Durante's Birthday
22nd	Geo. Washington Born—1732 James Russell Lowell Born—1807
25th	Victor Hugo Born—1802 Zeppo Marx's Birthday
26th	William Cody (Buffalo Bill) Born—1845
27th	Henry Wadsworth Longfellow Born—1807 Joan Bennett's Birthday Franchot Tone's Birthday

That jazz flivver gag sure went the rounds in selling "College Humor" and the above is one of the latest received, from Eddie Haley, Fitchburg Theatre, a Round Tabler, of Fitchburg, Mass.

Street Float Features Ken's "Lady" Campaign

Ken Taylor, the youthful Uvalde, Texas, showman responsible for the effective campaigns at the Strand Theatre in the home town of Vice-President Garner, sends in some interesting exploitation on his showing of "Lady for a Day" which contain a lot of good box office angles. He describes at length his adaptation of the press book barrel stunt, planting the gag in front of a nearby vacant store, that he reports garnered lots of attention.

Ken's "Lady" Street Float

Ken constructed an ingenious street float, in which he tried to carry out the idea of an apple vendor in front of an office building. The accompanying photo shows the result. He promoted a fruit cart, filled it with apples, and not being able to find an old woman to act as the "Apple Annie," went ahead and dressed up one of his house staff in black skirt and blonde wig.

Evidently, the difficulties that beset showmen in the smaller towns do not discourage this manager, for although he may not be able to accomplish what he originally sets out to do, nevertheless the results are very interesting, if not aesthetic. We are happy to have heard from Taylor again, and trust he will keep us informed of what's what down in his section of the Lone Star state.

Work For A Quigley Award!

Don Malloy's Many Newspaper Tieins

In many instances, the neighborhood newspapers published in various sections of the bigger cities have potent drawing power, and Manager Don Malloy, Shakespeare, Chicago, Ill., capitalizes on these extra patronage possibilities with a flock of strong hookups in the Outlook, the leading paper in the Oakland section of Chicago, where the theatre is situated.

Prominent among the tieups is a weekly co-op page, in which passes are given in a misspelled word contest, with the theatre and attraction of course given a strong plug in the center of the layout. In addition, free tickets are also given each week to a list of names selected at random from the neighborhood.

Don himself conducts a film chatter column in the paper containing interesting dope on his coming releases, and draws liberally upon his press books for ideas that the paper can utilize.

The amount of space this Round Tabler grabs off every week indicates that the sheet evidently goes for picture stuff as a source of extra advertising. It's good selling.

AD MAT Service

—THAT CONSERVES TIME, ELIMINATES INCONVENIENCE, AND INSURES PROMPT DELIVERY, TO YOUR DESK, OF ALL YOUR NEWSPAPER REQUIREMENTS FROM A CENTRAL SOURCE .....

INDIVIDUAL PICTURE SERVICE . . . Complete newspaper ad mat campaign (10 to 11 ads) on all feature pictures released by the Major Producing and Distributing Companies. . . . Sent in accordance with your specific titles and play dates or rendered in accordance with national release dates.

GENERAL SERVICE . . . Shipped at regular intervals and includes a variety of seasonal and attention getting borders and ad layouts designed for holiday, double feature, combination policy and gala occasions. . . . Also miscellaneous slugs for short subjects, dates, headings, etc.

"It's to your AD-vantage" to write for details.

UTA

United Theatre Advertisers

330 WEST 42nd STREET, NEW YORK CITY

SMALL TOWN BOX OFFICE HELPS

Round Tabler in Community of 2,000 Describes a Few Ideas That Have Kept Up His Grosses During Slump Weeks; Details Plans for Clever Animated Displays

The limitations of advertising budgets, especially in the smaller towns, have brought out many ingenious ideas put across at little cost. The ideas listed on this page from Manager R. M. Thomason, Crystal Theatre, Ellis, Kan., population 2,000, though not necessarily original, are presented for the information of other progressive members in like situations. We refer readers particularly to the successful and inexpensive animated displays and their description.

Weekly Football Night

Midweek business being off during first few weeks after school started, Thomason tied up with coach and principal of high school for football pep meeting at theatre one night a week during playing season. Students were allowed reduction of five cents from regular prices, with team as guests. School also furnished extra appropriate stage entertainment.

This not only brought business back above normal, but gained further good will.

School Drama Club Tieup

Recognizing the drawing potentialities of his high school dramatic club, Thomason worked out an arrangement by which the amateur thespians presented their plays at the theatre. In return, a slight reduction was made in admission prices on pictures selected by school officials that of course were run in addition.

Animated Displays

Consistent use of animated displays, simple in construction and operation, have proven profitable for this member and a description of the barrel used as a street bally on "Three Cornered Moon" (see photo) no doubt will prove interesting.

The barrel was painted green with black hoops. A square cardboard box topped with cutout was lettered on all sides and revolved slowly. The animation was created with an ordinary broomstick used as the shaft, belted to a small fan motor, oscillating type, on the bottom of the barrel, which supplied sufficient power.

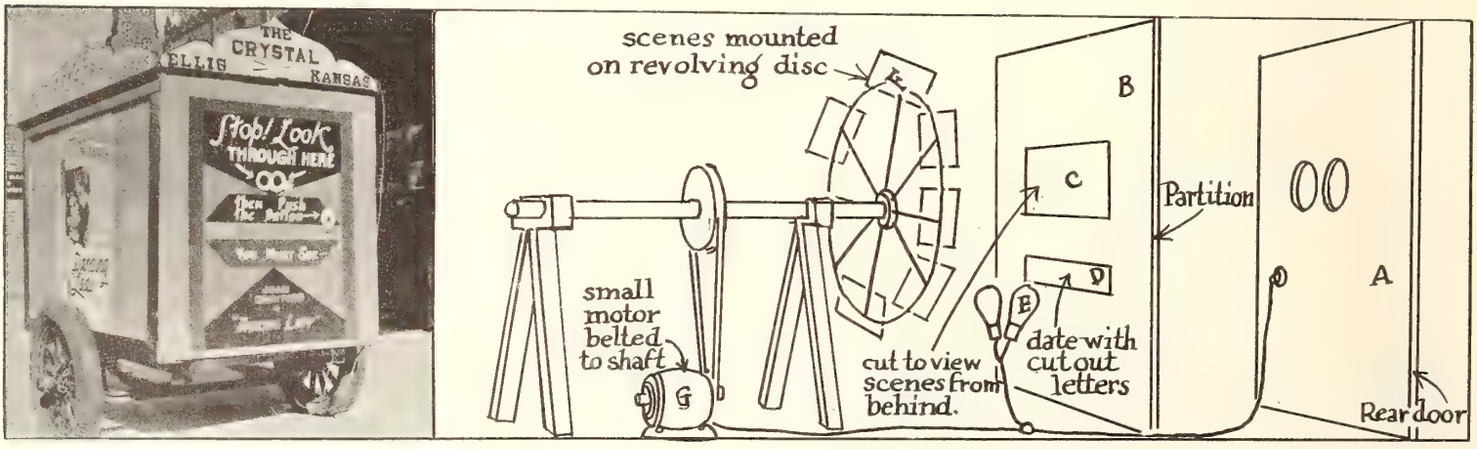
Animated Barrel Gag

Trailer Peep Show

Below is illustrated and described another animation built into the theatre advertising auto trailer. It was very well done, gathered continuous crowds both in Ellis and in the surrounding towns, and Thomason states that the entire cost was not over 50 cents.

Holiday Ideas

As the city operates its own electric light system, a tieup was made for strings of light to cover the front of the theatre for Christmas decorations, current being supplied by tapping off from the power lines. The interior of the theatre was decorated with fireproof crepe paper streamers and colored lights.



A seasonal lobby display took the form of a three-plane picture of a group of camels in the desert and flashing star in a blue sky background. Blue bulbs were used for sky effect, red for the camels and brown covered bulbs for the sand, all lights hidden in the base or behind each plane. The star was cut out and a five-watt bulb in a cigar box with a flasher in circuit to supply the twinkling effect.

A snappy New Year's display was a silhouette of a sailing vessel with blue waves in one plane, a yellow moon for the background plane and cutout waves painted in blue green for the front plane. The lights on each of these planes were the same color of the paints. Around the moon were suspended flittered cutout letters with the following copy, "Happy Sailing for 1934," a pocket knife and screw driver being the main tools.

Preston's Auction Gag Helps Poor

Round Tabler Bill Preston, formerly at the State, Quincy, Mass., shoots along a two-column ad from his new assignment at the Arcadia, Portsmouth, N. H., that gives all the details of his "Auction Night" stunt. Bill modernizes this slant by calling it the "N R A Way," the copy going on to say that he pays full price to local merchants for live turkeys, ducks and chickens which are to be auctioned off to patrons for what they are willing to pay, the proceeds of the sale going to the local needy.

It's a two-way gag that should please, as Bill gets a capacity crowd interested in the inexpensive poultry, and the good will is helped by the donation to the town relief fund. Topping it all, Preston announces himself as the auctioneer, which insures a good show, this old timer knowing how to keep the folks amused and entertained.

TRAILER "PEEP SHOW." Here is Thomason's trailer show referred to above, and detailed drawings of animation. When button is pushed in rear door (A), 100-watt bulbs (E) light up and motor (G) starts, turning cardboard disc (F) with stills passing slowly behind cutout space (C). Stationary transparent cut-out-date letters in space (D). Where motor is not available, electric fan may be used by removing blades and placing belt on shaft.

ACE IDEAS FROM OTHER LANDS

Brussels' Street Stunt

(Left) G. BRAINOS, General Manager, Crystal Palace, Brussels, Belgium, forwards this shot of his clever street bally on Doublepatte and Patachon, a Danish pair of comics very popular in his country. Brainos' lobby front on this attraction is also very attractive and registers big.

(Right) VITTORIO MALPASSUTI, Motion Picture Herald correspondent, Rome, reports the free beer lobby idea at the Cinema Barberini, Rome, Italy on "Evviva la Birra" meaning "What! No Beer?" Evidently, Italian picture patrons went for it with the same enthusiasm shown over here.

Free Beer in Rome

Kanga's Horse-Drawn Flivver

(Left) E. P. KANGA, Regal, Lahore, India, did a lot of traffic-stopping with this gag on "Girl Crazy" which he reports brought in a lot of business. Incidentally, "E. P." had to get around a lot of Government regulations to put this on, and managed to do quite well at that, what?

(Right) GUARANY THEATRE, Porto Alegre, Brazil, is the scene of this "Kid From Spain" opening where the natives, no doubt under the Cantor influence, came out in mobs to see the Brazilian premier of the picture. The advance campaign on this attraction was executed along American lines.

Brazil Wants Cantor

Barcelona Goes Chevalier

(Left) BARCELONA, Spain, in addition to song titles, produces some mighty smart exploitation, as proven by these accompanying photos. The shot above illustrates the slick street bally on "A Bedtime Story," and Al Dean reports the chap at the head cleverly impersonated Chevalier at prominent corners.

(Right) The boat below, advertising "The Sign of the Cross," was used on the Barcelona waterfront where it was seen by an estimated quarter of a million people every day. A bow to the unnamed exploiteers responsible for these clever gags.

Spanish Water Bally

Dublin Likes "Cavalcade"

(Left) DUBLIN, Ireland, would naturally go for "Cavalcade," but the long line in front of the Grand Central Theatre in the Irish metropolis indicates a heap of attendance, borne out by Maurice Ahearn, who states that the attraction played to capacity houses for weeks.

(Right) SIDNEY J. HOBBS, managing director, Empire, Coventry, England, tied up with his leading merchants to feature jig saw puzzles of stars who were booked to play the theatre. The idea was one of Sidney's contributions in a circuit-wide managers' stunt campaign, and it certainly sells the theatre and pictures.

Sid Hobbs' Puzzle Window personalities

TOM OLSEN
has just been appointed district manager over Bellefontaine and Piqua, Ohio, for Schine. Tom was last with Evergreen Amusement Co. in Seattle.

MRS. SADIE ULMAN manager of the Ulman Theatre, Salisbury, Md., has taken over the New Theatre of that city.

FRANK HINES
former RKO Palace manager, Cleveland, has been transferred to the Keith East 105th Street house.

GEORGE HENGER
former zone manager for Warners Brothers, Oklahoma City houses, has been named city manager for Standard Theatres, Inc., there.

MORRIS EPSTEIN has been promoted from assistant manager of the Walker Theatre, Brooklyn to the manager of the Culver Theatre.

R. E. HOOK
of Aliceville, Ala., has opened a new house and has instituted a contest to secure a suitable name.

CARL GRAY
is the owner and manager of the new Eastside Theatre, Panama City, Fla.

E. POLLOCK
has opened the Lake Theatre at Upper Lake, Calif.

MORGAN WALSH
for years a film exchange manager at San Francisco, has taken over the Mission Theatre at Sacramento, Calif.

NICK SAHATI
has succeeded J. Fred Miller as manager of the Paso Robles Theatre, Paso Robles, Calif.

MARTIN ELLIS
is the manager of the newly reopened Broadway in Camden, N. J.

BILL GALLAGHER
formerly of the closed Arcadia, Wilmington, Del., has been transferred to the Lansdowne in Lansdowne, Pa.

LOVEL DURNFORD and GRANT WINTERS are the managers of the Owl Theatre in Covelo, Calif.

J. FRIEDMAN
has taken over the Liberty in Suffern, N. Y., and will reopen it as the Strand.

RALPH MORGAN
has succeeded CLIFF BOYD as manager of the Strand in Cincinnati, Ohio, while HAPPY MEININGER is the new manager of the RKO Capitol.

TOM LOVE
has reopened the Crystal at South Superior, Wyo.

RALPH PHILLIPS
has succeeded BERT KLINE as manager of the Paramount in Mitchell, S. D., while FRED WEIMER, former assistant at the Huron in Huron, S. D., takes over Phillips' old duties.

GILBERT JOSEPHSON
is managing the Monroe, Monroe, N. Y.

TONY STERN
has changed managerial seats with EARL OCHSENBEIN, who goes from the Liberty to the Victoria in Wheeling, West Va.

FORNEY BOWERS
for several years manager of the Union Opera house in New Philadelphia, Ohio, has been named manager of the Orpheum in McKees Rock, Pa., succeeding LESTER HUTCHINSON.

DICK CRUSIGAR
has been transferred from Warners Alhambra, Canton, O., to the Plaza at Sandusky.

W. E. DRUMBAR
is at the helm of the new Joy Theatre at Knoxville, Tenn.

GEORGE E. PORTER has acquired the Foley Theatre, Foley, Fla.

W. L. CHAPIN
has purchased the Lyric in McIntosh, S. D., from S. D. MEYERS.

TED NICHOLAS
former motion picture critic for the Indianapolis News, has been made manager of the Lyric Theatre there.

MARC BOWMAN is managing the Roxy at Seattle, Wash., succeeding RAY GRUMBACHER.

EARLE WRIGHT
suceeds VERNON REAVER as manager of the Poli in New Haven, and BEN COHEN leaves Hartford to go to the College in New Haven.

WALLACE ALLEN
has joined Warners as City Manager in Elmira, N. Y.

M. W. HOOPES
has acquired the Royal Theatre, Panora, Ia., and reopened it.

LARRY RUCH
formerly with Warners Grand in Camden, N. J., is now managing the newly opened Broadway there.

CLUB · PIN

Managers' Round Table Club, Motion Picture Herald, 1790 Broadway, New York. • Send postpaid the number of pins noted below, for which payment is enclosed at $1.00 each (Actual pin is ⅜ of an inch in diameter.)

MEMBER _____

THEATRE _____

ADDRESS _____

CITY _____

STATE _____ HOW MANY? _____

LEONARD KAPLAN
is manager of the State in Sioux Falls, S. D.

C. H. SCHREIBER
has been transferred to the Palace Theatre in Columbus, Ohio.

FRED BRONTE
has reopened the Yuma Theatre in Yuma, Colo., for the winter.

RAY KATZENBACH
has purchased the Emeroson, Brush, Colo., from JOHN ANDERSON.

GERALD GALLAGHER has left the Fox in San Diego to take over the California there.

MAX BRONOW
former assistant manager to BILL HUFFMAN at Valley Stream is back in Philly at the Eureka in the same capacity.

HAROLD GARFINKLE
may now be found managing the newly reconstructed Rialto Theatre in Newark, N. J. Cumup some time, Harold.

ALAN RAPPAPORT
has been transferred from the Princess in Camden, N. J., to the Grand in Vineland, N. J.

WILIAM GALLAGHER
former manager of the closed Arcadia, Wilmington, Del., may now be found at the Lansdowne, Lansdowne, Pa.

FORNEY BOWERS
has returned to the Union Opera House in New Philadelphia, Ohio, after having pinch-hit for LESTER HUTCHEON at the Orpheum in McKees Rocks, Pa.

PAUL BERNARD
is the new manager of the Arena, New York City neighborhood house.

RALPH GOLDBERG
is now city manager of all the Tri-States Theatres in Omaha.

C. E. RICHARDSON
has acquired the Rialto Theatre at Adel, Ia., succeeding O. Benson.

W. J. WERNER
has opened his new Le Seur Theatre at Le Seur, Minn.

C. LYLE
is the skipper of the new Rio Theatre at Enid, Okla.

W. A. BURTON
has purchased the Rialto Theatre at Wessington Springs, S. D.

W. D. FULTON
skipper of the Colonial and Southtown Theatres, Kansas City, recently rented offices in the Zoglin Building on Wyandotte Street.

CHARLES BURKEY
owner of the Summit Theatre, Kansas City, Mo., celebrated the twentieth anniversary of his theatre last week. He is one of the oldest exhibitors in the point of service in Kansas City territory, it is said.

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features which are finished or are in work, but to which release dates have not been assigned, are listed in "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the distributors. Where they vary, the change is probably due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1933, unless otherwise specified.

ALLIED PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
One Year Later	Mary Brian-Russell Hopton	Aug. 25	69	Aug. 12
Picture Brides	Dorothy Mackaill-Regis Toomey	Nov. 1	68	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Bungalow Court
Davy Jones' Locker
Midnight Alarm
Open for Inspection
Silk Trimmed
Slightly Used

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
By Appointment Only	Lew Cody-Aileen Pringle	July 7	67	Dec. 2
Dance, Girl, Dance	Alan Dinehart-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 1	70	Nov. 11
I Have Lived	Alan Dinehart-Anita Page	June 15	69	Sept. 16
In the Money	"Skeets" Gallagher - Lois Wilson - Warren Hymer	Nov. 7	62	Jan. 13,'34
Man of Sentiment, A	Marian Marsh - Owen Moore - Wm. Bakewell	Sept. 15	74
Murder on the Campus	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	Dec. 27	73
Notorious But Nice	Marian Marsh-Betty Compson	Aug. 5	72	Nov. 11
Rainbow Over Broadway	Joan Marsh-Frank Albertson	Dec. 1	70

Coming Feature Attractions

Cross Streets — John Mack Brown - Claire Windsor-Anita Louise - Kenneth Thomson Men Forget

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Above the Clouds	R. Cromwell-R. Armstrong-D. Wilson	Oct. 20	67
Before Midnight	June Collyer-Ralph Bellamy	Nov. 18	63
Brief Moment	Carole Lombard-Gene Raymond-Donald Cook	Sept. 8	69	Oct. 7
East of Fifth Ave.	Wallace Ford-Walter Connolly-Dorothy Tree	Oct. 20	76	Dec. 30
Fighting Code, The	Buck Jones-Diane Sinclair	Dec. 30	65
Fog	Mary Brian - Donald Cook - Reginald Denny	Nov. 22	69	Jan. 13,'34
Fury of the Jungle	Donald Cook-Peggy Shannon	Oct. 20	68
Hold the Press	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey	Oct. 25	60
King of the Wild Horses	Wm. Janney-Dorothy Appleby	Nov. 10	66
Lady for a Day	Warren William-Guy Kibbee-May Robson-Glenda Farrell	Sept. 13	102	July 15
Let's Fall In Love	Ann Sothern - Edmund Lowe	Dec. 28	64	Jan. 13,'34
Man's Castle, A	Loretta Young-Spencer Tracy	Nov. 4	75	Jan. 6,'34
Master of Men	Jack Holt-Fay Wray	Oct. 28	68	Dec. 9
My Woman	Helen Twelvetrees - Wallace Ford - Victor Jory	Oct. 5	73	Oct. 21
Once to Every Woman	Fay Wray - Walter Connolly - Ralph Bellamy	Jan. 15,'34	70
Police Car 17	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 30	58	Nov. 18
Shadows of Sing Sing (See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)	Bruce Cabot - Mary Brian	Dec. 3	65
Speed Wings	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Jan. 20,'34
Straightaway	Tim McCoy-Sue Carol	Dec. 22	60
Thrill Hunter, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Sept. 30	58	Nov. 25
Wrecker, The	Jack Holt-Genevieve Tobin	July 10	72	Aug. 12

Coming Feature Attractions

Fighting Ranger, The — Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier
It Happened One Night — Clark Gable-Claudette Colbert
Lady Is Willing, The — Leslie Howard-Binnie Barnes
Line-Up, The — William Gargan-Marian Nixon
Man Trailer, The — Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker
Men of Tomorrow — Frankie Darro - Jackie Searl - George Breakston
Ninth Guest, The — Donald Cook-Genevieve Tobin
One Is Guilty — Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey
Party's Over, The
Social Register — Colleen Moore-Alexander Kirkland
Twentieth Century — John Barrymore-Carole Lombard
Whirlpool — Jack Holt

FIRST DIVISION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dassan		Dec. 22	36	Dec. 30
Eat 'Em Alive		Nov. 3	56	Nov. 18
He, King of Virtue	Fernandel-Collette Darfeuil	Dec. 26	58
Throne of Gods		Dec. 22	55	Dec. 30

Coming Feature Attractions

Road to Ruin — Helen Foster-Paul Page — 58

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Shakedown, The	Bette Davis - Chas. Farrell - Ricardo Cortez	Jan. 6,'34	64
Bureau of Missing Persons	Bette Davis - Lewis Stone - Glenda Farrell	Sept. 16	74	Sept. 2
Convention City	Joan Blondell-Dick Powell - A. Menjou - Mary Astor	Dec. 30	69	Dec. 9
Female	Ruth Chatterton	Nov. 11	60	Oct. 21
Goodbye Again	W. William - Joan Blondell	Sept. 9	66	June 17
Havana Widows	Joan Blondell-Glenda Farrell-Lyle Talbot	Nov. 18	62	Dec. 2
I Loved a Woman	Edward G. Robinson-Kay Francis - Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 23	90	Sept. 16
Massacre	R. Bartholmess-Ann Dvorak	Jan. 20,'34	69
Son of a Sailor	Joe E. Brown - Johnny Mack Brown	Dec. 23	73	Dec. 9
Wild Boys of the Road	All Star	Oct. 7	68	Sept. 30
World Changes, The	Paul Muni	Nov. 25	93	Nov. 4

Coming Feature Attractions

Bedside — Warren William — Jan. 27,'34 — 65
Dark Hazard — Edward G. Robinson — Feb. 3,'34 — 72 — Nov. 25
Fashions of 1934 — William Powell-Bette Davis — Feb. 17,'34 — 78 — Jan. 13,'34
Hit Me Again — Joan Blondell-Ricardo Cortez
Journal of a Crime — Ruth Chatterton
Mandalay — Kay Francis-Ricardo Cortez — Feb. 10,'34
Modern Hero, A — Richard Barthelmess
Registered Nurse — Bebe Daniels-Lyle Talbot
Very Honorable Guy, A — Joe E. Brown
Wonder Bar — Al Jolson-Dick Powell-Ricardo Cortez-Dolores Del Rio-Kay Francis — Mar. 3,'34

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
As Husbands Go	Warner Baxter-Helen Vinson	Dec. 29	78	Nov. 18
Berkeley Square	Leslie Howard-Heather Angel	Nov. 3	90	July 22
Charlie Chan's Greatest Case	Warner Oland-Heather Angel	Sept. 15	71	Oct. 14
Devil's In Love, The	Victor Jory-Loretta Young	July 21	71	Aug. 5
Doctor Bull	Will Rogers - Louise Dresser - Marian Nixon-Ralph Morgan	Sept. 22	77	Oct. 14
F. P. I.	Conrad Veidt-Jill Esmond-Leslie Fenton	July 28	90	May 20
Frontier Marshal	George O'Brien-Irene Bentley	Jan. 19,'34	66
Good Companions, The	Jessie Matthews - Edmund Gwenn	Sept. 8	96	Apr. 29
Hoopla	Clara Bow-Preston Foster	Nov. 30	78	Dec. 9
I Am Suzanne!	Lilian Harvey-Gene Raymond	Jan. 5,'34	85
I Was a Spy	Herbert Marshall - Madeleine Carroll - Conrad Veidt	Dec. 15	75	Sept. 23
Jimmy and Sally	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Nov. 24	68	Dec. 23
Last Trail, The	George O'Brien-Claire Trevor	Aug. 25	60
Life in the Raw	George O'Brien-Claire Trevor	July 7	62	Nov. 4
Mad Game, The	Spencer Tracy - Claire Trevor - Ralph Morgan	Oct. 27	65	Oct. 28
Man Who Dared, The	Preston Foster-Zita Johann	July 14	75	July 15
Mr. Skitch	Will Rogers-Zasu Pitts	Dec. 22	70	Dec. 16
My Lips Betray	Lilian Harvey-John Boles	Nov. 10	79	Nov. 11
My Weakness	Lilian Harvey-Lew Ayres	Sept. 29	74	Sept. 30
Olsen's Big Moment	El Brendel	Nov. 17	66	Oct. 28
Orient Express	Heather Angel-Norman Foster	Jan. 12,'34	72
Paddy, the Next Best Thing	Janet Gaynor-Warner Baxter	Sept. 1	76	Sept. 2
Pilgrimage	Henrietta Crosman - Marian Nixon - Norman Foster	Aug. 18	90	July 22
Power and the Glory, The	Spencer Tracy-Colleen Moore	Oct. 6	76	Aug. 26
Shanghai Madness	Spencer Tracy-Fay Wray	Aug. 4	68	Sept. 2
Smoky	Victor Jory-Irene Bentley	Dec. 8	69	Dec. 9
Walls of Gold	Sally Eilers-Norman Foster	Oct. 13	70	Oct. 14
Worst Woman in Paris?	Benita Hume-Adolphe Menjou	Oct. 20	78	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

All Men Are Enemies — Hugh Williams-Helen Twelvetrees
Bottoms Up — Pat Paterson - Spencer Tracy - John Boles
Carolina — Janet Gaynor-Lionel Barrymore-Robert Young-Henrietta Crosman — Feb. 2,'34
Cats-Paw, The — Harold Lloyd-Una Merkel
Coming Out Party — Frances Dee-Gene Raymond
David Harum — Will Rogers-Evelyn Venable
Devil Tiger — Kane Richmond-Marion Burns
Ever Since Eve — George O'Brien-Mary Brian — Feb. 9,'34
Fox Follies — (All Star Musical)
Hold That Girl — James Dunn-Claire Trevor — Feb. 16,'34
I Believed In You — Victor Jory - John Boles - Rosemary Ames — Feb. 23,'34
Only Girl, The — Lilian Harvey-Charles Boyer — 95 — Aug. 12
"Scandals" — Rudy Valee-George White-Alice Faye-Jimmy Durante
Sleepers East — Wynne Gibson-Preston Foster — Jan. 26,'34
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)

FREULER FILM ASSOCIATES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Marriage on Approval	Donald Dillaway-Barbara Kent-Phyllis Barry	Nov. 17	80
War of the Range	Tom Tyler	Sept. 22	60

Coming Feature Attractions

Black Cat, The
Bulldog Edition
East of Sudan
Green Paradise
Love After Thirty — Aileen Pringle - Theodore Von Eltz
My Wandering Boy
Red Man's Country
Silent Army, The
Sister of the Follies

GAUMONT-BRITISH

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Aunt Sally	Cicely Courtneidge-Sam Hardy		82
Baroud (See "Love In Morocco")
Britannia of Billingsgate	Violet Loraine-Gordon Harker		79½	Oct. 7
Channel Crossing	Constance Cummings - Matheson Lang
Falling for You	J. Hulbert-Cicely Courtneidge		88	Sept. 30
Fire Raisers, The	Leslie Banks
Friday the 13th	Jessie Matthews
Ghost Train, The	Jack Hulbert	Dec. 1	68	Feb. 25
Ghoul, The	Boris Karloff		85	Oct. 28
It's a Boy	Edward Everett Horton - Leslie Henson		86	Sept. 30
Just Smith	Tom Walls		88
King of the Ritz	Stanley Lupino - Gina Malo
Love In Morocco (Reviewed under the title "Baroud")	Rex Ingram	Dec. 1	67	Oct. 15,'32
Love on Wheels	Jack Hulbert-Gordon Harker		91
Lucky Number, The	Clifford Mollison - Joan Wyndham		72½	Sept. 9
Man from Toronto, The	Jessie Matthews - Ian Hunter - Fred Kerr		77
Marry Me	Renate Muller-Harry Green		85	Apr. 22
Night and Day	Jack Hulbert-Winifred Shotter	Dec. 1	77	June 10
Orders Is Orders	Charlotte Greenwood - James Gleason		88½	Aug. 19
Prince of Wales, The
Sleeping Car	Ivor Novello-Madeleine Carroll		83	July 8
There Goes the Bride	Jessie Matthews	Dec. 1	79	Mar. 11
Turkey Time	Tom Walls-Ralph Lynn		71
Waltz Time	Evelyn Laye	Oct. 1	81	Aug. 12
Woman In Command, The	Cicely Courtneidge - Edward Everett Horton		80

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

LIBERTY PICTURES

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheaters	"Bill" Boyd-Dorothy Mackaill-June Collyer
Mad Honeymoon, The
Quitter, The
School for Girls
Take the Stand
Two Heads on a Pillow
When Strangers Meet	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge
Without Children

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Charming Deceiver, The (Reviewed under the title, "Heads We Go")	Constance Cummings	Dec. 8	87	Sept. 16
Curtain at Eight	Dorothy Mackaill - C. Aubrey Smith-Paul Cavanagh	Oct. 1	74
Divorce Bed, The	Edward Arnold-John Miljan	Jan. 15,'34
Morning After, The (Reviewed under the title, "I Spy")	Ben Lyon-Sally Eilers	Jan. 1,'34	63	Oct. 28
Sin of Nora Moran, The	Zita Johann-John Miljan	Dec. 13	65	Dec. 30
Sing, Sinner, Sing	Paul Lukas-Leila Hyams	Aug. 1	73	Aug. 19
You Made Me Love You	Thelma Todd-Stanley Lupino	Nov. 24	74	Oct. 14

MAYFAIR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dance Hall Hostess	Helen Chandler-Jason Robards-Edward Nugent	July 1	73	Sept. 2
Her Forgotten Past	Monte Blue - Barbara Kent - Henry B. Walthall	Sept. 1	68
Riot Squad	Madge Bellamy-Pat O'Malley	June 15	70	Aug. 5
Secret Sinners	Sue Carol-Nick Stuart	Oct. 20	70
What's Your Racket?	Regis Toomey-Noel Francis	Dec. 1	70

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Another Language	Helen Hayes-Robt. Montgomery	July 28	79	Aug. 5
Beauty for Sale	Otto Kruger-Madge Evans	Sept. 1	87	Sept. 9
Bombshell	Jean Harlow-Lee Tracy	Oct. 13	98	Oct. 7
Broadway to Hollywood	Alice Brady - Frank Morgan - Madge Evans-Eddie Quillan-Jackie Cooper-Russell Hardie-Fay Templeton - Jimmy Durante	Sept. 15	89	Sept. 9
Chief, The	Ed Wynn-D. Mackaill	Nov. 3	66	Dec. 9
Dancing Lady	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable	Nov. 24	94	Nov. 25
Day of Reckoning	Richard Dix-Madge Evans	Oct. 27	70	Nov. 11
Dinner at Eight	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore - Jean Harlow - Madge Evans - Karen Morley - Edmund Lowe - Lee Tracy - Jean Hersholt	Jan. 12,'34	113	June 10
Eskimo	Native Cast	Jan. 19,'34	117	Nov. 18
Fugitive Lovers	Robt. Montgomery-Madge Evans	Jan. 5,'34	78	Dec. 30
Going Hollywood	Marion Davies-Bing Crosby	Dec. 22	79	Dec. 16
Her Sweetheart (Reviewed under the title, "Christopher Bean")	Marie Dressler-L. Barrymore	Nov. 17	87	Nov. 18
Hold Your Man	Jean Harlow-Clark Gable	July 7	89	July 8
Meet the Baron	Jack Pearl - Jimmy Durante - Zasu Pitts	Oct. 20	65	Nov. 4
Night Flight	H. Hayes - J. Barrymore - L. Barrymore - C. Gable - Robt. Montgomery	Oct. 6	91	Aug. 19
Pentheuse	Warner Baxter-Myrna Loy-Mae Clarke-Phillips Holmes-Chas. Butterworth	Sept. 8	91	Sept. 9
Prizefighter and the Lady, The	Max Baer-Myrna Loy-Dempsey-Carnera-Walter Huston	Nov. 10	102	Oct. 28
Should Ladies Behave? (Reviewed under the title, "The Vinegar Tree")	Alice Brady-Lionel Barrymore-Conway Tearle	Dec. 1	78	Nov. 11
Solitaire Man	Herbert Marshall - Elizabeth Allan - Lionel Atwill	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 16
Sons of the Desert	Laurel and Hardy	Dec. 29	68
Stage Mother	A. Brady - Russell Hardie - M. O'Sullivan - F. Tone	Sept. 29	87	Sept. 16
Storm at Daybreak	Nils Asther-Kay Francis	July 14	82	July 1
Stranger's Return, The	Lionel Barrymore - Franchot Tone-Miriam Hopkins	July 21	89	July 15
Tugboat Annie	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Robt. Young-M. O'Sullivan	Aug. 4	86	Aug. 12
Turn Back the Clock	Lee Tracy-Mae Clarke	Aug. 25	80	Sept. 2
Women in His Life, The	Otto Kruger-Isabel Jewell-Ben Lyon	Dec. 8	76

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cat and the Fiddle, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)	Jeanette MacDonald-Ramon Novarro	Feb.	9,'34
Hollywood Party, The	(All Star Musical)
It Happened One Day	Lionel Barrymore-Fay Bainter	Feb.	2,'34
Laughing Boy	Ramon Novarro-Lupe Velez	Feb.	9,'34
Men in White	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy	Feb.	16,'34
Merry Widow, The	Maurice Chevalier
Mystery of the Dead Police	Robt. Montgomery - Elizabeth Allan	Mar.	2,'34
Operator Thirteen	Marion Davies
Queen Christina	Greta Garbo - John Gilbert		103	Dec. 30
Rip Tide	Norma Shearer - Robert Montgomery-Herbert Marshall
Tarzan and His Mate	J. Weissmuller-M. O'Sullivan
Viva Villa	Wallace Beery-Fay Wray	Feb.	23,'34
You Can't Buy Everything	May Robson-Jean Parker	Jan.	26,'34

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Avenger, The	Ralph Forbes-Adrienne Ames	Aug. 10	79	Oct. 7
Broken Dreams	Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper	Oct. 20	68	Nov. 4
Devil's Mate	Preston Foster-Peggy Shannon	Aug. 20	68	Aug. 12
Fugitive, The	Rex Bell-Cecilia Parker	July 15	56
Galloping Romeo	Bob Steele-Doris Hill	Aug. 5	54
He Couldn't Take It	Ray Walker-Virginia Cherrill	Dec. 15	63
Lucky Texan, The	John Wayne	Jan. 22,'34	56
Rainbow Ranch	Rex Bell	July 25	55
Rangers' Code	Bob Steele	Aug. 15	56
Riders of Destiny	John Wayne-Cecilia Parker	Oct. 10	58
Sagebrush Trail	John Wayne	Dec. 15	58	Dec. 23
Sensation Hunters (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 2.)	Arline Judge-Preston Foster	Aug. 30	70
Sixteen Fathoms Deep	Sally O'Neil-Creighton Chaney	Jan. 1,'34	57
Skyway	K. Crawford-Ray Walker	Aug. 15	65
Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, The	Mary Carlisle-Buster Crabbe	Oct. 1	76	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ape, The
Beggars in Ermine	Lionel Atwill	Feb.	22,'34
Blue Steel	John Wayne
Jane Eyre
Loudspeaker, The	Ray Walker
Man from Utah, The	John Wayne
Manhattan Love Song
Mystery Liner	Noah Beery - Astrid Allyn - Cornelius Keith	Mar.	15,'34
Numbers of Monte Carlo
West of the Divide	John Wayne-Virginia B. Faire	Feb.	15,'34	55
Woman's Man	John Halliday-Marguerite de la Motte-Wallace Ford	Feb.	7,'34	64

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alice in Wonderland	Charlotte Henry - R. Arlen - J. Oakie-Chas. Ruggles	Dec.	22	75 Dec. 16
All of Me	Fredric March-Miriam Hopkins-George Raft	Jan.	19,'34	71 Jan. 13,'34
Big Executive	Ricardo Cortez-Elizabeth Young	Aug.	18	72 Aug. 5
Cradle Song	Dorothea Wieck-Kent Taylor	Nov.	17	77 Nov. 4
Disgraced	Helen Twelvetrees-Bruce Cabot	July	7	65 June 24
Duck Soup	Four Marx Bros.	Nov.	17	80 Nov. 11
Eight Girls in a Boat	Kay Johnson - Dorothy Wilson - Doug. Montgomery	Jan.	5,'34	78 Dec. 30
Girl Without a Room	M. Churchill-Chas. Farrell-C. Ruggles	Dec.	8	75 Dec. 9
Golden Harvest	Richard Arlen-Chester Morris-Genevieve Tobin	Sept.	22	70 Sept. 23
Design for Living	Miriam Hopkins-Fredric March-Gary Cooper	Dec.	29	88 Nov. 25
Hell and High Water	Richard Arlen-Judith Allen	Oct.	27	70 Oct. 21
Her Bodyguard	Wynne Gibson-Edmund Lowe	July	21	70 July 8
His Double Life	Roland Young-Lillian Gish	Jan.	12,'34	68 Dec. 30
I'm No Angel	Mae West-Cary Grant	Oct.	6	87 Oct. 7
Lone Cowboy	Jackie Cooper	Dec.	1	68 Nov. 25
Mama Loves Papa	Charles Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lilyan Tashman	July	14	72 July 15
Man of the Forest	Randolph Scott-Verna Hillie	July	14	62½
Midnight Club	Clive Brook-George Raft-Helen Vinson-Allson Skipworth	July	28	70 July 29
Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen	Dorothea Wieck-Baby Le Roy	Jan.	12,'34	68 Dec. 23
One Sunday Afternoon	Gary Cooper-Fay Wray	Sept.	1	85 Aug. 26
Sitting Pretty	Jack Haley-Jack Oakie-Ginger Rogers	Nov.	24	80 Dec. 2
Song of Songs	Marlene Dietrich-Brian Aherne	Aug.	11	92 July 1
Take a Chance	James Dunn - June Knight - "Buddy" Rogers - Lillian Roth	Oct.	27	82 Nov. 4
This Day and Age	Charles Bickford-Judith Allen	Aug.	25	82 July 29
Three-Cornered Moon	C. Colbert-Richard Arlen-Lyda Roberti-Mary Boland	Aug.	4	72 Aug. 12
Thundering Herd, The	Randolph Scott-Judith Allen	Nov.	24	58½
Tillie and Gus	Alison Skipworth-W. C. Fields	Oct.	13	57½ Nov. 18
To the Last Man	Randolph Scott-Esther Ralston	Sept.	15	70 Sept. 16
Too Much Harmony	Bing Crosby-Jack Oakie-Lilyan Tashman	Sept.	29	75 Sept. 8
Torch Singer	Claudette Colbert - Ricardo Cortez - David Manners	Sept.	8	72 Sept. 2
Way to Love, The	Maurice Chevalier-Ann Dvorak	Oct.	20	84 Sept. 30
White Woman	Carole Lombard-Chas. Laughton-Chas. Bickford	Nov.	3	73 Oct. 29

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baby in the Ice-Box (T.)	Richard Arlen-Sally Eilers	Feb.	23,'34
Belero	George Raft-Carole Lombard	Feb.	23,'34
Cleopatra	Claudette Colbert
Four Frightened People (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)	C. Colbert - H. Marshall - Wm. Gargan - M. Boland	Jan.	26,'34	95
Good Dame	Sylvia Sidney-Fredric March
It Ain't No Sin	Mae West
Last Round-Up, The	Randolph Scott-Barbara Fritchie	Jan.	26,'34	65 Jan. 6,'34
Man Who Broke His Heart, The	Preston Foster-Victor McLaglen
Melody in Spring	Charlie Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lanny Ross
No More Women	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Feb.	16,'34
Scarlet Empress, The	Marlene Dietrich-John Lodge	Feb.	23,'34
Search for Beauty	Larry ("Buster") Crabbe - Ida Lupino	Feb.	2,'34	75
Six of a Kind	C. Ruggles - M. Boland - W. C. Fields - A. Skipworth - Burns and Allen	Mar.	2,'34	78
Strange Holiday	Fredric March-Evelyn Venable	Feb.	9,'34
Trumpet Blows, The (T.)	George Raft - Adolphe Menjou - Frances Drake
We're Not Dressing	Bing Crosby

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Jaws of Justice	Kazan-Teddy and Richard Terry	Dec.	4	58
Russia Today		Nov.	8	42 Oct. 28
Tarzan the Fearless	Buster Crabbe	Aug.	11	61 Aug. 19
Thunder Over Mexico	Native Cast	Nov.	15	70 May 20

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Desperate Trails	Kazan
Ferocious Pal, The	Kazan
King of the North	Kazan
Lone Avenger, The	Kazan
Teeth of Steel	Kazan

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ace of Aces	Richard Dix - Elizabeth Allen - Ralph Bellamy	Oct.	20	74 Sept. 30
After Tonight	Constance Bennett - Gilbert Roland	Nov.	10	71 Oct. 23
Aggie Appleby	Wynne Gibson-Charles Farrell	Nov.	3	73 Oct. 29
Ann Vickers	Irene Dunne - Walter Huston - Conrad Nagel	Oct.	13	72 Sept. 30
Bed of Roses	Constance Bennett-Joel McCrea	July	14	67 July 8
Before Dawn	Stuart Erwin-Dorothy Wilson	Aug.	4	62 Oct. 21
Blind Adventure	Robt. Armstrong-Helen Mack	Aug.	18	60 Aug. 12
Chance at Heaven	Joel McCrea - Ginger Rogers - Marian Nixon	Oct.	27	70 Oct. 14
Deluge, The	Peggy Shannon - Lois Wilson - Sidney Blackmer-Matt Moore	Sept.	15	68 Aug. 19
Double Harness	Ann Harding-William Powell	July	21	74 July 8
Flaming Gold	Bill Boyd - Mae Clarke - Pat O'Brien	Sept.	29	53
Flying Devils	Arline Judge-Bruce Cabot-Ralph Bellamy-Eric Linden	July	14	62 Sept. 2
Flying Down to Rio	Dolores Del Rio - Gene Raymond - Raul Roulien	Dec.	29	80 Dec. 16
Goodbye Love	Charles Ruggles	Nov.	10	66
Headline Shooter	Wm. Gargan - Frances Dee - R. Bellamy-W. Ford-G. Ratoff	July	28	65 July 29
If I Were Free	Irene Dunne-Nils Asther-Clive Brook	Dec.	1	66 Dec. 23
Little Women	K. Hepburn - Jean Bennett - Frances Dee - Paul Lukas	Nov.	24	107 Nov. 11
Long Lost Father (See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)	John Barrymore-Helen Chandler	Jan.	19,'34	63
Meanest Gal in Town, The	Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - El Brendel - James Gleason - "Skeets" Gallagher	Jan.	12,'34	62

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Midshipman Jack	Bruce Cabot-Betty Furness	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 16
Morning Glory	K. Hepburn-D. Fairbanks, Jr.	Aug. 18	70	July 29
No Marriage Ties	Richard Dix-Doris Kenyon	Aug. 11	73	Aug. 12
One Man's Journey	Lionel Barrymore-Joel McCrea-Dorothy Jordan	Sept. 8	72	Sept. 9
Rafter Romance	Ginger Rogers-Norman Foster	Sept. 1	70	Aug. 5
Right to Romance, The	Ann Harding-Nils Asther	Nov. 17	70	Nov. 25
Son of Kong	Robert Armstrong-Helen Mack	Dec. 22	69½	Jan. 6,'34

Coming Feature Attractions

Crime Doctor	Richard Dix	Apr.	6,'34
Finishing School	Ginger Rogers - Frances Dee - Una Merkel	Mar.	23,'34
Green Mansions	Dolores Del Rio-Joel McCrea	Apr.	27,'34
Hips, Hips, Hooray!	Wheeler and Woolsey	Feb.	2,'34
I Love An Actress	Gregory Ratoff	Apr.	20,'34
Keep 'Em Rolling	Walter Huston-Frances Dee	Mar.	2,'34
Last Patrol, The	McLaglen-Karloff	Feb.	16,'34
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)
Man of Two Worlds	Francis Lederer-Elissa Landi	Feb.	9,'34	92
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)
Of Human Bondage	Leslie Howard	Apr.	13,'34
So You Won't Sing, Eh?	Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - Edward Everett Horton	May	4,'34
Success Story	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.-Colleen Moore - Genevieve Tobin	Mar.	9,'34
Transient Love	Irene Dunne-Ralph Bellamy	Mar.	16,'34
Trigger	Katharine Hepburn	Mar.	30,'34
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)
Two Alone	Jean Parker-Tom Brown	Jan.	26,'34	74
Wild Cargo	Frank Buck	Feb.	23,'34
World Outside, The	Ann Harding

SHOWMEN'S PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Race, The	Boots Mallory-John Darrow	Dec.	71
His Private Secretary	Evalyn Knapp - John Wayne	June 10	80	June 10
Moth, The	Sally O'Neil-Paul Page	Jan.	15,'34	63
Police Call	Merna Kennedy-Nick Stuart	July 24	60	Sept. 9
Public Stenographer	Lola Lane-Wm. Collier, Jr.	Nov.	1	62
Ship of Wanted Men	Dorothy Sebastian-Leon Waycoff	Sept. 24	63	Sept. 16

Coming Feature Attractions

Golden Head
St. Louis Woman
Souls In Pawn
Special Duty
Unlimited
Within the Rock

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Carnival Lady	Boots Mallory-Allen Vincent	Hollywood	Dec. 15	69
Criminal at Large	Emlyn Williams-Cathleen Nesbitt	Helber Prods.	Jan. 15,'34	65	Jan. 6,'34
Cougar, the King Killer	Edwin C. Hill - Jay Bruce	Master Art	Nov. 1	60
Enlighten Thy Daughter	Beth Barton-Miriam Battista	Exploitation Picts	Jan. 15,'34	80	Dec. 30
Farewell to Love	Jan Kiepura-Heather Angel	Madison Picts.	Nov. 24	66	Dec. 2
Film Parade		General Picts.	Jan. 12,'34	55
Get That Venus	Ernest Truex - Jean Arthur	Regent Picts.
Gow		Film Exchange	Nov. 28	65	Dec. 9
Hell's Holiday	(War Film)	Superb Picts.		77	July 22
Her Secret	Sari Maritza - Wm. Collier, Jr.	Ideal		73
Her Splendid Folly	Lilian Bond - T. Von Eltz	Progressive	Oct. 7	59	Nov. 4
Important Witness, The	Noel Francis-Donald Dillaway	Tower	July 15	64	Oct. 21
Le Gong (Dance of the Virgins)		Bennett Picts.		55
Mad Age, The		Resolute Picts.	July 19	70	July 29
Mam'zelle Nitouche	Janie Marese-Raimu	Protex	Nov. 18	90	Dec. 2
Mr. Broadway	All Star	B'way-Hollywood		59	Sept. 23
Over the Seven Seas		Vanderbilt		70	June 3
Passion of Joan of Arc, The	Maria Falconnetti	Capital	Sept. 7	57	Sept. 16
Reform Girl	Noel Francis-Donald Dillaway	Tower	July 15	64	Oct. 21
Savage Gold		Harold Auten	July 24	67	July 29
Secrets of Hollywood	Mae Busch - June Walters	Lester F. Scott		58	Sept. 16
Shepherd of the Seven Hills, The		Faith Pictures	Aug. 7	60	Aug. 19
Sleepless Nights	Polly Walker - Stanley Lupino	Remington	July 21	65	July 29
Sweden, Land of the Vikings		John W. Boyle		70	Jan. 13,'34
Through the Centuries		Beacon Films	Dec. 1	70	Dec. 16
Truth About Africa, The		Wm. Alexander		47	Apr. 22
Volga Volga	H. A. Shlettom	Kinematrade	Dec. 14	76	Jan. 6,'34
Wandering Jew, The	Jacob Ben-Ami	JAFA	Oct. 20	90	Oct. 28
Wine, Women and Song	Lilyan Tashman-Lew Cody	I. E. Chadwick		70	Dec. 23

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Advice to the Lovelorn	Lee Tracy-Sally Blane	Dec. 1	63	Dec. 9
Bitter Sweet	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey	Sept. 22	93	Aug. 19
Blood Money	George Bancroft-Frances Dee-Chick Chandler-Judith Anderson	Nov. 17	65	Nov. 18
Bowery, The	Wallace Beery - George Raft - Jackie Cooper - Fay Wray	Oct. 13	90	Oct. 7
Broadway Thru a Keyhole	Constance Cummings - Russ Columbo - Paul Kelly	Oct. 27	85	Oct. 21
Emperor Jones	Paul Robeson-Dudley Digges	Sept. 29	80	Sept. 23
Gallant Lady	Ann Harding-Clive Brook	Jan. 5,'34	86	Dec. 9
Masquerader, The	Ronald Colman-Elissa Landi	Sept. 1	75	Feb. 25
Moulin Rouge	Constance Bennett - Franchot Tone - T. Carminati	Jan. 19,'34	71	Dec. 23
Private Life of Henry VIII, The	Charles Laughton	Nov. 3	97	Sept. 23
Roman Scandals	Eddie Cantor - Gloria Stuart - David Manners-Ruth Etting	Dec. 29	85	Dec. 9

Coming Feature Attractions

Born to Be Bad	Loretta Young-Cary Grant	Feb.	23,'34
Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back	Ronald Colman-Loretta Young
Catherine the Great (T.)	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.- Elizabeth Bergner	Mar.	16,'34
Firebrand, The	Fredric March
House of Rothschild, The	George Arliss
Looking for Trouble	Spencer Tracy - Jack Oakie - Constance Cummings	Feb.	9,'34
Nana	Anna Sten-Lionel Atwill-Phillips Holmes	Feb.	16,'34	85 Jan. 13,'34
Paleska	Jimmy Durante - Stuart Erwin - Lupe Velez	Jan.	26,'34
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 2.)
Queen, The	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey
Sorrell and Son	H. B. Warner	Mar.	2,'34	99 Jan. 6,'34

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beloved	John Boles-Gloria Stuart	Jan.	22,'34	82 Dec. 23
Bombay Mail	Edmund Lowe-Onslow Stevens-Shirley Grey	Jan.	1,'34	68 Jan. 13,'34
By Candlelight	Elissa Landi-Paul Lukas	Dec.	18	70 Dec. 23
Cross Country Cruise	Lew Ayres - Alice White - June Knight	Jan.	15,'34	78
Counsellor-at-Law	John Barrymore-Bebe Daniels	Dec.	25	78 Nov. 25
Don't Bet on Love	Lew Ayres-Ginger Rogers	July	15	62 July 29
Fiddlin' Buckaroo	Ken Maynard-Gloria Shea	July	20	62
Gun Justice	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Dec.	11	65
Her First Mate	Summerville-Pitts	Aug.	10	70 July 22
Horseplay	Slim Summerville-Andy Devine-Lelia Hyams	Nov.	27	70
Invisible Man, The	Claude Rains - Gloria Stuart - Wm. Harrigan	Nov.	13	70 Nov. 4
King for a Night	Chester Morris - Helen Twelvetrees - Alice White	Oct.	30	78 Dec. 2
Ladies Must Love	June Knight - Neil Hamilton - Mary Carlisle-George E. Stone	Sept.	25	70 Sept. 9
Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!	Summerville-Pitts	Oct.	16	63 Nov. 11
Madame Spy	Fay Wray-Nils Asther	Jan.	8,'34	70 Jan. 6,'34
Moonlight and Pretzels	Mary Brian-Leo Carrillo	Aug.	3	84 Sept. 2
Myrt and Marge	Myrtle Dale - Donna Damerell - Ted Healy	Dec.	4	68 Sept. 9
Only Yesterday	John Boles-Margaret Sullavan-Benita Hume-Billie Burke	Nov.	6	105 Nov. 25
S. O. S. Iceberg	Rod La Rocque-Gibson Gowland	Oct.	23	70 Sept. 23
Saturday's Millions	Robert Young-Leila Hyams	Oct.	9	72 Sept. 23
Secret of the Blue Room, The	Lionel Atwill-Paul Lukas-Gloria Stuart-Onslow Stevens	July	20	65½ Sept. 23
Strawberry Roan	Ken Maynard-Ruth Hall	Oct.	26	60 Sept. 30
Trail Drive, The	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Sept.	4	60

Coming Feature Attractions

Countess of Monte Cristo	Fay Wray - Paul Lukas - Roger Pryor-Patsy Kelly
Crosby Case, The	Wynne Gibson-Onslow Stevens-Alan Dinehart	Mar.	5,'34	78
Elizabeth and Mary	Margaret Sullavan-Lowell Sherman
Honor of the West	Ken Maynard
I Like It That Way	Gloria Stuart-Roger Pryor	Feb.	12,'34
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)
Midnight	O. P. Heggie-Sidney Fox	Jan.	29,'34
Poor Rich, The	Edna May Oliver-Edward Everett Horton	Feb.	26,'34	65 Jan. 6,'34
Song for You, A	Marian Nixon-Jan Kiepura
Two Clucks	Summerville-Pitts	Mar.	12,'34
Wheels of Destiny	Ken Maynard	Feb.	19,'34

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baby Face	Barbara Stanwyck	July	1 74	Apr. 1
Captured!	Leslie Howard-Doug. Fairbanks, Jr. - Paul Lukas	Aug.	19 72	June 24
College Coach	Dick Powell-Pat O'Brien-Ann Dvorak - Lyle Talbot	Nov.	4 75	Nov. 18
Disraeli (Reissue)	George Arliss	Dec.	16 88	Dec. 14,'29
Easy to Love	Adolphe Menjou - Mary Astor - Genevieve Tobin	Jan.	13,'34 61
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)
Ever In My Heart	Barbara Stanwyck	Oct.	28 68	Oct. 21
Footlight Parade	James Cagney - Joan Blondell - Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Guy Kibbee	Oct.	21 101	Oct. 7
From Headquarters	Geo. Brent-M. Lindsay	Dec.	2 63	Dec. 2
Gold Diggers of 1933	Warren William-Joan Blondell-Aline MacMahon-Ruby Keeler-Dick Powell	Sept.	2 98	May 27
Hi, Nellie!	Paul Muni	Jan.	20,'34 75
House on 56th Street, The	Kay Francis - Ricardo Cortez - Gene Raymond	Dec.	23 68	Dec. 9
Kennel Murder Case	William Powell-Mary Astor	Oct.	28 73	Nov. 4
Lady Killer	James Cagney	Dec.	9 73	Dec. 2
Man from Monterey, The	John Wayne-Ruth Hall	July	15 57	Aug. 26
Mary Stevens, M.D.	Kay Francis	July	22 72	Aug. 12
Narrow Corner, The	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.	July	8 71	July 22
Voltaire	George Arliss-Doris Kenyon	Aug.	5 70	June 24

Coming Feature Attractions

As the Earth Turns	Jean Muir-Donald Woods
Dragon Murder Case, The	William Powell
Fur Coats	Aline MacMahon-Paul Kelly
Gambling Lady	Barbara Stanwyck	Mar.	31,'34
Harold Teen	Hal LeRoy - Rochelle Hudson - Patricia Ellis
Heat Lightning	Aline MacMahon-Glenda Farrell-Ann Dvorak-Lyle Talbot	Mar.	10,'34
Heir Chaser, The	James Cagney - Bette Davis	Mar.	24,'34
Hot Air	Dick Powell - Pat O'Brien - Ginger Rogers
I've Got Your Number	Joan Blondell-Pat O'Brien	Feb.	24,'34
Merry Wives of Reno	Glenda Farrell-Margaret Lindsay-Donald Woods
Upper World	Warren William - Mary Astor - Ginger Rogers

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Attraction, The	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	July 22	89	July 29
Counsel's Opinion	Henry Kendall	London Film		71	Apr. 22
Digging Deep	Henry Kendall-Wendy Barrie	British Lion
Don Quixote	Feodor Challapin-George Robey	British-United Artists			July 8
Girl from Maxim's, The	Frances Day	London Film			Oct. 14
Golden Goal, The	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	June 17	85	July 8
Hawleys of High Street	Leslie Fuller	British Int'l		68	July 8
I Lived with You	Ivor Novello - Ursula Jeans	Gaumont-British			Aug. 12
Just My Luck	Ralph Lynn	British and Dominions		80	May 20
Keep It Quiet	Frank Pettingell - Bertha Belmore	British Lion
Maid of the Mountains, The	Harry Welchman - Nancy Brown	British Int'l		80	Apr. 22
Men of Tomorrow	Maurice Braddell	Paramount-London Film		80	Apr. 15
Money for Speed	John Loder - Ida Lupino - Cyril Maglen	British-United Artists		67	July 15
Never Trust a Woman	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	Oct.	80
On the Air	Davy Burnaby-Reginald Purdell-Betty Astell	British Lion
Prince of Arcadia	Carl Brisson	Gaumont-British		80	Oct. 28
Private Wives	Claude Allister-Betty Astell	British Lion
Radio Parade		British Int'l		70	May 15
Song You Gave Me, The	Bebe Daniels-Victor Varconi	British Int'l		84	Oct. 21
This Week of Grace	Gracie Fields	Radio		92	Oct. 28
Wedding Rehearsal	Roland Young	London Film

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1933 unless otherwise stated]

AUDIO PRODUCTIONS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Butterfly		10
Seed Dispersal		10
MUSICAL MOODS
1—Dance of the Hours Hans Lange and Orchestra		9
2—Ave Maria Dion Kennedy at the Organ		7
3—Waters of Minnetonka Gus Haenschen and Orchestra		6
4—Hula Moon Native Hawaiian Troupe		7
5—Waltz in A Flat Major Hans Lange and Orchestra		4

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
KAZY KAT KARTOONS
Antique Antics		1 rl.
Autograph Hunter	Jan. 5,'34	1 rl.
Bill Poster, The	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Curio Shop, The	Dec. 15	1 rl.
House Cleaning		1 rl.
Krazy Spooks	Oct. 13	1 rl.
Out of the Ether	Sept. 5	7½
Stage Krazy	Nov. 13	1 rl.
Whack's Museum	Sept. 29	1 rl.
LAMB'S GAMBOLS
Hear 'Em and Weep		2 rls.
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
1—In Morocco	Sept. 29	1 rl.
2—In the Orient	Oct. 25	1 rl.
3—In South America	Dec. 22	1 rl.
MARCH OF THE YEARS
No. 1—"Boss" Tweed	Sept. 22	9½
No. 2—	Oct. 6	1 rl.
No. 3—Famous Crippon Case	Oct. 20	1 rl.
No. 4—Commander Perry Opens Japan	Nov. 3	1 l.
MICKEY McGUIRE COMEDIES
1—Mickey's Touchdown	Oct. 14	18
2—Mickey's Tent Show	Oct. 27	18
3—Mickey's Covered Wagon	Nov. 30	18
4—Mickey's Minstrels	Jan. 11,'34	18
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
Auto Show	Dec. 8	1 rl.
False Alarm		1 rl.
Hollywood Babes	Nov. 10
Movie Struck	Sept. 8	7½
Sandman Tales	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Scrappy's Art Gallery	Jan. 12,'34	1 rl.
MINUTE MYSTERIES
No. 1—Death Attends a Party	Oct. 6	9
No. 2—Fast Fangs	Oct. 13	1 rl.
No. 3—The Clown Dies	Dec. 14
No. 4—When the Lights Went Out		1 rl.
No. 5—The Missing Clue		1 rl.
MUSICALS
No. 1 — Roamin' Through the Roses Art Jarrett	Nov. 16	2 rls.
No. 2—Um-Pa Jack Osterman	Nov. 24	2 rls.
No. 3—Lessons in Love		2 rls.
GEO. SIDNEY AND CHAS. MURRAY
Radio-dough		2 rls.
Ten Baby Fingers		2 rls.
SMITH AND DALE
Hold Your Temper		2 rls.
Hot Daze	Oct. 20	2 rls.
SUNRISE COMEDIES
Brother, Could You Spare a Million? Ken Murray	Sept. 13	17
Entertainer, The Will Mahoney	Oct. 4	20
WORLD OF SPORT
Flying Gloves	Aug. 18	1 rl.
Hook and Line	July 28	1 rl.
It's Sport in Any Lnaguage		1 rl.
We Want a Touchdown	Oct. 23	1 rl.
What the Scotch Started	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Who Said the Weaker Sex?	Sept. 8	9

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES
An Old Gypsy Custom	Jan. 12,'34	2 rls.
Big Squeal, The	July 9	18
Dora's Dunking Doughnuts	Sept. 1	20
Frozen Assets	Nov. 17
His Weak Moment	Oct. 13
Super Snooper, The	Feb. 9,'34	2 rls.
AS A DOG THINKS
Walking the Dog	Sept. 29
You and I and the Gatepost	Aug. 25
BABY BURLESKS
Gimme My Quarterback	Jan. 26,'34
Kid 'N Africa	Oct. 6
BATTLE FOR LIFE
Beneath Our Feet	June 25	9
City of Wax	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
CORONET COMEDIES
Git Along Little Wifie	Nov. 3
Good Bad Man, The	Dec. 8
Inventors, The	Feb. 2,'34
North of Zero	Jan. 19,'34
DO YOU REMEMBER?
Old-Fashioned Newsreel, An	July 2
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Merrily Yours	Oct. 6
Pardon My Pups	Jan. 26,'34
What's To Do	Nov. 24
HODGE-PODGE
Any Way to Get There	July 16	9
Capers in Clay	July 30
MERMAID COMEDIES (Harry Langdon)
Hooks and Jabs	Aug. 25
Leave It to Dad	Oct. 20
Pop's Pal	Dec. 29
Stage Hand, The	Sept. 8
Tied for Life	July 2	18
Trimmed in Furs	Jan. 5,'34	2 rls.
MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
Blue Blackbirds	Aug. 18
Farmers' Fatal Folly	Sept. 15	18
Freeze-Out, The	Dec. 22
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Million Dollar Melody	Oct. 27
Poppin' the Cork	Dec. 15
ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
Across the Sea	Oct. 20	11
Canyon of Romance	Dec. 8
Enchanted Trail	Sept. 22
Mediterranean Blues	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
SONG HIT STORIES
Last Degle, The	Nov. 17	10
Manhattan Lullaby Helen Morgan	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Slow Poke Stepin Fetchit	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Trav'lling the Road Alexander Gray	Feb. 2,'34	1 rl.
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Expectant Father, The	Feb. 23,'34
Mr. Adam	Nov. 17
TERRY-TOONS
Banker's Daughter, The	June 25	6
Beanstalk Jack	Oct. 20	6
Fanny in the Lion's Den	July 23	6
Fanny's Wedding Day	Sept. 22
Grand Uproar	Aug. 25
Gypsy Fiddler, A	Oct. 6	6
Holland Days	Jan. 12,'34	6
Hypnotic Eyes	Aug.
In Venice	Dec. 15	6
Last Straw, The	Feb. 23,'34	6
Little Boy Blue	Nov. 30	6
Oil Can Mystery, The	July 9	6
Owl and the Pussycat, The	Mar. 9,'34	1 rl.
Pick-necking	Sept. 8
Rip Van Winkle	Feb. 9,'34
Robinson Crusoe	Nov. 17	6
Sunny South, The	Dec. 29	6
Three Bears, The	Jan. 26,'34	6
Village Blacksmith, The	Nov. 3	6
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Aces Wild	July 9	10
Divorce Sweets	Nov. 30
Mouse Trapper, The	Sept. 11
Static	Sept. 29	2 rls.
TORCHY COMEDIES (Ray Cooke)
Torchy's Loud Spooker	June 25	20
Trying Out Torchy	July 23	18
TREASURE CHEST
Air Maniacs	Dec. 15
Day Dreams	Dec. 8
Shorts	Nov. 10
Song of Vienna	Nov. 3
What Does 1934 Hold?	Dec. 22
Your Life Is in Your Hands	Sept. 22

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Following the Horses!	Sept. 1	9
Motor Mania!	Sept. 29	9
Conquest of the Air!	Nov. 30	9
Scouring the Seven Seas!	Oct. 20	9
Answering the Riot Call!	Dec. 22	9
Filming the Fashions	Nov. 10	9
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
Pagodas of Peiping	Aug. 18
Shades of Cairo	Aug. 25
The Desert Patrol	Sept. 1	10
Outposts of France	Sept. 15	9
Glimpses of Greece	Sept. 29
Playground of Pan	Oct. 13
Elephant Trails	Oct. 27
The Island of Malta	Nov. 3	10
A Day in Tokyo	Nov. 10	9
Byways in Bangkok	Nov. 24
Around the Acropolis	Nov. 30
Gem of the Sea	Dec. 15	9
Rural England	Dec. 22
London Medley	Dec. 29
Flemish Folk	Jan. 5,'34
Tunisian Travels	Jan. 19,'34
Sentinels of the Sea	Jan. 26,'34
Roaming the Netherlands	Feb. 9,'34
Cradle of Storms	Feb. 16,'34
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
Where Is My Wandering Boy?	Aug. 18
For the Man She Loved	Sept. 8
Slander's Tongue	Sept. 22
Twin Dukes and a Duchess	Oct. 6
The Great Train Robbery	Oct. 27
A Moment of Madness	Nov. 4
Helen of the Chorus	Dec. 10
The Extravagant Wife	Jan. 5,'34
The Girl from the Country	Jan. 19,'34
Emma's Dilemma	Feb. 2,'34
The Heart of Valeska
Love's Old Sweet Song	Feb. 16,'34
SPECIAL SUBJECT
Aniakchak	Aug. 18	28

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
EDWIN C. HILL SERIES
1. Human Side of the News		10
2. Human Side of the News		10
MELODY MAKERS
Sammy Fain — With Eton Boys, N. Brokenshire and Evelyn Hoey		7
Cliff Friend—With Peggy Healy, Jack Fulton and Pickens Sisters		9
Benny Davis — With Roy Atwell, Charles Carlisle, Martha Ray and Jackie Green		8
Gus Edwards—With Ralph Kirbery, Four Minute Men and John S. Young		9
Stephen Foster—With John Hundley, Nancy McCord and Kelvin Keech		10
Fields and McHugh—With Jack Osterman and Pickens Sisters		8
Carrie Jacobs Bond—With Edwin C. Hill, Ralph Kirbery and Lew White
ORGANLOGUES
Songs of the Hills		6
Radio Rubes Sally		7
Singin' Sam-Don Wallace
Night of Romance Donald Novis-Ann Leaf-John Young		7
Tongue Twisters Irving Kaufman-Lew White		7
Ship of Dreams Ralph Kirbery-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		7
Melody on Parade Irving Kaufman-Lew White		7
Home Again Nick Lucas-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8
Tintypes Irving Kaufman-Lew White		6
Oriental Phantasy Charles Carlile-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8
Organ Festival Lew White-Ann Leaf-Dick Liebert-Jesse Crawford		9
Melody Tour Sylvia Froos-Dick Liebert-John S. Young		8
Organlogue-ing the Hits Nick Lucas-Lew White-Herbert Rawlinson		8
Melodies of Love Carlile-Rawlinson-White
Songs of the Range Art Dickinson-Lew White
PET SUPERSTITIONS
1. Spilled Salt Phyllis Barry-Geo. Lewis-J. Carrol Naish		10

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR SERIES
Crook's Tour	Sept. 23	19
Twin Screws	Dec. 30	2 rls.
Yeast Is West	Nov. 11
CHARLEY CHASE
Cracked Iceman	Jan. 27,'34	19
Luncheon at Twelve	Dec. 9	21
Midsummer Mush	Oct. 21	21
Sherman Said It	Sept. 2	17
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
British Guiana	Dec. 23	9
Colorful Ports of Call		1 rl.
Day in Venice	Oct. 28	9
Dutch Guiana, Land of Djuka	Sept. 2	10
Italy, Land of Inspiration	Nov. 25	1 rl.
New Zealand		9
Scotland the Bonnie	Sept. 30	9
FLIP, THE FROG
Paleface	Aug. 12	8
Soda Squirt		7
GOOFY MOVIES
A Whole Show In One Reel	Sept. 9	9
LAUREL & HARDY
Busy Bodies	Oct. 7	20
Dirty Work	Nov. 25	20
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Hello, Pop!	July 1	17
Nertsery Rhymes	Aug. 26	20
Keg O' My Heart	Nov. 11	2 rls.
Rhapsody in Brew	Sept. 30	20
Symphony in Suds	Jan. 6,'34	2 rls.
MUSICAL REVUES
Beer and Pretzels	Aug. 26	20
Plane Nuts	Oct. 14	20
Roast Beef and Movies	Dec. 2	2 rls.
ODDITIES
Bear Hunting	Dec. 16	1 rl.
Fine Feathers	Nov. 18	9
Handlebars	Aug. 26	10
Happy Warriors	Oct. 21	9
Menu	Aug. 26	11
OUR GANG
Bedtime Worries	Sept. 9	21
Wild Poses		10
SPECIAL
Inflation		11
TODD-KELLY
Air Fright	Dec. 23	2 rls.
Backs to Nature	Nov. 14	20
Beauty and the Bus	Sept. 16	18
WILLIE WHOPPER
Davy Jones' Locker	Dec. 9	1 rl.
Play Ball	Sept. 16	7
Spite Flight	Oct. 14	8
Stratos-Fear	Nov. 11	8

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BETTY BOOP CARTOONS
Betty Boop's Hallowe'en Party	Nov. 3	7
I Heard Don Redmond	Sept. 1	7
Morning, Noon and Night Rubinoff	Oct. 6	7
Old Man of the Mountains Cab Calloway	Aug. 4	7
Parade of Wooden Soldiers	Dec. 1	1 rl.
Popeye, the Sailor	July 7	7
Red Hot Mamma	Feb. 2,'34	1 rl.
She Wronged Him Right	Jan. 5,'34	1 rl.
HEADLINERS
Bundle of Blues, A Duke Ellington	Sept. 1	10
Captain Henry's Radio Show Lanny Ross-Annette Hanshaw-Don Voorhees	Aug. 11	11
Little Broadcast, The Donald Novis - Arthur Tracy - Mills Bros. - Vincent Lopez-Roy Atwill	Oct. 27	11
Radio Roundup, A Molasses 'n' January - Mary Small - The Poet Prince-Vaughn De Leath-Three X Sisters	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Rumba Rhythm Vincent Lopez	Sept. 29	6
Station T.O.T.	Jan. 19,'34	1 rl.
Where's That Tiger?	Dec. 22	1 rl.
Borrah Minnevitch HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE
No. 1	Aug. 18	11
No. 2	Sept. 8	11
No. 3	Oct. 13	11
No. 4	Nov. 10	11
No. 5	Dec. 8	11
No. 6	Jan. 5,'34	11
No. 7	Feb. 2,'34	1 rl.
ONE REEL ACTS
Jazz a La Cuba Don Aspiazu	July 7	10
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL
No. 12—Treasure Hunt — Wings of Summer—Putting One Over with Lillian Roth	June 16	10
No. 13—Tableaux In Wax —Bird Sanctuary — Song Makers of America	July 14	10
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL—NEW SERIES
No. 1—Just a Little Dressing—The Rock Garden—Irving Mills	Aug. 11	10
No. 2—On the Trail of the Salmon—Trotting Out the Champion—Johnny Green	Sept. 8	10
No. 3—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews — September Morn—Harry Armstrong	Oct. 6	10
No. 4—Let's Go Crabbing — Manhattan Nocturne — Irvin S. Cobb	Nov. 3	10
No. 5 — The Old Mill — Jack Frost, Master Decorator — Song Makers of the Nation	Dec. 1	10
No. 6— Southward Ho — Trees —Gilda Gray	Dec. 29	10
No. 7—Queer Fish—Liquid Air—Lanny Ross	Jan. 26,'34	10
POPEYE THE SAILOR
Blow Me Down	Oct. 27	7
I Eats My Spinach	Nov. 17	7
I Yam What I Yam	Sept. 20	7
Let's You and Him Fight	Feb. 16,'34	1 rl.
Seasin's Greetinks	Dec. 8	7
Sock-A-Bye, Baby	Jan. 19,'34	1 rl.
Wild Elephinks	Dec. 29	7
SCREEN SONGS
Boo, Boo, Theme Song	Oct. 13	7
Down by the Old Mill Stream Funny Boners	July 21	7
I Like Mountain Music Eton Boys	Nov. 10	7
Keeps Rainin' All the Time Gertrude Niesen	Jan. 12,'34	7
Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
Sing, Babies, Sing Baby Rose Marie	Dec. 15	7
Stoopnocracy Stoopnagle and Budd	Aug. 18	7
When Yuba Plays the Rumba on the Tuba Mills Bros.	Sept. 16	7
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 12	June 9	10
No. 13	July 7	10
SCREEN SOUVENIRS—NEW SERIES
No. 1	Aug. 25	10
No. 2	Sept. 22	10
No. 3	Oct. 20	10
No. 4	Nov. 17	10
No. 5	Dec. 15	10
No. 6	Jan. 12,'34	10
No. 7	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS
No. 1 — What Makes a Champion	Aug. 4	11
No. 2—Sporting Melodies	Aug. 25	10
No. 3—Water Lure	Sept. 22	10
No. 4—The March of the Champions	Oct. 20	11
No. 5—Kennel Kings	Nov. 24	10
No. 6—Around the Calendar	Dec. 22	1 rl.
No. 7—Jumping Giants	Jan. 26,'34	1 rl.
SPORTS EYE VIEW
Over the Jumps	July 21	10
Straight Shooters	July 21	11
TWO-REEL COMEDIES
Barber, The W. C. Fields	July 28	21
Big Fibber, The Sennett Star	July 14	20
Circus Hoodoo Harry Langdon	Feb. 16,'34	2 rls.
Cold Turkey Joseph Cawthorn	Dec. 1	2 rls.
Ducky Dear Sidney Toler	Sept. 1	19
Gold Nuggets Walter Catlett	Feb. 2,'34	2 rls.
Husband's Reunion Sennett Star	July 7	19
Just an Echo Bing Crosby	Jan. 19,'34	2 rls.
Marriage Humor Harry Langdon	Aug. 18	19
Meet the Champ Eugene Pallette-Walter Catlett	Aug. 4	21
Old Bugler, The Chic Sale	Jan. 5,'34	2 rls.
On Ice Harry Langdon	Oct. 6	21

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
One Awful Night	Oct. 20	21
Pallette-Catlett
Please	Dec. 15	2 rls.
Bing Crosby
Roaming Romeo, A	Dec. 29	2 rls.
Harry Langdon
Sailors, Beware	Sept. 15	18
Catlett-Pallette
Three Little Swigs	Nov. 10	20
Leon Errol

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Among the Maoris	Aug. 1	7
Circle of Life of the Ant
Lion, The	Feb. 4,'34	7
City of Contrasts	Nov. 22	19
Cuba	Sept. 27	21
Enough Rope	July 1	9
Farmer's Friend, The	Oct. 4	7
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 10,'34	7
Great Raccoon Hunt, The	Sept. 1	20
Her Majesty, the Queen Bee	Dec. 1	6
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4,'34	7
Kick-Off, The	Oct. 11	27
Newslaughs—No. 1	Dec. 20	9
Queen of the Underworld	Dec. 6	7
Wonders of the Tropics	Dec. 13	32

RKO-RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMOS 'N' ANDY CARTOONS
Lion Tamer, The	Feb. 2,'34	1 rl.
Rasslin' Match, The	Jan. 5,'34	11
BLONDE and RED HEAD SERIES
Flirting in the Park	Aug. 18	20
Walking Back Home	Dec. 8	19
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Re-issues)
The Count	Nov. 17	21
The Cure	Aug. 19	20
The Fireman	Aug. 28	21
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Fits in a Fiddle	Oct. 20	14½
Hey Nanny, Nanny	Jan. 12,'34	2 rls.
Iceman's Ball, The	Aug. 13	20
Kicking the Crown Around	Aug. 4	19
Odor in the Court		2 rls.
Snug in a Jug	Nov. 2	20
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Croon Crazy	Dec. 29	1 rl.
Cubby's Picnic	Oct. 6	7
Cubby's World Flight	Aug. 25	7
Galloping Fanny	Dec. 1	1 rl.
Gay Gaucho, The	Nov. 3	1 rl.
Nut Factory	Aug. 11	1 rl.
Sinister Stuff	Jan. 26,'34	1 rl.
GRIBBON-KENNEDY COMEDIES
How Comedies Are Born	Sept. 8	19
Suits to Nuts	Dec. 1	19
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 4—She Outdone Him	July 21	17
No. 5—Preferred List	Oct. 6	20
No. 6—Air Tonic	Dec. 22	21
No. 7—On Approval	Jan. 5,'34	2 rls.
MASQUERS COMEDIES
Abroad in Old Kentucky	Sept. 9	20
Stolen by Gypsies, or Beer and Bicycles	July 14	21
MR. AVERAGE MAN COMEDIES (EDGAR KENNEDY)
Grin and Bear It	Dec. 29	20½
Quiet Please	Aug. 11	20½
What Fur?	Nov. 3	21
MUSICALS
Bubbling Over	Jan. 5,'34	20
Ethel Waters
Hizzoner	Nov. 17	21½
Bert Lahr
Strange Case of Hennessy	Dec. 8	21½
Cliff Edwards
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
California Weather	Dec. 15	20½
Knee Deep in Music	Sept. 22	21½
MY BRIDGE EXPERIENCES (Ely Culbertson)
Forced Response, A	Sept. 15	17
Murder at the Bridge Table	Sept. 1	21
Society Cheaters	Sept. 29	21
What Not to Do in Bridge	Oct. 13	15
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks	Oct. 27	21
Three Knaves and a Queen	Nov. 10	20
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEW
Released once a month
SOGLOW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
Fatal Note, The	Sept. 29	7
Jest of Honor	Jan. 19,'34	7
Marching Along	Oct. 27	7
On the Pan	Nov. 24	7
Pals		1 rl.
SPECIALS
So This Is Harris	Jan. 19,'34	28
TOM AND JERRY SERIES
Phantom Rocket	July 21	1 rl.
VAGABOND ADVENTURE SERIES
Antwerp	Sept. 8	10½
Cuba	Nov. 10	10½
Moorish Spain	Jan. 12,'34	10

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMKINO
A Day in Moscow		26
Killing to Live		17
Kino Displays		10
BEVERLY HILLS PICTURES
Cocoon Capers
Flame of the Pacific		23
Terrors of the Amazon		20
CAESAR FILMS
Venezziana		1 rl.
FIRST DIVISION
Delhi	Nov. 15	10
My Side of the Story	Sept. 22	10
David L. Hutton
Strange Case of Tom Meeney	July 21	23
IDEAL
Canal Gypsies		9
Evolution		28
Goofy Games		8
Mystic East, The		10
Next War, The		26
We're on Our Way		9
INDUSTRIAL
The Silent Enemy		30
INVISIBLE
Snowman		10
RESOLUTE
Itchy Scratchy		3 rls.
MARY WARNER
Berlin: Its Sports and Recreation		8
Berlin: Rhythm of a Metropolis		8
Glimpses of Germany		8
Green Heart of Germany, The		20
Springtime on the Rhine		7
The Mosel		8
Trier, Oldest City in Germany		6
Vintagers' Festival in the Palatinate		10
Winter in the Bavarian Alps		1 rl.
Young Germany Goes Skiing		1 rl.
P. A. POWERS
Jack and the Beanstalk		6

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
13. The Mail Pilot	June 5	7
14. Mickey's Mechanical Man	June 9	6
15. Mickey's Gala Premiere	June 30	7
16. Puppy Love	Aug. 14
17. Steeple Chase	Sept. 1	7
18. The Pet Store	Sept. 22
(NEW SERIES)
1. Giant Land	Nov. 15	7
2. Mickey Shanghaied	Jan. 15,'34	7
3. Playful Pluto
SILLY SYMPHONIES
6. Babes in the Wood	Dec. 2,'32	8
7. Santa's Workshop	Dec. 30,'32	7
8. Birds in the Spring	Dec. 30,'32	7
9. Father Noah's Ark	Jan. 27	8
10. Three Little Pigs	May 26	8
11. Old King Cole	July 27	8
12. Lullaby Land	Aug. 18	7
13. Pied Piper	Oct. 6	7
(NEW SERIES)
1. The Night Before Christmas	Dec. 15	8
2. The China Shop	Jan. 15,'34	8

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 1	Aug. 28	8
No. 2	Oct. 1	10
No. 3	Dec. 25	1 rl.
OSWALD CARTOONS
Candy House, The	Jan. 15,'34	1 rl.
Chicken Reel	Jan. 1,'34	8½
Confidence	July 31	7
County Fair	Jan. 29,'34	1 rl.
Five and Dime	Sept. 18	8
In the Zoo	Nov. 6	7
Merry Old Soul	Nov. 27	8
Parking Space	Dec. 18	7
Toy Shoppe, The	Feb. 12,'34	1 rl.
POOCH CARTOONS
Hot and Cold	Aug. 14	1 rl.
King Klunk	Sept. 4	9
Pin Feathers	July 3	9
She Done Him Right	Oct. 9	7
RADIO STAR REELS
The Old Timers		21
Louis Sobol—No. 3
Peeping Tom	Sept. 20	17
Louis Sobol—No. 4
Boswell Sisters, The	Dec. 6	2 rls.
Nick Kenny—No. 4
SPECIALS
World's Greatest Thrills	Aug. 18	19
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS SERIES
No. 31—Novelty	Aug. 7	9
No. 32—Novelty	Sept. 4	1 rl.
No. 33—Novelty	Oct. 9	9
No. 34—Novelty	Nov. 20	9
No. 35—Novelty	Dec. 18	10
No. 36—Novelty	Jan. 22,'34	1 rl.
No. 37—Novelty	Feb. 19,'34	1 rl.
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES
All at Sea (Mentone No. 2)	Sept. 20	21
Big Benefit, The (Mentone No. 3)	Oct. 18	21
Big Casino, The (Mentone No. 4)	Nov. 29	21
Broadway Varieties (Mentone No. 7)	Feb. 14,'34	2 rls.
Gleason's New Deal	July 12	20
James Gleason
Meeting Mazie	Dec. 20	20
Sterling Holloway
Mountain Music	Jan. 3,'34	18
Louise Fazenda
Not the Marrying Kind	Nov. 22	20
Sterling Holloway
On the Air and Off (Mentone No. 1)	Sept. 6	19
Open Sesame	Oct. 25	20
Henry Armetta
Out of Gas	Nov. 8	21
Louise Fazenda
Paisie Waisie	Jan. 31,'34	2 rls.
Henry Armetta
Pie for Two	Dec. 13	21
James Gleason
Stung Again	Oct. 18	18
Louise Fazenda
Supper at Six (Mentone No. 5)	Dec. 27	18
Trifle Backward, A	Jan. 17,'34	19½
Vince Barnett
Vaudeville on Parade (Mentone No. 6)	Jan. 24,'34	2 rls.
Warren Doane Brevity	Aug. 9	19
Where's Elmer?	Feb. 7,'34	2 rls.
Vince Barnett

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 11—How've You Been?	June 24
Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 12—An Idle Roomer		20
Jack Haley
No. 13—Nothing But the Tooth	Aug. 19	19
Jack Haley
BIG V COMEDIES (New Series)
No. 1—Salt Water Daffy	Sept. 16	21
Jack Haley
No. 2—Close Relations	Sept. 30	20
Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 3—Gobs of Fun	Oct. 21	21
George Givot-Charles Judels
No. 4—Turkey in the Raw	Nov. 4	21
Gus Shy
No. 5—In the Dough	Nov. 25	22
Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 6—Here Comes Flossie	Dec. 9	18
Ben Blue
No. 7—Tomalio	Dec. 30	21
Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 8 — How D'Ya Like That?	Jan. 13,'34	18
George Givot-Charles Judels
No. 9—Nervous Hands	Feb. 3,'34	21
Ben Blue
No. 10—Pugs and Kisses	Feb. 17,'34	21
No. 11—Mushrooms	Feb. 14,'34	2 rls.
Harry Gribbon
No. 12—Ben Blue (untitled)	Mar. 24,'34	2rls.
No. 13—Ben Blue (untitled)	Apr. 14,'34	2 rls.
No. 14—Corn on the Cop	Apr. 28,'34	2 rls.
No. 15—I Scream	May 19,'34	2 rls.
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 11—That Goes Double	July 29
Russ Columbo
No. 18—World's Champ	July 11
Jack Dempsey
No. 22—The Double-Crossing of Columbus	July 15	19
Charles Judels
No. 23—Pie a la Mode	June 19
No. 24—Crashing the Gate	July 1
Ruth Etting-Roy Atwell
No. 25—20,000 Cheers for the Chain Gang	Aug. 12	19
Jerry Bergen-The Rollickers-Picken Sisters
No. 26—The "No" Man	Aug. 26	19
Hugh O'Connell-Anne Greenway
BROADWAY BREVITIES (New Series)
No. 1—Use Your Imagination	Sept. 2	18
Hal LeRoy-Mitzi Mayfair
No. 2—Rufus Jones for President	Sept. 9	20
Ethel Waters
No. 3—Seasoned Greetings	Sept. 23	20
Lita Grey Chaplin
No. 4—Paul Revere, Jr.	Oct. 7	21
Gus Shy-Janet Reade
No. 5—Operator's Opera	Oct. 14	21
Donald Novis-Dawn O'Day-Eton Boys
No. 6—'Tis Spring	Oct. 28	19
Patricia Ellis-Allen Jenkins (Technicolor)
No. 7—Yeast Is Yeast	Nov. 11	20
Tom Patricola
No. 8—The Mild West	Nov. 18	23
Janet Reade-Olive Borden
No. 9—Girl Trouble	Dec. 2	23
Mitchell and Durante
No. 10—Around the Clock	Dec. 16	29
Norma Terris-Four Eton Boys
No. 11—Plane Crazy	Dec. 23	22
Dorothy Lee-Arthur and Morten Havel
No. 12—Kissing Time	Dec. 16	22
Jane Froman-Georges Metaxa
No. 13—A Little Girl with Big Ideas	Jan. 20,'34	29
Molly Picon
No. 14 — Not Tonight, Josephine	Jan. 27,'34	21
Frank McHugh-Kitty Kelly (Technicolor)
No. 15—Picture Palace	Feb. 10,'34	21
No. 16—Come to Dinner	Feb. 24,'34	10
No. 17 — Business is a Pleasure	Mar. 3,'34	2 rls.
No. 18—Silver Living	Mar. 17,'34	2 rls.
Dorothy Stone
No. 19—Minstrels	Mar. 31,'34	2 rls.
Gertrude Niesen
No. 20—Janet Reade (Untitled)	Apr. 7,'34	2 rls.
No. 21 — Helen Morgan (Untitled)	Apr. 21,'34	2 rls.
No. 22—Private Lessons	May 5,'34	2 rls.
Hal LeRoy
No. 23—Morocco Nights	May 12,'34	2 rls.
(Technicolor)
HOW TO BREAK 90 BOBBY JONES
No. 4—Down Swing	July 8
No. 5—Impact	July 15
No. 6—Fine Points	Aug. 5	10
LOONEY TUNES
No. 10—Beau Bosko		7
No. 11—Bosko's Mechanical Man		7
No. 12—Bosko the Musketeer		7
No. 13—Bosko's Picture Show		7
LOONEY TUNES (New Series)
No. 1—Buddy's Day Out	Sept. 9	7
No. 2—Buddy's Beer Garden	Oct. 21	7
No. 3—Buddy's Show Boat	Dec. 9	1 rl.
No. 4—Buddy the Gob	Jan. 13,'34	1 rl.
MELODY MASTERS
No. 10—The Alma Martyr		9
Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians
No. 11—The Name Is Familiar
Leon Belasco and Band
No. 12—The Audition		20
Hannah Williams-Phil Emerton's Band
No. 13—A Castilian Garden		8
Señor Del Poze's Marimba Orchestra
MELODY MASTERS (New Series)
No. 1—Hot from Petrograd		10
Dave Apollon and Orchestra
No. 2—Barber Shop Blues		9
Claude Hopkins and Band
No. 3—Rubinoff and Orchestra		10
No. 4—Eddie Duchin and Band		10
No. 5—Borrah Minnevitch and His Harmonica Rascals		10
No. 6—Jack Denny and Band		10
No. 7—Mills Blue Rhythm Band		10
No. 8—Isham Jones	Mar. 17,'34	1 rl.
No. 9—Phil Spitalny	Apr. 14,'34	1 rl.
No. 10—Vincent Lopez	May 12,'34	1 rl.
MERRY MELODIES
No. 1—You're Too Careless with Your Kisses		8
No. 2—I Wish I Had Wings		7
No. 3—A Great Big Bunch of You		7
No. 4—Three's a Crowd		7
No. 5—Shanty Where Santa Claus Lives		7
No. 6—One Step Ahead of My Shadow		7
No. 7—Young and Healthy		7
No. 8—The Organ Grinder		7
No. 9—Wake Up the Gypsy In Me		7
No. 10—I Like Mountain Music		7
No. 11—Shuffle Off to Buffalo		7
No. 12—The Dish Ran Away with the Spoon		7
No. 13—We're in the Money		7
MERRY MELODIES (New Series)
No. 1—I've Got to Sing a Torch Song		7
No. 2—Sitting on a Back Yard Fence		1 rl.
PEPPER POT
No. 21—Inklings
No. 22—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 6
No. 23—Around the World in 8 Minutes
No. 24—Fishermen's Holiday
No. 25—Stuck, Stuck, Stucco
No. 26—Seeing Samoa
PEPPER POT (New Series)
No. 1—Walter Donaldson		10
No. 2—Admission 5c		10
No. 3—Rock-A-Bye-Bye, with Dr Rockwell		11
No. 4—Laughs in the Law		8
No. 5—Notre Dame Glee Club		8
No. 6—Harry Warren		10
No. 7—Easy Aces		10
No. 8—Little Miss Mischief		10
No. 9—Movie Memories		9
No. 10—The Tune Detective		9
Sigmund Spaeth
No. 11—Mississippi Suits		9
No. 12—The Wrong Wrong Trail		10
Block and Sully
No. 13—Song Hits, with Roy Turk		11
No. 14—Easy Aces, No. 2		1 rl.
No. 15—Pure Feud		1 rl.
No. 16—Radio Ramblers		1 rl.
No. 17—Lulu McConnell		1 rl.
No. 18—Good Old Days		1 rl.
No. 19—Radio Reels		1 rl.
Jessel—Van
SPORT THRILLS SERIES TED HUSING
No. 1—
No. 2—
No. 3—
No. 4—Old Time Sport Thrills
No. 5—
No. 6—
WORLD AVENTURES E. M. NEWMAN
No. 5—From Bethlehem to Jerusalem		10
No. 6—High Spots of the Far East		10
No. 7—Main Streets		10
No. 8—Beauty Spots of the World		1 rl.
No. 9—Workers of the World		1 rl.
No. 10—Wonder Spots of the World		1 rl.
No. 11—Costumes of the World		1 rl.
No. 12—Strange Ceremonies		10
No. 13—Top of the World		10
MUSICAL WORLD JOURNEYS E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Exploring the Pacific		1 rl.
No. 2—Samoan Memories		1 rl.
No. 3—Heart of Paris		10
No. 4—Italy, the Old and the New		1 rl.
No. 5—Cannibal Islands		1 rl.
No. 6—Spanish America		1 rl.
No. 7—Jerusalem, the Holy City		1 rl.
No. 8—Picturesque Siam		1 rl.
No. 9—Slackers of the Jungle		1 rl.
No. 10—East Indies		1 rl.

SERIALS

(EACH SERIAL 12 EPISODES OF 2 RLS.)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MASCOT
Fighting with Kit Carson	July 6	20 (each)
Johnny Mack Brown-Noah Beery
Mystery Squadron, The	Dec. 23
Bob Steele
Three Musketeers, The	Apr. 7
John Wayne-Ruth Hall
Wolf Dog, The	Sept. 30
Rin Tin Tin, Jr.-Frankie Darro-Boots Mallory
PRINCIPAL
Tarzan, the Feerless	Aug. 11	20 (each)
Buster Crabbe
UNIVERSAL
Gordon of Ghost City	Aug. 14	20 (each)
Buck Jones-Madge Bellamy
Perils of Pauline	Nov. 6	20 (each)
Evalyn Knapp-Robert Allen
Phantom of the Air	May 22
Tom Tyler-Gloria Shea
Pirate Treasure	Jan. 29,'34	20 (each)
Richard Talmadge-Lucille Lund

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA Chairs, Sound Equipment, Moving Picture Machines, Screens, Spotlights, Stereopticons, etc. Projection Machines Repaired. Send for catalogue H. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

700 UPHOLSTERED CHAIRS REFINISHED like new. PICTURE THEATRE SEATING, 722 Springfield Ave., Newark, N. J.

SIMPLEX MECHANISMS REBUILT, $135.00; complete equipment, $175.00; rebuilt Peerless low intensity lamps, $95.00; 30 amperes Forest rectifiers, $75.00. Bargains all along the line. Let us hear from you. CROWN, 311 West 44th St., New York.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT. Approved home-study training. Free Catalog. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, New York.

POSITIONS WANTED

COMBINED MANAGER-PROJECTIONIST. BEST references. Five years' last place. Reasonable. MP, 143 Dadima St., Syracuse, N. Y.

CALIFORNIA EXHIBITORS—DO YOU NEED AN experienced projectionist? Young, married, dependable. References. PROJECTIONIST, 4331 Hardy, Inglewood, Calif.

WANTED TO BUY

WANT USED THEATRE CHAIRS, ALL KINDS. Also parts, accessories, etc. Send sample prepaid. Advise quantity and price, etc. GENERAL SEATING COMPANY, 2035 Charleston Street, Chicago.

RENTAL SERVICE

SOUND PROJECTION EQUIPMENT AVAILable with operator, day or week, non-theatrical and theatres not sound equipped. All offers considered. V. HAYNES, Roscoe, N. Y.

NEW EQUIPMENT

SACRIFICING NEW SUPERIOR TYPE X PROjectors with rear shutters, adapted to sound. COXSACKIE MANUFACTURING CORP., Coxsackie, N. Y.

CONVERT YOUR LOW INTENSITY LAMPS TO A.C. with transformers, increasing light to 80 amperes pulling 13 amperes off the line. Very reasonable especially for theatres needing more light. CROWN, 311 West 44th St., New York.

BALANCE BUDGETS — BUY THESE — ELECtric colorwheels, $12.98; replacement tubes for RCA, W. E., etc., 40% off; tickets, misprints, rolls of 2,000, 15c; carbons 60% off; sound screens, 39c ft.; many others. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

TECHNICAL BOOKS

"RICHARDSON'S HAND BOOKS OF PROJECtion" in three volumes. Universally accredited as the best and most practical. Aaron Nadell's "Projection Sound Pictures." Compete information on sound equipment. Both text books complete for $12.80. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, 1790 Broadway, New York.

THEATRE PROGRAMS

THE BETTER CLASS AT THE LOWEST PRICES, all cuts furnished by us. Delivery same day copy received. THEATRE PRINTING CO., 720 So. Dearborn St., Chicago.

EQUIPMENT EXCHANGE

S. O. S.—WHEN IN DISTRESS — WE PAY "spot" for anything you've got—trades taken, bargains galore. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

THEATRES

FOR SALE: $3.500.00 CASH WILL BUY theatre, no opposition, Ohio town of 4,000. Rental $75.00 monthly, lease. BOX 361, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

PRINTING SERVICE

100 WINDOW CARDS, 14 x 22, 3 COLORS, $3.25 F.O.B. BERLIN PRINT, Berlin, Md.

THEATRES WANTED

WILL LEASE OR BUY THEATRE, CITY OF 10,000, prefer south. Consider others if doing business. Write stating location, opposition, seating capacity, film contracts. Information confidential. BOX 360, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

LEASE OR BUY THEATRE. MINIMUM POPUlation 4.000, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia. BOX 306, Kershaw, S. C.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

WHAT'S YOURS SHOULD BE YOURS—BUY outright—RCA priced right; famous S. O. S. Wide Fidelity sound complete $179.70 up; soundheads, $49.50 up; portable soundfilm, complete, $195.00; amplifiers, $50.00 up: S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

COMPLETE BOOTH EQUIPMENT AND SOUND equipment. New and rebuilt. Expert repair and servicing. Guaranteed quality. Unusual prices. Trades considered. EMPIRE THEATRE SUPPLY CORP., 334 W. 44th St., New York.

"SPLENDIDLY CONSTRUCTED, EXCELLENT reproduction!" says Powell, Wellington, Ohio. You can't afford to be without S. O. S. Wide Fidelity sound, from $179.70. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

SCREEN RESURFACING

WE RESURFACE YOUR OLD SCREEN AND make it like new. BURDICK'S RE-NU SCREEN SURFACE CO., 823 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

REPRESENTATIVES WANTED

WANTED REPRESENTATIVES IN EVERY KEY film center to roadshow a religious sound motion picture appealing to Catholics. Prefer men who understand non-theatrical field and can handle entire bookings and exploitation. Must be able to finance themselves and post bond for territory. INTEGRITY FILM CORPORATION, 220 West 42nd St., New York.

REPAIR SERVICE

REPAIR AMPLIFIERS AND SPEAKERS—COMplete reconditioning. All jobs unconditionally guaranteed to work as good or better than new. Parts and accessories for all makes. Rush service. Write for special low prices. ELECTRONIC INDUSTRIES, 75 East Wacker Drive, Chicago.

A Question
ANSWERED

WHAT big picture today does not include backgrounds that call for composite photography? The answer is obvious. . . . The really vital point is: what medium to use in photographing these important backgrounds? . . . Eastman has answered that question. Eastman Background Negative, with its remarkably fine grain, its surprising speed, and its excellent processing characteristics, completely solves the film problem of the composite shot. Eastman Kodak Company. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN
Background Negative

PARAMOUNT
in Writers
FRANK R. ADAMS
GRAHAM BAKER
REX BEACH
CLAUDE BINYON
HOUSTON BRANCH
BARTLETT CORMACK
JACK CUNNINGHAM
WALTER DeLEON
GASTON DUVAL
HOWARD ESTABROOK
SALISBURY FIELD
LEWIS E. GENSLER
JOSEPH GOLLOMB
EMILY HAHN
SAM HELLMAN
JANE HINTON
EDMUND J. HOLDEN
HORACE JACKSON
GROVER JONES
PAUL JONES
AGNES BRAND LEAHY
GLADYS LEHMAN
LEW LEVENSON
BENN W. LEVY
WILLIAM LIPMAN
JEANIE MACPHERSON
MAX MARCIN
EDWIN JUSTUS MAYER
FRANCIS MARTIN
ELEANOR McGEARY
WM. SLAVENS McNUTT
WM. CAMERON MENZIES
JACK MINTZ
BYRON MORGAN
AUSTIN PARKER
FRANK PARTOS
GILBERT PRATT
CASEY ROBINSON
WELLS ROOT
HARRY RUSKIN
JOEL SAYRE
JANE STORM
SYLVIA THALBERG
HARLAN THOMPSON
KEENE THOMPSON
GENE TOWNE
VIRGINIA VAN UPP
ANTHONY VEILLER
BOBBY VERNON
CAREY WILSON
WALDEMAR YOUNG
Paramount Pictures

MOTION PICTURE
HERALD
A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

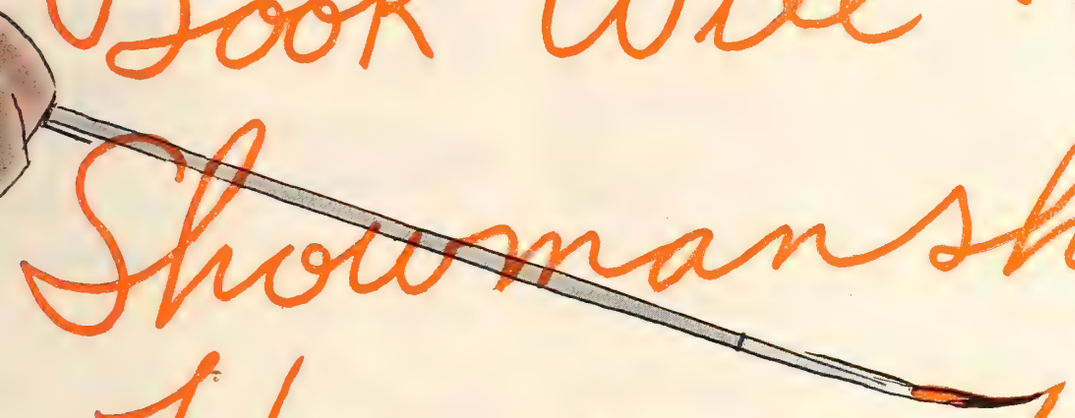
HOLLYWOOD'S UNSOLVED PROBLEM: THE WRITER

It's question whether the motion picture business will learn to write or the writers will learn the motion picture business, says Terry Ramsaye, writing from Hollywood

ELIMINATION CLAUSE DECISION IS ARGUED

Rosenblatt rules that 10 per cent cancellation privilege is effective as of December 7 on contracts signed prior to that date; Distributors indicate protest; Code Authority is sued by Allied

FLYWHEEL PATENT DECISION APPEALED



Manufacturers back sound equipment in appeal from ruling; Defendants deny infringement of Tri-Ergon patents; Exhibitors given assurance following warnings of possible court actions

ol. 114, No. 5 Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office, at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1879. Published Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $3.00 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. nuary 27, 1934

The Biggest and Most Practical Campaign Book Ever Made. It is 32 inches high and 24 inches wide. Every inch crammed with Showmanship!

This Giant Press Book Will Make Showmanship History

★ REPRODUCING 9 CITIES' FULL CAMPAIGNS!

Box-office history was made in Atlanta, Richmond, Norfolk, Miami and five other pre-release "Eskimo" engagements. The press book gives photos, facts and figures that will help you get the same thrilling results.

★ 30 BIG NATIONAL "ESKIMO" TIE-UPS!

Special window cards, streamers, banners, etc., available for marvelous merchant tie-ups on Lipton's Tea, Norge Refrigerator, Remington Typewriter, Lucky Strike, Atwater Kent, Eskimo Pie and 22 more equally big.

★ 15 SMASHING ADVERTISING PAGES!

Thrill ads successfully used in pre-release engagements. The greatest variety, covering every angle of this epic picture, including "Strange Moral Code of Eskimo." FULL PAGE CO-OP. ADVERTISING lay-out.

★ NEWSPAPER SERIAL, RADIO, PRESS SECTION!

"Eskimo" serial story in 12 nerve-tingling, illustrated chapters. Also newspaper cartoon strips. Complete Radio Thrill Continuity. Full-page Educational Plan. Publicity covers every conceivable angle of picture.

★ ADDED ACCESSORIES IN FULL COLORS!

Giant Pictorial cut-out letters, combination marquee hangers and door-knob novelties, Circus Heralds. Jumbo Display Cards. And 100 other exploitation devices in addition to full line of posters and accessories.

★ SEE PAGE 13 "ESKIMO" SPECIAL EXPLOITATION SECTION!

BARTHELMESS 'MASSACRE'S N. Y. CRITICS

Slays Watts, Pelswick, Boehnel, Delehanty, All Others, With Wham Redskin Role!

("Variety Daily" please note!)

"The one important picture of the current season." Eve. Post

"One of the few really worth-while films in weeks." World-Telegram

"Magnificent. Here's a lulu. Abounds in rousing action. First-rate thriller." Daily Mirror

"Easily the best Barthelmess has had in several seasons." Eve. Journal

"Most vigorous since 'I Am A Fugitive.'" Herald-Tribune

"Excitingly melodramatic. Scenes brim with action." N. Y. American

"Packed with exciting events. Moves with speed and force." Daily News

"Grand melodrama. A new setting and a new viewpoint for the talkies." Eve. Sun

Another Feather in that Warner Bros. Fedora!

Richard Barthelmess in "Massacre" with Ann Dvorak, Dudley Digges, Claire Dodd, Henry O'Neill, Robert Barrat . . . Directed by Alan Crosland . . . A First National Picture

HELD OVER 2nd WEEK!

Vitagraph, Inc., Distributors

Beautiful

PAT PATERSON

Famous for her beauty . . . celebrated for her voice . . . noted for her dancing . . . this English star will prove a triple threat to male American hearts in "Bottoms Up." Here she displays every attractive quality that made her the delight of London theatre-goers. Destined for other important roles in coming FOX productions.

★ ★ ★ ★ FOX ★ PERSONALITIES ★ PARADE

JAN 27 1934 ©C1B 214376

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 114, No. 5 January 27, 1934

REPUTE IN HOMETOWN

REGARDLESS of what may prove to be the practical outcome of the movement for profit sharing in theatre receipts by managers, there is immediate significance in its refreshing recognition of the importance of the manager as a component of the merchandising system. There should be exultation over in A-Mike Vogel's Round Table section.

Thus 1934 is giving us a very different story, a swing back from the movement that started a few years ago for the complete chaining of the chains with everything shipped in the can from New York and the manager reduced to a clerk who clipped press books and filled out report forms.

The betterment of the status of the manager is a direct contribution to the national goodwill of the motion picture industry. In general the standing of the motion picture in any community is identical with the standing of its dominant exhibitors and managers.

New York corporations are just alien corporations in the typical American city, but if the local representation is real representation the motion picture can and does get a hometown deal, at the hands of the local public and its government.

Here, again, the motion picture industry is just as strong as its personnel, and no stronger. Its only power is manpower.

△ △ △

HOUSING THE PRESS

ACROSS the country as a whole the American newspaperman, the working reporter and editor, is the most miserably officed person of creative status engaged in the service of industry and the commonweal. There are grandiose newspaper structures aplenty, and sometimes in their initial years they start handsomely with well located and equipped editorial rooms. But after the place has been shown off by the publisher, and as the general manager and his real estate agents get to work, the editors and reporters are moved steadily and progressively into less and less desirable space to make way for cash paying tenants. The editorial rooms very shortly wind up on the dark side of the building as close as possible to the street noises.

The reasons are obvious. The real newspaperman can work anywhere and he is vastly more concerned with what is on page one of the paper than anything else in his life. As for the rest of it, he can, and does, take it.

All this is commonplace and well enough known in the craft, but it is with some sensations of curious pain in various parts that we record that the same curse of casualness and inferential scorn seems to have descended on the press departments of motion picture companies, even in ornate Hollywood.

To find the publicity department at any studio, enter by the main gate, bear straight ahead to the center of the lot and look for the worst bungalow in sight. That will be it. All about will be the deluxe executive offices with their period—and what periods!—furnishings and gem topped push buttons, the star dressing rooms and bungalows, the directors' sanctums, etc., etc., but in the press department there is metaphorical sawdust on the floor and a clutter across the shabby old desks which would make you suspect that the night city edition of something had just galloped to press.

It would be interesting to make experiments to discover if good copy could be written in a good office.

△ △ △

JOHNSTON ANNIVERSARY

W. RAY JOHNSTON, president of Monogram Pictures Corporation, this week is observing the twentieth anniversary of his entrance into the business that is the motion picture. It was on January 23, 1914, that he became confidential secretary to Charles J. Hite, then president of Thanhouser Film Corporation. He formed Rayart Pictures in 1924, and in February of 1931 organized Monogram Pictures, with Trem Carr, later developing a cooperative arrangement with exchangemen to produce and sell, each exchangeman a franchise holder paying a pro rata part of production costs, holding a stock interest in the company and sharing in the profits. How well that plan succeeded is attested by the increasing of the production budget by one-third for the 1933-34 season. Mr. Johnston was selected by the National Recovery Administration to represent the independent producers, distributors and exchanges on the Code Authority. His position of leadership in the group he represents is in itself a high tribute to his personal prestige and to his business integrity and ability.

△ △ △

THE Chesapeake & Ohio's "Annie," the "kick girl" in the road's current advertising, is not going to be a publicity success. She has no allure. It would be nice though if the Lackawanna would bring back Miss Phoebe Snow, who, all in white, rode on the Road of Anthracite. Phoebe played in one of the early industrial motion pictures, and it was while working on the Lackawanna picture that Edwin S. Porter, Edison cameraman, got his notion for "The Great Train Robbery."

△ △ △

A NEW application of photography to navigation brings now the fog camera which can "see ten times as far as the human eye." We've known that about the camera for a long time. That's why they are taking Sally Rand out of the theatre to put her under the movie lens.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago Bureau, 407 South Dearborn Street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London Bureau, 6 Brookland Close, Hampstead Garden Suburb, London, England, Bernard Charman, representative; Berlin Bureau, Berlin-Tempelhof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 28, Joachim K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Bureau, 19, Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autre, representative; Rome Bureau, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio Malpassuti, representative; Sydney Bureau, 102 Sussex Street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico, James Lockhart, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1934 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and The Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK - - - -

TALENT LINEUP

The unique idea of Hal Roach, MGM comedy producer, to overcome producers' problem of new faces, involves establishment of a Coast bureau, where "hopefuls" may pass each day in review before casting representatives, in a manner similar to the familiar police lineup. Producer Roach plans a record of 24 comedies, two features at his studio during the next six months. . . .

SALARY SOLUTION

A possible solution of player salary agitation, declared Fredric March in New York last week, lies in percentage agreements for leading players, with percentage based on gross. The actor sees a 5,000 membership for the Actors' Guild by summer's end. . . .

PICTURE GROUPING

Contending: "Rigid censorship cannot solve the problem of better pictures," Lowell Lawrance, Kansas City Journal-Post film critic, is urging in addresses before local film units the grouping of pictures to meet the demands of child and adult suitability. . . .

QUITTNER APPEAL

Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey on Friday will hear the action of Edward Quittner seeking to determine the content of the record to be submitted to the U. S. circuit court of appeals, in furtherance of Mr. Quittner's appeal following dismissal of his $5,200,000 triple-damage monopoly suit against major companies last spring.

AUDITORY PERSPECTIVE

"The transmission and reproduction of speech and music in auditory perspective," was an important feature of the winter convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in New York on Wednesday. Sound, by this method, is virtually given three dimensions. . . .

ASC STUDIO DEAL

Expected this week was ratification by the American Society of Cinematographers on the Coast of a five-year working agreement with major studios, announced by new business manager Allan Watt. The agreement: closed shop for ASC members, IATSE scale. . . .

HEADS ATLANTANS

Named president of the Atlanta Theatre Managers' Association at the last regular meeting was E. Whitaker, manager of the Fox theatre there. . . .

LAEMMLE'S 67TH

Universal executives, players, directors, writers turned cake-eaters one day last week at the studio to assist President Carl Laemmle in disposal of a 67-pound birthday pastry, one pound for each year. Business associates were guests at the Laemmle home that evening. . . .

HORWITZ RELEASE

Some 3,000 Houstonites gave enthusiastic welcome to Will Horwitz, once exhibitor leader, on his release after serving seven months at Leavenworth for operation of a lottery in connection with a radio station at Reynosa, Mexico. . . .

DOUBLE COLONEL

Twice a colonel is Lionel H. Keene, southern representative for Loew Theatres at Atlanta, being on the staffs of Governor Talmadge of Georgia and Governor Ruby Laffoon of Kentucky, noted colonel-maker. . . .

RADIO PRODUCTION

Back at his desk as vice president of RKO Radio production, Merian C. Cooper last week announced immediate production of 17 new films, to cost $4,000,000, and employing 3,500 persons in all branches.

In This Issue

Writer and studio are at loggerheads and nothing can be done about it, says Terry Ramsaye, writing from Hollywood — Page 9

Distributors protest Rosenblatt decision that 10 per cent elimination clause is effective on all releases after December 7, 1933, if signed prior to that date; Allied sues Code Authority — Page 19

Sound equipment manufacturers deny infringement of Tri-Ergon patents — Page 12

FEATURES

Editorial — Page 7
The Camera Reports — Page 29
J. C. Jenkins—His Colyum — Page 58
Asides and Interludes — Page 35

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me — Page 59
Showmen's Reviews — Page 40
Managers' Round Table — Page 65
Technological — Page 64
Short Feature News — Page 54
Chicago — Page 54
The Release Chart — Page 73
Box Office Receipts — Page 48
Classified Advertising — Page 78

CENSORSHIP

Concerted opposition from theatre owners and the local press has greeted a proposed Birmingham, Ala., ordinance which would require all shows (including films) be previewed by the amusement inspector before exhibition. The Birmingham News heads its editorial, "A Fantastic Idea of Theatrical Censorship." . . .

GOLDWYN-ITOA

At last Wednesday's session of the Independent Theatre Owners Association in New York, the ban against Samuel Goldwyn's product was lifted, after Mr. Goldwyn personally explained his independent production plan, and agreed to allocate prices according to the classified run of theatres in each situation. . . .

"OBSCENE" STILLS

A fine of $500 and 90 days (suspended on probation) was the portion of James Keough, manager of the Adams, Detroit, for displaying obscene lobby stills on "Elysia, Valley of the Nude." Similarly, W. H. Kinnear, showing "This Nude World" at the Rivoli pleaded guilty, asked leniency.

SCHOOL ON AIR

Unusual in radio is the plan of executives of Station KSO, Des Moines, Iowa, whereby "vacation lessons" were brought to school children of the city during the January holiday, under the supervision of educational heads. . . .

ETHICAL CODES

The committee of the Federation of the Motion Picture Industry (Independents) assigned to draft codes of ethics for production and advertising, last week recommended that members utilize the facilities of the MPPDA codes and the boards now enforcing them. If approval follows, virtually the entire industry will be under the MPPDA ethical codes. . . .

FOX SETTLEMENT

In accordance with final interpretation of the contract of William Sistrom, Fox has surrendered all prints, accessories, etc., on "The Crooked Circle," produced by Mr. Sistrom last year for World Wide. The producer will seek release elsewhere. . . .

MUSICIANS' WORK

Varying the stagger plan in use in New York, the musicians' unions of Chicago last week arranged that some 300 unemployed members shall work one full week in every four, whereas in New York a daily basis brings the same result. . . .

Writer and Studio at Loggerheads And Nothing Can Be Done About It

Question whether film business will learn to write or writers will learn film business

By TERRY RAMSAYE

Written in Hollywood

Motion picture production, meaning Hollywood, is today more concerned about writing and writers than ever before in its fevered experience. It is a consequence of sound, becoming more and more apparent as the sound-picture medium explores its field of material.

Hollywood is dissatisfied with the writer. The writer is dissatisfied with Hollywood. "The system" does not know how to handle the writer, and the writer does not know his art from his elbow about "the system."

Current Excellence Fruit of Miracle

The current excellence of much of the product in which the work of the writer is so heavy a component is a fruit of miracle wrought at vast travail and expense.

Nothing can be done about it save to leave the future to the fires of the crucible of experience, while the amusement buying public pays for the fuel. Hollywood is so infernally busy making pictures that it has neither time nor energy to study the process by which it is done. Its technique and technology will always develop by the same tortuous processes by which the roots of a mountain tree seek nourishment and moisture in the crooked crevices of the rock. Everything must be done for today, and tomorrow must take care of itself when it gets to be today. Plainly the motion picture industry in terms of production is about as short sighted as most American industries, all competition driven.

In the old golden days of the silent picture a very sleek, smug, effective technique was evolved. The better directors achieved a working manner and polish of treatment backed by a certain assured competency of script writers that gave the flow of top grade product a sheen of quality that carried with it a certain minimum of success, almost regardless of content. The level of performance was comparable, one might observe, to the highly enameled finish of the word-wares offered by such program production media as the Saturday Evening Post or the Cosmopolitan or Red Book. Even poor stories were and are well written, and in the silent days that was true of the screen's story telling, too.

Further, the elasticity of the silent film, with its almost unlimited capacity for undergoing re-cutting and re-titling, was such that mistakes made on the set could be rectified in the editing, and a better story might reach the screen than the writer and director saw. Now that the picture has acquired the spoken word it is as hard to make over as it is to unscramble an egg. What is shot is, and there you are.

What about the writer? the roving editor of MOTION PICTURE HERALD asked himself, and straightway began "what-about-ing" Hollywood itself, as the most directly interested party of the second part. What Hollywood told him, and the conclusions that he reached, are set forth in the accompanying article.

In the silent days, too, the director who was not pleased with the script could if he liked shoot sequence after sequence, or a whole picture, "off the cuff." With the intricacies of sound and dialogue, with every motivation nailed to the documentary outline of the script, this cannot be done with anything that resembles success. Some of the "quickie" type picture makers still do it, and the process is made more than evident in the resultant product.

The truth is that the motion picture industry is at last being forced to become literate. This is a just sequence of getting mixed up with words. Language is after all a complicated thing, unless you are able to goldwyn your way through it and let the quips fall where they may.

The real question now is whether the motion picture business will learn to write or whether some writers will learn the motion picture business.

When the issue is worked out it will be somewhat like the duel of the hoop snakes at Winsted up in Connecticut—wherein you will not be able to tell "t'other from which," because one swallowed the other. What is left, technologically, will be still the picture business, which takes them all after the manner in which the cormorant let the eel loop the loop until he was tired.

Executive Authority Full of This and That

Executive authority in Hollywood, which is always either thunderingly authoritative or else oily with evasions in public expression, is as would be expected full of this and that about writers, not being sure the while what it might best say.

However, exception and expression is to be had from Winfield Sheehan, production chief of Fox Pictures Corporation, who never yet has had a cigar store built behind him on the supposition that he was a wooden Indian.

"Writing for the screen," in the opinion of Mr. Sheehan, "has too many of the aspects of a plain racket."

This same Mr. Sheehan, now known for so many years as a motion picture executive in sales, distribution and production, did, a few may remember, earn his very own living for some several years as a writer, when the New York World was a newspaper. He has not forgotten entirely what the business was like. He finds now a whole category of problems that writers bring with them to the motion pictures, including:

Writers whose minds are bounded by the two sides of the proscenium arch of the theatre.

Writers who do not know the camera.

Writers who do not know sound.

Writers who were reporters and have not known drama by instinct, training or observation.

Writers who were press agents thrown into picture construction by propinquity.

Writers of fiction who know not talking dialogue or dramatic action.

Writers who strive only to extend their working time at so much the week.

Writers who are at heart lawyers, always building something for a claim or suit.

"We need," says Mr. Sheehan, "a training ground for writers, who are today so important to the screen. What a fine thing it would be if a few first rank writers could see the merit of coming out here and learning the motion picture first. If a competent writer would come here and say, 'Give me a living salary for six months until I find out what it is about,' he could at the end of that time be prepared to do work that would be a credit to himself, and a profit to him and the picture producer, too."

This day I was Mr. Sheehan's guest, and so I did not inquire at what studio and how and when a writer, with hat in hand, could hope to get a hearing on any such plea. To be sure, if he had been at that moment on the Fox lot and two paces behind us, he might have made the deal. Otherwise there is no imagining how he might even have got on the lot.

WRITERS BY PLATOONS

Time of Good Script Now Four Months

An indication of the rising importance of the writer in the process of film fabrication is reflected in Mr. Sheehan's observation that the typical time of script preparation for a good picture is now four months.

"The actual shooting or recording of the job is now reduced to a relatively simple expedite process," he remarked. "But the real thinking is done on paper."

Kenneth Macgowan of the Radio studios whimsically finds the studios adding to their problem of material by trying to solve them by the importation of writers of novels and plays.

"We bring the writer out here, to work on the screen version of his story, or some other writer's story and we take him out of production for maybe a year," Mr. Macgowan observed. "If he had stayed at home the motion picture industry would have had available at least one or perhaps two other books or plays from his hand. Meanwhile he is out here trying to learn another business and creating nothing.

"This process cannot go on forever."

△ △ △

Writers Employed By the Platoon

The slow adjustment of the motion picture to the writing problems which it presents is reflected in the painstaking operations on the Metro lot, where writers are employed by platoons and it is not unusual to have six able authors engaged at the same time on a story. There is a yarn current that writing costs to the total sum of $300,000 have piled up on a single story, —and a finally acceptable version has not been achieved, yet. That of course may be either a problem in bookkeeping or in writing, or both.

△ △ △

Thrown Into Hopper As Nameless Contributors

A basic fact that Hollywood has not yet seemingly discovered is that writers are accustomed to seeing their stuff in print. Writing for the screen they never do. They are not used to and never can accustom themselves to being thrown into the hopper and ground into the grist as nameless contributors to a photoplay which is inevitably a potpourri. It is not to be fancied that a galley slave ever had a deal of pride in the race between triremes, no matter who won. And a galley slave the writer has to be, in the present state of the art. For money he will do it, but he does not know about why or how. That is why there is a writer problem.

3,061 Amusement Firms Report Net

Although 8,802 amusement corporations filed tax returns for the year 1931, only 3,061 showed net income for the year, the Internal Revenue Bureau disclosed in Washington last week.

Statistics compiled by the bureau show that these 3,061 corporations had a gross income for the year of $388,961,000, net income of $35,749,000 and net losses for previous years of $3,166,000. Total income tax collected from these corporations amounted to $3,496,000. The 4,657 amusement corporations showing no net income had a gross income for 1931 of $735,980,000 and a deficit of $61,152,000. The remaining 1,084 corporations were inactive and had no income.

Analysis of the amusement returns showed that 234 were filed by film producers, 54 of which reported gross income of $29,696,000 and net income of $2,698,000, paying a tax of $318,000, while 145 had a gross income of $412,252,000 and a deficit of $11,372. Thirty-five producing companies were inactive. Returns were filed by 2,387 picture theatre corporations, 1,167 of which, with gross income of $276,519,000 and net income of $26,005,000, paid a tax of $2,638,000, while 72 were inactive, and 1,148, with gross income of $208,133,000, showed a deficit of $21,582,000.

Hays, Johnson Address Columbus Variety Club

Addressing the third annual banquet of the Variety Club of Columbus at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel on Sunday, Will H. Hays and General Hugh S. Johnson predicted a continued improvement in all business throughout the country.

Over 400 guests, including outstanding legal, political and theatrical personalities from Columbus and many sections of the Middlewest heard Mr. Hays and the recovery Administrator speak. The banquet was broadcast over the Columbia System.

Arkansas Independents Form New Organization

Approximately 40 independent theatre owners of Arkansas met at Little Rock last week and organized the Independent Theatre Owners of Arkansas, with T. W. Sharp of Little Rock as president.

Other officers elected included Roy Morrow of Malvern, vice-president, and J. F. Norman, England, Ark., secretary-treasurer.

Exhibitors Unite At New Orleans

Independent and affiliated exhibitors of the entire New Orleans distributing territory, including part of Mississippi and Alabama, named temporary officers of a new joint organization, at a code meeting at the Jung hotel Sunday. Complete representation with the Code Authority was an announced object of the association.

McLeod Temporary President

Harry McLeod, owner of the St. Charles theatre, in New Orleans, was named temporary president; S. Higginbotham of Baton Rouge, first vice-president; Joe Barcelona, Baton Rouge, second vice-president; Charles Laurie, Franklin, La., third vice-president. Six directors chosen included the three vice-presidents and Ed J. Myrick and Joe Alsina of New Orleans and Philip Sliman of New Iberia, La.

Ed Kuykendall, president of the MPTOA, answered a barrage of questions on the Code. A few were left for decision of the Code Authority.

Other Speakers

Other speakers included Norman Carter, attorney for the Saenger receivership; Howard McCoy, Abe Berenson of Bogalusa, Henry Lazarus of the Coliseum of New Orleans and secretary of the local Allied unit, Sidney Harp of Donaldsonville, J. A. Dicharry of the Lincoln theatre, New Orleans, and E. J. Wilkes of Paramount.

Others in attendance were:

Miss E. Janqua, Bell theatre; George Heck, Fioritos Dream; Vick Meyer, Orpheum; Rodney Toups, Loew's State; Ed J. Myrick, United Theatres; Manny Jacobs, United Theatres; Levere Montgomery, Affiliated Theatres; Morris F. Barr, Saenger; Gaston Dureau, Saenger; A. E. Gross, Cortez; R. J. Brunet, Imperial; Ed Thomasie, Gretna; I. Harrelson, Bijou; M. S. Hemstreed, Queen; Mona O'Rourke, St. Charles; Mr. and Mrs. Jake Miller, Lafayette; A. J. Bethancourt, Houma, La.; Aleck Schulman and Harry Schulman, Plaza; Tony Demharter, Peacock; Mrs. W. Janqua, Bell; F. Ruffino, Gayety; C. Chandler, Roxy; Warren Salles, Garden; Ted Fonseca, Ashton; A. Sliman, New Iberia, La.; A. Berenson, Bogalusa, La.; Fred Fabre, H. Loisel, Reserve, La.; Guy Brown, R.K.O.; Jimmie Briant, MGM; Paul Tesier, Universal; Vic Moran, Bromberg.

Ohio Exhibitors Discuss Merger

For the purpose of consolidating all Ohio motion picture exhibitor interests in one united body in an effort to repeal the state amusement tax, P. J. Wood and other officials of the MPTO of Ohio conferred at Cleveland last week with representatives of the Cleveland Exhibitors' Association and Independent Exhibitors' Association of Ohio.

Convinced that only by means of a united front and with the complete cooperation of all exhibitors in the state can relief be obtained from what they consider excessive taxation, the conferees decided to select a legislative committee representing all factions to cooperate with Mr. Wood, who will conduct the exhibitor fight for repeal of the tax.

DEMAND OF NEW YORK UNION MAY COST OWNERS 7 MILLION ANNUALLY

Advisory Group to Contact Operating Partners of Publix

With establishment of a national theatre advisory committee and investment of its operating partners in the field with almost unlimited control over their theatres, the Paramount Publix theatre situation took on a new aspect this week.

The advisory committee will meet with Ralph A. Kohn, head of the theatre department, at least once every three months. Its duties include confirmation of national policies and the establishment of closer contacts between operating partners and home office. N. L. Nathanson and E. V. Richards, representing Canada and the South, respectively, already have been named to the committee, and the remaining three will be chosen from Chicago, Boston and the Iowa-Nebraska territory.

Karl Hoblitzelle, Paramount partner at Dallas, was selected by all the company's operating partners in the Southwest as their representative on the committee.

Herschel Stuart was reported this week as being about to sever relations with Paramount. It was stated he has received offers from Fanchon & Marco.

Irving Trust Company, as trustee in bankruptcy for Publix Enterprises, was authorized this week by Referee Henry K. Davis to pay $76,171 to the trustees of the parent company for services rendered by various real estate, accounting and auditing staffs of Paramount. Mr. Davis also authorized Irving Trust to turn over to Famous Theatres Corp. various Publix Enterprises documents in line with the recent purchase of Publix's assets by Famous.

U. S. District Judge John M. Woolsey on Friday will pass on the Paramount Publix equity receivers' petition for allowances approximating $250,000.

Cinematographers Ratify Producer Agreement

Four hundred members of the American Society of Cinematographers Tuesday in Hollywood ratified the five-year pact negotiated with 11 major producers.

The agreement, which calls for wage scales in existence prior to the studio strike last summer, gives straight overtime for contract men for anything over 16 hours, with first men rated at $12.50 an hour and seconds and still men $6.25. Assistants receive $3.25 an hour for overtime. Aerial men get $25 a flight, with $50 a day as a maximum.

General Register Moves

General Register Corporation's offices and showrooms are now in the Loew's State Building, 1540 Broadway, New York.

Building Service Employees' Group, Representing Unskilled Theatre Workers, Asks Raise in Minimum Salary Scales

Demands to be made upon New York theatre owners by the Building Service Employees' Union, if granted, will cost theatres in the New York territory $6,988,800 annually in wage-increases on the salaries of unskilled theatre workers, such as ushers, janitors, cleaners, ticket sellers and porters, it is estimated.

The offensive is being launched in the New York territory as the first step in a nationwide campaign to effect a "new deal" for the thousands of unskilled theatre workers.

Important to the movement of the BSEU is the protection accorded employees, even guaranteed, by the Administration through the NRA to bargain collectively and to unionize. The motion picture code, like all others, specifies a minimum hourly wage scale. Employers are bound to pay that minimum hourly wage scale as specified in the code, but this does not necessarily mean that a higher minimum wage scale cannot be demanded by employees.

Based on Code Provision

In any event, it appears that the very foundation of the structure of the BSEU's demands for higher minimum wages is based on that part of the code which guarantees employees the right to bargain collectively with employers.

Specifically the scales as they are to be presented to theatre owners in the New York territory, probably Thursday, demand an average increase of 30 cents per hour on a 40-hour week for each unskilled employee, apportioned as follows:

1. Ushers .....45 cents per hour
2. All Others:
   Attendants
   Cleaners
   Doormen
   Matrons
   Porters
   Ticket Takers
   Ticket Sellers
   Janitors
   .....60 cents per hour
3. Head Janitors
   (Watchmen) .....75 cents per hour

Present Minimum 30 Cents

At the present time, the average minimum wage for these unskilled workers in motion picture theatres is supposed to be 30 cents per hour for the 40-hour maximum work week as stipulated in the motion picture code. The new BSEU scales, computed on the basis of an average hourly wage increase demanded for these 10 classifications, multiplied by some 11,200 such employees possibly working in New York's motion picture theatres, if these demands are met, might bring the total annual salary increase at New York theatres up to $6,988,800.

Whether or not the new unskilled theatre workers' union is successful in accomplishing these demands still is a matter for speculation. However, BSEU officials in New York indicated this week that if the demands are not met, a strike among members will be called.

The picture thus presented would look something like this:

Average minimum hourly wage provided in motion picture code for unskilled motion picture theatre workers employed in towns of 15,000 population or more.....	30c
Average minimum hourly wage demanded by BSEU for such unskilled workers.....	60c
Increase in average minimum hourly wage for unskilled motion picture theatre workers demanded in New York by the BSEU.....	30c
Weekly increase in individual wages demanded by the BSEU for maximum work week of 40 hours.....	$12.00
Estimated number of unskilled workers now employed in 1,120 New York motion picture theatres (on basis of estimated average of about 10 of such unskilled workers employed in each theatre).....	11,200
Estimated possible weekly increase in wages for such 11,200 unskilled theatre workers, on basis of above computations	$134,400
Estimated possible annual increase in wages for such 11,200 unskilled theatre workers	$6,988,800

Theatres Asked to "Bargain"

The new minimum wage scale demanded by the BSEU was voted at a meeting in New York of its Local 118, and will be presented to theatre owners in the metropolitan area within the next week. Letters have been sent by the local to the theatre men asking them to designate representatives to meet with them to "bargain."

If the plans and the scales of the New York branch are successfully accomplished, other BSEU locals throughout the country undoubtedly will embark upon a similar program, with similar demands.

It was said Wednesday by Charles C. Levey, secretary and treasurer of Local 118, that the New York branch now has a membership approximating 3,500, and late in December the organization had reported considerable progress in the work of banding together unskilled theatre labor in Chicago, Seattle, St. Louis and San Francisco, among other cities.

Local 118 also is asking, in addition to its wage scale demands, a six-day week.

Last December circuit executives and theatre operators throughout the country were evidencing little if any concern over the existence of the new union.

However, several cases have come up recently in New York, when at various times Local 118 has brought to the attention of the Regional Labor Board instances of dismissal of unskilled theatre employees for alleged union activities—in other words, entering the membership of the local. In virtually every instance this labor board, functioning under Ben Golden, has ordered the reinstatement of the employees in question.

An official of the local said Wednesday that he considered the new wage scales more than equitable, pointing out that the average for many of the classifications was considerably lower than scales existing in many of the country's theatres in 1929, when ushers sometimes received as much as $25 weekly and janitors and watchmen were getting anywhere between $25 and $40

DECISION ON FLYWHEEL PATENTS IN SOUND EQUIPMENT IS APPEALED

Denial of Infringement on Tri-Ergon in Present Sound-on-Film Attachments Is Made After Warning to Exhibitors

Denial that present sound-on-film attachments infringe any Tri-Ergon patents has been issued by sound equipment manufacturers in response to letters received from American Tri-Ergon Corporation by exhibitors, warning them of the flywheel decision handed down by Judge Albert W. Johnson in federal district court in Scranton, Pa. Appeal of the decision has been filed in the third court of appeals in Philadelphia, to be heard on a date yet to be set by the court.

The device involved is a flywheel which acts as a balancing medium between the soundhead and the projector. This, it is contended, represents an infringement of Tri-Ergon patents, which are controlled in the United States by William Fox. This contention was upheld in the district court suit brought by the American company and Tri-Ergon Holding A. G. of St. Gall, Switzerland, against the Wilmer & Vincent and Altoona Publix theatre interests, the decision enjoining the defendants from further use of reproduction equipment installed in their houses. Some of these houses have RCA Victor equipment, others Western Electric. All theatres referred to in the decision are operating, however, pending final decision of the suit, which may ultimately have to travel the long road to the United States supreme court.

Alleged Infringers Not Specified

All sound-on-film attachments employ some kind of balancing device between the soundhead and projector, but no statement is forthcoming from Tri-Ergon as to the number of manufacturers whose product it regards as infringing. Of approximately 13,000 theatres in the United States now operating with sound-on-film equipment, about 9,250 have either Western Electric or RCA Victor systems, leaving about 4,000 operating installations to various other makes. A number of theatres among this latter group also received the warning form letter issued by Tri-Ergon, which stated:

"This letter is to give you further notice of United States Letters Patent No. 1,713,726, granted May 21, 1929, and owned by us, which we claim is being infringed by the machines you have been and are now using in your theatre to reproduce sound on film sound pictures."

Charge "Gouging Attempt"

After referring to the Johnson decision, the letter concluded:

"We intend to take all necessary steps to protect our rights under this patent and to prevent the further infringement thereof."

It is this letter which has brought manufacturers of sound equipment generally to the defense of their product, charging that an attempt is being made "to gouge American exhibitors." Issuing their own letters in reply to the Tri-Ergon warning, they declare either that the patents cited are invalid or that they do not apply, and that exhibitors are in any case protected by their contracts.

One RCA official, in a personal statement, referred to the Tri-Ergon action as an attempt "of Fox to 'hold up' the entire industry on one small patent."

No definite information is available as to the size of the royalty fee Tri-Ergon would seek if its charge of infringement were to be ultimately upheld, but rumors of "dickers" indicate a sum characterized as "ridiculous." The American company maintains an office at 10 west 47th street, New York.

Advocates Complete Ban On U. S. Films in Mexico

Jose U. Calderon, Mexico City exhibitor and official of the Mexican Exhibitors' Union, on Monday advocated a consolidation of Mexican production, exhibition and distribution interests under a central board to "protect the home industry against foreign producers who see an opportunity to make pictures in Mexico at lower cost than elsewhere."

"Outside producers are preparing an invasion to convert us into tributaries of the cinema magnates of the United States unless our borders are hermetically sealed," Senor Calderon declared. "Mexico should have her own cinema industry. If other countries want our pictures, let them have them made by Mexican producers, but they should not be permitted to send more expeditions to establish studios or laboratories in our country."

Virginia Censor's Resignation Asked

The resignation of Mrs. Emma Speed Sampson as a director of the Virginia State Board of Motion Picture Censorship, was asked last week by Attorney General John R. Saunders. No reason was given.

Mrs. Sampson, an author of note and widow of Henry A. Sampson, a former New York sports writer, had been a member of the board since its creation in 1922, having first been appointed by Governor E. Lee Trinkle. Later the board was placed under the jurisdiction of the attorney general's office with power of appointment vested in that official.

Disney Joins MPPDA

Walt Disney Productions has joined the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America. The total of producer and distributor members is now 25.

Fox West Coast Realignment Due

Reorganization of Fox West Coast is expected to be completed about February 15, when Spyros Skouras is due in Los Angeles from New York for final conferences with his brother, Charles, and the receivers, according to reports from the Coast this week. When the plan is worked out it is understood about six theatres will be turned over to Fanchon & Marco under a special agreement.

Reorganization plans for Fox Metropolitan Playhouses are expected to be completed by February 18, the date on which the present six months' receivership terminates. If plans are not completed by that date a move will be made to continue the receivership.

Four more of the circuit's Greater New York houses have been turned back to original owners recently by Simon Fabian and Irving Trust Co., co-receivers.

While the circuit court of appeals at New Orleans was ruling favorably for Fox Film on a judgment awarded Fox for $3,372 against John Jones, of Fort Worth, Texas, for an alleged balance due on a film contract, Supreme Court Justice Bonynge in Brooklyn was denying the application of Jennie Wyand, a bondholder, for an order to compel the Continental Bank and Trust Company to account for money allegedly taken in connection with Continental's management of the Fox Brooklyn theatre building.

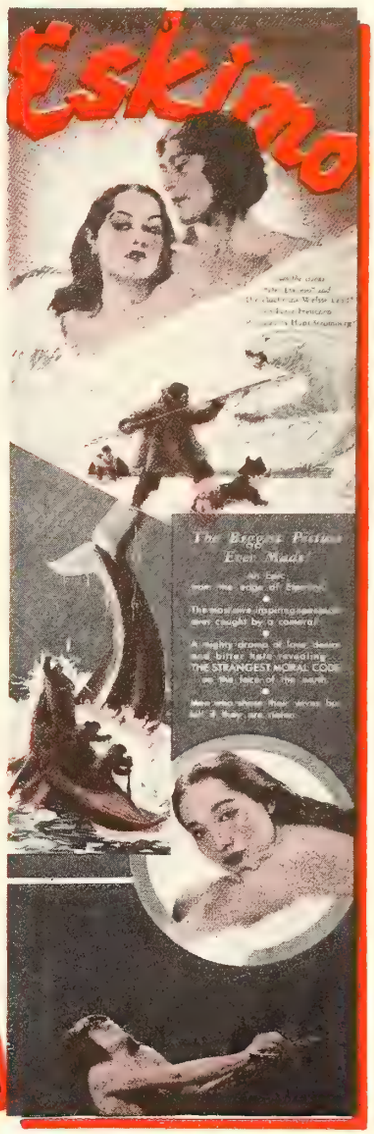
The complainant charged that the bank has no right to carry on a theatre business and that she and other bondholders holding bonds under a mortgage of $6,000,000 executed September 1, 1926, are entitled to an accounting.

She alleged that Fox Theatres Corp. executed a 32-year lease in September, 1926, to amount to $17,700,000, and that Fox quit the house Jan. 1, 1932, and that no action has been taken to recover the balance due from Fox.

Kaufman, Sherwood Sue Goldwyn on Cantor Story

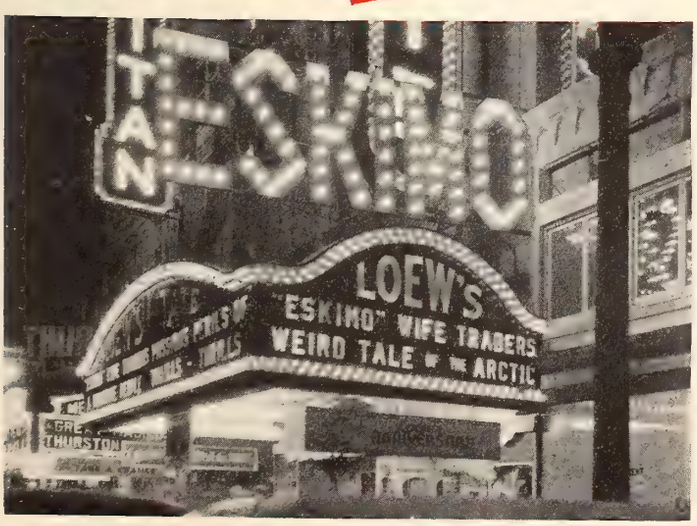
George S. Kaufman and Robert E. Sherwood, playwrights, have brought suit against Samuel Goldwyn, producer, for the $25,000 they declare he promised them for the story of the Goldwyn production, "Roman Scandals." Mr. Goldwyn contends they provided only a rough draft and declined to work it into aceptable shape. Eddie Cantor starred in the film.

"Your papers are a precious aid for me in choosing the right pictures for my house and I hope they will help me in the future, too, to make good entertainment."—MAX REIZES, co-owner, Burg Kino, Vienna, Austria.



★"ESKIMO"—SPECIAL EXPLOITATION SECTION!

★ PROVEN SHOWMANSHIP THAT CLICKED WITH CROWDS!

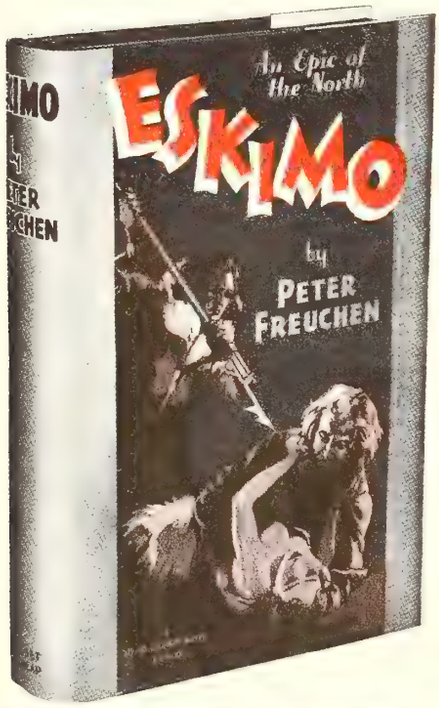


★ HIGHLIGHTS FROM 9 PRE-RELEASE ENGAGEMENTS!

THRILL ADS— To the right, one of larger ads from 15 page ad section

Inside Spread of Circus Herald used in 9 successful pre-release engagements.

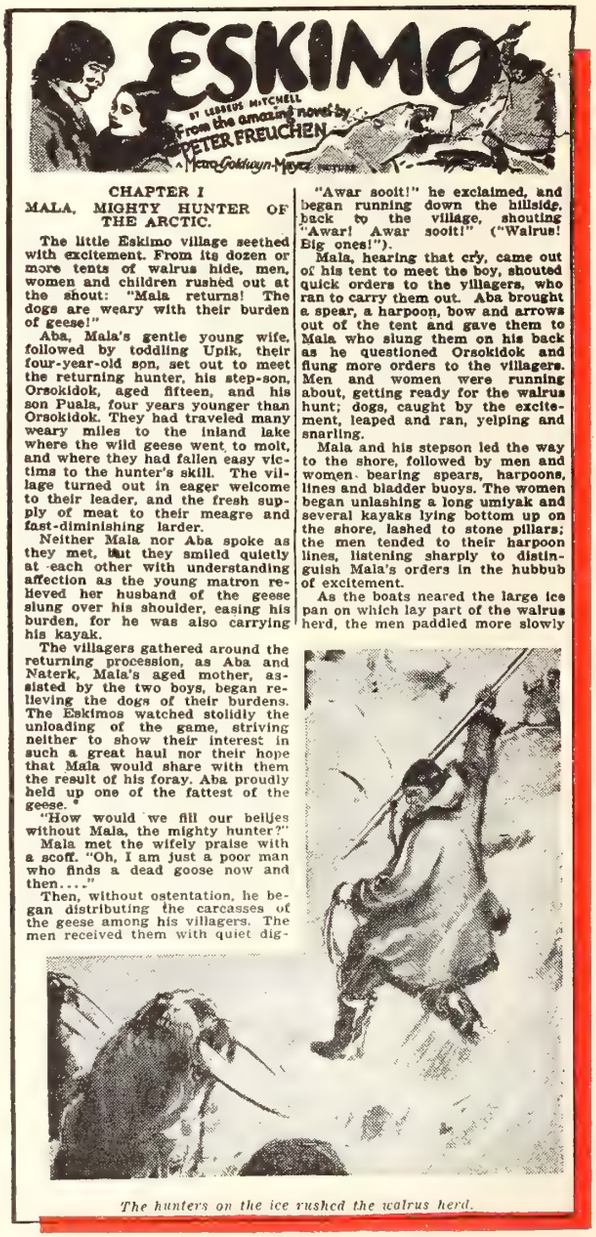
GIANT LETTERS! Electrical lettered title over marquee, the largest ever used in Houston. See campaign book for renting.



BALLYHOO! Pretty girls dressed as Eskimos rode through Miami streets. Note cut-out letters (available from press book).

DOG SLED GETS PUBLICITY! Mel Washburn, columnist on New Orleans Tribune dashes through traffic. Dog team gets crowds and newspaper space!

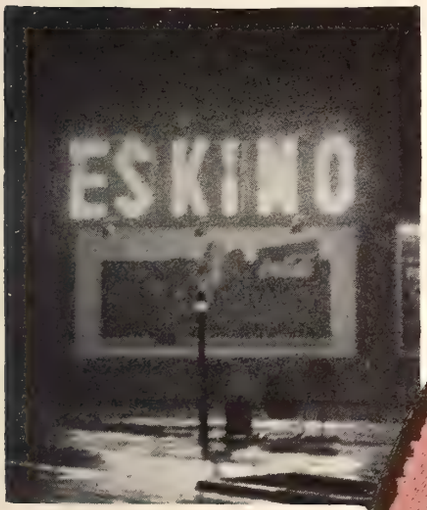
LIBRARIES! Officials of Richmond schools and libraries recognized educational values of "Eskimo." Go after the young folks too. There's millions of 'em!



ABOVE: Tire covers kept the name "Eskimo" constantly before the public. (See press book.)

LEFT: Photoplay novel of picture, used in book-store and drug-store windows. Special window cards. (See press book.)

FLASH HOUSE FRONT! The entire front masked with Special Northern Setting. Note real reindeer head plaque in front. State, Norfolk, flash front sells the show.



FREE! 12 CHAPTER SERIAL! Each installment is 2 columns wide by about 18 inches deep and complete mats of type and illustrations are furnished, together with advance ad material. Order through M-G-M Exchange.

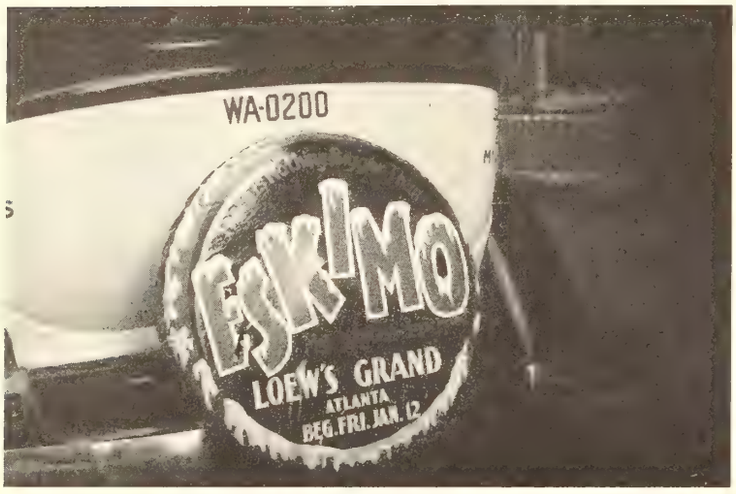
VIVID THEATRE FRONT. Spectacular selling out front in New Orleans, Big electric letters on marquee. Plenty of live pictures and copy brought eager crowds.

TAXI TIE-UPS. Norfolk got both the Yellow and Diamond taxis to use special radiator cards with copy "Take a Yellow to Eskimo, etc."

ELECTRIC SIGN IN THE HEART OF CITY! Seven foot letters atop billboards in Norfolk.

NEWSPAPER STUNT! Girls dressed as Eskimos visit polar bear at local zoo in Houston and get special press stories.

50 OF THESE LOBBY HANGERS WILL MAKE A GREAT FLASH! Available at M-G-M Exchanges, ready for hanging. Strings attached.

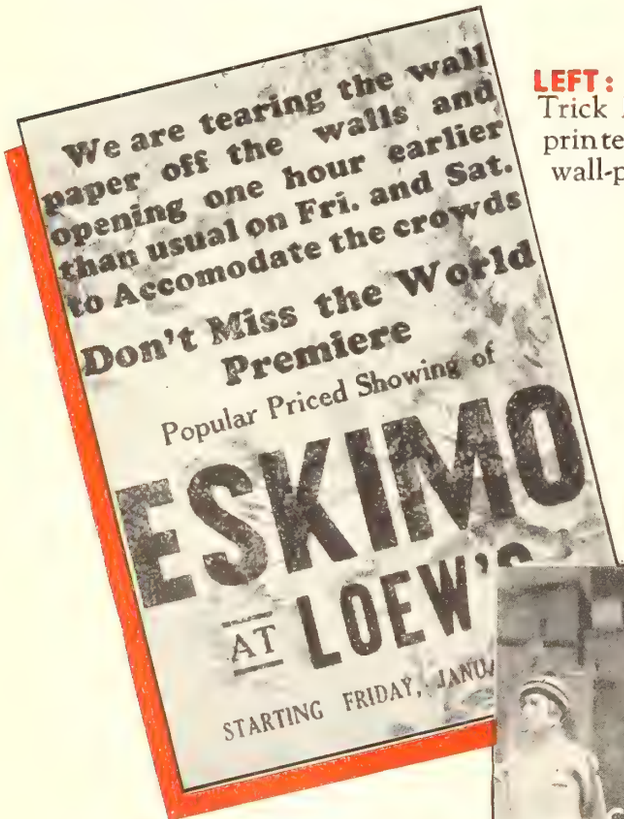


Colored Door-Knob Hanger

14 Feet Wide Ready for Hanging!

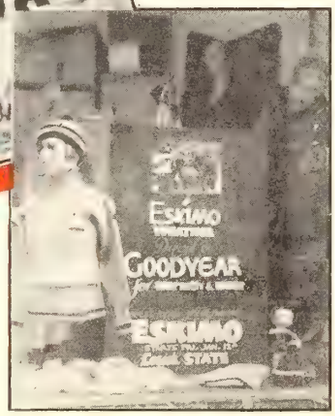
ESKIMO

HANG IT!

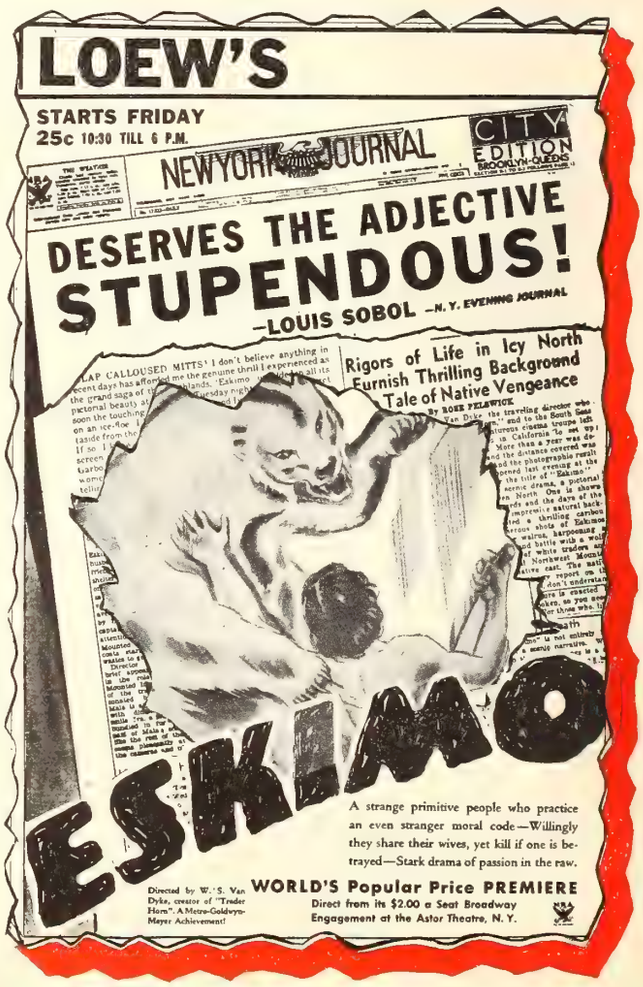


14' LOBBY, MARQUEE, AND STORE TITLE STRIPS. For suspension under marquee, anywhere in your theatre, tie-up windows, along stairway and balcony railings, etc. Each letter is 22 inches by 28 inches, lithographed in 3 colors on heavy board, die-cut and strung. Total width about 14 feet. Ready for hanging. Successfully used in all pre-release engagements.

200 TIRE COVERS IN ATLANTA. Grand Theatre, Atlanta, gets city-wide coverage with tire covers on 200 cabs!



ESKIMO SCHOOL TIE-UP. St. Peters High School, New Orleans, jammed for lecture and "Eskimo" stunts.



LEFT: Trick Herald printed on wall-paper.

RIGHT: Newspaper ad, part of unusual campaign.

WINDOW TIE-UPS GALORE! Here's one from Norfolk with Goodyear Rubber!

real, live penguins!
a dog team of alaskan huskies!
arctic curios!

You'll See Them All
At Kaufman's

Where They Will Be On Display
Friday and Saturday Between
2 and 3:30 O'Clock

We are able to offer this exhibit through the courtesy of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer whose latest success.

"Eskimo" Will Be Seen At Loew's Theater for One Week, Beginning Friday

ADS PLACED BY DEPARTMENT STORES. Above from Louisville is one of many giving "Eskimo" free space.

ANOTHER LOBBY FLASH! This is the largest front ever constructed at the Olympia, Miami. It brought the business!

DOGS GET PUBLICITY! Scene from New Orleans, where principal of Girls High School takes ride. Newspapers loved it!

PLASTERED!

Busy street corner in Miami, store front secured for pictorial display. Note also the 56-sheet board atop building. You can do it too!

BELOW: Post-card used for special mailing to teachers, women's clubs, and all educational outlets.

ESKIMO

a great Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer attraction backed by showmanship!

UNANIMOUS FOR "ESKIMO"!

I earnestly recommend every teacher to take advantage of the first opportunity she may have to see ESKIMO and to encourage her pupils to do so. —Miss Florence Hale, Past President National Education Association

ESKIMO is a picture with fine educational values. —Dr. Wilbur T. Clemens, Greater New York Federation of Churches

A film of stupendous production, magnificent photography, superb direction, interesting plot, excellent cast, poignant pathos and delightful humor. —National Council of Jewish Women

Very unusual in interest and sincerity and especially entertaining. Excellent portrayal of the life philosophy of the Eskimo. —Women's University Club

To be most highly recommended for adults and juniors. —General Federation of Women's Clubs (West Coast Committee)

STARTING AT LOEW'S THEATRE
Friday, January 12, For One Week

"ROLL UP YOUR SLEEVES AND WATCH THE DOUGH ROLL IN!"

10 PER CENT ELIMINATION CLAUSE RULING FOUGHT BY DISTRIBUTORS

Rosenblatt Decides Cancellation Privilege Is Effective on Releases After Dec. 7, 1933, on Contracts Signed Before

BULLETIN

Allied's board of directors at press time was in secret session at the Hotel Warwick, New York. According to Abram Myers, general counsel, they were to meet without interruption throughout Wednesday night and on Thursday. It was reported they were discussing the code and other matters.

—

Decision by Division Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt that the 10 per cent cancellation privileges accorded the exhibitor in the motion picture code shall apply to all pictures released after December 7, 1933—the date when the code when into effect—on contracts between exhibitors and distributors signed prior to that date, startled the distribution branches of the industry over the week-end and rumblings of court reprisals from this branch were heard.

Major distribution executives on Tuesday asked the Code Authority to go direct to the NRA legal department for a definite ruling on Mr. Rosenblatt's decision. William P. Farnsworth, deputy administrator acting as alternate for Mr. Rosenblatt at the Authority session Tuesday, said he would take the matter up with General Johnson in Washington the end of this week.

Further adding to the already somewhat complicated functionings of the Code Authority, there was filed on Saturday in U. S. District court, New York, a suit charging that the industry's code is contrary to the National Industrial Recovery Act and directly attacking certain procedure of the Code Authority itself. Members of the Code Authority were named defendants.

Affects Every Theatre

The Rosenblatt decision is one of vast importance to the exhibition branch of the industry in that it affects every theatre in the country which complies with the code and which is thereby entitled to make eliminations in contracts to the extent of 10 per cent of the pictures contracted for.

A number of inquiries from exhibitors received by Mr. Rosenblatt as to whether they would benefit by the clause on contracts effected prior to December 7, prompted him to make the decision.

That Mr. Rosenblatt had no authority to rule that the cancellation clause—(Explained in the Herald's "De-Coding-the-Code" instalment of January 20, page 52)—would apply on all releases after December 7, is the opinion of major company legal departments. These attorneys contend that the question of whether or not the clause is retroactive is not settled in the code itself and, therefore, is a matter of contract to be decided by individual company policy. If attempts are made to enforce and apply this interpretation to contracts made prior to December 7, major distributors, it was intimated, will take the matter to court. Sales executives declared they stood to lose a large volume of rentals if the Rosenblatt ruling were to be enforced.

In Washington, however, it was said this week that provisions of the code definitely preclude any objections to the ruling, and it was pointed out by NRA officials that Part 1, Section F (Distributors-Exhibitors) provides that the socalled optional standard licensing agreement shall continue to apply, except that any provision in conflict or inconsistent with any provision of the code "shall be deemed amended to conform with the provisions of this code, it being the intention that the provisions of this code shall govern."

En route to Hollywood, Mr. Rosenblatt declared in Kansas City on Monday that "it makes no difference when an exhibitor signed a contract or when it was approved."

"If he has signed the code and fully complies with the provisions governing cancellations, he is entitled to 10 per cent eliminations after December 7," Mr. Rosenblatt stated. "If the distributors want to bring suit, that is their privilege, but I haven't heard of any."

The Code and The Past Week

Highlights on the motion picture front this week were as follows:

1. Decision by Division Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt that the 10 per cent cancellation privilege under the motion picture code shall apply to all pictures released after December 7, regardless of whether a contract was effected prior to that date.

2. The filing of a suit in U. S. District Court, New York, by Allied States Association against the Code Authority and stating the industry's NRA code to be contrary to the National Industrial Recovery Act.

3. Warning from NRA headquarters to all industry that anti-trust laws of the United States still are in full force and that monopolistic practices are not permitted "even under the provisions of codes."

4. Announcement by Code Authority of 263 more nominations to local grievance, clearance and zoning boards, bringing total to 899.

5. Departure of Mr. Rosenblatt for Hollywood to discuss production viewpoints on various phases of the code and to probe talent and star-raiding at the expressed behest of President Roosevelt.

Code Authority Challenged in Allied Court Action, Charging Industry's Code Is Contrary to the Recovery Act

Another important development on the motion picture front this week was the issuance by the NRA of a warning to all industries now operating under codes that the provisions of the anti-trust laws of the United States are still in full force and effect and that monopolistic practices are "not permitted, even under the provisions of codes."

Complaining that the film code is contrary to the National Industrial Recovery Act for the reasons that it was not applied for by any representative group of the entire industry; that by its terms and necessary effect the code is designed to promote monopolies and to eliminate and oppress small enterprises and that it will operate to discriminate against them, and that the code does in fact permit monopolies and monopolistic practices, the Allied States Association on Saturday opened fire on the Code Authority with a formal bill of complaint filed in United States district court, New York.

The suit was not unexpected, as Allied had been threatening to sue somebody over the code, even before it was signed by the President.

The bill asks an injunction restraining the Code Authority from requiring assents to the code without qualifications and, in the event this is denied, asks that the court adjudge sections of the code to be unconstitutional and restrain the body from enforcing these sections.

The suit was brought in the name of the Congress Theatre, Inc., Newark, N. J., owned by Reuben L. Haas, a member of Allied of New Jersey. It was filed by Norman H. Samuelson, a brother of the Allied of New Jersey president, Sidney E. Samuelson, as attorney for the complainant. The face of the complaint lists, in addition to Norman H. Samuelson, the name of Abram F. Myers, "of counsel." Mr. Myers is general counsel of the national Allied States Association.

Defendants to the suit are members of the Code Authority, specifically, Sol A. Rosenblatt, Merlin H. Aylesworth, Sidney R. Kent, George J. Schaefer, Nicholas M. Schenck, Harry M. Warner, Robert H. Cochrane, W. Ray Johnston, Ed Kuykendall, Charles L. O'Reilly, Nathan Yamins and John C. Flinn. Despite the fact that Mr. Yamins' exhibitor organization, Independent Exhibitors, Inc., of New England, is affiliated with Allied, his position on the Code Authority obviously necessitated including his name as a defendant.

In support of its various charges the bill alleges that the code confers upon the Code Authority, which, it is said, is dominated by the major producers of motion pictures, the power to injure and drive out of business the independent motion picture theatres competitive

(Continued on page 34)

899 TOTAL NOMINATED TO BOARDS

The Code Authority in New York this week made known the names of 263 additional exhibitor and exchange candidates for membership on the 32 Local Grievance Boards and the 32 Local Clearance and Zoning Boards. These nominees, together with the 325 publicly announced last week by the Code Authority, and 311 the week before, make a total of 899 exhibitor and exchange candidates for the 256 exchange and exhibitor posts, which divided evenly, will comprise the membership of two groups of boards, to be named by the Code Authority, which began this work Monday morning.

The last date for making nominations to these boards was midnight, January 20.

The names of the third group of 263 exchange and exhibitor candidates nominated in addition to those announced previously, follow alphabetically and by zones:

ALBANY
Victor Bunz
Miss Jane Halloran
M. J. Kallett
Tony Ryan

▼

ATLANTA
W. Anderson
Sherwood L. Astin
John M. Bromberg
Willis J. Davis
John Evans
John Ezell
Alpha Fowler
George E. Fuller
Jimmie Hanlon
Love B. Harrell
Lionel H. Keone
Ernest Morrison
Sam Moscow
Dave Prince
Mrs. Alonzo Richardson
Ralph Smith
Tony Sudekem
Hon. Geo. W. West

▼

BOSTON
Merton Carr
J. M. Casey
Wm. Erbb
John J. Ford
Francis Lydon
J. J. McGuinness
Thomas J. Meehan
Victor J. Morris
Franklin F. Plimpton
A. D. Rudenstein

▼

BUFFALO
Emma Abplanalp
Milton Guggenheimer
Henry Seilheimer

▼

CHARLOTTE
H. H. Everett
J. J. Grady
Mrs. Walter Griffith
M. S. Hill
R. J. Ingram
J. F. Kirby
Albert Sottille

▼

CHICAGO
John Dittman
James Fushanes
J. Goldberg
John J. Jones
Alex Manta
Jack Miller
V. U. Young

▼

CINCINNATI
Prof. E. V. Hollis
Floyd D. Morrow

▼

CLEVELAND
A. G. Constant
Mrs. Georgia Moffitt

▼

COLUMBUS
Max Stearn

▼

DALLAS
S. G. Howell
P. K. Johnson
G. A. Luchesse
R. J. O'Donnell
Miss Laura Roberts
Ed. Rowley
Raymond Willie

▼

DENVER
Duke W. Dunbar

▼

DES MOINES
John Anderson
W. E. Banford
Tom Brown
Hale Cavanaugh
R. M. Copeland
Jake Cohen
A. J. Diebold
Abe Frankel
Grace Gannon
Julius Geertz
Harry Hiersteiner
Wesley Mansfield
Lester F. Martin
Leone Matthews
D. V. McLucas
N. C. Rice
Frank D. Rubel
Joe Weaver
George Weigman

▼

DETROIT
Priscilla Ackerman
C. R. Beechler
Sam Brown
Harvey Campbell
Sam Decker
Fred DeLodder
Joe Dennison
William Hurlbut
E. S. Kinney
William London
W. S. McLaren
Louise Miller
Alex Schreiber
P. M. Sprott
Lew Wisper

▼

INDIANAPOLIS
Arthur Bennett
Frank Carey
Walter Easley
Oscar Fine
Junius Fushaneas
Ross Garver
J. Goldberg
I. M. Halpern
Roy Harrold
George Heliotes
Arthur Howard
Alex Manta
Ernest Miller
Sam W. Neall
Maurice Rubin
Robert Scherer
Monty Solomon
H. P. Vonderschmitt
U. V. Young

▼

KANSAS CITY, MO.
Robert V. Marchbank
June Medcalf
LOS ANGELES
Harry C. Arthur, Sr.
Milton B. Arthur
Robert Gumbiner
Ray Peterson
John Redmond
Arnold Schaak
H. J. Siler
Hobart Swan

▼

MEMPHIS
Jack Arnold
T. A. Ballas
H. L. Cohen
Cecil Cupp
John Eaton
W. B. Fulton
L. F. Haven
W. S. Tyson
J. F. Willingham
T. W. Young
Paul Zerilla

▼

MILWAUKEE
R. J. Baldwin
R. S. Guiterman
A. C. Gutenberg
Ben Koenig
R. T. Smith
L. F. Thurwachter

▼

MINNEAPOLIS
Leo Blank
Ben Blotcky
Mabel M. Dietz
Everett Dilley
James Donahue
William Glaser
Fred V. Holzapfel
Jack Lorentz
Frank Manske
L. Rubenstein
Frank Watske

▼

NEW HAVEN
William J. Brennan
George Cruzen
B. E. Hoffman
I. J. Hoffman
Adolph Johnson
Edward G. Levy
Albert Pickus
Louis M. Sagal
J. L. Shulman
Prof. W. A. Sturges
Samuel Weiss

▼

NEW ORLEANS
George E. Fuller
Mrs. J. B. Heinie

▼

NEW YORK
Arthur Abeles
Leo Abrams
Harry Arthur
Julius Charnow
Irving Dollinger
Fred W. Falkner
Harry Friedman
J. Louis Geller
Reuben L. Haas
Harry K. Hecht
Wm. A. Landau
David Loew
Arthur Mayer
Charles Moses
C. C. Moskowitz
F. Thomas Murray
Lee Newbury
Lee A. Ochs
Walter Reade
Sam Rinzler
I. A. Roth
Edward Rugoff
Sidney E. Samuelson
Edward Schnitzer
Wm. Scully
Miss Lillian Silver
George Skouras
David Snaper
Charles Steiner
Jack Steinman
Thomas J. Valentino
Joseph Vergesslich
Robert Wolff
Harmon Yaffa

▼

OMAHA
Ray Felker
B. B. Holdridge
Richard Koch
I. N. Kuhl
Dean Martin
G. F. Nye
Henry Monsky
A. W. Person
Will Singer

▼

PHILADELPHIA
George P. Aarons
Reese B. Harrington
William Heenan
Earl W. Sweigert

▼

PITTSBURGH
Harry Goldstein
J. Horvitz
Robert F. Klingensmith
Carl R. Mapel
Geo. H. Sallows

▼

PORTLAND, ME.
Howard Duffy
William Frieday
J. T. Howard

▼

SALT LAKE CITY
Harry David
Charles Epperson
Irving Schlank

▼

ST. LOUIS
Ben Cammack
Lou Elman
Steven Farrar
Jos. Garrison
C. D. Hill
W. E. Horsefield
Leo F. Keiler
C. T. Lynch
Mrs. Grace Rodgers
Miss Lila B. Schofield
M. Schweitzer

▼

SAN FRANCISCO
Charles A. Caballero
Miss Claire Foley
Miss Rowena Foley
R. A. McNeil

▼

SEATTLE
John Danz
George Endert
Ed Lamb
Roberta B. Lynch

▼

WASHINGTON, D. C.
Carter Barron
Rudolph Berger
Jerome Cohan
J. B. Dashiel
Samuel Flax
Thomas Goldberg
Wm. P. Herbst
John Hiser
Harry Hunter
Robert Kanter
Sidney Lust
Hardie Meakin
Phillip Miller
Walter Pacy
E. A. Plummer
J. Louis Rome
Louis Schneider
Carl Schwartz
Samuel Soltz
Samuel Wheeler

A "TIMID SOUL" SHOCKS AUTHORITY

A timid, retiring gentleman carrying a brief case entered the Code Authority meeting in New York Tuesday and was asked, bluntly, who he was. The gentleman responded that he was an alternate, but declined to state for whom. However, the dignified Authority members decided he might be William P. Farnsworth, deputizing for Sol A. Rosenblatt, who had not yet arrived.

As the meeting was called to order, the "timid soul" suddenly went into action. Stepping briskly round the room, he handed each member of the Code Authority a neatly folded piece of paper—a summons in the Allied-Congress Theatre, Inc., suit regarding the constitutionality of the motion picture code!

Must Keep High Standards: Hays

Asserting that successful pictures in the future will be those that keep pace with higher, not lower, entertainment demands of the American public, Will H. Hays arrived in Hollywood on Sunday for a short stay.

"Many observers of film progress are pointing to the possibility that a vast public may soon be ready for the treasure house of great comedy and drama that lies in a possible Shakespearean cycle on the screen," he said.

"Errors of taste or judgment will be chalked up as such," Mr. Hays concluded, "regardless of many more errors which are avoided. The task of self-education, therefore, remains as great as ever. It is safer to overrate than to underrate public intelligence."

"SHIP ENTIRE CAST TO HOLLYWOOD"

Says Benjamin DeCasseres of "The First Apple"; Suggests Blanche Bates for Screen Version of "The Lake"; Other Broadway Stage Plays Reviewed

By BENJAMIN DeCASSERES

THE FIRST APPLE

This big town of ours tends more and more to become Hollywood's dog-town. But sometimes there are pleasant things to record. All dogs do not make boloney. Some make tasty Airedale chops.

In the latter class I place the reappearance on the speaking stage of Conrad Nagel in a charming, picture-angled modern comedy by Lynn Starling, perfectly directed by Bela Blau, called "The First Apple" (and there's, too, a corking title!).

Nagel as a successful Greenwich Village writer, a romantic fellow and a thorough-going gentleman of a disappearing type, was very fine. He has one of the clearest voices on the picture or speaking stage and no one's diction is more perfect. It compares favorably with the late E. H. Sothern's.

The comedy is refreshing. It opens on a rainy evening in a doorway in Greenwich Village. Sylvia Carson (Irene Purcell—more than good) finds herself juxtaposed to Gilbert Carey (Nagel). Can't get a taxi. Ensues the best dialogue since "The Affairs of Anatole."

To his room to hear him "play Brahms." Came the dawn—"the first apple," for Sylvia.

Sylvia's swanky home in New Jersey three months later. The Brahms seduction is now a beautiful memory. Sylvia is engaged to a fine picture comedy part, a thick-headed, husky, namby-pamby fellow from South Dakota (Albert Van Dekker played it superbly and for great gusts of laughter).

The mother of Sylvia is a kind of Aimée McPherson, who is spoofed unmercifully by the playwright (Nana Bryant in all her towering splendor).

Of course, romantic Nagel-Carey finally gets back into Sylvia's house. And now begins a complicated comedy mess between Carey, Sylvia, her mother and the South Dak. thick-head that provided the audience with many merry ha-has. Spring Byington added to the gayety of the performance. (The spud from S. Dak. marries Ma.)

The dialogue is about the best of the season: short, sharp, cutting, penetrating.

"The First Apple" will make a sparkling picture. Ship the whole cast West with the script.

Picture value, 90 per cent.

JEZEBEL

Owen Davis is the progenitor of this elderly piece of sausage, which, however, is going to make purty good porterhouse out in Hollywood.

It will take a strong youse-all cast and a heap of Southern cornmule-I-reckon accents to land this big b. o.; but I cakalate that after some tolerable finiggling it might turn out right-smart after all.

As you-all gues, Jezebel is a pre-Civil War tale, at the time when duels, mint-juleps, hoop-skirts, contented negro slaves and sideburns were the whole whoopee set-up of the Fair Southland.

Miriam Hopkins got the long-distance call to star in "Jezebel." I prefer the glamorous Miriam on the screen. But as a Southern vamp of the vintage of 1853 she certainly looked grandly romantic in Guthrie McClintic's production and Donald Oenslager's settings. She will probably do this American costume play in pictures also.

The story is full of good old-fashioned picture material, affording an opportunity to portray the pre-Lincoln South, with a background of a great yellow-fever epidemic and maybe a little Mexican War boom-a-laddie booms.

Julie Kendrick, a rich Southern (near New Orleans) belle, comes home from Yankee-land (New York) to find that her old flame, Preston Kendrick (her cousin), has married a damned Yankee girl.

Julie is a pretty bad type of "aristocratic lady." She can't take it, so she vamps the husband, causes a duel and a death, drives all of the I-reckons (except the slaves) away from her and even dances in her gorgeous gowns a hoe-down hotcha with her slaves.

The climax comes when Preston gets the yellow jack. He's to be taken to the Molokai of the South.

Well, out of this Jezebel pops a Clara Barton (yes-siree!). Julie waves the wife aside and Goes Forth, amid the wailing of the slaves, to nurse Marse Preston on Lazaretto Island (handkerchiefs for the ladies, please).

But I missed the jingle of the sazarac.

Picture value, 75 per cent.

THE LAKE

Well, the big noise came, we saw, and it not only did not conquer, but so far as I am concerned (and nearly all the critics were of the same mind) it did not conquer by a very long, long shot. All the more do I grieve over this because it was a Jed Harris production, and this man is among our few Big Shots.

The trouble was both in the play and with Katharine Hepburn. Miss Hepburn gave postively the worst stage performance I have seen in years. This excellent screen actress, this young woman who fitted perfectly into her part as an Amazon in "The Warrior's Husband," fell down frightfully in the part of Stella Surrege, a horsey, high-spirited English girl who has no value or meaning at all as a character in a play.

Miss Hepburn's voice cut me to pieces like a buzz-saw. She acted like a mechanical doll wound up for screaming sentences.

Blanche Bates as a cynical aunt and Lionel Pape walked off with the show. I advise Miss Hepburn to stick to pictures.

The play is dull English-stuff, with a theme as threadbare and forced as any I can remember in thirty-five years of steady theatre-going.

The set-up is an English household with a dominating mother (played completely out of key by Frances Starr), a husband who is henpecked to absolute non-resistance (Lionel Pape—superb), and the daughter Stella.

The latter is in love with one man, but for some reason which only a Yogi knows, marries another. The wedding (a real Jed Harris stage triumph), After the wedding Stella and her new husband (Colin-Clive) go for a drive. Car skids into a lake which the mother had made in the woods (guess the Ibsenian symbolism—I can't) and the Happy Man is killed. Great woe among the wedding guests.

That's all. I suppose in the sixth act or so Stella gets over her grief and has an affair with her real lover. (Now, I want Mae West to do "Camille.")

I see no great picture stuff in this much-touted play even with Miss Hepburn doing it. It might have a great b. o. value, however, with Hepburn fans. And don't forget Blanche Bates—she can make this picture.

Picture value (with Katharine Hepburn), 60 per cent, and with Blanche Bates, 80 per cent.

THE LOCKED ROOM

As the worst mystery play of any season since my baldness came upon me is "The Locked Room," by Herbert Ashton, Jr., I present to that young (presumably) gentleman my annual bouquet of cabbage and leek.

First of all, the situation is practically the same as a certain Van Dine story, "The Kennel Murder Case," if my memory serves me. A man is found dead in his library, shot and stabbed, with the door locked on the inside.

But Mr. Ashton is no Van Dine. Every inch of old hokum is worked to the limit.

It is amateur stuff that has been done many times in pictures a thousand times better.

Picture value, 15 per cent.

RATING STAGE PLAYS FOR SCREEN USAGE

Mr. Benjamin DeCasseres, essayist and critic of note, rates several of the current plays of the Broadway stage as follows as screen material:

"The First Apple"—90 per cent.
"Jezebel"—75 per cent.
"The Lake"—70 to 80 per cent.
"The Locked Room"—15 per cent.

Pizor Re-elected By Penn MPTO

Lewen Pizor was re-elected to the presidency of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern Jersey and Delaware at a meeting in Philadelphia Tuesday.

Others elected were Michael Egnal, vice-president; George Lessy, treasurer; George Aarons, secretary. A board of managers to fill vacancies includes Milton Rogasner, Ben Fertle, Joe Conway and Ed Jeffries; advisory board, Charles Goodwin, Jay Emanuel, A. B. Smith, Morris Spiers, Morris Wax, George Kline, Herb Elliott, I. Z. Hirschblond, Charles Segal, Sam Somerson, John Bagley, Elliott Goldman, Si Myers, Luke Gring, Norman Lewis, Jack Brown, I. Borowsky, Fred Leopold and Dave Milgrim.

Lacking Support, Picture Club Plans Reorganization

Charging indifferent support of the New York Motion Picture Club by the local industry, a reorganization plan, which would hold membership to a possible maximum of 130, was advanced at a meeting Wednesday, by Lee Ochs, president.

Actual reorganization plans will be furthered by a committee, the personnel of which was not revealed by Mr. Ochs. One definite decision of the meeting was to construct a bar in the Club's quarters.

First of Columbia's Regional Meets Held

The first of two regional sales meetings planned by Columbia Pictures Corporation was held on Saturday when the eastern division convened at the home office. Distribution plans, and exploitation, advertising and publicity campaigns were discussed.

The second meeting, for the western division, is to be held in Chicago on January 29, with several members of the eastern division, in addition to home office executives, attending.

Lovelace Named Fox Story Editor at the Home Office

Hunter Lovelace, story agent, has been named editor of the Fox story department at the home office. John Mock, former assistant to Julian Johnston, is now head of the reading staff in New York.

William Crawford, former assistant to Jack Gains at the Coast studio, is to be located in the east as general representative of the studio. Joseph Pincus continues as talent scout and head of the screen test department in New York.

Debrie Has New Tripod

Andre Debrie, Inc., has announced a new rolling tripod, which is said to be an improvement on the "dollies" used, since it can be operated by the cameraman himself.

London Circuit Moves

Bernstein Theatres, Ltd., English circuit, has moved its London offices to 36 Golden Square, London, W.1. The company has theatres in various parts of the country.

NINE CAMPAIGNS IN PRESS BOOK

Nine completed campaigns on pre-release dates already put over in various spots distinguish MGM's out-of-the-ordinary "Eskimo" press book. The wealth of advertising and exploitation material includes full explanation and numerous photos of fronts, street ballys, contests, grade school promotions, tieups and window displays in stores handling the thirty nationally known products tied into the picture.

Many pages of display ads used on these dates are carried, as are a twelve-chapter newspaper serial, radio broadcast continuities and cartoon strips. Numerous useful accessories are also illustrated.

It is indeed a "giant" press book and showmen who have dated "Eskimo" should have little difficulty in arranging satisfactory box-office campaigns from these overflowing pages.—A-Mike Vogel.

MGM Assigns Pete Smith To Short Subjects Exclusively

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has contracted with Pete Smith, head of the studio advertising department, whereby he will devote his time exclusively to short subject work. As a result of the audience response to shorts handled by Mr. Smith during the past season, in most of which he delivered the explanatory remarks, the output of shorts for the coming year will be increased, according to the company.

Howard Dietz, director of advertising and publicity for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, while at the studio, engaged Frank Whitbeck to head the studio advertising department. The studio publicity department will continue as a separate unit with Howard Strickling in complete charge.

Form Coast Film Council

The California Congress of Parents and Teachers has formed a motion picture council at San Francisco. Mrs. E. A. Benson has been named temporary chairman and Mrs. Arthur B. Allen secretary. Better films will be the organization's objective.

Handle Loew Publicity

Perry Spencer has been placed in charge of publicity at all Loew theatres in the Bronx, New York, with the exception of the Paradise, handled by Henry Spiegel. Eddie Dowden handles Brooklyn and Queens.

Brothers Work on Series

H. L. Woodard, scientist and noted research chemist, has joined his brother, Stacy Woodard, who is producing Educational's "Battle for Life" series. Mr. Woodard is leaving shortly for South America.

Lord Joins Castle

George F. Lord, advertising and sales executive, has joined the staff of Castle Films, producers of business motion pictures.

Disapproves of Radio City Leases

Federal Judge William Bondy on Monday in New York refused to approve leases on the Music Hall and RKO Center theatres in Radio City negotiated between Irving Trust Company, as receiver for RKO, and Rockefeller Center, Inc.

The leases are for the current year and aggregate $973,000 in rentals. Also included is the RKO office space in Radio City.

Jack Shapiro and Lou Blumenthal, who recently acquired the Casino theatre, have taken over the Cameo from RKO.

New St. Louis Theatre Set-Up Seen Near

As a result of the reorganization plans of Skouras Brothers for the Central States Theatres Corp., now well under way, a change in the St. Louis theatre set-up is expected in the near future. Central now controls three theatres and currently is in receivership. A date for the sale of the three to satisfy $5,920,500 in outstanding first mortgage bonds in default will soon be set.

Following the reorganization, Skouras will in all probability make a deal with Fanchon & Marco to turn over one of the three theatres, the Missouri, on a partnership basis. Fanchon now operates the St. Louis and may also acquire the Fox.

Warner Brothers, currently are reported to be financially interested in the reorganization of Central States, and it is expected that Skouras may negotiate a deal with them to operate the Ambassador, one of the three theatres to be put up for sale. This would leave Skouras with but one theatre, the Grand Central.

Prepare Special Air Camera

Bell & Howell, equipment manufacturer of Chicago, has prepared a special motion picture camera for Sir Hubert Wilkins, noted explorer. It is designed to permit the making of a continuous map of the terrain during a planned 3,000 mile air dash across the south polar region.

Foreign Deal Set

Negotiations for the distribution of four Monarch productions in Chile were completed this week between C. Gonzales of the Reliable Film Exporting Co., and Thomas Garcia of Santiago. The pictures will be distributed throughout Chile after Spanish super-imposed titles have been interpolated.

Modern Studio for Cairo

A modern film studio, with plans calling for two stages, a sound room and laboratories, is being erected in Cairo, Egypt, by the Societe Misr pour le Cinema et la Theatre, with the assistance of the Banque Misr.

Fox Studio Building Started

Fox has started construction on the fourth building in the Coast studio expansion program. A sound stage, the new building will cost more than $200,000 when equipped.

SOON...
HEPBURN
"SPITFIRE"

HIPS HI HOORAY

A WILD AND WOOLSEY WORLD AWAITS THIS LATEST REVELATION FROM THE PADDED CELL!

WHEELER AND WOOLSEY

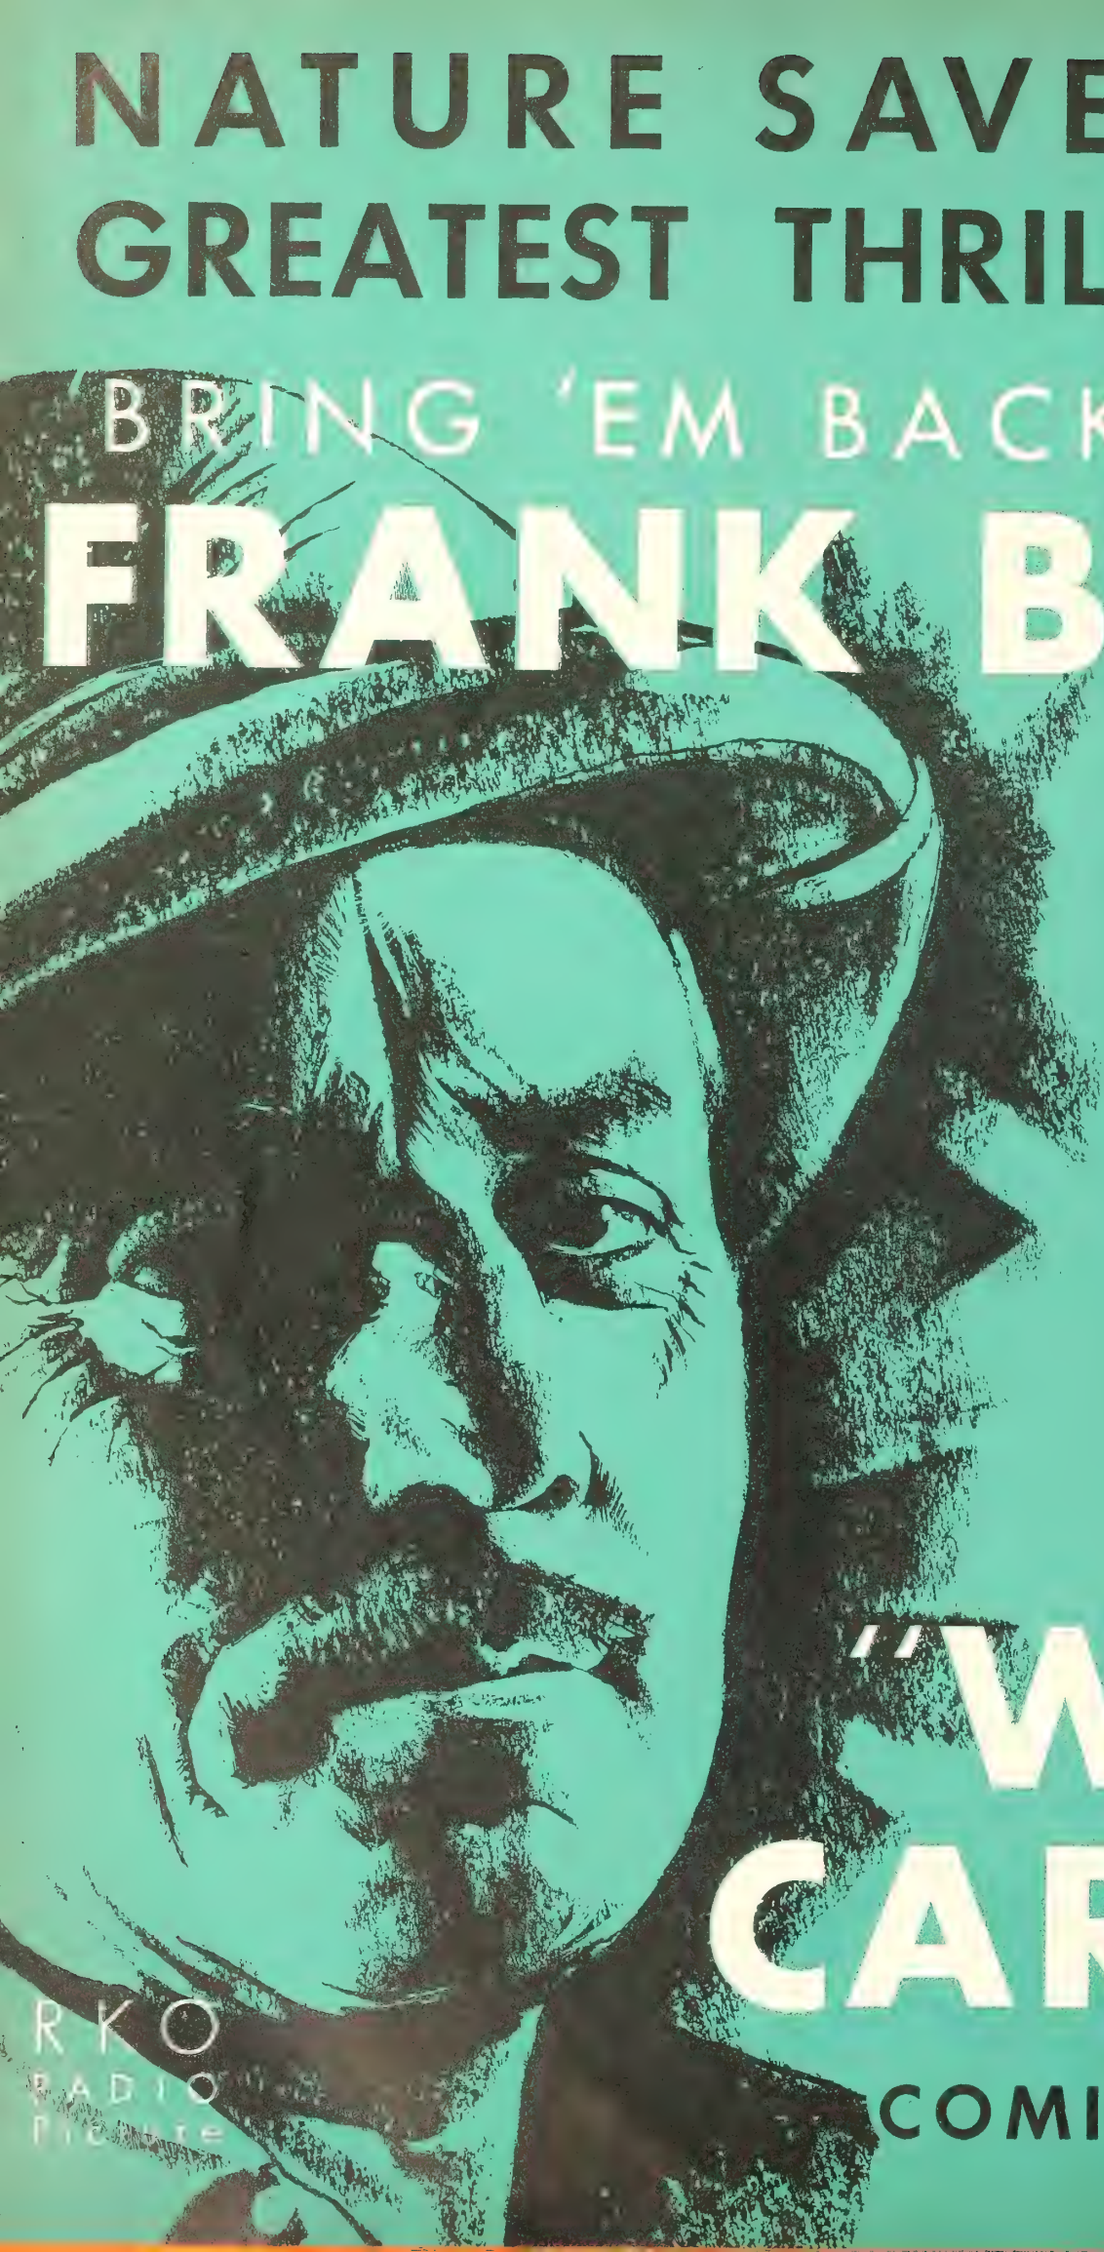
DUMB CRACK THEIR WAY TO GLORY IN A SHOWER OF LINGERIE . . . GAY TUNES AND SCANTIES . . . GIRLS AND GIGGLES . . . BEAUTY AND BEDLAM ROLLED INTO ONE BIG

LAUGH AND MUSIC SHOW

RKO Radio Pictures

MERIAN C. COOPER
EXECUTIVE PRODUCER

MUSIC, LYRICS AND SCREEN PLAY BY HARRY RUBY AND BERT KALMER



DIRECTED BY MARK SANDRICH

NATURE SAVES HER GREATEST THRILLS FOR

BRING 'EM BACK ALIVE'

FRANK BUCK

"WILD CARGO"

COMING SOON!

RKO RADIO PICTURES

TWO DECADES AND RAY JOHNSTON

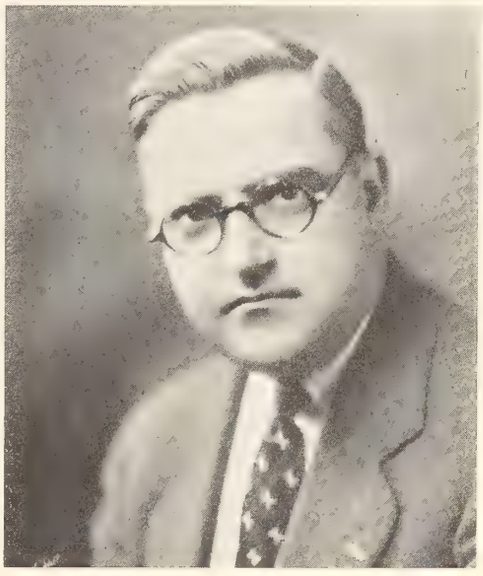
President of Monogram Pictures Started in Film Business Twenty Years Ago as Business Secretary of Thanhouser Under Hite; Formed Arrow, '24, Monogram, '31

Completing his first twenty years in the motion picture business, W. Ray Johnston, president of Monogram Pictures Corporation, on Tuesday started his third decade as a leading film distributor.

On the morning of January 23, 1914, when the European powers were commencing to discern heavy war clouds, a tall and lean Iowan, just turning the voting age, walked into the rather sparsely furnished office of Charles J. Hite, at the historical old studios of Thanhouser at New Rochelle, Westchester County, New York. He had sought out Mr. Hite, who was then president of Thanhouser Film Corporation, at the suggestion of Wilbert E. Shallenberger, who later built up Arrow Film Company, but at the time was associated with Mr. Hite in the Thanhouser, Majestic, New York, Motion Picture, Mutual and Keystone film companies.

Next morning young Mr. Johnston was at work on the somewhat general utilitarian duties of business secretary of the Thanhouser company, a position he held until the death of Mr. Hite, a few months later. Hite's passing brought Edwin Thanhouser back to the company which he had started, and he sent Ray Johnston from the business office of the company out on to the stage of its studio to learn about acting as a part of the picture making business. Six months of that and young Johnston was ready to handle the newly opened studio of Thanhouser at Jacksonville, Fla.

But while secretary of Thanhouser, Mr. Johnston also had been named assistant treasurer of Syndicate Film Corporation, distribution channel for Thanhouser's "Million Dollar Mystery," which established a record gross of $1,600,000 for serials. He also had aided in production of "Beating Back," starring Al Jennings, notorious Oklahoma bandit, who ran for governor of his native state.



Managed Theatres, Too

For a touch of theatre operations, Johnston was sent to manage two houses owned by the same interests of Hite in New Rochelle, and turned them into moneymakers.

Mr. Johnston handled the Jacksonville studio until the summer of 1916, when he was brought back to New Rochelle and made assistant treasurer of the main studio, a position which he held until 1917, when he finally accepted a standing invitation of W. E. Shallenberger to join the independent Arrow company. He became vice-president and general sales manager of Arrow.

In January of 1924, Ray Johnston left Arrow and formed his own company, Rayart Pictures Corporation, which in the silent days was a leading contender for top spot in the independent field. In 1931 the distributors of his product in the field joined with the Johnston producing and distributing affiliates, in the formation of Monogram Pictures Corporation.

Today there are 37 affiliated Monogram exchanges, with wide circulation in all foreign countries. Pathe Films, Ltd., releases Monogram in England, while Empire Films, Ltd., handles its producst in Canada.

W. RAY JOHNSTON

A decade ago, at the time of widespread theatre speculation and acquisition and construction, an independent producer-distributor usually was identified as one that owned no theatres. The independent had to deal almost exclusively with those theatres which had not come under control of the large producer-owned circuits.

W. Ray Johnston, who was making many silent features under the company and brand name of Rayart, allied himself with Trem Carr, independent producer in Hollywood, to make 24 cowboy thrillers in silent form, to service the thousands of theatres which appeared to be in need of this kind of product while the large companies were trying to learn the intricacies of the new talker technique and were acquiring equipment and rebuilding their studios.

On the impetus of this transaction Mr. Johnston called in his distributors from the field and formed a new cooperative distributing organization, whereby his production and sales divisions on both coasts, together with these independent exchanges, merged to produce and sell a talking picture program of 28 Monogram features.

Each exchangeman was constituted a franchise holder in his particular territory, paying a pro-rata share of the cost of each feature, holding a stock interest in the parent company, and also sharing in its profits.

Monogram Pictures has expanded until now the company plans 36 features for 1934-35, an increase of 16 over the current season.

W. Ray Johnston was born in Bristow, Iowa, on Jan. 2, 1892. When he was 3 years old, the Johnstons migrated to Janesville, Iowa, where he was graduated from high school in 1908. At 16 he entered Waterloo (Iowa) College of Commerce, earning his tuition by morning and evening work in the mailing room of the Waterloo Daily Reporter. He became assistant to Paul Swift, circulation manager of the Reporter, who is now with Warner Brothers.

Mr. Johnston left the newspaper business to become secretary to the president of the Citizens Gas and Electric Company of Waterloo, and then for several years was secretary to F. F. McElhinney, a local banker, and later secretary of Western Realty and Investment Company of the same city. At 19 he was placed in charge of a sales force of 35 men and a construction crew of several hundred, building community mausoleums in Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska and Kansas.

The position which W. Ray Johnston holds in the field of independent motion picture production and distribution is reflected by the decision of the National Recovery Administration to select him as the representative on the Code Authority of the independent producers, distributors and exchanges.

Miss Summerville, Comedienne, Dead

Amelia Summerville, noted comedienne of the eighties and nineties, died this week in the Roosevelt Hospital, New York. She was 71 years of age. With the advent of talking pictures, Miss Summerville, who had had many years' experience on the stage, found a field in voice culture among film stars.

In 1924 Miss Summerville was engaged to play with Lillian and Dorothy Gish in the motion picture "Romola," and later appeared in "The Great Deception," with Ben Lyon and Aileen Pringle. She also played character roles with Marion Davies and others. Miss Summerville, whose husband, Frederick Rummels, died several years ago, is survived by a daughter and a sister.

Monarch To Distribute Four $100,000 Specials

John R. Freuler, president of Monarch Productions, returned to New York last week and announced the company will release four $100,000 "specials," to be produced by National Players, Ltd., on Monarch's 1933-34 schedule.

Variety Critic Dies

Alfred Rushton Greason, reviewer of plays and pictures for Variety, died last week at the Park West Hospital, New York. Known to the industry and theatre world as "Rush," Mr. Greason had served on the publication for 28 years. Funeral services were held Tuesday. He is survived by his widow.

WARNERS REPORT FIRST PROFIT IN FOUR YEARS

Operating Net for 13 Weeks Is $105,752, After Charges and Write-Off of $105,752; Current Assets Up $1,132,000

Tangible evidence that the management of Warner Brothers' Pictures, Inc., has made definite progress in emerging from the profitless period of the depression era was disclosed over the week-end when the company reported a net operating profit of $105,752, after all charges and taxes, depreciation and amortization, for the quarter ended Nov. 25, 1933. There was a net operating loss of $1,746,761 for the same 13 weeks of 1932.

Actually, the net profit from operations was $1,933,356, but this was reduced to $105,752 by write-offs for amortization and depreciation and by provisions for federal income taxes. In addition to the operating profit of $1,933,356, the company realized a net profit of $655,262 from the retirement of optional six per cent convertible debentures and bonds of subsidiary companies, after deducting federal income taxes thereon.

Current Assets Up $1,132,000

The balance sheet of the company indicated total current assets of $15,141,000, as against current liabilities of $12,506,165. During the quarter, current assets increased $1,132,000, while current liabilities increased only $37,725.

Included among current assets were: Cash, $2,462,000; notes receivable, $72,308; current accounts, $1,558,369, of which the principal amount, some $1,113,000, are due from trade customers.

Also, the company had on hand inventories of more than $11,050,000, as follows: Released productions, at cost, less amortization, $4,541,000; productions completed, but not released, at cost, $3,215,000; productions in work, at cost, $2,182,000; raw materials, accessories, supplies, at cost, less reserves, $461,000, and rights and scenarios unproduced and production and royalty advances, $647,000, which figure is after provision for reserves for the items therein.

Total Assets 169 Millions

Total assets of the Warner interests were placed at $169,000,000.

Fixed assets reported were: Properties owned and equipment, at cost less reserves, including reserves for depreciation, $115,598,000; properties leased and equipment leased, at cost less reserves, including reserves for depreciation and amortization, $23,906,000.

Deferred charges on the asset side of the ledger were listed at $1,105,371; goodwill was evaluated at $8,531,000; deposits to secure contracts were valued at $2,093,000, and investments and advances to subsidiary companies, and miscellaneous investments totaled $2,416,000.

Current liabilities were: Notes payable, $243,000; purchase money obligations, $795,655; accounts payable, $6,072,000; sundry accruals, $3,595,000; due to affiliated companies, $112,000; royalties payable, $1,288,000; reserve for federal income tax, $132,000; advance payments of film, deposits and the like, $266,000.

Other liabilities included: Remittances from foreign subsidiaries, held in abeyance, $543,000; purchase money or contractural obligations and notes payable maturing serially after one year, $1,194,000; proportion of capital stock and surplus of subsidiary companies applicable to minority stockholders, $647,000; deferred income, $1,573,300; reserves for contingencies, $945,000.

Capital Representation

Capital was represented by:

Capital stock:
Authorized—
7,500,000 shares of common of $5 par value each.
103,107 shares of preferred without par value, (Liquidating value $55 per share; entitled to cumulative dividends at the rate of $3.85 per share per annum)
Issued and Outstanding—
3,801,344 shares of common	$19,006,722
103,107 shares of preferred	5,670,885
(Dividends paid to Mar. 1, 1932)
	$24,677,607
Capital Surplus	56,325,484
	$81,003,092
Less Deficit per Deficit Statement	18,785,989	$62,217,102

Profit and Loss Statement

The profit and loss and deficit statement for Warner Brothers' Pictures, Inc., and all subsidiary companies, for the 13 weeks:

Net Income before providing for amortization and depreciation, interest and miscellaneous charges			$ 7,182,676.24
Deduct:
Amortization of film costs (exclusive of depreciation of studio properties)	$ 3,931,094.64
Amortization and depreciation of all properties	1,809,103.66
Interest and discount expense	1,320,582.88
Provision for investments in affiliated companies	66,218.89
Provision for Federal Income taxes	18,500.00		7,145,500.07
Net Profit before other income and minority interests' share of profits		$	37,176.17
Add—Other income:
Interest and discount earned	$ 51,866.21
Dividends received from affiliated companies	10,750.01		62,616.22
Net Profit before minority interests' share of profits		$	99,792.39
Add—Proportion of net loss applicable to minority stockholders			5,960.47
Net Profit from Operations for the thirteen weeks ending November 25th, 1933, carried to deficit		$	105,752.86
Deficit, August 26, 1933	$19,547,005.06
Deduct:
Profit on redemption of optional 6% convertible debentures and bonds of subsidiary companies	$768,762.54
Less — Provision for Federal Income taxes thereon	113,500.00	655,262.54	18,891,742.52
Deficit, November 25, 1933, carried to balance sheet			$18,785,989.66

SIGNED . . .

Columbia

Lois Wilson and Tom Ricketts added to "No Greater Glory." . . . George Breakston cast for "Night Bus." . . . Hardie Albright, Vincent Barnett and Edward Ellis engaged for feature roles in "The Ninth Guest." . . . Leila Bennett, Rebecca Watson and Frank Rylee join "Once to Every Woman." . . . Paul Gurst, John Miljan, Harold Huber and Greta Meyer given roles in "The Line Up." . . . John Barrymore engaged for lead in "Twentieth Century." . . .

▽

Fox

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell to make two co-starring pictures. . . . Heather Angel given lead opposite Nigel Bruce in "Murder in Trinidad," from novel by John Vandercook. . . . Hamilton MacFadden succeeds Edward Sutherland in directing "Fox Follies." . . . Paul Martin to direct Lilian Harvey in "Lottery Lover." . . . Thelma Todd and Suzanne Kaaren added to "Bottoms Up." . . . Vivian Oakland, Eddie Gargan and Spec O'Donnell join "David Harum," starring Will Rogers. . . .

▽

MGM

Clark Gable and Myrna Loy assigned leads in "Men in White," with Jean Hersholt and Elizabeth Allan. . . . Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper teamed in "Cabby." . . . Jeanette MacDonald to star in "The Duchess of Delmonico's," Harry Beaumont will direct. . . . Tay Garnett to direct "China Seas." . . . Lulu Vollmer, Margaret Hawkins, Clare Kummer, James Forbes and Harry Segall added to scenario staff. . . .

▽

Monogram

Noah Beery, Astrid Allwyn, Ralph Lewis and Boothe Howard in "Mystery Liner," William Nigh directing. . . .

▽

Paramount

Eddie Craven, stage actor, signed for "Sailor Beware." . . . Ben Bernie given role in "The Great Magoo." . . . Charles Ruggles and Mary Boland to appear in "Melody in Spring," Norman McLeod to direct. . . . Victor McLaglen, Carole Lombard and Preston Foster assigned to "The Man Who Broke His Heart," from the play by Frederick Schalick. . . . Wells Root will adapt "The Trumpet Blows." . . . Frank Partos will adapt "Little Miss Marker." . . .

▽

RKO Radio

Wynne Gibson and Nils Asther assigned to "The Crime Doctor," next Richard Dix vehicle. . . . George Nicholls, Jr., and Worthington Miner to co-direct "Devil's Disciple," Lester Cohn to write screen play. . . . Zasu Pitts, Edward Everett Horton, Nat Pendleton, Pert Kelton and Roy D'Arcy assigned to "So You Won't Sing, Eh?" . . . Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Colleen Moore, Henry Kolker, Genevieve Tobin and Walter Connolly in "Success Story." . . .

▽

United Artists

George Arliss, Boris Karloff, Loretta Young and Robert Young head cast of 75 in "House of Rothschild" (20th Century). . . .

▽

Universal

William Wyler to direct "Golden Fleece." . . . R. C. Sherriff, screen writer, given new contract. . . .

▽

Warner-First National

Alan Dinehart added to "A Very Honorable Guy," starring Joe E. Brown. . . . Bette Davis given lead in "Hit Me Again." . . . J. Carroll Naish joins "Upper World." . . . Ann Dvorak cast in "Hot Air," with Dick Powell and Pat O'Brien. . . . Donald Woods in "Merry Wives of Reno." . . .

THE CAMERA REPORTS

CELEBRATE. The 67th birthday of Carl Laemmle, Universal head, with a 67-pound cake. Besides Mr. Laemmle are shown Peggy Terry, Lois January, Dean Benton, James Scott, Hugh Enfield, Chef Sam Lain, Ken Maynard, Vince Barnett, Margaret Sullavan, Boris Karloff, Andy Devine, Carl Jr., Alice White, Lowell Sherman.

DEBUT IN MAKING. (Below) Fay Bainter, long a star on the Broadway stage, who has her first screen role opposite Lionel Barrymore in "This Side of Heaven," which just has been completed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

BE SEEIN' YOU. Said Mitzi Green's school chums the other day as she left New York for the RKO Radio studio in Hollywood. They'll be seein' her soon in "Finishing School," in which she will have a featured role.

ARRANGED SUCCESSFUL BANQUET. Those in charge of the fifth annual dinner-dance of the Warner Club, organization of Warner Brothers home office employees, which was held at the Waldorf-Astoria with 1,600 attending, including Warner executives. Pictured above are Steve Trilling, vice-president; Jules Levy, past president; Ruth Weisberg, vice-president; Harold Rodner, and Al Schwalberg, president.

VETERANS ALL. Even including the veteran actors, Henry B. Walthall and Lionel Atwill. Shown with them are some of the 40 disabled war veterans whom Trem Carr, vice-president of Monogram in charge of production, engaged to appear in "Beggars in Ermine," in which Walthall and Atwill are starred.

SIGNED. (Below) Joan Wheeler as she arrived in Los Angeles with a long-term Warner contract. Her first role will be in "Hot Air," featuring Dick Powell and Ginger Rogers.

IN ZOLA CLASSIC. (Left) Anna Sten, whom Samuel Goldwyn imported from Russia to star in his picturization of "Nana." The production, a United Artists release, plays Radio City Music Hall the first week in February.

TO MAKE PICTURES HERE. Erik Charell (left), director; and Charles Boyer, player—both prominent in European production—as they reached New York en route to Movietone City. Charell's first Fox picture will feature Boyer in a prominent role.

"THE DOCTOR." A famous painting, now hanging in the Tate Gallery in London and widely reproduced, as it comes to life in a new production in Educational's Song Hit Story series. Helen Morgan is the mother, Herbert Rawlinson the father, and Montagu Love the doctor. The picture bears the same name as the painting.

IN THE NEWS

RADIO CORPORATION OF AMERICA has announced its total of shareholders as 287,813 on December 30, 1933, a gain of 180,731 over the year before. . . .

EUGENE W. CASTLE has announced the appointment of PAUL F. STACY to the New York office of CASTLE FILMS. . . .

MO WAX is completing a film version of Ibsen's play, "An Enemy of the People," working as a free-lance script writer. . . .

EMANUEL BROWN, general manager and ERNIE GEYER, publicity director, have resigned from Empire Films, Ltd., Toronto. Mr. Brown has been succeeded by ARTHUR W. PERRY, former Ontario branch manager. . . .

SAM HOROWITZ, former district manager for United Artists at Kansas City, has been named Chicago branch manager following the discontinuance of his former position. . . .

JOE MORRISON, radio singer, made his last appearance on the MAJOR BOWES Capitol "Family" broadcast Sunday, before leaving for the Coast to begin work under a Paramount contract. . . .

Members of Projectionists' Local 306, New York, have formed an American Legion Post, the RAHMAN-DEBELLA POST, with ARTHUR J. COSTIGAN as commander. . . .

METROPOLITAN PICTURES CORPORATION, Detroit, commercial producers, has installed the new Super Silent Parvo camera, manufactured and distributed by ANDRE DEBRIE, INC. . . .

B. C. FASSIO, president of Shamrock Pictures Corporation, Detroit, has sold world rights to "Fighting Priest," produced by Golden Arrow Productions to Inter-American Film Corporation. Powers Pictures will distribute in Michigan. . . .

Warner has permitted DICK POWELL, player, to contract for his appearance on a Columbia Broadcasting System national hookup for 13 weeks, on the Old Gold hour. . . .

NAT CHERIN, president of Principal Film Exchange, Inc., has purchased New York and northern New Jersey rights to "Dawn to Dawn" from ARCHIE MAYER of Du-World Pictures, Inc. . . .

Independent Film Distributors, Inc., has opened offices in Hollywood, with the territory being handled by STANLEY SIMMONS and WILLIE SMITH. BRUCE JOHNSON has the San Francisco area. . . .

EDWARD POLAND, 79, actor and for many years poet laureate of the Lambs Club, New York, died last week at his home on Peaks Island, near Portland, Me. . . .

Film Lectures To End

The close of the semester at Stevens Institute, Hoboken, N. J., will conclude the series of Wednesday evening lectures on "Publicity Through Motion Pictures" given by Edward Stevenson, until recently president of Visugraphic Pictures. Mr. Stevenson now is associated with Crosby Gaige, theatrical producer.

Air Shipments Speeded

Film shipments to the Coast are being speeded through operation of a new air express service. An arrangement between companies calls for transference from Transcontinental and Western Airways to American Airways at Columbus, Ohio.

Robert P. Barr Dead

Robert P. Barr, father of Maurice F. Barr, district manager of Saenger Theatres, Inc., New Orleans, died in that city last week at the age of 76 after an illness of two months.

BRITISH TO INVADE WORLD STORY MART

Arthur W. Kelly of United Artists, Home, Says Benefit from Russian Relations Depends on Marketing 20 to 30 a Year

Word that the British motion picture industry plans to invade the story market of the world, not excepting Hollywood, to further the internationalization of their films, was brought back to New York this week, from London, by Arthur W. Kelly, vice-president of United Artists in charge of foreign distribution.

Mr. Kelly sailed out of New York harbor early last July, to be gone about six weeks. He remained away six months and during that time traveled more than 50,000 miles, visiting the principal motion picture and business capitals of Europe, besides Egypt and India.

"The British industry does not feel that it is on a par with the American industry, but it is only a question of months before it will be," said Mr. Kelly. "The British industry's plan is to invade the world's film story market, which means Hollywood, too. They have decided, like America, that they cannot depend on their own nationals as sources for material."

The challenge of the British film industry to Hollywood is rapidly taking form, according to Mr. Kelly, who explained that good pictures can be made in England at a fraction of the Hollywood cost. He said that in England "they are courageously going ahead, enlarging their studios, augmenting their technical personnel, and strengthening their star-director-producer lineup."

Mr. Kelly pointed out that there would be an increasing interchange of talent between Hollywood and London in 1934. He assisted while in Europe in launching production plans of the British and Dominions Film Corporation and London Films, whose product United Artists is distributing the world over.

Conditions on the Continent are improving, Mr. Kelly said, and film business is benefiting, "but the public abroad, like the public at home, is shopping around for entertainment, with musicals and comedies getting the best play."

Must Express Itself Freely

Of the Russian situation Mr. Kelly said: "The American industry can be benefited by the recent resumption of diplomatic relations between Russia and the United States only providing that the American industry can express itself freely motion picture-wise in Russia."

"Personally," he added, "I believe the Russian language and their philosophy of life would not permit the distribution of any great quantity of American pictures in that country. We have no plans for breaking into the Russian market, and could not do so unless we were allowed to distribute at least twenty to thirty pictures there per year."

Mr. Kelly reported that the British were "thrilled" by the reception given in the United States to their version of "The Private Life of Henry the Eighth."

Money Situation Still a Help

He said the money exchange situation continued to exert a beneficial influence on American business in foreign countries.

The United Artists executive declared that in Europe, Egypt and India, American films were being received better than they were two years ago. Admissions, while considerably off in general, nevertheless have held up exceptionally well in comparison with the slump which was experienced in the United States.

In studying the manner of merchandising programs in foreign countries, Mr. Kelly observed that gradually the foreign exhibitor is becoming cognizant of American methods of exploitation and showmanship. "However," he added, "their exploitation in many cases consists almost entirely of decorating the fronts of their theatres with one sheets to 24 sheets of at least twelve different pictures at the same itme." They have not yet learned to concentrate on the current attraction, and the situation obviously creates confusion, he said.

"Practical showmanship ideas are being successfully staged in France, especially in Paris, but in some cities police regulations interfere," he added. "However, the tendency on the Continent appears to be toward the development of American exploitation and showmanship methods."

Canada Used 25,000,000 Feet of Film Last Year

Canadian film statistics, announced by Colonel John A. Cooper, head of the distributors' organization, reveal that 700 theatres in the dominion used 25,000,000 feet of film last year, all of it printed in Canada, giving employment in one factory and two laboratories.

Approximately 1,000 people were employed in laboratories, exchanges and allied enterprises last year, while those employed in theatres totaled more than 5,000. The total annual payroll last year was $10,000,000. The estimated investment in exchange buildings and theatres is approximately $75,000,000.

Normal Admission Scale Is Urged in Kansas City

Undeterred by previous failures, the Independent Theatre Owners and Fox Midwest are again attempting to bring about some semblance of normality in admission price scales and to stem the trend toward price cutting by Kansas City theatres.

With Loew's Midland's 25-cent top still the bone of contention, Fox Midwest has joined the independent suburbans in making overtures to E. A. Schiller of Loew's. Several months ago Loew's offered to raise its price at the Midland if the subsequent runs would eliminate double bills, giveaways, two-for-ones and other premium practices.

LOOK FOR "STATE FAIR"

• A spunky little miss... courageous in the face of shoddy pride... determined to win the man she loved... though she had to turn a sleepy Carolina plantation upside down to bring him to her.

GROSSES . . or better

• An appeal as wide as the range of human emotions . . . as deep as the human heart. Laughter and tears . . . romance, music and hard-hitting drama. With Janet Gaynor and Lionel Barrymore giving unsparingly of their brilliant talents.

JANET GAYNOR
LIONEL BARRYMORE
in
"CAROLINA"

ROBERT YOUNG • HENRIETTA CROSMAN
RICHARD CROMWELL • MONA BARRIE
STEPIN FETCHIT

Directed by HENRY KING. From "The House of Connelly" by Paul Green

FOX

Your patrons always like
FOX MOVIETONE NEWS

50 PROTESTS ON BOARD NOMINEES

(Continued from page 19)

with the theatres owned and operated by such producers, and that in so doing the code attempts to authorize a practice that has been condemned by the courts as monopolistic in various suits and proceedings by private individuals and by the Federal Government.

The bill of complaint further recites that the defendants, composing the Code Authority, are seeking to induce, persuade and coerce independent exhibitors to waive all rights under the anti-trust and other laws by executing unqualified assents to the code on a form devised by them as a condition to the right of such independent exhibitors to participate in the benefits of the code or to file complaints thereunder.

In furtherance of their policy and plan the defendants are charged with sending out through the executive secretary of the Code Authority, John C. Flinn, letters and forms containing unwarranted and misleading statements as to the time and manner in which assents to the code must be executed, and as to the provisions of the code itself.

The latest statement from the Code Authority as to the time by which code assents must be executed is January 31. A letter of assent, bearing a postmark dated not later than midnight of this date in any part of the United States, is thus acceptable to the Code Authority.

As a result of the alleged arbitrary and unwarranted actions and rulings of the defendants, it is stated that the complainant and other independent exhibitors similarly situated will be compelled to execute unqualified assents to the code on or before the aforementioned date, or else lose all rights, benefits and privileges under the code and the NRA program.

Attacks Johnson's Interpretation

Among the qualifications which the complaint desires to attach to its assent to the code is one which relates to the interpretation which General Hugh S. Johnson gave to the Executive Order approving the code a few weeks ago. The complaint charges that the NRA Administrator, at the behest of the defendants, attempted to emasculate certain provisions of President Roosevelt's order designed to protect the independent exhibitors against the allegedly oppressive action of the major producers who are said to have been put in control of the Code Authority.

Further, it is alleged that the major producers are given absolute control over clearance and zoning which is defined to be the amount of time that elapses between the showing of a picture in a first run theatre and the availability of that picture for exhibition in a subsequent run theatre in the same competitive area.

As the value of a picture depends in a large measure on its newness, the power given the major producers, it is alleged, includes the power to greatly injure the complainant and even drive it out of business. The complainant then alleges that its theatre is in a competitive area with three Warner Bros. theatres, all of which now take clearance over the complainant's house.

The drafting and enforcement of clearance and zoning schedules by joint action of the producers in the alleged interest of their owned and controlled theatres has been condemned in the complaint as a monopolistic practice.

The Congress Theatre, Inc., declares that it is in sympathy with the Administration's recovery program; that it executed the President's emergency re-employment agreement and that it displays the Blue Eagle, and that it desires to cooperate in the motion picture code so far as it can without waiving its legal rights and placing its business and property allegedly at the mercy of the defendants.

According to an order of the postoffice department sent last week to Denver, Col., daily papers and other publications there, any mention of a lottery held in a theatre will be considered sufficient reason for the barring of the publication from the mails.

Asks Injunction

The bill of complaint stipulates, however, that if the court shall be of the opinion that the Code Authority has acted within the scope of its authority under the code, an injunction should be awarded against the enforcement of the code on the ground that it is not warranted by the Recovery Act and is contrary to the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution, or at least such parts of the code as are said to threaten the complainant's property and business.

Defense of the Code Authority and the code itself against the Allied action is expected to be a government function to be undertaken either by Attorney General Homer S. Cummings or by Donald R. Richberg, head of the NRA legal department. Further proof of this possibility was seen in the statement of Mr. Rosenblatt upon his arrival Tuesday in Hollywood.

Mr. Rosenblatt refused to comment on the case other than to say that all comments and answers will be filed by the Government and that the NRA has its own legal forces in conjunction with the Attorney General.

899 Nominated to Boards

The final list of applicants for nomination to posts on the 32 Local Grievance Boards and the 32 Local Clearance Zoning Boards was received by the Code Authority this week, swelling the total to 899. The final list contained 263 names. Sunday night was the deadline for sending in suggestions for the boards and a barrage of final recommendations was received over the week-end.

Although the deadline as set was for Sunday night, the Code Authority announced last week there would be no deadline for sending in protests to the proposed nominations for membership on the boards. Exhibitors, producers and distributors may send in comment or suggestions at any time they wish and will be welcomed. It has been reported that already 50 protests to some of the suggestions have been received.

At the session Tuesday, Mr. Kent, Mr. O'Reilly, Mr. Schaefer, Mr. Johnston, Mr. Yamins and Mr. Kuykendall, the committee on local boards, announced they would start Friday on selections, continuing until completing selections for all zones, to be presented to the next meeting of the body, February 9.

Mr. Johnston, Felix Feist and Mr. Schaefer were named a committee on fire regulations for exchanges. A committee of seven was appointed late Wednesday by R. H. Cochrane to investigate protests of allegedly unfair conditions from vaudeville interests and artists. It included: E. A. Schiller, Loew's; Sam Dembow, Jr., Paramount; Leslie Thompson, RKO; Joseph Bernhard, Warners; George Skouras, Jack Partington, Fanchon & Marco; Henry Chesterfield, National Variety Artists; Ralph Whitehead, Actors' Betterment Association; Charles Maddock and Marty Forkins, vaudeville producers.

athan Yamins will be chairman of the next meeting.

Headquarters will be established permanently in the RKO Building at Radio City.

When an exhibitor registers a grievance with the board, he will be checked to see whether he has a legal right to make the complaint. Only parties signing the assent without qualification may forward complaints to the local boards. Assent forms last week were sent into all United States territories, including Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico, the Canal Zone and the Virgin Islands. It is expected that Mr. Rosenblatt will be asked to accept these as valid inasmuch as they cannot possibly be in the mails on or before January 31.

Approximately 5,000 assents had been card indexed at that time, and while this was less than half of the 13,500 originally sent out, the Code Authority figures that more than 3,000 theatres are open less than six days a week. Many of these operate only two days weekly and are not expected to send in compliances. This would bring the number down to 10,300 possible assents, of which approximately 80 per cent, or 7,500, is expected to be tallied by the end of the month.

Meanwhile, Ed Kuykendall, MPTOA president and Code Authority member, this week launched an attack against the assertion recently made by Allied that exhibitors can express qualified assents to the code without forfeiture of any of the benefits to be derived under it.

"Independent exhibitors are amazed at Ed Kuykendall's activity as a propagandist," declared Sidney Samuelson, head of Allied of New Jersey, Tuesday. "Certainly his appointment to the Code Authority should have had a restraining influence upon his outbursts. By his continued intemperate, unjustified and unfounded attacks he has convicted himself in the eyes of independent exhibitors."

Rosenblatt on Coast

Mr. Rosenblatt arrived on the Coast on Tuesday for the purpose of conferring with the personnel of various studio groups, including labor and creative forces, getting facts and enlightenment on the Hollywood situation. From these he will form deductions for a background of future guidance in the administration of the code. In Chicago last week he said definitely that an investigation of star-raiding would comprise a considerable part of his Hollywood mission, saying that assignment came direct to him from the President.

In Kansas City, Mr. Rosenblatt had professed complete ignorance of objections, if any, against the current NRA investigation of industry salaries, and said he had not heard of the general opposition expressed by company executives in the mid-western city to the searching salary questionnaire.

Producers in Hollywood Tuesday decided to await an invitation from Mr. Rosenblatt for any conferences he might desire, and will appoint committees then.

ASIDES & INTERLUDES

By JAMES CUNNINGHAM

THE NUMBER of housewives' messages of condolence which are supposed to have been received by Rudy Vallee as a result of the newspaper airing of his marital troubles, indicate that Fox will need the assistance of the federal troops, state militiamen, state troopers, Boy Scouts, policemen and Texas Rangers to keep order in the lines of housewives who will storm the theatres of the country to see Rudy in "Scandals," coming up.

They tell us that Vallee woke up the other morning in his seven-room apartment on Central Park West to such an avalanche of telegraphic condolences as would require the services of a dozen secretaries working 48 hours a day—which, of course, the secretaries couldn't do because of the NRA.

Former New York Magistrate Hyman Bushel, Rudy's lawyer, who spent seven weeks in Hollywood helping the crooner do his stuff at Movietone City, himself was snowed under with telegrams, most of them also from housewives. There were even some gifts of homemade delicacies. You know, jars of raspberries and the like.

Some of the heart-rending "build up" stuff that they're handing out to the sob sisters about Rudy would even bring tears to the eyes of an exhibitor.

"My heart goes out to that boy," said Mr. Bushel very, very sadly. "And how he can sing now. It would tear your own heart out."

"That boy is so sincere, and works so hard. I have seen him walk out of his office with tears in his eyes," he added. Flaunting a brave smile over an aching heart, eh Hyman?

If the housewives of the country really knew the story of Rudy's tragic romance, according to Mr. Bushel, they would hardly be able to stand Rudy's crooning at all. The women of the nation would be swimming in a sea of tears, he intimated. Exhibitors might do well to take Mr. Bushel's tip and buy some flood insurance for their theatres when they book in "Scandals."

▽

Sid Skolsky repeats the yarn about the boy violin prodigy who was granted an audience one day with Mischa Elman. Elman was to tell him if he really was as good as his friends claimed he was. The boy played in Elman's room, and played beautifully, but while playing he twisted and screwed up his face.

After the youngster finished, Elman said to him: "You play magnificently, but those faces you make, they would scare any audience. Those faces, my boy, are the only thing that prevents you from giving a concert. Why do you make them?"

"Can I help it," replied the lad, "if I hate to hear music?"

▽

At the entrance to the "ritzy" Ravenswood Apartments in Hollywood, where Mae West occupies a luxurious suite (thanks to Paramount), there stands in regal splendor a six-foot doorman, attired in the weighty uniform of at least a Nicaraguan general who looks like 220 pounds of the sturdiest All-American football guard that ever pushed a pigskin carrier down the gridiron. The big trouble of his young life is the handling of goofs who arrive on the scene, excitedly, to accept Mae's invitation to "Come up 'n' see me, some time."

Occasionally these playful souls leave peacefully when the doorman spreads his wings across the entrance, but frequently they must be lifted bodily and bounced out of the place on to the pavement. It is then that they learn that it's not the ride through space that hurts, but the sudden stop when they hit the ground.

"About 400 guys come bustin' in here every month pulling that stuff," lamented the doorman.

BEFORE LEAVING NEW YORK, shortly, for a trip to Russia to study the literary progress of the Soviets with the idea of buying "a certain play," Mr. Samuel Goldwyn, producer, plans to get under way a colossal advertising campaign to introduce the voluptuous Anna Sten, his newest discovery, as an English-speaking person.

Asked how he knew about the mysterious "certain play" that he's going to buy in Russia, Mr. Goldwyn replied:

"We read in Hollywood. We read a lot."

Mr. Goldwyn signed the young lady, who hails from Kiev, Russia, about two years ago, even though she could not speak English. Since she has been in Hollywood, Miss Sten has appeared in only one picture, "Nana," due in a week. She spent the rest of the time learning English from Mr. Goldwyn.

Monsieur Emile Zola's "Nana" is a story of l'oiseaux de nuit—or, to those who don't know French: Nymphs des Boulevards.

In order to put Anna in "Nana" across in great advertising style, Mr. Goldwyn demanded the other day that the United Artists home office give "Nana" a press-book like the one created by RKO for "Little Women."

On the day that Goldwyn arrived in New York from Hollywood, he was greeted by a galaxy of photographers from the newspapers, who were gathered on the Grand Central's "upper level." One of the boys from United Artists handed Sam a film can, the idea being to have him photographed with the "first print" of "Nana"—the caption to read: "Samuel Goldwyn arrives from Hollywood with a million dollar picture."

But he was wary. He refused to pose with the can. Just then somebody carelessly stumbled over the container which supposedly held the first print of "Nana." The cover flew open and out popped seven copies of Motion Picture Herald.

▽

"The Prizefighter and the Lady" shows Primo Carnera kicking Max Baer all over the place. For eight rounds he hits Maxie with everything but the referee and Metro's Culver City studio. Then Myrna Loy goes to Baer, tells him she loves him, and won't he, for her sake, do something about it. Max promptly gets up off the floor and pops Primo with such gusto during the next two rounds that the fight is declared a draw. When questioned later, according to Harry Evans, the judges confided, "Sure Carnera won. But could we spoil the movie?"

Jack Dempsey and Jess Willard were in the picture, too. But Jack doesn't care much for motion picture acting. "It's no good," he said. "I feel funny standing up there trying to act. Jess Willard was with me. I said to him, I said, 'Jess, how do you feel?' and he looked at those cameras and said, 'I feel pathetic.'"

Mrs. Dempsey—Hannah Williams—is all through with theatricals, too, reported Jack, who added, "She said she'd rather be a mother than Greta Garbo."

▽

The play originally called "Women Kind" has had its title changed to "And Be My Love." "If it is sold to the films," opines Franklin Adams, "the chances are that the title will be 'Come Live With Me.'"

▽

On Saturday he lunched with Al Cohn, on Monday with Harry Cohn and on Tuesday with Manny Cohen, so on Wednesday, before returning to New York, the Hollywood office of Quigley Publications presented Terry Ramsaye with an ice cream cone.

THE FACT THAT Sol A. Rosenblatt, motion picture code administrator for the NRA, was appointed a Kentucky colonel has already been told to the industry, but a little incident pertaining to his new title has not.

It appears that Mr. Rosenblatt was blissfully ignorant of the colonel-making prowess of the Blue Grass State's big, bald-headed, ruddy-cheeked Governor, Ruby Laffoon, who'll create a Kentucky Colonel at the drop of a hat.

And so, to hear Newspaperman Johnny O'Donnell tell it, reporters entering Mr. Rosenblatt's Washington office the other day found Rosenblatt wearing the expression of a man on whose shoulders rested a great responsibility.

"Here's a little item for you, boys," he began modestly. "Governor Ruby Laffoon of Kentucky has just made me a member of his staff with the rank of Colonel."

The reporters looked at one another with a Well, what-the-hell-of-it expression. Rosenblatt glanced about. As Schnozzle Durante would say, "was I mortified."

Finally, one of the reporters saved the day when he introduced to Rosenblatt some of the reporters who are Kentucky Colonels, too.

"Don't worry, pal," he advised Rosenblatt as he patted him comfortingly on the back. "We'll all have a good time when the Laffoon Colonels hold their convention next summer. We're holding it in Soldiers' Field, Chicago. (Capacity, 100,000.) Don't forget your uniform."

▽

Harpo, the speechless member of the Marxmen, who recently returned from a stage appearance at Moscow, tells about the difficult time he had getting into Russia. "I crossed the Polish border at some place or other—I can't spell it—and, of course, I had with me a lot of stuff I used in my act: 300 knives, the red wigs, the harp, a rubber automobile horn and some cans of gasoline. They thought I was mad, and I think they wanted to put me in a padded cell. We talked and talked and they finally let me by after I had signed an affidavit that I was harmless."

▽

While Radio's "Rodney" company was on location recently at Fort Meyer, Virginia, several days of bad weather delayed production. The sun finally arrived one morning, but only for five-minute intervals, dodging cloud banks most of the time. Suddenly the sun came out in a blaze. They had to work quickly, and did, for a few seconds, until they were interrupted by two horseback riders who drove up right in front of the camera.

"Look out! Get out of the picture, willya!" shouted the director. The woman rider turned toward him and the director almost fainted. It was Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, wife of the President of the United States.

▽

Michel Moke, of New York's Post, asked Katharine Hepburn for her estimate of her first night appearance in "The Lake," Broadway stage play, and the young lady replied in a shrill, strident, staccato: "I was lousy!"

▽

Paramount still is trying to coax aboard outbound ships the foreign lassies who didn't win out in the "Search for Beauty" scramble for contracts. Only two of the fifteen have left, and with some of the remainder under age, the company's headache is becoming more acute. The Immigration Department, checking up on the alien girls' expired permits, now is complicating matters. Determined to stay in Hollywood, the girls are making themselves hard to find.

THE SEARCH

This is a front page spread from the Sunday section of the December 10, 1933, issue of the St. Louis Post Dispatch, with the largest circulation of any paper in the Mississippi Valley. That a newspaper should run this unsolicited is an indication of the great public interest in this picture.

FOR BEAUTY"

PARAMOUNT'S SHOW PICTURE FOR SHOWMEN

Directed by Erle Kenton

with LARRY "BUSTER" CRABBE IDA LUPINO ROBERT ARMSTRONG JAMES GLEASON ROSCOE KARNS TOBY WING and the 30 International "Search for Beauty" Contest Winners, Flower of the world's feminine beauty and stalwart youth.

THE "SEARCH FOR BEAUTY" was participated in by 900 theatres in the United States, 36 theatres in Great Britain, 40 theatres in Australia, 45 theatres in New Zealand, 15 theatres in South Africa, and the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League.

The publicity and exploitation attendant to this "Search" has pre-sold this picture to the thousands of people who are interested in those who entered the contest.

if it's a PARAMOUNT PICTURE it's the best show in town!

GERMAN MARKET HELD CHALLENGE TO WIDEAWAKE U. S. COMPANIES

One Solution Seen in Reducing Quantity of Film Exports, While Improving Quality; Understanding of Needs Urged

[By Special Berlin Correspondence]

The German market has always been a trying one for the American trade. This is not only admitted by George R. Canty, trade commissioner for film affairs in Central Europe, but also by any other representative of the American film companies in Germany.

The German kontingent, in its inception, was aimed directly to defeat the possibility of any material progress of foreign film interests in Germany; it was so skilfully drawn up that it reduced this market for American film product to one of limited possibilities, and then only by dint of the hardest kind of effort.

The advent of the talking picture, which in itself created a sufficient barrier to foreign film distribution, had the further effect of rendering the distribution of American pictures profitless, save in the case of really exceptional films.

Reconstruction of the film industry under the Hitler Government, whereby authority is centralized in the Film Chamber, whereby waste and lost motion are automatically eliminated, and only the serious minded are permitted to remain in the film trade, seemed at first to offer a brighter future for the American companies. This was not to be, however, for the official rearrangement which restricted exhibitors to single-feature programs cost the American trade its regular source of revenue from second-feature bookings on double bills, of their English talkers with superimposed titles in German, and dubbed versions.

Though the law recently has been amended permitting the showing of films in a length not exceeding 1,600 meters as second features, this will prove of little benefit to the American companies inasmuch as too few American films can be reduced to this size (1,600 meters equal to 5,240 feet) and still do justice to their entertainment content. This hits the American film in the provinces particularly hard, as there many foreign pictures have been shown as second feature.

Admission Price Law Helps

There is one law, however, which seems to help in the distribution of American made films in Germany: it is the regulation of admission prices. It prevents sharp competition between various exhibitors, and guarantees a steady income for the renting company.

It is obvious that in almost every country the fans who prefer key theatres are different from the public which attends minor halls. There is sometimes unjust bias against foreign made films among the patrons of the key theatres. The rest of the population is free from any such prejudice.

Some days ago a German film renting company started distribution of a sensational American trick film, not in a big hall, but in 30 minor cinemas in Berlin and 15 houses in the province. The first reports on attendance showed a big success, indicating the best hope for American companies rests in unusual methods.

Reasons for Reduced Markets

Everybody knows that the American film companies did a lot to uphold their prestige in the foreign countries and that they maintained their offices under the most strenuous and difficult conditions. It is not their fault that the prospects for their films in other countries have declined more and more. In some cases it was the intention of the Governments to curtail the predominance of American films. In other cases it was the arrival of the talking picture and the lack of a sufficiently good dubbing method. And, last but not least, this diminution in popularity of American films abroad was due to the inability of some foreign managers to judge the necessities and peculiar situations. It has often been declared, and quite a number of cases are available to prove the truth of this statement, that for every country one category of pictures or another is unsuitable for distribution.

We have seen exceptionally good American films in Germany and, sorry to say, very poor pictures, spoiling the high standard of the American film industry. Films have been shown here which, after a run of three or four weeks, disappeared and did not even bring in their distribution costs and the fees for importation.

It is unwise to bring films into countries only because they have not yet been written off in the country of origin. They are spoiling the exploitation value of other films and will only increase the distribution costs of the renter. American trade representatives in Germany have been asked, "Why don't you bring us more pictures like 'Hell Divers' and 'Bring 'Em Back Alive,'" with much action and little dialogue. Instead of complying with the particular demands of the German market, the country has been overstocked with films which have not been very successful. Wouldn't it be wiser to export fewer pictures but more successful ones to Germany instead of increasing the number of films and reducing at the same time their box-office value?

German-French Accord

Take the German-French film relations as an example. These two countries with a considerable film industry have always been eager to enlarge their mutual film exchange. And yet the number of French pictures distributed throughout Germany has always been a very small one. But the career of French pictures in Germany has, in most cases, been very successful. I refer to pictures like "Sous les Toits de Paris," "Le Million" and "La Maternelle."

The fact that German and French film producers for many years have created a so-called "Gemeinschaftsproduktion" (joint production) has doubtless facilitated the signing of the French-German film pact. Both these countries are aware that the dubbing of pictures is not sufficient to create and maintain steady and successful film relations. There is a constant exchange of stars and directors between Paris and Berlin. The French and the German film industry are connected by so many channels that the film pact is nothing but the natural outlet for these relations.

This film agreement, for the first time in the history of the film relations between both countries, has been signed by the diplomatic leaders of each country and, viewed from the American standpoint, is nothing but a preferential treatment of French films in Germany and vice versa. What will American film companies do under these circumstances? Leave things as they are and lose ground more and more in Germany, finally leading to a withdrawal from the German market, as has been the case in Czechoslovakia? Or try to obtain the same treatment?

Czechoslovakia has 1,900 theatres with almost 50 per cent silent houses. A loss of this market is, therefore, not so important for American film companies, although discussions and conferences between the Czech Government and U. S. trade commissioners were held for more than a year. But Germany has more than 5,000 cinemas, 3,800 of them wired. A reduction of this market would lead to a considerable weakening of the American film position in Europe.

WELLS' FIRST FILM TO DEPICT FUTURE

True to his imaginative form, H. G. Wells has decided to produce, as his first motion picture, a visualization of civilization 150 years from now. He remarked in London this week, after seeing Universal's version of his "The Invisible Man," that he believed a wonderful picture should result from a glance into the future. The new film, which will depict an era in which the machine will be dominant, will be produced at the Elstree Studios in collaboration with Alexander Korda, who directed "The Private Life of Henry VIII." About £60,000 is to be spent. A suggested title is "Whither Mankind."

Restricting Programs to One Feature Declared Blow to Companies Which Had Source of Revenue in Double Bills

GOVERNMENT SUBSIDY PLAN FOR LEGITIMATE THEATRE UNDERWAY

TRAVELERS . . .

FELIX F. FEIST, MGM general sales manager, is en route to the Coast, with stopovers planned.

SOL A. ROSENBLATT, division administrator, and HAROLD S. BAREFORD, alternate on Code Authority, arrived in Hollywood.

GABE YORKE left for the Coast to take over new publicity duties at the Fox studio.

VICTOR J. SCHOCHET sailed to resume duties as managing director for Fox in Argentina and Uraguay.

JANET GAYNOR is vacationing in New York.

JOSEPH M. SCHENCK and ARTHUR W. KELLY, United Artists executives, arrive from England this week.

ROBERT GILLHAM, Paramount advertising executive, returned to New York.

CEDRIC GIBBONS arrived in Hollywood to supervise editing of MGM's "Tarzan and His Mate." With him was his wife DOLORES DEL RIO, RKO Radio star.

JACOB WILK, Warner eastern story editor, arrived in Hollywood for story conferences with JACK WARNER.

AMBROSE DOWLING and PHIL REISMAN, RKO Radio foreign executives, left New York for Europe.

WILLIAM K. HOWARD, MGM director, arrived in New York by boat from the Coast.

ERIC CHARELL and CHARLES BOYER, new Fox director and player, respectively, arrived at the studio.

JESSE L. LASKY, Fox producer, is vacationing briefly in Havana, accompanied by his son, Jesse, Jr.

MAJOR ALBERT WARNER, vice president of Warner Brothers, and Mrs. Warner, are en route to Hollywood from New York by boat.

EARL CARROLL, stage producer, left New York for the Paramount studios, accompanied by 11 showgirls who will play in the film version of "Murder at the Vanities."

JOHN R. FREULER, president of Monarch Productions, arrived in New York.

ARCH REEVE left the Coast to assume new duties in the Fox home office advertising department.

CARL LAEMMLE, JR., leaves Hollywood late this week for New York, en route for a European vacation.

DALE VAN EVERY, Universal associate producer, arrived in New York to gather material for a new picture, "Where is Brown."

HARRY COHN, Columbia Pictures executive, has returned to the Coast from New York.

GEORGE J. SCHAEFER, Paramount executive, has returned to New York from conferences with southern exchange heads.

J. H. SEIDELMAN, foreign general sales manager for Columbia, sailed late last week for Europe.

SYLVIA SIDNEY, accompanied by Mrs. MARION GERING, wife of the Paramount director, arrived in New York for a vacation.

PANDRO BERMAN, RKO Radio producer, and NED E. DEPINET, vice president in charge of distribution, left New York for Hollywood.

WILLIAM F. BARRETT, president of AmerAnglo Corporation, sailed on his annual trip to Europe.

HARRY E. NICHOLS, field service representative for MOTION PICTURE HERALD, is contacting the trade during a tour of Tennessee.

CWA Opens First Office and 150 Actors Get Jobs, While Thousand Apply; Subsidy Plea Carried to Other Cities

Actual launching of a movement proposed a few weeks ago to effect a New Deal for the American Drama—through establishment of National or State theatres as they exist in virtually every European country—is underway.

On the lecture platforms of civic organizations of every type and description, interested parties are making pleas for governmental subsidy of the legitimate theatre.

22,000 Little Theatres

Exhibitors see in this move a serious competitor, if it succeeds. They point to the 22,000 Little Theatres—semi-professional in many instances—which might be turned into regular theatres, operating on regular schedules of production. Of these 22,000, some 300 are in highly modern theatre buildings, with all the latest technical and electrical equipment.

The movement for government subsidy of the legitimate theatre comes at a time when unemployment of actors is reported to be the greatest among highly specialized professions.

In New York last week the Civil Works Administration opened its first offices to deal specifically with this field. More than 1,000 actors and actresses called on the first day; 150 of them got jobs.

In Washington recently Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt expressed herself in favor of governmental supervision of the legitimate stage. This, climaxing a series of private discussions with Miss Eva Le Gallienne, actress-manager, was caught up by various persons throughout the country, and made the subject of tirades against the motion picture and in support of re-creation of the theatre.

Lecturing to Civic Groups

Miss Le Gallienne, touring the country with her repertoire, has been making as many as five lectures to different groups in a single city. Particularly has this been true of the Middle West, where the theatre has suffered extensively the last five years. In Milwaukee, probably one of the most "drama-minded" cities, the actress delivered at least three lectures.

Ten years ago, Milwaukee supported at least one English-speaking stock company —and for periods two—and at the same time a German stock company. Roadshows and grand opera played successfully each season. Yet, for the past six years, stage people have called it "the worst show town in America."

Milwaukee, with more than half a million population, has been termed one of the wealthiest cities in proportion to its size, but now, instead of its once popular dramatic companies, the citizens are supporting successfully several Little Theatres. Notable among these is the Wisconsin Players—a pioneer in its field—which was started a dozen years ago by Zona Gale and Laura Sherry, both prominent in theatrical and literary circles, and now presided over by a professional director, Boris Glagolin. This group has a standing company and often has used the "guest star" system.

Seen as Possible Nucleus

Other theatres operate along similar lines in such key cities as Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis and Chicago, where the famous Goodman Theatre reigns unchallenged. It is among these theatres that motion picture circles see the potential competition of a National Theatre movement.

The Actors' Betterment Association recommended some weeks ago that darkened motion picture houses be reopened for vaudeville presentations and legitimate stage shows under CWA subsidies.

Late last week Douglas Wood, a stage actor who arrived in Hollywood to make his first appearance in talking pictures, made a plea for establishment of a Government-subsidized legitimate theatre in the film capital itself. Mr. Wood is a member of Actors' Equity Association.

"Hollywood, eternally crying for trained talent and worthy material for its pictures, would profit by such a move," Mr. Wood declared.

Would Set a Standard

"A national theatre in Washington, subsidized by the Government, with a permanent company presenting the plays of Shakespeare and the modern playwrights, inevitably would inspire the growth of municipal theatres in other cities. The national theatre would set a standard, with the company making an annual tour of the larger cities. Associated with the national theatre, a school of playwrighting, acting, scenic and costume designing and lighting, a museum and a national library, would mean infinite good to the cause of drama in the whole country."

Such a Government-fostered theatre, in Mr. Wood's opinion, would be a "decentralized theatre, a legitimate theatre belonging more to the creative artists, the dramatists and the actors, and less to speculative real estate interests."

In New York ten plays began rehearsals in vacant theatres, offices, school auditoriums and even in hotel rooms as the unemployed actors' project of the CWA got underway. Two more plays were scheduled to get under way for rehearsal early this week, completing the initial repertoire of the Government's non-profit dramatic enterprise.

The fourth article on the legitimate theatre, describing the recent improvement "on the road," will appear in an early issue.

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

Hips, Hips, Hooray

(RKO Radio)

Musical Comedy

In a bright and nonsensical comedy of the musical variety, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, RKO's favorite team of comics, offer the exhibitor a show which fairly sits up and begs to be exploited, in the feminine direction particularly.

Having to do with the selling, and promotion (a la Wheeler and Woolsey) of beauty preparations for women, including lipstick and numerous etceteras, every drug store, cosmetic shop and store carrying other weapons of feminine decoration should be wide open for exploitation. Placards, samples, window displays, models are all possible methods.

An excellent opportunity is presented, as well, for something in the nature of a local community beauty contest on the stage. Furthermore, Wheeler's incessant eating of bananas opens the way for a novel tieup with local fruit dealers.

The group of Wheeler and Woolsey and Dorothy Lee for romantic interest with Wheeler, has attained a considerable popularity from past performances and will stand all the marquee trimming the exhibitor can give the combination. In addition, in this case, Thelma Todd adds a blond physical attractiveness which adds considerably to the general appearance. Ruth Etting, though she has only a few moments on the screen in an opening sequence, nevertheless is effective in rendition of a new song, and warrants billing.

The songs, incidentally, may be used to good advantage, in reproduction over loudspeakers from the marquee or in the lobby. They are attractive and tuneful, and have that something which is called "catchy."

Miss Todd's business, Maiden America, is doing poorly, despite the efforts of scantily clad girls in store windows and the like. Miss Lee, one of the girls, finds her sales ruined by two lipstick-selling fakirs, Wheeler and Woolsey, and when Wheeler falls in love with her, she persuaded them, thinking them big business men, to aid Miss Todd. Woolsey falls with amusing force for Miss Todd, who does what she can to assist his descent.

George Meeker, Miss Todd's manager, is robbing her to aid her competitor, with whom he is working. When Wheeler and Woolsey meet Miss Todd and Miss Lee, they decoy a security broker out of his office and take it over. When he returns they make a hasty exit, accidentally taking a bag similar to the one they brought, but containing $100,000 in securities. Two dumb detectives go on their trail, and when things become warm, they depart. Miss Todd has entered a car in a cross-country race hoping to gain by the publicity if it wins. The pair discover the car when the drivers, hired by Meeker, abandon it, and continue the race, with obstacles overcome by maneuvers utterly ridiculous, but equally entertaining. Of course, they win, and the two detectives, who had followed them, are shocked by the knowledge that Meeker, back in New York, has confessed theft of the securities from the pair before they could return them.

Lively, tuneful and highly enjoyable comedy, plus pretty girls in two effective routine numbers, plus the Wheeler and Woolsey team, should provide an abundance of exploitation possibilities.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by RKO Radio. Directed by Mark Sandrich. Screen play by Harry Ruby, Bert Kalmar and Edward Kaufman. Music and lyrics by Harry Ruby and Bert Kalmar. Dance director, Dave Gould. Art directors, Van Nest Polglase, Carroll Clark. Editor, Basil Wrangell. Photographer, David Abel. Music director, Max Steiner. Release date, February 4, 1934. Running time, 68 minutes.

CAST

Bert ..... Bert Wheeler
Bob ..... Robert Woolsey
Ruth Etting ..... Ruth Etting
Miss Frisby ..... Thelma Todd
Daisy ..... Dorothy Lee
Beauchamp ..... George Meeker
Mulligan ..... James Burtis
Sweeney ..... Matt Briggs
Mr. Clark ..... Spencer Charters

This Side of Heaven

(MGM)

Comedy-Drama

Motivated by human interest and via a series of well knit episodic situations, this family type picture details the one day unusual events in the life of the Turner family. It accents that American family psychology which convinces each individual that his or her problems, ambitions, romances and dramas are the most vital, that the troubles of others are merely imaginative figments. As the show unfolds, it runs the range of emotional entertainment from comedy to tragedy. It has the values, in names, story and production that recommend it to all classes of theatres.

As usual in this type picture and particularly when Lionel Barrymore dominates, tempo is rather slow; still there are gripping moments when action and dialogue are fast and thrilling. With unique camera technique establishing a logical continuity, the various episodic sequences are complete in themselves, yet all build interest and suspense that converge in the anti-climax and establish a sympathetic interest in the finale.

Mrs. Turner, Francene, is thrilled to learn that a moving picture company has bought her first novel and offered her a Hollywood contract. Though her husband and family are important, they are subordinate to her big opportunity. Martin learns that he is the innocent accomplice of an embezzler; a tragedy that must be kept from his family. School teacher Jane can think only of her forthcoming marriage to Walter. Peggy (and there's much production value in the portrayal by Mary Carlisle), soon to be off to college, is madly in love with Hal, which takes her to the verge of eloping only to have some strange feeling send her dashing home. Seth, his father's pal, dreams only of making a prep school frat, has his hopes dashed, meets an accident and lands in the hospital. Birdie, the maid, principal comedy relief, is the tie that binds all together.

Each one sees his hopes or fears altered. Martin, to save his family, seeks the easiest way out, only to be called to the hospital where doctors revive him. Reporter Vance traps the real embezzler and sidetracks selfish, conceited Walter in Jane's affections. As the family reunite at dinner their reactions to the day's events, which awaken each to a realization that he's not the only pebble on the beach, are summed up in Martin's prayer of thanksgiving.

The picture is always down to earth entertainment. Laughs are many, precipitated by the normal human reaction to consider lightly the misfortunes of others, and there's an occasional tear or two. The picture is full of that color which every family knows in some phase. It's the kind of show which permits you to invite audiences on the "laugh at your own troubles" premise.—MCCARTHY, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Directed by William K. Howard. Produced by John W. Considine, Jr. Adapted by Zelda Sears and Eve Greene. From a novel by Marjorie Bartholomew Paradis. Screen play by Edgar Allan Woolf and Florence Ryerson. Musical score by Dr. William Axt. Recording director, Douglas Shearer. Art director, Fredric Hope. Interior decoration by Edwin B. Willis. Photographed by Hal Rosson, A. S. C. Film editor, Frank Hull. Running time, 76 minutes. Release date, Feb. 2, 1934.

CAST

Martin Turner ..... Lionel Barrymore
Francene Turner ..... Fay Bainter
Jane Turner ..... Mae Clarke
Seth Turner ..... Tom Brown
Birdie ..... Una Merkel
Peggy Turner ..... Mary Carlisle
Walter ..... Onslow Stevens
Hal ..... Henry Wadsworth
Vance ..... Eddie Nugent
William Barnes ..... C. Henry Gordon
Freddie ..... Dickie Moore

Six of a Kind

(Paramount)

Comedy

This is a carnival of nonsensical comedy. Rarely has this reporter seen a crowd so enthusiastic in the appreciation of screen amusement as was the preview audience. Clocking the laughs was impossible; they came so fast and furiously. There's fun in the basic story; there's more fun in the atmospheric specialties which embellish it. Tersely, "Six of a Kind" is just the kind of hilarity that one would expect from a cast which features Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland, W. C. Fields, Burns and Allen and Alison Skipworth, who ad-lib and improvise just as much as they stick to the script.

The whole thing is elemental, almost a throwback to silent day technique, when everything was built for laughs. All the foolishness is dished up on a silver platter and you grab what you can before the next insane situation demands attention.

While the central theme plot carries through, with Mr. and Mrs. Whinney on an auto trip to California celebrating their twentieth wedding anniversary, which they hope will be marked by all the romance of their original Niagara Falls honeymoon, the asides and interludes actually take the play away from it. Burns and Allen have an entirely new line of foolish chatter and gags. Fields in a pool table sequence, wherein he can't control the cue, leaves the audience limp. A Grand Canyon episode is full of the comedy thrill reminiscent of Harold Lloyd's "Safety First." Other mirth classics are the lost telephone and the phone conversation between Mary Boland and a bedeviled classified ad solicitor. So, too, with the situation which has Ruggles suspected of stealing $50,000 from the bank in which he works, all of which gives Fields the opportunity to be a very theatrical wild west sheriff, rather dumb but very willing to prove his ability.

For comedy variety, the show is an all-laugh natural. Even the attempted serious moments only serve to intensify the hilarity. It has the comedy denoting names to lure the patrons. On top of that it has the entertainment values to more than please. Introduce it to your patrons as a picture that will make them forget all their worldly cares.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Directed by Leo McCarey. Story by Keene Thompson and Douglas MacLean. Screen play by Walter DeLeon and Harry Ruskin. Protographed by Henry Sharp. Sound, Eugene Merritt. Music, Ralph Rainger. Art directors, Hans Dreier and Robert Odell. Running time, 65 minutes. Release date, Feb. 9, 1934.

CAST

J. Pinkham Whinney.....Charlie Ruggles
Flora Whinney ..... Mary Boland
Sheriff John Hoxley .....W. C. Fields
George Edward ..... George Burns
Gracie DeVore ..... Gracie Allen
Mrs. K. Rumford .....Alison Skipworth
Ferguson ..... Bradley Page
Trixie ..... Grace Bradley
Gillette ..... William J. Kelly
Sparks ..... James Burke
Steele ..... Dick Rush
Butch ..... Walter Long
Mike ..... Leo Willis
Joe ..... Lew Kelly
Tom ..... Alp P. James
Doctor Busby ..... Tammany Young
Clerk in newspaper office.....Paul Tead
A tourist ..... George Pearce
Girl clerk (Safety Deposit).....Verna D. Hillie
The tourist's wife ..... Florence Enright
Cop ..... William Augustin
Woman ..... Kathleen Burke
Clerk (Phillipsburg Hotel)..... Irving Bacon
Drunk ..... Phil Dunham
Porter ..... Marty Faust
Starter at airport ..... Lee Phelps
Gillette's secretary ..... Neal Burns

Coming Out Party

(Fox-Lasky)

Dramatic Romance

In this dramatic romance, a familiar story is told against a novel background. Primarily sophisticated class entertainment, it is given a situation atmosphere that may excite mass interest. Elaborately produced, dialogue and action are fairly balanced. Because of the subject—a wealthy debutante in love with a poor orchestra violinist and loving him in a way that women understand better than any one else—it is essentially a women's picture. Likewise, it is a show that suggests many unique ways by which feminine curiosity may be aroused.

Joy, the girl, loves Chris. He knows the gap in their social status never can be bridged. Her mother, Mrs. Stanhope, can think only of plans for the girl's presentation to the 400. Her father's chief interest is in his yachts. As situation business develops comedy, contributed by a super-Emily Post in arranging details in the person of Mrs. Vanderdoe, and Harry Gold, band impresario, the romance becomes complicated as Mrs. Stanhope tries to rope in the blue-blooded dissolute, Wolverton. The girl alone with her problem, has her dreams of happiness dashed when Chris sees her in the company of drunken Wolverton at a roadhouse. Later in Chris' room, pleading for herself, love is consummated. As the boy goes to Chicago, the girl discovers she is to have a baby. Drama and suspense builds, and at the coming out party, Joy elopes with Wolverton. Chris cancels a European trip, arrives at the party and effectively pleads with Stanhope to consent to an annulment which will pave the way for his marriage to Joy.

There's a definite human interest punch to the picture, portrayed in a realistic and convincing fashion, with Frances Dee reaching new heights. The exciting and glamorous background presents unusual possibilities for exploiting the commercial value of the title. A sound advance campaign should be calculated to intrigue the most of feminine curiosity.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Distributed by Fox. Produced by Jesse L. Lasky. Running time, 80 minutes. Release date, March 2, 1934.

CAST

Joy Stanhope ..... Frances Dee
Chris Hansen ..... Gene Raymond
Mrs. Vanderdoe ..... Alison Skipworth
Troon ..... Nigel Bruce
Harry Gold ..... Harry Green
Mr. Stanhope ..... Gilbert Emory
Mrs. Stanhope ..... Marjorie Gateson
Jimmy Wolverton ..... Clifford Jones

Palooka

(UA-Reliance)

Comedy in Pugilism

This picture should not be publicized as a prizefight picture. That's a paradoxical statement, inasmuch as the show's entire atmosphere is brewed in an aura of fighters, fake champions, framed fights, dumb clucks, chiseling managers and slug nutty hangers-on. Actually, it is a character comedy, tinged with a hue of human interest that makes it at once a raucous, rowdy laugh-provoker and a sentiment stirrer. Action is both hectic and draggy; sometimes dialogue becomes quite torrid. Yet if all production and cast name values are to be fully capitalized upon, selling it as comedy appears to be the most effective way.

Joe, son of the oldtime champ, kayoes a highly publicized contender in a roadside brawl. Preliminary sequences establish the human interest in Mayme, the boy's mother, as Pete is one who finds more allure in the primrose path than domestic ties. The yokel under the eloquent slangy wing of Knobby wins the championship in a framed bout with McSwatt as that worthy collapses from drunken exhaustion. In steps the vampish siren Nina to bedazzle the poor chump and the boy traces his giddy father's footsteps. Topical and colorful fun ensues. Joe is tricked into another bout with McSwatt. Mayme and Anne, country sweetheart, arrive in town, Joe becomes quite Max Baerish, but Mayme finally gives Nina the works. Pete in the meantime has returned and, sensing all the frameup racket, he trains the boy. But the pace has been too fast for Joe. In the ring McSwatt belts him dizzy to regain his title, only to have Joe chill him in a dressing room fracas for making uncomplimentary remarks as to his family tree. Then it's back to the farm; Pete and Mayme reunited again, Joe and Anne in double harness, and the flaming Nina dropping in on the happy gathering, with husband Joe proudly exhibiting their surprising heir.

There's a lot of flamboyant comedy in "Palooka" and there are just as many angles with which to sell it without resorting to the prizefighter angle. Names, all the way down the line, are exceptional, and it should be noted that William Cagney, brother of James, is making his screen debut in this show. The picture was suggested by the Ham Fisher "Palooka" cartoons, and where that comic strip is popular, showmen have a neat tieup with newspapers.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

A United Artists release. Produced by Reliance Pictures. An Edward Small production. Directed by Benjamin Stoloff. Screen play by Jack Jevne, Gertrude Purcell and Arthur Kober. Additional dialogue by Ben Ryan and Murray Roth. Art director, Albert D'Agostino. Assistant director, Joe Cooke. Photography by Arthur Edeson. Sound, Karl Zint. Film editor, Grant Whytock. Running time, 83 minutes. Release date, Jan. 26, 1934.

CAST

Knobby Walsh .....Jimmy Durante
Nina Madero .....Lupe Velez
Joe Palooka .....Stuart Erwin
Mayme Palooka .....Marjorie Rambeau
Pete Palooka .....Robert Armstrong
Anne .....Mary Carlisle
Al McSwatt .....William Cagney
Trixie .....Thelma Todd
Doc Wise .....Franklin Ardell
Whitey .....Tom Dugan
Slats .....Guinn Williams
Blacky .....Stanley Fields

Riders of Destiny

(Monogram)

Western

Exhibitors in "What the Picture Did for Me" have recorded the star of John Wayne rising high on the western horizon. In "Riders of Destiny" Wayne adds a likable something with his softly drawled cowboy song and his guitar.

Besides the star, there are a number of well known names—George Hayes, familiar in outdoor pictures; Cecilia Parker, as the girl interest; Al St. John and Heinie Conklin for comedy. A happy choice for the villain was Forrest Taylor.

To the name values may be added the title, perhaps not too pertinent but nevertheless provocative of interest. The story also, while starting out cut close to pattern, and making too obvious the hints that Wayne is a Secret Service agent, takes a new turn in the descriptive treatment of the opening up of the stream, by the dynamiting of a well which is at the spot of the headwaters of the river. The explorations of the tiny finger of water down the dry river bed, gradually more bold, the geese and cattle and the rancher himself plunging into the cooling pools, should have a special pull for audiences in towns where the patrons know that the original source of drinking water is something besides a faucet.

Wayne is crossing the bleak hills, singing and strumming, when he sees a man fall in the sand. It's the sheriff. He goes for help but on the way helps Cecelia Parker escape after she has robbed the stagecoach. It develops that the team of drivers are in league with Taylor, water and land baron, who has been engineering the theft of money payments intended for the girl's father, Hayes, and this has been her way to protect their mail. Taylor has built a dam and is raising the water tax to prohibitive figures in order to make the ranchers sell their land to him. Wayne hears a rushing sound from out the well at the girl's ranch, and gets an idea. He advises the ranchers to sign Taylor's contract if he'll add the clause that his land is forfeit to the community if he ever fails to supply them with water.

It's real Friday-Saturday fare, with a lot in it for the youngsters.—Rovelstad, New York.

A Lone Star Western. Producer by Paul Malvern. Distributed by Monogram. Story and direction by R. N. Bradbury. Photography by Archie Stout. Release date, October 10, 1933. Running time, 58 minutes.

CAST

Sandy .....John Wayne
Fay Denton .....Cecelia Parker
Denton .....George Hayes
Kincaid .....Forest Taylor
Bert .....Al St. John
Stage driver .....Heinie Conklin
Slip Morgan .....Earl Dwire
Sheriff Baxter .....Lace McKee

Massacre

(First National)

Drama

The drama—and tragedy—of the American Indian of today, depicted as restricted to his western reservation and under the thumb of the often unscrupulous Indian agent, is the somewhat crusading theme of this drama, which has a full quota of action, its fair share of romance and cast names which provide promising values for the exhibitor.

It is under no circumstances to be considered a western feature, from either the title or the Indian subject matter. Sell it as straight drama, not overlooking the action content and utilizing the selling angle of an expose of the treatment of the tattered remnant of the once mighty tribes which ranged the North American continent.

It might be well if the picture given of the browbeaten Indian were not represented to the patronage as a true picture. Rather ignore any such phase, and concentrate on the dramatic action, the romance of the young Indian who remembered his heritage and returned to aid his people in their fight for decent treatment.

The exhibitor's selling should gain impetus from the use of such names as Richard Barthelmess, Ann Dvorak, Dudley Digges, Claire Dodd, Arthur Hohl and Sidney Toler. The use of the Chicago World's Fair locale in the opening sequences lends a certain timeliness, since the Fair should be still fresh in mind. In those sections where the Indian is a familiar figure, the exhibitor himself will know best how he may derive the maximum result from the picture.

Barthelmess, high-priced star of a World's Fair wild west show, eludes the amorously-inclined Miss Dodd, to return to the reservation for a visit when he is informed his father is ill. He meets the attractive Miss Dvorak, Indian clerk in the office of Digges, the reserva-

CARL LAEMMLE

Presents

A B. F. Zeidman Production —

with

JOHN BOLES
GLORIA STUART

Morgan Farley, Ruth Hall, Albert Conti, Dorothy Peterson, Edmund Breese, Richard Carle, Lucille Gleason, Mae Busch, Jimmy Butler. Story by Paul Gangelin. Directed by VICTOR SCHERTZINGER.

VED

"AN ACE ATTRACTION"

Says Daily Variety, continuing:

" 'Beloved' is a running mate for 'Only Yesterday.' Story, direction, casting and individual performances all bespeak a thoughtfulness in production that most pictures lack...NOTHING IS MISSED TO MAKE IT ACE ENTERTAINMENT, particularly for the women."

Says Hollywood Reporter:

"Aimed directly at the feminine half of the audience and played throughout in the key of old-fashioned romance—the kind that lasts a lifetime..."

Says Motion Picture Herald:

"It is completely off the beaten track of the current musical trend...High class entertainment . . . There is exciting color all the way through."

tion agent. Quickly he learns of the depredations practiced, with the Indians as victims, by Digges, Hohl, reservation doctor, and Toler, undertaker. When Toler attacks his small sister, Barthelmess tows him dragging behind his car, leaving him on the road. At his trial, under the thumb of Digges, the Indian judges condemn him, but Miss Dvorak aids his escape and he goes to Washington to present the case of the ill-treated Indian to the Indian Commissioner, Henry O'Neill, his friend. A Senate investigation hears Barthelmess, a federal trial is opened, and the sister, star witness, is kidnaped. The Indians storm the jail, free Barthelmess, and he goes after the girl. Her testimony frees the defendant, and Digges, who had attempted to shoot Barthelmess during the pursuit, is thrown from office with his henchmen. Barthelmess accepts the post of Indian agent at the reservation and Miss Dvorak decides to share his responsibility.

Rapid-paced, strong drama, with a touch of comedy here and there, "Massacre" offers plenty of showmanship opportunity. The title can be used in numerous ways to draw attention, and the cast will be of value. It merits extra attention from the exhibitor.—AARONSON, New York.

A First National production. Distributed by Warner Bros. Directed by Alan Crosland. Story by Robert Gessner and Ralph Block. Screen play by Ralph Block and Sheridan Gibney. Photography by George Barnes. Film editor, Terry Morse. Art director, John Hughes. Release date, January 20, 1934. Running time, 69 minutes.

CAST

Joe Thunder Horse ..... Richard Barthelmess
Lydia ..... Ann Dvorak
Quissenberry ..... Dudley Digges
Norma ..... Claire Dodd
Dickinson ..... Henry O'Neill
Dawson ..... Robert Barrat
Dr. Turner ..... Arthur Hohl
Shanks ..... Sidney Toler
Sam ..... Clarence Muse
Scatters ..... Charles Middleton
Chairman ..... Douglas Dumbrille
Cochran ..... Wallis Clark
Grandy ..... William V. Mong
Jennings ..... DeWitt Jennings
Adam ..... James Eagles
Senator Beale ..... William Davidson
Missionary ..... Frank McGlynn
Senator Woolsey ..... Henry Kolker
Jennie ..... Agnes Narcha

The Lucky Texan

(Monogram)

Western

There is a novelty or two in the way of action in this western, starring John Wayne, for those patrons who continue as devotees of the perennial western, and there are many of those, by all accounts. Young Wayne is popular, has his following, and may well be capitalized in the selling. The fact that the story is cut more or less to pattern need not matter, since it has a new turn here and there which the audience should find intriguing.

Supporting Wayne are Barbara Sheldon, who makes an attractive heroine; Yakima Canutt, Gordon DeMaine, both hardy oldtimers among western players, who must be known among western fans, and George Hayes, who comes very close to tucking all the honors in his hip pocket, by reason of a particularly expert handling of his role. He is also responsible for the bit of comedy which crops up in welcome fashion here and there.

The title is lively and should look well on the marquee beside the name of John Wayne. There may be an opportunity for somewhat unusual western exploitation in the situation which finds Hayes masquerading as a woman in order to save Wayne from trial for a murder which he not only did not commit, but which was not committed at all. Such street exploitation should draw rather uncommon patronage attention to a western.

Wayne arrives to live with Hayes, old friend of his father, on the ranch, which is, however, devoid of cattle, chiefly as a result of the marauding of rustlers. The two open a blacksmith shop and await the coming of Hayes' niece, Miss Sheldon. They accidentally discover gold, keep their own secret and bring their dust and nuggets to Lloyd Whitlock and Canutt for cash. The assayers are eager to horn in on the claim, but are successfully evaded by the miners. When the local banker is shot and robbed in his office, Hayes is held, but Wayne reveals the gambling son of the sheriff as the attacker. The niece arrives and she and Wayne find each other attractive.

Whitlock and Canutt trick Hayes into signing his ranch over to them and when he goes to his claim they follow, shoot him and leave him for dead. He sends his dog to fetch Wayne, is rescued and hides out as Whitlock and Canutt accuse Wayne of murdering him. As the trial proceeds, an elderly woman enters, reveals the guilty pair, and "herself" as Hayes. The two escape and a wild and novel chase follows, with the two on a handcar, Wayne on his horse and Hayes in a rattletrap car. It ends as expected. The other novelty finds Wayne pursuing the guilty sheriff's son, via a swift ride down a sluiceway, riding a forked stick in the rushing water.

As indicated, there is some opportunity for selling a little beyond the conventional presentation of a western. The film has sufficient action of the expected variety, both for the youngsters and the western fans among the adults. The week-end is the time to play it.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Monogram. A Lone Star western. Produced by Paul Malvern. Directed by R. N. Bradbury. Story by R. N. Bradbury. Release date, January 22, 1934. Running time, 56 minutes.

CAST

Jerry Mason ..... John Wayne
Betty ..... Barbara Sheldon
Jake Benson ..... George Hayes
Harris ..... Lloyd Whitlock
Cole ..... Yakima Canutt
Sheriff ..... Gordon DeMaine
Sheriff's son ..... Edward Parker
Banker ..... Earl Dwiro

I Am Suzanne!

(Fox-Lasky)

Comedy-Drama

The rather delightfully ingenuous Lilian Harvey, who in a comparatively short time has attained a considerable popularity, brings excellent production value into this romantic comedy drama, where she has ample opportunity to present her appealing personality. The exhibitor should concentrate his effort to a large extent on the selling of Miss Harvey, since he can feel certain she will meet with the favor of his audience.

The romance of a boy, the son of a declining family of puppeteers, and a girl, young premiere danseuse in the Revue de Paris, is the motivating force of the picture, and should be used to full advantage in drawing the attention of the feminine portion of the patronage. The picture has charm and unquestioned entertainment value. Perhaps the most unusual feature of the film is the inclusion, with remarkable effect, of Podrecca's Piccoli Marionettes, handled with consummate skill, presented with a lavish treatment, and offering a splendid opportunity to draw the children into the house. Clean as a hound's tooth, the film will meet with no obstacle with respect to juvenile attendance. Its romance is completely unsophisticated, its cast adapting themselves wholeheartedly to the mood of the narrative—and of Miss Harvey. She is at her best here, and the exhibitor will make no mistake in emphasizing that fact to his patronage.

In completely satisfactory support, and also of worth for the marquee, is Gene Raymond, while Leslie Banks, excellent English actor, gives a highly entertaining and amusing characterization as the not too scrupulous, shabby baron who is Miss Harvey's manager.

Raymond is bending every effort to modernize his little marionette show in order to meet the competition of the gay and popular Revue de Paris, down the street, where Suzanne is the star attraction. At the Revue, Raymond sees Suzanne, determines to make a puppet of her to boost his business, and incidentally falls in love with her. Banks, fearing he will lose his meal ticket if she falls in love, opposes Raymond's attempt to have her pose for him, but she does so anyway. Banks persuades her to become engaged to him, and when Raymond remonstrates with her, she slips in her tightrope act and injures her leg. Banks turns elsewhere, but Raymond watches over her recovery, with the aid of a noted doctor, at his home, the puppet theatre.

She recovers, but is continuously confronted with the obstacle to their romance presented by Raymond's devotion to his marionettes. He addresses her wood and sawdust namesake, but refrains from opening his heart to her. In a fit of rage she shoots the puppet. Banks takes her back, and at the reopening of the Revue, of which the puppet show is a part, she falls into a dream, and delightfully the screen depicts the dream of her trial before a court of marionettes, for the crime of shooting a puppet. She is listless, until Raymond comes to encourage her. She dances to success, the puppets share it, and the manager of the Revue hires them both, with the careful baron deducting a quite unfair share of the contract.

With the marionettes as an unusual novelty feature, the picture offers delightful entertainment. Miss Harvey warrants concentrated selling effort, and the entire family should be urged to attend.—AARONSON, New York.

A Jesse L. Lasky production. Distribution by Fox. Directed by Rowland V. Lee. Story and screen play by Rowland V. Lee and Edwin Justus Mayer. Photography by Lee Garmes. Sound by E. C. Ward. Settings by Max Parker. Costumes by Rita Kaufman. Musical director, Louis DeFrancesco. Dance director, Sammy Lee. Release date, January 5, 1934. Running time, 85 minutes.

CAST

Suzanne ..... Lilian Harvey
Tony ..... Gene Raymond
Baron ..... Leslie Banks
Mama ..... Georgia Caine
Fifi ..... Geneva Mitchell
Dr. Lorenzo ..... Halliwell Hobbes
Luigi ..... Murray Kinnell
Manager ..... Edward Keane
Satan ..... Lionel Belmore
Podrecca's Piccoli Marionettes

A Woman's Man

(Monogram)

Comedy Drama

Real entertainment value for any exhibitor's audiences is abundant in this show. A timely, topical story runs the full course of drama, romance, comedy and all the up-to-date elements of popular screen fare. It is well mounted, with plenty of Hollywood color, the locale in which it is set, catchy action counterbalancing smart, attention-holding dialogue.

Based on a Cosmopolitan Magazine story by Adela Rogers St. John, the picture not only brings back an old favorite star in the person of Marguerite De La Motte, but offers a more than satisfactory cast with John Halliday, Wallace Ford and Kitty Kelly featured. Although there is a definite prize-fighter tinge to the show, it has been made so subordinate to the hectic Hollywood personality and studio atmosphere that there should be no worries that it's too much of a he-man picture and not enough of a woman's picture. On the contrary, the romantic and dramatic situations establish it as a better than usual women's show, while having a sport and excitement flavor for men.

Gloria, a tempestuous star and source of endless trouble to her director, Cleary, walks out on her picture despite the pleadings of every one, particularly the comedy pleas of her pal and maid, Molly. Sly love-making with a Max Baer prototype, near-ring champ, Joe Flynn is her objective. Both rabid headline hunters, their romance is never a secret and a continual threat to both careers. At the moment Joe's is more important inasmuch as he's training for a big fight and his manager has plenty to do keeping his mind on his work without Gloria butting in. Arranging a situation that turns the lovebirds sore at each other, Manager Pete gets Joe in the ring, where he is taking a sound shellacking. Gloria is among the missing, which is okay with Joe, but when she does make a grand entrance he figures she's just there for publicity purposes, and while he's dreaming of what he'll do, he's walloped into ignominious defeat.

It's just the thing to awaken the lovers to the real matters of fact of life and bring about the happy ending that is a laugh for every one.

From beginning to end, the show is audience entertainment, with lots of new "inside" Hollywood angles and in-the-studio scenes, and just enough inside sport lowdown. There's a love story that's both comic and dramatic. It moves with zip and snap, there not being a draggy minute.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Monogram. Supervised by Ben Verschleiser. Directed by Edward Ludwig. From the Cosmopolitan Magazine story by Adela Rogers St. Johns. Adapted by Frances Hyland. Photographed by Joseph Valentine. Recorded by John A. Stransky, Jr. From Lindsley Parsons' Balsley and Phillips Recording System. Trem Carr, vice-president in charge of production. Running time, 64 minutes. Release date, Feb. 7, 1934.

CAST

Tom Cleary	John Halliday
Gloria Jordan	Marguerite De La Motte
Joe Flynn	Wallace Ford
Molly Evans	Kitty Kelly
Roger Pently	Jameson Thomas
Pete Miller	Tommy Dugan
Ralph Mallon	Wallis Clark
Walter Payson	Don Douglas
Crane	Leigh Allen
Assistant Director	George Mayo
Fight Announcer	Harry Green
Joe Ferrera	Jack Perry
Blonde	Billee Van Every

Cross Country Cruise

(Universal)

Drama

Melodrama, romance, comedy and a murder all have their moment or moments in or about the fast-moving, modern covered wagon, the cross-country bus, traveling from New York to the Pacific coast, in virtually a one-set picture, in which fast pace is maintained throughout. The film is definitely entertainment, and should be equally acceptable in small theatre or metropolitan situation.

The bus itself, one of the Greyhound fleet, opens the way obviously for tieups with that company and with motor transportation lines generally. They may be sold the idea of carrying placards on their vehicles advertising the picture, and effecting exploitation ideas at the instance of the exhibitor. The exhibitor's own use of hired buses for selling the film is equally apparent.

